Hysterocele (hi·stĕrōsīl) Path. [Gr. κήλη tumour], a hernia containing the uterus or some part of it. Hysterocystis (hi·stĕrōsi·stis), a. Path. [Gr. κύστις bladder], pertaining to the uterus and the bladder. ‖ Hysterodynia (histerōdi·nia) Path. [Gr. ὀδυνη pain], pain of the womb (Syd. Soc. Lex. 1886). Hystero-epilepsy, a form of hysteria characterized by the occurrence of convulsions more or less resembling those of epilepsy, occurring chiefly among females, especially of the Latin races (Syd. Soc. Lex., hence Hystero-epileptic, a. and sb. ‖ Hysteroma (nia Path., an old name for nymphomania, also = hysterical insanity). Ibid. Hysterometer (histerǫ·mĭtăr. Surg. [-METER] an instrument for ascertaining the size of the womb, a uterine sound. Mayne 1855. hence Hystero metry, the use of the hysterometer (Syd. Soc. Lex. 1886). Hysteropexy (hi·stĕrōpe·ksi) Surg. [Gr. -πηξία fixing], the operation of supporting the womb in a case of prolapsus. Hysterophore (hi·stĕrōfōr), Surg. [Gr. -φορος bearing], a pessary for supporting the uterus. ‖ Hysteroptosis Path. [Gr. πτῶσις falling] falling of the womb. postpartum Syd. Soc. Lex. 1886.

1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Hysterocele, the Rupture or falling down of the Womb. 1855 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Hysterocystic . . . Hysterocystis . . . Hysterodynia . . . Hysteroma . . . Hysterometer . . . Hysteropexy . . . Hysteroptosis. 1881 Lancet 1 Jan. 11 Hysterotomy for the enlarged womb. 1881 Amer. Jrnl. XII. 60/1 'Hysteo epilepsy,' or nervous disease of women. 1887 Lancet 26 May 1134 The perfection of mimicry recently by the hysterical hysteio epileptic. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 21 July 5/1 The mortality from ovariotomy, hysterectomy, hysteropexy, and exploratory incisions is high.

Hystero-² (hi·stĕro, combining form of Gr. ὕστερος later, latter, inferior, as in hysterogenetic, hysterology, etc.

Hysterogenetic (hi·stĕrōdʒĭne·tik), a. Bot. [f. Gr. ὑστερο- HYSTERO-² + GENETIC] = next. Opposed to protogenetic.

1884 BOWER & SCOTT Botany's Phanero. 301 Hystero genetic reservoirs of this category arise in old masses of tissue. Ibid. 526 The spaces filled with resin are subsequent, hysterogenetic products of disorganization.

Hysterogenic (hi·stĕrōdʒe·nik), *a.*¹ Bot. [f. as prec. + -genic, cf. protogenic, etc.] Of later origin or formation, applied to intercellular spaces formed in older tissues.

1885 GODFREY Phys. Bot. (1892) 99 note, Those [inter cellular spaces] formed in older tissues [are called] hysterogenic.

Hysterogenic, *a.*² Path. [f HYSTERO-¹ + GENIC] Producing hysteria, relating to the production of hysteria. So Hystero genous a., in same sense, Hystero geny, the production of hysteria.

1886 Syd. Soc. Lex., Hysterogenous, Hysterogenous 1886 F. W. H. MYERS in Proc. Soc. Psych. Res. Oct. 192 note, I must adopt from the French the word hysterogeny for the production of hysteric states. 1887 Fortn. Rev. May 737 The so-called 'hysterogenic' and 'hypnogenic pressure points.' 1897 ALIENIST Nerv. Mal. III. 432 The presence of other hysteric symptoms such as hemi-anæsthesia, hemiopia, tonic contracture in the field of vision.

Hysteroid (hi·stĕroid), a. [Irreg. f. HYSTERIA + -OID.] Resembling or having the form of hysteria. So Hysteroi dal a.

1855 DUNGLISON Med. Lex. (ed. 12), Hysteroid, resembling hysteria; as a hysteroid disease, symptom, &c. 1887 Fortn. Rev. May 738 The undoubted greater prevalence of hysteroid symptoms among the Latin races. 1887 Med. Annual X. 58 Jan 17 Their value is much diminished by the unmistakable hysteroid impress which they bear. 1891 Lancet, 2 Oct. 756 No one who has not been to Paris, and seen the hysteroid condition in its extreme development, can at all fully this form of neurosis.

† Hysterolite, Min. Obs. Also -ston hysterio [f Gr. ὑστερα womb + λίθος stone from its fancied appearance. Cf. F. hystérolithe.] A fossil shell. see quot. 1854.

(1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Hysterolithus, a sort of Stone.) 1799 KIRWAN Geol. Ess. 244 Petrifactions, as hysterolites, mytilites, &c. are found as it [rubble stone]. 1854 WOODWARD Mollusca II. 229 Other Strata shall furnish internal casts of this fossil were called hysterolites by old authors.

† Hysterology [f Gr. ὑστερολογία (cf. Lat. hysterologia, a Gr. ὑστερολογια, f. ὑστερο- HYSTERO-² + λόγος speech. Cf. F. hystérologie.] = HYSTERON PROTERON. (See also quot. 1842.)

1623 COCKERAM, Hysterologie an alterum, of the order of speech by placing that after that should be before. 1657 J. MORICE Ecclesiast. Canons book Def. xi. 129 These Notes are never used to manifest an hysterology, or transposition of things. 1682 H. MORE Answer 136 Here therefore is an hysterology in the Genius. 1842 BRANDE Dict. Sc. &c. Vy., Some comprehend the figure usually called anti climax under the name Hysterology.

Hysterology² (histerǫ·lŏdʒi) Med. [f HYSTERO-² + -LOGY.] A treatise on the uterus.

1855 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Hysterologia, a term for a treatise or dissertation on the womb, its functions, etc. hysterology. 1880 F. N. COLLMAN Artific. Hysterology, a Guide to Descriptive and Clinical, on the Diseases and Displacements of the Uterus.

‖ Hysteron proteron (hi·stĕrŏn prŏ·tĕrŏn, sb. (a. and adv.) [late L. (Servius), a Gr. ὑστερον πρότερον, the latter (put as) the former, called also πρώτερον ὑστερον (πρώτος first), and ὑστεροπρότερον (see HYSTEROPROTERY).]

1. Gram. and Rhet. A figure of speech in which the sense or phrase that should properly come last is put first.

1565 JAMES Rept. Heraldry, 476. In these wourdes, 'Take ye I alleye, I thus my Bodie', they have founde a figure called Hysteron Proteron. 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie iii. xiii. (Arb.) 171 Another manner of disordered speach we call it in English promethe the cart before the horse, the Greeks call it Hysteron proteron, we name it the Preposterous to be short. 'My dame that bred me, my nurse that nursed me.' Whereas the bearing is before the bringing up. 1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Hysteron Proteron, a preposterous manner of speaking, or writing, expressing that first which should be last. 1883 MARCH Eng. Lang. 141 Transposition of clauses (is called) hysteron proteron.

2. gen. Inversion of the natural or logical order, as by placing the conclusion before the premisses, etc.

1620 GRANGER Dr. Logicke 318 Inverted Method is when particulars are disposed before universals; also, when the parts are not handled after the same order, by which they were laid downe, which is called Hysteron Proteron.

3. generally The position or arrangement of things in the reverse of their natural or rational order; 'putting the cart before the horse'; topsy-turvydom.

1589 Cooke Hatch. Health To Rdr. pp iv, Contrariwise seeing Hysteron Proteron as I haue heard say of a gentle man who would not begin his meale with potage, but in stead of them would eat his potage last. 1648-99 J. BEAL Herb. Ingl. (1707) 1. Mowell & Hysteron Proteron is this, which Nature crosses, And far above the top the bottom tosses.

B attrib. or adj.

1646 Unhappy Cause Scotch & Pope 14 Those jugling Hysteron Proteron tricktes. 1689 HICKERINGILL Ceremony Monger (1706) II. 418 Shrill Christians he like that Hysteron Proteron Herb, which Physicians as Dioscorides call Fetus ante Patrem. 1734 NORTH Exam. I. II. (1740) 88 This hysteron proteron Stuff, Causes without Effects, and Effects before Causes.

† C as adv. By or with an inversion of the natural order of things, topsy turvy, vice versa.

1600 W. WATSON Quodlibetic Key & State (1602) 47 The Catholicke religion will be vtterly extinguished and perish, and so by consequent all runne Hysteron Protheron. 1617 MIDDLETON & ROWLEY Fair Quar. I. 1 Chi. Wisemen begetis fooles, and fooles are the fathers To many wise Children. Hester. Proteron, A great scholler may beget an Ideot. And from the plow tayle may come a great scholler.

Hence Hy stero-proterize v. intr., to use hysteron proteron.

a 1834 COLERIDGE in Southey Life Wesley (1846) I. 334 We must explain the force of the horse by the motion of the cart wheels, and hystero proterize with a vengeance!

Hysterophytal (hi·stĕrōfi·tăl), a. Bot. [f mod. L. Hysterophyta (see next) + -AL.] Of or pertaining to Hysterophyta or Fungi, fungal.

1857 BERKELEY Cryptog. Bot. § 63. 81 Fungi may be defined as Hysterophytal or Lophial Mycetals, deriving nutriment, by means of a mycelium, from the matrix. 1874 COOKE Fungi, 6.

Hysterophyte (hi·stĕrōfəit) Bot. [ad. mod. L. hysterophytum, pl. -phyta (tries 1821), f. Gr. ὑστερα womb + φυτόν plant: see quot 1845.] A plant of the class Hysterophyta or Fungi, any fungus growing upon, and deriving its nourishment from, organic matter.

1855 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Hysterophytum, applied by Fries to mushrooms because, according to him they cannot grow but at the cost of some organized living or dead, which serves them in some sort for a womb; a hysterophyte.

‖ Hysterosis (histĕrō·sis). Gram. and Rhet. [mod. f. mod. L. f. Gr. ὑστερος later, after such words as ἀναίσθητος, etc.] = HYSTERON PROTERON.

1620 GRANGER Dr. Logicke 318 note, Hysteron Proteron, Hysterosis. Hysterologia. 1623 LISLE Æsop. on O. & N. Test. To Rdr. 15 He speakes by Hysterosis or Anachronisme (a figure much vsed in Histories, yea, euen in the Bible) a 1658 J. DURHAM Heb. Reconciation xxi. (1680) 641 There will hardly be found any such hysterosis or hysterologia in one and the same explication prophesie.

Hysterotome (hi·stĕrōtōm) Surg. [f HYSTERO-¹ + Gr. τόμος cutting, cutter. So mod. F. hystérotome.] An instrument for performing hysterotomy.

1851 Illustr. Catal. Gr. Exhib. 96 Hysterotomes and Instruments for Paracentesis Uteri. 1864 Daily Tel. 11 Aug., We will not fight with the pen against lancets, and probes, and hysterotomes, and the tremendous armoury of the surgical cutlers.

Hysterotomy (histĕrǫ·tŏmi) Surg. [mod. f. hysterotom-a, f. HYSTERO-¹ + Gr. -τομία cutting. Cf. F. hystérotomie.] The operation of cutting into the uterus, the Cæsarean section, also excision, or dissection, of the uterus.

[1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey), Hysterotomia, an Anatomical Dissection of the Womb.] 1802 Med. Jrnl. VII. 155, Hysterotomy, or the Cæsarean section, was performed upon a woman at Rochelle. 1859 TODD Cycl. Anat. V. 206/1 Struk per formed hysterotomy successfully for a tumour.

‖ Hysterotomy (histerǫ·tŏmi) Path. [f hysteri-a, after elephantiasis: see -SIS.] (See quot.)

1821 HOOPER Med. Dict., Hysterotomy, a disease of the hairs in which they stand erect, like porcupine quills. An account is to be seen in the Philosophical Transactions, Nos. 194 (1720).

Hystricid (histri·sid) Zool. [ad. mod. L. Hystricid-æ, f. hystrix, hystric-em, a Gr. ὕστριξ, ὑστρικ-, porcupine: see -ID.] A rodent of the family Hystricidæ, a porcupine.

So Hy strician a., pertaining to the sub family Hystricinæ.

1883 W. H. FLOWER in Knowsl Brit XV. 416 2 In the Saminæ and Hystricinæ Rodents the tibia and fibula are distinct.

Hystricism (hi·strisi'm) Path. [ad. mod. L. hystricismus, f. hystrix porcupine.] The porcupine disease, an extreme form of ichthyosis (ichthyosis hystrix), in which the epidermis is covered with horny prominences.

1886 in Syd. Soc. Lex. 1891 in F. P. FOSTER Med. Dict. 206

Hystricomorph (hi·strikŏmfăf) Zool. [f Gr. ὕστριξ, ὑστρικ-, I. hystrix, stem of hystrix (see HYSTRICID) + Gr. -μορφος shaped (μορφή form).] A member of the Hystricomorpha, a primary division of Rodents including the porcupine and its con geners. So Hy stricomo rphic, -mo rphine adjs., of, belonging to, or having the characters of the Hystricomorpha.

1882 Pop. Sci. Monthly XX. 423 The hystricomorphs (porcupines, Guinea pigs and capybaras), which are now confined to the southern hemisphere. 1894 Athenæum 31 Mar. 415/3 A paper on the hystricomorphine and sciuro morphine rodents.

Hyt, obs. form of HIT, IT.

Hyte (həit), a. Sc. [Of obscure origin: cf. GYTE.] Crazy; mad.

1721 RAMSAY Ep. to R. H. B. iii, The cauldrife carles gaithering gear gang hyt and gare. 1786 BURNS Ep. to Major Logan x. The witching curs'd delicious blinkers Hae put me hyte.

Hyte, obs. form of HAIT int.

Hythe, variant spelling of HITHE, harbour.

Hyther, obs. f. HITHER. Hyve, obs. f. HIVE.

Hywe, obs. form of HUE.

I.

I (aɪ), the ninth letter and third vowel of the Roman alphabet, going back through the Greek Iota to the Semitic Yod The simple form I of the character in Greek from about 500 B C, and in the Roman alphabet, was reduced from a more complex Early Greek form Ɨ, which originated in the Phœnician ɣ The Semitic letter represents a consonant (= English Y in yellow, yoke, etc), but this forms diphthongs with preceding a and e, and 'quiesces' in a preceding s, making long i It is thus, in the body or at the end of a word, often an indication of the vowel ī, and it was adopted as the symbol of the s vowel by the Greeks, who had no y consonant In the Latin alphabet, on the other hand, it was used with both values, viz that of s vowel (long and short), and y consonant, as in ibidem, ibis, iacus, Iupiter, Iouis Even when the consonant passed in Romanic from the sound of Y to that of 'G soft' (Italian gi-, Eng and OF j), and subsequently, in some languages, to other sounds, it continued for many centuries to be expressed by the same letter as the vowel I, with which it had no longer phonetic relations At length, after 1600 (in England chiefly 1630–1640), a differentiation was made, the consonant being expressed by the character J, in its origin merely a variant form of I i, used in certain positions, for the history of which see the ne t letter J The result is that, in the modern development of the Roman alphabet, the ninth letter has been split into two, I and J, and I remains only a vowel

The original value of the Græco Roman I vowel when long was that of the 'high front-narrow' vowel of Bell's scale, which the letter still has in all the continental languages, and in some English words thence adopted, as Lourɜa, machine, clique, casino, a sound which in native English words is now normally represented by ē, ee, in be, see, mete, meet The short s was doubtless originally the true 'short' of the same sound, the 'narrow' s in French finir, Italian fortissimo, but, in Teutonic, the short vowel represented by s has probably always been the corresponding 'wide' vowel (ɪ), as in English finny, missing Thus, our current sound of short s in him, it, has, apparently, come down unchanged from OE times Long s, on the other hand, has undergone a great change, having about the beginning of the modern period changed into a diphthong with s as its second element This evidently arose from the practice of beginning the utterance of the long vowel before the vocal organs had quite attained the very close position of long (ī), so that the sound began with an opener and less definite vowel quality, which tended in use to become more and more distinct from the second element The exact quality of the first element at present is difficult to fix it varies greatly in different localities and in different individuals. We have symbolized the diphthong by (aɪ), taking the first element as the 'mid mixed-wide' vowel of Melville Bell's scale, the general 'obscure vowel' of English, but some phonetists take it as the 'mid-back' or the 'low mixed' vowel, wide or narrow, and it may be heard locally as the 'mid front' and 'low-front' wide or narrow This diphthongization of original long ī is not peculiar to English, but has taken place also in German and Dutch The difference is that in English the old simple vowel symbol is retained for the new diphthong, while in German and Dutch this is expressed by the new diphthongal symbols ei and ij (formerly y) cf OF, OHG, OI G min with Eng mine, Ger mein, Du mijn, formerly myn

In addition to the two normal modern English values (ɪ) and (aɪ), the letter s has others, due either to the disturbing influence of a following r, to the retention by foreign words of their foreign sounds, or to the obscuring effect of absence of stress in certain positions The sounds that occur in stressed syllables are the following

1	ɪ in hɪt (hɪt)	4	ɜ in fɜr (fɜr)
2	əɪ „ ɪce (əɪs)	5	ī „ pɪque (pīk)
3	əɪə „ hɪre (həɪrə)	6	īə „ cɪmɪar (cɪmɪə r)

All these may occur also in unstressed syllables, which have besides 7 ə in nadɪr (nā·dəɹ), 8 ɪ „ trɪnity (trɪ nɪtɪ), the last a slightly dulled power of (ɪ) nearly = (ɤ)

The combination ɪe has the value of No 2 in die, dies, died, etc, of Nos 5 and 6 in field, chief, grieve, pier, grenadier, etc , exceptionally that of (e) in friend, (ɪ) in sieve Finally, and unstressed, it has that of simple (ɪ), as in aerie, cities, pitied

The combinations ai, ei, oi represent diphthongs in Isaiah (əɪzaɪ ăh), aisle (aɪl), eider (aɪ dəɹ), oil (oɪl), etc , but ai, ei merely represent ɪ, ē, ī or ĕ in aim (ɛ̄m), air (ɛəɹ), rein (rɛ̄n), feint, heir (fɛ̄nt, hɛəɹ), receive, receipt, leith (lɪth), weir (wɪəɹ), etc

Before another vowel in the suffixes -ian, -ier, -ion, -ious, etc , s has often the consonantal value of y, or a value which readily passes into it e g Christian, clothier, courtier, million, onion, union, copious, previous, after certain consonants, this y value is merged in the consonant, which it palatalizes, as in spacious (spɛ·ɪə s), nation (nē·ɪən), soldier (sōu ldʒəɹ), fusion (fiu ʒən), Persia (pɜ·ɪə ʃă), hosier (hōu ʒəɹ), fashion (fæ ʃən)

The minuscule or 'small letter' s is now surmounted by a dot This is no original part of the letter, but is derived from a diacritic mark, like an acute accent, used to put to distinct the s in positions in which it might have been taken merely for the stroke of another letter It appears to have begun in Latin MSS about the 11th c with the s in such words as ingenii, and to have been thence extended to s in contiguity with m, n, or u, and, finally, to have been used with s in all positions The accent form of the mark, seen in Caxton's type and in modern German, was in 15th c handwriting often developed into a long curved flourish, but in books printed in Roman type it was reduced to the round dot now in use In chirography the dot still largely serves its original purpose of indicating the s, hence the phrase to dot the i's

The same cause that led to the dotting of s contributed largely to the formation of j, originally merely a lengthened or tailed s used finally as a more distinctive form, especially when two s's came together, as in ingenuy, or in the numerals vj, viij, viij, etc also to the substitution of y for s, especially in contiguity with m, n, u, etc , or when final In English it became at length a kind of scribal canon that s must not be used as s final letter, but must in this position be changed to y, but in inflected forms where the s was not final, it was retained, hence our current spellings, city, cities, holy, holier, holiest, carry, carries, carried, carrier, weary, wearisome, etc In modern English no native word ends in s, in alien or adopted words so ending, the s is usually pronounced (əɪ) in cīrcus, foci, magi, and other Latin plurals, also in Rabbi, Rabboni, Bibli, Levi, and other Hebrew names, but as (ɪ) in alkali, Cadi, Mahdi, and other foreign words of recent adoption

I I Illustrations of the literary use of the letter a simply (The plural appears as Is, I's, Is, I's) I per se, or I per se I, the letter I by itself forming a word, esp the pronoun I Also fig esp in Dot of (on) an i, to put the dots on the i's, to dot the (one's) i's see Dot sb 1 2 b, v 1 b c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gram 10, Of þam [stafum] syndon fif tealles, þæt synd clyppendlice a e i, o, u Ibid, Gif þu cwyst in stede i, þonne hyð se i consonans c 1450 Lonnap' Tractatus de Antog 1 3 (With an I and an O that pray servitor weyst Paule Ibid 11 With an O and an I men seyn that that wede c 1530 DU WES Introd Fr (in Pal 547 89), Ye shal pronounce your i as sharpe as can be 1552 HULOET Quy I Letter is as well consonante as a vowell 1622 MABBE tr Aleman's Guzman II III II 226, I only was compleat I was Iperfect I was like a Rule, without exception 1669 W HOLDER Elem Speech 95 Our vulgar (r) as in pitch seems to be a Diphthong compounded of a (or e), and not a simple Original Vowel 1721 J COCKBURN Lex Cranar 240 No English Word ends in I, but has always an E after it, as taste tho now e is frequently changed into y 1727 41 CHAMBERS Cycl s v, That verse in Virgil, Accipiunt inimicum imbrem, rimisque fatiscunt which abounds in i 1890 J H STIRLING Gifford Lect xvi 317 It is but a logical breathing, a logical dot on a logical i 1892 BOWEN Harv Addr 2 Ch Div 486 He must have full notice But there is no regulation as to what is or is not to be crossed or what is are to be dotted in the notice to be given

b Representing Gr ἰῶτα, IOTA see IOT

c 975 Rushw Gosp Matt v 18 Oþþet ɣeleorþ heofun and eorþe, an i [Vulg una unum] oþþe an hoc[stæf] ne ɣeleorþ fram ær c 1000 Ags Gosp Ibid, An iotte, oþþe a c 1200 Ormin 1 Comb I dot, the dot of an i, I bar, I-iron I rail, an iron bar, rail, etc , the action of which is like the letter I

1875 KNIGHT Dict Mech s v Angle iron Other forms are known as L iron, I iron, etc Ibid 1195, I rail, a double headed rail with flanges on each side above and below on the foot and tread 1890 GOODISON Foundry 69 A ceaseless hunting and swinging and lowering of angle bar, I bar, Z bar or other bar gliding into its appointed place 1897 P WARING Tales Old Regime 23 They were identical to the position of an i dot

II 3 Used, like other letters of the alphabet, to denote serial order, marking, e g the ninth sheet of a book, or quire of a MS, etc

4 In Logic, the symbol of a particular affirmative 1552 T WILSON Logicke 54 b A doooth affirme E dooeth deny, whiche are bothe vniuersall I dooeth affirme, O dooeth deny, whiche we partlie vnder call 1620 J CRANGER Pet Log 262 The Vowels signifie the qualities and quantities of the premisses A An universall affirmative E An universall negative I A particular affirmative O A particular negative 1866 J WILKS Deduct Logic (1869) 14 If I be false, A is false, E true, O true

5 The Roman numeral symbol for One

This was not originally the letter but a simple line denoting unity It is repeated for the numerals ij (II), iij, formerly, as still on a dial plate, iiij (IIII) These are added to symbols of higher numbers, as VI = 6, XII = 12, XXIII = 23, LI = 51, CII = 102 etc Prefixed to V and X, it diminishes them by 1 IV = 4, IX = 9 (In ME MSS and early printed books these symbols are very frequent instead of the corresponding words, being usually written with a point before and after, thus 'he hadde .iii. knyghtes') 1450 W SOMMER in Four C Eng Lett 4 He, with y or ny of his men 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl s v, I, in the ordinary Roman way of numbering, signifies one, and when repeated, signifies as many units as it is repeated times

6 Math In Higher Algebra, s or c is often used for the imaginary quantity $\sqrt{-1}$, square root of minus one In Quaternions i, j, k are symbols of vectors, as distinguished from scalars

III Abbreviations

I = various proper names, as Isaac, Isabella, India, etc formerly also = Jesus I (Chem) = Iodine I (Zool) in dental formulæ = incisor i = the earlier equivalent of e and ei (L) that is (to say) i e (Mech) = indicated horse power See also I H S, and I O U in their alphabetical places

c 1265 Vox V Plante in Wr Wülcker 554 3 Arithmetice,

1 mugwet, 1 merherbarum 1642 French Distillation (1651) 140 Then invert it (1) turn it upside down 1666 Sitlingfl. Orig. Nat. 1 iii § 45 He dwelt in Pethor by the river, i.e. saith the Chaldee Paraphrast, in the Port of Syria by Euphrates. 1727-41 Chambers Cycl. s.v. In abbreviatures and ciphers / frequently represents the whole word Jesus 1875 Jowett Thucydides II. 26 Under favourable conditions, i.e. in the perfect State. 1894 Times 20 Sept. 4/6 With an expenditure of 110 1 h p

I (ai), pers. pron., 1st sing. nom. Forms: see below. [OE. ic = Goth., OFris., OLG. (Fris., LG., Du.) ik, OHG. ih (MHG., mod.G. ich), ON. ek, eg (Norw. eg, Sw. jag, Da. jeg). —OTeut. ik*, ik = Obl. azi, Lith. as, I. ego, Gr. ἐγώ(ν), Skr. aham —primitive type eǵōm*, eǵō*. The OTeut. ik* is supposed to have originated as the unstressed or enclitic form of ek, and to have become at length the general form. Of ic, as of its cognates ego, etc., no inflexional forms are known, the oblique cases of the singular are supplied from a stem me- common to the whole Aryan family. The plural nom. we has a Germanic form wiz* (Goth weis, OHG. wir, wer), from a primitive stem wei, Skr. vay ám, its oblique cases are from a stem unsi (= nsi*), co radicate with L. nos, Skr. nas. Thus the inflexion of the pronoun is supplied from four distinct roots. Besides the sing. and pl., OE. had also a dual = we two, us two, which survived into early ME. and was in use after 1200. The original accusative forms became obs. at an early date, so that in later OE., as in ME. and mod. Eng., this case was levelled with the dative. The OE. genitive case was also declined as an adj. (the possessive pronoun), and early in ME. min (mi) was confined to this use, while ūre, ourⁿ retained certain genitival uses almost to the close of the ME. period. See OUR. The paradigm of the pronoun is thus as follows:

Old English
	SINGULAR	DUAL	PLURAL
Nom.	ic	wit	we wē
Acc.	mec, me mē	unc ūs	ūsic, ūs
Dat.	him me	unc	ūs
Gen.	mīn	uncer	user, ūre
Poss. Pron.

Middle English
Nom.	I ich, ik	wit (with)	we (we)
Dat. Acc.	me	uns, (unc)	us ous
Gen.	(not found)	(not found)	ure, ur, ouire our
Poss. Pron.	min mi	unker

Modern English
Nom.	I		we
Dat. Acc.	me		us
Gen. (absol.	mine		ours
Pron. (adj.	my	"	our

OE. ic remained in MF as i, ik in the north, in midl. and south it was early palatalized to ich (tʃ). In north and midl. the final consonant began by 12th c. to be dropped before a consonant, the pronoun being in this position reduced to i, in the 14th c. ik and i were still used before vowel and consonant respectively in the north, but I alone appears in north and midl. after c. 1400. In the south, ich remained much longer, esp. before an initial vowel, in which position, also, it was in 16th c. commonly reduced to ch, in writing conjoined with the verb, as in cham I am, chave I have, chill I will, chot I wot (initial h and w being elided). Before a consonant, ch was sometimes extended to che, as in Shakspere's 'che vor ye', and, in the forms ich, itch, ch-, che, or utchy, the pronoun remained in s.w. dialects till the 18th or first half of the 19th c. The simple vowel i, to which the pronoun was elsewhere reduced, was in course of time diphthongized (as it, ɔi, ei, ɛi, ai, or ai), at first prob. only when under stress, but at length when unstressed also, a relic of the earlier unstressed form remains in north Eng. dialects in the enclitic pronoun following a verb, which is still (t) or (ɪ), as in wad I 'would I', did-I, pronounced waddy, diddy (wa di, di di). In most northern dialects a new unstressed form originated from the diphthongal I by dropping the second element, and retaining the first (ɑ, ɔ, ä) as eh, a, by the lengthening of this again there has been developed a new stressed form (æ, ä, ɔ) written ah, aa, aw, oa, which is now the ordinary form of the pronoun in north Eng. and Sc. dialects.

The MF. ic, ik, ich, were also spelt yk, ych(e), i varied with y or I (the MS. character for these being often the same), also with y, Y, and finally at the introduction of printing settled down as I. Both i and ich were often written in combination with the verb, as in idude I did, icham I am, ichill I will, these last were often erroneously divided by later scribes and printers as I cham, I chill (also erratically spelt i'cham, ich'am, etc.)

The history and uses of the oblique forms will be found in the separate articles Me, Mine, My, Our, Ours, etc.]

A. Illustration of Forms

α 1–4 ic (2–3 Orm ioc, 3 ig, 3–4 hiȝ), 4 ik (yk, ike, hyȝ)

c1385 Corpus Gloss 526 Conveniu, ic groetu c1000 Ags. Gosp. John vii. 29 Ic hyne can, and ᵹif ic secge þæt ic hine ne cunne, ic beo leas c1175 Lamb. Hom. 14 Penne sende ic eou rihte widerunge and ic eou wille ȝeuan wela c1200 Ormin Ded. 11 Icc hafe wennd unntill Englisch Godde ȝoddlless halȝhe lare c1230 Gen. & Ex. 235 Ic were ȝuð it and eue hise wif sulen adam buhten Ibid. 34 Queðer so hiȝ rede or singe c1300 Havelok 504 For nolde shrud, þat hat hade youen hire to ofte . Hic hauȝ temed hire to softe Ibid. 686 I or liteł ȝe do the lede To the galues c1300 Cursor M. 23921 (Edin.) For med ic [Cott. ic] ask a litł bon þat ik [Cott. i] beseke wit wordes quon Ibid. 24707 (Fdin.) Pis ilke tun þat ike [Cott. i] of sai c1320 in Rel. Ant. I 246 The lif that hye ledh 1375 Barbour Bruce i. 384 As ic hard say 1377 Langl. P. Pl. B. prol. 228 Ac I swere now, so the ik, þat synne wil I lete. c1386 Chaucer Knight's Prol. 13 But ik [v.r. yk] am old, me list no ploy for Ax.

β 2–6 ich (3 hich, 3–6 ych, 5 yche, 5–6 iche) β1 2–3 ih, ihe β2 ich was combined with its verb, with elision of h or w, e.g. icham, ichave, ichill, ichot, by later scribes often wrongly divided i cham, i chill, y choulde, etc. Also so ych = so ich, as ych = as I arrive? β3 Subsequently, in s.w. dial., initial ich became oh, joined to v. verb, e.g. 6–8 cham, chwas, cha, chave, chad, chill, chould, chard (= I heard) see Ch, 'Ch β4 Later, in s.w. dial., ch' became che β c1150 Hatton Gosp. John viii. 14 Ich wat hwanon ich cume, and ich wat ga 1200 Lamb. Ans. Ic. 8 Pe þinges þet ich write her a 1275 Prov. Ælfred 576 in O. E. Misc. 134 Hich þe wile sagen soþe þewes a 1300 Vox & Wolf 36 in Hall. Meid. 17 Ihe se seye ihe, which ihe se seye ihe 1386 Chaucer Merch. T. 916 Now wyf quod he, heere nys but thou and I Leuere ich hadde to dyen on a knyf Than doon offendit, heere wyf c 1393 Langl. P. Pl. C. 14 Fateward ich byhulde after þe sonne, And sawe a toure, as ich trowede. c1440 Chron. Vilod. 1382 As yche vnder stonde c 1450 Lonelich Grail lii. 691 Mochel leuer hadde Ich here to dye c 1460 Towneley Myst. xiii. 207, I must haue reuerence, why, who be ich? a 1529 Skelton I. Knowen. 259 Ich am not cast away 1561 Awdelay Fruit Iacob 8 My maysters, ich am an old man, and halfe blinde 1568 [Howell] Arb. Amitie (1879) 89 With cap and knee, ich will serve thee, which shall more delicate 1589 in Puttenham Eng. Poesie iii. xix. (Arb.) 213 Iche pray you good mother tell our young dame, Whence I am come and where I abide, and whether I goe 1593 Daniel Somerstaft Mon. Compl. 1 (F.) S'), Dost thinke 'chill labor to be poore, No no, ich haue a-doe Ich will a plundring too 1706 Phillips (E. Kersey), Ich, a Word us'd for I in the Western Parts of England β1 c1175 Lamb. Hom. 75 Ih lieue gode ich ileue þet god is 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 19 Pe worste þet ihe spekeo to ou of mine mupe a 1250 Owl & Night. 866 I har to ich helpe, God hit wot! Ne singe ih hom no foliot a 1300 A. Horn 982 He habbe walde wide Bi þe sonne ihe se 1300 Havelok 1377 Pe haue ther offe douthe and kare β2 a 1225 Juliana 12 Ichulle leoten deur to teoren ant to lihte 1250 Gen. & Ex. (Roth) 2350 Ich wile þe wel bidden er ywis & þut icholle her after more c1300 Harrow. Hell 71 Woot thou never whet ychan? a 1340 Death Edw I in Relig. Ant. I. 247 Ychollen, yet that y myhte c1330 Amis & Amil. 945 Vif y swere, ycham forsworn c1386 Chaucer Pard. T. 610 Lat be quod he, it schal not be, so ich wisse the chese, Pat we schul spille oure bones, ichelle c 1400 Chron. Vilod. 536 Cuthberth of Dereham, he sayde, ychume a 1529 Skelton Ir. Runnyng. 1 Tell you I chyll, If that ye wyll 1547 Boorde Introd. Knowl. (1870) 121 Iche chil han a Cornyshe man c 1566 Merie Tales of Skelton in S.'s Wks. (1843) I. lxvi, I chan sacke, I chill go home to bed 1600 Heywd. Spec. Gard. iv. xx, I chill look to you β3 1599-1746 [see Ch 'pron.] 1598 J. Heywood Prov. & Epigr. (1867) 108 By I'se cham a chamd Iliad, Cha forgete a vaught At sturbi chad pay master Iliad 141 Chil hev my gowne 1697 Damon & Pythias in Harl. Dodsley IV. 22 Chill say no more, lest I offend 1575 Gammer Gurton I. i. in Dodsley O. P. I. 5 And chaldnot sumwhat to stop this gap, cham utterly undone 1586 Ferne Blas. Gentrie 459 Ily my wyve, chame more weary e than ever I came to plowe all this daye 1600 Shakes. Lear iv. vi. 230 Chill pucke your teeth Chr. 1614 T. Davies Somerstaft Man's Compl. in (F. S.) 'Chill sell my cattel for to buy Plow 1746 Exmoor Scolding 244 Chad et in my Meend, and zo chave still Bet chawnt drow et out bevore tha begen et sagen, and then chad 1886 Elworthy W. Somerset Gram. 15

β4 Keepe out che vor'ye 1716 Plain Truth in Relig. Ant. II. 297 Ah! ah! che zmell the now, man, che know well what thou art

γ 2–4 i, (1 hi, 3–4 i, e), 4–6 y, 5 Y, 4–I γ1 i- (y-), combined with following verb formerly esp. frequent with contracted verbs, where an apostrophe is now inserted, as in Ide = I'd, I had, I'd = I'd, I would, I'le, yle = I'll, I will, Ime = I'm, I am, Ise, Ice, I'sh = I'll, I shall, Ive = I've, I have. So Se, I'm as 'se as I think γ2 -i, -y, appended enclitically to verbs, e.g. ami, cami, hasty, haddy, mod. dial. -y or -ee γ 1254 O F Chron. an 1137 § 3, I ne can ne i ne mai tellen alle þe wunder a 1240 Wisdom in Cott. Hom. 197 Hwar ich was and hwat i dude a 1240 Ureisun (Bod. 34) Al hwat schal i nu don? a 1275 Prov. Ælfred 336 in O. E. Misc. 123 Ne ne sawe it nocht c 1290 S. Eng. Leg. I. 110/8 59 Here beþenne saine ne i nouȝt telle a 1300 Cursor M. 25468 I o þe mak i mi bon c 1300 St. Margarete 107 For him ic wole hane deȝ afonge y nabbe þerof no doute 1382 Wyclif Matt. xiv. 27 Haue ȝe trust, I [1388 Y] am, nyl ȝe dreede [1526 Tindale, It is y, be not a frayed]. c 1386 Chaucer Prol. 31 So hadde I spoken with hem euerychon That I was of hir felawshipe anon c 1399 Pol. Poems (Rolls) II. 9 Among the ten comandements y rede 1412 in E. E. Wills (1882) 50 Also y be queyth to William my son an aburioun of stele a 1450 Ant. de la Tour Prol. 1 But a litelle y enioyed me 1500 Barclay Ship of Fools (1570) 30 As I haue sayde (therfore) I say agayne 1548 Hall Chron., Hen. VIII 51 b, I Charles went nexte to hym 1611 Bible Gen. ix. 9, I, behold, I, establish my covenant with you 1653 W. Basse in Walton's Angler iii. 80, I care not, I, to fish in seas. 1719 De Foe Crusoe I. xviii. (1840) 320 They have all been as bad as I 1720 — Col. Jack (1840) 46, I could not tell money, not I 1816 Scott Antiq. viii. 'I, ' And I,' And I,' answered many a ready voice γ1 c 1200 Moral Ode 2 in Trin. Coll. Hom. 231 Ymakede more þan iuðde Ibid. 4 Peih ihe a winter eald a 1240 Lofsong in Cott. Hom. 217 Iuleue oc he holi goste 1533 J. Heywood Pard. & Friere 1 iii. 1 Ywis, I wyll not 1548 Richardson Pamela III. 308 I'd a better Opinion of thy Spirit!

γ2 c 1200 Trin. Coll. Hom. 199 Ne am i noht crist c 1300 Harrow. Hell 43 Hard gates haue y gon 1310 in Wright Lyric P. x. 37 Nayvy the none harmes to hethe c 1310 in Rel. Ant. I. 246 Fayrer ho [=on] lond nawy non syen I har for amy cumnen þen ho 1375 Barbour Bruce i. 384 Ne nede Cani do non other dede c 1330 R. Brunne Chron. Wace (Rolls) 14892 Seint Ileile so herdy telle 1391 Chaucer Astrol. II. § 1 I han hadde of the fulsuynge of the ascendent I hus hauy a degrees 1700 Mrs. Wheeler Westmld. Dial. 55 Mun E msak a but a Braad Mudder 1828 Craven Dial., I is sometimes pronounced like a, particularly when the pronoun follows the verb, as 'do-E,' for I do

B Senses and constructions

I As pronoun

1 The pronoun by which a speaker or writer denotes himself, in the nominative case, as the subject of predication, or in attributive or predicative agreement with that subject.

See examples above, under head A.

b Sometimes = I, if I were you (he or she)

1846 G. F. Lowndes in Mar. Mem. II. Hobart-Pasha (1890) 241, I should not be too strict about the 'artificial flowers'

c Sometimes qualified by an adj.

1588 Shakes. Tit. A. II. iii. 171 Poore I was slaine, when Bassianus dy'd 1687 Death's Ies. iii. (1733) 4 Alas! What shall poor I become? 1690 Dryden Don Sebastian Epil. 4 Poor I to be a nun, poor you a friar 1693 — Roundelay i. Wretched I, to love in vain!

2 Sometimes used for the objective after a verb or preposition, esp. when separated from the governing word by other words.

This was very frequent in end of 16th and in 17th c., but is now considered ungrammatical

1596 Shaks. Merch. T. III. ii. 321 All debts are cleerd be twexne you and I 1600 — A. Y. I. i. 28 My father hath no childe but I 1600 — Jul. C. III. ii. 220 Now doe you praise upon deceiued I 1598 B. Jonson Ev. Man in Hum. v. iii. Brayne worme ha s beene with my cosen Edward and I, all this day 1640 Nicholas Papers (Camden) 136 To give you and I a right understanding of those particulars 1698 Vanbrugh Prov. Wife v. ii, It must all light upon Heartfree and I Ibid., Between you and I 1710 Rich. Steele Bickerstaff's Burying 14 I leave your Lady and I alone 1857 Hughes Tom Brown i. 11, Let you and I cry quits

3 In mod.s.w. dial. used as an emphatic objective

Cupid's Garden in Hughes Country White Horse vii (1859) 180 I et thee and I go our own waay, And we'll let she go shu'n 1859 Barnes Hwomely Rhymes 20 How you do middle I or I the middle 1863 — Poems of Rural Life (Philol. Soc.) 23 We should say unemphatically 'Gi'e me the pick' but emphatically 'Gi'e me the pick vor I, not he' 1877 Elworthy W. Somerset Gram. 15

II As substantive

4 The pronoun regarded as a word

1599 Broughton's Let. ii. 8 The Cleerer of Dismistse, the I for a I, and the beleuer of Iames 1728 Woolaston Relig. Nat. ix. 185 It would be the same as to say the soul of the soul, or the body of the body or the I of me 1850 Hare Guesses Ser. i. (ed. 3) 9 English, I suppose, is to judge by its way of carrying itself, is I 1874 Helps Soc. Press. v. (1875) 66 An 'egotistical fellow', as you call him presses forward into the I, or simple Nominative, perhaps unjustly, you do not recognise that 'I' sufficiently. 1883 Westcott Fr. John (1886) 220 The unchanged and unchangeable 'I' of the Word

b Another I = a second self

1530 Tavernier Erasm. Prov. (1545) 140 My frende is as who shuld say an other I 1579 Lyly Euphues (Arb.) 48 At al times another I, in all places the very liuely image of myne owne person 1614 Sylvester Panaretus Wks. (1621) 855 That same other I

5 Metaph. The subject or object of self-consciousness, that which is conscious of itself, as thinking, feeling, and willing, the ego

1710 Berkeley Princ. Hum. Knowl. § 139 What I am myself—that which I denote by the term I—is the same with what is meant by soul or spiritual substance 1912 Shaftesb. Charac. VI. iv. 1 III. 193 The Question is, 'What constitutes the 'we' or I?' and, 'Whether the I of this Instant, be the same with that of any Instant preceding, or to come.' 1764 Reid Inquiry I. § 3 How do I know that the I of this moment is the very individual I of yesterday? 1880 Carlyle Misc. (1857) II. 75 A Manifestation of Power from some thing which is not I 1870 H. Macmillan Bible Teach. viii. 152 Man is not an independent unit, a self centred, self sustaining I 1874 W. Wallace Logic Hegel I. 90, 32 'I', in the abstract, as such is the mere act of concentration or reference to self 1892 E. B. Bax Outlooks fr. New Standpoint iii. 159 The I which we think of when we say myself is not the true I, the I that is thinking, but merely a pseudo I, a synthesis of thoughts and feelings reflected in this I, which are immediately or intuitively identified with that I

III Phrases containing I and its verb, taken substantively I say, a mere assertion, I will, a formal of promise, e g in marriage, I know not what (= Je ne sais quoi), the unknown, unintelligible, or inexpressible I AM, the I ord Jehovah, the self existent

1611 BIBLE Exod iii 14 And God saide vnto Moses, I am that I am And he said, Thus shalt thou say vnto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me vnto you 1654 CROMW Necess Speaker (1849) 241 His proofs are always beggarly I says, or if's, and may be nos 1721 SHAFTESB Charac (1737) I 332 Which the rest of mankind, feeling only the effects, term the je ne say-quoy, the unintelligible, or the I know not what ibid II 413 Whatever is commonly said of the inexpressible, the unintelligible, the I know not what of beauty 1729 I OTWEN Hymn, The God of Abraham praise viii, Jehovah—Father—great I AM, We worship Thee 1850 I KNOWSON New Comet, Her sweet I will! Who made you one 1884 H CONWAY in Harper's Mag Dec 142/2 Both bride and bridegroom said their 'I wills' in low tones

Hence I-ety nonce-wd, I-hood, I-ness, I-ship, (Metaph), consciousness personality, I-ism, s. Metaph, the reference of all things to one's own consciousness, egoism, b nonce-wd, the frequent use of 'I', egotism of style, I-now (Metaph), the subject of present consciousness

1835 MRS CARLYLE in Lett (1883) I 18 In spite of the honestest efforts to annihilate my 'I ety 1868 STARROW tr Behme's Rem Wks 1 Apol conc Perfection 118 The Man Christ is the first mystery in the Anointing dyed to the Humane 'I hood Hid, and Apol to Tylcken 17 He humbleth himself to my 'I hood, and my blood inclineth it self up into him 1877 MACPHAIL Four Eras (1879) II 82 He has no autarkia, or self-sufficingness no ichheit, or I hood, as the Germans would say 1840 Penny's Mag XXII 60 Use the nos-ism, the 'I' not of the Germans, making for each individual his own mind the centre of his universe 1848 OAK PENNY in I Cross Life (1886) I 191 Your affection in the letter demanded some I ism 1886 Illustr London News 4 Dec 598/2, I wonder whether any other writers often fall into the use of I, I am 1892 P H BARTLETT Holds fe New Standpoint in 184 Being is simply transfigured 'I ness. Ibid 189 Both alike are modes of I ness. Ibid 200 This distinction is traceable to that between the 'I and which thinks and presents, and the thing thought consider'd per se, that which is thought and presented in it The think ing and presenting I no n may be regarded as the material 1834 COLERIDGE Lit Rem (1839) IV 232 Who can compre hend his own personeity, that is his 'I ship (Ickheit)

I, obs f AYE, yes, and of EYE, EYE Hl Obs, they

I', I, weakened form of pref = go before a cons, as in i faith now dial or arch

†-I-, ME prefx, also written Y-, OE ge [= Goth ga, OHG ga, ge-, gi-, Ger, I G, Du ge-] forming collective sbs, deriv adjs, advbs, and vbs, esp used with the pa pple of verbs, and in southern ME a normal prefix of the pa pple like mod Ger and Du ge in gesehn, gesun, ME i-sen, i-se-yven, yse

In early ME, this prefix regularly appears as i-, words which did not survive to c 1340 have rarely any other form Later, y became (for graphic reasons) more usual, and was the form in which the prefix was borrowed from I ydgate, etc, by the Spenserian archaists, as in yclad, yclept, ycleped, ygo, yknel, ywis, etc In this Dictionary, the earlier words which are known only with the i spelling, are entered under I, those which survived to have y, and esp the archaistic yclad, yclept, etc appear under Y In MSS, this often stands separate from the rest of the word, or is united to it by a hyphen, the latter practice is frequently followed by editors, and it has been adopted here, in order to render the character and sense of these words more distinct to the eye

I-, reduced form of the negative prefix IN- (q v), used in some words of L origin before gu- (later n), as ignoble, ignominy, ignorant

-i, suffix the plural ending of Lat and decl noun-us (-er), also of Ital words in -o, e, retained in English in the plurals of some words in learned or scientific use, as cirri, foci, radii, banditti, dilettanti, interessi In some words a learned or technical pl in i and a popular one in uses are both in use, e g foci, fo uses, hippopotami, hippo potamuses

It is also frequent (without a singular) in mod L names of orders or other groups in Natural History, as Icanthopterygii, Chondropterygii (sc pisces, fishes), Acrocarpi, Cladocarpi (sc musci, mosses)

-i-, connective or quasi connective I + -, being the stem-vowel, as in omni vorous, or a weakened representative thereof, as in grami-vorous (gramo), or he bi vorous (herba-), or merely connective, as in gramin i vorous (gramin-), so uni formis, auri-f-r, terri genus, pac-i-fic us So in many English words taken from L, directly or through French, and in modern words formed on that analogy, e g omni-form, hybri form (erroneously hydri-form, hydro form), tetr-form, etc

Ia- obs spelling of JA- (Cf I the letter)

-ia, suffix[1], a termination of L and Gr sbs [-a-, e-, stem or connective vowel + -A suffix 2].

In Gr esp frequent as the ending of abstract sbs from adjs in -os, etc Many words so formed are in Eng use, as hydrophobia, mania, militia, hence frequent in mod Latin terms of Pathology (ephalalgia, hematuria, hyperalgia, hysteria), of Botany, in names of classes, orders, or other divisions, as Monandria, Digynia, (cryptogamia, and in generic names of plants, formed on personal names, or otherwise derived, as Dahlia, Fuchsia, Lobelia, Wisteria, Woodsia, Calceolaria, Mantissa, etc, in names of countries, as Australia, Tasmania, Rhodesia, and in names of alkaloids (after ammonia), as aconitia, atropia, conia, morphia, strychnia, in which more recent nomenclature prefers the ending -ine In Eng -ia became -e, whence ME -e, Eng -y, in sbs in -ency, -egraphy, -alogy, etc

-ia, suffix[2] [i- stem or connective vowel + -A suffix 4], forming plurals of Lat and Gr sbs in -um, -e (-on), -ov, some of which are in Eng use, as paraphernalia, regalia, saturnalia, hence frequent in mod L names of classes, etc in Zoology, as Mammalia, Mus cipula, Reptilia, Amphibia

Iacint, obs f JACINTH

Iacstro, obs f JACK STRAW

Iacobinism, ME pa pple of FARN v

†I ahn'e, v Obs [OE geagnian, f agnan to OWN] trans To own, possess

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom II 102 Hwi sceal he sonne him anum ðeagnian þæt him bam is forgifen? c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gramm xxxvii (Z) 157 Possideo, ic ɜeaɣnize 1205 LAY 1932 Nu was al þes land iahned a Bruttus hond Ibid 3743 He wolde be morðen þat him iahnede

-ial, suffix, repr L -alis, -ale, in adjs formed from sb stems in -o-, -a, as cirralis, tibialis, extensively used in mod L, Fr, and Eng to form derivative adjs from L adjs in -is, -us, as calcul is, calcul ous, terrestr-is, terrestr i-al, dictator i-us, dictator-ial See -AL suffix 1

Iamb (ai æmb) Pros [a F iambe, ad L iambus] = IAMBUS

1842 BRANDE Dict Sci etc s v Iambics, To add three short syllables to the last make 1847 SCHMITZ Smaller Lat Gram App 1 555 Two anapaests, according to the analogy of two iambs, make an anapaestic metre 1894 Athenæum 17/2 Using the phrase 'rising rhythm' to denote an iamb

Iambic (ai æ mbik), a and sb Pros [a F iambique (1549 in Hatz Darm) or ad L iambic-us, ad Gr ἰαμβικός, f ἴαμβος IAMBUS]

A. adj. Of verse, a verse, rhythm, etc Consisting of, characterized by, or based on iambuses

Iambic trimeter, a verse consisting of six iambuses (three dipodies) in the odd feet of which the iambus may be replaced by its metrical equivalent (the tribrach) or a spondee or its equivalent, the even feet being kept pure (though in Latin especially the licence of substitution was extended to them)

1586 WEBBE Eng Poetrie (Arb) 62 Ye shall perceiue them to contayne in sound ye very proportion of Iambick feete, as thus 'I thi mi skinder batlin pipe in verse wh wont to sounde 1721 ADDISON Spect No 39 P 5 Aristotle observes, that the Iambick Verse in the Greek Tongue was the most proper for Tragedy 1755 JOHNSON Lexicon s v Iambick, The feet of our verses are either iambick as 'aloft, create', or trochaick, as 'holy, lofty' 1789 TWINING Aristotle's Treatise on Poetry (1812) 141 As the Iambic meter is but one third longer than the Iambic trimeter 1869 SEELEY Lect & Ess (1870) 176 The regular beat of the Iambic metre

2 Of a poet Employing iambic metres

1581 SIDNEY Apol Poetrie (Arb) 128 These be subdiuided into the Heroick, Lirick, Tragick, Comick, Satirick, Iambick, Elegiack, Pastorall, and certaine others, some of these being termed according to the matter they deale with, some by the sorts of verses they liked best to write in 1585 WASHINGTON tr Nicholay's Voy 111 Hipponax the poet Iambique 1633 P FLETCHER Purple Isl v xx, O let th Iambike Muse reuenge that wrong

B sb (Usually pl) An iambus, foot, verse, or poem Also transf, a piece of invective or satire in verse (cf IAMBUS)

1575 G HARVEY Letter-bk (Camden) 100 In the meate season to haue heexameters, alcaickes, and iambikes I sett those that stand vppon the number, not in meter, such as my lords, of Surrey is sayde first to haue putt forthe in prynte 1851 LONGFELLOW Poems 34 Come keen Iambics, with your Badgers feet 1671 MILTON P R IV 267 What the lofty grave tragedians taught In Chorus or Iambic 1682 DRYDEN Hor Epod xvi Thy gums calls these not to purchase fame In keen Iambics, but mild Anagram 1809 COLERIDGE Mem Fox 5 Pindars in rich short 66 lion, Iambics in long

Iamical, a rare obs [-AL] = prec, adj 1583 STANYHURST Æneis etc (Arb) 126 Too my seeming the Iambical quantitye relisheth soom what vnsauorlye in oure language 1598 MARSTON Pigmalio Iamica 283/1 Two Iambical Poets, Gabriel Harueye, and Richard Stanyhurst

Hence Ia mbically adv, in the manner of an iambic (Worcester 1846, citing Chr Observer)

Iambist (ai æmbist) [ad Gr ἰαμβιστ-ής, agent n f ἰαμβίζειν to IAMBIZE] A composer of iambic verse, a writer of iambics

1830 HUSHES & HAWKINS C O Müller's Hist Dorn Race II 339 The Syracusan choruses of iambists were, with out doubt, connected with this worship [of Demeter] 1849 GROTE Greece II lxvii VI 51 With a malignity of personal slander not inferior to the Iambist Archilochus

Iambize (ai æmbəiz), v rare [ad Gr ἰαμβίζειν to assail in iambics, f ἴαμβος see IAMBUS and -IZE] trans To attack in iambic verse, hence gen to satirize

1789 J TWINING tr Aristotle's Treat Poetry (1812) I 141 150 The Iambic was the measure in which they used to lambize each other

Iambographer (ai æmbɒgrəfəɹ) [f Gr ἰαμβογράφ-ος (f ἴαμβος IAMBUS + γράφειν writing, writer) + -ER[1]] A writer of iambics

1642-6 SHIRLEY Maid's Rev I ii, I am an iambographer One of the sourest versifiers that ever crept into the Parnassus 1873 SYMONDS Grk Poetry iv 107 Next in order to Simonides among the Iambographers ranks Hipponax of Ephesus, who flourished about 540 B C

‖ Iambus (ai,æ mbəs) Pros [1, a Gr ἴαμβος iambus, iambic verse or poem, lampoon, f ἰαμβ-ειν to assail (in words), the iambic trimeter being the typical used, according to tradition, by the Greek satiric writers Archilochus and Hipponax] A metrical foot consisting of a short followed by a long syllable, in accentual verse, of an unaccented followed by an accented syllable

The iambic rhythm, as been, closest to that of ordinary speech, was employed in Greek and Latin as the common metre of dialogue, its earliest use as a vehicle of invective and satire (Cf CLYM above)

1586 W WEBBE Eng Poetrie (Arb) 69 A meet foote of 2 syllables of one short and one long called Iambus 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng Poesie II xiii (Arb) 135 Of all your words bysyllables the most part naturall do make the foote Iambus, many the Irishmen fewer the Spondies fewest of all the Pyrrichius 1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor 1457 The inuention of Iambus into Poan Palladius 1823 J B SEARS Anal Grk Metres 3 In the Iambus and Trochee the Arsis (or Ictus) is invariable, being upon the long, syllable of each 1884 L MURRAY Eng Hexam 103 The Alexandrine measure consists of six Iambuses The first ten feet of dimeter, be blamble and be wise 1833 Edin Rev LVI 172 The Iambus, which in the technic al language is said to consist of anacrusis and arsis

-ian, suffix, repr -ian-us, -i e an original or connective vowel -i-, with suffix -anus see AN 1, 4 of or belonging to' formed by adding -anus to stems ending in -i, as Ital a, Ital-ian-us, Lat-in-us, Virgil-i-anus, Virgil-i-an, Christ-i-an-us Hence, in many Eng words adopted or formed from L in which the suffix forms both adjs and sbs, as antediluvian, barbar-ian, historian, equestrian, patrician, valetudinarian, and in modern formations from proper names, the number of which is without limit, as Addisonian, Jeremian, Arnoldian, Boothian, Gladstonian, Hoodlician, Hymenian, Johnsonian, Mormonian, Ruskinian Salisburyian Sheldonian, Taylorian, Tennysonian, Hardian, Words worthian, Aberdonian, Bathonian, Boltonian, Cantabrigian, Devonian, Galwegian, Glasgowegian, Johnian, Oxonian, Parisian, Salopian, Sierra Leonian There are also spurious formations as any lengthian See also -ANA

Ianthine (ai,æ nθin, -ain Also 7 -in [ad I ianthin-us, ad Gr ἰανθινος] Violet coloured, dyed of a violet colour (See also quot 1876)

1609 BIBLE (Douay) Ecclus xxv 5 Rainnes skinnes died redde and ianthine 1611 COTGR, Ianthinus 1870 Trans Lit (Rev ed) 616/1 Ianthine pure blue stained with red, so as to be intermediate between the two colours

Iare, Iarke, obs ff YARE, YARK

I-armed, ME pa pple of ARM v

†I-athel-e, v Obs [OE geæðelan to ennoble, f æðelan see ATHEL (E v)]

1 trans To make noble or renowned a 1000 Hymns viii 26 (Gr) Du eart ɜeæðeled ɜeond ealle world 1205 LAY 2249 Þu hune scalt ieðelen, to cuhte hine dubben

2 To elate, fill with joy

1205 LAY 1605 Sone swa he alde king wunhche iæðeled

Iatrhptico (ai,ætrɒ ptik), a and sb rare. Also Nereus Iatroleptic k [?ad I iatraleptique (Littré), ad late L iatraleptic-us* inferred from iatraliptæ, ad Gr ἰατραλείπτ-ης ἰατραλειπτης, f ἰατρὸς physician + ἀλείπτης anointer] a and sb Relating to the care of diseases by the use of unguents b sb A physician who follows this method 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr, Iatraliptæ or Iatraliptes, or Surgeon that cureth only by outward applications of oyntments or fin ments 1727-41 CHAMBERS Cycl s v It was on Praxiteles who first instituted the iatraliptic art 1755 JOHNSON, Iatroliptick 1864 WEBSTER, Iatraliptic 1886 Syd Soc Lex, Iatroleptic, Iatraliptic

Iatrarchy nonce-wd [f Gr ἰατρὸς physician after hierarchy] The order of physicians

a 1843 SOUTHEY Doctor (1847) VII 498 The chiefs of the Hierarchy, the Iatrarchy, the Nomarchy, and the Hoplarchy

Iatric (ai,æ trik), a rare [ad Gr ἰατρικ-ός healer, physician, f ἰαθαι to heal + -IC] = iatrical Belonging or relating to a physician or to medicine, medical, medicinal

1851 BADHAM Halieut (1854) 84 In an early age of the world 1853 Ibid 146 The satire lives of the cod 1865 Fraser's Mag Feb 158 The satiric powers with which he [Pascal spun] is credited

Ia'trical, a [f as prec + AL] Medical 1716 M. DAUPIA Ath. Brit. III Dissert. Physic. 14 Doctors of the same Panto Iatrical Scriptures.] 1816 BYRON Let. to Moore 29 Feb. I am still under Iatrical advice.

Iatro-, repr. Gr ἰατρο-, combining form of ἰᾶτρός physician, used in Greek in ἰατρομαθηματικός IATROMATHEMATICAL, after which similar compounds have been formed in the mod. langs generally

†Iatrochemic Obs rare—° [See IATRO- and CHEMIC sb. 2.] = Iatrochemist

[1706 PHILLIPS, Iatrochymicus, a Chymical Physician.] 1721 BAILEY, Iatrochymick, a Chymical Physician.

Iatro-chemical (ˌəi,ətrōu'kɛ·mikăl), a. [f. as prec. + AL.] Relating to or holding the chemical theory of medicine and physiology adopted by Paracelsus and others. = CHEMIATRIC

1832 SIR W. HAMILTON Discuss. (1852) 2 The crudities of the Iatro mathematical and Iatro chemical hypotheses. 1850 Athenæum 6 Aug. 797/2 The history of the iatro-chemical period

Iatrochemist (ˌəi,ətrōu'kɛ·mist) [f. as prec. + CHEMIST.] One belonging to the iatrochemical school, also gen. (quot. 1866), one who applies the knowledge of chemistry to medical practice

1727 BAILEY vol. II, Iatrochymists, a Chymical Physician, or one who uses or prescribes chiefly Chymical Preparations. 1832 SIR W. HAMILTON Dis. ser. (1853) 260 In theory the most Iatro chemist. 1866 OLIVER Anim. Chem. 1 Only the iatro chemist if I may so call him, can ever hope to understand the varied series of actions, healthy and morbid in the living organism

Iatrology (ˌəi,ətrɔ·lŏdʒi) rare—° [vd. Gr ἰατρολογία (Philo), f. ἰᾶτρός physician + -λογία the science of, or a treatise on, medicine.

1855 in MAYNE Expos. Lex.

Iatromathematical (ˌəi,ətrōuˌmæθĭmæ'tĭkăl), a. [f. as I iatromathematic + -AL.] (Ampsinga, 1602), a Gr ἰατρομαθηματικός (Proclus), applied to those who practised medicine in conjunction with astrology, f. ἰᾶτρός physician + μαθηματικός mathematical (see -ICAL). (Cf. iatromathématique.)

†a. Practising medicine in conjunction with astrology (quot. 1621). Obs. b. Relating to or holding a mathematical theory of medicine, applied to a school of physicians which arose in Italy in the 17th century, whose system of physiology and medicine was founded on the principles of mathematics and mechanics.

1621 BURTON Anat. Mel. II. II. 3. 298 Paracelsus will have time out of mind of quickning of herbs. Astrologicalls observed, which Thurneysserus, and some Iatromathematicall practisers, are too superstitious in my Iudgment. 1858-9 HALLAM Hist. Lit. IV. IV. § 38. A second school of medicine the iatro-mathematical

Hence Ia tromathema tically adv. So also | Ia tromathema tic sb. see quot 1656), †Ia-tromathema tics, a work on medicine and astrology

1603 SIR C. HEYDON Jud. Astrol. vi 178 He neglected not the practices of Physick, but Iatromathematicalle ioyneth them together 1647 ELLY Cav. Astrol. xliv 268 I have endeavoured to English the Iatromathematicks of Heimes. 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Ia tromathematice, may signifie a Physician that is also a Mathematician or one skill both in Physic, and the Mathematicks. 1855 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Iatromathematics

Iatromathematician (ˌəi,ətrōuˌmæθĭmăti'shăn) [f. as prec., after mathematician in F. iatromathématicien.] One belonging to the iatromathematical school

1727 BAILEY vol. II Iatromathematician, a Physician who considers Diseases, and their Causes, mathematically, and prescribes according to mathematical proportion. 1838-9 HALLAM Hist. Lit. IV. IV. viii § 38. 36. Pitcairn and Boerhave were leaders of the iatro mathematicians. 1858 WHEWELL Hist. Sc. Ideas IV. II. viii. 89 Several of the iatromathematicians were at the same time teachers of engineering and of medicine

Iatromechanical (ˌəi,ətrōumĭ'kænĭkăl), a. [See IATRO-.] IATROMATHEMATICAL

1881 HOSKYNS Nature No. 613. 341 His confusion strikes at the root of the whole iatro-mechanical system

Iatrophysical (ˌəi,ətrōufi'zĭkăl), a. [See IATRO-.] Relating to medicine and physics 1886 Sat. Rev. Lett., Iatrophysical, of or belonging to what is medical and physical: anciently applied as an epithet of certain writings which treated of natural phenomena with relation to medicine.

I-attred, vt. ME. pa. pple. of ATTER v., to poison

Ib, abbrev. of IBIDEM

I-banned, ME. pa. pple. of BAN v.

I-bannysshed, ME. pa. pple. of BANISH v.

I-baptized, ME. pa. pple. of BAPTIZE v.

c1305 St. Kath. 191 in L. E. P. (1862) 95 Two hondred knyhtes ek ibaptized were

I-barned, ME. pa. pple. of BURN v.

1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9535 Wircestre was pus ibarned

†I-be, v. Obs. rare [f. I pref., OE. ge- + BE v.] intr. To be a 1175 Cott. Hom. 235 Hwe sedon erst pat pes manfulnesses wes eorst of bi-beden, wa ibeo8 a 1225 Ancr. R. 190 Hes discipli . pet schulden stonden bi him and ibeon his sideu c 1300 Sawles Ne. (W.) 458, I pu soget wil ibe

I-be, i-beo, i-ben, ME. pa. pple. of BE v.

I-beate(n, -bete(n, ME. pa. pple. of BEAT v.

†I-bedde. Obs. [OE. gebedda, ge- (= OS. gi-, OHG. gi-) + bedda, MHG. gebette), f. BED sb.] A bedfellow

Beowulf (J.) 655 Wolde wigfruma wealh beo secan cwen to sebeddi a 1250 Owl & Night 1570 Pat [he] hine sende batere bedde. Ibid. 1490

†I-bede, v. Obs. [OE. gebeodan, f. beodan see BID v. A.] trans. To command, proclaim, offer a 800 O. & Chron. an. 755 Hiera se apeling kehwelcum frede and freoh[a] gebeod. c 950 Lorica of Æthelwold in C. 20 Hit beo scafon nihtum zebeden. a 1300 Horn & Bl. 804 He wulle seue pe a kinedom, Also long and also brod Also pe fader hafed ibeod

I-berded, south. ME. form of BEARDED

1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) II. 195 A mayde ischaunged and i-turned into a man, and was i-berded anon

†I-bere, sb. Obs. [OE. gebæru, e bearing, f. BEAR v.] Bearing, comportment, conduct

c 1000 ÆLFRIC Hom. I. 568 Alys us nu Drihten fram his gebeote c 1205 LAY. 5682 Heo speken of pratte & of prute ibeote Ibid. 20109 Pe we beore ibeot

I-berded, south. ME. form of BEARDED

1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) II. 195 A mayde ischaunged and i-turned into a man, and was i-berded anon

†I-bere, sb. Obs. [OE. gebæru, e bearing, f. BEAR v.] Bearing, comportment, conduct

a 1000 Exodus 11 Ine 659 (Gr.) We on gewritu setton besti3 gebæru a 1250 in O. E. Misc. 100 Milde wes pat meiden. Pat of hire ibere a 1250 Owl & Night 222 Alle pat ibereth pine ibere

†I-bere, v.[1] Obs. [OE. geberan (= OS. and OHG. giberan, Goth. gabairan), f. beran to BEAR.] trans. To bear, bring forth

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. III. 7 Ne mehton nanuht lib bendes 3cberan c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. XXXV. 19 Rachel gebær Beniamin c 1205 LAY. 27850 Arður pidre ibæren pe pe leuue kaere a 1225 Ancr. R. 194 Wel is pe moder pet ou ther ibereð c 1275 Pass. our Lord 132 in O. E. Misc. 57 Pryuy wyntre and more Seoppe pat Maydе hyne yber

†I-bere, v.[2] Obs. [OE. geberan to comport oneself = OS. gibêran, MHG. gebæren see BEAR v.] intr. To conduct oneself

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. xlvi. 356 Ne scule [he] wib hine gebæran swa swa wib feond

c 1205 LAY. 31010 Pe mon pe wes ibaren swa wa wib feond

Iberian (aibi·rĭăn), a. and sb. [f. Iberia the country of the Ibēri or Ibēres, a Gr. Ἴβηρες the Spaniards. Also an Asiatic people near the Caucasus in modern Georgia. See -AN, -IAN.]

A adj. 1 Of or pertaining to ancient Iberia in Europe (comprising Spain and Portugal, the Iberian peninsula), or its inhabitants, hence a Basque. b Of Spain and Portugal unitedly

1728 E. CHAMBERS Cyclop. Supplem. 692 By this, th Iberian Argonauts May be supposed to have kill'd more Men than by their Martyrdom, Or Massacre. 1634 MILTON Comus 80 Beyond the Celtic and Iberian fields. 1828-32 WEBSTER, & HARRIS Nicholson's Hist. Rome (1851) I. 171 An Iberian colony at Nora. 1881 Times 21 Apr. 9/4 Certain Iberian tribes whose hair was of exaltation. 1898 J. HERON Celtic Church 7 There are reasons for believing that the Firbolgs contained an Iberian element

2 Of or pertaining to ancient Iberia in Asia, nearly corresponding to modern Georgia

1671 MILTON P. R. III. 318 The Hyrcanian cliffs Of Caucasus, and dark Iberian dales

B sb. 1 a An inhabitant of ancient Iberia in Europe, hence (a) a Basque, (b) a Spaniard. b The language of ancient Iberia, supposed to be represented by the modern Basque

1623 COCKERAM, Iberians, Spaniards. 1632 MASSINGER Maid of Hon. I. 1, When the Iberian quaked, her [Long Land's] sweet breath kept cold. 1844 RICHARD Nat. Hist. Man xxiv (1848) 256 The language of the ancient Iberians has survived in the vernacular speech of the Biscayans in Spain and the Basques in France

2 An inhabitant of ancient Iberia in Asia

1601 HOLLAND Pliny I. 119 You enter into the Iberians region, who are separated from the Albanois by the river Alazon. 1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 43 The Iberians, with Albanians, dwelt neare to Mootis certaine Colonies of them inhabited Vpsime, and called of Hiberia. 1635 PACITT Christianogr. II. (1636) 54 The Georgians are those people whom Cosmographers call Iberians

Iberian (see prec.) + Peninsula

1880 Literary World 8 Oct. 2/1. Iberianism, the project of bringing Spain and Portugal together under a single crown

Iberic (aibe·rik), a. [ad. L. Ibēricus (Hibericus) = Spanish, f. Ibēri see prec.] = IBERIAN A. I. b

1881 Times 21 Apr. 4/1 A large stride towards the Iberic union

Iberism (ai·bĕrizm [f. as IBERIAN + -ISM (see quots.)] So I berist, an advocate of 'Iberism'

1881 Nat. Ref. 24 Apr. 519 Iberism signifies the desire for a coalition of Spain and Portugal, in which Iberia is to be the Ibernian Ibid. The Iberist would probably retort that England and Scotland got on very well together

Iberite (ai·bĕrəit) Min. [f. Iberia Spain + ITE 1.] An altered form of iolite found at Toledo

1868 DANA Min. 698 Spinel, iberite, hauyne, are supposed to be altered iolite

I-bet, ME. pa. pple. of BEET v., to amend

†I-bete, v. Obs. [OE. gebétan, f. bétan to make good, amend, BEET.] trans. To make good, amend, mend

I-beten, ME. pa. pple. of BEAT v.

I-bidde. Obs. [OE. gebedda, ge- (= OS. gi-bedda, MHG. gebette), f. BED sb.] A bedfellow

Beowulf (J.) 655 Wolde wigfruma wealh beo secan cwen to zebeddi a 1250 Owl & Night 1570 Pat [he] hine sende batere bedde. Ibid. 1490

†I-bede, v. Obs. [OE. gebeodan, f. beodan see BID v. A.] trans. To command, proclaim, offer a 800 O. & Chron. an. 755 Hiera se apeling kehwelcum frede and freoh[a] gebeod. c 950 Lorica of Æthelwold in C. 20 Hit beo scafon nihtum zebeden. a 1300 Horn & Bl. 804 He wulle seue pe a kinedom, Also long and also brod Also pe fader hafed ibeod

I-bended, south. ME. form of BEARDED

1387 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) II. 195 A mayde ischaunged and i-turned into a man, and was i-bended anon

†I-bere, sb. Obs. [OE. gebæru, e bearing, f. BEAR v.] Bearing, comportment, conduct

a 1000 Exodus 11 Ine 659 (Gr.) We on gewritu setton besti3 gebæru a 1250 in O. E. Misc. 100 Milde wes pat meiden. Pat of hire ibere a 1250 Owl & Night 222 Alle pat ibereth pine ibere

†I-bere, v.[1] Obs. [OE. geberan (= OS. and OHG. giberan, Goth. gabairan), f. beran to BEAR.] trans. To bear, bring forth

c 893 K. ÆLFRED Oros. III. 7 Ne mehton nanuht lib bendes 3cberan c 1000 ÆLFRIC Gen. XXXV. 19 Rachel gebær Beniamin c 1205 LAY. 27850 Arður pidre ibæren pe pe leuue kaere a 1225 Ancr. R. 194 Wel is pe moder pet ou ther ibereð c 1275 Pass. our Lord 132 in O. E. Misc. 57 Pryuy wyntre and more Seoppe pat Maydе hyne yber

†I-bere, v.[2] Obs. [OE. geberan to comport oneself = OS. gibêran, MHG. gebæren see BEAR v.] intr. To conduct oneself

c 897 K. ÆLFRED Gregory's Past. xlvi. 356 Ne scule [he] wib hine gebæran swa swa wib feond

c 1205 LAY. 31010 Pe mon pe wes ibaren swa wa wib feond

Iberian (aibi·rĭăn), a. and sb. [f. Iberia the country of the Ibēri or Ibēres, a Gr. Ἴβηρες the Spaniards. Also an Asiatic people near the Caucasus in modern Georgia. See -AN, -IAN.]

A adj. 1 Of or pertaining to ancient Iberia in Europe (comprising Spain and Portugal, the Iberian peninsula), or its inhabitants, hence a Basque. b Of Spain and Portugal unitedly

1728 E. CHAMBERS Cyclop. Supplem. 692 By this, th Iberian Argonauts May be supposed to have kill'd more Men than by their Martyrdom, Or Massacre. 1634 MILTON Comus 80 Beyond the Celtic and Iberian fields. 1828-32 WEBSTER, & HARRIS Nicholson's Hist. Rome (1851) I. 171 An Iberian colony at Nora. 1881 Times 21 Apr. 9/4 Certain Iberian tribes whose hair was of exaltation. 1898 J. HERON Celtic Church 7 There are reasons for believing that the Firbolgs contained an Iberian element

2 Of or pertaining to ancient Iberia in Asia, nearly corresponding to modern Georgia

1671 MILTON P. R. III. 318 The Hyrcanian cliffs Of Caucasus, and dark Iberian dales

B sb. 1 a An inhabitant of ancient Iberia in Europe, hence (a) a Basque, (b) a Spaniard. b The language of ancient Iberia, supposed to be represented by the modern Basque

1623 COCKERAM, Iberians, Spaniards. 1632 MASSINGER Maid of Hon. I. 1, When the Iberian quaked, her [Long Land's] sweet breath kept cold. 1844 RICHARD Nat. Hist. Man xxiv (1848) 256 The language of the ancient Iberians has survived in the vernacular speech of the Biscayans in Spain and the Basques in France

2 An inhabitant of ancient Iberia in Asia

1601 HOLLAND Pliny I. 119 You enter into the Iberians region, who are separated from the Albanois by the river Alazon. 1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 43 The Iberians, with Albanians, dwelt neare to Mootis certaine Colonies of them inhabited Vpsime, and called of Hiberia. 1635 PACITT Christianogr. II. (1636) 54 The Georgians are those people whom Cosmographers call Iberians

Iberian (see prec.) + Peninsula

1880 Literary World 8 Oct. 2/1. Iberianism, the project of bringing Spain and Portugal together under a single crown

Iberic (aibe·rik), a. [ad. L. Ibēricus (Hibericus) = Spanish, f. Ibēri see prec.] = IBERIAN A. I. b

1881 Times 21 Apr. 4/1 A large stride towards the Iberic union

Iberism (ai·bĕrizm [f. as IBERIAN + -ISM (see quots.)] So I berist, an advocate of 'Iberism'

1881 Nat. Ref. 24 Apr. 519 Iberism signifies the desire for a coalition of Spain and Portugal, in which Iberia is to be the Ibernian Ibid. The Iberist would probably retort that England and Scotland got on very well together

Iberite (ai·bĕrəit) Min. [f. Iberia Spain + ITE 1.] An altered form of iolite found at Toledo

1868 DANA Min. 698 Spinel, iberite, hauyne, are supposed to be altered iolite

I-bet, ME. pa. pple. of BEET v., to amend

†I-bete, v. Obs. [OE. gebétan, f. bétan to make good, amend, BEET.] trans. To make good, amend, mend

971 Blickl. Hom. 91 Donne sceolan we gebetan ealle pa we aer zedydon c 1275 Lamb. Hom. 35 Was ic me pet te heo ne sebete Ibid. 149 If he ne mei . his neode ibete c 1275 Horol. Dei 234 Heo nolde . beore sinne ibete

Ibex (ai·beks). Also 7 ibeckes Pl ibexes, rarely ibices (ai·bisiz) [L. ibex (ibic-) a kind of goat, a chamois.] A species of wild goat (Capra ibex or Ibex ibex) inhabiting the Alps and Apennines, the male of which has very large strongly ridged recurved diverging horns, and hair of a brownish or reddish grey becoming grey with age; the female, shorter horns and grey hair, also called bouquetin and steinbock. Extended to other species of the same genus or subgenus, inhabiting mountain-ranges in Europe, Asia, and Africa

1607 TOURNEUR Tom. d'Ivernie (1658) 104 They inhabit the Rocks or Mountains, but not the tops like the Ibecks. Ibid. 347 The Ibex (some) take it to be a wilde Goat: these are bred in the Alpes, and are of an admirable celerity, although their heads be loaded with such horns as no other Beasts of their stature beareth. 1671 J. WEBSTER Metallogr. IX. 140 Goats that are called Ibices. 1774 GOLDSM. Nat. Hist. II. 38 The ibex resembles the goat in shape. 1776 PENNANT Zool. (ed. 4) I. 34 The origin of the domestick goat is the Steinibex, Ibex, or wild goat. 1898 G. P. MACLEAR Textbook to (1880) 142 Numerous ibexes or Syrian chamois inhabit these cliffs

†I-bid, v. Obs. [OE. gebiddan (= OS. gebiddian, Goth. gabidjan), f. biddan, BID v. B.] intr. To pray (In OE. with full dative.)

971 Blickl. Hom. 139 Uton arddian us to urum Drihtne c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Matt. vi. 5 Ponne ze eow zebiddon c 1275 Lamb. Hom. 45 Ic ham zeue reste alswa pu hebeden lauest a 1225 Ancr. R. 144 Wakeð & ibiddeð, for ne tet schul makien ou stonden a 1300 Lion & Wolf 135 Ich holde no bede for the ‖ Ibidem (ibi·dĕm) [L., = in the same place, f. ibi there + demonstr. suffix -dem, as in idem, tandem, etc.] In the same place, in the same book, chapter, passage, etc. used to avoid the repetition of a reference. Abbreviated ibid or id

1663 BOYLE Exp. & Notes Pristine Vi. 415 Ad pag. 257 Iliad Hæc &c Ibid. 416 Ad pag. 258 Cholera is cured by the same Remedies. 1675 BAXTER Cath. Theol. I. 132 See more Ibid to the same purpose Ibid in 1st 169, I find Dr. Hawse Ibid. Ibid. adds 1679 changing it on them [etc.] 1762-71 H. WALPOLE Letters Anecd. Paint. (1786) I. 119 Ibidem, Adam and Eve, half figures. 1868 FURNIVALL Forewords to Babees Bk. 51 R. Whaston, Cathedral Trusts, p. 2-a. Ibid, p. 10-19

Ibidine (ai·bidain), a. Zool. [f. L. ibis, ibid- (see IBIS) + -INE.] Related to the ibis.

1875 PARKER & SWAYNE Skull III. 213/1 In most of these Ciconian and Ibidine types the vomer is evidently rudimentary.

†I-binde, v. [OF. gebindan (= OS. gebindan, OHG. gibintan), f. BIND v.] trans. To bind

c 1000 Ags. Gosp. Mark v. 3 Hine nan man ne mihte ze-bindan a 1175 Cott. Hom. 229 Pat pa wel reowen hine pe nu man and zebinden c 1205 LAY. 2487 Heo nom Æstrild & Alren & leite heom ibunden Ibis (ai·bis) Pl ibises, also (now rarely) ibides (ai·bidiz), ibes (ai·biz) [a. L. ibis (gen. ibidis, pl. ibes), a Gr. Ἶβις (gen. Ἴβιδος, Ἴβεως) the ibis, an Egyptian bird. So in F., Sp., and It., ibis.] A genus of large grallatorial birds of the family Ibididæ, allied to the stork and heron, comprising numerous species with long legs and long slender decurved bill, inhabiting lakes and swamps in warm climates, a bird of this genus, esp. (and originally) the Sacred Ibis of Egypt (Ibis religiosa), with white and black plumage, an object of veneration among the ancient Egyptians. Other species are the Glossy Ibis or Plegadis falcinellus, found widely in the Old World and occasionally in N. America, the White Ibis (Tantalus albus) of the Southern U. S., the Scarlet Ibis (T. ruber) of tropical and subtropical America, etc.

1382 WYCLIF Deut. xiv. 16 And ybys I-schonyed, that is a fonle of Nyle flood. c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) iv. 21 Aboute pus ryuer er gretе plentee of fewles pat er called in Latyne Cicone or Ibices [ed. 1839, 45 Nikonyes that thei clepen Ibes] 1588 GREENE Pandosto (184) 51 I take the bird Ibys in Egipt, which hateth serpents yet feedeth on their egges. 1594 T. LODGE Scilla's Wks. 1881-3 XIV. 284 Those industrious birds, those Ibides. a 1661 HOLYDAY Juvenal 271 They ador'd the bird ibis, for eating the eggs of serpents, which infest their country and for destroying snakes. 1839-43 TURBULLE Trav. Russia (1848) 118 Appearance of the Glossy Ibis [Ibis falcinellus] in this country, though not uncommon, is still accidental. 1874 COUES Birds N. W. 511 Ibises inhabit the warmer parts of both hemispheres. They are nearly related to Herons.

I-blamed, ME. pa. pple. of BLAME v.

-ible, the form of the suffix -BLE, representing L. -ibilis, formed from Latin consonantal stems (verbal or participial) and some e-stems, as -ibilis from i stems, as leg-ible, poss-ible, vis-ible, flex-ible, permiss-ible, ter-ible, and dile Often displaced by able in words that have come through French, or that are looked upon as formed immediately on an Eng. verb, as refer-able, ten-able, readmit-able, convert-able, dwind-able

I-bleched, ME. pa. pple. of BLEACH v. I-bled, of BLEED v. I-blend, i-blent, of BLEND v., to blind, etc. see also YBLENT I-blessed, -ed, of BURNE v I-blowe(n, of BLOW v[1] and [2] I-bobbed, of BOB v

†I-bod, sb Obs [OF gebod (OS gibod, OHG gabot, gibot, Ger gebot), f OE bódan, OTeut beudan* to command see BID v A]

a Command, order b Bid, offer

c 888 K ÆLFRED Boeth xxxix § 13 He þæs cyninges Xerxes bode c 1205 LAY 14618 Nalle we naugere mare þene bodem here Ibid 22354 Al þat he þimde at he him sette, ȝiftes and abes, and alle his bodes

I-bod, ME pa t of I-BIDE v, to offer I-boded, of BODE v I-boden, of bede, BID v A

†I-boen, i-bon, ppl a [f I- (~ge-) + ODa bún ON búinn pa pple of búa, búa to make ready, etc cf BOUND ppl a 1] Made ready, prepared, attired, dressed

c 1205 LAY 14094 Hes weoren wurðe wel ibon a 1300 Versus 434 Ich am redi and iboen To don al that thou sue

I-boghen, -boȝen, obs pa pple of BOW v I boght, -boht, -bought, of BUY v I-bolȝe(n, var of BOUGHEN, enraged I-boned, of BONE sb Ibony, obs f EBONY I-boren, ME pa pple of BEAR v

† I-borenesse. [f iboren born + -NESS] Birth a 1225 Ancr R 262 His iborenesse on eorðe of þe clin maidene a 1240 Lofsong in Cott Hom 205 Ich bidde þe and besche þe þi liues iborennesse

I-borghe(n, -borȝe(n, -borhe(n, -borewe(n, saved delivered, preserved, ME pa pple of BERGHE v I-borsten, of BURST v

c 1250 Med Margrete 6, He is iborsten a two

I-boshed, -et, ME pa pple of BUSK v I-botened, of BUTTON v I-bounde(n, i bun de(n, of BIND, I BINDE v I-braced, of BRACE v I-brad, of BREDE v [2], to broaden I-bred, of BREDE v [1], to roast I-brend, i brent, of BURN v I-brevet, of BREVE v

†I-bringe, v Obs [OE gebringan, f. bringan to BRING.] trans To bring let and ge a 1000 Sal & Sat 87 (Gr) He mæg ðone halgan gast fleondc gebringan c 1205 LAY 26861 Þeouwer corles he halste forð beom þringen a 1250 Owl & Nightt 1549 Nis nan mon þat ne mai þinnge His wil ianis mid swuche þinge

I broched, ME pa pple of BROACH v I-broded, of BROAD v I-broght, -broht, -brou g)ht, of BRING v I broiden, of BRAID v see BROIDEN

† I-broke, -en, pa ppls Obs Broken (See BREAK and YBREAK.)

c 900 Trr Boeth I Met v vi (1899) 400 Se ðuma gebrocen wes c 1175 Lamb Hom 83 Sel þu hefdc on his modes þrokcn hure mcdeuuil a 1225 Juliana 49 Ich habbe þrokcn hure þe sculdren & te schonken a 1290 Beket 1 70 in Y Ing Lfg I 135 For he swor and hath broke is oth 1330 Four Leas in Hazl Dodsley I 49 Jack boy, is thy bow i broke?

† I-brotheren, -thren, sb pl Obs [OE gebróðor, -bru (~OS gibróðar, OHG gabruodi Ger gebruder), collective pl of bróðor BROTHER.] Brethren, brothers collectively (or mutually)

c 1000 Ags Gosp Matt xxiii 8 Se synt ealle gebrodru a 1200 Trin Coll Hom 219 For þi beð alle men þrobren and þustren c 1205 LAY 2880 Beone iwerren þroðeren

I-brewe(n, ME pa pple of BREW v I-bult, i-build, i bult, obs forms of BUILT pa ppl

a 1300 Floris & Bl 643 His palus þat was so faire bult 1610 HOLLAND Camden's Brit 1 367 The roufe aloft built Of tile

† I-bure, v Obs [OE gebýrian = OS gibúrian, OHG gabúrjan, Ger gebühren see BIRE] intr To pertain, behove, be proper

c 1000 Ælfric Gen xlviii 18 Ne gebyr þu þit swa a 1100 O Chron (MS C) 1087 Hine nan hyrnsle swa him wel gebyrede c 1175 Lamb Hom 79 Nu hit ðunel breke þus word a 1250 Prov Ælfred 25 Pe corl and þe cbelyng þunch vnder godne kinge þat bunel to ðeien

I-buried, ME pa pple of BURY v

† I-burned, ppl a Obs [OE gebýrned, f. byrne BURNE, BRINE] Mailed

c 1000 Ælfric Gram xliii (Z) 296 Loricatus, gebyrnod c 1205 LAY 26273 Getin A. Beof iburnied and helmed

I-by, i-bye, been, MF pa pple of BE v

† I-bye, v Obs rare [OE gebýgan, f bycgan to BUY.] trans To purchase, to pay for, atone for a 1000 Of Chron anno 616 I undeiwaun hun frip ze bohton c 1235 Lore Portugal 1222 Þou shalt ibye it

Ic, obs form of I, pron

-ic (formerly -ick, -ik(e, -ique), suffix, primarily forming adjs, many of which are used as sbs The latter have also the form -ics see 2

1 In adjs., immediately representing F -ique, ad L -icus, of Latin origin, as in civic n, classic n, public n, domestic n, agnatic n, in all of which the sb, as in κομικὸς ὑποκριτής, γραμματικὸς-ογραμματικὸς, ποιητικὸς poetic n. This was in Gr one of the commonest of suffixes, forming adjs, with the sense 'after the manner of', 'of the nature of', 'pertaining to', 'of' Its use in L was much more restricted, and it ceased to be a living formative, except in the compound suffix -atic (see -ATIC), and in words formed from Greek, or on Greek types These were very numerous in late and med L, whence they passed into the modern langs, since the 16th c they have been taken directly from Gr, or formed upon Gr elements, and in some recent (esp scientific) terms on words from L or other sources, as carbonic, oratoric, artistic, bardic, scaldic, felspathic, Icelandic, Hyronic In Chemistry, the suffix -ic is specifically employed to form the names of oxygen acids and other compounds having a higher degree of oxidation than those whose names end in -ous, e g chloric acid HO_3Cl, chlorous acid HO_2Cl, sulphuric acid H_2SO_4, sulphurous acid H_2SO_3

At the time when this nomenclature was introduced only two such compounds were provided for In many cases other oxygen compounds have since been obtained, but the names in -ic and -ous have been retained in their original applications, and prefixes as per-, hyper-, hypo- were employed to denominate the addition of compounds

1897 THOMSON Chem II 254 The French chemists made some of the names of the combustible acids end in -ic, as if they were saturated with oxygen, and others in -ous, as if they were capable of combining with an additional dose The fact is, that some of these are, strictly speaking, saturated with oxygen, for all of them are capable of combining with more 1899 D CLEMENT Intern Chem 4 Acids formed by oxygen with another element, are distinguished by the termination -ous, given to acids with a lesser quantity of oxygen, and to acids with a greater quantity

2 Already in Gr, adjs in -ικός were used adjectivally vs sbs e g in sing masc, as Στωϊκὸς (man) of the porch, Stoic κριτικὸς (man) able to discern, critic, hence in I Stoicus, criticus, etc., also, in sing fem, in names of arts (sc. τέχνη, or systems of thought, knowledge, or action (sc. θεωρία, φιλοσοφία), e g ἡ μουσικὴ the art of the Muses, music, ἡ ῥητορικὴ the oratorical art, rhetoric, ἡ ἰδιωτικὴ theory of wealth, ethics, ἡ στρατηγικὴ science of vision, optics, and in neuter pl, as expressions for the affairs or matters pertaining to some department and hence as names of treatises on these subjects, as τὰ οἰκονομικὰ things pertaining to the management of a household, a treatise on this, economics Sometimes both forms were in use with a distinction of sense, e g ἡ φυσικὴ the art of the statesman, political science, τὰ πολιτικὰ affairs of state, politics, this distinction tended however to become obliterated, as in ἡ τακτική, τὰ τακτικὰ tactics ἡ φυσική, τὰ φυσικὰ physics In pairs like φυσική, φυσικὰ both forms gave regularly in L. form in -ica, as physica, which might be taken as fem sing or neuter pl, hence there was in med L considerable fluctuation in the grammatical treatment of these words In the Romanic langs (It, Sp -tica, F -tique), as also in Ger (-tik), they were regularly treated as fem sing, though in French from the 16th c, sometimes as plural (les mathématiques)

In English, such words of this class as were in use before 1600 had the singular form, and were used as fem sing, as arithmetic, logic, rhetoric, music, mathematic (the -tik), mechanic, economic, ethopic (-tik) this form is retained in arithmetic, logic, magic, music, rhetoric though logics has also been used But, from the 15th c, forms in -ics (-tiques) occur as names of treatises (cpr Gr names in -ικὸς), as translations of L. neut pl, e g elenchi τὰ σοφιστικὰ ἔλεγχοι, and in the second half of the 16th c this form is found applied to the subject-matter of such treatises, in mathematics, economics, etc From 1600 onward this has been the accepted form with names of sciences, as acoustics, conic dynamics, ethics, linguistics, metaphysics, optics statics or matters of practice, as athletics, athletic exercises, gymnastics, politics statistics The names of sciences, even though they have the form in -ics, are now construed as singular, as in 'mathematics is the science of quantity', as students are mathematicians', in recent times some writers following German or French usage, have preferred to use a form in -ik, as in dialectik, dogmatic ethic, metaphysik, poetik, etc Names of practical matters as gymnastics politics, tactics, usually remain plural, in construction as well as in form

3 Besides the preceding there are many sbs formed directly from adjectives in -ic taken absolutely, either after ancient models or on ancient analogies, as in names of medical agents, as arctic pharmic, emetic, cosmetic, hidrotic (pl emetics, etc), in names of styles of poetry or metres, as epic, lyric, tragicomic, tumbic, and in words of various kinds, as domestic, exotic catholic, classic, mechanic, lunatic Words in -ic from Gr or L have the stress regularly on the penult, e g mechanic, dramatic, emetic, fanatic The exceptions, as arithmetic, arsenic, catholic, heretic, rhetoric, lunatic, are chiefly words taken directly from French, in which originally the final syllable had the main stress, and the antepenult a secondary stress (the forty-two), which afterwards became the primary in accordance with the regular treatment of French words (e g -ique, -ique, -ique) in English

A few adjs in -ic form advs in -ally, as public ly, frantically, heroically, but the adv is usually in -ICALLY, from the secondary adj in -ICAL Derivative abstract sbs are formed in -ICITY, as domestically, atomicity, and agent nouns in -ICIAN as arithmetician, musician, physician

I-cached, I cakeled, ME pa pples of CATCH, CACKLE vbs Icaein see under ICHE

-ical, a compound suffix, f -IC + -AL, sometimes forming an adj from a sb in -ic, as music, musical, but more frequently a secondary adj, as comic, comical, historic, historical Its origin appears to have been the formation in late L of adjs in -alis on sbs in -icus, or in -ικός, e g grammaticus, grammaticalis grammar, grammatical grammatical, clericus clergyman, clerk, clericalis clerical So in med L mysticalis, monasticalis, medicalis, ministralis, physicalis In French, adjs of this type are few, and mostly taken directly from L formations, as chirurgical clerical, grammatical, médical, etc But in English they are exceedingly numerous, existing not only in all cases in which the term in -ic is as a sb, but also as the direct representative of L and Gr adjs in -icus, -ικός Thus we find before 1600 canonical, chirurgical, domestical, musical, philosophical, physical Many adjs have a form both in -ic and -ical, and in such cases that in -ical is usually the earlier and that more used Often also the form in -ic is restricted to the sense 'of' or 'of the nature of' the subject in question, while that in -ical is wider or more translated senses, including that of 'pertaining connected' or 'dealing with' the subject Of 'economic science', 'an economical wife', 'prophetic words' 'prophetical studies', 'a comic song', a comical incident', 'the tragic muse', 'this tragical fate' A historic book is one mentioned or famous in history, a historical treatise contains or deals with history But in many cases this distinction is, from the nature of the subject, difficult to maintain, or entirely inappreciable

Adjectives of locality, nationality, and language in -ic like Arabic, Cantonic, and those of chemical and other technical nomenclature as acetic, boric, folic, gallic, magnesic, phosphoric, have usually no secondary form in -al

Hence, some derivative sbs in -ality, as technicality

I-called, ME pa pple of CALL v

-ically, subfix ending, f -ICAL + -LY[2], formin advs from adjs in -ical, which are also used as the advs from the corresponding adjs in -ic Thus historic, historical, adv historically poetic, poetical, adv poetically The adv is almost always in -ically even when only the adj in -ic is in current use, as in athletically, hypnotically, phlegmatically, rustically, semantically

Icarian (aikē·ăriăn), a [Also 9 Icarean [f I Icarius = Gr Ἰκάριος, f Icarus, Ἴκαρος the son of Daedalus, in Greek Mythology]

Of pertaining to or characteristic of Icarus fabled, in escaping from Crete, to have flown so high that the sun melted which his artificial wings by which his artificial wings were fastened on, so that he fell into the Ægean sea hence applied to ambitious or presumptuous acts which end in failure or ruin

1595 Polimantia (1881) 48 I feel my Icarian wings to melt with the heate of my bright sonne 1623 COCKERAM Icharian sayeres, Pride 1630 DANIEL Trans Wks 127 H 121 Nice better suits to Cregie Then with Icarian wings Contriue a second fame 1818 SHELLEY Mont Blanc 40 Lo Life! (Camelot 45) Expectations are often crushed on Icarian wings and fall 1844 DISRAELI Sybil I v Your Icarian flight melts into a very quotidian existence

Icarian (aikē·ăriăn, a [and sb [f Icaria (see del) + AN]

a adj Pertaining to or characteristic of Icaria, an ideal republic described in a work (Voyage en Icarie, 1840 by the French communist Etienne Cabet (1788–1856) afterwards taken as the name of several communistic settlements, established by Cabet at Nauvoo and elsewhere in U S b sb A follower or adherent of Cabet, a member of an Icarian community such as that at Nauvoo

1865 Athenæum No 1949 295/1 Phalansterism perhaps an Icarian 1875 NORDHOFF Communistic Soc U S The Icarians reject Christianity Ibid 296 The Icarian system is nearly as possible a pure democracy

Hence Icarianism, the communism of Cabet

1883 R T ELY French & German Socialism in the upshot of Icarianism should convert the world by teaching, preaching and by setting, good examples

I caried, ME pa pple of CARRY v

Icary, var of ICARUS, CICUTE

†Icasm Obs rare [ad Gr εἰκασμα comparison, simile, f εἰκάζειν to make like, to depict] A figurative expression So Icastic a [ad. Gr. εἰκαστικός], figurative

1664 H MORE Myst Iniq III xiii 53 The difficulty of understanding Prophecies is in a manner no greater, when once a man has taken notice of the settled meaning of the peculiar Icasms therein Ibid, These be the chief Icastick terms that occur in the Prophetick style.

I-cast, ME pa. pple of CAST v

†Icche a, v Obs [Of obscure history, in meaning it agrees with the later forms ITCH, ITCH v.², but evidence of continuity is wanting] trans and intr To move, stir

c 1200 ORMIN 8123 He ȝeched himm a htell upp A wullke himm seffenn mirrhrenn Ibid 11841 Ure hatel to mure tiss godenn, & ȝeche himm warrenn upp summ del hin alle kode dedess. c 1305 St Lucy 105 in E. E. P. (1862) 204 He ne mighte here a fot awinne, Ne make hire icche anne fot of be stede Ibid 152 105 Hi gonne to drawe and tuche, And euere lai bis maide stille, hi nemigte hire nouȝ icche

Icele, obs form of ICKLE, icicle

Icool, dial variant of HICKWALL

Ice (əis), sb 1 orms 1–3 is, 3 ys, (1888), 3 6 yse, 4 ise, iys e, yse, 4–5 yse, yise, 4–7 ise, (5 iyse, 6 Sc isobe), 4–7 yce, 5– ice [Com. Teut. OF is, OFris OI ís, OHG (MDu, MHG) îs (Du ijs, Ger eis), ON íss (Sw, Da is) —OTeut isa* There are no certain cognates outside Teutonic.]

I 1 Frozen water, water rendered solid by exposure to a low temperature

Beowulf (J.) 1608 Hit wæl ȝeotnaiit ise ȝebrocen a 1000 Sarth Metr. xxvii 59 Hwæ wundraþ þæs hwy hit is mæcge weorðan of wætere c 1000 Ags Ps (Th.) cxlviii 8 Fyr, forst, hægel and ȝe-fealleð snaw, ys, and is te- 1175 Lamb Hom 43 Þe forme wes swinan [sinaw], þat oðer is c 1250 Gen & Ex 99 De firmament Of waires froren of yse wel bu middel werid al liket al, May no fir set melten þat ys 1340 HAMPOLE Pr Conc. 6644 It suld frese and turne al in til yse but c 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) xiv 65 Pe frost and be yse es myȝti þat bare ben ouer 1420 Pronp Parv 238/1 Ise, glacies 1567 MAPLET Gr Forest 5 b, Isidore saith that it [Crystall] is nothing else then a congeled Ise 1580 J. GRANGE Golden Aphr 148 I chiller then yce 1774 GOLDSM Nat Hist (1776) I 186 Ice, which is water in another state, is very elastic 1878 HUXLEY Physiogr 62 Ice is in its crystallisation, while snow is crystallized 1883 HOWELLS Register 1, My feet are like ice

b With pl A mass or piece of ice

c 900 tr Bæda's Hist v xiii [1890] 436 Þam stæðum hæfdeorcena mas. 1388 WYCLIF Ps cxlvii 17 His yces sende sowns [L. glacies et nivem] blesse ȝe the Lord 1796 H. HUNTER tr St Pierre's Stud Nat (1799) I p. xxvii, We shall treat of the sources of the Atlantic, of its ices, of its currents, of its tides 1823 SCORESBY Whale Fishery 219 These ices, or glaciers, evidently give rise to the numerous floating bergs 1875 Intl Phys World ii 240 Some times these ices offered but a level uniform sheet

2 The ice the layer of ice on a river, lake, sea, etc the frozen surface of a body of water

[c 900 tr Bæda's Hist iv xiii [1890] 256 Þa rode he vame mearhe on ne unwærlice] 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 9511 Me mighte bope ride & go In Temese vpe þe yce c 1394 P. Pl Crede 436 His wyf walked him wip Barfote on be bare ys 1493 WARKW Chron. 2 Her was ane ferrent frost, that menne myght goo overe the yce 1535 STEWART Cron Scot II 619 Ouer the water thra west on Forres loch tha ran, Wader the ise sayne drownit thair thrman 1694 Acta Soc Regiæ Lond xvii (1711) 42 In the Spring the Whales are in the West Ice, as they call it 1820 SOMERVILLE Arctic Reg I 166 Separation between the coast or inshore ice, and west or seaward ice of the fishers 1850 TUTT Pract. Cook vii (ed 8) 99 Captain Cook was of opinion that the ice of the antarctic, predominated over that of the arctic region

b To break the ice to make a passage for boats, etc. by breaking the frozen surface of a river, lake, etc., fig to make a beginning in some undertaking or enterprise (cf to break ground), to prepare the way for others (cf 1509). in modern usage, to break through cold reserve or stiffness

1579 Bp NORTH Tortureb (1606) 89 To be the first to break the Ice of the Enterprize 1590 SHAKSPERE Testaments Epist., The authour therefore in adventuring to breake the yce to make the passage ease for his countrymen, fulins, sometimes of the foord, and falling into the pit may seeme worthe to be pitied 1598 J. FLORIO Second Fruits Epist. Rdr, I have attempted to breake the Ice in a subject concerning reformation in Courts of Justice 1598 BUTLER Ibid II 494 The Orator, at last broke silence, and the Ice 1741 RICHARDSON Pamela (1824) I ix 246 You see that I break the ice and begin first in the indispensably expected correspondence between us 1823 BYRON Juan XIII xxxvii, And your cold people are beyond all price, When once you've broken their confounded ice 1893 ART. DUNMORE Pamirs I 226 The ice being thus broken, Ching Dolat put aside the reserve habitual to all Celestials

3 In figurative expressions, with allusion to the slippery, cold, or brittle nature of ice

a 1440 HOCCLEVE De Reg. Princ. 907 Beware, I rede, how stombled on the yce 1580 S. Noel Poems (S. T. S.) 22, I seik the watter heit In vndir the cauld yce 1594 SHAKS Rich III, iv ii 22 Let, tut, thou art all ice 1649 G. DANIEL Trinarch., Rich III i, CARLE, Soe Spirits bound vp in the Ice of feare Are thawed by Nobler Passions shineing there 1749 FIELDING Tom Jones VIII iv, The bright eyes of our hero thawed all the ice in a moment 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng II 170 Those who knew him well were aware that under all this ice a fierce fire was constantly burning. 1892 OSBORN in Forth Ser I II 385 The incessant, breathless round of intermingled sport and pleasure danced on the thin ice of debt

4 A congelation or crystalline appearance resembling ice

1605 BACON Adv. Learn II xxi § 5 Jewellers if there be a graine or a cloude, or an ice which may be ground forth, without taking to much of the stone, they help it

5 a A frozen confection Now with an and pl

An ice-cream or water-ice

[In French the pl glaces in this sense was admitted by the Acad in 1762, but as late as 1835 it was asserted to be incorrect to say une glace.]

[1716 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Let to Lady \— 1 Oct., The company are entertained with ice in several forms, winter and summer] 1773 DELSENBE Sketch xxxiii (1876) 318 A free indulgence in the use of ices. 1832 DISRAELI Yng Duke xiii, The cakes and the confectionary, and the ices 1848 THACKERAY Van Fair xxiii, He went out and ate ices at Gunter's cook's shop 1850 [R. J. M. MORTON All that Glitters etc. II, Toby, take that load of pine apple ice into the hall room, and present an ice to each lady

b = ICING

1725 BRADLEY Fam Dict s.v. March pane, You may also ice them and the ice is to be bak'd with the Oven lid 1819 Pantologia, Ice, concreted sugar

II attrib and Comb

6 simple attrib

1604 SHAKS. Oth v ii 253 It was a Sword of Spaine, the Ice brookes temper 1744 (title) An Account of the Glaciers or Ice Alps in Savoy 1814 LEIGH Friend's Pulp Antiq II 319 note, We have heard of Ice Pairs on the River Thames 1862 Longm. Mag. Feb 413 The ice harvest lasts about two months 1882 Bath Trnl 16 Feb 7/2 Ice carnivals at Montreal opened on Monday Ibid, In the evening the Ice Palace was a wonderfully beautiful structure 1895 Athenæum 28 Aug. 274/1 We are increasing our ice consumption at about the rate of five per cent a year 1898 Ibid 31 Mar 1 / The crew will consist of twenty four men, all of them experienced ice navigators

7 General combinations a attrib Of or pertaining to ice, connected with, characterized by, occurring in, performed on, ice or the ice, as ice-bottle, -break, -chart, -clue, -coldness, -crack -crossings, -fish, -flower, -fog, -hole, -jam, -marsh, -measurement, -melting, -movement, -pressure, -range, -ravine, -road, -shove, -spot, -storm, -tempest, track, tramp, travel, -upheaval, -voice, -wall, esp in names of tools and implements used in the harvesting, carriage, and storage of ice for economic purposes, as ice barge, -basket, -crusher, cutter, fork, leveller, -mallet marker, -pick, -preserver, scraper, -shears, -spade, -tongs, -trough

1896 KANE Arct Expl II xxiii 207 The scars which their own ice battles had impressed on the vessels Ibid I xxiv 324 I met my officers and showed them my ice charts Ibid I xv 133 On this current I had much less difficulty with the ice cracks Ibid II xxvi 367 The third sledge I was to reserve as essential to our ice crossings 1883 Fisheries Exhib Catal 200 Ice crusher, saw, pick, and tools used in handling ice 1896 KANE Arct Expl I iii 32 One of those heavy ice fogs settled around us 1853 Grinnell Exp xxxiii (1856) 87 In the channel the sublime seal 1865 LYELL Antiq Man viii (ed 3) 139 Which "ice pans" occur on the Ice Fiaverne 1896 KANE Arct Expl I xxiv 324 Knowledge of Lancaster Sound and its ice movements 1896 NANSEN in Daily Chron 2 Nov 4 / The ice pressures began to be tremendous. 1884 S. E. DAWSON Handbk Canada 121 The ice roads (across the St Lawrence) are always marked out by spruce trees stuck in the snow 1896 PARKMAN Champlain II (1897) 334 He built a wall of brush, in order to measure the destructive effects of the ice shove in the spring 1858 SIMMONDS Dict Trade, Ice-tongs, utensil for taking up ice in a block 1875 KNIGHT Dict Mech, Ice-tongs, grasping implements for carrying blocks of ice 1896 KANE Arct Expl I vi 58 Nothing of ice upheaval has ever been described equal to this

b Composed or consisting of ice, as ice basin, -cade, -barrier, -bay, -beach, -bed, block, -cake, -cascade, cave, cataract -chain, cliff, -cone, crag, -disc, dock, -drift, drop, -dust, expanse, float, fragment, growth, hummock, -island, lump, mass, -mesh, -mould, -pack, pale, -plain, -precipice, -ridge, -roof, -sea, sheet, shoal, slope, surface, table, torrent, trap, vault, -wall, -waste, wharf

1896 KANE Arct Expl I xx 248 Deep cavities filled with snow intervened between lines of ice barricades Ibid I xxxi 412 Ice-fields and ice-bergs spending an Arctic year over an Arctic ice-bed 1853 Grinnell Exp xxvii (1856) 208 There it was, with the gangway stairs of ice block masonry 1893 J. SPENCER Ice Age (1894) 42 The glacier descends in a series of ice cataracts 1860 TYNDALL Glac I viii 266 Such solid layers gave birth to the ice-cones 1896 KANE Arct Expl I xxv 337 The ice-drift from the southern of these had now piled itself in our way 1795 J. SOUTHEY Juvenile Poems Poet Wks. II 97 How light, how light, at my sharp bite you move 1860 TYNDALL Glac I xviii 124 An avalanche came heralded by clouds of ice-dust 1774 GOLDSM Nat Hist (1776) IV 326 I hey [bears] are not only seen at land, but often on the ice-floats, several leagues at sea 1897 Edin Rev Oct 325 Among the ice hummocks off the southern shore of Franz Josef Land 1891 Scribner's Mag Nov 533 North west winds in volleys racqueted, Of bounding Balls of Ice pearl slippery shining 1853 KANE Grinnell Exp xl (1856) 285 The great ice plain formed one continuous sheet from the Greenland shore as far as the eye could reach 1860 TYNDALL Glac I xx 84 Beneath, more freely after we had cleared the ice-

holes made in the ice; ice-flow, an ice-stream, † ice-flowers = ice-ferns; ice-fox, the Arctic fox; ice-glass = crackle-glass (CRACKLE sb 3), ice-gorge (U S), an accumulation of ice-blocks choking the bed of a river, ice-gull, a name given in N. America to the glaucous gull and the ivory gull, ice-ladder = ice escape, ice leaf, a local name of Mullein, Verbascum Thapsus (Britten & Holl.), ice-lodge = ice-pool, ice-loom, the great northern diver (U S), ice-machine, a machine for the artificial production of ice; ice-maker, one who manufactures artificial ice, ice-mark, a mark, scratch, or groove produced by ice-action, esp by glacial action during the ice-age, † ice-meer, a cake of ground-ice, ice-mill, a spot where a glacier grinds out the underlying rock by the action of loose stones, a glacier-mill, ice-pack, a body of separate pieces of drift-ice closely packed so as to form one great ice-field, ice-pail, a pail for holding ice, in which bottles of wine, etc are plunged in order to cool the liquor, ice-paper [= F papier glacé], thin transparent gelatine in thin sheets used in copying drawings (Cent Dict), ice-period, the glacial period of Geology, the ice-age, ice-pit, a pit in which ice is stored for preservation, ice-pitcher, a pitcher with double sides, or of non-conducting material, for holding broken ice or iced water, ice-plane (see quots), ice-poultice, a bag or blader filled with pounded ice, for application to inflamed parts of the body (C A Harris Dict Med Terminol 1854–67), ice-pudding, a frozen confection in the form of pudding, ice-pulse, the throbbing movement which precedes an ice-quake, ice-quake, the convulsion which accompanies the break-up of an ice field or ice-floe, ice-raft, a floating raft of ice, ice-ram, a pointed projection from a ship's bows, to assist it in forcing its way through ice, ice river = ICE-STREAM, ice-room = ice-chamber, ice-safe, a meat-safe having chambers for containing ice, ice-sandal, a sandal or goloish with spiked sole, worn on ice, ice-saw, a large saw employed by Arctic voyagers and in ice harvesting for cutting ice, ice-screw, an ice-elevator having a spiral motion, ice-ship, a ship specially built to resist ice-pressure, ice-shoe, a spiked shoe used for walking on ice, ice-shop, a shop where ice is sold, ice-spur, a spur or spike fixed in the sole of a boot, to assist in walking on ice, ice-station, a station where ice is collected for storage, ice stick, a stick with a spike at the end, used in walking on ice, ice-strike, thin lines of scoring made in rocks by ice passing over them; ice-system, a connected system or group of glaciers; ice whale, the great polar whale, ice yacht = ICE BOAT 1, hence ice-yachting, -yachtsman 1863 I Yell Antip 308 Proof of a close connection between "ice-action and contorted stratification 1873 J Grimie (title) The Great Ice Age 1888 Daily News 17 Sept. 5/1 Geologists have lately been working out the facts of what is called the 'Glacial Period', or the 'Ice Age' 1774 C J Phipps Voy N Pole 59 The ice being all round us, we laid out our ice anchors, and moored along side a field. 1880 Standard 20 May 3 The vessel will "hook on" with an 8 shaped ice anchor to the floe alongside 1872 Knight Dict Mech 1161/1 The "ice aprons of the Nottingham Railway Bridge are 200 feet long and 60 feet wide 1890 Scoresby Arctic Reg II 349 note, The "ice axe', with which the hole is made Sometimes an "ice-drill is made use of for this purpose 1894 Fenn In Alpine Valley I 44 The ice-axes they carried 1882 Bret D Kerr July 15 The use of the spud, or "ice hoop for sea sickness 1820 Scoresby Arctic Reg II 191 Oak timbers, called "ice beams, about 12 inches square and 25 feet in length are placed beneath the hold beams 1824 Francis Dict Arts etc, Ice Bearer* 1885 Lieut C Agassiz Lows Agassiz I 289 The ancient "ice beds and moraines of England 1856 Kane Arct Expl I xvii 301 The ship was fast to the "ice belt which lined the bottom of the cliffs 1875 "Ice box [see Ice-chest] 1884 F J Britten Watch & Clock-m 65 The "ice box" is also a metal chamber, with a receptacle for ice round the sides, and jacketed all over with a non conductor 1872 Knight Dict Mech, Ice-chest*, a form of domestic "ice-chamber having apartments for the ice and the provisions, the food-chamber being cooled by air from the ice box or by the cold side of the latter 1893 Clarkson Sp Ho Corn 23 Feb, In the great sea going steamers there is always an ice chamber 1897 Hughes Mediterranean Fever v 191 Milk should be kept in the ice chest 1853 Kane Gronnell Exp xliii 362 While three men were out on a low berg one of them "struck his ice chisel against the mass. Ibid xxix (1856) 249 The "ice clothes ready for a jump 1890 Daily News 5 May 5/6 Proficiency in "ice-craft grows gradually 1880 Montreal Daily Star, Carnival No, Ice Yatching 5/1 "Ice-creepers, taking the place of wading boots 1919 Horman Voy 103/1, A childe was slayne with an "yse dagger (Varnuhe stirra occasus est) 1867 Motley Nether-l xxxvi III 357 The strait was already filled with "ice drift 1820 "Ice drill [see Ice ax] 1864 Illustr Lond News 9 Jan 31/1 A number of sledge chairs and an "ice escape were conveyed to the place of amusement 1889 Pall Mall G 6 Feb 3/1 When the winter fairly sets in the scene on an "ice farm is a busy one 1864 Tennyson Aylmer's F 222 Fine as "ice ferns on January panes 1873 J Geikie Gt Ice Age (1894) 549 I may shortly describe one or two of the better known of the old "ice-flows 1894 Ice Sec Yale Voy II (1911) 41 Just as "Ice flowers on our Glass window, get all sorts of figures 1884 W H Bishop in Harper's Mag Mar 534/2 An "ice gorge forming in the river has smashed whole fleets of them 1856 All Year Round No 39. 293 He man with the "ice ladder on wheels cannot get any nearer to me 1775 Barker in Phil Trans LXV 252 The "ice maker belonging to me made a sufficient quantity in the winter for the supply of the table during the summer season 1790 Williams ibid LXXXIII 56 The ice makers Barker in Phil Trans LXV 255 (in their vases with no to the "ice pits 1858 Simmonds Dict Trade, ice plane*, an instrument for smoothing away the rough surface of ice before painting and carving it away for ornament 1854 Knight Dict Mech, Ice plane, 2, an instrument for shaving off fragments of ice in sculpting busts 1845 Punch 10 July 3/2 An "ice-pudding to follow turtle soup, or boiled mutton to be eaten after custard 1888 J Payn Myst Mirbridge (Lauchn.) II 1 8 from soup till ice pudding time 1853 Kane Gronnell Exp xxxii (1856) 279 The dreadful stillness "the mysterious "ice pulse, as if the energies were gathering for another strife 1891 Dublin Rev Oct 278 The perils of the awful "ice quake in the convulsed and riven floe 1856 Kane Arct Expl II xxiii 228 The transporting forces of the "ice raft 1873 J Geikie Gt Ice Age 293 Instances of icebergs and icerafts 1895 Westm Gaz 3 Aug 1/3 A barque rigged sailing ship fitted with a double copper hull and "ice ram 1875 Tyndall Forms of Water § 364 It is undubitable that an "ice river once flowed through the vale of Hasli 1842 Francis Dict Arts etc, "Ice saw, a large saw used for cutting through the ice, for relieving ships when frozen up 1878 A. H. Markham Gt Frozen Sea iv 49 Ice-saw crews were employed sometimes for cutting a "ice-sheet 1853 Schley & Soley Rescue of Greely viii 113 The first [of sealers] are distinctively "ice ships. 1824 Blackw Mag XV 179/2 His face was armed with a brown, and his shoes charged with "ice shoes, or tramps 1875 Croll Climate & T xxv 350 Blocks of ice in the windows of "ice shops 1897 Mrs Meynell Ice of Thames 3 Many thousands of iron nails pointed. 1542 Fuller Holy & Prof St iv 1 240 He standeth but in a slippery place, and therefore needs climbing "ice or crampets, for he may soon fall and then goes 1893 Westm Gaz 27 Mar 4/2 The party had to unbuckle their shoes and climb, with the help of ice spurs and "ice staff 1818 J Losasso Hudson 304 Buckland Lake village [is] the most extensive "ice-station on the river 1872 C King Mountaineer Sierra Nev vii 147, I found myself on the "ice stream, which forms the glacier had actually poured over the brink 1876 T G Bonney in Proc Geol Soc No 396 Wales, Scotland, and Scandinavia have all been armed with a "ice system 1820 Stand and Ice Dec 5/4 The "ice yacht is really a skeleton boat mounted on gigantic runners 1881 Scribner's Mag XXII 559/1 Ice yachting seems to be the acme of excitement

Ice (ois), v Also 5 yse, 7 yce [f the sb]

1 trans a To cover with ice (Also to ice over) To ice up, to fill up with ice b To convert into ice, to freeze, congeal

1440 Promp Parv 283 (Dublin MS) To be grette flode of gratun to gedur þai rydyn, And þrugh it frosyn þaim by fore, a fute thyke ysyd 1602 Marston Antonio's Rev I iii, Wks 1856 I 80 My trembling youth is iced with cares with a frore'd cold sweate) 1639 Webster Appius & Virginia v (1654) 59 This sight hath stiffned all my operant powers, it "yces my blood, benum'd my motion quite 1667 R White in Digby's Powd Sympt (1660) 147 When it is iced all over, he shall feel neither heat nor cold 1819 Sportsman's Dict s v Frost that iced the spray of the sea as it fell on the deck 1856 Kane Arct Expl I xvii 301 Ice, up again the opening in the walls

c fig To cause to become frigid or cold and reserved in manner, cf to break the ice Ice sb 1741 Richardson Pamela (1824) I 200 I could not myself open to too early a suspicion, I thought would but ice the girl over 1748 Clarissa (1811) III i 3 Such a sudden reception must affect her, must ice her over

2 To cover or garnish (cakes, etc) with a concretion of sugar (cf Icing)

1600 Plat Delightes for Ladies xvii, To make Tum bolds or Sugar plums, and to ice them 1615 Crooke Body of Man 611 Marsh pane, To ice March Panes 1852 Mrs Acton Mod Cookery xvi (ed 12) 335 The best mode of icing cakes is to moisten the paste with cold water, sift sugar thickly upon it [etc]

b fig To cover or surround as with ice

1859 Fullom Life of Sir J Leigh I v 82 Rank and Noble and passion, and hardly confidence, iced over with some sanctimonious pretences 1890 Clark Russell Ocean Free II xv 171 The moon was now icing her crimson visage with crystal

3 To refrigerate with ice, to cool (esp wine) by placing among ice

1859 [? Cosmo] Footman's Direct 130 If you have ice pails to ice the wine, let this be done 1877 Mrs Somerville Mycon I 24 The champagne is iced 1882 Times (weekly ed) 28 Sept 15/3 The fish are iced, packed in boxes

4 To make cold, to freeze, chill Chiefly fig

1804 Anna Seward Lett (1811) VI 137 That unfortunate proneness to scepticism, which iced his affections 1836 Dickens Sk Boz (1837) I iii 24 Thus they vegetated—living in Polar harmony among themselves, and occasionally icing the neighbours. 1845 Mrs Hall Whitehoy vi 52 Much trouble had iced her nature 1873 M Collins Sweet Sichester III iii 26 Her very enthusiasms were cold: she iced you by the tone of her conversation

5 intr To turn to ice, to freeze Also fig

1839 Bailey Festus xx (1848) 266 Winter is when these we love have perished For the heart ices then Ibid xxviii 336 When the poles Are icing

-ice, suffix, in Mdc also in(e, -yn(e, etc

1 a OF -ice (-ise), of non popular origin, ad L -itia (Sp -icia, It izia), or itium, -itum (Sp -icio, It izio) Thus avarice, justice, malice, notice (ad L avāritia, justitia, malitia, nōtitia), the later police (ad L politia = politia), and the French formations cowardice, cowardice The masc and neut are represented by novice, precipice, service (= L novitius, præcipitium, servitium)

L -itia would normally have given OF -eise, -eise, through common Romanic -ēţia, -eza but in the literary language this was represented by -ice, -ice (as in patrice, patrice — L patrītia, haut ice, haut-ice — L altitia), subsequently assimilated to -ese from L -ēsia (cf mod F noblesse, paresse, hardiesse)

2 The ending -ice has various other origins, partly through assimilation to the preceding, as in the words (ac)omplice, (ap)prentice, bedrice, caprice, crèpice, crevice, dice, fr, cuvberg

Iceberg (ai·sbəg) Also 8 ice-burg [Adapted form of the term employed in several of the cognate languages, MDu, Du ijsberg, -ecvberg, Da isbjerg, Sw isberg (f is Ice + berg hill, mountain), prob taken immediately from Du]

† 1 An Arctic glacier, which comes close to the coast, and is seen from the sea as a hill or "hummock' Obs Cf Ice hill, Ice-mountain

1774 Trut Voy under Com Phipps 44 Of the ice hills there are seven These are known by the name of the seven ice burgs, and are thought to be the highest of the kind in the country [Spitzbergen] 1774 C J Phipps Voy A Pole 70 Icebergs are large bodies of ice filling the valles between the high mountains, the face towards the sea is nearly perpendvlar 1797 Encycl Brit s v 1820 Scoresby Arctic Reg I 101 The iceberg written Yskerg by the Dutch signifies ice mountain I speak not here of the islands of ice which are borne to southern climates on the bosom of the ocean, but of those prodigious lodgments of ice which occur in the valleys Ibid 108 Icebergs are as permanent as the rocks on which they rest In some places the berg or glacier makes its way to a great extent into the sea and then being subject to great dismemberments, gives rise to the kind of mountainous masses of icebergs, found afloat 1821 Byron Juan IV 5 'Tis as a snowball which derives assistance from every fluke and yet rolls on the same, Even till an iceberg it may chance to grow

2 A detached portion of an Arctic glacier carried out to sea, a huge floating mass of ice, often rising to a great height above the water Formerly also called ice island, also island or shoal of ice

1820 Scoresby Arctic Reg I 250 The term Ice berg is also as commonly extended to the large peaks or islets of ice, that are found floating in the sea 1835 Sir J Ross Narr 2nd Voy II 30 But one iceberg was seen to day, and that a very small one 1853 Kane Grinnell Exp xxi (1856) 158 Iceberg (Model) The ice islands, by many authors to ice masses either on shore or at sea I restrict it to detached ice, in contradistinction to the glacier or ice in situ 1894 Huxley Physiogr (1895) 180 Icebergs, like glaciers, are laden with fragments of rock

3 fig A person compared to an iceberg, on account of his cold unemotional nature 1840 Lady C. Bury Diary of Visit v, Captain Thelwall is a perfect iceberg 1888 Spurgeon Treas Da. Ps cxix 70 We neither care for devout dunces nor for intellectual icebergs.

4 Comb as iceberg droppings, boulders gravel, clay, etc dropped by melting icebergs, iceberg green, a light green resembling that of an iceberg

1889 J Geikie in Nature 19 Sept, The drifts of those regions are not iceberg dropping, but true moraine matter and fluvio glacial detritus 1895 Daily News 23 July 2/1 One of the Polish dresses is in iceberg green cloth

Hence Icebergar, one who has had experience of icebergs, Icebergship, coldness, indifference, Icebergy a, rare, cold 1824 United Service Mag II 154 Many a fine fellow was doomed to fall, before official icebergship was thawed 1861 L. L. Noble Icebergs 129 Captain Hall, an experienced iceberger 1888 Mrs Sherard Arctic Secret I xi 198 I was prepared with my most icebergy manner

Ice-bird. Ornith

1 The little auk or sea-love

1620 J Mason New found land (1867) Aiv b The sea fowles are Sea Pigeons, Ice Birds, Bottle noses 1694 Acc New Lab Voy II (1711) 78, I saw also a very beautiful Ice bird, which was so tame, that we might have taken him 1777 G Forster Voy round World I 110 A small black and white bird, which some called an ice bird 1820 G Montagu Ornith Dict (1833) 67 Ice bird, a name for the Rotche or Little Auk

2 The Indian night jar, Caprimulgus asiaticus 1862 T C Jerdon Birds India I 8 112 107 Its usual note is like the sound of a stone scudding over ice there it is sometimes called the Ice bird

Iceblink (ai·sblink) [Du ijsblink, G eis blink, Da isblink, blik, Sw isblink, f Ice sb + Blink sb 4

The question of the original language, and history of this combination, is obscure Sense 2 is the only meaning of isblink in the Dictionary of the Danish Academy in 1802

1 A luminous appearance on the horizon, caused by the reflection of light from ice See BLINK sb 2-4 [1778–1818 see BLINK sb 3 4 1774 C J PHIPPS Voy N Pole 71 A bright appearance near the horizon, which the pilots called the blink of the ice] 1817 SCORESBY Arct Reg I 555 The ice blink consists in a station of a livid whiteness, which appears in that part of the atmosphere that the horizon 1847 SIR J C ROSS Voy to South I 171 The weather was beautifully clear, and a strong ice blink in the sky 1885 Century Mag XXX 78/2 Over it [the floe edge] hung the hazy gray of the ice blink

2 The name of a range of lofty ice cliffs on the south east coast of Greenland Also generally An ice cliff, the sea-front of a glacier ? Obs

[1796 MORSE Amer Geog I 132 The famous Ice glance, called in some charts, Ess blink It is a large high field of ice] 1819 MONTGOMERY Greenland III 63 Of rocks, seas, islands, promontories spread, The Ice Blink rears its undulated head [Note] The most stupendous accumulation of ice in the known world, which has been long distinguished by this peculiar name by the Danish navigators 1837 MACGILLIVRAY Cruden's I Coast Greenland (1839) 24 To such cliffs or barriers of ice I shall in the sequel give the name of ice blink, or simply blink The reflection of ice in the atmosphere, which is usually designated by that name, I shall, for distinction's sake, call 'sky blink' Ibid 71 In the interior of the bay some four or five not inconsiderable ice blinks protrude into the sea

Ice-boat.

1 A boat mounted on runners for propulsion on the ice, spec a light triangular structure mounted on skate runners, and fitted with a mast and sail, used as a pleasure boat for traversing smooth ice

1819 Pantologia, Ice boat boats so contrived as to sail upon ice They go with incredible swiftness, sometimes so quick as to affect the breath 1868 Lossing Hudson 277 The river had offered good sport for skaters, and the navigators of ice boats 1875 KNIGHT Dict Mech 1161/1 The ice boats on the Mississippi, in Holland, consist of ordinary boats mounted on runners

2 A boat or large employed to break the ice in a river or canal

1842 HAWKS Dict Arts etc s v, The other kind of ice-boat is a heavily built barge, drawn along a frozen canal by a number of horses, and in its passage breaking, through the ice, and thus clearing the navigation 1850 Daily News 31 Dec 3/4 That was the ice boat—a small barge, sharp in the bows, much like a tug steamer, and the greenish grey sheet of ice heaved before the pressure of its coming

Hence Ice-boat sing. sailing in an ice boat

1885 Pall Mall G 15 Apr 4/2 Ice boating is perhaps a more dangerous amusement than we are led to believe, and ice boat accidents are frequent 1887 Cornh Mag Mar 276 Ice boating on the Canadian sports must extensively practised near the cities and towns upon the great lake of Erie, Huron, and Ontario

Ice-bolt [f BOLT sb 1] A 'bolt' or dart of ice hence fig a A cold piercing sensation, a sudden deadly chill b An avalanche

1789 F DARWIN Bot Card II (1791) 38 The keen ice bolt trembles at her heart 1829 MRS SOUTHEY Chas Aylards I 90 the sudden revulsion of feeling, one upon Arthur like an ice bolt 1870 H MACMILLAN Bible Teach iv 70 Piercing the inhabitants of the valley from the fearful ice bolts of the mountain

Ice-bone (ai sbōn) (Chiefly dial Forms 6- ISE, 7- ICE, 8 ISE, 9 ISCH, ISCHE bone [Known from 16th c corresponds to O I G Isbein, MDu ise-been (ys, yscb-, yse-been), in Kilian ɪs, isch-been, MDu yssbeen, MLG Isch-, Esch-, Ischbein, whence mod G eisbein (Heinsch 1616), Du, Sw isben, isbeen, the os pubis or share-bone]

The OE Isbán, cited in some Ger and Du Dictionaries, appears to be unverified, but the O I G word is given from a Reid Virgil Glossi (10th) by Graff, Diez, Gl Worterb 166 clunis isbein uel arabelli Kilian explains Du isbeen, ischbeen as 'ischia, coxendix, os inferius cuius nates, et os pubis, os pectinis

The share bone (or perh some other bone of the pelvis or haunch), in Cookery, the ATKIN-BONE

1576 Fr Queen's Table in Nichols Progr (1823) II 81 Ise bones 2 sd 1589 RAY N & I Country Words, Ice bone, a rump of beef (Worf) 1703 THORESBY Let to Ray, Ice bone, the huckle bone, the coxa (Lorkab) 1818 Jng Woman's Compan, The hind quarter contains the sirloin and the rib, each of ish bone 1825 FORBY Voc E Anglia, Ice bone, a part of the rump of beef 1828 Craven Dial Ice bone, the pelvis 1847 HALLIWELL Dict has ischion bone, from which the ice bone may be corrupted 1875 PARISH Sussex Gloss, Ice bone, the edge bone of beef

Ice-borne (ai sbōɹn), ppl a [f ICE sb + BORNE ppl a] Borne by or on ice, transported (as a boulder) during the glacial epoch

1850 TYRELL Penn Encyl (ed 8) XIV 238 The line of coast is strewed with icebome boulders, often 6 feet in diameter 1859 DARWIN Orig Spec xi (1860) 363, I suspect that these islands [the Azores] lived been partly stocked by ice borne seeds, during the Glacial epoch

Ice-bound (ai sbaund, ppl a [f ICE sb + BOUND *ppl a*²] Held fast or confined by ice, frozen in, surrounded or hemmed in by ice

a 1659 CLEVELAND Poems, Content 14 Some Ice bound Wilderness 1820 BYRON Island XXIII, A new Aurora borealis seen, when ice bound, by Captain Parry's crew 1887 BOWEN Virg Æneid VI 17 Daedalus 'mated for the ice bound north

Ice-breaker. [f ICE sb + BREAKER¹]

1 Anything that breaks up moving ice, so as to diminish its impact, spec a structure protecting the upper end of a bridge-pier (cf ice-apron)

1846 KANE Arct Expl I xii 68 Three heavy hawsers out to the rocks of our little ice breaker [an islet that turned the moving ice] 1875 KNIGHT Dict Mech 1721/1 A view of the Swing Bridge shows the ice breakers in the stream

2 A vessel specially adapted for breaking a channel through the ice cf ICE-BOAT 2

1875 KNIGHT Dict Mech 1216/2 An ice breaker for harbours is steam vessel provided with means for keeping open a channel for ships 1886 Times 9 Mar 11/6 The Gothenburg icebreaker keeps the channel open 1890 Daily News 12 Dec 5 5 The Finnish Government has had an icebreaker constructed strong enough to force the severest of ice

3 A machine or hand tool for breaking ice for economic use, etc

Mod The ice house with the ice breaker to be worked by a sweeping arm

4 A whitler's name for the Greenland whale

Ice-cap.

1 A permanent cap or covering of ice over a tract of country, such as exists on high mountains, and on a large scale at either pole

1875 CROLL Climate & Time App 543 [Col] cover the antarctic region with an enormous ice cap 1880 A R WALLACE Isl Life viii 156 A similar ice-cap is believed to exist on the Antarctic pole at the present day

2 Med A bladder or elastic bag containing pounded ice, for application to the head in congestion of the brain, etc

1854-67 C A HARRIS Dict Med Terminol, Ice Cap, a bladder filled with pulverized ice, and applied to the head

Ice-cold, a [f COLD a] Cold as ice 1 sticknd, Cantabit ON Isköldr Cold as ice 1000 South Mets XXVII 3 Iscalde sæ 1000 Vespasian 19 Iscalinæ 942 1798 CT RUMFORD in Phil Trans LXXXVIII 94 The former quantity of ice cold water 1808 W H FOX Acoustics II 143, I felt the ice cold lips upon mine 1889 BOWEN Virg Æneid VI 66 The pessimides heart of this ice cold lover of mine

Ice-cream. A compound of flavoured and sweetened cream or custard, congealed by being stirred or revolved in a vessel surrounded by a freezing mixture (Earlier term, iced cream)

1769 MRS RAFFALD Prog Housekpr (1778) 249 To make Ice Cream 1784 Trial Penn Farm I 181 His ice creams melt with the room's excessive heat 1841 JAMESON Lect, Man the Reformer Wks (Bohn) II 242 We dine on ices, our wit, for making, our house pleasant to our friend, and so we buy ice creams

attrib 1887 A A HAYES Tenant's Rim, 56 The days of bright summer and twin tennis, and ice-cream with 1889 A A PARK Lyre Lunacy 123 Three Italian ice cream men, with their heavy barrows 1893 Cath (U S) 18 Apr 776/1 Ice cream parlors

Iced (oist), ppl a [f ICE sb or v + -ED] Covered with ice, cooled by means of ice

1688 Lond Gaz No 2383/2 All such Fruits Iced Creams, Sallads, and Sweetmeats as the season afforded 1775 SIR I BARRY Observ Winter 174 Their tables were constantly supplied with iced Liquors 1820 KEATS Ode of Autumn XXXII, Impossible to melt as iced stream 1852 FORD in Athen 27 Mar 432 Iced puddings now a days assume the shape and seeming of hams 1879 ST GEORGE Hosp Life IX 800 Iced champagne, a little iced milk and soda water 1893 I D MEATH in 19th Cent Mar 508 Of all the pleasant drinks in hot weather recommend me to an iced cream soda

Ice-fall [After waterfall]

1 A cataract of ice, a steep part of a glacier resembling a frozen waterfall

1817 COLERIDGE Sibyll Leaves Poet Wks (1862) 184 Ice ice falls yet that from the mountain's brow Adown enormous ravines slope amain 1862 TYNDALL Glac I xv 120 We were amid the wild chasms at the brow of the ice fall 1871 L STEPHEN Playgr Europe iv, We followed the usual track as far as the top of the great icefall of the glacier

2 The fall of a mass of ice, from an ice-cliff or iceberg

1861 J J NOBLE Icebergs 261 Then the ice fall, with its ringing, crashing noise, and the heavy concussion like voice of the final plunge, followed by the wild, frantic dashing of the waters

Ice-field A wide flat expanse of ice, esp of marine ice in the Polar regions

1694 Ice Sev Late Voy II (1711) 40 Ice fields, that are as the Meadows for the Seales 1748 H ELLIS Hudson's Bay 240 We saw vast numbers of Seals and Sea Horses lying basking upon the Ice Fields 1860 TYNDALL Glac I xiii 110 The ice field before us was a most noble one 1890 MOLTKE Col Reformer (1892) 175 A fresh blast had been unchained among the far south ice fields

Ice-floe (ai sflōu) [See FLOE] A large sheet of floating ice sometimes several miles in extent (cf ice-field)

1819 John Ross XXXI 341 Jammed in between two ice floes 1833 J ELLIS Polar Seas I 43 The whale fishers enumerate several varieties of the salt water ice A very wide expanse of ice is called a field, and one of smaller dimensions a floe 1882 H LANSDELL Through Siberia I 198 A dense mass of ice floes and pack ice rushed irresistibly up the Kowima

Ice-foot. [According to quot 1856, ad Da isfod, in same sense the ice forms a foot or base to the cliff or high land]

a. A belt or ledge of ice extending along the coast in Arctic regions (cf ice-belt), caused by the shore-water being largely mixed with snow and so freezing at a higher temperature than the salter water of the deep sea b Also applied to the margin of an ice-floe see quot 1897

1856 KANE Arct Expl I xv 175 The name is adopted from the Danish 'Fis fod' to designate a zone of ice which extends along the shore from the untried North almost to the Arctic circle Ibid II App II 304 By the ledge of ice which, under the name of 'ice foot,' I have before described as clinging to the shore 1877 A H GREEN Phys Geol III § 2 709 A belt of ice known as coast ice or the ice foot 1880 GILLIAT Leathe Coast III II § 6 I his shelf, known as the ice foot, serves as a platform on which the abundant debris gathers at the foot of the cliff 1897 FR Nansen's Farthest North II xi 452 note, The ice foot is the part of a floe which often projects into the water under the surface It is formed through the lower part of the upper part of the ice in the summer time by the warmer surface layer of the sea.

Ice-free, a [= Ger eisfrei, Da isfri] Free from ice, of a port Not frozen up in winter

1891 Pall Mall G 13 Nov 6/1 Russia, Sweden, must sooner or later have an ice free harbour on the Atlantic coast 1897 Daily News 22 Dec 4/7 Because Russia desires, and may be about to take an ice free port in the Pacific 1898 Ibid 29 Sept 1/3 After forty eight hours' sailing we were once more in ice free water

Ice-hill.

1 A hill or mound of ice, an elevated glacier or hummock of ice, a slope covered with ice, used for sliding or tobogganing

1694 Ice Sev Late Voy II (1711) 26 The Ice Hills that lift up the Valleys 1816 Sporting Mag XLVIII 224 Inclined planes to imitate the ice hills of Russia 1855 Englishwoman in Russia 215 The Russians are extremely fond of this amusement, and often have these ice hills erected at some village at a little distance from the town 1856 KANE Arct Expl I xxii 297 Myouth began climbing the clear blue sides of the ice hills

† 2 A floating iceberg Obs

1694 Ice Sev Late Voy II (1711) 44 The great Ice hills that drive up and down in the Sea Ibid 47 A great Ice hill came driving towards our Ship

Ice-hook † a A species of boat hook, used to push large flakes of ice away from a ship † b An ice-anchor c A hook employed in securing and hoisting ice for storage

1694 Ice Sev Late Voy II (1711) 43 The Seamen hinder the pressing on of the Ice, as much as in them lieth, with great Ice hooks Ibid, Where there is pretty large Ice fields, they join their Ships to them with great Ice Hooks fastned to strong Cables 1774 C J PHIPPS Voy N Pole 40 And stationed them to the ice hooks, poles, cables

Ice-house. A structure, often partly or wholly underground, and with non-conducting walls, in which ice is stored in winter for use during the year Often taken as the type of a frigid place

1687 A LOVELL in Thevenot's Trav II 96 The Persians make great use of Ice they make not their Ice houses as in France 1698 FRYER Acct E India 67 They are round Figure, and cannot be better compar'd than to our Ice Houses 1772 BARRINGTON in Phil Trans LXII 285 note, The very name of an ice house almost strikes one with a chill 1860 TYNDALL Glac II xv 301 When we fill an ice house we break the ice into very small fragments 1892 Daily News 15 Mar 7/2 It is absolutely impossible to set these ribs cold weather the pit we like an ice house

Ice-ickel, -icle, obs forms of ICICLE

Ice-island. An insulated mass of floating ice, an island-like ice-field, an extensive iceberg

1777 COOK Voy N Pole etc Introd 17 It is, therefore, very probable, that what BOUVET saw was nothing more than a large ice island 1820 SCORESBY Arctic Reg II 254 The stupendous masses, known by the name of ice islands, or ice bergs from their height and the depth of water in which they ground 1825 R H DANA Two Years VIII 116 We saw thirty four ice islands of various sizes

Ice-isle, pree

1808 BARLOW Columb I 599 The loosen'd ice isles o'er the main advance 1819 BARRY Fenian Chief (1848) 32 Dark wretched thoughts like ice isles in a stream Choke up my mind and clash

Iceland¹ (ai sländ) [f ICE sb + LAND sb] A country covered with ice, the realm of perpetual ice

1842 TYTLER Zanoni IV x, An oasis in the desert, a summer in the iceland 1889 Mag Amer Hist XXI 217 Mackenzie had excluded from the unprofitable search another vast extent of that iceland

Iceland² (ai sländ) Also 6 Yselonde, Iseland, 7 Island, Isling [ME Island, Isiond, etc, and ON Island, Is i ICE + land LAND] The name of a large island lying on the border of the Arctic Ocean, between Norway and Greenland, used attrib in the names of articles imported from or peculiar to that country, as Iceland clothes, fish, horse, pony, wool, also Iceland beer, a fermented liquor made from Arenaria peplordes (Syd Soc Lex), Iceland crystal = Iceland spar, Iceland cur, Iceland dog (also short Iceland), a shaggy, short-eared white dog, formerly in favour as a lap-dog in England, Iceland lichen, Iceland moss, a species of edible lichen, Cetraria islandica, having certain medicinal properties; hence Iceland moss jelly, starch (Syd Soc Lex), Iceland poppy, a variety of Papaver nudicaule, the yellow Arctic poppy, Iceland sea-grass, Ulva latissima (Syd Soc Lex), Iceland spar, a transparent variety of calcite, used in demonstrating the polarization of light c1205 LAY 29622 Gutlond & Irlond, Orcanse & Islond 1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 3734 Scotlonde & yalonde & or cadas 1577-87 HOLINSHED Scot Chron (1805) I 22 Island, that lieth in the cold frosty sea beyond the Artike circle toward the North pole 1580 VON TROIL Iceland 63 Floke stayed here the whole winter, and gave the name of Ice land to the country c1440 Durham Ire Rolls (Surtees) I 58 In vij shandfyse xxiij c 1450 Ibid 60 Islandfishs 1541 Will of Joyce Stingon (Somerset Ho.) Yelonde chaldre 1545 BOORDE Introd Knowl xi (1870) 147 They wyll sell there Iseland cutres 1576 FLEMING tr Caius Eng Dogs v (1880) 37 Iseland dogges, curled & rough al ouer, greatly set by, esteemed, taken vp, and made of 1599 SHAKS. Hen V, II i 44 c1618 FLETCHER Q Corinth IV i, Hang, hair, like hemp, or like the Ising cats 1627 DRAYTON Moon-calf Wks (1748) 1741 Our water dogs and islands here are short. 1689 Lady Alimony v m, I ties the fault there you Island Curre? 1772 SIR J. HALL Iamb 76 Iceland Spar 1797 BROUGHAM in Phil Trans LXXXVII 379 I ground to an even and pretty sharp edge two pieces of Iceland crystal 1805 R. KYRKE Ittiki Observations on the Anti Philosophical Properties of the Ichen Islandicus or Iceland Moss. 1809 Nat Philos I Potatoes Light Introd 1 (U K N.) A substance called Iceland spar, calcareous spar, or carbonate of lime 1824 BISCHOF Woollen Manuf II 197 The last foreign wools I bought were a cargo of Iceland wools 1884 Gardening Illustrated 8 Nov 424/2 A hot summer seems to be particularly trying to these Iceland poppies.

Icelander (ai slăndăr). [f PRIC + FRI 1 Cf Da Islander, G Islander.]

1 An inhabitant or native of Iceland.

1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 744 Arngrim Jonve an Islander 1674 tr Masticuvre's Voy N Countries title p, A Description of the Manners [etc.] of the Norwegians, Lapmans and Islanders 1791 BLAIR Lexic 1 (1) The shivering Icelander 1876 BANCROFT Hist U S I 8 The remote discoveries which Icelanders had made in Greenland

2 An Icelandic falcon, see GERFALCON

1828 SIR J. SEBRIGHT Hawking 44 The Icelander is the largest hawk that is known, and highly esteemed by falconers

Icelandic (aisla ndik), a and sb [see 1c]

A adj Pertaining to Iceland, or to the language in use there 1674 tr Schaffer's Lapland 4 In the old Gothik or Islandick language 1770 I. PERCY tr Mallet's North Antiq III 1847 83 The Icelandic chronicles paint out Odin as the most pernicious of men 1780 VON TROIL Iceland 226 Where less fish and sour whey are eaten, and more Icelandic meat 1844 ANSTED Ceol II 315 The best known of the Icelandic hot springs are called Geysers 1850 LATHAM Eng Lang (ed 3) 43 Of the Icelandic verbs the infinitives end in a

B sb The language of Iceland, which in all essential points returns the form of the tongue anciently spoken over the whole Scandinavian region (Old Norse)

1833 SOUTHEY Cid (1856) IV 150 Old Icelandic, like the old Anglo Saxon is so difficult as often to perplex the best scholars 1850 LATHAM Eng Lang (ed 3) 44 The characteristic of the Icelandic is the possession of a passive form

So †Icelandian, †Icelandish [cf Du ijslandsch, Da islandsk, Icel islenzkr], adjs

1708 J. CHAMBERLAYNE St Gt Brit II i 11 (1737) 328 Snorro Sturleson, the Islandish Historian 1728 BEARCROFT Creation I 367 A cold Icelandian desart 1807 TAYLOR in Monthly Mag XXIV 347 Corroborated by the analogy of the Icelandish language

Iceless (ai slĕs), a [f ICE sb + -LESS] Free from ice, not covered by ice

1853 KANE Grinnell Exp (1856) 544 The Polynya, or Ice less Sea 1855 BAILEY Mystic 75 Many an iceless and unfathomed pool

Iceman, ice-man (ai smăn).

1 A man skilled in traversing ice, either in Alpine or polar regions

1865 J. D. DANA Tour of Mont Blanc iv 117 It requires an expert iceman to effect this passage 1876 KANE Arct Expl I xxiii 378 We knew it remain that the access to the land is from the floe seas both toilsome and dangerous 1880 TYNDALL Glac I vii 47 I found him so good an iceman

2 A man appointed to look after the ice on a skating pond and assist in cases of accident

1886 All Year Around No 930 A rescue by the icemen belonging to the Royal Humane Society 1894 Daily News 5 Jan 5/4 A large staff of 'ice men' to protect the ice on the forty lakes and ponds under the control of the Council

3 One engaged in the ice trade, or in harvesting ice for storage and sale (U S)

1854 in WEBSTER 1889 Pall Mall G 6 Feb 3/1 A rapid thaw will put a stop to the operations of the ice man

4 A maker of ices

1882 Daily Tel 11 Apr, An iceman thoroughly proficient in all kinds of water and cream ices

Hence I-esmanship, skill in dealing with the ice in mountaineering, etc; ice craft 1884 GRAHAM in Pall Mall G 11 June 3 What I may venture to call icemanship is a fine art, only acquired by much experience This art, which we call icemanship, the use of ropes and ice axes, and all that goes with them, does not yet exist in India.

I-ce-ma ster.

1 A pilot or sailing-master who has special experience in navigating vessels among ice floes

1853 KANE Grinnell Exp xiii (1856) 98 Much as I respect the ice-masters, the Greenland pilots as they are termed 1883 American VI 173 The expedition [had] two Norwegian ice masters

2 One in charge of the ice of a public pond

1886 Daily News 28 Jan 5/4 The park bailiff and ice master considered the ice on the Serpentine about 3½ inches thick

I-ce-mon ntain. = ICEBERG 1 and 2 So also ice-mount

1694 Acc Sev Late Voy II (1711) 22 There are seven large Ice Mountains in my View which look of a glorious blew colour Ibid 46 These Ice Mounts change their first colour in time by the Air 1774 GOLDSM Nat Hist I 147 Thus are these amazing ice mountains launched forth to sea, and found floating in the waters round both the Poles 1853 KANE Grinnell Exp xiv (1856) 104 I noticed very many ice mountains traveling to the north in opposition to both wind and surface ice

Ice-plant. A plant (Mesembryanthemum crystallinum) having leaves covered with pellucid watery vesicles looking like ice a native of the Canary Islands, S Africa, etc

1753 CHAMBERS Cyc Supp Ice Plant is also commonly called with us the diamond plant, and the Arabs 1767 ABERCROMBIE Pr Man Ass own Gard Apr 113 The egg plant like wise, diamond ficoides, or ice plant 1893 EARL DUNMORE Pamirs II 275 On the top of the second Takka pass I found the ice plant growing

I-ce-plough

1 An instrument used in America for cutting grooves in the ice on ponds and lakes, to facilitate the removal of blocks of it 2 c 2 cwt which are stored for summer use (Simmonds Dict Trade 1858)

1884 Cassell's Fam Mag Feb 188/1 The ice area is then traversed again by the ice plough, a succession of curved blades like teeth attached to a long beam

2 Applied to a glacier, from its action in furrowing rocks and scooping out valleys

1881 Rep Geol Explor N Zealand 57 How potent his been, and still is, the great ice plough

I-ce-rock A large solid mass of ice, an ice berg, an ice-clothed rock

1827 I. I. PEACOCK Richmond I 103, We want no photographs of ice rock tossed into the Dead Sea of modern society to freeze that which is too cold already 1849 H. COTTRELL Far (1850) I 70 Now nothing remains to be discovered but the sandy de erts of Gobi of Africa and the inaccessible ice rocks of the North Pole 1861 I. I. NOBLE Labrador 172 The danger of lying under the shadow of the ice rock

Ice-schokkill, -seekel, -shackle, obs and dial ff ICICLE

I-ce-sheet. A sheet or layer of ice covering an extensive tract of land, spec that supposed to have covered a great part of the northern hemisphere during the glacial period

1873 J. GEIKIE Gt Ice Age (1894) 364 Long before the appearance of the ice sheet 1891 SIR R. BALL Ice Age 282 In future periods the ice sheets will again return and desolate those regions which now contain the most civilized nations of the earth 1897 Daily News 19 Nov 6/6 I very much fear, with the exception of a few low islands, the ice sheet overran everything

Ice-shockle, -shog, -shog(g)le, -shoglin, -shokle, -sioch, obs or dial var ICICLE.

I-cespar Min Fol Ger feldspath (Werner 1787) A name the appearance [Glossy orthoclase, first found in the lava of Vesuvius

1816 R. JAMESON Syst Min (ed 2) I 404 It was named Ice Spar on account of its icy appearance 1869 PHILLIPS Vesuv 291 Nepheline found in ejected blocks on Somma with icespar, garnet, and mica

I-ce-stream.

1 A stream of ice-floes carried by the wind or a current in particular course Chiefly applied to that which sweeps round Cape Farewell at the southern extremity of Greenland

1878 NARES Voy Polar Sea I 8, I found that we had run deeper into the ice-stream than I had intended

2 Extended to a valley glacier in reference to its river like course, and continuous downward movement

1853 KANE Grinnell Exp xxiii (1856) 178 Contribution from the ice streams of several minor valleys 1871 SIR. MATTHEW Hooker Himal Journ (1892) II 21 In the whole Alps there is no ice stream to be compared to the noble Mer de glacier

I-ce-wa ter. Water obtained from, or cooled by, ice, iced water

1722 Lond Gaz No 6035/1 The Ladies were entertained with all sorts of Chocolate, Ice Waters, &c 1773 HUTCHINSON Diary (1859) 338 In a very violent heat if there is no such cordial to the spirits as ice, or a draught of ice water 1797 MRS RADCLIFFE Italian vi, About noon the carriage stopped at a post house, and ice water was handed through the window

I-ce-work.

1 Ornamentation executed in ice, or having the appearance of ice, frosted work

1789 NAVAGE Wanderer I 107 On this bleak Height till 11 o'clk Ice-work crown'd, Bend, while then flaky Wastes shocks the Ground! 1790 W. WALTON Grotesque Ladies 3 The walls should be lined with flints decorated with ice work

2 Geol Work done by glaciers or icebergs

1843 DARWIN in Life & Lett (1887) I 333 My marine theory for these roads was an eckel on the head by ALBANY ICE WORK 1863 TYRE Antiq Man 304 The ice work done by the extinct glaciers, as contrasted with that performed by their de scribed representatives of the present day

Icey, Iceycle, obs forms of ICY, ICICLE

Ich, obs form of I pron, EACH

Icham = I am see I pron

†Ichane, int & Obs [perh for ocham (= Gael ochan and achim oh! alas!] An exclamation of sorrow, alas!

1513 DOUGLAS Æneis xii, 1 [Schone] Of lest sythnes allace! nocht ane sa with I had thy fayr body Sall I na pray [Harl 3579 agnota quare]

I-changed, MH pa pple of CHANGE v

I-chard, of CHARE, I-CHERE v, to turn

I-charged, of CHARGE v

I-chaste, of CHASTE v

Iche see I ACH, LICH v, I pron, ILK

†I-cheose, v Obs [O geōsan + OS gi kiosan, OHG gichiosan, I cosan to CHOOSE] trans To choose c 1000 Ordinale Cant 2772 Wiunt mid us and þe wan zeccos on þesum lande a 1175 Cott Hom 79 He alde of þese cynne hem moder zecosen c 1205 LAY 17 Pes Romes me chuese hem to hes a 1225 Jul 8 Ich king & prophete echosen vt of elle 13 Ed Rawl 1 A 393 To kyst ser chambre þat ar ichose

†I-cherre, v Obs [OE gecyrran, cierran, I cgrian to turn (see CHERE)] intr To turn, return

c 1000 Ags Ps Matt xii 44 Ic zecyrre (Hatton zecherre) on min hus c 1175 Lamb Hom 127 Sit he nolde ichcrran from his sunnen c 1275 LAY 4165 Pat Children were ichord [= zi zhôen] to bis owe londe

Ichneumon (ikniū mŏn) (Also 6 ichnewmon, 7 ichnumon) [f I ichneumōn, a Gr ichneumon the ichneumon, also, a small kind of wasp that hunts spiders, lit 'tracker', f ichneuein to track or trace out, f ichnos track, footstep In Pr ichneumon (16th c in Ritz Dram)]

1 A small brownish-coloured slender-bodied carnivorous quadruped, Herpestes (formerly Viverra) ichneumon, closely allied to the mongoose and remarkable for the weasel like form and habits. It is found in Egypt, where it feeds on small mammals and reptiles, but is especially noted for destroying the eggs of the crocodile, on which account it was held in veneration by the ancient Egyptians (Also called Pharaoh's Rat, and formerly Indian Mouse)

(With the early fabulous accounts of COCKATRILL, serpent cutter, in original I translation of 1591)

1578 BANISTER Hymour III 171 Called a Mouse of India, otherwise Ichneumon Pharaonis, and the Enemie of a Cattle who creepeth into the body of a Crocodile when in sleape he gapeth and eating his bowels, sleath him 1579 TOMSON Nat Antonius 138 Ichneumon a little worme, ouercomes the Elephant 1607 TOPSELL Four footed beasts 483, 487 Merellus and Solinus do make quotation of this Beast Ichneumon, but Aelian calleth it the Otter a kinde of this Ichneumon it diligently searcheth out the sticks of wilde Beast especially the Crocodile and the Asp, whose Eggs it destroyeth 1693 SANDYS Nat Hist As for the Ichneumon, hee hath but onely changed his name now called the Rat of Nilus, 1681 COTTON Boileau Voyages (1730) 34 If Ichneumon and Crocodiles do fight in Nuger, as in Nile 1734 tr Rollin's Anc Hist (1827) I 11 2 The ichneumon was adored because he has prevented the too great increase of crocodiles 1855 Fog Chas, Nat Hist III 82 Ichneumon and Rumphius both notice the skill of the Ichneumon in seizing serpents by the throat so as to avoid injury

2 A small parasitic hymnopterous insect (family Ichneumonidæ, which deposits its eggs in or on the larva of another insect, upon which its larvæ feed when hatched, an ichneumon-fly

The name had been at first applied exclusively to a small kind of wasp that hunts spiders (partly from which partly in reference to the old stories as to the entry of the mammalian ichneumon into the body of the crocodile) in order to spoil it to the parasitic flies The genus is now much restricted from its Linnæan extent

1658 ROWLAND Moufet's Theat Ins 924 The Wasps called Ichneumones are less than the rest they kill Spiders called Phalangia, and after they have done they carry them into their nests, and dash them over with dirt, and so sitting upon them do provoke them ouer spoyles 1672 E. WILLOUGHBY in Phil Trans VII 5073 It is very surprising to observe, that in the Caterpillars of the Cabbage Moth or Butterfly should poule ensuenemies make such nests of Ichneumones 1753 CHAMBERS Cyc Supp s v, Some of these Ichneumons make the bodies of other worms their places of hatching, their eggs 1815 KIRBY & SP. Entomol I xv 193 Some Ichneumons in lieu of burying their eggs in the body of the larva, content themselves with gluing them to the skin of their prey 1864 H. JONES Holiday Papers 149 On the occasion which the Caterpillar spins being opened an ichneumon steps out, received of a butterfly or a moth

3 attrib and Comb Ichneumon fly = 2, †ichneumon maggot, the larva of the ichneumon fly

1672 E. WILLOUGHBY in Phil Trans VII 5074 I have some many of these Ichneumon in maggots out of the body of the same Caterpillar 1713 DERHAM Phys Theol viii xi (1727) 375 note, The Insects that infest Fruits are either I the Ichneumon Fly kind, or Phalenæ 1789 G. WHITE Selborne (1813) 177, I saw lately a small ichneumon fly attack a spider much larger than itself 1883 WOOD-MASON Ibis 361 The parasitic Ichneumon flies are here in great force

Ichneumon-, combining stem of prec (in sense 2), as in Ichneumonid (iknīū mŏnid) = next sb Ichneumonidan (iknīūmŏnidăn) a, pertaining to the family Ichneumonidæ of hymenopterous insects, typified by the ichneumon-flies, sb an insect of this family Ichneumonideous (iknīū mŏni dēŏs), Ichneumonidian (-i dĭăn) adjs = 67

prec adj Ichneumoniform (-mɒ nifɔ̃m) a, having the form or characters of an ichneumonfly (Mayne Expos Lex 1855) Ichneumonize (iknīū mɒnīz) v trans, to infest, as the ichneumonfly, the bodies of other insects Ichneu monoid a and sb = ICHNEUMONIDAN a and sb Ichneumono logy, the natural history of ichneumon flies (Cent Dict)

1846 KIRBY & SP. Entom IV 189 The ichneumonidan devourers are kept in check by other Ichneumonidan devourers. 1847 Ibid ed 6 I 206 Such is the activity and address of the Ichneumonidæ. 1842 Trans R. Agric. Soc III 1 37 I offered a conjecture that those larvæ which entered the ground had been ichneumonized, whilst those which remained encased and in the grass would be found unmatured 1852 THOMPSON Inn Influences 389 The Ceroidæmyia of which would produce a famine but for the ichneumonidæ in particular. 1865 Athenæum No 1919 406/1 A dipterous or ichneumonidous insect

Ichneutic (iknīū tik), a rare [ad Gr ἰχνευτικ-ός good at tracking, f ἰχνευτής tracker, hunter, f ἰχνεύειν to track] Of or pertaining to a tracker or tracking

1838 MAGINN in Fraser's Mag XVII 611 If Eustathius is right when he, attributing to Argus powers of seeing, takes away from his ichneutic merits

Ichnite (i knaīt) Geol [f Gr ἴχν-ος track, footprint + -ITE] A fossil footprint, the foot print of an animal preserved in a rock

1854 PAGE Introd Geol x 88 These fossil footprints, termed ichnites found at Corncockle Muir in Dumfriesshire, at Storeton in Cheshire and many other places

Ichnographic (iknogra fik) a [f ICHNOGRAPHY + -IC Cf F ichnographique (1752 in Hatz Darm)] = next

1695 ATHENIAN Geom Fyht 35 The Ichnographick projection of any regular Fort 1782 Trevisa Perspective 3 To project the ichnographic, scenographic plot of any building, is to draw the exact plots of the same building

Ichnographical (iknogra fikal), a [f as prec + -AL] Pertaining or relating to ichnography

1658 R NEWCOURT Lttle to Map of London, A brefe Ichnografical discription of this famous & Honorable City of London 1708 PHILIPS Sicily (1720) 58 Diadrus Periculi has assisted the text with a figure or Ichnographical plot 1761 in Hist hung's Syst Geog I 8 Ichnographical descriptions of the Earth, which we call Maps 1794 Rudim Archit 1800 Prec 6 An accurate ichnographical description of the most celebrated Greek and Roman structures

Hence Ichnogra phically adv, in an ichnographical way, by a ground plan or map

1658 R NEWCOURT Guide to Map of London, An Exact Delineation of the Cities of London and Westminster and the Suburbs Thereof Composed by a Scale and Ichnographically described 1695 ATHENIAN Brit Pref 4 Towns are described Ichnographically

Ichnography (iknɒ grăfi) Also 7 erron ingra [a F ichnographie (1547 in Hatz-Darm), or ad late L ichnographia, a Gr ἰχνογραφία tracing out, ground-plan, f ἴχνος track, trace + -γραφία -GRAPHY] A ground plan, the representation of the horizontal section of a building or of part of it (or, rarely, of some object resting on the ground), also, the plan or map of a place

The sense in the first quot is doubtful it may be section?

1598 R HAYDOCKE in Purchas Pilgrimes III The ichnographie of a mans head. a 1638 MEDE Apoc Expos on Wks III 682 The Ichnography and Platform of the Temple & Fabrick 1691 WOOD Ath Oxon II 904 While he continued in Oxon he drew an exact ichnography of the City of Oxon 1703 MOXON Mech Exerc 252 The Ground Plat or Ichnography of each Floor or Story 1782 Trevisa Perspective 3 The geometric ichnography of a column is a circle, of a pedestal is a square 1805 MARYLAND Rom Laws VIII lxvii 266 The ichnography of the wall of Autonous

b transf and fig

1637 GUTHRIE Lds Pref Cerem Ep A iij b, [He] taketh the patterne of his religion from the Court of Heaven, ichnographie 1721 KEN Hymnother Poet Wks 1721 III 244 Lord present In his own Shape the Ichnography drew, That all His Leagues might the Work resemble 1852 Fraser's Mag I 13 The theories, as it were, the ichnography (&round plan) of a people

Ichnolite (i knŏlait) Geol [f Gr ἴχνο-ς footprint + λίθος stone, LITE] = ICHNITE Hence Ichnoli tic (Cent Dict)

1846 WORCESTER cites Rogers 1859 Edin Rev CX 11. Of the peculiar animals of a quadrupedal nature who have left the impress of their footsteps on these ancient sandy coasts the only records are these ichnolites

Ichnolithology (iknŏlĭthɒ lŏdʒi) [f Gr ἴχνο-ς footprint + λίθο-ς stone + -λογία LOGY] ICHNOLOGY Hence Ichnolithological a = ICHNOLOGICAL 1882 in OGILVIE

Ichnology (iknɒ lŏdʒi) [f Gr ἴχν-ος footprint + -λογία] That part of palæontology which treats of fossil footprints b The ichnological characters or features of a district collectively 1851 SIR W JARDINE Ichnol Annandale 7 Our knowledge of the footprints of recent animals, what may be termed modern Ichnology is so limited 1855 E HITCHCOCK Ichnology of New England 1864 Proc Amer Phil Soc IX 445 Ichnology, as a science, began with [Dr E A Hitchcock].

Hence Ichnolo gical a, relating to ichnology (Worcester 1859)

Ichnomancy (i knomansi) [f as prec + Gr μαντεία divination, -MANCY] (See quot)

1885 SMEDLEY Occult Sci 96 Ichnomancy is the art of finding out the figure, peculiarities, occupations, &c., of men or beasts by the traces of their posture, position and footsteps

‖ Ichoglan (ɪtʃoglan) Also 8 itcheoglan [obs Turkish اچ اغلان ič oġlan, f ič interior + oġlan young man, page] A page in waiting in the palace of the Sultan

1677 J PHILLIPS tr Tavernier's Grand Seignior's Seragl 2 The Ichoglans are those, in whom, besides the accomplishments of the Body, they discover a clear subtle Genius, fit for a high Education, and such as may render them capable of serving their Prince 1687 A LOVELL tr Thevenot's Travels I xxvii 24 The Eunuchs also have the charge of the Ichoglans or the Grand Signors Pages 1745 R POCOCKE Descr East I ii 111 114 The education of the itcheoglans for the service also of the grand seignor 1846 HACKETT Journ Cornhill to Cairo vii, Ichoglans and pages, with lazy looks and shabby dresses

Ichon, cach one SEE PEACH B, C Cf IKHAND

Ichor (ai kŏɹ, i kŏɹ) [n Gr ἰχώρ (in senses below) Cf F ichor (16th c in Patr)]

1 Gr Myth The ethereal fluid supposed to flow like blood in the veins of the gods

1676 HOBBES Iliad (1677) 68 From the wound out sprang the blood divine Not such as men have in their veins but Ichor [quot] 1728 POPE Dunc II 320 Amaze of Ichor fix'd the gaping Throng 1820 KEATS Hyperion I 108 The blaze, the roar, the splendour, and the heat These to his nostrils came with tenfold force As if the very brotherhood of Jove Through my abilities were raging 1822 BYRON Don Juan XIV 6 Of course the information was but short Of some such other puerile import 1855 KINGSLEY Heroes iii 128 146 To live ever youthful like the Gods, who have ichor in their veins

2 transf and fig Blood, a fluid, real or imaginary, likened to the blood of animals † Formerly, the serum of the blood

1598 FLORIO Second Fruits 11 It is an old saying Ichores and those serious matters being thickned become flesume 1774 J BANKS Mythol I 343 The dog stained his mouth with Jove's ichor 1845 FORD Handbk Spain I 93 The arrier stop at this clite of the earth 1880 HUXLEY Crayfish i 31 The older Naturalists thought that the crayfish had no blood, and that the watery juice of which its tissues are made was ichor 1895 W WATSON Hymn to Sun, Through the veins of the Earth riots the ichor of spring

3 Path A watery acrid discharge issuing from certain wounds and sores

1651 BIGGS New Disp 244 The Lentand by reason of the more powerfull hurt of digestion then is accustomed doth keep forth an Ichor 1710 J FULLER Pharm Extemp 81 Ruffi's Balsam Decocted corrects acrid Ichor 1720 W QUINCY Lexicon Medicum (1738) 210 There is an Ichor between Matter and Serum usually flowing from the Ulcerous 1807 ALBUTT Syst Med III 128 Occasionally they [chalk stones] push through the cutaneous covering and form indurated sores and discharge a purulent ichor

I-chord SEE I CHORD

Ichore scent, a Obs [f prec + -SCENT] Growing or becoming ichorous So Ichore scence, the fact of becoming ichorous, † Ichore sency

1706 in Bonet's Merc Compit viii 296 Fluxion and Ichorescency of the Seed Ibid viii 270 Things that increase the ichorescent Fluid Ibid xviii 113 Alcophlamus's Antihumbe Ichorescency and toogre at rarefaction of the Blood

Ichoro se, a Obs [f ICHOR + -OSE] = next 1720 J FULLER Pharm Extemp 6 Of singular avail against Ichorose Ulcers 1739 HOGARTH in Phil Trans XLI 665 Ichorose Humours, being blended & mixed

Ichorous (i kŏɹəs), a [f ICHOR + -OUS Cf F ichoreux (16th c in Patr)] Of the nature or character of ichor, containing or discharging ichor

1651 BIGGS New Disp p 243 The man should feel himself better, when the serum of ichorous matter flows out, then when pusis made 1755 PARSONS in Phil Trans XLIX 431 Pain ichorous ulcers. 1878 T BRYANT Pract Surg I 127 This discharge is fetid and ichorous

‖ Ichorrhæmia (ɪkŏɹrī mĭə) Path Also -emia [f Gr ἰχωρ ICHOR + -αιμία f αἷμα blood] See quots Hence Ichorrhæ mic (-emio) a, pertaining to ichorrhæmia

1854-67 C A HARRIS Dict Med Terminol, Ichorrhæmia poisoning of the blood from the absorption of sanious matter 1874 JONES & SIEV Pathol Anat ed 2 218 Ichorrhæmia or putrid infection 1876 H Hughes Essay Pathol 87 Many make a distinction between septicæmia and ichorrhæmia Ibid, Ichorrhæmic infection

I-chosen, ME pa pple of CHOOSE, I-CHOSE, ICHOSEN

Ichthyal (i kθaiăl), a [f Gr ἰχθύ-ς fish + -AL] = ICHTHYIC

1874 W C WITTAMSON in Owen's Coll Ess VII 222 The Ichthyal division of that kingdom

Ichthyarchy (i kθaiɑ̈ki) nonce wd [f ICHTHYO + Gr ἀρχία rule, government] The domain of fishes, the fish world in all its orders

1852 BADHAM Halieut 118-4 275 To look in Agnano or Thrasymene Lakes against the whole of the Mediterranean with any chance

Ichthyic (i kθiik, -a [ad Gr ἰχθυϊκός fish, f ἰχθύ-ς fish + -ικός -ichthyique] Of, pertaining to or characteristic of fishes, having the zoological characters of a fish, piscine

1844-6 OWEN Comp Anat Invert I iv 83 This remarkable type of ichthyic organisation [the Lepidosiren] 1858 GOSSE Hist Bandore viii 128 Despite their seeming reptilian character, they were undoubtedly ichthyic 1869 BARROW tr Figuier's World before Deluge iii 112 The first great ichthyic period of the Old Red Sandstone

Ichthyo- (i kθiɒ), before a vowel ichthy, combining form of Gr ἰχθύς, ἰχθυ-ος fish, entering into many scientific terms, of which the following are words of less frequent occurrence

Ichthydin, Ichthyin (-thin), Ichthylin (-ulin), Chem, names of albuminoid substances got from the egg yolk of various fishes Ichthyobatrachian (ɪkθiɒbătrē kiăn), a, Zool combining the characters of Fishes and Batrachia, as the Lepidosiren and Protopterus (syd Sir Lyy 1886) Ichthyocephalous (-se faləs) a Ichthyol [Gr κεφαλή head], belonging to the Ichthyocephali, a group of fishes in Cope's classification (1870) including cart on eels Ichthyocoprolite (-kɒ prŏl lit) Palæont [f COPROLITE], the fossilized excrement of a fish, also ichthyopolyte Ichthyocorinid (-kɒrĭnid, -aind) a Palæont [see CORINDA], belonging to the extinct family Ichthyocorinidæ of articulate crinoids of Devonian age, so Ichthyo crinoid a and sb Ichthyodont (i kθiɒdɒnt) Palæont [Gr ὀδοντ tooth] a fossil tooth of a fish Ichthyofau na, the fish fauna, or fish life, of a sea or region Ichthyo latry [-ATRY], fish-worship, the worship of a fish god, as Dagon, Hence Ichthyolatrous (-ɒ lătrəs) a Ichthyomancy (i kθiɒmænsi) [-MANCY], divination by means of the heads or entrails of fishes, so Ichthyoma ntic a, of or relating to ichthyomancy Ichthyonomy (ɪkθiɒ nŏmi) [Gr νομία arrangement], arrangement or classification of fishes. Ichthyopatolite (-pæ tŏlait) Palæont [Gr πάθο-ς path + -LITE], a fossil imprint supposed to be that of the pectoral fin rays of a fish, used in progression on damp surfaces Ichthyophile (i kθiɒfəil), Ichthyo philist [Gr φίλ- or loving], a lover of fish or fishes Ichthyophthiran (-ɒfθai răn) Zool [Gr φθείρ louse] a, belonging to the group of crustacean order Ichthyophthiraria, parasites upon fishes of crustacean order of Siphonostoma, a fish louse Ichthypodolite (-pɒ dŏlait) Palæont [Gr ποδ foot + LITE], a fossil imprint supposed to have been made by some fish (Buckland 1844) Ichthypolism (ɪkθiɒ pŏlizm) [Gr ἰχθυοπώλ-ης fishmonger, πωλῆν sell], the sale of fish, so Ichthyo polist, a seller of fish, a fishmonger Ichthyosaurite (-sɔ̈ɹait) Palæont [Gr σαῦρ flesh + -ITE], a fossil bivalve, a kind of the genus Caprinella Ichthyotomist (ɪkθiɒ tŏmist) [Gr τομος cutting + -IST], a dissector or anatomist of fishes, so Ichthyo tomy, dissection of fishes

I chthyta xidermy, the taxidermy or stuffing of the skins of fishes as zoological specimens

1859 TOMLINSON Intel V 141 Ichthine, Ichthine, Ichthuline 1708 Phil Trans XXVI 78 Bufonites, The Toad stone, or Capsular Ichthyolont 1828 STARK Elem Nat Hist I 492 Fossil teeth or ichthyodontes are in great quantity in Malta and Sicily 1883 Fisheries Exhib Catal 283 The genus Mugil is richly represented in our Ichthyo fauna 1853 W H BARKER Lares & Penates 224 Fish was afterwards associated in one common form of "ichthyolatry in Derceto or Atergatis 1866 BLOUNT Glossogr, Ichthyomancy [etc] An Divination by fishes 1852 HOUGHTON Rabelais IV xxv 209 Ichthiomancy, in ancient times so called 1847 CRAIG Ichthyomancy 1822 Fish Act 49 Blainville next places Volta's Ichthyomotor 1842 FORD Handbk Spain I 218 The foreclaws are tabats for the Andaluz ichthyophile 1852 BADHAM Halieut (1854) 154 We arrived at the seat of the old "ichthyophile 1853 Ibid 474 If we look back into the history of ichthyophilism Ibid, He once had an Irish "ichthyopolist at his own weapons 1844-6 OWEN Comp Anat Invert III 968 The first spinal nerve is called "hypoglossal nerve" by some "ichthyotomists 1883 Fisheries Exhib Catal 220 Stuffed fishes, prepared by Mr Cheverton's method of "ichthyotaxidermy

‖ Ichthyocolla (ɪkθiɒkŏ lă) [L, a Gr ἰχθυόκολλα, f ἰχθυο- fish- + κόλλα glue] Fish glue, isinglass Also attrib

1601 HOLLAND Pliny II 438 A fish there is named Ichthyocolla, which hath a glewish skin and the very glue that is made thereof, is likewise called Ichthyocolla 1678 PHILLIPS (ed 4), Ichthyocolla, a kind of Glew made of the skin of Fishes, commonly called Isonglass 1778 JACKSON in Phil Trans LXIII 3 Fine cases for making ichthyocolla, fish glue or isinglass

Ichthyodorylite, -dorulite (i kθiɒdɒ rilait, -dɒ rŭlait Palæont [f ICHTHYO- + Gr δόρυ spear + λίθος stone + -LITE] The etymological spelling is -dorylite cf F. ichthyodorylithe A fossil spine of a fish or fish like vertebrate 1837 BUCKLAND Geol I 287 Dorsal spines of Fishes have been named Ichthyodorulites. 1844 H MILLER Old Sandst viii 167 A hilly but very imperfectly preserved ichthyodorulite 1872 W S SYMONDS Rec Rocks xiii 272 I saw a small ichthyodorulite in some silurious beds.

Ichthyographer. [f as prec + Gr -γράφος writing, writer + -ER²] A writer on fishes So Ichthyo graphy, description of fishes, Ichthyogra phic a, pertaining to ichthyography

1677 PHOT Hyfordsh 103 All the Pectines or Escallop shells I could find in the Ichthyographers 1736 BAILEY

(folio) Pref., Ichthyography, a Discourse, or Description of Fishes 1847 CRAIG, Ichthyography, a treatise on fishes

Ichthyoid (ī·kθɪɔɪd), a. and sb. [f. as prec. + -OID] Cf. Gr ἰχθυοῖδης = ἰχθυώδης]

A. adj. Resembling or having the form or characteristics of a fish; fish like

1855 MAYNE Expos. Lex., Ichthyoides, resembling a fish, ichthyoid 1865 PAGE Handbk. Geol. v. v. The ichthyosaurus is partly ichthyoid and partly saurioid 1870 RUSKIN Ariadne Florent. Introd. 69 Instances of larval Ichthyoids maturing sexual products are furnished to us by the immature Lamprey

So Ichthyoi·dal a. = prec. A

Ichthyol (ī·kθɪǫl) Med. [f. ICHTHYO- + L. oleum oil. (But perh. suggested by ichthyolite.)] A brownish yellow syrupy liquid of disagreeable odour, obtained by the dry distillation of bituminous rocks containing remains of fossil fishes, used as a remedy in skin diseases Hence Ichthyo·lic a., pertaining or related to ichthyol

1885 Lancet 26 Sept. 577 The ammonium salt of sulpho ichthyolic acid The ichthyol salt may be taken in drinkable 1890 Ibid. (N. Y.) 10 Feb. 5/2 Ichthyol and other similar agents may be painted on the affected portions of the skin

Ichthyolite (ī·kθɪǫlɔɪt) Palæont. [f. as prec. + Gr. λίθος stone: see -LITE Cf. F. ichthyolithe (1762 in Hatz. Darm.)] A fossil fish, any fossil of ichthyic origin

1828 WEBSTER cites F. Hitchcock. 1840 H. MILLER O. Sandst. ix. (ed. 2) 193 The ichthyolites of the Old Red Sandstone 1850 J. PYLE Prime. Geol. ix. (ed. 8) 134 Similar ichthyolites have been met with in older rocks 1854 PAGE Introd. Geol. 112 The most common ichthyolites in the English tertiaries are the shark like teeth of gigantic placoids which seem to have thronged these waters

Hence Ichthyoli·tic a., pertaining to, or characterized by containing, ichthyolites

1850 H. MILLER Footpr. Creat. x. (1874) 192 I found it partially embedded in an ichthyolitic deposit 1854 — Sch. & Schm. xx. The ichthyolitic formations of Moray

Ichthyology (ɪkθɪǫ·lǫdʒɪ), a. [f. ICHTHYO- + -LOGY Cf. F. ichtyologique (1770 in Hatz. Darm.)] Of or belonging to ichthyology, ichthyic

1835 BADHAM Halieut. (1854) 9 The ichthyologic section of Acanthopterygii 1861 H. HOGG in Mem. Mod. V. 53 The number of fish left to breed is but a decimal fraction of that ichthyologic a, the unknown quantity of salmon which ought to be spared

Ichthyolo·gical, a. [f. as prec. + -AL] Of or pertaining to ichthyology, relating to or dealing with the natural history and classification of fishes; loosely, pertaining to fishes, ichthyic, piscine

1716 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. III Cett. Hist. 109 In blazoning those Ichthyological Medals 1752 SIR J. HILL Hist. Anim. 297 All the Ichthyological writers have described it 1837 WHITTAKER'S Alm. 362 (Pall Mall) 368 Cuvier himself attempted to improve the ichthyological arrangements 1868 Daily News 23 July, Some very curious ichthyological phenomena have been noticed in Southampton Water this season

Hence Ichthyolo·gically adv., according to ichthyology, (in quot.) with reference to fishes

1829 BADHAM Halieut. 289 Apoleta . . applied ichthyologically to the thunny, and probably to young specimens

Ichthyologist (ɪkθɪǫ·lǫdʒɪst) [f. ICHTHYOLOGY + -IST.] One versed in ichthyology, a student of the natural history of fishes

1772 in BAILEY Vol. II 1792 SIR J. HILL Hist. Anim. 224 The corybaenus . . was well known to the Ichthyologists of all times 1772 JACKSON in Phil. Trans. LXIII. 7 The anatomy and uses of the sound in fish seems not to be adjusted by ichthyologists 1889 Nature, 5 Dec. 101 The well known Indian ichthyologist, Francis Day

Ichthyology (ɪkθɪǫ·lǫdʒɪ [f. Gr ἰχθύς, ἰχθυο- fish + -LOGY.] The natural history of fishes as a branch of zoology. The ichthyological features or characteristics (of a district), the fishes (of a region) as subjects of scientific study

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. III. xxiv. 169 Some there are in the Land which never peep'd above the Sea, which carry no name in Ichthyology 1772 JACKSON in Phil. Trans. LXIII. 8 The latest, and perhaps the most accurate author on this subject, is Bloch 1816 Gentl. Mag. LXXVI. II. 605 The Ichthyology of these parts of North America 1842 H. MILLER O. R. Sandst. ii. (ed. 2) 59 The labours of these two great men in fossil ichthyology 1880 GUNTHER Fishes I. The commencement of the history of Ichthyology coincides with that of Zoology generally

Ichthyomorphic (ɪkθɪǫmɒ·fɪk), a. [f. ICHTHYO- + Gr. μορφή shape + -IC.]

a. Having the form of a fish, as the fish god Dagon b. Possessing (all or some of) the zoological characters of fishes, ichthyoid 1879 Contemp. Rev. 478 The ichthyomorphic nature belonging to this aspect of his personality 1887 H. H. HOWORTH Mammoth & Flood 432 The legend recalls the ichthyomorphic God Ea.

†Ichthyophagan. Obs. rare [f. † ichthyophage (see NEXT) + -AN.] A fish eater

1607 TOPSELL Four-f. Beasts (1658) 225 People of Arabia which some call Ichthyophagans, and Trogloditæ ‖Ichthyophagi (ɪkθɪǫ·fǫdʒaɪ), sb. pl. [L., pl. of ichthyophag-us usually an pl. as name of fish eating tribes, a Gr ἰχθυοφάγος, f. Gr ἰχθυο- fish- + φάγειν eating, f. φαγεῖν to eat.] Fish eaters (Rarely in sing. ichthyophagus = ICHTHYOPHAGIST

1555 W. WATERMAN Fardle Facions I. vi. 103 Ichthiophagi of Affrike 1661 LOVELL Hist. Anim. & Min. 231 The Ichthyophagi made bread of their (whales) flesh and bones, &c. of their bones 1777 G. FORSTER Voy. round World I. 143 We were now indeed become perfect ichthyophagi 1855 MELSH Dutch Rule Introd. 1 (1866) 2 Here, within a half submerged territory, a race of wretched ichthyophagi dwelt upon terpen, or mounds

Ichthyophagian (ɪkθɪǫ·fēɪdʒɪăn) a. [f. as prec. + -IAN.] Of or characteristic of Ichthyophagi; characterized by the eating of fish

1852 BADHAM Halieut. (1854) 1 7 The ichthyophagian banquets

Ichthyophagist (ɪkθɪǫ·fǫdʒɪst) [f. as prec. + -IST.] A fish eater, one whose food is fish 1727 in BAILEY Vol. II 1819 W. LAWRENCE Physiol. (1848) 134 Fishes are not however, pure ichthyophagists 1859 R. BENTLEY Cents. Life in Syd. Cove No. XXIX. 42 The Fakirs generally are strong swimmers and fisher men, and vigorous ichthyophagists all

So Ichthyophagis·tic = prec., Ichthyophagize v. (nonce wd.) intr. to eat fish

1835 KIDDY Hab. & Inst. Anim. I. 117 One [tribe] were perfect ichthyophagists, and would touch no other animal food 1853 BADHAM Halieut. (1854) 346 This very important duty of ichthyophagizing, dates some way back in ecclesiastical history

Ichthyophagous (ɪkθɪǫ·făgŏs), a. [f. as ichthyophag-us, ad. Gr ἰχθυοφάγος (see ICHTHYOPHAGI) + -OUS.] Fish eating, that feeds on fish

1828 in WEBSTER 1831 CARLYLE Sart. Res. III. v. A few are ichthyophagous 1835 KIDD Nat. Hist. I. 117 I perfect horn. Humboldt's Trav. II. xxiv. 425 The ichthyophagous nations that dwell on the Persian Gulf and the shores of the Red Sea. 1850 Tait's Mag. XVII. 211 I ordered them in raw, smoked or imperfectly cured and cooked fish to the mistake of man, dog, cat or other ichthyophagous animal

Hence Ichthyo phagously adv., in reference to ichthyophagy

1854 BADHAM Halieut. Advt., The Authors purport . . is to treat of fish ichthyophagously, not ichthyologically, and to save your fish money, but fish fairly

Ichthyophagy (ɪkθɪǫ·fădʒɪ) [a. F. ichthyophagie (1681 in Hatz. Darm.), ad. Gr ἰχθυοφαγία see prec.] The practice of eating fish

1598 FLORIO Worlde of Wordes 199 With subtilitie of time (as) to eate the ichyophit time is requisite. 1805 R. JAMESON Syst. Min. II. 602 Ichthyophith dinite, or Fish eye stone. 1883 Harper's Mag. LXVI. 421/1

†Ichthyopsaida (ɪkθɪǫp·sădă), sb. pl. [mod L., f. ICHTHYO- + Gr. ὄψις appearance: see -ID.] The lowest of the three primary groups of Vertebrata in Huxley's classification comprising the branchiate vertebrates, i. e. the amphibians or batrachians, the fishes, and fish like vertebrates. Hence Ichthyopsi·d, -o psidan, -opsi·dian adj., of or belonging to the Ichthyopsida, as a vertebrate of this group

1871 HUXLEY Anat. Vert. vi. 175 The spinal accessory exists in no Ichthyopsid vertebrate Ibid. iii. 112 The Vertebrata are divided into three primary groups, Ichthyopsida, the Sauropsida, and the Mammalia 1872 MIVART Elem. Anat. ii. 11 All Vertebrates above the Ichthyopsida 1887 J. CLEVELAND in Nature, 24 Feb. 391/1 There were two kinds of 30 invertebrates, namely, pisces and reptilian—or ichthyopsid in and sauropsid—as Prof. Parker would probably prefer to call them 1888 ROLLESTON & JACKSON Anim. Life 432 Class Cyclostomi Eliminated Eel like Ichthyopsids, with the mouth not supported by jaws as in other Vertebrata

Ichthyopterygian (ɪkθɪǫptĕ·rĭdʒĭăn), a. and sb. Palæont. [f. Gr ἰχθυο- (see ICHTHYO-) + πτέρυξ, πτερυγ- wing, πτερόν or wing, fin + -AN.]

a. adj. Belonging to the Ichthyopterygia, an order of extinct marine reptiles in Owen's classification (1860, Palæont. 198–9), so named from the paddle- or fin-like character of the digits of the fore and hind limbs, the type of which is the ichthyosaurus, ichthyosaurian b. sb. A reptile of this order, an ichthyosaurian

‖Ichthyornis (ɪkθɪǫ·rnĭs) Palæont. [mod L. (Marsh 1872), f. Gr ἰχθύς fish + ὄρνις, ὀρνιθ- ox bird.] An extinct genus of toothed birds (Odontolithæ) belonging to the order or sub-class Odontotormæ, having socketed teeth and biconcave vertebræ, the remains of which occur in the cretaceous rocks of North America Hence Ichthyornithic (-ɪ·nɪθɪk) a., belonging to this genus

Ichthyo rnithid, a bird of the family Ichthyornithidæ

1872 O. C. MARSH in Amer. Jrnl. Sc. & Arts 3rd Ser. IV. 344 Notice of a new and remarkable bird. This species may be called Ichthyornis dispar 1873 Ibid. VI. 74 Notice of a new Species of Ichthyornis. 1884 O. ALLEN in Longm. Mag. Jan. 290 The ichthyornis has a row of teeth in each jaw 1896 NEWTON Dict. Birds 464 The Teeth of Ichthyornis are restricted to the mandibles and maxillæ, but they are set each in a separate socket

Ichthyosaur (ɪkθɪǫsɑ·ɹ) [ad. mod L. ichthyosaur-us: see NEXT.] = NEXT, b

1830 LYELL Princ. Geol. I. 125 The huge iguanodon might reappear in the woods, and the ichthyosaur in the sea 1865 PAGE Handbk. Geol. 253 The ichthyosaurs were the reptile whales of their period a period extending from the middle Trias till near the close of the Chalk formation 1876 in Jerdon's Mamm. Peninsula Introd. The fishes and the crustacea on which were chased by the plesiosaurs and the ichthyosaurs

‖Ichthyosaurus (ɪkθɪǫ·sɔɹŭs) Palæont. [mod L., f. Gr ἰχθύς fish + σαῦρος (= σαυρος) lizard.] A genus of extinct marine animals, combining the characters of saurian reptiles and of fishes with some features of whales, and having an enormous head, a tapering body, four paddles, and a long tail (There remains are found chiefly in the Lias.) b. An animal of this genus

1832 DE LA BECHE Geol. Man. (ed. 2) 385 Of the various reptiles of this period, the ichthyosaurus seems to have been best suited to rule in the waters 1833 LYELL Princ. Geol. III. 122 Ichthyosaurus of Conybeare, Follows ib. 71 Ichthyosaurus, a gigantic fossil marine reptile, intermediate between a crocodile and a fish 1851 RICHARDSON Geol. (1855) 298 The Ichthyosaurus had the head and snout of a dolphin the head of a lizard the teeth of a crocodile the sternal arch of an anuthoryuchus and the paddles of a whale 1872 MIVART Elem. Anat. 39 In the extinct Ichthyosaurus the neural arch was permanently distinct from the centrum

Hence Ichthyosaurian (ɪkθɪǫsɔ·rĭăn a., of or pertaining to the ichthyosaurus, belonging to the order Ichthyosauria sb. an animal of this order

Ichthyosaur rid, an animal of the Ichthyosaurus family, Ichthyosauridæ Ichthyosaur oid a., having the form or characters of an ichthyosaurus

1854 HOOKER Himal. Trans. I. 79 With his ichthyosaurian snout raised high above the water

‖Ichthyosis (ɪkθɪǫ·sĭs Path. [mod medical L. (William Perfect, 1791) f. Gr ἰχθύ-ς fish + -OSIS.] More etymologically called by Good (Study Med. 1822 IV. 697) ichthyic state (of elephantiasis), names in -osis being properly verbal sbs., from Gr. verbs in -οω.] A congenital disease of the skin in which the epidermis becomes thickened and assumes a dry and horny appearance (Also called fish-skin disease and porcupine disease)

1815 R. PEARMAN Delin. Cutaneous Dis. Pref. 5 Admitting the disease Ichthyosis 1864 W. H. ROBERTS in Holmes's Syst. Surg. II. 1 Ichthyosis is of two kinds, epithelial and sebaceous 1876 DUNGLISON Dict. Med. 351 Ichthyosis is a congenital, chronic, hypertrophic disease characterized by dryness and harsh state of the skin the formation of scales, and a variable amount of papillary growth 1878 HARLESTON Dis. Abdomen 17 The morbid growth of epithelium gives rise to an appearance which has been called 'ichthyosis of the tongue.'

Hence Ichthyotic (ɪkθɪǫ·tɪk) a., subject to or affected with ichthyosis

1878 DURKING Dis. Skin 346 Ichthyotic persons are noted to perspire but very slightly 1878 Lancet Jrnl. Surg. I. 52. An ichthyotic tongue

-ician (ĭ·ʃăn), a compound suffix, in I. -ician, consisting of -IAN (ME and F. -ien), added to names of arts or sciences in I. -ia, F. -ie, Eng. -y, to denote a person skilled in the art or science, e. g. arithmetic-ian, logic-ian, magic-ian, music-ian, physic-ian, rhetoric-ian, mathematic-ian, mechanic-ian, optic-ian, politic-ian, statistic-ian, tactic-ian, sometimes formed by analogy on names not ending in -y, (though these may be from an adj. in -ic), as grammatic-ian, dialectic-ian, geometric-ian, Hebraic-ian (cf. also patrician, f. L. patricius)

The termination goes back to -ianus in Of. (where it was merely a case of the word-suffix -ien in astrologe-ien, astronomi-ien) thus -ianus, physicianus, -ianus (cf. -ianus in astronomianus) thus -ianus, *physician ce ickel, 6 7 yscle, isskle, isicle, 7 ycicle, ckle, iskokle, icoycle, -icle, 7–8 isocle, 8 eicle β 6 7 ice sickle, 7 -scle, -skokel, seskel γ 4 ise-yokel, Sc and dial 6 isch(e, mo ice schokkill (pl -schokilis), 7 ice-shokle, 8 shogle, 9 shockle, -shoggle, -shoglin, -shog, shackle [OE type is-gicel* (or which is actually ound ises gicel), f IS ICE + gicel ICICLE, corresp to dLis- isgikel (Lis- ? yskel, yskel, askel, Lkisa yskel), Du ijsjokkel, dial naegle (but the sound ?i word is istap), Norw istakel. In English the econd element has retained an independent stress nly in some corrupt dialect forms, but the word vas app sometimes pronounced as a compound in the 7th c. Of the dialect y-forms, the ME ice yokel orresponds to several continental forms with gekel instead of kekle, perhaps the ice schokle, sesh schokle orms are to be referred to an earlier ish-yokel type. Hence arose further corruptions, ice-shackle, shoggle, etc, and the second element came to be ecognized as the word in Sc, see SHOCKLE, SHOGGLE.]

1 A pendent ice-formation resembling a tod tapering downward to a point, produced by the freezing of successive drops of water falling or trickling rom the point of attachment, as from the eaves of house or other overhanging point

a 1000 Ætteth Gloss in Wr Wülcker 117/14 Stiria, stil sudra, isegn of is Cant 132 Glutz unde fo ls ycrd pe colde hanne renneth & hengeð hege ouer his eue in hund ȝ seckkles 1377 LANGL P Pl B XIII 2 7 ckles for reyseokel, Cryskles, (seckel) in eue es, ne is of be sonne Mcheth in a mynut while in ȝ ow tte 1483 Cath Angl 198/1 An Ickelle, Ysekykle, is tunc dicitur 1579 SPENSER Sheph Cal Jan 36 Whos rops in drery yscles teeme 1644 CAVE Spirit Prayer II 19 Th boughs of a great tree loaded with Ickles 1728 WOODWARD Foss 148 Pieces of Stone, resembling Salt which cover'd like Icicles, as tho. Water drops from the Icicle 1850 TENNYSON In Mem lxxi 3 Lines of snow from thick long icicles depended 1887 R BUCHANAN Heir of Linne vii The girl was cold as an icicle

β 1514 BARCLAY Cyt & Flondishm (Percy Soc) 4 The mgs yse sykles at the hewse's ende 1598 FLORIO, Ghiaccio Ice sickles, dropping ises 1605 TIMME Quersit (1636) 155 ons, ended into ice sickels 1632 SHERWOOD, Ice seekles cuttis gelées 1680 Baron Stilling Mist's Jrnl 28 Wesc but Icesickles wc hangings on the Eaves of the Parliament ouse at this Motion

γ 1377 [see a] 1480 HUNTINGDON Stat Cr (1901) 10 he ice schokkis that fro his hus hang, Was wonder out, and as one spear dis lang 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis vii ord 62 cruel ysch schokkis ling as any spear 1630 DRAYTON I Robert Poems, Wks 1748 I 1 Amongst the rest his fifth up his crested head His locks ice ice shockles his rows are some 1721 BAILEY Hibernicus 68 A. Ibid eshogles hummer red Guids on the studdy 1808 JAMIESON Scots Wds I 88 Jam) But wi' poortith, hearts hae as a under Wilt o'ice, an ice hogle, nane 1845 BROCKETT Gloss, Ice-hogle, Ice-shogle 1888 Cornh Mag Jan 36 Long Dial, Ice-shakkle 1855 JAMESON Bells Glass Ice Shaglins or Ickles

δ 1 2 Ilunca in Dasy Nereus (Ib 82) 2 Ice 6 h. Thope and don't make yourself unhappy about her She is really unable 1822 IMOGEN Perseverance II 240 Must I turn an icicle?

2 transf A formation resembling an icicle, esp in a stalactite 1644 DUGD Nat Hist Cave 164 (D.) Allom falleth down in lumps Subjecture in long icicles 1695 WOODWARD Nat Hist Earth 117 2 122 The Spurry Stone, or Icycles called Stalactites, the Native Juice Icycles, or Salt Stalactites 1792 Massachusetts Mag Nov Some of these tiny icicles have at length reached the bottom of the cave.

b In coll.-shaped or tubular crystal

1704 J HARRIS Lex Techn Spare is an imitative Mass of cubes regularly figured Ibid, The several Points of each many Icicles of Snow Ibid, The Icicles of Urine 1725 Ann mirabilis Incurn Mem II 41 pay Bones are mostly concreted into Globules or Icicles 1737 BRACKEN Farriery impr (1757) II 242 The Icicles of Nitre, if may so call them

c In Heraldry &c, see quots

1830 ROBSON Brit Herald 1 Ickles, Icicles depicted in shape s gutt-es, but received some authors call them clubs

3 Comb as icicle-like adj

1849 [see 1] 1869 Daily News IV 1189 4 Descending in ick-like proje tions

Icicled (ai·sik'ld), a [f prec + -ED2] Overung with icicles, also + frozen, congealed

a 1640 Day Parl Bees IX, My blood's not bold with exes nor Icicled with Frosts, as Aristotle could 1692 BENTLEY Boyle xiii 310 When quivering winters dress s naked with hoary tresse 1806 F RUSHTON Joans 29 he thrush from the icicled bough Ceases his song to the utiful sky. 1882 PAUL Princ Lang, Still Willoughby ir Grim beards of icicled crystals

Icily (ai·sili), adv [f ICY a + -LY 2] In an icy anner, coldly, freezingly Also fig

1848 J BROWN Rab and his Friends 1858 4 I shrunk ily into myself, like a snail 1866 Mrs CARLYLE Lett Dau I 202 A tone which is meant to be icily indifferent 1878 Bowen Carthage 2 0 The wind blew icily cold

Iciness (ai·sinės) [f ICY + -NESS] The quality of being icy extreme coldness Chiefly fig

1579 TOMSON Plain Ke ogst Part 1 XXVII 361 A colde ine se of sorrowe and repentaunce a 1652 J SMITH Sel Dis III 172 Love enough to thaw all the Icyness of men's arts which self-love had quite frozen up 1814 BERRY Rural Econ II 261 In brow the chimp ning heat disappe brew the sickening iciness of the cold dew 1883 Contemp Rev LXIII 238 A most distressing and depressing iciness of ine and manner

Icing (ai·sing), vbl sb [f ICE v + -ING1]

1 The process of encrusting or adorning with crystallizations of sugar, cover an incrustation of white or coloured sugar applied in various ways to the surface of cakes, pastry, etc

1769 MRS RAFFALD Eng Housekpr (1778) 244 Tarts that are iced require a slow oven, or the icing will be brown 1774 WARTON Hist Eng Poetry III (1840) III 396 The splendid icing of an immense historic plum cake 1845 ELIZA ACTON Mod Cookery (ed 2) 335 When a whiter icing is preferred, the pastry must be drawn from the oven and brushed with white of egg then well covered with sifted sugar

2 The process of cooling by means of ice

1839 M DONOVAN Dom Econ II 378 Some kinds of bad port wine are improved by icing 1864 SALA in Daily Tel 20 July Champagne—which, for all its deceptive icing, is a very heating wine

3 Icing down the process of becoming covered with ice Naut

1881 Nares Seamanship's Log of Capt I ix 452 It is such a mist that causes the ice, down of the rigging of vessels the tackling of the Vegetable covered with pieces of ice so large, and layers so thick, that accidents might have happened by the filling of the ice on the deck

Icinge see ICESSING

Icing glass, obs form of ISINGLASS

-icity (i·sĭti), a compound suffix, a f -ic + -ity, -icitat-em (nom -icitas), formed by the addition of the suffix -tāt- see -TY) to adj stems in -ic- as iusticitās, iubricitās, Iustic-us, lubric-us On the analogy of these (perh also influenced by obs like simplicitās, filicitās from simplex, felix), abstract sbs in -icite in Fr and -icity in Eng are formed directly upon adjs of any origin in -ic as apostolicity, atomicity, authenticity, catholicity, domesticity, eccentricity, elasticity, electricity, publicity

Icker (i·kəɹ) Sc forms 6 eoker, -ir, 8 ickor [The Sc form of FAR *sb*2, repr the ONorthumb form ekes, ikher] An ear of corn

1513 DOUGLAS Æneis VII Prol 69 Ane ickor of quheit 1553 richers] of corn thik growing dowbing On Hermy fields 1785 BURNS To a Mouse II A daimen icker in a thrave 's a sma' request

Ickle (i·k'l) Obs exc dial Forms a ikeolle, e, xicel, 4 ykelle, ykyl, ykelyl, 7 icle, 8 ickel, 6 ickle β 5 ykele See also IDDLE [OE gicel gicel*, gicelc, cognate with ON jokull ickle, ice, glacier (mod Icel jokull glacier, Norw dial jukul, jukul, jøl ickle) + OLett typs ledus, ledains, OLitt ledus, ledaine, ledutis, ledutė, Gr ἔγκελος Nerita a yskyll 1570 LEVINS Manip 125 Ickles stirre 1696 HOLLOWAY Phil Trans XI 366 From the roof of which hanging lumps of petrified water, like Ickles, those Ickles are good Limestone a 1687 COTTON Jour of Mariage 14 Be he constant as the Ickle, & what first, or be she ickle 1858 Carlton Dial, Ickles, icicles, water ickles, stalactites 1868 ATKINSON Cleveland Gloss, Ickles, icicles

Ickle, ickwell see HICKWELL

I-clad, ARCH pa pple of CLAD v I-cladd, -cladded, -clad pa pple of CLADDE I-clesped, i-clipped, etc, ME pa pple of CLEPE v see YCLEPT I-closed, of CLOSE v I-clothed, of CLOTHE v I-clumben, of CLIMB v I-clunge(n, of CLING v I-clypt, -clupt, of CLIP *v*1 I-cnawen, i-cnowen, of KNOW v, see also YKNOW I-cnoulecche see KNOWLEDGE v I-coat, MI pa pple of KNIT v I-cnutte see I-KNIT v

I Icod (ai·kŏd), int Obs [A variant of ECOD, in origin the same as I CAD AC AD] An unascertained

1697 VANBRUGH Relapse II 1 Lod, I don't care how often I'm married 1740 BUTLER Fond Jemmy VIII 191, Lod! I'm now two or three thousand pounds richer Bystander 343 Icod, Sir, the lock stains has conveyed him to the cellar

I-coden, ME pa pple of COME v

Icon (ai·kŏn, ai·kən) Also ikon, eikon. [a late L icōn (Pliny), ad Gr εἰκών, εἰκον- like ness, image, portrait, semblance, similitude, simile, f εἰκ-ω* to be like]

†1 An image, figure, or representation, a portrait, a picture, 'cut', or illustration in a book; esp applied to the 'figures' of animals, plants, etc in books of Natural History Obs

1578 BANSLEY Treasurie 218, The Icon or forme of the same birde, I haue caused thus to bee figured 1611 SPEED Hist Gt Brit IX 838 The two first enduing Icones or Portraitures 1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep V xvii 238 He is set forth in the Icones or Cuts of Mathias by Cavallerius 1720 SALMON (title) Botanologia ... he usefully adorned with exquisite Icons or Figures of the most considerable Species 1727 SWITZER Pract Gardiner II xxvii 143 The same that the Herbals have left both the icons and description of

b An image in the solid, a monumental figure, a statue

1577–87 HOLINSHED Chron (1807–8) II 147 The pope ment by cau ing such icons to be erected, to prefer Thomas as a perpetual saint to all posterities 1598 STOW Hen III Annales (ed 2) 225 Returne him in pure gold to the Icon of an Elephant, Cammell, or Dromedary 1805 Athenæum 4 Apr 445 Otto of Brunswick in Hildesheim Church whose monumental icon is figured here Ibid, The monumental statues of Queen Eleanor of Castile wear the wimple exactly as this icon of Ingeborg wears it.

2 Eastern Church A representation of some sacred personage, in painting, bas-relief, or mosaic, itself regarded as sacred, and honoured with a relative worship or adoration

1823 R POCOCKE Russian 227 Behind them were carried six censers, and six sacred icons 1864 W J GREENE Sermon in Eac Tones 428 It is beneath the icon of the Blessed Virgin that women kneel during the office of Churching 1877 D M WALLACE Russia IV 98 Icons are pictorial half length representations of the Saviour, of the Madonna, or of a saint executed in the Byzantine style, on a yellow or gold ground Very often the whole picture with the exception of the face and hands of the figure is covered with a metal shrine or embossed sheet, represent the form of the figure and the drapery 1879 H S EDWARDS Russians at Home I 90 The believer is expressly cautioned to worship such an abuse of the holy eikons

†3 Khol A simile Obs

1589 PUTTENHAM Eng Poesie III xix (Arb) 250 Icon or resemblance by imagerie 1600 URSHAM Dive Tragedies 118 Metaphores are contracted similitudes ... which if the note be added, it is called Icon 1676 HOBBES Iliad To Rdr, The perfection and curiosity of descriptions, which the ancient writers of eloquence call icones, that is images.

4 A realistic representation or description in writing Now rare or Obs

1579 E. K Gloss Spenser's Sheph Cal Feb 102 His tale of the Oake, and the Brier, is very excellent for pleasaunt descriptions, being altogether a certaine Icon or Hypotyposis of disdainfull Youthes 1852 Tait's Mag XIX 592 A good book is perfect when it is a representation of nature and human life

5 Comb icon stand = ICONOSTASIS, q v

† Iconantly pticle, adv Obs [f Gr εἰκόν- ICON + -dnt opposite to -NTE = to the, duck + -ly] Applied to a kind of telescope (see quot) cf DIPLANTIDIAN

1778 Phil Trans LXIX 230 This I selescope is called the Iconantiplus Heliometer, because it produces two images of the objects, the one in a direct position, and the other reversed

I-conferned, ME pa pple of CONFIRM

Iconic (aikp·nik), a Also eiconic [ad late L icōnic-us, ad Gr εἰκονικός (see I) Of or pertaining to an icon, image, figure, or representation, of the nature of a portrait, spec in Art, applied to the ancient portrait statues of victorious athletes commonly dedicated to divinities, and hence to memorial statues and busts executed according to a fixed or conventional type

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr 'Iconic, Eiconic, Imagelike, also lively pictured 1801 FUSELI in Lect Painting 1848 448 Roids figures in metal busts, says Pliny, to be the ornaments of every manacled forum 1850 GROTE Hist Greece (1862) II Legis note, An iconic statue of Hyacinthus in marble at Delphi 1881 E W GOSSE in Encycl Brit XIII 721 In Egypt and Assyria the Royal Academy presents nothing so considerable as Mr Boehm's bust of Mr Gladstone 1882 Athenæum 29 Apr 543 Several busts appeared to be eiconic

b Of or pertaining to an image used in worship

1890 Sat Rev 20 Sept 348 1 Apparatus of the iconic character required by Roman Catholic devotion

Iconical (aikp·nikăl), a rare [f as prec + -AL] Pertaining to an icon, iconic + In quot 1652, of the nature of a simile (see ICON 3), + In quot 1776, consisting, or of the nature of, pictures or pictorial illustrations (see ICON 1)

1652 URQUHART Jewel VIII (1834) 194 Figurative expressions whether parabolical, iconical, symbolical 1776 DA COSTA Elem Conchol 36 (Jod) The work is entirely iconical, or consists only of figures without any letterpress, catchword, alphabet, or number to the pages

† Iconism. Obs [ad late L iconismus, a Gr εἰκονισμός delineation, f εἰκονίζειν to ICONIZE (cf Gr εἰκόνισμα copy, image) A representation by some image or figure, imagery, metaphor

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr 'Iconism, a Picture, and lively delineation 1662 FULLER Chalcogr V Misc Writ (1890) 321 The annexed Iconisme is thus explained 1678 CUD WORTH Intell Syst I iv § 8 15 These in Aristotles judgment, would be fit iconisms or representations of the Physick Nature 1680 H MORE Apocal Apoc 47 A Book which consists of Representations Symbolical or Hieroglyphical, of Iconismes or Images of things future

So † Iconistical a, metaphorical, figurative Hence † Iconistically adv, by a figure

1684 H MORE Answer St 189 Imagining being an Iconisme of Idolatry, that sense is more probable for its being Iconistical, the Genius of the Apocalyptick style being such as to signifie Ironically rather than plainly

† Iconize, v Obs [ad Gr εἰκονίζειν, f εἰκων, εἰκον ICON] trans To form into an image, to figure, to represent

1678 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I iv § 26 572 This world is an image always iconized, or perpetually renewed (as the image in a glass is) of that First, second and third Principle, which are always startling

I-conned, -con'd, obs pa pple of CON *v*1

ICONO-, Gr eikono , combining form of eikōn, N, as in Iconodula †sec DULIA], the worship veneration of images , see Iconoclastic (-klastik.) kŏnŏdă lik), a , Iconodn list, a worshipper erver of images Iconomania (ai kŏnŏmē mā nĭA], a. an infatuated devotion to images, a mania for collecting icons or portraits nophile (ai kŏnŏfail), Iconophilist (-fi list) (phílos loving], a connoisseur of pictures, engravings, book illustrations, and the like, hence no philism, -phily, the taste for these objects noplast (aikp nŏplast) [Gr -plastēs moulder r iconoclast], a fashioner or maker of images

3 W M RAMSAY Ch in Rom Emp xvii 441 The sodoxic tendency was already beginning in the odox Church 1716 M DAVIES Athen Brit II 232 nodoulists or Iconolaters, join'd also with the Monks Fryars 1888-9 Scottish Lloyd Relig Annual II Leo's successor, Michael II again yielded to the odulists, and allowed images worship in private 1690 AULIE Conterb Self Convict 55 All their private heresies it †iconodulty, not idolatrie 1722 J COMBE Ire Cork 295, I must call it †Iconomania, perfect Madness for ge Worship 1779 W COKE in T Granger's Lett 1 332 The Iconomania you talk of is very rife at Cam ge, where we have many collectors 1881 Athenæum ily 145/2 The present day is "iconophiles decoratis blesis], possesses at least the merit of being one of the artists who in France made use of metal as a means of oduction 1888 W J Stillman 19 Feb (Cent.) He acts his customers in kidnomania in iconophilism, in knowledge of art 1884 Sat Rev 29 Mar 400/1 It would been an advantage to the "iconophilist 1804 Athenæum une 780/1 We explain this extraordinary development iconophily by the peculiarities of Egyptian religion fs 1898 I A TOLLEMACHE in Literature 8 Jan 34/2 Puttison] could not be a thorough iconoclast, and yet de himself into thinking that he was if I may con such rdi an iconoplast all the time conoclasm (aikp nŏklaz'm) [f Gr eikōn ICON klāsma breaking, f klān to break after next] ie breaking or destroying of images, esp the runction of images and pictures set up as objects eneration (see ICONOCLAST 1), transf and fig attacking or overthrow of venerated institutions cherished beliefs, regarded as fallacious or ustitious

7 W TAYLOR in Monthly Rev XXIV 512 That vulgar d slam which has estranged until this day the fine arts every Protestant community 1858 J MARTINEAU Ess II 74 The stormy eloquence of Pole, the iconoclasm aumer, the superstitions of the complaining clergy GREEN Short Hist viii § 4 1858 In Edward's time slasm had dashed the stained glass from its windows FARRAR Early Chr II 163 The iconoclasm of the years t such pleas detestable to him conoclast (aikp nŏklest), sb (a) [ad late conoclastēs, a late Gr eikonoklastēs, f eikōn + klastēs breaker Cf F iconoclaste (17th c. Litz Darm.)

A breaker or destroyer of images, spec l Hist) one who took part in or supported movement in the 8th and 9th centuries, to put n the use of images or pictures in religious ship in the Christian churches of the East , e, applied analogously to those Protestants of 16th and 17th centuries who practised or atenanced a similar destruction of images in churches

6 DALRYMPLE in Archæologia Scot V 269 A counsel ne hundred and fifty Bishops holdne at Nice against este of Imagebrekers, thair name Iconoclastæ] 1641 W Jones xxvi 80 So that Pope Gregory the third mmunicate the Emperour Leo, and stamped the name oniclast in his forehead, for breaking downe of Images, Churches 1664 JER TAYLOR Real Pres (1839) 315 nother only one thing objected to this testimony of y bishops, that they were Iconoclasts, or breakers of es, and therefore not to be trusted 1678 CUDWORTH PREFATORY Concept Chr I n 385 This new heresy called that of the Iconoclasts 1814 SOUTHEY in Q Rev X 84 When idolaters turn iconoclasts, they act as if by accident the one excess were to efface or atone for olly of the other 1840 CARLYLE Heroes II (1858) 318 Puritans seem mere savage Iconoclasts fierce fo ers of Forms; but it were more just to call them haters stroy forms. 1882 L C BARKER in A Gray Supplement I 138 He would in the famous iconoclast who ed down all the bronze idols he could lay hold of transf and fig One who assails or attacks ished beliefs or venerated institutions on the and that they are erroneous or pernicious

a 1861 BROWNING Ch Poets (1863) 177 An oclast of their idol rhyme 1866 J MARTINEAU Ess I ant was the great Iconoclast 1874 H R REYNOLDS n Hope viii 324 Respectable people, who, however ir the eaves of the Church, need nothing so much as item iconoclast

attrib or adj Of or relating to iconoclasts, oclastic.

g H MORE Illustration 298 His excommunicating the oclast Emperors 1781 GIBBON Decl & F (1869) VII ote, St John Damascenus was already a monk before Iconoclast dispute 1845 S AUSTIN Ranke's Hist II 25 An iconoclast riot now commenced The images torn from the altars, chopped in pieces and burnt 1847 LINDSAY Chr Art I 108 The Iconoclast reform took e, statues and bas reliefs were banished from the ches of Greece

Iconoclastic (aikpnŏklă stik), a [f prec + -IC] Of or pertaining to iconoclasts or iconoclasm 1640 R BAILIE Canterb Self Convict 53 Iconoclastick and iconomachian heretick 1703 MAUNDRELL Journ Jerusal (1721) 15 In honour of their Iconoclastick principle 1855 MILMAN Lat Chr VII iv (1864) IX 309 The Iconoclastic Emperors found statues to war upon 1867 SMITH Dictionary Bible III 1880 So in their iconoclastic rage they hewed and broke the images of the cathedrals.

Hence Iconocla stically adv, after the fashion of iconoclasts Iconocla sticism, the principles or practice of iconoclasts, iconoclasm

1864 Hare Nazarene App, Iconoclasticism to demolish all it had previously reverted 1885 L OLIPHANT Haifa (1887) 301 Modern iconoclasticism and love of truth have proved too strong for unfounded tradition

†Iconograph (aikpngrafl) Obs rare [ad Gr eikonographos portrait-painter, f eikōn ICON + -graphos writer, painter] = ICONOGRAPHER

1804 Monthly Mag XVIII 391 The Iconographs are those who have published the figures of monuments, but without a detailed explanation

Ico nograph -, [f as prec + -graphos written, graphē writing] A drawing, engraving, or illustration for a book = ICON 1

1884 Nature 4 July 218/2 The illustrations have never been surpassed for their expressive and careful iconographs

Iconographer (aikpngrăfăr) [f as next + -ER] cf Gr eikonographos (see ICONOGRAPHY) One who makes figures or drawings of objects

1888 Athenæum 7 Jan 19/1 The lapidotreal iconographer 1897 Ibid 29 May 692/1 Those gorgeous species beloved by the iconographer and chromo-lithographist

Iconographic (aikpnagrafik, ai kŏnŏ-, a Also ICONOGRAPHICAL [f ICONOGRAPHY, or its source + -IC] Of or pertaining to iconography, representing or describing by pictures, drawings, or engravings, also, pertaining to symbolic representation (cf ICONOLOGY 2)

1855 MAYNE Expos Lex, Iconographic 1861 BARRY Holy Eng Architect v 181 Covering the walls and the cupolas of this vast building with a complete iconographic expose from the pencil of Schraudolph 1877 W JONES Finger-ring Lore 3 Rings, gold and silver, of the iconographic type 1879 SIR G SCOTT Lect Archit I 299 You must study the object and meaning, of everything, whether architectural, plastic, artistic, or simply utilitarian

So Iconogra phical a

1865 WHITE Hist Carmel iii 48 This kind of iconographical ornamentation had been encroaching on the old Arabian style 1880 Academy 17 July 37/2 A magnificently illustrated "Iconographical History of the Orchid

Iconog raphist, rare [f next + -IST] One skilled in iconography 1850 Ecclesiologist X 100 Gerente was an artist, and he was also an iconographist

Iconography (aikpngrăfi) [ad med L iconographia, ad Gr eikonographia sketch, description (Strabo), f eikōn ICON + -graphia writing, GRAPHY Cf F iconographie (1701 in Furetiere)]

†1 concr A pictorial representation, delineation, a drawing or plan Obs

1628 BURTON Anat Mel I II iii ii (1676) Those curious Iconographies of temples and palls 1658 PHILLIPS (ed 4) Iconography is the platform or model of a House.

2 The description or illustration of any subject by means of drawings or figures, any book or work in which this is done, also, the branch of knowledge which deals with the representation of persons or objects by any application of the arts of design

1678 PHILLIPS (ed 4) Iconography, a Description by Cuts, etc 1695 J SERJEANT Pan Ill Invent 219 An elevate moment of Sense, transaction of which no other tive remains to elucidate this imperfect iconography 1851 J MILLINGTON Dalmatia (title) Ecclesiastical Topography, the Fabric of Churches, and Art in the Middle Ages 1874 MRS HEATHCOTE Mod Lay Churchwom 131 The iconography of the altar-cloths 1883 Pall Mall G 20 Sept 4/2 In pursuing the iconographies Couch 'y and Sir Day

Iconolater (aikpnŏlătăr) [f Gr eikōn image, ICON, after idolatēs Cf F iconolatre] A worshipper of images

1624 WOTTON Theorem Theol VI 160 His animated Iconolaters in the East 1722 J COMBE Ire Cork Ch 396 How can the Iconolaters [sic] justify their praying to a Cross or Picture 1844 Mem Jos Smith II 148, 281 Ill Iconolatrous language adopted for the defence of iconolatry

Iconolatry (aikpnŏlătri [f as prec, after idolatry, or ad Gr eikonolatreia Cf F iconolâtrie (Littré).] The worship of images

1624 WOTTON Sacrift Letters 290 Simon Maiolus, a most eagre defender of Iconolatrie 1633 PRYNNE Christianus, Quid 116, 66 Idolatrie and Iconolatrie, that is, Image worship 1722 J COMBE Ire Cork Ch 400 The Schism and Patrons of Iconolatry 1884 Ch Q Rev July 451 I qually removed from the iconoclasm of 754 and the iconolatry of 787

Iconology (aikpnŏ lŏdji) [mod f Gr eikōn, eikono- image see -LOGY Cf Gr eikonologia figurative speaking, whence It iconologia (1611 CESARE RIPA), F iconologie (1636 Baudouin), in titles of collections of pieces of rhetorical imagery (cf quot 1777), but this is distinct from the extant use]

1 That branch of knowledge which deals with the subject of icons (in an sense of the word), also the subject matter of this study, icons collectively, or as objects of investigation, etc

1730-6 BAILEY (folio) Iconology interpretation of ancient Images Monuments and Emblems 1777 G RICHARDSON Iconology, or, a Collection of emblematical figures, moral and instructive, with Explanations from classical Authorities 1808 SIR R PORTER Journ Sk Italy & Sicily (1821) I 348 Professors of mythology and iconology 1851 SIR C PANTALEONI Angel's Sch Paint Italy I 16 The violent version entertained by the Christians for the Iconology of Heathendom kept as a wonderful, equal pace

2. Symbolical representation, symbolism

1849 J R JACKSON Lect Minerals 225 In the language of Iconology, the Diamond is the symbol of constancy, of strength, of innocence, and other heroic virtues 1862 Ecclesiologist XXIII 58 The iconology of these decorations is as follows — Over the chancel arch is the Doom [etc.]

Hence Iconolo gical a (cf or pertaining to iconology Iconolo gist, one versed in iconology.

1851 F J MILLINGTON Dalmatia Chr Iconogr I 369 Jesus, to an Iconologist, is present in the cross as well as in the Lamb, or the Dove 1854 Christ Cab XX 29 This great iconological work

†Ico nomach, Obs rare [ad ecc L Iconomachus, ad Gr eikonomachos, f eikōn ICON + -machos fighting] One who is hostile to images

1552 PUTTOCK Comm Rebel (Parker Soc) 407 They were named Iconomachus, that is overthrowers of images

†Icono machal, a [f as next + ICON -machal (= -machous, -machic)] Hostile to images

1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep V iv 269 We should be too Iconomachall to question the pictures of the winds, as commonly drawne in human heads, and with their cheeks so tended (1658 in OGILBY Virgil, Georgicks, belonging to Images, or after the manner of Images.)

Iconomachy (aikpnŏmăki) [ad ecc L iconomachia, a ecc Gr eikonomachia, f eikōn ICON + -machia fighting] A war against images, hostility or opposition to images, esp to their use in connection with worship

1581 J CARTWRIGHT Confut Rhem Test (1846) I 58 That of Constantinople, was not a generall nor lawfull Councill but a meere one Iconomachy 1650 R SANDERSON Sermons Ded Cathedrals 122 marginal, Anew Iconomachy at Antwerp 1858 MOTLEY Dutch Rep II viii 563 The edicts and decisions of the Netherlands Mod Ref VI 1 1880 Nothing more exacted the indignation of the Prince of Orange than such senseless iconomachy

Hence †Iconoma chian, a †Iconoma chical adjs, practising or advocating iconomachy Ico no machist, one who contends against the cultus of images

1638 MEDE Apost Letters Times xxii Wk II 174 The Iconomachicall Council of Constantinople 1660 JEREMIAH [see ICONOCLASTIC] 1875 J C ROBERTSON Hist Ch VII III 132 An anathema was pronounced again t all opponents of images with curses against iconoclasts and heretics of every kind

Iconomatic aikpnŏmæ tik a Also ikon (contr for ikononomatic f Gr eikōn, eikono ICON + onoma, onomat- name + -IC] A word proposed to describe a stage intermediate between picture-writing and phonetic writing, in which pictures or representations of objects stand not for the objects themselves, but for their names considered merely as phonetic elements, as in a pictorial rebus, or the use made by the Chinese of the sounds of their characters to express the sound of a foreign word

Hence Iconoma tically adv, Iconoma ticism, Iconomatic graphy

1886 D G BRINTON Lec Ancient Mexico 97 § We have, so far as I am aware no scientific term to express this mixture of phonetic writing and I propose for it hereafter the adjective iconomatic, from the Greek eikon, a figure or image, and onoma name, a writing, by means of the names of the figures or images represented The corresponding noun would be iconomatography 1887 Nat Amer 21 An Iconomatic writing occupies an intermediate position in reading, in some sense as much phonetic as picture writing Ibid, How complete a system of iconomaticism the Egyptian and Chinese writing] passed through is unknown 1895 HOUGHTON Origin Writing (unpaginated)

†Iconomicar Obs rare [erroneously f Gr oikonomikos, f oikonomia Cf ECONOMIC] + -AR] A writer on husbandry

1523 SKELTON Crt Fame 328 I studus, the economicar And Homerus, the fecundi Virgilius

‖Iconostasis aikŏnŏ stăsis Eastern Church [ecc L, a ecc Gr eikonostasis, f eikōn ICON + stasis standing, position, station] The screen which separates the sanctuary or "bema from the main body of the church and on which the icons or sacred pictures are placed

1833 R PASHLEY Travels 211 The priest performs the worshippers, the iconostases, and the altar 1849 CURZON Visits Monast 291 The iconostasis or screen before the altar is most beautifully carved 1890 Guardian 18 June 970/1 The iconostasis is of white marble, on which, some 12 ft from the ground (to avoid dangers of iconolatry), are the pictures. 1899 A H Hore Gk Church 41 The Icono stasis or Iconstand, with the lighted tapers in front of it, is the most prominent object ... On it Icons of our Saviour, the Virgin, the Apostles, and Saints are always painted.

Iconymus obs form of Cecronymus

I-corn-, i-corn, Mt pa pples of Choose, Lose etc ?

I-corve(n, of Carve ?

Icos-, icosa-, icosi-, repr Gr combining forms of eikosi twenty, used in Eng in several technical terms (see below), also in Icosacolic (*eikosakō*lik) a Inc Pros [Gr eikosakōlon os, ? κῶλον member, clause, COLON], consisting of twenty cola, or members Icosasemic (*eikosā*se mik) a Inc Pros [Gr σῆμα mark, σημεῖον mark, moral], consisting of or containing twenty more or units of time, i.e. the equivalent of twenty short syllables. Icosian (*aikō*sian) a, of or pertaining to twenty

† Icosaeder Obs [a F icosaedre c1587 ad late l. icosaedron see next] = next

1656 Stanley Hist Philos v (1701) 186/1 The Icosaeder [consist] of twenty like sided

Icosahedron (aikōsăhī drŏn, -he *dr*ŏn) Geom Also 6–8 icosaedron, 6–9 icosahedron, 7 eicosaedrum, 8 eicosihedron [a Gr eikosaedros, neut of eikosaedros f eikosi twenty + -edros -SEAT, base] A solid contained by twenty plane faces, esp the regular icosahedron, contained by twenty equal equilateral triangles

1570 Billingsley Euclid XIII xvi 411 The opposite sides of an Icosaedron are parallels 1571 Digges Pantom ii def xvi Hyb, Icosaedron mayre Icosaedrum 1655-87 H More Opp Antid (1712) 183 There are Five regular Bodies the Cube, the Tetraedrum the Octaedrum, the Dodecahedrum, and the Icosaedrum 1788 Hutton Intr Pneumat 158 Five regular solid figures the tetrahedron and the icosahedron 1881 Routledge Nature 25 In each element Plato supposes a geometrical solid to exist, the cube to be the pyramid to air, the octahedron to water, the icosahedron

Hence Icosahedral a of the form of an icosahedron, having twenty faces

1828 in Webster 1855 Mayne Expos Lex, Icosahedral

‖ Icosandria (*aikōsa*ndriă) Bot [mod L (Linnæus 1735), f Gr eikosi twenty + ἀνήρ, ἀνδρ- man, male, taken as = 'stamen'] The twelfth class in the Linnean Sexual System, containing plants with 20 or more stamens inserted on the calyx

1753 Chambers Cycl Supp, Icosandria Of this class are the torch thistle, the myrtle the storax, the almond &c 1794 Martyn Rousseau's Bot xx 89 The situation of the stamens, which in the class Icosandria, is either on the calyx or corolla

Hence Icosandrian (F icosandrie), a plant of the class Icosandria, Icosandrian, Icosandrous adjs belonging to the class Icosandria

1828 Webster Icosandr, Icosandrian 1836 Penny Cycl V 234/1 Icosandrous 1880 Gray Struct Bot xi § 6 240 Icosandrous when a poly androus flower has the stamens inserted on the calyx

Icosido decahe dron, Geom [f Gr eikosi twenty + δεκάεδρον twelve + -έδρον -SEDE, base] A solid contained by twenty equilateral triangles and twelve regular pentagons, formed by replacing the twelve solid angles of the regular Icosahedron by planes corresponding to the faces of a regular dodecahedron

1570 Billingsley Euclid App def ii 452

Icosite trahedron, Geom and Cryst [f Gr eikosi twenty + τετρα four + -έδρον -SEDE, base (cf Tetrahedron)] A solid figure contained by twenty four plane faces, esp a form contained by twenty four equal symmetrical trapeziums or deltoids, also called deltohedron or trapezohedron

1813 Brewster Optics xxii 284 The most common form of the analcime is the solid called the trapezoidal dodecahedron, which is bounded by twenty four equal and similar trapezia 1879 Rutley Stud Rocks xxiii 282 The minerals of this group crystallise in the cubic system, the common forms being either the rhombic dodecahedron or the icositetrahedron

Icositetrahe droid

1880 Nature 30 Oct 624 Four dimensional space may be built up with 16 cubic tesseracts

I-coupled, -cupled, Mt pa pple of Couple ? Icre, error for dure, Dicker see List of Specimens II 1016 ?

† I-creonted, ppl a Obs [f ML (ex)ecre-are, Cross] Crossed, signed with the cross

a 1225 Ancr R 18 Cuscð be ecrde ȝe crossed mid te bume

I-cried, Mt pa pple of Cry v Icristned, of Christen v ? I-croked, of Crook v I-cromet, of Cram v ? I-cruned, of Crown v

-icse, suffix see -ICE 2

Icterice (*ikte*rĭk), a and sb [ad L ictericus, f Gr ικτερικός jaundiced, f ἴκτερος (see Icterus) + -ικός -IC] = Icteric (13th c in Hatz Darm)

A adj

1 Belonging to, of the nature of, or affected with jaundice, jaundiced (Sometimes referring to the yellow tint of the skin in that disease, or to the jaundiced eyes which see all things yellow)

a 1600 J Melville Diary (1842) 14 He died anno 1575 unan ickenk fevar 1684 tr Bonet's Merc Compit III 96 That sort of Collack passion, which I think may be called an Icterick Looseness 1799 M Underwood Treat Dis Childr (ed 4) I 29 note, An infant ... whose finger nails were of as deep a yellow as in any icteric adult 1804 Anna Seward Lett (1811) VI 241 Icteric vision 1822–34 Good's Study Med (ed 4) I 334 note, The icteric tint of the skin seems to be merely the result of an effusion of blood

b Used for the cure of jaundice

1710 T Fuller Pharm Extemp 14 Icteric Ale cureth Icteric Persons

2 Icteric Oriole = North American bird (Icterus vulgaris), having black and yellow plumage, with white spots on the wings, also called troopial

1802 Bingley Anim Biog (1813) II 114 The Icteric Oriole is, in size, somewhat smaller than a blackbird 1816 Kirby & Sp Entomol (1843) I 444 The icteric oriole is kept by the Americans in their houses for the sake of clearing them of insects

B sb 1 A person affected with jaundice

1684 W Hope Balance Ital (Vol I) 24 They resemble the Ictericks, who having the Jaundice in their Eyes, see nothing, which seemeth not unto them to carry the same yellow tint 1684 tr Bonet's Merc Compit 314 When an Icterick was let blood, it appeared all yellow

2 A medicine for the cure of jaundice

1707 Smith Gentlem 111 vi, Administer to each of them Icterics, Bezoardicks, cephalalgics, ictarics

Icte rical, a [f as prec + -AL] = prec A 1

1694 Jer Taylor Gt Exemp II Add § 12 51 Our under standing is either to be lodged in the body, being like ictterical eyes to transmute, the species to the object with colours of their own framing 1697 Evelyn Numism iv 210 Icterical Symptoms 1799 Med Journ XI 197 Jaundi ced and icterical symptoms 1822–34 Good's Study Med (ed 4) II 30 A tedious icterical marasmus.

b transf Tinged with yellow

1654 Vilvain Theol Mor 111 viii 111 His Diamond was of no spotlesse and sparkling Water the Dove was Ictterical, as if he had descended of the house of the Hyen, or that his Nurse had given him to suckle with Saffron

Hence Icte ricalness Bailey vol II 1727

† Icte ricose, Obs rare [ad med L ictericus (in Wr Wülcker, f. ictericus = Gr ἴκτερος jaundice Cf sp ictericoso] Jaundice

1634 R H Salernes Regim 205 It removeth a stopping matter in the mouth of the stomach

Icterine (ĭktĕrain) a Zool [f Icter + -INE] a Yellowish, esp having yellow scales or plumage b Belonging to the family Icteridæ or sub-family Icterinæ of American passerine birds (typical genus Icterus see Icteric A 2)

1855 Baird Rep Explor Mexico, yellow, or yellow ish as the Oporornis virens icterine 1884 Ibis 111 Nos Cxlv, An icterine warbler (Hypolais icterina) killed at Norfolk

† Icterism Obs rare [f Gr ἴκτερος jaundice + -ISM] Jaundice

1660 Stillingfl Iren 11 v § 1 (1662) 201 Which prejudice being, like the Jaundice of the soul, leaves such a tincture upon the eyes of the understanding, that till it be cured of it, it cannot discern things in their proper colours

1662 Trig Saer III i § 14 Those who have an Icterism in their eyes

Ictertious (*ĭktē*rĭŏs), a [f med (and mod) L icterit-a jaundice + -OUS] Jaundiced, also fig

1699 Br W Barlow Inave Nonnihes Cath 323 His gall cast flowes, and hee mixes wodie it by his pen in his Icterit tious Pamphlet 1684 tr Bonet's Merc Compit IX 316 The Ictericous dyscrasie of the blood 1822–34 Good's Study Med (ed 4) I 340 Absence of acteritious symptoms

Icterode (ĭktĕrōd), a [ad Gr ἰκτερώδης jaundiced] = next, ? a

1861 I Cabman Pract Med 463 A continuance of the ictterode appearance

Icterod (ĭktĕrod), a [f Gr ἴκτερος jaundice + -OID] a Resembling or characteristic of jaundice b (See quot 1897)

1855 in Maine Expos Lex 1876 Bartholow Mat Med (1879) 244 The skin assumes an icterod hue 1897 Daily Chron 9 June 5/1 Doctors Sauvelli declared the cause of yellow fever to be a bacillus, named by him icterod

Icterus (ĭktĕrŭs) [L, a Gr ἴκτερος jaundice, also, a yellowish green bird, by looking at which jaundiced persons were supposed to be cured]

1 Path The disease jaundice

1706 Phillips (ed Kersey), Icterus, the Jaundice. 1802 Med Jrnl VIII 140 Intention acting upon the hepatic system in the case of icterus 1886 Lancet 11 May 947/2 [He] pointed out that diabetes was not a disease, but a symptom like icterus

b Bot A disease of plants in which the leaves turn yellow

1807 Edin Ann VI 83 To the natural decay of the leaves in autumn he has given the name of Icterus] 1866 Treas Bot, Icterus, a name given to the yellow condition assumed by wh at and some other plants, under the influence of prolonged wet and cold The golden hues of autumn belong, chiefly to another category

2 Zool a A genus of American passerine birds, formerly nearly coextensive with the modern family Icteridæ now restricted to the American orioles or troupials, a typical species being the troopial or icteric oriole, f. vulgaris see Icteric A 2)

1713 Derham Phys Theol (1730) II 29 note, The nest of the Guira tanguima, the Icterus minor, and the Jupujuba, or whatever other name the American Hang nests may be called by

Ictio (*i*ktĭk), a. rare [irreg. f L. ictus (stem see Ictus) + -IC]

1 Of the nature of a blow or stroke, abrupt and sudden in its action

1847 Bushnell Chr Nurt iv (1861) 116 An abrupt, ictic grace 1898 — Serm New Life 182 A naked, ictic force

2. Pros Pertaining to or due to the ictus or metrical stress

1898 E W Hopkins in Amer Jrnl Philol XIX 21 Dahlmann thinks it was an ictic conversion

Ictuate (*i*ktĭuēt), v. rare [f L. ictus ictus + -ATE1] trans To put the ictus on, to stress.

1820 Tate in Parr's Wks (1828) VIII 256 Closing a sentence of fury with the dimeter ictuated on the last syllable

‖ Ictus (*i*ktŭs), [L, = blow, stroke, thrust, f ic-ere to strike, hit, smite]

1 Pros Stress on a particular syllable of a foot or verse, rhythmical or metrical stress

1752 Newton Vote Milton's P R 157, I think the ictus falls better in the common reading 1784 B Heath Anal Gr Metres (1823) 3 In the Iambus and Trochee, the Arsis or Ictus is invariable, being upon the long syllable of each 1871 Farll Philol Eng Tongue § 691 It can hardly be a good line wherein this word [one], standing as an indefinite, pronoun, receives the ictus of the metre

2 Med a The beat of the pulse b Ictus solis (I a) sunstroke

1707 Floyer Physic Pulse Watch 153 The Pulse is most properly considered in its Ictus, which shews the Vigor of spirits, and the Intervallum which shews the Heat of the Blood 1811 Hooper Med Dict, Ictus, a stroke, or blow Hence ictus solis means a stroke of the sun

I-cud see Ykud, known, renowned

I-cume(n, Me pa pple of Come v

I-cunde, sb Obs Also i-kunde. [ME i-cunde (u), Of geȝynd, f cynd nature, Kind sb]

1 Nature, kind

971 Blickl Hom 33 He was on anum hade tuegra ȝe cynda = 1000 Guthlac 44 Waestma ȝecyndu = 1175 Lamb Hom 77 Nawiht efter flesches wille, ne efter ikkemes ikunde Ibid 149 Þet þridde ikunde þet god hauede in ow þriolt of sulc and of lif ine. a 1250 Owl & Night 113 Swa ȝeȝ me hwo haveþ þis ido Ou nas never kunde þar to

2 Inheritance, native land

1205 Lay 2909 Iulius Cesar halt her ower kunde. Ibid 11199 He cleopede to Brutlonde þet hit wes his kunde

† I-cunde, a Obs [ME i-cu, OE gecynde, f cynde innate, natural, Kinde a] Natural, native

1205 Lay 29049 Iulius Cesar ... wes king ouer al þan in Wr Wülcker 1808 Ishoma, proprietas linguæ, agen uel ȝecynde spræc 1205 Lay 22165 Asþ us ure kunde lond 1275 O L Misc 56 Eurrych þer vnderstod his kunde speche

Hence † I-cu ndelich adv, naturally a 1275 Lamb Hom 99 An kud is ycundelich on þeom Hælan a 1250 Owl & Night 14.4 Heo stumpeþ and falþ icundeliche

I-cunned, ME pa pple of Can, Con v

† I-cusse, v Obs Pa pple I-oust [ML icuss-a, (u), OF ȝeqyssan = ȝiskussen, ? cyssan to Kiss] To kiss (animals)

c 1205 Lay 30042 Pas kinges wel domen and hine heom icusseden

I-cwome, var of I quome and ? I-cwothen, i-cwoðen, ME pa pple of Quelath, I quethe v

Icy (*ai*sĭ), a Forms [1 isiȝ], 5 isy, 6 iesie, 6–7 ioie, yeie, 7 ioey, 7– icy [f Ice sb + -Y Cf Du ijzig, Ger eisig, Sw isig Used in OE, but formed anew in the 15th c.]

1 Abounding in, or characterized by the presence of, ice, covered or overlaid with ice (Incorrect) (Z) 33 Þæt æt hyðe stodan stefnas isiȝ & nifus a 1000 Leech Medic xxiv 45 Naþinnus is se cealda call þæg tunȝel] 1494 Fabian Chron vii 431 When Saturn with his colde icy face The ground with frosty turnyth the grene to white 1597 Middleton Hurd Solomon v 6 Winter in her icy car 1643 Sir J Denham Relig Medi 1 § 22 The Sun Over whose Back, Heat throws Flakes, with the heat of the Celestial coale 1796 H Hunter tr St Pierre's Stud Nat (1799) II 112 The flowers of the Icy Zones 1848 Dickens Dombey xxiii, Those who shall lie out first upon the yards to furl the icy sails.

2 Composed or consisting of ice Icy mountains or hills, icebergs (obs)

1600 Harleian Voy III 19 Stemming against the stream and beating amongst the Ice mountaines. 1699 D Pell Impr Sea 376 A sight of those huge Icy Mountains which make such a clashing and crashing one against another 1704 tr See Tale Icy II (1711) 29 In the Clifts of the Icy hills on shoar 1819 Hekra Hymns, From Greenland's icy mountains, From India's coral strand 1820 Scoresby Arctic Reg I 105 The icy cliff, from whence masses were continually breaking 1856 Kane Arct Expl I xxv 258 Huge icy stalactites seventy and a hundred feet long

3 Resembling ice, having the nature or properties of ice, extremely cold, frosty, slippery

1590 Barrough Methi Physick v xvi 306 Sprinkle the pauements dayly with water that is altogether yeie, and cold 1598 Florio, Sdrucciolo, slipperie, sliding, ice 1640 C Harvey Journey 26 We scramble to get up the banks Of icy honour 1706 Phillips (ed Kersey), Butter of Antimony, which some call Icy Oil of Antimony is a great Caustick, being used to eat proud Flesh 1732 Berkeley Ilciphr II § 26 What creates a love for icy lignors? 1784 Cowper Task VI 137 Be icy touch Of unprolific winter 1806 Law Times LXXX 195/1 An icy current was blowing about their feet

b fig Of demeanour, character, speech, etc

1594 Shake Kath III, iii. 177 If he be leuden, you cold, swalling, He thun so too 1638 Drumm of Hawth Irem Wks (1711) 168 An icy grandeur, ere cited by you selves 1713 Lyric Wincheska Hen Poems 351 The sooty Winters that have turn'd swift eager Love to icy Reasons. 1882a Miss Brandon At Royal III i. 23 He came and he is dead, answered Chrisabel, in icy tones.

4 Comb., as icy blue, cold, icy pearled (having pearls or sparkling drops of ice), icy wheeled

c 1665 Mutton Death of Our Infant iv, Mounting up in icy pearled car 1692-7 Hayter Examen, 249 The Island which in times of old the Greeks did call Hiberna, cyze cold 1812 W Lennart Instes I i. 12 John from Bridge thro' mud are his chaise, icy wheel'd 1839 Bailey Festus (1848) 218 Clear, cold, and icy blue like Vesa eagle's eye

Id (id) Biol [Formed in German (1891) by Weismann see first quot] In Weismann's theory of heredity A unit of germ-plasm or idioplasm

1893 tr Weismann's Germ Plasm i. 69 We are led to the assumption of groups composed of determinants, which in their turn are made up of biophors These are the units which I formulated long ago as to which the name of ancestral germ plasm is often given I shall now speak of them as 'ids', a term which recalls the 'idioplasm of Nägeli 1893 H Haddon in Contemp Rev July 57 Each of the reproductive cells of an organism is supposed to contain in its nucleus a number of 'ids', and each id represents the personality of an ancestral member of the species or of an antecedent species 1895 Vines Text-bk Bot 782 When in hybridisation all the parental ids exert their full influence the offspring is precisely intermediate in character

-id, suffix[1], repr Fr -ide, L -id-us, used to form adjectives, chiefly from verbs with e-stems, as acidus acid, f acere to be sour, avidus avid, fervidus fervid, frigidus frigid, horridus horrid, placidus placid, splendidus splendid, stupidus stupid, etc, etc , but also from a few verbs with i or consonant stems, as fluidus fluid, f fluere to flow, vividus vivid, f vivere to live, and occas from substantives, as fumidus fumid, f fumus smoke, morbidus morbid, f morbus disease, solidus solid, f solum ground, etc. In the earlier Fr words in -id came through Fr , on the analogy of the-se, others have been taken from Latin direct , the suffix is not a living formative in Eng

-id, suffix[2], corresp to F -ide, in sbs derived from Latin sbs in -is, -idis adopted from Greek sbs in -is, -idos such as carotid (of Gr pl karotides), thyroid, hyoid, steroid, pyramid (of F pyramide) This formative occurs in certain botanical terms, as amaryllid, epacrid, orchid (etymologically these should denote the plants amaryllis, epacris, and orchis respectively, but they are actually used to denote a member of the order of which these are the typical genera (Amaryllidew, Epacridew, Orchidew)

-id, suffix[3], in zoological appellatives, sb and adj (a) formed from Latin names of families in -id-æ, pl of -ides, repr Gr -idæs, patronymic suffix son of as Arancid, a member of the family Araneidæ ,b) formed from Latin names of Classes, etc , in -id-a, taken as neut pl of -ides = Gr -idæs as Arachnid a member of the Class Arachnida Some of the terms have come through Fr forms in -ide. See IDAN

-id, suffix[4], an early spelling of the chemical suffix IDE, still retained by some, esp in U S

Idea, obs (erron) form of IDEA

I-daled, i-deled, MF pa pple of DEAL v

I-damned, MF pa pple of DAMN v

-idan, in zoological appellatives, sb and adj , formed on -ID[3] with suffix AN, meaning 'of or pertaining to', or 'a member of' the group designated by the suffix -ida or -ide, as arachnidan (= Arachnida) = arachnid, schneumonidan (Ichneumonidæ) = ichneumonid

Idant (ai dănt Biol [Arbitrarily f ID] One of the chromatin bodies in the nucleus of a repro ductive or other cell, regarded as consisting of 'ids' (see ID)

1893 tr Weismann's Germ Plasm i. 67 Those rod like, loop-like, or granular masses of chromatin in the nucleus considered equivalent to the fusion or aggregation of ids, I have proposed to call idants Ibid in Introd 23 The germ plasm in both nuclei becomes contracted, so as to give rise to nuclear rods or idants the number of these plants is the same in both of the conjugating cells. 1895 Mivart in Harper's Mag Mar 634

Iddyr, obs form of UDDER

Ide[1] (aid) [ad mod L idus, ad Sw id (also idnort)] A cyprinoid fish (Leuciscus idus or Idus melanotus), inhabiting the fresh waters of northern Europe

1839 Yarrell Brit Fishes (1841) I 306 A fine large specimen of the Ide in the Gota Elf 1839 Penny Cyc XIII 455 The Ide (Leuciscus idus, Cuvier), a species which is found in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Russia 1894-6 Owen Last Comp Anat Vertebr viii. 192 The long olfactory nerve in the Eel, the Ide or the Roach. 1894 Century Mag Apr 904/2 The gold orfe or golden ide [is] a fish bred for both ornament and the table

Ide[2], see IDEN

-ide, Chem, a suffix used to form names of simple compounds of an element with another element or a radical It is added to the stem or in abbreviated form of the name, and was first used in ox-ide, Oxyde, Lavoisier, from oxygen, whence it was extended to other elements, sometimes displacing other derivatives in -et previously used, as chloride (formerly chlorate or muriate), nitrogen chloride, hydrogen arsenide, arsenuret

In systematic terminology a compound of oxygen with any other element is called an oxide in other binary compounds it is combined with the more electropositive of the more electro-negative of the two elements thus fluoric, chlorine, bromine, iodine form with each other in order and with any other element or radical except oxygen, fluorides, chlorides, bromides, iodides sulphur, selenium, tellurium form with elements other than these, sulphides, selenides, tellurides and so on Examples are hydrogen chloride, sulphur bi oxide, carbon sulphide, hydrogen selenide, telluride, phosphide, arsenide, cyanide, boron carbide boron hydride, hydrogen hydride ethyl hydride, copper di oxide, carbide, nitride, hydride of metals and organic radicals The suffix is also used in Amide, Anhydride Cyanide Ketone, and other derivatives from names of compound radicals Mono-, di-, tetra-, penta-, etc are prefixed to indicate the number of combining equivalents as in sulphur tri oxide, SO_3 (SO_2, sulphur dioxide SO_2) and so on

1894 Roscoe & Schorlemmer Chem I. 121

Idea (Mod E.), sb [ad L idea Platonic sense, Gr idea look, semblance, form, configuration species, kind, class, sort, nature, in Platonic philosophy) a general or ideal form, type, model, f root id-, ideiv, to see the word being thus analogous in derivation and original sense to L species from specere to see, behold So It, Sp, Pg idea, F idée

The original development of the word took place in Greek, and it was in the developed Platonic sense that the word was first introduced into the modern languages, as in II Other applications of the word however became common by the end of the 16th c see the senses under II and III

I General or ideal form as distinguished from its realization in individuals, archetype, pattern, plan, standard

1 In Platonic philosophy A supposed eternally existing pattern or archetype of any class of things of which the individual things in that class are imperfect copies and from which they derive their existence

1430-1789 [see IDEE] 1563 J Gate Institutions of Christ ii A one mayght thynke hymselfe right happye though he neuer dyd attayne to Aristotles summum bonum, or Plato his idea 1605 Hooker Answer to Mart Prelate v (1701) 184/2 They define Idea an Eternal Example of things which are according to Nature For Idea is with the Platonists a Form existing of it self by it self subsistent, but without figure, and forme unto sh spebese matters, yet such as unto them they do bring the forme into shew and evidence. So cites and Plato suppose, that these Idæ e bse substances separate and distinct from Matter, how long soever, in the thoughts and imaginations of God—that is to say, of Minde and Understanding 1652 Culpeper Magastrum 2 b, Chymericall figments Platonicall Ideas, Cabbalisticall fancies 1656 Stanley Hist Philos v (1701) 184/2 They define Idea an Eternal Example of things which are according to Nature For Idea is with the Platonists a Form existing of it self by it self subsistent, but without figure, and forme unto shew and evidence 1656 Ferrier Inst Metaph vi xxiii 276 Plato had merely succeeded in carrying out cognitions up into certain universal names, certain inferior natures, called by him ideas 1685 W L Davidson Logic of Definition 145 With Plato the Idea is ontological or metaphysical 1 It is both an objective entity the exercise (unexercised and imperishable) and a pattern, model, or archetype or exemplum

2 The conception of anything in its highest perfection or supreme development, a standard of perfection, an ideal (Cf 1) Obs or arch

1586 J B tr La Primaud Fr Acad Ep Ded Aij, Rather an Idea of good life, than such a platforme as may be drawn from contemplation into action 1598 Barckley Cert Life 61 Xenophon in his Cropædia hauing vnder the person of Cyrus framed an idæa or perfect patterne of a ciuell gouernour 1647 Cowley Mistress 87 Four or five, I thought you once as fair, As women in th' Idea are 1682a Sir I Browne Chr Mor i § 28 How widely we are fallen from the pure Idea and first Idea of our Nature 1844 Mrs Browning Drama of Exile Poems 1850 I 71 Thou (Lucifer) shalt be an Idea to all souls whence to work Grander, darker, subtler, more impossible sins

†b A person or thing regarded as perfect in its kind, the ideal realized in an individual Obs

1591 Trenbe Reigne K John ii (1611) 100 Was euer any so vnfortunate, the right Idea of a cursed man? 1602 Campion Rel Vers Wks (Bullen) 27 It is the Idea of her sex Envy of whom doth world perfect 1647 Jackson Creed xii. 8 § 2 Christ was the idea of legal Nazarites 1651 Life Father Sarpi (1676) 65 The most excellent Senate (the very Idea of politick Christian prudence)

3 The conception of a standard or principle to be realized or aimed at, a conception of what is desirable or ought to be, a governing conception or principle, the plan or design according to which something is created or constructed

1581 Sidney Apol Poetrie (Arb) 26 The skil of the Artificer standeth in that Idea or fore conceite of the work 1602 Warner Alb Eng ix lii, Scriptures Idea crouched in our Love to God and men 1667 Milton P L vii 557 To behold this new created World how good, how faire Answering his great Idea 1700 Dryden Fables Ded to II Chaucer by the best idea wrought 1840 Mill Diss & Disc Coleridge (1859) I 428 His mode of investigating what he terms the Idea of it, or what in common phrase would be called the principle involved in it 1842 Myers Catk Ath ii. 18 The ground plan of the Universe the idea according to which it is 1858 Hodgson Time & Sp II 7 The sentence has been restored and becomes the idea of perfect and indictable, all these ingredients but empty the effect

4 In weakened sense A conception or notion of something to be done or carried out, an intention, plan of action

1627 Morrison Itin II 145 You shall also see in your own judgement the exact one Idea I intend, in a thing that you resolved to doe 1644 Milton Educ Wks (1847) 98 That solemnity Idea, which hath long in silence reserved it self to me, of a better edu cation then hath been yet in practise 1770 Burke Corr (1844) I 321 The idea of short parliaments is plausible enough, so is the idea of an election by ballot 1798 Lounger's Misc I 14 If the performance meets with approbation the author has it in idea to publish a second volume 1861 Holland Less Life i. 12 We hear of women who are suddenly seized by an idea, as if it were a coda

†5 A pattern, type, the original of which some thing else is a copy, a preliminary sketch or draft, something in an undeveloped state Obs

1656 Earl Cr Contin 1 Bound to one rule Idæ or first lines traced were drawn many years past in many Academie Studies 1677 Hist Imp 17 This Empire, both, and Colonies, Attributes to Governments and Rules of the great Roman Antichrist 1670-98 Lassels Voy Italy iv The was the first Cupola in Europe and therefore the more admirable for having no Idea after which it was framed 1692 Ray Disput Wisdom (1732) 57 Those Ideas or Embryons may be marred or defaced in the womb

6 Mus A musical theme, phrase, or figure, as conceived or sketched before being worked up in a composition

1880 Grove Dict Mus I 26 [Beethoven's] sketch book of that time are crammed with ideas

II Figure, form, image

†7 A figure, representation, likeness, image, symbol, 'picture' of something Obs

1531 Elyot Gov I xxiii Diane, noted amongest us of an excellent virginite, compacte nothing, in an wonderfull beauty, as the gedes do call them, Idæa, of vertue, and noble qualities 1594 Shake Kath III iv. 111 I did inherit your Lineaments Being the right Idea of your Father both in your forme, and Nobilitease of Minde 1598 Jonson Ev Man in Hum ii iii, Hold up your head: do and let the Idea of what you are, bee portray'd in your face 1634 Sir T Herbert Trav 250 Where a top of high Mount is conspicuously set the Idæa of a horrible Giant deman 1641 Jackson Divine Truth iv. 19 The Idea of a plant [may be made] to appear in a glasse, as if the very plant it selfe were there 1707 Curios in Husb & Gard 178 When a Body is resolv'd into Salts we find again in the Salts extracted from its Ashes, the Idea, the Image and the Phantom of the same Body 1714 Swift Free Th Afairs Wks 1755 II 1 211 A ship's crew quarrelling in a storm is but a faint idea of this fatal infatuation

†8 Figure (as a quality or attribute), conformation, shape, aspect, nature, or character Obs

1594 Blundeville Exerc iii i. (1636) 279 The chief Idea or shape of Gods mind, which hath no other beginning nor ending, and therefore is compared to a Circle 1653 H More Antid Ath iii. 132 Of Ideas and Ideal Figures which though they be not Regular properly so called, yet have a settled Idea and Nature as a Cone Sphere, or Cylinder 1677 Gale Crt Gentiles ii. 1 To demonstrate the vanity of Philosophy from its own essential Idea or Nature 1737 [S Berington] Geo Dicast Pur 198 To return to the Idea of their Government each Father of a Family governs all his Descendants

†c A 'figure' of speech or rhetoric, a form or way of speaking Obs

1642 Milton Apol Smect x, Whether a vehement vein throwing out indignation or scorn upon an object that merit it were amiss, the truest ideas of speech to be all wail

III Mental image, conception mental object

8 An image existing or formed in the mind

†a The mental image or picture of something previously seen or known, and recalled by the memory Obs

1589 Greene Menaphon (Arb) 40 He thinkes the Idea of her person represents it selfe, and obiects to his fantasie 1594 Spenser Amoretti xii Within my hart The Expressive Idee of your celestiall hew remaines immortally 1599 Sanys Europ Spec (1632) 15 Yea the Idea of her shall sweetly creepe into his study of imagination 1662 J Davies tr Olearius' Voy Ambass 226 Much like to comedy view d the Boy, and by that meanes had a perfect Idea of them in his imagination 1749 Fielding Tom Jones viii xi Though I despaired of possessing you I doted still on your charming idea 1764 Foote Mayor of Gt i. 19 Oh Madam, I can never be alone, your sweet idea [pr. ideal idee] will be my constant companion

b More generally A picture or notion of any thing conceived by the mind, a conception

1612 Brinsley Ludi Lit vi (1627) 84 To have an Idæa or generall notion of all in their heads 1616 Pettoraz, Idea, the forme or shape of any thing conceiued in the minde 1651 Hobbes Leviath ii xxxi 190 To say we conceive and imagine, or have an Idea of him [is] 1659 Stanley Hist Philos vi. 370/1 Aphra I shew ye notions of the Mind, and subsist in our Minds as Similitudes and Images of Beings. 1660 J Davies tr Mantelliis Trav 284 Of this place I had heard so much that I had framed to my self a certain Idæa of its greatnesse 1718-74 Pope Rape Lock i 83 Then gay Ideas crowd the vacant brain, While Peers, and Dukes, and all their sweeping train appear 1799 Swiften

Hypnot & Hypnot 136 We require an Idea of Solidity by the Touch 1759 JOHNSON Rasselas xlvii, What specs does the idea of a joy mind occupy more than the idea of a sun-beam? 1857 MASSEY Poet. N. Testam. 142 In us the completest idea of love, the only complete idea we can have

c A conception to which no reality corresponds, something merely imagined or fancied

1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. IV. ii. 69 A foolish extravagant spirit, full of forms, figures, shapes, objects Ideas apprehensions 1622 WITHER Motto Preface Wks. (1633) 551 It is possible that I Who scarce heard of Poesie Should a mere Idea raise To as true a pitch of prise As the learned Poets could! 1630 PRYNNE Anti-Armin. 2 Which make Bishops Ideas, a monstrous Idea 1720 WATERLAND Trin. Scrip. 199 Not so destitute of understanding as to take the substance of Fether, or Son to be an abstract Idea 1871 R. W. DALE Commandm. i. 12 In the Jews, Jehovah was not a mere idea or a system of attributes

d In idea (= in nubibus), in conception or imagination, in mind, in thought opposed to in reality

1622 MABBE tr. Aleman's Guzman d'Alf. II. i. 1 Albeit I were such an arrant Asse and Coxcombe, as you fancied in your Idea would forme me to be 1632 B. JONSON Magn. Lady Induct., The author hath plaine said to him elfe, in Idea, this Magnificke Mistris. 1797 SOUTHEY Joan of Arc I. 116 When all things in idea flame in shade, a circle in idea 1797 BURKE Corr. V. 45 Bright in idea gleams thy lofty store 1830 PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY Hymn to Intellect. Vision mingle vignettes did I make in my idea for my intended letter

9 More widely. Any product of mental apprehension or activity, existing in the mind as an object of knowledge, or thought, an item of know ledge or belief, a thought, conception, notion, a way of thinking c1645 HOWELL Lett. (1655) III. xxxi. 38 One shall hardly find two in ten thousand that have exactly the same tone of voice or idea's of mind 1690 LOCKE Hum. Und. II. xxxiii. 5 Either Concrete or very easily and very early Acquired Idea's 1733 SWIFT Cadenus & Vanessa 535 Idea's unlike mind no Text, his lessons lack, and blank 1738 46 THOMSON Spring 1152 Delightful task! to rear the tender thought, to teach the young idea how to shoot 1785 REID Intell. Powers vi. (1803) 58 In logical language idea signifies the same thing as conception apprehension, notion 1822 HAZLITT Table T. II. 15 As to People who have no ideas of their own are glad to hear what any one else has to say 1888 J. INGLIS Tent Life Tigerland 245 The marvellous way in which Western ideas are making progress in the minds of the natives

b A notion or thought more or less imperfect, indistinct, or fanciful, a vague belief, opinion or estimate, a supposition, impression, fancy

1712 W. ROBERTSON Phraseol. 338 To give them an ill Idea of all those they call Heretics. 1737 [S. BERKELEY] Lucian's Hum. 58 The very Ideas they had of their own Nation, of making themselves above all other People 1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. 44 The very idea of the fabrication of a new government is enough to fill us with disgust and horror 1852 MISS STRICKLAND Lett. Court xxvi, You believe don't you, that I happy could become an angel if she were a Christian? "Lopsy! what a ridiculous idea! 1861 DICKENS Gt. Expect. xi, So like Matthew! The idea! 1866 G. MACDONALD Sun Q. Angels xxv (1878) 194, I had no idea you would be flooded

IV Modern philosophical developments

10 [from 8 and 9.] With Descartes and Locke Whatever is in the mind and directly present to cognitive consciousness, that which one thinks, feels, or fancies, the immediate object of thought or mental perception

With Hume and his followers An impression of sensation, either as originated or as reproduced and elaborated by association. With Reid, Dugald Stewart and the Scottish school The immediate and direct mental product of knowing as distinguished from the object of knowledge, and from the action or process of knowing

1666 Phil. Trans. I. 325 The Arguments devised against Atheists by Des Cartes, and drawn from the Ideas of our Mind 1690 LOCKE Hum. Und. II. i. 1 Every Man has in the Entrance beg Pardon for the frequent use of the Word Idea. It being that Term, which I think, serves best to stand for whatsoever is the Object of the Understanding, when a Man thinks, I have used it to express whatever it is which the Mind can be employ'd about in thinking. Ibid. II. viii. § 8 Whatever the Mind perceives in itself, or is the immediate Object of Perception, Thought, or Understanding, that I call Idea. 1709 BERKELEY Th. Vision § 4, When I speak of tangible ideas, I take the word idea for any the immediate object of sense or understanding 1710 — Princ. Hum. Knowl. I. § 2 The existence of an idea consists in being perceived 1725 WATTS Logic I. i. § 1 There has been a great controversy about the origin of ideas, viz. Whether any of our ideas are innate or no that is, born with us and naturally belonging to our minds. Mr. Locke utterly denies it, others as positively affirm it Ibid. § 2 A simple Idea is one uniform Idea which cannot be divided or distinguished by the Mind of Man into two or more Ideas, such as are a Multitude of our Sensations, as the Idea of Sweet, Bitter, Cold, Heat, White, Red, Blue, Hard, Soft 1739 HUME Hum. Nat. I. i. 1 (1841) I. 5 By ideas I mean the faint images of these [impressions] in thinking and reasoning 1762 KAMES Elem. Crit. (1833) 478 This indistinct secondary perception of an object, is termed an idea 1837-9 HALLAM Hist. Lit. IV. iii. § 107 The leading doctrine of Locke, as is well known, is the derivation of all our ideas from sensation and from reflection 1843 MILL Logic IV. iv. § 1, The metaphysical inquiry into the nature and composition of what have been called Abstract Ideas 1860 MANSEL Prolog. Logic 1. 13 Idea has been indifferently employed by modern philosophers to denote the object of thought, of imagination, and even (under the representative hypothesis) of perception

11 [from 1.] a In the Kantian and transcendental schools A conception of reason that transcends all experience, one of the noumena or ultimate principles apprehended by reason, as opposed to the conceptions of the understanding, which are confined to experience b In Hegelianism The absolute truth of which all phenomenal existence is the expression, the Idea, the Absolute

1838 Tenny Cycl. XII. 295/1 Hegel distinguishes three species of thought 1 The thought 2 The notion 3 The Idea or thought in its totality and fully determined 1871 KNOX Kth Essays v. 128/2 § 8 His conception is what Kant would call an Idea—nothing precisely conformable to it, in its full extent, can ever exist in reality 1874 W. WALLACE Logic of Hegel Prolog. 271 This organism of thought, as the living reality or gist of the external world and the world within us, is termed the Idea The Idea is the Reality and the Identity of the world on totality, considered as a process beyond time Ibid. xxvii 188 Idea: ideal is the thorough adequacy of thought to itself, the solution of the contradictions which attach to thought, and hence, in the last resort, the concidence or equilibrium of subjective notion and objectivity, which are the ultimate expression of the fundamental antithesis in thought Ibid. I. 271 3/4 The Idea is truth in itself and for itself, the absolute unity of the notion and objectivity

V 12 Phrases and Comb.

1706 COTTERELL tr. J. Cottle Early Recoll. (1847) I. 121 No poor fellow's idea put ever bubbled up so vehemently with fewer words and difficulties 1891 Pall Mall G. 11 Oct. 2/3 In most art matters we are quite eighteen years behind our idea intoxicated neighbours 1896 Daily News 20 Apr. 6/1 Mr H. . . detests 'idée' politics and Republican sentiments' of every kind

Idea, (ədī'ə), v. rare [f. prec. sb.] +a trans. To give a particular form or character to (cf. prec. 7 b). b intr. To form ideas or notions

1649 T. GOODWIN tr. Bohme's Apol. 84 Her doth Idea, forme and shape, in the same Being the wonders of the expressed Word. Ibid., The humane Science doth Idea, and shape the Word 1881 Athenæum 14 Aug. 208/1 Swinburne essentially theorises 1844 Fraser's Mag. XXIX. 715 According to him [Cousin] man should not be defined a reasoning, but a feeling animal Idea'd, ideaed (ədī'əd), a. [f. IDEA sb. + -ED².] Having an idea or ideas, esp. (in comb.) of a specified kind, expressing an idea, significant quot. 1826.

1736 [see IDEATED]. 1826 Blackw. Mag. XIX. 106 Such a blood of ideaed words, that you have been unable to slip in one of your own, to sound traitors 1852 READE Peg Woff. (1856) 204 A lovely body would bear what unvarnished an excellent mind would not. Ideaed guests only are admitted 1868 HELPS Realmah xix. (1876) 187 Women are so passionless, and so one-ideaed

Ideagenous (ɪdɪæ'dʒɪnəs) a. [irreg. f. IDEA + -GENOUS.] (The etymological form would be autogenous.) Producing or giving rise to an idea

1881 HAVELOCK ELLIS Nineteenth Cent. Jan. 93 Such sensory impression have hitherto left a record in the structure of the brain in ideagenous molecule so to speak

Ideagraph, etc., eiron ff. IDEOGRAPH, etc

Ideal (ədī'əl) a. and sb. [f. IDEA sb. + -AL (16 17th c. in Hatz. Darm.), ad. late L. idealis, f. idea IDEA + -lis ideale, Sp., Pg. ideal.]

A adj. I Existing as an idea or archetype, relating to or consisting of ideas (in the Platonic sense) see IDEA sb. 1

1647 H. MORE Song of Soul I. III. xi. His Ideall, And Centrall presence is in every Atom ball 1892 Nordis Princ. Dis. (1711) III. 153 The Scattered existence of things is founded upon their Ideal existence, if things had not first existed in Idea, they could never have existed in Act 1892 Nordis Ideal World I. 187 By the Ideal state of things I mean that state of them which is necessary, per manent and immutable not only into extent and present time, but also extending and representative of it according to which it was made 1896 DR. ARGYLE Philos. Inlief 88 Moulded on a mental plan . . to clay, that every bone and even vein may be the counterpart of a bone, can be referred with certainty to one ideal plan

2 Conceived or regarded as perfect or supremely excellent in its kind, answering to one's highest conception (cf. IDEA sb. 2, 3).

1613 R. CAWDREY Table Alph. (ed. 3), Ideall, proper 1626 JACKSON Creed VIII. iii. § 2 The Almighty Lord . . the very law or Ideall rule of all righteousnesse 1736 BOLINGBROKE Patriot (1749) 127 The practice of morality will never arise at ideal perfection 1843 RUSKIN Lectures of Architect. I. 8 To find beauty is the generalization of common incidents, the reduction to ideal perfect truth 1861 RUSSELL in Life II. v. 278 The sea coast in the winter is to me an ideal enjoyment, by which I mean, completely to my liking 1880 GROSART Herr. Hist. in. § 2. 115 Sir Guthlac, the type of ideal knighthood

3 Of, pertaining or relating to, or of the nature of an idea, mental image, or conception

1621 BURT. Ideal ideall, imagin-re, conceived in th'imagination, onely in fancie 1661 BOYLE Style of Script 232 All things Relate to her Refe-shing him with an Ideal, in the Absence of an Immediate Presence of her 1759 JOHNSON Rasselas xlvii, An ideal form is no less real than material bulk yet in ideal form has no extension 1862 BUCKLE Civiliz. I. 287 (II. v. 90) Starting from the so called nature of things, his first steps were ideal and from them he sought to advance to the actual b Representing or embodying an idea or conception

1846 RUSKIN Mod. Painter (1851) II. III. i. xii. § 3 Any work of art which represents, not a material object, but the mental conception of a material object, is, in the primary sense of the word, ideal 1874 MICKLETHWAITE Mod. Par. Churches 112 The crucifix is an ideal, not a realistic representation

4 Existing only in idea, confined to thought or imagination, imaginary opp. to real or actual Hence sometimes, Not real or practical, based on an idea or fancy, fanciful, visionary

1612 [see 3]. a 1637 STIRLING Jonathan xxv, Fed their fancies with ideall shewes 1737 HUME Douglas I. A river here, there an ideal line. By fancy drawn, divides the sister kingdoms 1776 GIBBON Decl. & F. I. xx. 272 They despised the ideal terrors of a foreign superstition 1787 WARTON Hist. Hush 168 These assertions are not ideal, but are founded on facts and experiments 1849 JAMES Woodman in Monthly Mag. XIV. 492 Colour tune, space, may be said to have only an ideal reality 1862 H. SPENCER First Princ. II. § 43 (1875) 144 Ideal sights and sounds are in the insane classed with real sights and sounds 1877 F. R. CONDER Basis Faith iii. 109 The facts are physical; their harmony is ideal Ibid. 111 It is ideal, unable of existence only in thought, at all events unobservable by us in any other way

5 Philos. Regarding or treating ideas as the only real entities, of the nature of or pertaining to idealism, idealistic

1764 REID Inquiry § 7. 103 Des Cartes system of the human understanding, which I shall beg leave to call the ideal system 1792-1814 D. STEWART Philos. Hum. Mind (1843) 317 As Clarke regarded the principles of the ideal theory as demonstrative, it was perfectly impossible for him, with all his acuteness, to detect the flaw to which Berkeley's paradox owed its plausibility 1856 ROBERTSON Sermons, Christian Wks. (Bohn) II. 160 The Pharisees make themselves merry with the ideal theory as if it affected the stability of nature

6 Math. Applied to a number or quantity which has no actual existence, but is assumed for some purpose in a system of complex numbers

1860 H. J. S. SMITH in Rep. Brit. Assoc. 132 (Theory of Numbers) The assertion that a given complex number contains an ideal factor, is equivalent to that of expressing a certain set of congruential conditions which are satisfied by the coefficients of the complex number Ibid. 133 Every ideal number is a divisor of an actual number 1875 B. PEIRCE in Amer. Jrnl. Math. (1881) IV. 216 The A, B, and C may represent not merely the actual, but also the ideal, the impossible and the absurd

7 Comb. as ideal-real a., combining the ideal and the real, ideal-realism, a form of philosophy which combines the principles of idealism and realism

1888 New Princeton Rev. Jan. 22 (Cent.) The half and half systems, the ideal-real as they are called, held by so many in the present day in Germany, are in the position of a professorial neutral person between two hostile armies, exposed to the fire of both

B sb.

1 A conception of something, or a thing conceived, in its highest perfection, or as an object to be realized or attained at, a perfect type, a standard of perfection or excellence

1623 COCKERAM, Idealt, a proper man] 1798 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Ker XXVI. 481 The dissertation on the Ideals of the Greek artists 1809-10 COLERIDGE Friend (1865) 125 The ideal to which we should endeavour to approximate 1845 M. PATTISON Ess. (1889) I. 3 Whether or not there be any perfect ideal of historical composition, the one best form of writing history for all ages and countries. 1859 MILL Liberty iii. (1865) 44 2 Advancing towards the Chinese ideal of making all people alike 1880 GROSART Town Unlett. Philos xvii (1870) 260 The notion of an ideal, of something which for whatever reason, ought to be, as distinguished from what is

b An actual thing or person regarded as realizing such a conception, and so as being perfect in its kind, a standard proposed for imitation a 1849 H. COLERIDGE Ess. (1851) II. 10 He seems to have made Dante his ideal 1861 MAX MÜLLER Chips (1880) IV. 310 His grandson speaks of him [Confucius] as the ideal of a sage 1877 F. R. CONDER Basis Faith i. 6 According to another authority, God is the perfect ideal of which Nature is the imperfect realisation

2 Something existing only as a mental conception, an imaginary thing

1884 A. DANIELL Theor. Physics iv. 109 A rigid solid is one which, when a stress is applied to it, experiences no deformation This is an ideal, no substance is absolutely rigid

¶ See also BEAU IDEAL

Idealess (ədī'ələs), a. [f. IDEA sb. + -LESS.] Destitute of ideas, conveying no idea, meaningless.

1818 Monthly Mag. XLVI. 409 A few passages of good writing interlarded with pleasing idealessness 1858 MISS YONGE Daisy Chain II. v. (1879) 383 That stupid, idealess brother 1875 Contemp. Rev. XXV. 800 The style of architecture is beyond words monotonous, idealess, soulless

Idealism (ədī'əlĭz'm) [ad. F. idéalisme (1752 in Hatz.-Darm.) or Ger. idealismus, f. IDEAL.]

1 Philos. Any system of thought or philosophy in which the object of external perception is held to consist, either in itself, or as perceived, of ideas (in various senses of the word see IDEA sb.)

Subjective Idealism is the opinion that the object of external perception consists, whether in itself or as known to us, in ideas of the perceiving mind. Critical or Transcendental Idealism, the opinion of Kant) that it, together with the whole contents of our experience, consists, as known to us, but not necessarily in itself, of such ideas. Objective Idealism, the opinion (of Schelling) that while, as known to us, it consists of such ideas, it consists also, as it is in itself, of ideas identical with these. Absolute Idealism, (a) the opinion (of Hegel) that it consists, not only as known to us, but in itself, of ideas, not however ours, but those of the universal mind, (b) also applied more generally to other forms of idealism which do not suppose an independent reality underlying our ideas of external objects.

1796 W TAYLOR in Monthly Rev XX 376 He [Parmenides] thus prepared arguments for scepticism, and made the first approaches towards idealism 1803 — in Monthly Mag XIV 487 The system of Berkeley is espoused under the name Idealism by writers of reputation in Germany 1839 SIR W HAMILTON Discuss (1852) 196 A doctrine of Absolute Idealism was, without communication, contemporaneously promulgated by Berkeley and Collier 1895 MAHAFFY in Kant's Prolegomena 61 My having given this my theory the name of transcendental idealism, can authorise no one to confound it with the empirical idealism of Descartes, Ibid 62, I now retract it (the word 'transcendental') and desire this idealism of mine to be called critical 1897 J H STIRLING Annot Schwegler's Handbk Hist Philos 420 The idealism of Fichte that reduced all to the ego was the subjective idealism. Then Schelling, who gave to the object an equal basis beside the subject, but still under an idealistic point of view, is said to have given rise to the objective idealism; while Hegel, who gave to be subordinated all thought alone, is styled the founder of the absolute idealism 1886 CLIFFORD Lect & Ess, Nature of Things in Themselves 276 It may very well be that I myself am the only existence, but it is simply ridiculous to suppose that any body else is. The position of absolute idealism may, therefore, be left out of count 1897 Educational Review Vocab Philos 196 Subjective Idealism is the term applicable to the theories of Berkeley and Fichte. 1884 COUNTNEY Metaph 137 Idealism resolves all our notions of the external world into the subjective affections of the thinking self

2. The practice of idealizing or tendency to idealize, the habit of representing things in an ideal form, or as they might be, imaginative treatment of a subject in art or literature, ideal style or character opp to realism. Also, aspiration after or pursuit of an ideal 1809 I TAYLOR Enthus VIII. 190 A transmutation of the objects of the devout affections of the objects of imaginative delectation had tinged, more or less, with idealism, the religious sentiment of all but a few 1841 W SMYTHE Hour & Ch Ld II 350 The perfected idealism which reigns in his [Titian's] greatest works 1872 FRASER Life Berkeley iii 87 In respect of social idealism which filled and deter mined his life in its middle period 1890 HALL CAINE in Contemp Rev Apr 479, I take realism to mean the doctrine of the importance of the real facts of life, and idealism the doctrine of the superiority of ideal existence over the facts of life.

b (with pl) An instance of this practice, an act or product of idealising, an ideal representation

a1820 SHELLEY Def Poetry I. in Ess & Lett (1840) I 90 The highest idealisms of passion and power 1861 THORNBURY Turner I 316 [The Polphemus] the most wonderful of Turner's idealisms 1868 RUSKIN Unto this Last iv 156 Three fourths of the demands existing in the world are romantic, founded on visions, idealisms, hopes, and affections

Idealist (ǎidĭ·ălĭst) [f IDEAL + -IST; cf. F idéaliste (18th c. in Hatz.-Darm.)]

1 Philos One who holds a doctrine of idealism; see prec. 1. In first quot. One who holds the Platonic doctrine of ideas

1701 NORRIS Ideal World I iii. 183, I look upon St Austin to be as great an Idealist as any in the world, and considering his authority, the greatest patron of the Ideal philosophy 1737 W LAW On the Atonement 41 The Language of Scripture that makes speculative Christians, Idealists, Critics, and Grammarians full into Infidelity 1803 W TAYLOR in Monthly Mag XV 321 Nothing would remain tenable but the system of the idealists. a 1810 D STEWART Philos Ess II x. 56 When Berkeley was sincerely and bona fide an idealist, Hume's leading object, in his metaphysical writings, plainly was to inculcate a universal scepticism 1842 EMERSON Addr., Transcendentalist (Bohn) II 279 As thinkers, mankind have ever divided into two sects, Materialists and Idealists, the first class founding on experience the second on consciousness 1869 H SPENCER Princ Psychol (1870) II VII XIX 500 Berkeley was not an idealist he never succeeded in expelling the consciousness of an external reality

2. One who idealizes, an artist or writer who treats a subject imaginatively. Opposed to realist

1803 MACKINTOSH in Life (1836) I v 232, I called Milton an idealist. 1881 TOURGÉE Figs & Thistles 284 Owen was the great dogmatist of the Puritan theological movement. Howe was its contemplative idealist 1896 Times 30 Jan 9 Once or twice this idealist, this formalist as his critics called him [Ld Leighton], produced a portrait which showed that he could turn at pleasure to realism

3 One who conceives, or follows after ideals. Sometimes disparagingly, One who cherishes visionary or unpractical notions

1829 LYTTON Disowned (ed 2) II iii. 37 Findlater, you are a sceptic and an idealist. 1851 DIXON W Penn VI (1872) 54 The politics of Fox had their attraction for this idealist 1884 CHURCH Bacon II 59 He was no mere idealist or recluse to undervalue or despise the real grandeur of the world

4. attrib, or as adj = next

1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) I 491 Philosophers of the idealist school. 1884 in Littell's Living Age 16 Feb. 427 In a tender idealist exaltation 1889 Athenæum 9 May 593/3 The various stages which the idealist problem has taken in modern philosophy

Idealistic (ǎidĭrălĭ·stĭk), a [f prec + -IC] Pertaining to or characteristic of an idealist, belonging to or having the character of idealism (in various senses see these words)

1829 CARLYLE Misc Ess Novalis (1857) II 207 As a Poet, Novalis is no less Idealistic than as a Philosopher 1877 R CAIRD Philos Kant IV 71 The idealistic individualism of Leibnitz 1884 Contin Rev Jan 31 The best of all practical work is that produced in an idealistic spirit

Hence Idealistical a rare prec, Idealistically adv, in an idealistic manner

1884 J VERE IVE Euphorion II 9 The old idealistical decorations. 1886 W J TUCKER Y Europe 56 Independence, idealistically considered, is elysium, but when the sublime theory is brought into practice amongst a rude people with nothing but agricultural labour to fall back upon, their position undergoes a devastating change

Idelity (ǎidĭa·lĭtĭ) [f IDEAL + -ITY, cf F idéalité (Littré)]

+1 The faculty of forming 'ideas' or archetypes see IDEA sb 1, IDEAL a 1 Obs

1701 NORRIS Ideal World I iii. 157 The Divine Idelity or that intelligible reason in the wisdom of God whereby things were made. 1704 Ibid II 282 When they [creatures] had no existence but in the bosom of his own idelity

2 The faculty or capacity of conceiving ideals, the imaginative faculty (Introduced as a term of Phrenology)

1828 G COMBE Constit Man II § 4 Idelity delights in perfection, and finds pure pleasure of contemplation 1838 SIR D SMITH Prize Phrenol VI 167 Gall denominated this the Poetical faculty, and Spurzheim changed it to its present name Idelity 1880 J GROVE Exam Utilit Philos XIII (1870) 109 Moral imperativeness as based upon idelity or belief in higher fact 1871 LYNDALL Fragm Sc (1879) II 21 Why Poetry or idelity, and untruth are very different things

3. The quality of being ideal a The quality of expressing some idea.

1837 G CRABB Technol Dict (1845) II 218 That crux of painful antiquaries, the origin and idelity of the fame famed Round Towers.

b Ideal or imaginative character, esp of a work of art see IDEAL a 2, 3 b

1835 I TAYLOR Spir Despot III 86 The Idelity and the poetry of their religion 1865 MRS C CLARKE Shaks Char xii 325 The representation of the most hideously florid fancy can surpass in incongruous idelity the real, and substantial, and solidly stupid old watchman c Ideal nature, existence in idea only (opp to reality) see IDEAL a 4.

1877 E CAIRD Philos Kant v 88 The idelity of time and space

4. with pl Something ideal or imaginary, an idealized conception

1844 R P WARD Chatsworth I 39 [They] commenced their married life with amiable idealities about 'love in a cottage' 1858 J H NEWMAN Hist Sk (1873) I 1 Mr Cheyne is not a mere idelity, he is a man and a brother 1875 LIGHTFOOT Comm Col (1886) 168 Those vague idealities which so many seek their place in later speculations.

b = IDEAL B. I

1860 F. L. PEACOCK Wks (1875) III 430 The intellectual qualities which constituted his idelity of the partner of his life

Idealization (ǎidălaizē·ʃən). [f IDEALIZE + -ATION, cf F idéalisation (Littré)] The action of idealizing or fact of being idealized

1796 W TAYLOR in Monthly Mag II 562 Is this irony? Or postical idealization? 1853 DE QUINCEY Autobiog Sk Wks I 54 The devotion gave grandeur and idealisation to the scenery 1859 EMERSON Lett & Soc Aims I 98 Our overpraise and idealization of famous masters 1883 FAIRBAIRN City of God III i (1886) 233 They were not finely susceptible of poetry and culture, imaginative men, capable of acts of splendid idealization

b A particular or concrete instance of this, an idealized representation

1858 Fraser's Mag LI. 702 This bust is a frank idealization 1871 SMILES Hugenots in Brit Bible Teach Pref 13 Poets and artists teach us by their beautiful idealizations that the objects around us are not mere objects of sense

Idealize (ǎidĭălaiz), v [f IDEAL + -IZE, cf F idéaliser (1794 in Hatz.-Darm.)] trans To make or render ideal, to represent in an ideal form or character, to exalt to an ideal perfection or excellence

1796 W TAYLOR in Monthly Rev XVIII 535 Italy is here idealized into a terrestrial paradise a 1834 COLERIDGE Shaks Notes (1849) 9 The tragic poet idealizes his character. 1870 H MACMILLAN Bible Teach VIII 152 Creation is reflected and idealized in the mirrors of the soul. 1884 Fall Mall G 10 Sept 1/1 Men who have been idealized after death

b absol or intr To represent something in an ideal form, to conceive or form an ideal or ideals

1706 MATT Mesmer's Hist Relig I. in New Rev Feb 62 Their (men's) natural propensity to idealize 1849 H COLERIDGE Ess (1851) II 205 A portrait painter. Ibid 206 The Hellenic mind (with) its active and idealizing fancy 1865 LECKY Europ Mor I xi 293 The idealized suffering of the stage was unimpressive 1870 LOWELL Among my Bks Ser II Dante 67 There is no idealizer like unavailing regret 1878 SPELEY Stam II 490 It sometimes excites a suspicion of a little idealising

Idealless (ǎidĭăl,les), a [f IDEAL sb + -LESS] Without any ideal

1882 OWEN Fly Shad Darby III 149 While he was but a poor little feeling, less, idealless scholar

Ideally (ǎidĭălĭ), adv [f IDEAL a + -LY²] In an ideal manner

+1 In 'idea' (sense 1) or archetype, in relation to a pattern or type Obs

1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep III iv 124 A transmission is made materially from some parts, and ideally from every one 1678 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I iv § 36, 579 The third doth actively display and produce into being what was contained ideally or exemplarily in the second 1701 NORRIS Ideal World I ii 56 As these figures must first be conceived that they might be made, so they must be that they might be conceived, and consequently must exist ideally in order to their existing naturally

2 In idea, mental conception, or imagination, imaginarily

1598 FLORIO, Ideale, ideally, figuratively, formely, ima ginatively 1661 ideally or figuratively, by imagination] 1816 COLERIDGE Lay Sermn 339 Reason and religion differ only as a twofold application of the same power But if we are obliged to distinguish, we must ideally separate 1860 TYNDALL Glac II xxvi 374 The branches have been ideally prolonged across the moraines 1872 GEO ELIOT Middlem Intro, It seemed now that her marriage was visibly as well as ideally floating her above the Middle march level 1874 CARPENTER Ment Physiol I iii § 3 (1879) 410 The same impression that more than three dimensions in space are ideally possible

3 In conformity with the ideal, in the highest conceivable perfection, in the way of supreme excellence

1840 BARRY BUNSEN in Hare Life (1879) II iv 243 Our ideally delightful journey, 1875 HAMILTON Intell Life II iii 66 An ideally perfect history would tell the pure truth 1885 Manchester Exam 4 May 5/2 I'm fluid — by no means an ideally pure water

4 Ital In relation to a general plan or archetype (of a class)

1859 DARWIN Orig Spec VI 191 The swim bladder is homologous, or 'ideally similar', in position and structure with the lungs of the higher animals 1896 DR ANGUS Hibbert Lectr 108 To characterise theoretically, or ideally, fundamental form

Idealness, [f as prec + -NESS] Ideal quality or state, ideality 1832 CARLYLE Misc Ess, Boswell (1872) IV 81 Ennoble the Actual into Idealness.

Idealogical, etc, erron ff IDEOLOGICAL, etc

+Ideally. Obs rare [f IDEAL a + -TY, cf royalty, etc.] A standard of excellence, an ideal

1635 J HAYWARD tr Biondi's Banish d Vera III 168 The world had now no more needs of any other exquisite patterne for the well governing of Common wealths, and Idealty of Princes

Ideate (ǎidĭe·ĭt), v [f IDEA sb see -ATE³ Cf It ideare, Sp, Pg idear]

1 trans To form the idea of, to frame, devise, or construct in idea or imagination, to imagine conceive. (In early use with reference to Platonic 'ideas' see IDEA sb 1)

1610 DONNE Pseudo-Mart 4 A State which Plato Ideated Ibid 248 As some Men have imagined divers Ideas, and so sought what a King, a General should be: so these Men have Ideated what a Pope would be 1656 SANDERSON Serm (1689) 257 To quarrel at Gods gifts if they be not such as we have Ideated ourselves. 1682 SIR T BROWNE Chr Mor I § 28 Could we apprehend the Ideated Man we might comprehend our present Degeneration 1864 WEBSTER, Ideate, Mentally to image, or to retain and recall to and hold in the mind (Rare) 1893 Nation (N Y) 9 Feb 81/1 Whether the index we had ideated is possible or not

2 absol or intr = A. To form ideas, to think b To devise or invent something imaginary

1824 LEWIS in Islandm Mag (1884) Feb 177/1 The reality is implied in the very fact of its existence and ideates there is something which is impressed, something which feels, which ideates. 1888 J H SMITH Ideation (title p), Experimental Proof that Insects devise and enter communicate by these radiant Ideas or Physical Images

Ide ate, a and sb [ad mod L ideāt us, pa ppple of ideāre see prec]

A. adj Produced by or deriving its existence from a (Platonic) 'idea' see IDEA sb 1

B sb The external object of which an idea or conception is formed

1677 GALE Crt Gentiles IV 329 In us the Ideate or thing understood is before the Idea: but in God, his Idea is the original exemplar, and the Ideate in the Create but a reflexe image or similitude of the Divine Idea. 1830 SIR W HAMILTON Discuss (1852) 26 Consciousness is converted with Perception,—Perception with Idea—Idea with Ideatum! 1854 FROUDE Short Stud, Spinoza (1867) II 34 Body with all its properties is the object or ideate of mind 1886 J MARTINEAU Types Eth Thr (1886) I i 11 39 He objects to say outright that it is the ideatum which gives the idea.)

Ideation (ǎidĭe·ʃən) [f IDEATE v see -ATION] The formation of ideas or mental images of things not present to the senses

1829 J S MILL Hum Mind I 42 As we say Sensation, we might also say Ideation, it would be a very useful word Sensation is the general name for one part of our constitution Ideation for another 1862 Macm Mag Apr 507 In sensation the object of sense is present, in Ideation it is absent, but remembered 1879 HUXLEY Hume

iv 90 Of the mechanism of this generation of images of impressions or ideas (in Hume's sense), which may be termed Ideation, we know nothing

Ideational, a [f prec + -AL] Of or pertaining to ideation or the formation of ideas

1853 CARPENTER Hum Phys (ed 4) xiv § 788 779 That state of consciousness which may be termed Ideational Ibid Note If the use of the Adjective Ideation be admitted there can be no reasonable objection to the objective ideational 1879 HUXLEY Hume iv 90 The rapidity and the intensity of this ideational process are dependent upon physiological conditions

Ideative (ai·dĕătĭv), a rare = prec.

1867 Aiken's Neurol VIII 215 (Cent.) The associations, by awaking in the ideative field the correlated ideas, render the words spoken by another intelligible.

Ideo (ai·dĭ) Obs exc in vulgar use [a F idée, ad late L idea, for ibia see IDEA sb] = IDEA (in various senses)

1430 40 TRIV Inchan 11 (MS Bodl) If 222 b 2 In the tod scoles of prudent Socrates And of Plato which that bar the keie Of secre mysteries And of hyen Ideze 1548 UDALL Erasm Apoph 1 123 b, The Ideez, that Plato deuised, & moche treacteth of euen Aristotle laughed to skorne 1573 G HARVEY Letter-bk (Camden) 109 Quarrels Ideos bemone your imperfections, Or give me a type of such perfections 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng Poesie I i (Arb) 19 God made all the world of nought, nor vsed he any patterne or moulde vs the Platonicks with their Ideos do phantasie fully suppose 1596 SPENSER Hymn Heav Love 169 Thy bright radiant rayes shall glorify vs Th' Ideo of his pure glorie present still Before thy face 1647 H MORE Song of Soul III II xxiv, Flush light she vendeth forth, and live Ideas 1848 Wheeler's Pract Navig Ser I III 15, With good old ideos o' wun's right an' wut aint

†Ide ist. Obs [f IDEA sb + IST] = IDEALIST 1

1697 J SERGEANT (title) Solid Philosophy vvented against the fancies of the Ideists 1704 LOCKE [I 1 If that be so I must conclude, that the notionists and the ideists have their Speculations Gentlemen very differently turned

Idel, Idelche, -ly, obs ff IDOL, IDOLATRY

I-deled, ME pa pple of DEAL v

‖ Idem (ai·dem, i·dem) [L idem masc, idem neut 'the same'] The same word, name, title, author etc, as mentioned before used to avoid repetition Abbreviated id

14 Vow in Wit Walker 73–23 Hec lectura, thok Hec lectumen, idem 1598 FLORIO, Notatore byrer, a hack ney man Notezzato, idem Notezzato, idem 1677 W HOOKER Mast of Arts 8 Bracton, id Iudex 1 12

†I-deme, v Obs [OI gedéman (= OHG getuomen Goth gadomjan), f déman to DEEM] trans To deem judge

a 1000 CYNEWULF Crist 550 [He] wile ... ydemen dreda zelhwylc 1205 LAY 29201 Þis heo hit ideomen Ibid 30141 Al weoren þa ideden of se heo ideomen

I dem·e·ol, ME pa pple of DEAL v

Idemfasend (ai·dĕmfæ·sĕnd), Idemfacient (-fi·fĕnt) a, Idemfactor (-fæ·ktŏr) [f idem same + facient-is to be made, facient em making factor maker, FACTOR], so also Idempotent (aidĕmpō·tĕnt) a [L. potent-em powerful, POTENT] words used in multiple algebra: see quots

1870 B PEIRCE in Amer Jrnl Math (1881) IV 101 When an expression used as a factor in certain circumstances overpowers the other factors, and is itself the product it may be called an idempotent. When in the production of such a result it is the multiplier, it is idemfacient, but when it is the multiplis and it is idemfasend Ibid, When an expression raised to a square or higher power gives itself as the result, it may be called idempotent

Idemptitie, obs form of IDENTITY

Ident, a Sc Also 6 yden ydan, ydant [Later form of ITHAND a of EDENT] Diligent, persistent Hence †Idently adv, diligently, attentively, persistently, continuously of IDENTNESS

1567 Gude & Godlie B (S T S) 16 Our Baptisme is not done all on ane day But vse it lyfe lie lestis Identlie 1573 Satir Poems Reform xl 229 Quha presumis vpin bidlie To serue the Lord mon thanne prepare for troubles Identlie 1591 R BRICE Serm vi Oiij, Mair yden it is than exercise 1596 DALRYMPLE Leges Alveri xxi 111 1111 Identlie we al diligence Ibid iv 233 Hur yden, stil, and continuall pacis cuys Ibid vii 36 To waxt ydanlie vpon the kingis body Ibid Sc Wks in an ideal fassie

Identic (aidĕ·ntĭk), a [ad scholastic I identic-us (see IDENTITY)] cf F identique (in function 1690', It, Sp, Pg identico]

1 IDENTICAL 1

1664 BUTLER Hud II i 149 The Beard's th' Identick Beard you knew 1789 H WALPOLE Let in Miss Berry's Corr (1865) I 177, I concluded it must be a son but asking my sister she assured me it was the identic being 1811 FOWLE in Lect Pulpit v (1848) 462 The identic owner of those crutches 1866 Contb Mag Nov 629 The new democratic axiom that aristocracy is a single and identic species of social evil

2 = IDENTICAL 2

1649 G DANIEL Trinarch, Hen II cix, Death though it Estrange Perhaps, the Notion of Identike we, Quickens a better Ray of Light in vs 1757 HARRIS Hermes iii (1786) 199 Whence do these common Identic Ideas come? 1828 Blackw Mag XLIII 808 Literature and pedagogism are in Germany identic in spirit 1876 SKENE Celtic Scott I 193 The Irish language still spoken there, which is identic with the Gaelic of the Scotch Highlands

3 In diplomacy, applied to action or language in which two or more governments or powers agree to use precisely the same form, in their relations with some other power, so as to impress the latter by a simultaneous expression of unanimous opinion, esp in identic note

1865 KINGLAKE Crimea (1877) II App 391 The form of a simple identic declaration 1879 in DK Argyll Past Quest I iv 141 All appearance of identic action seemed to be undesirable 1880 EARL GRANVILLE in Times 30 Aug 5/1 Europe was unanimous in presenting an identic Note to the Porte

Identical (aide·ntĭkăl), a [f. med L identicus (see prec.) + -AL]

1 The same, the very same said of one thing (or set of things) viewed at different times or in different relations (Often emphasized by same, very)

1653 ASHMOLE Medici (1693) 18 The Spirit leaves every man in the same identicall path 1774 C J PHIPPS Voy N Pole 11 To lend me the identical pendulum with which Mr Graham had made his experiments. 1784 REID Intell Powers III i 325, I cannot remember a thing that happened a year ago, without a conviction that it is the same identical person who now remembers that event, and then existed 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng IV 584 This is the very identical man 1852 HR MARTINEAU Demerara II 23 The case is wholly changed by the one and third parties being identical 1890 A R WALLACE Darwinism 2 Descended from one pair of identical crows of the same identical species

2 Agreeing entirely in material, constitution, properties, qualities, or manner, said of two or more things which are equal parts of one uniform whole, individual examples of one species, or copies of one type, so that any one of them may, for all purposes, or for the purposes contemplated, be substituted for any other

1691 ELY Ans Van Dorp Math I iv 105 When we have to do with any thing whose very essence consists in being greatest, there magna and minus do alter the very essence of the thing, and vvants it self to more and minus 1832 LORD Holland Rise & Ellustionania, 'I like Wrench ... because he is the same natural, easy creature, on the stage that he is off' 'Identical, certainly, replied Fox 'I am the same person off the stage that I am on' The inference, at first sight, seems identical but examine it a little, and it can scarcely be so, for the one performer was never, and the other always, acting 1860 WESTCOTT Introd Study Gosp (ed 6) 138 The incidents are often identical and always similar 1868 PEARD Water Farm xiii 129 A law laid on, and nearly identical with our present Fishery Act 1896 DR ARNOLD Philos Belief 79 Crystals have no structure in the organic sense. They are cases of cohesion of identical particles

†b Geom Of figures Equal and similar Obs

1806 HUTTON Course Math I 174 Identical figures, are such as have all the sides and all the angles of the one, respectively equal to all the sides and all the angles of the other, each to each, so that if the one figure were applied to, or laid upon the other, they would exactly fill upon one vvould exactly fall upon and cover all the sides of the other

3 Logic Said of a proposition, the terms of which denote the same thing, expressing an identity, as the propositions A horse is a horse, Man is a human being

1620 GRANGER Dyv Logicken 230 Man is man, viz Subject to errours Note Identicall Axiomes 1644 DIGBY Two Treat II vii (1645) 69 The greatest assurance and most eminent knowledge we can have of any thing is, of such Propositions as in the Schooles are called Identicall, as if one should say, Man is a man, or a man is a man 1691 I WATTS Logick (1725) 111 40 The Major Proposition is self evidently false when script of its Identical dress 1810 BENTHAM Packing (1821) 147 Propositions, of the case framed by logicians identical which leave every thing exactly as they find it propositions declaring that what is right ought to be done, and what is wrong ought not to be done, and so forth 1884 in Tottie's Logic 63

4 Alg & Expressing identity, as identical equation, an equation which is true for all values of the literal quantities, as $(x+a)^2 = x^2+2ax+a^2$ b Belonging to identity, as identical operation, an operation which leaves the operand unchanged

1875 JOSHUNTER Algebra ix § 149 An identical equation is one in which the two sides are equal whatever numbers the letters stand for, for example, $(x+b)(x-b) = x^2-b^2$ is an identical equation

†5 Marking identity, identifying Obs

1794 HUTTON Tract Mist (1924) I 22 An Eclipse either of the Moon or Moon is such a one as is identical Mark of a Year, that it is easy to distinguish it among an infinite Number of others

II Obs. 1 Identicism (nonce-wd), the employment of an identical proposition

1816 BENTHAM Chrestom 294 'Let them not be too numerous' ... this is plain identicism ... add 'without necessity', the identicism is now topped by self-contradiction

Identically (aide·ntĭkălĭ), adv [f prec + -LY] In an identical manner, in exactly the same way (Often used intensively with same)

1646 Sir MAYNEY Juvenl Touch in Hums (1727) II 291 A Bishop was no more in Scripture, but the same identically with Presbyter 1796 MORSE Amer Geog I 106 The language of the Sandwich Islands almost identically the same with that of Otaheite 1803 Med Jrnl IX 465 Galvanism, which I certainly consider as the same fluid identically with electricity 1842–3 LORD Corr Pleas Lovers (1874) 174 The impossibility of any event identically recurring 1854 in Tottie's Logic 3.8 If this force is of such a kind as to allow the object exposed to its influence to remain identically the same, the same effect would take place afresh in the object every fresh time we let the same cause operate on it

b Alg In the manner of an identical equation see IDENTICAL 4); for all values of the literal quantities

1881 MAXWELL Electr & Magn I 111 The first sum of terms vanishes identically

Identicalness. [f prec + -NESS] The quality of being identical, SAMENESS, identity

1797 in BAILEY vol II 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) IV 201 She has a high opinion of her sex, to think they can charm so long a man so well acquainted with their identicalness 1803 HANNAH MORE Old Nurse, Cheap Banquets (1879) 354 There is a pervading commonplace and identicalness in the composition of extensive dinners.

Identifiable (aide·ntĭfəi·ăbl), a [f IDENTIFY + -ABLE] Able to be identified, capable of identification

1804 Edin Rev III 306 They are easily identifiable 1830 I TAYLOR Prim. God I 94 Species identifiable with those now living in the Mediterranean 1859 LAWRENCE Ceylon I 574 Their names are scarcely identifiable with any now known 1880 C A YOUNG Sun (Internat Sci Ser) 82 A given substance is identifiable by its spectrum

†Identi·fic, a Obs rare [ad L. type identificus* see IDENTIFY] Doing the same, concurring in action

1678 GALE Crt Gentiles III 140 Ludovicus à Dola, bends his second part against the Jesuites to demonstrate, that a next, immediate, and identific concurse of God is such both good and bad, cannot be defended by the artifice of their middle science Ibid, He establisheth the hyper thesis of Durandus, that the general concurse of God to acts of a naturall order, specially such as are wicked, is not proxime, immediate and identific, but remote, mediate, and really distinct from the act of the creature

So †Identifica·tion, identity in action †Identifically adv, as to practical identity

1668 H More Div Dial I xxvii (1713) 79 That Extension which remains to you whether you will or no, is really and identically coincident with the Amplitude of the Essence of God 1716 M DAVIS Athen Brit II 263 Christ was distinguish'd from him [the Father] only by a Personally distinct By Subsistent Identicality

Identification (aidĕntĭfĭkē·shŏn) [n of action f IDENTIFY see FICATION] The action of identifying or fact of being identified

1 The making, regarding, or treating of a thing as identical with (to) another, or of two or more things as identical with one another

1644 DIGBY Two Treat II iii In these [identical propositions] evidence ariseth out of the plaine Identification of the extremes that are affirmed of one another 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr Identification, the making two things to be the same 1749 P SKELTON Deism Revealed II 153 Ibid Step He may then be able ... to join the soul or spirit of man to himself 1801 SOUTHEY Nelson To make but one person of both, such an identification I take to be impossible 1806 R WATSON Charge in Misc Tracts (1815) I 7, I am not ready to admit the identification of the Romish Faith with Gospel Faith 1856 STANLEY Sinai & Pal (1858) 39 If there are insuperable objections to the identification of Serbâl with Sinai 1864 GLADSTONE Hr Comm 98 Feb, The identification of the franchises in boroughs and counties

b The becoming or making oneself one with another, in feeling, interest, or action

1827 WHITNEY Pilot Let xi 41 In Troy it will be the manner of telling a story, in Salisbury, to identify oneself with the character 1858 HOLLAND Titcomb's Lett vii 2 9 The thorough identification of husband and wife in feeling, pride of character and family 1880 STEPHEN Pope iii 61 He kept himself free from identification with either party

2 The determination of identity, the action or process of determining what a thing is, the recognition of a thing as being what it is 1859 LANG Wand India 168 The identification of a child, who may be an heir to property, is not so light a matter as the purchase of a kitten 1860 DICKENS Uncomm Trav v, I had taken, for purposes of identification, a photographic likeness of a thief, in the portrait room at our head police office 1881 A. HASSELL in Nature No 622 507 The identification of their spectroscope presence in certain meteor strasses 1887 Times 28 Sept 3/6 The identification of lvsluinal offenders in spite of their numerous disguises.

†3 Exact portraiture, realistic description, also, an instance of this. Obs

1812 Examiner 25 May 327/2 The several Portrait Pieces are strong identifications of nature 1840 MISS MITFORD in L'Estrange Life (1870) III 111 Such a perfect identification, which is the salt of all literature from Horace to Scott

Identifier. [f IDENTIFY + -ER 1] One who identifies

1889 Evening Disp (Columbus, Ohio) 11 May, It was finally determined that the prisoner, attorneys and identifiers should step into a side room

Identify (aide·ntĭfəi), v. [ad late L identificare see IDENTITY and -FY. Cf F identifier]

1 trans To make identical (with, to something) in thought or in reality, to consider, regard, or treat as the same

1644 DIGBY Two Treat II vi (1645) 69 A body cannot be either like, or identified to nothing 1666 BARROW Expos Creed (1697) 89 All the divine perfections being intrinsecal unto and identified with the divine nature or essence 1781 Hansard Parl XXVIII 88 note, Osiris, whom he identifies with Serapis. 1790 BURKE Fr Rev Wks V 191 They have in operation and identified the estate of the church with the mass of private property. 1839 40 W IRVING Wolfert's R (1855) 35 So as to identify the surrounding scenes with those of which I had just been reading 1856 FROUDE Hist Eng viii (1858) II 243 To identify their interests with those of the native chiefs 1865 PUSEY Truth Exp CA 8 That he identified the glory of God with the gaining fresh converts to the Roman Church

b To make one, in interest, feeling, principle, action, etc. with, to associate inseparably Chiefly refl and passive

1780 BURKE Econ Reform Wks III 348 Let us identify let us incorporate ourselves with the people 1832 SCOTT Ivanhoe Introd., They became identified with the literature of their country 1849 LEWIS Infl Author Matters Opin ix § 1 The abstinence of the state from identifying itself with one of the rival churches 1859 MILL Liberty ii 31 A legislature or an executive, not identified in interest with the people 1866 in STRACHEY Lett (1869) I 102 A Cumnor peace is identified with the name of Stratford Canning

†c intr To be made, become, or appear to be the same ; to become one with Obs

1683 P. HOOKER Disc f. by Bordage's Myst. Inv 103 Only as conjoined with our affections which commix coincide and as it were identifi with that grandest and Divinest Mystery of Love, viz. God made Flesh 1790 BURKE Fr. R. Wks V 271 An enlightened self interest, which they tell us, will identify with an interest more enlarged and publick 1834 LAMB Lett to Coleridge in Final Mem (1848) I 83 Your taste and mine do not always exactly identify

2 To determine (something) to be the same with something conceived, known, asserted, etc. ; to determine or establish the identity of, to ascertain or establish what a given thing or who a given person is ; esp Nat Hist to refer a specimen to its proper species

1769 BLACKSTONE Comm IV xxiii (1873) 386 Although the name must set forth the christian name and surname [etc.] of the offender : and all this to identify his person 1797 BURKE Fr. Rev Bonds (1842) I 167 The absence of such checks renders it utterly accurate to enable the ornithologist to identify this very singular bird 1808 WEBSTER Am., The owners of the goods found them in the possession of the persons charged and identified them 1856 BAIN Senses & Int III ii § 10 1864 (1871) A sailor identifies a speck in the horizon as a ship of a particular build 1880 Athenæum 28 Sept 421 Mr. Round has also identified as belonging to the reign of Stephen an elaborate landed survey

b To serve as a means of identification for 1886 J. WARD in Encycl. Brit XX 6. 2 The voice per ceived identifies Jacob, at the same time he hands identify Esau

Hence Ide ntifying ppl a, that identifies

1828 in WEBSTER 1872 Daily News 27 Apr 4/4 The identifying watch is now one of the most important of the minor figures in our courts of justice 1892 Pall Mall G 14 May 6/1 The ornament identifying medallions furnished to the members for wear during the tour

Identism (ǒidĕntiz'm) [f identi,t] (see IDENTITY) + -ISM] The system or doctrine of identity, spec Schelling's metaphysical theory of absolute identity (SEE IDENTITY I) 1857 W FERRIER Vor Philos, Identism or identity , or the doctrine of absolute identity, teaches that the two elements of thought, objective and subjective, are absolutely one.

†Identi·tial, a Obs rare [irreg f next + -AL] = IDENTICAL I 2 or 3

1655 Grammar Hibernica D y b That the Relatue of substance identitiall, should agree in Gender, Number, and Person, with his Antecedent

Identity (ǒidĕntĭti) Also 6 idemptitie [ad F identité (Oresme, 14th c), ad late L identitās (Martianus Capella, c 425), peculiarly formed from identi(s), for L idem 'same' + -tās, -tātem SEE -TY

Various suggestions have been offered as to the formation Need was evidently felt of a noun of condition or quality from idem to express the notion of sameness side by side with those of 'likeness' and oneness expressed by similitas and unitas hence the form of the suffix But the Romans had no combining stem Some have thought that identitās was taken from the f ide ntidem 'over and over again, repeatedly , connexion with which appears to be suggested by Du Cange's explanation of identitās as 'quævis actio repetita Meyer Lübke suggests that in the formation there was present some association between idem and -ens 'that being , whence identitas like entitās But assimilation to entitās may have been merely to avoid the solecism of identitās* or unitas* However originally identi(s) became the combining stem of idem, and the series unitas, unus, unicus, unificare, was paralleled by identitās, identicus, identificus, identificāre see identic, identifie, identify above]

1 The quality or condition of being the same in substance, composition, nature, properties, or in particular qualities under consideration , absolute or essential sameness, oneness

Absolute identity, that asserted in the metaphysical doctrine of Schelling that mind and matter are phenomenal modifications of the same substance

1570 BILLINGSLEY Euclid I def IV 129 This likeness, identitie, or equalitie of proportion is called proportion allutie 1693 HOLCROFT Protheoria Mor 64 That the soule of this universall world, is not simple, uniforme nor uncompounded, but mixed , of a certaine power of Identitie and of Diversity 1654 Gr Cook Logick (1657) 88 Casuall Identity is of them which agree in the causes Ibid, Accidentall Identity is of them that agree in Accidents 1660 GALE Crt Gentiles i 1 iii 91 That the Phenicians were originally Canaanites, is manifest from the Identitie of their Languages 1751 HARRIS Hermes Wks (1841) 213 Is it not marvellous, there should be so exact an identity of our ideas ? 1892 MUIRHEAD Value And i xxvi 474 The organic remains are of great interest in establishing the geological identity between the coal measures of the Dudley district and those of distant parts of Great Britain 1855 H SPENCER Princ Psychol. (1872) II. vi vi. 59 Resemblance when it exists in the highest degree of all is often called identity 1863 FAWCETT Pol Econ II ix 265 There is no identity of interests between the employers and employed 1878 LADY Rec Adv Theatre xvii (ed 2) 203 The identity of radiant light and heat 1879 BROUGH Cæsar xxiii 298 United by identity of conviction

b with ellips and pl An instance of this quality

1664 H MORE Myst Iniq 264 How fully assured must we needs be of these Identities, the Agreements of these two Parishioners 1775 HARRIS Philos Arrangem Wks (1841) 399 It is by a contrary power of composition that we resolve these identities 1861 WRIGHT Ess Archæol I vi 91 The finding of resemblances of words for identities is one of the great stumbling blocks of the philologist

†c Recurrence of the same , repetition Obs

1611 BIBLE Transl Pref 11 We have not tyed our selues to an vniformitie of phrasing, or to an identitie of words 1619 POTTENGER Athom II xi § 6 1620 325 The soule is delighted with variety It is dulled with identity

2 The sameness of a person or thing at all times or in all circumstances ; the condition or fact that a person or thing is itself and not something else ; individuality, personality

Personal identity an Psychology, the condition or fact of remaining the same person throughout the various phases of existence, continuity of the personality 1638 RAWLEY tr Bacon's Life & Death § 5 The Duration of Bodies is Twofold , One an Identity, or like without substitution, the other by a Renovation or Repair thou 1690 LOCKE Hum Und II xxvii § 6 The identity of the same Man consists in nothing but a participation of the same continued life, by constantly fleeting Particles of Matter, in succession vitally united to the same organized Body. Ibid § 9 Consciousness always accompanies thinking, and it is that alone consists personal Identity, i e the Sameness of a rational Being 1730 HUME Hum Nat I v (1874) I 323 Of all relations the most comprehensive and philosophical, common to every being, whose existence has any duration 1820 W IRVING Sketch Bk I 85 He doubted his own identity, and whether he was himself or some one else 1883 C DOWNES Tell Cook Countries I 269 The fair city almost forfeits its identity, when disguised in a musty and murky atmosphere 1885 T. GRAHAME in Temp Gaz 89 I am had such a curious feeling of having lost his identity, that he wanted to reassure himself by the sight of his little belongings.

b Personal or individual existence rare ? Obs

1683 DRYDEN Life Plutarch 31 (Plutarch) doubtless believ'd the identity of souls upon an intellectual being, which we call God 1824 BYRON Juan XIV. LXX. How only a single hobgoblin's non entity Should cause more fear than a whole host's identity

†3 The self same thing ' Obs rare

1616 BULLOKAR, Identita, the selfe same thing 1619 POTTENGER Athom II xi § 2 (16.2) 216 Life is not the cause of its owne being, but the very same identity with its being

4 Alg & Trig The equality of two expressions for all values of the literal quantities distinctively denoted by the sign = b An equation expressing an identity, an identical equation (IDENTICAL 4 a)

1850 BARN SMITH Arith & Algebra (ed 6) 338 Such an expression as $(x+a)^2 = x^2 + 2ax + a^2$, where one of the quantities, between which the sign of equality is placed, results from performing the operations indicated in the other, is called an identity

5 The condition of being identified in feeling, interest, etc esp

1868 CHARNOCK Purp Mundi I (1870) 5 He is in truth in visible identity with the age

6 Logic Law or Principle of Identity, the principle expressed in the identical proposition This A is this A HAMILTON Logic I ix 76 The four logical laws of Identity, Contradiction, Excluded Middle, and Reason und Consequent 1851 MANSEL Prolég Logic (1860) 256 The Law of Identity might be expressed by the Principle of Identity 'Every A is A' 1860 ABP THOMSON Laws Th (ed 5) § 114 212 Criteria of Truth and Criterium The Principle of Identity 1884 POWER & Identical Logic, Brief ed 5) 19 note, Amongst the assumptions or pre suppositions of reasoning, I have not included the so-called Law of Identity which is to say that A is A, or a thing, is the same itself, appears to me to be an utterly unmeaning proposition

†Identlie, -ly sec IDENT

Ideo- (ǒidiǒ-, ĭdiǒ), combining form of Gr ἰδέα IDEA, as in I deoglyph - IDEOGRAPH Ideo latry (ρ LATRY), the worship of ideas Ideo-motor (-mōu·tŏr) a [MOTOR], applied by W B Carpenter to automatic muscular movements arising from complete occupation of the mind by an idea, and to the cerebral centres controlling such movements, so Ideo-motion, ideo motor movement I deophone (-fōun) [Gr φωνή voice, sound], term used by A J Ellis (in contradistinction to ideograph) for a sound or group of sounds denoting an idea, i e a spoken word, so Ideophone tics, the subject of 'ideophones', Ideophonous (-ŏf'ŏnəs) a, relating to spoken words or sounding denoting ideas Ideoplastic (pre ksist) nonce wd [Gr πράξις doing sec -IST], one whose practice is actuated by an idea, one who embodies an idea in action Ideo-sensa tional a, compounded of ideas and sensations

1847 HOSKYNS On Intl Hieroglyph Alph in Trans Acad Trans XVI 11 3 We may give to these characters and also to those which represent ideas without the intervention of words, the common name of 'Ideoglyphs' 1869 BARING GOULD Orig Relig Belief II 172 Idolatry exists in three forms. 1 Fetishism, 2 Symbolism, 3 *Idolatry 1886 Syd Soc Lex, Ideomotion, same as Ideo motor movements 1874 CARPENTER Ment Phys II xiv (1879) 557 His actions being directly prompted by the ideas with which he was possessed, and thus [he] may be as distinguished from volitional 1886 Syd Soc Lex, Ideomotor centre, that part of the grey matter of the brain which excites muscular contraction under the influence of ideation 1881 A J ELLIS Synops Lect Lond Dialectical Soc 2 Nov., Mimetics, ideographics, and *ideophonetics Fixed ideographs, variable ideophone, and their connection 1847 J. W WILLIAMS Mich Mag I x 464 The number of such *ideophonous compounds 1831 CARLYLE Sart Res iv viii, He himself was among the number [who] had thought, at least *Ideopraxists in the Idea (in the Idee) he lived, moved, and fought 1886 GUMMEY Phantasms of Living I 464 Idea sensational* would avoid this difficulty

Ideogram (ǐ·dĭŏgræm) [f Gr ἰδέα IDEA + GRAM (f mod F idéogramme)] TEXT

1858 HINCKS in Blackw Mag July 106 Nor was Dr Young, he succeeded with the Assyrian inscriptions, in reducing symbolic characters direct and indirect, many of which he determined 1882 J F BROWN in Schell Doctr Relig Assyr I 582 A Nineveh pronunciation was given to the letters used as ideograms 1883 DELITZSCH in Encl Brit 26 May 669/1 The Sumerian symbols or ideograms usually express the characteristics of the principal animals or objects which they represent 1893 S LANE Hum Orig 62 The idea of beauty being conveyed by an ideogram meaning a large sheep

Ideograph (ǐ·dĭŏgrăf, -ŏf) Also erron ideagraph [f as prec + -GRAPH] A character or figure symbolizing the idea of a thing without expressing the name of it as the Chinese characters and most Egyptian hieroglyphs

1832-40 HOSKINS Travels Ethiopia AMS B M Egypt Antiq 1 96 Hieroglyphic characters are either ideographs (that is, representatives of ideas or phonographs (that is representatives of sounds) 1858 Blackw Mag XLIII 67 The old Egyptians in their hieroglyphics used simply two or more symbols to express an idea or ideograph 1883 Sat Rev 3 Nov 599/1 The Japanese have carried the employment of ideographs, which denoted objects and not sounds Ibid 29 Thus in English the ideograph + may be pronounced 'plus,' added to or not, according to the pleasure of the reader Ideographic (ǐdiŏgræ·fĭk, ĭ·dĭŏ- rarely ăf- (erron ideag-) [f as prec + -IC (f mod F idéographique)] Of the nature of an ideograph, expressing an idea directly, as distinguished from the word or words by which it is expressed, relating to or composed of ideographs

1822 Q Rev XXVIII 180 Two Memoirs to prove that neither the hieratic nor the demotic writing of Egypt is ideographic 1849 Fraser's Mag XL 419 The principle whether phonetic or ideographic 1862 H SPENCER First Prin III xv § 122 The Egyptian writing, of the Mexicans was found to have given birth to a like family of ideographic forms 1869 TYLOR Lect Speech iv (1871) 121 Chinese has only some 450 sounds, and yet has upwards of 40,000 ideographic signs

B sb An ideographic character, pl a method of writing in ideographic characters

1846 WORCESTER cites Penny Cyc, 1848 COTTRELL in Transact Lancs & Ches Antiq I 406 The Ideographics comprise all non phonetic signs 1881 [see ideophonetics in IDEO]

So Ideogra phical a = prec , hence Ideogra phically adv, by means of ideographs

1836 DR PUSEY in Church Of Hist VII 18/2 Keep out to yourself our hymn books to be written ideographically and to be sung Ibid 1838 Tracts for Times Ant Ser III 584/1 Ideographical writing, as opposed to phonetic 1880 SAYCE in Nature 19 Feb 379 There was a limit to the number of ideas which could be represented ideographically

Ideography (ǐdĭŏ·grăfi, ĭ·dĭŏgrăfi) Also erron ideagraphy [f Gr ἰδέα IDEA + -GRAPHY (f ideographie)] The direct representation of ideas by graphic signs, as distinguished from phonetic symbols, writing consisting of ideographs

1858 J HOLLAND Plain Guide 185 Mr. Isaac Taylor, Ideography a system or to those of short hand writing 1861 Nat Rev XI Sept 278 An erudite introduction upon North American 'Ideography' 1865 Athenæum 18 Nov 674/3 (1873) 120 They invented writing, but it stopped at hieroglyphics and ideography

Ideologue (ǐ·dĭŏlŏg) a [f IDEOLOGY + -IC (f idéologique, 1801) + -AL] = next, 1857 J L WARREN Intell Taste v 75 A complete solution of the great Ideologic problem

Ideological, a Also erron idealogical [f as prec + -AL]

1 Belonging or relating to ideology (sense 1, or to the study of ideas

1797 Monthly Mag III 286 Tracy exhibits a common table of such ideal gical truths, as he conceives to be evident 1823 MILL Encycl II § 4 Abstractions from ideological discussions 1886 Pres Phil Ass 4 June p xlvi, He had compiled lists of ideological indices for over two hundred languages

2 Relating to, or occupied with an idea or ideas, esp of a visionary kind, dealing with ideas as opposed to facts, ideal, speculative, idealistic (Cf IDEOLOGY 2)

1837 Blackw Mag XLII 407 Hence arises what Napoleon has called the ideological race of men 1862 HEATHLY in Rep Ves & Asc 1867 It is an insult to his understanding, to ask him to allow a so called ideological applicability to support the mutual and obvious meaning 1866 Pall Mall G 14 Oct 10 If these tendencies are to be classified at all they can only be classed in two divisions—the ideological (if intentionally avoid the word idealistic) and the materialistic

Hence Ideolo gically adv., in an ideological manner, in a non literal sense

1861 Bp S Wilberforce Ess (1874) I 150 They ideologically suggest that, when it is asserted that our Lord miraculously fed the multitudes no more is meant than that he fed the souls of thousands with edifying moral discourses 1862 Herbert Ess & Rev 175 To be understood, not as literally and historically true, but only ideologically, or in a 'spiritualized sense'

Ideologist (aidiæ·lŏdʒist) (cf̃ron idea-) [ad F idéologiste, f idéologie Ideology see -IST]

1 One versed in ideology (sense 1), one who treats of the origin and nature of ideas.

1798 W Taylor in Monthly Rev XXV 584 The ideologists of Paris. 1806 Mem Lady Morgan II 40 Both she and Sir Charles were intimate with the Comte de Tracy the idéologiste 1862 Maurice Mor & Met Philos IV viii § 58 500 The modern ideologists have claimed him as their progenitor

2 A person occupied with an idea or ideas, esp with such as are regarded as unpractical, a speculator, an idealist, a visionary, a mere theorist

1831 Carlyle Sart Res II viii, We find our poor Professor at last studiously dismissed, almost kicked out of doors, as an 'Ideologist' 1835 Blackw Mag XXXVIII 321 Correspondence with the French propagandists, ideologists, and revolutionaries 1847 Emerson New Rep, Napoleon Wks (Bohn) I 368 The advocates of liberty, and of progress, are 'ideologists', —a word of contempt often in his [Bonaparte's] mouth 1870 Bagehot Lit Stud II (1877) 403 He derided the ideologists who were not content with taking the material world as he found it, and putting it to its practical uses

Ideo logize, v. [f Ideology(y see -ize] trans To treat (a statement) ideologically 1860 Bp S Wilberforce Ess (1874) I 170 Could he call on any other speculator to stay the ideologising process?

Ideologue (aidĭ·ŏlŏg) Also erron ideologue [ad F idéologue, f Gr. ἰδέα Idea + -logue] = Ideologist 2

1815 Hsl. M Williams Lett St. France VII 190 I saving the ideologues of his council to arrange what he [Louis parte] calls their revolutionary rubbish such as sovereign people, equal rights, &c 1818 Examiner 30 Dec 1676 Unless by ill fortune the Throne were filled by an ideologue 1827 Ibid 10 Sept 1202 English workmen, we imagine, are not becoming ideologues, but some of their delegates are

Ideology (aidĭæ·lŏdʒi) [ad F idéologie see Ido- and -logy]

1 The science of ideas, that department of philosophy or psychology which deals with the origin and nature of ideas q spec Applied to the system of the French philosopher Condillac, according to which all ideas are derived from sensations

1796 W Taylor in Monthly Rev XX 569 Tracy read a paper (at the National Institute of France) and proposed to call the philosophy of mind ideology 1797 Monthly Mag III 285 Tracy proposes, that the science which results from this analysis, be named ideology, or the science of ideas, in order to distinguish it from the ancient metaphysics 1832 Sir W Hamilton Discuss (1852) 69 Ideologie more correctly Idéologie has in France become the name peculiarly distinctive of that philosophy of mind which exclusively derives our knowledge from the senses. 1852 H Rogers Ess I vii 327 The word ideas' enters appropriately corrupted in the modern ideology, as a name for a system of purely sensational philosophy 1881 Ibid Dawson in Roumm's Philos Syst § 10 22 Ideology undertakes to investigate the nature of human knowledge

b The study of the way in which ideas are expressed in language

1886 Pract Philol No 4 June p xlii, Valuable evidence could be derived from comparative ideology, a branch of the science of language that hitherto had been much neglected

2 Ideal or abstract speculation, in a deprecatory sense, unpractical or visionary theorizing or speculation

1813 J Adams Wks (1856) X 52 Napoleon has lately invented a word, which perfectly expresses my opinion He calls the project ideology 1827 Scott Napoleon VI 251 Ideology, by which nickname the French ruler [Bonaparte] used to distinguish every species of theory, which, resting in no respect upon the basis of self interest, could be thought, prevail with those save but brained boys and crazed enthusiasts 1839 Carlyle Chartism VI 148 Does the British reader call all this unpleasant doctrine of ours ideology? 1881 Spectator Bonaparte in Heron Mag XLIV 1043/2 He put aside the whole system of false and confused thinking which had reigned since 1792, and which he called ideology

3 = Idealism 1

1835 J H Robertson in Schlegel's Philos Hist (1846) 64 Infidel science, astonished at her own discoveries, which disconcert alike ideology and materialism

Ideom(e, Ideot, etc, obs ff Idiom, etc

Ideomotion, -praxiat, etc see Ideo-

I-deoped, ME pa pple of Deep v

I-derued, ME pa pple of Derve v

Ides (aidz), sb pl Rarely in sing ide [a F Ides (12th c in Hatz-Darm.), ad L Idūs, sb pl] In the ancient Roman calendar, the eighth day after the nones, i e. the 15th of March, May, July, October, and the 13th of the other months

The days after the nones were reckoned forward to the ides, hence such expressions as 'the sixth of the ides' (or 'the sixth ide') 'of June', loosely rendering L ante diem sextum Idus Junias = June 8 See note 2 v Calends 2 c 1330 R Brunne Chron (1810) 341 Idus bat is of May left I to write bis tyme, B letter & Friday bi is bat sere ȝede prime 1483 Caxton Gold Leg 215 b/2 It was the in ydes of July 1508 Anglicus Chron 69/5 Somer begynnithe the vij Ide of may and lastith vnto the vij Ide of august 1576 Fleming Panopl hpist 40 Dated the 7 of Ides of June 1601 Shaks Twel C II v 17 Cesar

Beware the Ides of March 1641 Howell Lett in New Yr Lett (1650) 119, The soft gliding Nones and every Ide 1778 Abigail Adams in J Adams Fam Lett (1876) 160 The 13th of April, ever memorable for America as the Ides of March to Rome and to Cæsar 1834 Layton Pompeii I 71 It stands fixed for the Ides of March 1837 Ainsworth Panna 1847 Emerson Woodnotes I 45 Foreteller of the vernal ides, Wise harbinger of spheres and tides

¶ Id est, two Latin words, meaning 'that is', used in works written in Latin to introduce an explanation of a word or phrase = 'that is to say', retained in English in the same use, now usually in the abbreviated form i e (formerly often i) see Abbreviations, under I the letter

1398 Trevisa Barth De P R xviii 1 a wel hen, id est, a milke sop 1663 Butler Hud I i 850 Mira de lente, as 'tis'th' Adage, Id est, to make a Leek a Cabbage 1821 Byron Juan IV xciii, 'Arcades ambo, id est- blackguards both

Idiasm (i·diæzm) [ad Gr ἰδιασμός peculiarity, f ἰδιάζ-ειν to be peculiar, f ἴδιος peculiar] A peculiarity, mannerism

1868 C M Inclebay in Athenæum 12 Dec 800/3 Among the causes which deform and enervate a language are ... the use of idioms generating euphuism ... 1877 Shakespeare I vii 118 The idioms, idiotisms, and, above all, the idiasms of Shakespeare [etc.] 1893 Nat Observer 21 Jan 240/2 The owner's personal or peculiar whimsy or 'idiasm' is not only permissible, but is distinctly demanded

Idio (i·dĭŏ), a Biol [f Id- + Ic] Pertaining to an id or ids 1893 in Weismann's Germ Plasm I 63 Every id of the germ plasm contains the whole of the elements which are necessary for the development of all adjacent idic stages.

I-dished, ME. pa pple of Ditch v

Idisly, idili, idillioh, obs ff Idly

I-dight, i dight, i dihte see Dight and Dicht v

Idio- (i·dĭo), repr Gr ἰδιο-, combining form of ἴδιος own, personal, private, peculiar, separate, distinct, used in numerous compounds in Greek. Idiopathy and Idiosyncrasy are Eng representatives, but a number of recent scientific terms have been formed on Greek types, or even with a Latin second element, as idio muscular, -repulsive

I dioblast Biol [see -blast], an individual plant-cell of different nature or content from the surrounding tissue(s) Idio cratic nature, -cy [see -cracy], personal rule or government I dio-cyclo-phanous a [see Cyclo and Idiophanous], exhibiting axial interference figures without the use of polarizing apparatus Idiodi nic a Zool [Gr δίν-ος, δῖν-η eddy, vortex, taken in sense 'pore'], having a special opening for the extrusion of genital products Idio elo ectric a [see Electric], capable of being electrified by friction Idioglo ttic a [see Glottis, and cf Gr ἰδιόγλωσσος], using words of one's own invention Idiogo nadnet, the gonadnut of an idiodinic animal I-diograph [Gr ἰδιόγραφον], one's private mark or signature, hence Idiogra phic a, of or pertaining to an idiograph Idio latry monst coil [Gr λατρεία worship], self-worship Idio meter [-meter], an instrument for measuring the 'personal equation' of an observer, by observation of the transit of an artificial star whose actual motion is exactly known Idiomn scular a Path [see Muscular], in Idiomuscular contraction, Schiff's term for the local contraction, under physical stimulus, of a muscle directly fatigued or dying, the excitation not being transmitted to the whole length of muscular fibre Idiomn ral a Path [see Neural] see quot) +Idio nomy [Gr -νομία arrangement], individual constitution Idio-phanism, idiophanous nature or property Idio phanous a [Gr -φανής appearing] Idiocyclophanous Idiophan tasm Path [Gr φάντασμα mind], Tuke's term for the form of insanity which is caused by disorder of the brain itself' (Syd Soc Lex 1886) I dioplasm Biol, Nageli's term for the special portion of protoplasm in a germ or cell which is supposed to determine the character of the resulting organism, hence Idioplasma tic a Idiopsycho-logy, the psychology of one's own mind, hence Idiopsychol gical a Idiore pellent a [-repellent] repelling Idiorrhy thmic a [Gr ἰδιόρρυθμος living in one's own way], of monastic institutions allowing freedom to the individual (opposed to Cœnobitic) Idiosta tic a [see Static], not employing any auxiliary electrification in the measurement of electricity opposed to Heterostatic Idiotha lamous a Bot [Thalamus], 'having a different colour or texture from the thallus, a term used among lichens' (Treas Bot. 1866) I diotype Chem [Type] (see quot), hence Idioty pic a

1882 Vines Sachs' bot 84 It is not unusual for individual cells in a tissue otherwise homogeneous to become developed in a manner strikingly different from their neighbours; to such cells I have applied the term 'Idioblast' 1896 J Sinclair Mount 103 No few of them all would set up a theocracy, or 'idiocracy,' for this is the exact word, more eagerly and remorselessly 1890 Athenæum 29 Mar 408/3 'On Bertrand's 'Idiocyclophanous Prism', by Prof C F Thompson 1883 F R Lankester in Encycl Brit XVI 682/1 note, The Porodinic group is divisible into Nephrodina and 'Idiodina, in the former the nephridium serving as a pore, in the latter a special (idio) pore being developed 1888 Webster, 'Idioelectric, electric per se,' or containing electricity in its natural state Gregory 1892 R Knox Beddoe's Anal 160 They [hairs] are idio-electric. 1888 H Hale in Science 28 Sept 146/1 The boy soon gave up his 'idioglottic endeavors. 1883 E R Lankester in Encycl Brit XVI 682/1 note, The genital ducts of Idiopus form may be called 'idiogonaducts, as distinguished from the Nephrogonaducts of nephridomic forms 1623 Cockeram, 'Idiograph, private writings 1658 Phillips Glossogr, Idiograph, a private writing, or of one's own hand writing 1887 Weston Cas 27 Now 8/9 He had asked Sir William how he wrote his name phonetically, and he had given him an autograph 1860 Bp Andrewes Serm (1841-4) II 393 (Cent) Idolatry differs but a letter from 'idolatry 1881 Daily News 19 Sept 6/2 The 'idiometer was invented by Colonel Herbert who adopted by the Indian Survey Department 1898 Foster Phys I ii § 2 72 The wheal in many respects resembles a very slow or almost fixed contraction wave, and has been called an 'idio-muscular contraction 1896 Allbutt Syst Med I 109 The belief in the idiomuscular or, more truly, 'idio neural action of the intact muscle 1861 Hughes New Tract P 234 We have assigned the precedency and priority to purges from regular 'Idionomy and propriety of natures with their appellatives 1888 Westm Rev Oct 293 Thus the 'idio-plasm was changed more and more in the course of generations. 1890 Weismann in Nature 6 Feb 320 The 'idioplasmatic nature of nuclein and substance 1886 F L Patton in New Princeton Rev Mar 181 'Idiopsychological' and 'heteropsychological' are the epithets employed to denote these two methods 1833 W H Brookfield in Life Tennyson (1897) I 126 At auto psychography I am not good, if I had any 'idiopsychology to autopsychographize

Idio-s own, private. peculiar Cf It , Sp , Pg idioma The L form was also used for some time]

1. The form of speech peculiar or proper to a people or country , own language or tongue

1575 Gascoigne Cert Notes Instr Eng Verse § 11 So would I wish you to frame all sentences in their mother phrase, and proper Idioma 1590 [Harvey] Disc Problems 41 A hawty Latin stile and antique Idеome 1589 Puttenham Arte Poesie II xiii] (Arb) 197 To allow euery word poliaffiable one long time which should be where his sharpe accent falls in our owne ydiome most aptly and naturally 1692 R Coxwell Inj & Advt Phys 48 The writings of Glauber, which were translated into the English Idiom 1711 Addison Spect No 165 ¶ 3 The Historias of all former Wars are transmitted to us in our Vernacular Idiom 1806 Farrar Orig Lang 1 20 The divine spark which glows in all idioms

b In narrower sense That variety of a language which is peculiar to a limited district or class of people , dialect.

1598 Florio Ital Dict A iv a, So manie, and so much differing Dialects, and Idiomes, as be vsed and spoken in Italie 1601 Holland Pliny Pref A iij b, That Dialect or Idеome which was familiar to the basest clowne 1664] Davies Mantelello's Lenv 226 I the Chineses when they speak, cannot understand one the other, by reason of the diversity of the Idioms and Dialects that is among the Inhabitants of several Provinces a 1794 Gibbon Misc Wks (1814) I 188 On the spot I read . . the classics of the Tuscan idiom 1874 Raymond John Bapt II § 338 I here were 'voices' which expressed in some vernacular idiom of Hebrew or Greek the thoughts of the Almighty

2. The specific character, peculiarity, or genius of any language , the manner of expression which is natural or peculiar to it = Idiotism 2

1598 E Gilpin Skial (1878) 39 Oh how the vargas from his blacke pen wrung, Would sauce the Idiome of the English tongue 1662 Devon Exam Antid Canons Wks (Globe) 39 The terms of arts in every tongue bearing more of the idiom of it than any other words 1683 Brit Spec 39 The Idiom of it, as to the matter, appears to be Scottish 1754 Sherlock Disc (1759) I vi 189 To bring anything to light is in the Idiom of the English Tongue, to discover or reveal a thing 1806 Goldsmith Vers Relig viii 11 (1837) 218 In their attempt to maintain idiom

3 A form of expression, grammatical construction, phrase, etc, peculiar to a language , a peculiarity of phraseology apparent by the usage of a language, and often having a signification other than its grammatical or logical one 1608 Donne 80 Serm vi (1640) 52 There are certaine idioms, certaine formes of speech which the holy Ghost repeats severall times 1611 Howell Lex Tetra-Gl (Arb) 20 Every speech hath certaine Idiomes, and custom ary Phrases of its own 1730 Berkeley Alciphr vi § 7 The Hebrew tongue, which, as every other language had its idioms 1871 Pub School Lat Gram § 122 The Adverbial use of the Attribute and Apposite is an important idiom.

4. Specific form or property , peculiar nature , peculiarity Obs exc in of 1 or 2

[1596 Fitz Geffray Sir F Drake (1881) 34 Vnpartiall Iudge of all, saue present state, Truth's Idioma of the things are past] 1644 Du Wr Treat II 64(1) 143 Who can looke vpon those wonderous processions and idiomes [of the Godhead] reserved for Angels eyes? 1654] Taylor Real Pres (1674) 11 In this way, that is, Christs body, by the communication of the Idioms or properties to the bread with which it is united 1658 R Franck North Mem (1694) 177 It represents the nature and idiom 1828 Macaulay Ess History in Misc Writ (1889) 152 Connection not so close as to destroy the idioms of national opinion and feeling

Idio-macy, rare—1 [f L idiomat-, stem of idiōma Idiom see -cy] Idiomatic quality

1823 Examiner 15 Mar 170/1 Its pert slang and ungrammatical idiomacy

Idiomatic (idiomæ·tik), a [ad Gr ἰδιωματικός peculiar, characteristic, f ἰδίωμα (ἰδιωματ-) Idiom Cf F idiomatique (Littré)]

1 Peculiar to or characteristic of a particular language , pertaining to or exhibiting the expressions, constructions, or phraseology approved by the peculiar usage of a language, esp as differing from a strictly grammatical or logical use of words, vernacular , colloquial 1728 Addison Spect No 285 ¶ 4 Since Phrases used in ordinary Conversation contract a kind of Meanness by passing through the Mouths of the Vulgar, a Poet should take particular Care to guard himself against Idiomatick Ways of Speaking 1784 tr D. Fetter's Compl Eng Life Pure Idiomatic and attractive English 1839 H Rogers Ess II iii 136 The language of familiar dialogue and colloquial pleasantry is always in a high degree idiomatic, both in the terms and phrases employed, and in the construction 1873 Jowett Plato (ed 2) IV 419 Hegel thought he gave his philosophy a truly German character by the use of idiomatic German words.

+b Peculiar to a person, individual Obs

1765 Hurd Mor & Polit Dial Pref 42 The idiomatic differences of expression, which flow not from the manners, but from some degree of study and affectation

2 Given to or marked by the use of idioms peculiar to, or approved by, the usage of the language

1839 Hallam Hist Lit iv vii ¶ 32 IV 329 They were more strictly idiomatic and English than their predecessors. 1870 Lowell Among my Bks Ser 1 74 note, I the more idiomatic, as distinguished from correct writers, he [Dryden] knew very little about the language historically or critically

So Idioma tical a. = prec. Hence Idioma tically adv, in an idiomatic manner Idioma ticalness, the condition of being idiomatic

1797 Bailey vol II, Idiomatical Idiomatically 1826 Sterne Tr Shandy VI xxxvii, To say a man is fallen in love carries an idiomatical kind of signification in the love as a thing below a man 1773 Monboddo Lang, nage (1774) I i viii 99 Qualities that are accidental, or idiomatical, that is, peculiar to the individual 1779 Dr Johnson J & Addison Wks III 110 If his language had been less idiomatical, it might have lost somewhat of its genuine Anglicism 1820 Dr Quin Rhetoric Wks VI 50 Men wrote . . idioma tically, because they wrote naturally and without affectation 1898 F Hall in Nation (N Y) I XVI 347/1 Its character makes nothing either for or against the idiomaticalness of in our midst

Idioma·ticism. rare—1 [f prec + -ism] An idiomatic expression

1860 Parthenon 26 July 397 'Occasional idiomaticisms', in such passages as it has been thought necessary to render literally will, we hope, be readily excused

+Idio·matism. Obs rare—1 [f Gr ἰδιωματ Idiom + -ism] An idiomatic expression

1727–41 Chambers Cycl II Idiom Rag 246/1 His style is some times ungrammatical, and abounding with North British terms and idiomatisms

+ Idio·scopy. Obs rare—1 [f as prec + -scopy] A collection of idioms

1650 W Walker Idiomat Anglo-Lat Pref 6 To translate some Englishes made in way of dialogue whose latines may all be found in their respective heads of this Idiomatology

Idiomorphic (idiomōrfik), a Min [f Idio + Gr μορφή form + -ic] Having its own characteristic form , spec having its characteristic crystallographic faces , said of one of the constituent minerals of a rock Hence Idiomo rphically adv

1887 Geol Mag Mar 123 The normal plutonic rocks are characterized by a structure in which idiomorphic constituents occur only in small proportions 1888 W S Bayley in Amer Naturalist Mar 208 An idiomorphic mineral is one whose form is determined by the crystallizing forces acting within itself . . Hypidiomorphic mineral is bounded by crystal planes. Ibid 209 When all of the constituents are idiomorphically developed, the rock is panidiomorphic.

† Idiopathe·tic, a rare [f Idiopath, after pathetic] = Idiopathic

1661 Lovell Hist Anim & Min 337 The epilepsy if idiopathetick, it is cured as before, by phlebotomy (etc.) 1732 tr Boerhaave's Precepts § 1 Physicians divide Pains of the Head, whether Idiopathetick, or by Consent of Parts 1846 Worcester cites Month Rev

So Idiopathe·tical a (Bailey vol II 1727) — Idiopathe·tically adv — Idiopathe·ticalness (Ash 1775) — Idiopathe·tism = Idiopathy

Idiopathic (idiopæ·pik), a and sb [f Gr ἰδιοπαθής (f ἴδιος own + πάθος Path) + -ic Cf F idiopathique (1803)]

1 Path Of a disease Arising by itself in a particular part of the body , of the nature of a primary morbid state , not consequent upon or symptomatic of another disease

1669 W Simpson Hydrol Chym 88 If the diseases be idiopathick 1845 Chambers's Mere Compact 19 The idiopathick Headach requires Purging 1796 Nat Hist in Ann Reg 405 It is a real and idiopathic disease 1874 Maudsley Respons in Mind Phys 81 So does one whole tragedy owing to idiopathic disease of the brain 1876 tr Wagner's Gen Pathol 2 In many cases it is important to recognize in an affection its idiopathic or symptomatic character

So Idiopa thical a = prec , hence Idiopathically adv, in the manner of an idiopathic disease.

1826 Webster, Idiopathically 1835 Penny Cycl XXII I 229/1 Disease as it commences idiopathically within the vessel itself 1846 Worcester cites Jour Of Ass for Idiopathical 1861] Gresham Lect Pract Phys 1 We must carefully watch for the symptoms of the complications, and treat them much as when they occur idiopathically.

Idiopathy (idi·pāpi) [ad med L idiopathia, f ἰδιοπαθεῖν (Galen) see Idio and Path-] Cf F idiopathie]

†1 A feeling or sensation peculiar to an individual or class , an individual or personal state of feeling

1647 H More Song of Soul II To Rdr, All men are so full of their own phansies and idiopathies, that they seem to have the cruelty to interchange any words with a stranger Ibid (interpret unusual words), Idiopathie, is one's proper peculiar sense, tune or thine, being affected thus or so upon this or that occasion a 1688 Cudworth Immut Morality (1731) 54 It is impossible to demonstrate that any two Men have the very same Phantasms or Ideas of Red or Green, these being Idiopathies

2 Path + a A morbid condition originating in the part affected, and not occasioned by disease elsewhere Obs b A disease not preceded or occasioned by any other , a primary disease a 1640 Jackson Creed x xxxii § 9 The idiopathy as physicians speak is in the soul, the sympathy only in the spirit or conscience 1671 Phil Trans VI 2292 The Parts, which are primarily and by idiopathy affected in a Consumption 1696 Phillips (ed 5), Idiopathie, in Physick, a primary Disease 1833 New Monthly Mag XXXIV 169 This moral idiopathy, which neither proceeds from nor depends on any other disease, this rich for seeing memor able places is peculiarly English

Idiophanous, etc. see Idio-

I diopt rare [f Gr ἴδ-ος peculiar + ὀπτ-ός seen as in ἄπτομαι one who looks, ἀπτός seen] One who has some peculiarity of vision

1833 Whewell in Todhunter Acc Wks (1876) II 153 The idiopt perceived rarely, if at all, steady distinction between the two images

Idioprosilive, -static, etc see Idio-

Idiosy, obs form of Idiocy

+Idiosyncra sical, a Obs rare—1 [f Idiosyncrasy + -ic + -al] = Idiosyncratic 1833 Hare Dict of Decorum (1902) 20 No individual shall I say of the Idiosyncrasicall propriety of divers patients?

+Idiosyncrasis. Obs rare [a Gr ἰδιο συγκρᾶσις] = next

1664 Wharton Epidemics Pref 3 b Out of an Idiosyncrasis (or particular Temper) of my Frame 1797 Monthly Mag III 348 Lest the acrid humour should be mistaken for the effect produced by an idiosyncrasis of the vessels

Idiosyncrasy (idiosi·nkrăsi) Also 7 idio sygcrasye, 7–8 syncrasie, 7–9 (erron) cracy [ad Gr ἰδιοσυγκρασια, also σύγκρασις, f Idio- + σύγκρασις commixture, tempering (συν together + κρᾶσις mixing, tempering, Crasis)] A peculiarity of constitution or temperament

1 The physical constitution peculiar to an individual (of or class Now only Med

1604] Hering Modest Def 9 The idiosygcrasye or particular Natures (as Galen calleth them) are vnknown 1656 Sir T Browne Pseud Ep II xi 100 (ed 2) 158 Whether Qualities from any idiosyncrasy or peculiarity of constitution, doe in notoriously feed upon Hellebore 1744 Berkeley Siris § 87 Something in the idiosyncrasy of the patient that puzzles the physician 1828 Edin Rev XLVII 39 The special and apparently capricious varieties of digestive power, which the learned call Idiosyncrasy 1875 H C Wood Therap (1879) 22 Temperaments are peculiarities of organization characterizing classes of individuals idiosyncrasies, peculiarities belonging only to single individuals

2 The mental constitution peculiar to a person or class of persons , individual bent of mind or inclination , a view or feeling, a liking or aversion, peculiar to a single person, race, or nation

1669 Glanvill Sceptis Sci xiv 90 The Understanding also hath its Idiosyncrasies, or only belief Faculties 1771 Wesley Wks (1872) VI 128 There may be an idiosyncrasy a peculiarity in your constitution of soul 1874 Stubbs Const Hist I iv 58 The pertinacious idiosyncrasy of the Celtic genius

3 A mode of expression peculiar to an author

1832–9 Hallam Hist Lit vi § 61 IV 61 The style of Bacon has an idiosyncrasy which we might expect from his genius Ibid iii vi § 73 III 329 The elaborate delines tions of Fenton or the idiosyncrasies of Pope 1874 Sayce Compar Philol 111 We must not believe that we know a language because we can successfully imitate the idiosyncrasies of a few of its literary men

Idiosyncratic (idiosinkra·tik), a [f prec after Gr συγκρατικός see -ic] Pertaining to, or of the nature of, idiosyncrasy , due to individual disposition or susceptibility a 1779 Warburton Div Legat II App (1846) I 329 Hi Lordship's idiosyncratic theory, the terror of a future State 1870 Lowell Among my Bks Ser I (1873) 172 An idiosyncratic use of words 1886 Symonds Animis Vindex (1898) 1 (1898) VII 221 Our true critic renounces his idiosyncratic whims and partialities 1893 Brit Med Jrnl Sept 555 The action—idiosyncratic or otherwise—of the above named drug.

So Idiosyncra tical a = prec , hence Idiosyncra tically adv, by inherent peculiarity of constitution

1650 Culpeper Paradoxes Prol 16 The confederate vertue of the Unguent idiosyncratically opposed to the essential hostility of that Acid 1670 Maynwaring Vita Medica 20 The various species of idiosyncratical properties of several bodies 1863 Lytton Caxtoniana I 7 The man inveterately idiosyncratically shy 1893 Patton Religion of Facts (1898) 40 Those of idiosyncratical enthusiasm

Idiot (i·diŏt), sb and a Forms 4 ydiote, 4–5 ydiotte, 4–6 ydi(e, yd , idyot, 5 idyote, -othe ydeote, 6 ydeot(te, ideot, t)e, ideotte, 4–7 ideote, 4–9 ideot, 4– idiot [a F idiot (13th c in Hatz Darm) = It , Sp , Pg idiota, ad L idiōta uneducated, ignorant person, ad Gr ἰδιώτης private person, common man, plebian, one without professional knowledge, 'layman', and so, ignorant, ill-informed person, f ἴδιος private, own, peculiar

In the 16th c instances of the word are found with initial n, transferred from an (= natus) an idiot, natus was further popularly confused with ignorant (q v) With the latter of the modern vulgar pronunciation, sometimes graphically represented as ridge]

†1 A person without learning , an ignorant, uneducated man , a simple man , a clown Obs

This use is app partly due to passages in the Vulgate or Greek N T , esp Acts iv 13, 1 Cor xiv 16

1377 Langl P Pl B xvi 170, I sede forth as an ydiote in contre to aspye After Pieres pe plowman c 1440 Gesta Rom Life St Austyn 1 288 Rysshe is be twelue ydiotes saint Austyn seyth, bat were nouzth but be apostles, for bei not lerned were 1483 Caxton Gold Leg 287/1 The bisshop repryued hym sore as vnconnyng and in ydeote 1577 tr Bullinger's Decades (1592) 5 A most common kinde of speech, wherewithall euen the very idiots were acquainted 1647 H More Poems Pref, It would be safer to ask the judgment of young lads or Countrey idiots . then those lubricous wits and overworn Philosophers. 1697 Aleth The Deuine Louer, or the Sanctify Idеots Deuotions. 1698 Fryer Acc E India & P 374 I confess my self an Ideot, under stumbling no other Language than Turkish 1722 J. COKE Gos. Grit Ch. 152 There is also this very remarkable Difference in the Cardinal, Idiotic qui vident Picturas, Idiots who see those Pictures [etc.]

†b 1560 A layman Obs

c 1380 WYCLIF Wks. (1880) 46 We dwelten to gidre in chirches & weren idiotis, & vnderlouten to tk men 1611 Pamgyr I. 1 Cornu-Britannia Idiotic, For he would not take orders but remaine in Idiote 1638 FEATLY Vindic. Fundam. 1 158 That here that supplieth the place of the idiot or layman in answering, for the people shall under stand 1662 JER. TAYLOR Duct. Dubit. I. iii. n. § 3 The holy and innocent idiot, or plain easy people of the Laity

†c One not professionally learned or skilled, also, a private man as opposed to a public man Obs

1538 J. HEYWOOD Dial. Sciences 73 If my one should find an idiot take the instruments and mend what he blunteth in the Artificers, he should never be able to doe it 1651 JER. TAYLOR Christ. Comm. (1839) 3 In the form of Idiots and private persons 1663 BOYLE Exp. & Nat. Philos. I. 17 Idiots admire in things, the Beauty of their Materials, but Artists that of the Workmanship

2 A person so deficient in mental or intellectual faculty as to be incapable of ordinary acts of reasoning or rational conduct. Applied to one permanently so afflicted, as distinguished from one who is temporarily insane, or out of his wits, and who other his lucid intervals, or may be expected to recover his understanding.

By the older legal authorities an idiot is defined as one congenitally deficient in reasoning powers, a 'natural fool' (cf. quot 1292), and this is still the common implication of the term. In quot. 1440 half wit a 1300 Cursor M. 10456 (Cott.) Pou sais to me als tal a wit Haldes hun me for an idiot [Fairf. idiot] a 1325 Cursor Wyclif's Prol. 311 Wenestow make in myself of oure dunne? c 1425 Found. St. Bartholomew's (E.) 5 Yet if ther were fewe or no Idiotis amonge hem and oute shall pretende the cheyr of an ydiotte c 1440 Promp. Parv. 582/2 Idiotte, nather fowle ne wyghte wyse Ff. idyote, halfe innocent 1. nebulo 1590 SHAKS. Mids. N. III. ii. 9 An Idiote, or a natural fit fools is he, who notwithstanding, he bee of lawfull age, yet he is so witlesse, that he can not number to twenty, nor tell what age he is of, nor knoweth who is his father, or mother, nor is able to answer to any such easie question 1648 MILTON Eikonoc. Almost 116 (o) By the civill laws, a fool or idiot born with them shall lose the lands whereto he is born because he is not able to use them aright 1690 LOCKE Hum. Und. II. xi. (1695) 77 Idiots make very few or no Propositions, much less Reasoning at all 1793 HOLCROFT tr. Lavater's Physiog. III. iv. 247 Who can explain wherein consists the difference of stupidity or dotage between an idiot and a madman? 1823 Trans. Comm. Laws Insan. (1874) II. 62 Persons insane (in which those are to be included idiots who have had no understanding from their birth, as well as lunatics who have lost the use of their reason)

b A term of reprobation for one who speaks or acts in what the speaker considers an irrational way, or with extreme stupidity or folly, a blockhead, an utter fool

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints, Theodora 148 Wend I were so a yidiot, þat þu sald wit my priuete a 1568 COVERDALE Ld. Death iii. in (1838) 28 O them great yditots in Lamentest, that thy name and honour perisheth in this transitorie worlde 1680 GRANGER Dis. Logicks 381 Many obdurate Papists think, as all things are decaying, so because there is so much preaching 1713 ADDISON Ld. Tatler 118 He called them idiots and blockheads 1796 BI. WATSON Theol. Tracts 283 He would have been an idiot, had he put it in the power of his enemies to prove [etc.] 1840 DICKENS Barn. Rudge ix. You idiot, do you know what peril you stand in? [1883 Mrs. HENRY WOOD Orville's Error I. 136, 'I think people are "objects"' said Frances]

†c A man of weak intellect maintained to afford amusement to others, a household or court fool, a professional fool or jester Idiot's hood, a fool's cap Obs

1526 Will of Goldesburgh (Somerset Ho.), to Richard Carlom my Idyot 1586 G. WHITNEY Emblemes 81 The ideot likes, with bables for to plaie 1612 WEBSTER Duch. Malfi Wks. (1857) 197 For that you mean in his own conceit, pulls on the Idiots hood 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 47 ¶ 2 Idiots are still in Request in most of the Courts of Germany, where there is not a Prince of any great Magnificence, who has not two or three dressed, distinguished, undisputed Fools in his Retinue

3 attrib. or quasi adj. Appositive, as idiot boy, fool, man, mother b Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of an idiot or idiocy, idiotic, as idiot face, laugh, look, etc

1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. xi. 108 Ignorancia non excusat ignotum nec. idiotes questes 1562 BULLEIN Bulwark of Man 69 b, Changed into idiotte foules 1642 H. MORE Song of Soul. I. iv. A private idiot man 1700 DRYDEN Cymon & Iph. 112 Long, mute he stood, and His wonder witness'd with an idiot laugh 1721 SHAFTES. Charact. (1737) I. 137 Why does an idiot look and manner destroy the effect of all those outward charms? 1798 WORDSW. (title) The Idiot Boy 1809 BYRON Eng. Bards 248 The idle of Betty Foy. The idiot mother of 'an idiot boy' 1827 HOOD Mids. Fairies xxiv, I hope my solemn countenance to wring To idiot smiles! 1871 R. ELLIS Catullus xxxvii. 8 Or if in idiot impotence arow you sit 1885 STEVENSON Dynamiter viii. 196 When I look upon you idiot face the tears spring up

4 Comb., as idiot born, dull, like, adj., idiot worshipper

1603 T. CARTWRIGHT Confut. Rhem. N. T. (1618) 602 A childish and idiot-like gab. 1606 SHAKS. Tr. & Cr. v. 1. 7 Thou picture of what thou seem'st, and idoll of ideot worshippers. 1612 ROWLANDS Knave of Hearts B b, My Stocking Ideot like, red, greene, and yealow 1793 HOLCROFT Lavater's Physiog. III. xxxvi. 286 The idiot born cannot without a miracle become a philosopher 1818 COBBETT Pol. Reg. XXXIII. 288 They, idiot like, stood staring and sucking their fingers 1845 MISS NORTON Child of Islands (1846) 152 Blind and adder deaf, and idiot-dull

Idiot, v. nonce-wd. [f. prec. sb.] trans. To call (any one) 'idiot'

1864 HAWSON Holidays I. 190 Much befooled and idiotted

‖ Idiota. Obs. rare—1. [L. or Lt. see IDIOT sb.] = IDIOT in quot. in transf. sense

1624 BI. MOUNTAGU Gag. To Rdr. 7 Many idle pamphlets in this very kinde have I seen in my dayes, but a verier idiota was I never any

+Idiotacy Obs. rare—1. [irreg. f. IDIOT or idiota + -ACY.] IDIOCY

1583 STUBBES Anat. Abus. I. (1879) 41 Vnder braue attire ye sometime is conceiued great ydiotacy and folly

Idiotcy (i·diŏtsi) [irreg. f. IDIOT + -CY, q.v.] IDIOCY, IDIOTISM

1818 in TODD 1839 E. BARHAM Johnny Ludd 34 It is but idiotcy to an extreme I be bred ancestors of guilt 1851 H. MAYO Infid. Superst. 216 Consentful idiocy and imbecility 1855 H. SPENCER Princ. Psychol. (1887) I. 498 n. Coleridge which makes idiotcy its second title 1865 NICHOLS Institution II. 20 As long as they continue in their idiotcy [in four notes]

Idiotcy, v. (i·diŏtsi) rare. a [f. after Gr. βλακτεύω (see BLACTY) or L. idiōtizo, but in sense following IDIOT (f. F. idiotique).] Characteristic of or having the nature of an idiot or idiots, devoid of intellect, utterly stupid, senseless, or foolish

1713 PRIDEAUX Anim. Dec. Jesu Christ xiv. 51 Mauritius, that the Sun, Moon, and Stars were no bigger than they appear to the Eye, and other such Idiotic Stuff 1809–10 COLERIDGE Friend (1818) III. 341 He may have an idiotic Understanding, and what is far more common an idiotic Heart 1877 BLACKIE Four Phases I. 2 More than he was likely to learn in any half-dozen years of his idiotic existence 1887 Spectator 4 June 805/1 Much that is idiotic and unofferable, in modern strivings after fun

Idiotical, a Also 8 idiotical. [f. as I idiotic + -ICAL.] = IDIOTIC. Now rare

1611 COTGR., Idiotisme, idiotisme, naturall folly [etc.] 1632 BROME North Lasse II. iii. Wks. 1873 III. 51 Direct Lunacie and Idiotism 1710 LUTTRELL Brief Rel. (1857) VI. 494 So return to the commissioners of lunacy and idiotism 1822–34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) III. 62 Mild, mindless and idiotism are as distinctly in their bosom of some families as scrofula, consumption, and cancer of others.

b Extreme folly, senselessness, or stupidity, exhibited in thought or conduct (cf. IDIOT 2 b)

1592 NASHE P. Penilesse (Shaks. Soc.) 40 New herrings, new? we must cry or else we shall be chuzzled with a hundred new tydes of idiotisme 1598 B. JONSON Every Man out of his Humour III. iii. 363 [To] bee so farre carried away with this Idiotisme, which is both against Reason and Religion 1745 [see HARWOOD Gram. Accid. Verb (1748) II. 21] The folly or madness of such notions would . . like other idiotisms, find pity [etc.] 1784 WILKES Corr. (1804) II. 63 What idiotism it would be in me to trust myself to a mistress capable of such baseness 1864 Scotsman 8 Apr., People act upon pitty when they have damaged themselves by the perpetration of an idiotism

+Idiotism Obs. [f. IDIOT or its L. or Gr. original) + -ISM.] = IDIOT 1

1715 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 235 This sort of Medicine is still in practice amongst the Romish Idiotists and Vulgar People

Hence +Idiotistical a., used by the unlearned 1718 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 77 The Idiotistical, or Vulgar Catholick Instruments, call it Holy-water

Idiotize (i·diŏtəiz), v. [f. as prec. + -IZE, cf. Gr. βλακτεύω to put into common language]

+1 intr. To act in a way peculiar to themselves (cf. IDIOTISM 3 d) Obs

1718 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. III. Cert. Hist. 11 Foreign Calvinists . . drown and condemn our Dissenters for Idiotizing as well as Schismatizing

2 intr. To become idiotic or stupid

1820 R. THORNTON Pop. Lect. on Time (ed. 3), It looks as if the heads of the greatest men idiotized, when they meet together

3 trans. To make idiotic, to convert into an idiot, to make a fool of, befool

1831 Fraser's Mag. IV. 580 They bethought them how they might further idiotise the public 1841 R. DANIEL Feast Fools I. xlvii. 182 The invention . . idiotizes all our former sages 1886 J. HARDY Mayor of Casterbr. xxiii, Henchard stood as if idiotised

+Idiotly, a. Obs. rare—1. [ÆT 1.] = IDIOTIC

1660 R. COKE Power & Subj. 11 Cert. VII (1867) 95 This silly, idiotly, coxcombly Cardinal Maidalchino

Idiotry. [f. IDIOT + -RY.] a. Sc. Law = IDIOT b Idiotcy or infatuated conduct, madness

1597 Lawes & Pract. Ind. Skene Act Jas. III, c. 66 (heading) Anent the breue of Idiotrie and furiositie 1752 [? LOUTHIAN] Form of Process (ed. 2) 286 Services of Idiotry and Furiosity to pay feu-ail as general Services 1757 WARBURTON Note Pope's Prol. 347 163, I will keep up my correspondence with him, notwithstanding his Idiotry 1846 J. WILSON Noct. Wr. 1865 I. 102 To emancipate the Catholics in order to destroy their religion is pure idiotry 1868 Act 31 & 32 Vict. c. 100 § 101 The breves of furiosity and idiotry hitherto in use are hereby abolished

Idiotype, etc. see IDIO-

Idle (əi·dl), a. (sb.) Forms 1-6 idel, idl, idil, 4-5 ydel, 4-6 idyl, Sc. ydill, idell, -ul, ydil, 5 idylle, ydyll, 4-6 ydyl, 5-7 ydle, 6 ydell, idill, 6- idle [OE. idel = OFris. idel, OS. īdal empty,

+2 The peculiar character or genius of a language, idiomatic character. = IDIOM 2. Obs

1603 DAVIES Conf. Athenism 46 The same idiotisme and propretye of speach in both Testaments vsed doe shewe that they were written by one and the selfe same spirit 1683 DRYDEN Life Plutarch 96 We may have lost somewhat of the idiotism of that language in which it [a jest] was spoken 1732 J. GILL Examen II. (1736) 23 In perfect agreement with the Idiotism of the Hebrew language

3 A peculiarity of phrase, a current deviation or departure from the strict syntactical rules or usages of a language. = IDIOM 3 a 1615 DONNE Ess. Divinity (1631) 6 It satisfies me for the phrase, that it is a meer Idiotisme. 1683 CAVE Ecclesiast. History 222 Infecting their style with the peculiar Idiotisms of their own Country. a 1734 NORTH Exam. II. 371 He once composed a Turkish dictionary, and showed the ordinary idiotisms and analogies of that language 1882 Century Mag. XXIV. 639 An attempt to conform to the idiotisms of the English language

†b A technical term of science or art Obs

1655 BRAMHALL Def. Trans. Liberty xiv. 157 Must the Mathematician, the Metaphysician, and the Divine, relinquish all their termes of Art, and proper idiotismes?

c A personal peculiarity of expression, an individualism (of language). rare

1867 H. N. DAY Art Discourse 5 (1870) 260 Idiotism, or the use which is confined to an individual

†d transf. A peculiarity of action, manner, or habit Obs

1620 DONNE Pseudo-Mart 90 Having made it habitual to them, and an Idiotisme of that Religion 1630 FULLER Holy War II. xvi. 106 The very Language of their hands made them suspected . . because they could not counterfeit the French idiotismes in managing their bucklers.

4 Ignorance, lack of knowledge or culture

1834 J. HOWARD tr. Blondel's Rhuddlan Prize Ode, In discovering with his own life breaths His Idiotisme, he'd be jeer'd to death a 1852 BRONTË City Mattin 1 Wks. 1875 I. 134 May Beauty and Idiotism trample Upon the heads of Art and Knowledge

5 The condition of being void of intellect or reason; = IDIOCY. Now rare

1611 COTGR., Idiotisme, idiotisme, naturall folly [etc.] 1632 BROME North Lasse II. iii. Wks. 1873 III. 51 Direct Lunacie and Idiotism 1710 LUTTRELL Brief Rel. (1857) VI. 494 So return to the commissioners of lunacy and idiotism 1822–34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) III. 62 Mild, mindless and idiotism are as distinctly in their bosom of some families as scrofula, consumption, and cancer of others.

b Extreme folly, senselessness, or stupidity, exhibited in thought or conduct (cf. IDIOT 2 b)

1592 NASHE P. Penilesse (Shaks. Soc.) 40 New herrings, new? we must cry or else we shall be chuzzled with a hundred new tydes of idiotisme 1598 B. JONSON Every Man out of his Humour III. iii. 363 [To] bee so farre carried away with this Idiotisme, which is both against Reason and Religion 1745 [see HARWOOD Gram. Accid. Verb (1748) II. 21] The folly or madness of such notions would . . like other idiotisms, find pity [etc.] 1784 WILKES Corr. (1804) II. 63 What idiotism it would be in me to trust myself to a mistress capable of such baseness 1864 Scotsman 8 Apr., People act upon pitty when they have damaged themselves by the perpetration of an idiotism

+Idiotist Obs. [f. IDIOT or its L. or Gr. original) + -IST.] = IDIOT 1

1715 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 235 This sort of Medicine is still in practice amongst the Romish Idiotists and Vulgar People

Hence +Idiotistical a., used by the unlearned 1718 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 77 The Idiotistical, or Vulgar Catholick Instruments, call it Holy-water

Idiotize (i·diŏtəiz), v. [f. as prec. + -IZE, cf. Gr. βλακτεύω to put into common language]

+1 intr. To act in a way peculiar to themselves (cf. IDIOTISM 3 d) Obs

1715 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 235 This sort of Medicine is still in practice amongst the Romish Idiotists and Vulgar People

Hence +Idiotistical a., used by the unlearned 1718 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 77 The Idiotistical, or Vulgar Catholick Instruments, call it Holy-water

Idiotize (i·diŏtəiz), v. [f. as prec. + -IZE, cf. Gr. βλακτεύω to put into common language]

+1 intr. To act in a way peculiar to themselves (cf. IDIOTISM 3 d) Obs

1715 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 235 This sort of Medicine is still in practice amongst the Romish Idiotists and Vulgar People

Hence +Idiotistical a., used by the unlearned 1718 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 77 The Idiotistical, or Vulgar Catholick Instruments, call it Holy-water

Idiotize (i·diŏtəiz), v. [f. as prec. + -IZE, cf. Gr. βλακτεύω to put into common language]

+1 intr. To act in a way peculiar to themselves (cf. IDIOTISM 3 d) Obs

1715 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 235 This sort of Medicine is still in practice amongst the Romish Idiotists and Vulgar People

Hence +Idiotistical a., used by the unlearned 1718 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 77 The Idiotistical, or Vulgar Catholick Instruments, call it Holy-water

Idiotize (i·diŏtəiz), v. [f. as prec. + -IZE, cf. Gr. βλακτεύω to put into common language]

+1 intr. To act in a way peculiar to themselves (cf. IDIOTISM 3 d) Obs

1715 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 235 This sort of Medicine is still in practice amongst the Romish Idiotists and Vulgar People

Hence +Idiotistical a., used by the unlearned 1718 M. DAVIES Athen. Brit. I. 77 The Idiotistical, or Vulgar Catholick Instruments, call it Holy-water worthless (MDn ydel, ydel, Du ydel, ijdl), OHG ital empty, useless vain (MHG îtel, e. eitel harmless, mere, pure, worthless, vain, Sw and Da idel mere, pure, are from LG). The org sense, was app 'empty', but the ulterior etymology is obscure The sense development in Eng, which has produced senses 4–6, has been very different from that in Ger and Du.]

†1 Empty, vacant, void (of). Obs

Beowulf (C) 2888 Land rihtes mot monna æghwylc idel hweorfan c 825 Vesp Psalter (Rush) 9 Forbon xereorde sawle idle [salvavit animam meam] c 1000 Ælfric Hom II 382 Iohwan mage þas eorðlic hus xifðit idel stant c 1000 Sax Leechd II 270 Wuten we fue to bewere idle stude and ane a 1225 Ancr R 212 To hwannes ich of god a 1340 Hampole 131 He is out of zemes, and god of alle guode 1388 Wyclif Gen i 2 The erthe was idel [1382 vein with vynne] and voide [L. inanis et vacua] c 1450 tr. De Imitatione III xxvii 98, I am idel erbe & vonde, til þou illumyne me

2. Of actions, feelings, thoughts, words, etc. Void of any real worth, usefulness, or significance; leading to no solid result; hence, ineffective, worthless, of no value, vain, frivolous, trifling. Also said of persons in respect of their actions, etc.

In Ok, and early ME, frequent in idle prēp, boasting, vain glory: see YIII

c 825 Vesp Psalter (Rush) 11 Drybten wat xeðohtas monna forðon idle sind c 950 Lindisf Gosp Matt xii 36 Fghuelc word idil [L. otiosum] þæt sprecende biðon menn ielc[c 1000 Ælfric Hom I 292 Eall ðeos woruld bið idel c 1200 Trin Coll Hom 129 On unnitte speche an[on luele dede, and on idel þone a 1300 Cursor M 16338 Idel gammes, chess and tables c 1374 Chaucer Boeth II pr vii 46 (Camb MS) Yif ȝe be for the audience of people and for idil rumours c 1440 Promp Parv 258/1 Idyl spekare, ramulista 1570-6 Lambarde Peramb Kent (1826) 233 Beda speaketh there of the Northesat mouth of the flood Genlade which speech of his were idle, if that water had none other mouthe but that one 1598 Florio Worlde 1 Ciancie, Pase Pas is no idle talker 1607 Sharp Lamentation in 27 No Gods, I am no idle Votaries! 1617 Morykson Itin II 27 The Schoolemens idle words 1703 Thoresby Ducatus 509 Swift Advancem Relig Wks 1755 II 1 98 It is idle to propose remedies, before we are assured of the disease 1800 Mar Edgeworth Moral Tales (1816) I 219 He did not waste his time in idle conjectures 1857 Buckle Civil. I xiii 745 To argue against these opinions would be idle indeed

†b Void of meaning or sense, foolish, silly, incoherent, also (of persons) light-headed, out of one's mind, delirious (cf Idle-headed) Obs

1548 Hall Chron, Rich III 55 b, He beg̃ning to talke to wane wyfe and wrake in his wit and remembraunce, Ibid, Hen VIII 219 b, She seined to bee in trances, and spake and uttered many foolishe and idle woordes a 1638 Penn etc Witch Edmonton iv, Keath Why do you talke so? Would you were fast asleep Frank No, no, I am not idle 1658 A Fox Wurtz Surg iii 223 A patient that sleepeth much, and idle without sleep

c Without foundation baseless, groundless

1590 Spenser F Q i xii 9 When they came where that dead Dragon lay They stood with wylie feare and then shunny 1617 Morykson Itin II 235 If the brute I it they should have come for Ireland was idle 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng vi 13 He did well that Hamilton must have been imposed upon by idle or malicious reports 1878 Browning La Saisiaz 433 Idle hopes that lure man onward, for ed back by as idle fears

3 Of things Serving no useful purpose, useless

c 897 K. Alfred Gregory's Past xviii 129 Ðær ðær heafod bið unhal, eall ða lima bioð idle Þeah he hal sien c 1000 Cædmon's Gen 206 Des wid i grund stod hal and unnyt c 1566 J Alday Boxyatuan's Theat World R iv, As touching the cares, they are not idell, they are placed his anil eminent for to reuyve the sounde that naturally is borne hie 1590 Shaks Com Err II ii 180 Vsurping Iuie, Brier, or idle Mosse 1597 Gerard Herbal I lix § 1 Out of the hole commeth a small idle or barren chaffie eare like unto that of Darnell 1630 Ray Dissol World (1732) 124 Which are no idle or useless Part 1730-46 Thomson Autumn 321 Caught in the nearly snare, in vain they beat Their idle wings, entangled more and more 1834 Disraeli Rev Inpck II xxii, The idle shells On silent shores that none regard

4. Of persons Not engaged in work, doing nothing, unemployed

c 950 Lindisf Gosp Matt xx 6 Hwæt her stondes ge ælles dæge idle? c 975 Rushw Gosp unnytie c 1000 Ags Gosp idele] a 1225 Ancr R 44 Loke also ich bid ou þet ȝe ne beon neuer idel a 1340 Hyenh 206 Huo þet is ydel he him may nast longe hyalde þet he ne nalle ut to renne c 1450 Mirour Saluacionne 259 To devocionne eyre and lion temptacionne Was sho gyven and nevre ydel 1530-1 Acts 2 Hen VIII, c 12 To arest the vayde vacabundes and ydell persones 1548 Hall Chron, Hen I 111 119 b, They were never idle but doyng some thyng in one part or other 1601 R Johnson Kingd & Commw (1603) 179 The greater part of his men and horses were idle 1764 Hurd Poor Lazar 143 I hey are idle for want of such work as they are able to do 1894 J T Fowler Adamnan Introd 74 He could not bear to be idle even for an hour

†b Idle from, not engaged in, free from Obs

c 1380 Wyclif Sel Wks III 359 For þei ben ȝit fro many goode dedes c 1440 Jacob's Well (E E T S) 238 Per were hyge in pride, & ydel fro gostly occupacyoun

c Of things, esp. time Unoccupied, characterized by inaction or want of occupation Idle bread = bread of idleness (Idleness 4.)

1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 4000 Pat ydel lif þat bune men abbeye yhad 1382 Wyclif Prov xxxi. 27 Idil bred she eet not [L. panem otiosæ non comedit]. 1386 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) 235 All my ydell yeres & dayes. 1581 Sidney Apol Poetrie (Arb) 20 In theese my idelest times 1601 Shaks Twel C II iii 117 Breake off betimes And enioy man busines, to his idle bed 1627 Morykson Itin II i 10 which place I resided, I passed an idle yeere [etc.] 1700 I Brown tr Tournefort's Armenian Voy & Cam 48 Persons that have a great deal of idle Time lying upon their Hands 1783 Cowper Let Hare, To Dorring out all his idle noons 1850 Carlyle Latter-d Pamph 1 47 Looking you up in temporary Idle Workhouses 1870 E. Peacock Ralf Skirl III 221 Monday was an idle day

d Idle worms, worms humorously said to breed in the fingers of the idle

[Cf. 1592 Shaks Rom & Jul I iv 65 (Qo 1597) A little worme, Nak't as an idle finger] from the 1st finger of a made Quarto 2 or 3 Folio 1, man, Folios 2, 3, 4, worm and] 1607 Beaum & Fl Woman Hater III i, Keep thy hands in thy muff, and warm the idle Worms in thy fingers ends

5 Of things Inactive, unoccupied, not moving or in operation

1528 More Dyaloge Newton Wks 255/2 Many stand in neuer sylle but ouerpoyed commonly either with good or euyll 1578 Lyte Dodoens III xxvi 350 All the Limmetes and other celestiall bodies are never idle, but still occupyed 1658 Mouffet & Bennet Health's Improv (1746) 87 As a standing Water corrupteth in a little Space, so in idle Air, rolled about with no Winds, soon putrefieth 1720 Watts Improv doth the Little busy her 11, Some birds never move Their wings, but on idle hands to do 1820-34 Cook's Voyages (Med ed) I 365 Peruvian bark is not an idle medicine for if it does not always act with sure to restore 1849 Punch I 204 The power which the courts of law had thus recognised was not suffered to lie idle 1877 Raymond Mistral Memoirs Morning 301 The mills were idle for the first six months of the year 1898 Daily News 18 June 3/1 We don't keep the pits idle for the fun of the thing

b Of machinery To run idle, to run loose, without doing work or transmitting power

Idle wheel, idle-wheel, † (a) a safety wheel to come into operation in case of the ordinary wheel breaking, down (b) an intermediate wheel used for connecting two geared wheels so that they shall be kept sufficiently near to gear directly, or when it is necessary that the 'follower' should revolve in the same direction as the 'leader', which it would not do if they geared directly (c) idle pulley, the loose pulley of the 'fast and loose pulley' arrangement

1805 Specif W. Milton's Patent No 2850 As near to each other as the wheels in a workman may think proper strong idle wheels are to be placed ready in case of an active wheel coming off, or breaking, or an axle tree flinching to catch the falling wheels 1842 R Willis Princ Mech 111 Mech Exam 205 If a wheel A be placed between two other wheels C and D it will not affect the velocity ratio of those wheels but it does affect the direction of motion, in the same sequence of the introduction of the intermediate axis of A, B and C will revolve in the same direction such an interpolation is termed by engineers an idle wheel 1873 C. P. Sutcliff Workshop Appliances (1886) 187 The wheel which is always in gear with the pinion is brought also into gear with the wheel on the second shaft by means of the Idle 239 The central pulley is 'idle' that is to say it runs loose upon the shaft 1875 Knight Dict Mech 1171 1, Another description of idle wheel is a wheel[used to rest upon a belt to tighten it, to perfect its adhesion to the band wheels over which it runs 1882 J Whitten Hatch & Chicken 124 An idle wheel introduced causes the follower to rotate in the same direction as the driver

†6 Addicted to doing no work, lazy, indolent + Idle bellies, indolent sluggards or gluttons (cf Titles 1 12)

a 1300 Cursor M 17238 Long man idel, and old man dull 1398 Trevisa Barth De P A xl xxi (1495) 200 He is slowe and idell and lessyth his ydlenes the tyme that is appropried to trauyll in 1530 Compend Treat (1861) 48 The yelle bellyes wolde have had lesse enough to put forth a nother well enamayled 1654 Cabin Nature Super (1823) 246 The dumb dogs, caterpillars, and idle bellies never had a better pitch for than this 1726 Shelvocke Voy round World (1757) 38 They were very idle, and there was no driving them on faster 1828 Scott F. M Perth xiv, The Prince is unhappily a dissipated and idle youth

†7 In quasi-adv use = Idly Obs

1300 Cursor M 18491 (Cott Otho) If pat semyng idell be, for ideil pray and tidi er we 13 Gaw & Gaw (A) 17102 'Sir erl, quap Gaw,' 'per of spoke nought, Al idel bou hast me per of lesinge' 1593 Peele Edward I Q, Ile see the Queene mends apace, they say, but yet talks idle still

8. Parasynthetic combs, as idle bellied, -brained, -handed, -pated, -thoughted, -witted adjs. Also idle-headed (q.v.)

1340 Hyenh 218 Pou ne saelt nast wenny þe beoure me, ydel bonded 1532 Frith Mirror to know Himself (1829) 292 Idle-bellied monkes, canons, & priests 1564 Bryefe Exam 114 b, Idle brayned men 1579 Lyly Euphues 50 Such as suche idle brayned Durandes do bryng 1613 Overbury Wife, Arg Such a woman is idle-headed, and folish never would be pitied, he is still a grieve drunkeyd 1615 Crooke Body of Man 285 Is the man idle brain'd for want of rest? 1652 Gaule Magastromancer 118 Idle witted and fantastical men 1849 Hare Par Serm II 187 None of you can be so idle thoughted as to fancy you can escape 1870 Freeman in Stephens Lect & Ess (1895) II 10 Idle looking, water ing place, and folk

b Special combs.: idle-back, an indolent person, + idle being, being idle, idleness, + idle-pack, an idler; idle-peg (see quot.), idle-tongs, LAST-TONGS 1828 Craven Dial, Idle back, a lazy person 1860 in Strype Ann Ref (1709) I xxxi 317 Giving themselves to gaming, drinking, or idlebeing at Home 1604 Br Montagu Gagg 396 You have played the Idle pack, Addle head, Ignavo or Negligent in the course of your book 1747 Hooson Miner's Dict, Idlepeg, a peg of wood, driven into a hole in the Stoblacke, to stop the Sweep from turning and save the winder the trouble of holding it 1864 Mary Frere Lady's Walks in S Prance xiii (1865) 163 Zigzag roads which at a distance look like a huge pair of idle tongs.

IDLE-HEADED.

†a [absol use of the adj] = Idle-head

†1 That which is useless, vain, or frivolous Obs rare

c 1000 Canons of Edgar 1 56 in Thorpe Laws II No idele speeche is idele deade for idele ȝemes idel c 1000 Sax Leechd III 142 Sit þis ærdæl to idelum ðingum [Lacnunga ydel ȝetæcnað c 1175 Lamb Hom 153 Opene to beh alden idel and unnet

†b In (a) idle, on, an) idle. In vain, without result, without cause (cf Idleness 1) Obs

c 1000 Ælfric Lev xxvi 16 On idel ge wincað c 1000 Ps lxxvi 11 Ne nemnie ic drihtnes in unnitan idel c 1000 Orosius (1859) 120/1 Ælc sidfulnes, & sidfulnesse mid a, & ðis he wealdeð healsunn c 1200 Ormin 15634 Oure idell ȝeness, & idell wrake a 1225 Ancr R 404 Idel acorded & awenched þis fur 1465 Paston Lett No 551 II 283 A day lost in idyll can never be recoverd 1666 Sanctuarie Dr Barfax II iv 219 He learns rich I dent learns not in Idle

b In the idles idleness as an affection or disturbance of reason

1616 Withals Dict 558 Hodie nullam fere in diuis I have been sicke of the idles to day 1681 W Robert on Phraseol Gen (1693) 755/2 Sick of the Idles

c [E Idle 7.] The past of Idle

1883 Fenn Waddy's Mission xxiv 142 A good idle a-bore would be very pleasant

†2 An idle person, idler Obs

1633 Lady Mewch If Mond (1636) 146 Industry in my calling makes a man capable of better employment, where is Idlers are fit for nothing, but tormentors 1709 Saunders, Fiddle Cases 33 If all Thoughts would have pros d such an Idle

Idle (ĭ'dl), v. [f prec adj (OE had idlian to come to nothing, become vain or useless.)]

1 intr To move or saunter idly rare

1598 Shakes Rom & Jul II vi 19 The Gossimours, That idles in the wanton Summer ayre 1888 W D Howells Lady on Mar I 1 Clear boats here & there idled through the pasture 1890 Columbian Journalist II 1 xix 12 Coolly let her finger idle upon the keys

2 To be idle, to spend the time in idleness

1668 Pepys Diary (1879) V 183 [I] have been a good deal idled these few days past 1834 Sir W R Hamilton in R P Graves Life I 97 My little boy, now about two months old, has not idled me much as yet 1884 Eliot Brooke Short Serm 174 Some pursuit which idles you but as much

3 Meaning obscure

c 1460 Towneley Myst xxx 326 With youre bendys and youre bridys of sathun, the whilke sir sathanas Idyls you for this tide

Hence Idling vbl sb and ppl a

1828 D Isaacs Chas I II v 119 Not to be idle in idling times 1843 Bethune Sk Lincoln Soc 132 This course of idling was now drawing to a close 1879 Geo Eliot Theo Such xxiii 315 An idling place of dilettanteism

Idle, obs form of Isle †

+Idleby, Idlesby. Obs Also 6–8 -bie, -boe [f Idle a + -by.] cf. rudesby (Sometimes associated with bee.)]

a 1589 Nashe Hurt Alamod A3b, Might Ouids exile admonish such Idlebies to betake them to a new trade 1633 Parker Christmas-e 11 59 But, story to me no idle bees swarm in drone and voluptuousnesse 1708 Motteux Rabelais (1737) V 217 Idle Tusks, slothful Idlebies β 1611 Cotgr, Claquedent, a lazie rogue, idle lusk, slouthfull idlebie 1617 tr De Dominis on Rom xiii 12 Such a swarme of idlesbies, 1629 W Whately Prototypes I iv (1640) 31 It is easie for Satan to entrusle with his temptations the Idlesbie 1681 W Robertson Phraseol Gen (1693) 753/1 I have played the idlesby to day

†+Idleful, a Obs [f Idle a + -ful.] Full of idleness, idle

1483 Caxton Cato B iiyb, Vdelful and vegne talking a 1652 Brome Queen & Conc v Wks 1873 II 116 I hough our Queen be mercifully idleful

†+Idle-headed, a Obs [Parasynthetic of idle head, cf Idle a 8.]

1. Of little understanding or intellect, silly, foolish; crazy

1598 Shakes Merry W iv iv 36 The superstitious idle headed Eld Receiu'd, and did deliuer to our age This tale of Herne the Hunter, for a truth 1614 R Tailor Hog hath lost Pearl i B1b, Our audience commonly are very simple idle-headed people 1631 Celestina i 12 Shee is idle-headed, and almost out of her little wits.

2 Off one's head, out of one's wits, distracted, delirious

1599 Hamlet I 59 II ii 108 Crazed in minde and halfe out of his wits Or whether he were put in fright of ve or of sudden fear hee became idle headed, and for eight dayes spve neither might nor dryi tooke any naturall rest, and so at length died for lacke of sleepe 1621 Burton Anat Mel III iv 1 ii (1651) 656 Hilarion for want of sleep became idle headed 1694 R I Petronius Fables 139 The house was rifled and her trinkets went away with the rest Upon this slow she fell idle headed

†Idlehed, -head. Obs [-HEAD] Idleness c 1250 Gen & Ex 98 Dog, he folgen idel hed 1290 Cursor Mundi (1881) 117 When night out vsewed bore silence, and aweuene [printed aweume] soanning idelhed

I dlehood. arch [-HOOD] Idleness c 1550 Disc I 356 in Typus Antichristi (1895) App 1 87 Now be they takyn & we expelly'd for our ydelhod 1820 Scott Monast xii, I by craven fear my truth accused, I hane idlehood my trus abused

†I'dlelaik, -lesh. Obs [f as prec + -LAIK, -ESH -leikr action, -leikr play] Idleness c 1200 Ormin 4738 Idellesse ne hafedd pihht & wipprepp wipp han sawle Ibid 7845 Patt he Ne lasste nohht wipp ane Till haness kinnes idellesshe.

Idlely, obs form of Idly

I dleman. rare. One who has no occupation, † formerly, in Ireland, a 'gentleman', as opposed to a working-man

1391 in Rymer Fadera (1821) II ii 812/2 Item quod nullus dux vel Kernes, nec gentes vocatus Idelmen 1486 Waterford Hists in 10th Rep Hist MSS Comm App v 295 What ever man or woman ydylman for ony trespasse done upon the cyte grounde shal pay to the comynes xxs li 1683 Lydon Ireby to Health 511 There are another sort of things called Idle men or Gentile men (but neither gentile do we find from them) 1832 Carlyle Misc, Corn Law Rhymes (1857) III 164 A man, Workman or Idleman

† I dlement. Obs [f Idle v + -MENT] Idleness, or profitless occupation, lolling

1622 Massie tr Mamans Guzman d'Alf i 118 These good things were not conferred vpon them to waste and consume these good things of God in vnnecessary Idlements 1631 Celestina i 12 Let us not spend the time thus in idlements

Idlenes (ai·dl'nes) Forms see Idle a [OE Idelnes, f Idel Idle + nes -NESS]

†1 Vanity In (or on) idleness, in vain (cf Idle sb 1 b) Obs

c 885 Lerp Psalter lv 3 To hwan luffa3 3e idelnisse, and soecas leasinge Ibid cxxxviii 1 Ic andc dcyhten thinne his, in idelnisse wanna3 ni timbrid ða. 1393 P Plowman Hanell Synne 356 Swerie nat hys name yn ydilnesse 1340 Ayenb 164 Salomon zayde his dom me zuche manere ydelnesse, ydelnesse, idelnesse, and al pet ach is ydel nesse 1398 Trevisa Barth De P A xix cxxi (1495) 919 It is not sayd in ydelnesse (thou hast made all in nombre weyhte and mesure) 1400 Rom Rose 3393 I se may wele Youre wordes ware in idlenese

2 Groundlessness, worthlessness, triviality, ineptitude, futility

1563 Homily Fast Nat Hist (1650) 56 Who seeth not the idleness of that fiction concerning a certain Fount un[etc.]? 1758 H Walpole Catal Roy Authors (1759) II 17 Who could accommodate the mind to the utmost idleneses of litterature 1885 Sir J W Chitty in Law Rep 31 Ch Div 360 The idleness of the proceedings will be afterwards discovered

†3 Light headedness, imbecility, delirium, also folly, foolishness, silliness. Obs rare

a 1536 Tindale Exam Marw etc (1850) 282 Interpreted as spoken of idleness of the head, by the reason of drink 1541 R Copland Guydon's Quest Chirurg, the sayde cauteres applyed to the sayd place mayleth to ydlenes, fulynge exull, paynes of the heade 1612-15 Br Hall Contempl, O T xxiii iv, What an idleness it is for foolish hypocrites to hope they can dance in a net, unseen of heaven! 1649 Hoate Ped Hist (1652) 181 This Fever accompanied with idleness or raving, and restlessness

4 The state or condition of being idle or unoccupied, want of occupation, habitual avoidance of work, inactivity, indolence, an instance of this (Now the ordinary sense.)

Bread of idleness, bread not earned by labour, cf idle bread (Idle a 4 c) c 1000 Ecel Hist ii 3 in Thorpe Lamar II 404 Sco ydelnes is pere sawle feond c 1205 Lay 24613 Idelnesse makeš mon his monscype leose c 1375 Sc Legs Saints, Nimian 333 Noer durre K Idlere forto fle 1450-1 De Imitatione III lv 151 Nature loub ydelnes & bodely reste 1576 Fleming Panopl Epist 355 Apelles was such an enimie to idlenesse, that his pencill was never dire, but still drawinge a line 1608 Shaks Ant & Cl I iv 76 Ere time we twaine Did shew our selues i th Field Pompey Thrues in our Idleness 1611 Bible Prov xxxi 27 She looketh well to the wayes of her housholde, and eateth not the bread of idlenesse [Coverd her lired with ydelnes] 1711 Steele Spect No 96 P 3 Playing at Dice with other Servants, and the like Idlenesses 1751 Johnson Rambler No 151 P 3 Unable to support any of his children, except his heir, in the hereditary dignity of idleness. 1856 Froude Hist Eng I xiii 553 The state insisted as its natural right that children should not be allowed to grow up in idleness

Idler (ai·dlə). [f Idle v + -ER1]

1 One who idles or is idle, one who spends his time in idleness, an indolent person

(It has been used as the title of a periodical)

1534 I Dorset in Suppress Monasteries (Camden) 36, I having nothyng to doo, as an idler went to Lambheithe to the bysshops place, to see what newes. 1607 Congreve Old Bach I i, Come, come, leave business to idlers, and wisdom to fools: they have need of 'em 1738 Johnson (title) The Idler 1781 Cowper Retirem 681 An idler is a watch that wants both hands, As useless if it goes as when it stands. 1856 Hor Smith Tin Trumpt. (1876) 205 All rich idlers may be termed the representatives of former industry and talent 1862 Tyndall Mountaineer i 5 Had I not been a worker previous to my release from London, I could not now have been so glad an idler 1874 Green Short Hist iv § 6 (6) To all other seeming Tudor was the most consummate of idlers

2 Naut 'A general designation for all those on board a ship-of-war, who, from being liable to constant day duty, are not subjected to keep the night-watch' (Smyth Sailor's Word-bk), on board a whaler, one who is not required to assist in the capture of whales (Cent Dict)

1704 Nelson 30 July in Nicolas Disp (1845) I 464 The Agamemnon cannot get under weigh she has only her hands crews and Mates, besides idlers 1829 J H Vaux Mem I xx 2 It was but fair that I should sleep every night, as all persons under the denomination of 'Idlers' invariably do in long voyages 1840 R H Dana Bef Mast ii 3 Having called up the 'idlers', namely, carpenter cook, steward, etc 1880 Nares Seamanship (ed 6) 98 Mannes, Idlers or Laymen

3 Machinery An idle wheel see Idle a 5 b

1875 in Knight Dict Mech

Idlesby see Idleby

I dlesst. Sc [f Idle a + (app) Set sb, in sense of 'setting, putting'] The condition of being reduced to idleness, want of employment

1591 R Bruce Serm Kirk Edin Vnjua Ane verie slight obiect or short silleset will enkindle them 1596 Dalrymple Leslie's Hist Scot vi 329 That na true seruitur wae able to hurt the body sa meikle as ydlesset or ryches 1830 Galt Lawrie Todd I viii 11. (1849) 308 Idlesset is vt to be a poor trade 1856 Mrs. Oliphant Katie Stewart 36 Lady Anne herself is never held in such idlesset

Idleshp (ai·dl'ſip) Forms see Idle a [f Idle a + -ship]

†1 Vanity (= Idelnesse 1), in idleship, in vain

a 1250 Owl & Night Refford 286 in O E Misc 120 Idlehype and oder prute Pat lereb yong wif vuele pewes c 1315 Shoreham 93 Pake nauht bys name in ydelschepe 1357 Lay Folks Catech 53 Pe pridde commaundement Bidde3 vs nought take In ydelshap, ne in vayne the name of our god

†2 Inactivity, want of occupation, indolence

1357 Lay Folks Catech 53 Yeldship makes men lathe to begyn any gode dede 1390 Gower Conf II 59 If I mighte spede With any maner besinesse, There shulde me none ydelship departen from her ladyship 1496 Dives & Paup (W de W) vi xiv 255 The wyse man sayth That ydelshyppe hath taught moche malyce

3 As a mock title, after lordship, etc

1820 Keepsake (1869) II 80 Here I find your young ydleship holding a fool's court of japers and talemongers as usual 1865 K H Digby Short Poems (1866) 24 But to write verses I've taken, In hopes your ydleship to aken

Idlesse (ai·dles). arch Also idless [A pseudo-antique formation from Idle a, see -ESS4]

App fashioned after humblesse, the 19th c romantic use dates from Scott 1]

Idlyness, viewed in a poetic or romantic light, dolce far niente

1596 Spenser F Q vi ii 37 My daies I haue not lewdly spent, Nor quit the blossome of my tender yeares In idlesse 1748 Thomson Castle Indol i v, As Idless fancied in her dreaming mood 1805 Scott Last Minstr i ii, The tables were drawn, it was idlesse and mirth 1812 Byron Ch Harold i xxx, Here Hath soothed thine idlesse with his unknown lays. 1848 Lytton Harold xi iv, The game which amused the idlesse of that age 1871 B Ellis Cartoffel 38 Necks soften of oxen in idlesse 1873 Browning Red Cott Nt-cap 160 Till Norman idlesse stock our England too

† Idlety. Sc and north [f Idle a The suffix is app the Romanic -ty, which has a Sc variant teth, cf Dainteth] = Idleness 4

1495 Jas I Kingis Quair (Arb) 74 Sen that tyme is sic a processe of idlenes, Pat I see quhilleth, quhat I wrate or rede 1591 R Bruce Serm Kirk Edin Av vijb, The ministerie is a worke and no idleteth 1808-80 Jamieson, Idlety, idle ness 1847-78 Halliwell Idlety 1865 B Brierley Irkdale II 13 Here a bit gan to idlety

Idling see at end of Idle v

Idlish (ai·dlish) a rare Somewhat idle

1844 Carlyle Lett (1888) II ix 109 Not pleasant to an idlish man in weak health

Idly (ai·dli), adv Forms 1 idellice, 4 idelliche, idillich, idlli, ydilly, 6 idlelie, ydlelye, id-, ydelly, idlely, idlie, 6–7 idely, 6–8 idlely, 6– idly [f Idle a + -ly 2]

1 Vainly, in vain, uselessly, frivolously, carelessly, ineffectively (cf Idle a, senses 2–3)

c 825 Lerp Psalter lxxxvii 48 [lxxxix 47] Nales scolbe idellice [Vienna bu xesettes bu ein monna c 1380 Wyclif Serm Wks III 341 Panne Crist hadde died for nouzt and idelliche, wipouten cause 1382 Deut v 11 Thow shalt not mysuake the name of the Lord thi God idlich 1535 Joye Apol Tindall (1561) 26 If it be so that they idlely to play with the words and phrases of the ancient Fathers 1603 Hart Anat Ur II xi 122 [It] is not a thing so slightly to be passed ouer, as many may idlely imagine 1700 Astry tr Xauvedra Fazarde II 89 When a Prince idlely squanders away his subjects fortunes. 1764 Goldsm Trav 296 Thus idly busy rolls their world away 1807 G Chalmers Caledonia I i iv 121 Stukeley idly placed Colania, at Colchester, or Peebles 1842 Miss Browning York Chr Poets (1865) 70 Our heart is stirred, and not 'idly' 1871 R Ellis Catullus v 11 Then once heedfully counted all the thousands, We'll uncount them as idly

†b Incoherently (from affection of the brain), deliriously Obs

1565-73 Cooper Thesaurus, Aliena loqui, to speake idelly in sickenesse a 1601 T Marston Pasquil & Kath. iii 93 My brother will not lue long, he talkes idlely already.

1632 tr Brunel's Preacht Herd 399 They which talk idlely with amasednes for the most part die.

2 In an idle or lazy way, without working, in actively, indolently (cf Idle a, senses 4–6)

1377 Harnoun Brace 121 Othir sundry kind thanne by, As thai war masteris, yblik 1528 Lindale Obed Chr Man Wks (1573) 154/2 To get thee into a den, and lyue idlely, profitable to no man 1549 Acts Edw VI, C 3 § 10 Going loitering idlely about 1623 Ps Cock Pilgrimage (1614) 309 They live idly upon almes 1651 Isaackson in Walker's Abel Redeu, Anderson (1867) II 180 He liued not idlely 1736 Franklin Fee Wks 1840 II 81 He that idly loses five shillings worth of time, loses five shillings 1808 Scott Marmion vi xx, And why stands Scotland idly now? 1874 Green Short Hist iii § 5 139 Sherbrooke had stood idly by while the violence was done

† I-do, v. Obs [OE. gedōn to put, do, make, = OS gadōn, OHG gituon, f ōn to Do] trans, and intr To do

972 Blickl Hom 37 Eallum þem godum þe anuht mon gedeb his bonn nehstan a 1000 Andreas 342 Hwæt þu us to dugeðum gedon wille c 1000 Ags Ps (Thorpe) cxviii 32 Ic þæt su sudea cuning, gedo þe halne c 1175 Lamb Hom 99 He nale nefre mare eft gedon þeo sunnen c 1205 Lay 3612 Al heo lduden efter hire lare

I-do, Mk. pa. pple. of Do v

Idocrase (ai·dokrēiz) Min [a F idocrase (Haüy 1796), f Gr eidos form, figure + κράσις mixing, mixture (see Crasis)] = Vesuvianite

1804 W Nicholson tr Haüy's Treat Min I 81 The idocrase is met with among the substances ejected from volcanos 1811 Pinkerton Petral II 516 Several remark able petrifac tions, such as that in Fourcroy of Werner, and idocrase of Haüy 1844 Alger Min 30 Idocrase occurs crystallized, either solitary or in groups. 1879 Rutley Study Rocks v. 124 Idocrase or Vesuvian is an old chemical composition closely allied to the lime alumina garnets

I-doddled, ME pa. pple of Dod v

I-dogt: see I-dought

Idol (ai·dəl, ai·dl), sb Forms 3 ydele, ydole, 4 idel 4–6 idell, 4–7 ydol(e, 5–7 idoll, 6 idole, 4– idol [ME & OF id(e)le, add. Lat L. idōl-um (also idōl um in Prudentius c 400, Sedulius c 470), image, form, spectre, appartition, in eccl use 'idol', a Gr εἴδωλον image, phantom, idea, fancy, likeness, in LXX 'idol', f εἶδος form, shape The early OF idele, idle (11th c), represent the Latin ēdōlum, the accentuation following that of the Greek The current Fr idole was adapted in 13th c from L. īdōlum]

The order of appearance of the senses in English does not correspond to their original development in Greek, where the sequence was probably: image, representation, phantom, unsubstantial form, image in water or a mirror, mental image, fancy, material image or statue', and finally, in Jewish and Christian use, 'image of a false god' In English this last was, under religious influence, the earliest, and in ME the only sense, hence (as also in Fr) came sense 2 These are the only senses used of the word The other uses are 16th c adoptions of earlier Greek senses, often however coloured by association with sense 1

1 From Jewish and Christian use

1 An image or similitude of a deity or divinity, used as an object of worship applied to those worshipped by pagans, whence, in scriptural language, = false god, a fictitious divinity which 'is nothing in the world' (1 Cor viii 4)

c 1250 Gen & Ex 2585 Godes hus rachel hadde stolen And odre ydeles brogt fro sichem a 1300 Cursor M 11759 Al þair idels in a stund Groueling fel vnto þe grund 1340-70 Alex & Dind 754 Þor sour ydil skolen don sou þe wrche 1382 Wyclif 1 Cor viii 4 We wite for ydol is no thing in the world, and that there is no God but oon 1388 — Wisd xiv 8 But the idol þat is maad of mannes hoond, is maad la hond is cursed, sothe it, and he that maadeth it 1486 Caxton Fables of Æsop vi, A man whiche had in his hows an ydolle the whiche ofsyme he adoured as his god 1553 Eden Treat Newe Ind (Arb) 71 Ye priestes which serue ye Idols are had in chiefe reuerence 1600 J Pory tr Leo's Africa i 6 Some are Gentiles which worship Idols, others of the sect of Mahomet 1611 Bible Acts xix 37 (1639) 650 But the name of idol is extended 3 et further in Scripture, to signify also the sun, or a star, or any other creature, visible or invisible, which they are worshipped for gods 1727 De Foe Syst Magic i 2 (1840) 27 I burn dolls, whom they called the images of the holy gods 1840 Carlyle Heroes iv (1858) 275 Idol is Eidolon, a thing seen, a symbol It is not God, but a Symbol of God; and perhaps one may question whether any the most farsighted mortal ever took it for more than a Symbol 1860 Punch Mrs Partington 57 To say that it was made, was to deny that it was God Hence the prophets so often urge this special proof of the vanity of idols

b Applied polemically to images or figures of divine beings and saints, and, more generally, to any material object of adoration in a Christian church

1535 Bishop Coverd Ezek 12 (Heb) up in the same place another idol of S Iohan Baptyst. 1554 T Samson in Strype Eccl Mem (1721) III App xviii 47 Out of this mischeuous idol the mass 1866 J H Parker Gothic Furniture (1866) 44 One Rood with Marie and John and the rest of such Idolles was brent Ibid 45 Item an Idoll of all halowes—and in peces by Mr william Fearnes a yeas past 1598 J Dickenson Greene in Conc (1878) 122 Like to Idols, lay-mens bookes. 1608-22 Br Hall Epist i vi Wks (1625) 284 The famous Kentish idoll mouled her eyes and hands by those secret gimmers which now euery puppet-play can imitate 1630 (title) The Great Idol of the Mass ouerthrown. 1 Sermon By a Protestant. 1830 Kenouelby Hist Rep II iv 46 These various impostures were exposed at St. Paul's whither also were brought other idols from all parts of the country

† o A representation of a deity under some monstrous and non natural form Obs

*c*1400 Maundev xv (1839) 164 Summe worschipen symulacres and summe ydoles . . But betwene Symulacres and ydoles is a gret difference For symulacres ben ymages made after lykenesse of men or of wommen, or of the soune, or of the mone, or of ony best, or of ony kyndely thing . And ydoles is an ymage made of lewed wille of man, that man may not fynden among kyndely thinges . As an ymage pat hath iij heddes, on of a man, another of an hors, or of an ox, or of sum oper best pat no man hath seyn

2 fig Any thing or person that is the object of excessive or supreme devotion, or that usurps the place of God in human affection a A thing [1557 N 1 (Genev.) 3 John v 21 Babes kepe your soules from idols.] 1580 A Scott Poems (S T S) 119 In sum hartis is gravit new ingane Ane maggie, callit cuvatyce of geir, Now, to expell bat idoll God gif he grace 1639 J Bruen tr Camus Mor Relat 250 It is only to save their purses that mettle, whereof they make their Idoll 1706 Phillips red. Kersey), Idol, any Object of one's Fondness. 1732 [S Berington] Gr. & Lat. Mem 4 Money, the Idol of other People was the least of their Care 1772 Mackenzie Man Feel xxiii (1803) 40 His darling idol, was the honour of a soldier 1832 Herwyer Nevins (1855) II 280 He tells him that space is now the idol of Englishmen

b A person so adored

1598 Shakn Two Gent II iv 144 Pro Was this the Idoll, that you worship so? Val Even he, sir 1630 J Bruen tr Camus Mor. Relat 270 Whom they openly calls her servant, and makes of her Idoll 1797 Burke Corr IV 413 They who make a man an idol, when he is off his pedestal will treat him with all the contempt with which blind and angry worshippers treat an idol that is fallen 1820 W Irving Sketch Bk I 44 How can she bear neglect? she has been the idol of society 1839 Thirlwall Greece VI lii 266 A hero who was the idol of his army

II From classical Greek (and Latin) use

† 3 An image, effigy, or figure of a person or thing a Of the statue Obs

1548 Hall Chron., Hen I 115 The citezens of Orleaunce had buylded in the house of her, an Image, or an Idole 1583 Stanyhurst Aneis II (Arb) 51 He rash charged with launce thee mystical idol 1591 Spenser Ruins Rome v, Her brave writings . . Doo make the wight of her Idole through the world appeare 1605 Verstegan Dec. Intell iii (1628) 72 His Idoll was after his death honored prayed and sacrificed vnto

† b A counterpart, likeness, imitation, = Image sb 4, 4 c Obs

1590 Spenser F Q II xi 41 Men . Doe harbour alone Th Idole of her makers great magnificence. 1641 Chapman's Busy D' Ambois Plays 1873 II 61 'no women Are the most perfect Idols [1607 images] of the Moone 1667 Milton P L xi 101 Th' Apostate in his Sun bright Chariot sate, Idol of M ajestie Divine

† c Aspect, appearance, likeness, = Image sb 2

1584 R Scot Discov Witches xv ii (1886) 255 Orol. cometh foorth like a horsse, but when he putteth on him a mans idol, he talketh of divine vertue

† 4 An inert inactive person (who has the form, without the proper activity or energy, of a man) = I idolet, but in Fig naturally associated with idle = Idler Obs

1579 Fomson Calvin's Serm Tim 238/1 It is not an honour of idlenesse, to bee called to this state, and therfore th it he must not play the idoll, but must gue himselfe to it and take paines about it

5 A visible but unsubstantial appearance, an image caused by reflexion as in a mirror, an incorporeal phantom

1583 W Fulke Meteors (1640) 41 b, Men have seen two Sunnes They are nothing else but Idols or Images of the Sunne, represented in an equall watry cloud c 1611 Chapman Iliad xxiii 94, I see here a soul In th' underdwell ings, and a kind of man resembling idol 1676 Hobbes Iliad (1677) 344 In hell there souls are, though they have no hearts, But idols only, and ghosts of men 1758 Johnson Idler No 81 ¶ 2 Many . . are so much enamoured of the idol of their own fancy, that they . . seem to mean, an Airy or Spirituous Body 1822 Shelley Feast ii 386 It is an unsubstantial phantom, A lifeless idol 1886 Stevenson Dr Jekyll x 114, I looked upon that ugly idol [his image] in glee

6 A mental fiction, a phantasy or fancy

1597 Vautroullier Luther on Ep Gal 123 In their heart they stablish, not the righteousnes of the lawe but a mere fantasie and an idoll of the lawe 1684 tr Agreda's Life Maria 335 I beg from them to themselves . . so many Idols and Phantomes of their own Imaginations about divine things 1899 Findlay in Expositor Feb 94 They hold and grasp the very God in Christ, and are no longer mocked with vain idols and phantoms of blessedness

b Logic A false mental image or conception, a false or misleading notion, a fallacy, = Idolum 2 [1620 Bacon sec Idolum] 1678 Cudworth Intell Syst I v § 5 884 But this is a mere idolum specus, an idol of the cave or den Ibid 886 This is but another idol of the Atheists den 1733 Shaw tr Boerhaave Disc Org 1 Aph xxxix, There are four Kinds of Idols that possess the Mind of Man . . We will call the first Kind, Idols of the Tribe, the second, Idols of the Den, the third, Idols of the Market, and the fourth, Idols of the Theatre 1785 Reid Intell Powers vi viii 659 To every bias of the understanding, by which a man may be misled in judging, or drawn into error, Lord Bacon gives the name of Idol 1877 Cohoon Ess Faith 81 Impenetrability, so confidently assumed as a self evident primary property of matter is seen to be an idol of our imagination

† 7 A fictitious personation, a counterfeit, sham, a pretender (By Spenser used of a magic counterfeit) Obs

1590 Spenser F Q III viii 12 To walke the woodes with that his Idole faire 1612 Speed Hist Gt. Brit IX xx § 17 She well knew that this Lambert was but an Idoll, hammered out of the hot braine of that Boutefew Richard Simon, yet shee embraceth the occasion, countenanc eth the Imposture 1612 Davies It by Ireland etc. (1787) 47 Those two idols or counterfeits which were set up against him in the beginning of his reign 1624 Bacon Hen VII, 29 He knew the pretended Plantagenet to be but an Idoll 1660 Fuller Hist Cam temph (1841) 252 King Henry the Seventh was much troubled with idols painful persons who pretended themselves princes

† 8 The phrase idolothepha used in Zach xi 17 in Geneva Bible and 1611 (where the Vulg has Pastor et idolum, LXX οἱ ποιμαίνοντες τὰ μάταια, and the Revised Version of 1885 'worthless shep herd'), was frequently used in 17th c polemics, sometimes with allusion to idolatry, sometimes with idol taken as = 'counterfeit' or 'sham' (sense 7), sometimes associated with idle (see sense 4), and so 'neglectful of duty' Obs

[1535 Coverdale Zech xi 17 O Idols shepherde, that leueth the flocke] 1560 Bible (Geneva) Idol, O idole shepherd, that forsakth the flocke 1575 Bp Ant Sandys Serm (Parker Soc.) 72 We therefore to the idle and idol pastor 1590 H Barrow in Confer in 55 We are ledd into blindnesse & idolatrie, led into such Ministers as such which are Idole Shepherds and Ministers 1611 Bible Zech xi 17 Woe to the idoll shepheard that leaueth the flocke 1618 Bolton Comm Colos III 1 All idle and idoll, Ministers that thrust themselues in for Pastors, and can onely feed themselues 1634 Canne Necess Separ (1849) 61 Idol shepherds in the church . . used to be but the instrument of foolish and idol shepherds

9 attrib (without hyphen)

Often not distinguishable from the combinations in 10

1585 R Bownd Interp Catechism 33 He will haue an Idol christ to be the life of the church Ibid 34 Whit remaineth but an Idol or counterfeit christ? 1623 R Johnson Confirmation 29 No, No, Nay, I will not leaue you an Idle your idol glass a while! 1648 Gage West Ind xxiii 214 Placing there their Idoll Saints and Images 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iv 398 Reades not I spread Indus . . with Idolatrie When their Idol King adore 1827 Keble Chr Y 29th Sund Trin v, What idol shapes are on the wall pourtray'd 1842 Tennyson Will 111 Full on this Self-seen self-worship, this Idol-created To-day 1872 Yeats Calisthenics 18 The idol altars was cast into the brook Kedron 1883 Pusey Daniel 1 (1864) 13 To worship not that Virgin on Earth holie, in Heaven glorious, but these idol convents, and idol blockes of her 1880 Pusey Min Proph 408 Which [sacrifices] in Idolatrous times had been plied to their idols. 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1864) 142 They haue those Idole-chariots, like vnto Towers, to the Diuell, whereby many thousands of innocent people put their helping hand. 1668 Sylvester Du Bartas II iv iv Decay 226 Ba'l's Idol Clergy hee (Jehu) doth bring to nought 1820 Keats Lamia I 14 They builded Jehus altars through out the cities of India 1860 Pusey Min Proph 372 The dust of the idol altars was cast into the brook Kedron 1863 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 51 To worship not that Virgin on Earth holie, in Heaven glorious, but these idol convents, and idol blockes of her 1880 Pusey Min Proph 408 Which [sacrifices] in Idolatrous times had been plied to their idols. 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1864) 142 They haue those Idole-chariots, like vnto Towers, to the Diuell, whereby many thousands of innocent people put their helping hand. 1668 Sylvester Du Bartas II iv iv Decay 226 Ba'l's Idol Clergy hee (Jehu) doth bring to nought 1820 Keats Lamia I 14 They builded Jehus altars through out the cities of India 1860 Pusey Min Proph 372 The dust of the idol altars was cast into the brook Kedron 1863 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 51 To worship not that Virgin on Earth holie, in Heaven glorious, but these idol convents, and idol blockes of her 1880 Pusey Min Proph 408, Idolaters of fire 1689 A. Lovell tr Thevenot's Trav III 38 If the 6 Indian Women be Idolators, they go bare faced, and if Mahometans, they are Vailed 1710 Norris Chr Pearl III 129 We call them idolaters, who pay that Religious Worship which is due only to God, to something else that is not God 1841 Kitto Bible Hist Palestine 222 Many superstitions of the ancient idolaters 1852 Robertson Lect Ish Cor xlvii (1859) 430 The idolater is not merely he who worships images, but he who gives his heart to something which is less than God

2 An adorer, idolizer, devoted admirer of (some person or thing)

c 1566 J. Alday tr Bonaventure's Theat World O ij b, Old covetous men, vsurers, idolaters of their treasures. 1652 Cotton tr Cassandra VI (1676) 343 He was a Lover, or rather an Idolater of that sex 1660 Willsford Scales Comm Pref A2 The Parasites of the Rich, or the Idolaters of Fortune 1781 Cowper Retirement 220 the lover too Tender idolater of absent charms 1884 Swinburne in 19th Cent Oct 554 Had not the idolaters of either [author] insisted on the superior charms of their respective favorite

Idolathite, -yte, error forms of Idolothyte

Idolatress see Idolater

Idolatress (ai|dǫlătrĕs) [f Idolater + -ess] A female idolater Also fig

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 243 Having to wife an Egyptian Idolatresse 1667 Milton P L I 445 That luxurious King, whose heart Beguil'd by fair Idolatresses, fell To Idols foul 1798 Seward Anecd (ed. 3) III 246 Jezebel was a bumt sacrifice, an idolatress, a blasphemer of God 1800 Pusey Min Profit 608 The marriage with idolatresses brought the profanation by their idolatries

Idolatric (aidǫlæ·trik), a rare [ad mod l idolatric us (15 16th c in Du Cange), f idolatria, for idolatri ia idolatry see -ic Cf idolatrique (Littre)] = next

1669 Gale Crt Gentiles II viii 103 This Idolatric Deifying of the Sun 1677 Ibid III 106 Enticed to Idolatric Adoration 1716 M Davies Athen Brit II 422 Christ would look upon such an Honour as Idolatrick 1788 T. Jones in Antiqua Mater 145 The quarter whence the anti idolatric movement came] † Idolatrical (aidǫlæ·trikăl), a Obs [f as prec + -al] Of or pertaining to idolatry, idolatrous.

1550 ? Hooper Exam Apparel ii, We haue in our Church no publique worshyppyng of Idoles no Heathenishe or idolatricall sacrifice 1580 Wyatt Corr Practices in Wks 1888 I 8 He callis the saulis solemnites idolatrie, superstitus. 1666 Thorndike Just Wrights a Mean xix, This is demonstration that his Worship is Idolatrical, not that it is idolatrical 1796 Price Anonym (1809) 177 If Christ be not God, their worship of him is idolatrical

† Idolatrically adv in an idolatrous way

1669 Gale Crt Gentiles I ii viii 103 An heart Idolatrically inclined

† Idolatrious, a Obs rare—1 [f med l idolatri-a Idolatry + -ous cf industrious, etc] = Idolatrous 9

1563 Homilies II Idolatry iii (1859) 224 The idolatrious (1582 idolatrous) opinions of our image maintainers

Idolatrise (aidǫ·lătrəiz), v [f Idolatr-y + -ize, cf botanize, rhapsodize, scrutinize]

†1 intr To worship an idol or idols, to commit or practise idolatry Also, to idolatrize it Obs

1599 Daniel Comal Rosamond xxii, All that honour thee Idolatrize 1606 Fitz Geffrey Sir F Drake (1881) 26 Cease (fondlings) henceforth to idolatrize With Venus, your Carpathean sea borne Queene 1613 tr W Browne Brit Pastl II 1, The Persians did idolatrize Unto the Sunne 1628 Wither Brit Remembr (1881) 121 With wrathfully Honor some idolatrize 1640 Fuller Joseph's Coat iv (1867) 140 Hast thou not idolatrized to thy friend? 1664 H More Myst Iniq 283 A Christian is in a Polity Idolatrizing and debauching others with Idolatry 1706 Phillips (ed Kersey), To Idolatrize, to commit Idolatry

†b trans To exercise an incitement to idolatry

1601 Chester Love's Mart 143 Ore my heart your eyes do idolatrize

2 trans To make an idol of, to worship idolatrously Chiefly in ffg use. To adore, to admire excessively, to idolize

1615 Daniel Hymen's Tri II i, Idolatrize not so that Sex 1631 Heath Whimzies Traveller 93 It hath brought him to idolatrize humanity 1647 Sanderson Serm Lincoln II ii 76 The converted haste which Papists Idolatrize 1740 Cheyne Regimen 9-10 Idolatrising the creatures, the moral Precepts being erased [etc] 1830 Blackw Mag XXVIII 244 An age which idolatrizes the tangible and the material 1864 Grosart in Green Pastures Introd to We are so used to idolatrize Shakespeare because of his simply incomparable genius

†3 To render idolatrous Obs rare

1678 Cudworth Intell Syst I iv § 36 618 Christianity was thereby itself pas, united and idolatrized

Hence Idolatri zing vbl sb and ppl a , Idolatri ser, one who idolatrizes. an idolizer or idolater

1614 J. Adams Devil's Banquet 2 Erring, adulterating, idolatrising Solomon 1619 Fotherby Atheom I vi § 2 (1622) 41 For how should idolatrizing be sinne, if there were not a God? 1642 A Prowse Tet to Friend in Lond 3 That manor part so much cryed up and doted on by the Idolatrizers thereof 1817 G S Faber Fight Dissent IV iii (1845) 301 Balaam a seer of the idolatrizing Gentiles

Idolatrous (aidǫ·lătrəs), a [f Idolater, F idolâtre + -ous]

1 Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of idolatry

1550 Bale Apol 55 Your papa whyche appoynted them to hys ydolatrouse dayes of ydelnesse 1598 Greene Groats W Wit (1617) 37 Were it not an idolatrous oath, I would sweare by sweet S George 1662 Stillingfl Orig Sacr II vii § 16 The Idolatrous customs of those Nations 1765 T Hutchinson Hist Mass I iv 428 The exception to the word Sunday was founded upon its superstitious idolatrous origin 1841 Elphinston Hist Ind I 443 Their religion, however, though idolatrous has no resemblance whatever to that of the Hindûs. 1853 W Phillips Speeches iii 36 Idolatrous veneration for the state

2 Used in or devoted to idol worship ? Obs

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 98 Because of the judgements for the idolatrous high places in it 1647 Fuller Good Th in Worse T (1841) 103 He saw an idolatrous altar at Damascus 1796 Morse Amer Geog II 555 The idola trous temple of Jaganaut 1800 Anat Ann Reg, Misc Tr 224/1 The road extends through innumerable towns, with idolatrous temples

3 Of persons Worshipping images or idols; given to the worship of idols or false gods.

1600 E Blount tr Conestaggio 9 So as whole Realmes which were Idolatrous, are now obedient to the Apostolique Sea 1611 Bible 2 Kings xxiii 5 He put downe the idola trous priests whome the kings of Iudah had ordained to burne incense 1657 Milton Samson 1304 The Philistines Idolatrous, uncircumcised, unclean 1790 Gibbon Misc Works (1814) V 189 Zangwebar, the coast of the Zenghis, was still savage and idolatrous. 1822 Shelley Chas I, i 85 Io that idolatrous torturer

†b Constr of Obs rare

1639 T Balgie tr Camma Mor Relat 295 [He] Makes her a Constante, and withall becomes so idolatrous of her, that [etc]

Hence Ido latrousness, the quality or condition of being idolatrous

1583 Golding Calvin on Deut xxxii 189 The parties that turne away from this lawe through their idolatrous nesse 1633 Ames Agst Cerem II 487 The formalities of that Altar, consequently all the circumstances that vse to it 1764 Harmer Observ VI 276 How came this notion of the idolatrousness of Nebuchadnezzar's command to be so universal

Idolatrously (aidǫ·lătrəsli), adv [f prec + -ly2] In an idolatrous manner

1583 Stubbes Anat Abus II i (1882) 112 Any thing that hath been idolatrously abused by the papists. 1637 Gillespie Eng Pop Ceremo III ii 23 That the Idolatrously minded might not find their pathes. a 1791 Wesley Serm lxxxiii I 18 Was not all this [not] permitted to love idolatrously? 1882-3 Schaff Encycl Relig Knowl I 88 The Assyrians used very extensively draw ings and figures of animals, but probably not idolatrously

Idolatry (aidǫ·lătri) Forms 3–6 ydolatrie, -ry, -rye, ydolatrye, 4–7 ie, 6 ia, 5– idolatry [a OF idol-, ydolatrie (12th c in Littré), mod F idolâtrie = Pr ydolatria, It, Sp idolatri-a, repr a Common Romance type idolâtria (also in med L), shortened from eccl l idolatrîa (Tertullian), a Gr (N 1) εἰδωλατρεία, f εἴδωλο-ν Idol + λατρεία service, worship, Latria]

1 The worship of idols or images 'made with hands', more generally, the paying or offering of divine honours to any created object

c 1250 Gen & Ex 4143 Ydolatrie, þat was hem lef, ofte yt wrogte hem sorges dref 1382 Wyclif Acts xvii 16 Seynge he fulde vpon ydolatrie 1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) 6 b He hath forsaken his Idolatry, and was becomyn Seruaunt of the onely God 1526 Tindale tr Pet iv 3 We haue spent the time in maigry, drynkyng and abhominacion alde ydolatrie [1611 idolatries] 1599 Bunny tr Aret xxvii (1700) 340 I believe in plain idolatry, when an In sensible piece of Matter is put to Bread and Wine, but Divine Honors paid it 1781 Cowper Hope 409 The gross idolatry blind heathens teach 1833 L Ritchie Wand by Loire I 5 The cathedrals were huge temples of Roman idolatry 1864 J H Newman Apol 413 In the midst of the abominable idolatries and impurities of that fearful time, they could not be otherwise attrib 1621 Br Mountagu Diatribæ III 547 In their Idolatry service

2 Idolatrous things or objects Obs

1671 Milton P R III 428 To worship calves, the deities Of Egypt And all the idolatries of heathen round

3 Immoderate attachment to or veneration for any person or thing, admiration savouring of adoration

c 1386 Chaucer Pars T P 674 Therfore seith saint Paul ad Ephesios 5° that an Auaricious man is the thraldom of Ydolatrie 1637 Gillespie Eng Pop Ceremo III ii 23 (W de W 1531) 6 They make all that loueth them mouldyn ately to commytte ydolatry. 1557 N L (Cenev) Col iii 5 Couetousnesse which is idolatrie 1598 Grafton Chron Relat 92 [They] caused that place (where a popular man was executed) to be watched that such Idolatrie should there no more be vsed 1659 Bruen in Contn Baxter Relict 135 Those teamles of Idolatrie which grow in the mouthes of lovers 1780 Cowper Iliad xxv 461 Thou god of our idolatry and peace 1837 Irving Capt Bonneville II ii, He usually falls at last into the popular idolatry

Idole, obs form of Idol

†Idolet. Obs [f Idol sb + -et Cf It idoletto] An idol

1614 Bronne Glossiop (ed 4), Idolet, a little Idol 1770 J Baretti Journ Travel to Genoa I vi 36 Descanting upon every ruinly medal they have, upon every broken idolet

Idoli-cal. a Obs rare—1 [f as next + -al] = next, also transf

1607 Topsell Four f Beasts (1658) 183 A monster, having a Mans face, and 4 Goats legs, they call it Silvanus, and place it in the rank of Idoli cals 1608 Swinburne Tho Bartas II iv Decay 481 Th High places down hee pashes burns th Idol gods to ashes 1781 Cowper Expostulation 216 They set up self, that idol god, within a 1849 J. C. Mangan Poems (1859) 81 Gold is lord and idolgod of all

Idolify, v [f Idol sb + -(i)fy] trans To make an idol of 1828 Southey Doctor cxliv V 99 If it had been the fate of Nobs thus to be idolified

†Idoli·lo Obs [f Idol sb + Sp dim suffix -illo] A diminutive idol

1646 J. Gaule Select Cases Obs (1650) 54 If the confluence could have been perswaded that these enshrined Idolillos of Diana were no Gods because they were made with hands

†Idolish, a Obs [f Idol sb + -ish] Of or pertaining to idols or their worship, heathenish, also, idolatrous

1577-87 Holinshed Chron I 120/2 Part of his commons loving this life began to repaire their idolish churches, and fell to the worshipping of idols 1605 Broughton Corrupt Handl Keting 95 The Mother of Benjamin, because she was somwhat idolish in her fathers Theraphim, dyed as some as twelue statues arose to Iacob 1641 Milton Ch Govt II Concl (1851) 179 When they have stuft their Idolish temples with the wastefull pillage of your estates

Idolism (ai·dŏlizm) [f Idol sb + -ism]

1 The practice of idolatry

1608 Sylvester Du Bartas II iv Decay 502 Much less permits he one signe to stand Of idolism, or idle superstition Ibid 518 A people wholly drown'd In idolism, and all rebellious sins. 1816 Coleridge Statesm Man 365 I'll they have cast out the common Idol and with it the whole service and ceremonial of idolism

2 The action of idolizing, or making an idol (of anything), an idolization

1825 Coleridge Aids Refl (1848) I 328 The vaunted Mechanico corpuscular philosophy, with both its twins, Materialism on the one hand, and Idealism, rightlier named subjective Idolism, on the other Ibid (1848) I 340 Note 477 The idolism of the unspiritualized understanding 1834 Blackw Mag XXXV 35 Justice, Modesty and other poets, idolisms of his new Pantheon

3 A false mental image or notion, a fallacy cf Eidolon, Idolum 2

1671 Milton P R IV 234 How will thou reason with them, how refute Their idolisms, traditions, Paradoxes? 1807 W P Ker Epic & Rom 208 Quite unaffected by the common medieval fallacies and 'idolisms

Idolist (ai·dŏlist) [f as prec + -ist] A believer in or worshipper of idols, an idolater Also attrib

1614 Sylvester Bethulia's Rescue II 498 You shall make ruddy Mocmur's Flood, With Idolist Assyrian Armes blood 1644 J. White Right Appeale 250 This Idolist herewith conclusion vpon conclusion 1671 Milton Samson 453, I to God have brought Dishonour, obloquy, and op'n the mouths Of Idolists, and Atheists 1818 J Bowdler Serm xiv 217 Idolists fall prostrate, scar'd At the rude gods, them selves prepar'd

Hence Idoli stic a, recognizing idols, idolatrous

1846 Sara Coleridge in Mem & Lett II 92 The fault is not in the poet but in the gross idolistic system to which he adhered

Idolization (ai·dŏlaizē·ʃən) [f next + -ation] The action of idolizing

1853 Jerdan Autobiog III xii 169 It but weakly expressed the idolisation which the constant watch over the expansion of that most unnatural intelligence inspired 1885 Spectator 30 May 705/2 An idolisation of childhood

Idolize (ai·dŏlaiz), v [f Idol sb + -ize]

1 trans To make an idol of, to render to (a person or thing) such adoration or worship as is commonly given to an idol, hence, to venerate, adore, or love to excess (Cf Idolatrize v 2)

1598 Sylvester Du Bartas II ii iv Columnes 763 Whose soule, seduced by his erring eyes, Doth some proud Dame dcvoutly Idolize 1644 Cromwell Sp 9 Dec in Carlyle, They [my soldiers] do not idolize me, but look upon the cause they fight for 1790 Burke Fr Rev Wks V 249 The affectation, which has prevailed in Paris, for idolizing the memory of your Henry the Fourth 1834 Lytton Pompeii III iii, From my childhood upward have idolised the dreams of Virtue 1882 Miss Braddon Phantom Expul I iii 97 He idolizes you, and he lets all the world see it

b In literal sense. To make into an idol, to worship as an idol or idolatrously ? Obs

1669 Gale Crt Gentiles I ii ii 15 The Moon is the same with Diana, which the Gauls greatly idolized 1720 J Covel Acc Grk Ch 354 The Brasen Serpent when it was abused and Idolized Ibid 355 Nehushtan Isa ix 7 He Carveth a log of soundest wood To idolize

2 intr To practise idolatry (cf Idolatrize v 1) 1651 H Hibbert Hart's Ordeal in Phenix II 540 Ye Idolized I 900 I was I that taught thee first to Idolize 1658 Gaule Magastom Ep Ded A ij b, Then the Jewish Apostates Idolized with it and by it 1864 J Bannaim (Webster 1864), To idolize after the manner of Egypt

Hence I dolising vbl sb and ppl a

1637 Gillespie Eng Pop Ceremo III iv 50 The Idolizing of the Ceremonies 1819 Godwin Enquirer (1867) 365 A sin ful idolizing of the creature 1870 Ruskin Aratra Pent ii § 33 The second great condition for the advance of the art of sculpture is that the race should be subservient to the mimetic instinct, the realistic or idolizing instinct

Idolized (ai dŏlaizd), ppl a [f prec + -ed]

1 Made into an idol, considered or treated as an idol. b Revered or loved to excess

1646 Br Maxwell Durel Israels 28 That too too much Idolized Reformation 1649 Milton Eikon 1 Wks (1851) 346 I to throw contempt and disgrace upon this Idolized Book 1705 Stanhope Paraphr II 242 1852 Miss Yonge Cameos (1877) IV 1 13 She had cared little for her husband in comparison with her idolized brother Idolizer (ai·dŏlaizəɹ) [f as prec + -er] One who idolizes.

1660 H More Myst Godl VII I 282 Over-doting Idolizers of the Faculty of Frag will 1757 Foote Author's Wks 1799 I 134, I thought these midwives to the muses were the idolizers of you, their favourite sons 1840 Alford in Life (1873) 35 What wonder then if we became idolizers of Byron? 1889 H F Wood Englishman Run Calv II, He was a dreaming idolizer, and idolizers are foredoomed

Idolo-, combining form of Gr εἴδωλον Idol, as in ‖ Idolodouli a [Gr δουλεία Dulia], veneration of an inferior kind given to idols or images Idologra phical a, descriptive of idols Idolomancy [Gr μαντεία divination by idols] Idoloma nia, †Idolo many [Mania], an infatuated devotion to idols, zealous idolatry

1579 Fulke Confut Sanders 608 It vexeth you that Master Iewell calleth your worshippinge of Images "Idolomania. because you will not haue it Idolatria 1846 Southey Lett (1856) III 539 Recorded in their extravagant 'idolographical work 1652 Gaule Magastrom 165 "Idolomancy, [divining by] Idols. Images, Figures 1624 Gee Foot out of Snare iii 19 The practice of the people among them is no lesse than "Idolomania 1660 Trapp Comm Ex xl 19 So do the Turkes at this day [for lind images], to the shame of Papists' Idolomania 1624 Bp Mountagu Gagg xiv 310 Then your "Idolomanie in Images with stocks and stones, were clean dashed 1654 Trail Comm Pt cxv 4 The like Idolomany is at this day found among Papists

Idoloclast (εἰδῶλοκλαστ). [f Idolo- + Gr -κλαστης breaker, after iconoclast] A breaker or demolisher of idols, an iconoclast

1843 Harp in Arnold's Hist Rome III Pref., In an industrious age, one of the men we most need is an idoloclast Such an idoloclast we had in Dr Arnold 1846 Bp Quincy Sophocles' Antigone Wks XIV 204 Many idoloclasts, who will expose the signs of disease, which zealots had interpreted as power

Hence Idoloclastic a = Iconoclastic

1852 Beddoes' Poems Mem 27 To the transient popularities of the day "a mind as idoloclastic would show but little homage 1852 Tait's Mag XIX 19 Applying to poetry the great idoloclastic test of revolution into prose

†Idolo later. [ad eccl L idōlolatrēs, later -latra, ? Gr εἰδωλολάτρης (in N T), f εἴδωλον Idol + λατρης worshipper] = Idolater

a 1641 Bp Mountagu Acts & Mon (1642) 66 Idololaters they were and Founders of Idolatry, in his opinion Ibid 46, 63

†Idolola tric, a Obs [f med L type idōlolatrix*, f idōlolatria Idololatry, cf Idolatric] Idolatrous

a 1715 Ken Hymnotheo Poet Wks 1721 III 355 Think how Mankind by Hell was captive led, In Rites Idololatrick born and bred

†Idolola trical, a Obs [see -ical] = prec

1550 Hooper Serm Jonas Ep 191, He had removed all grosse and sensible Idololatry and with the swerde had taken away all the Idololatricall priests 1654 Jer Taylor Real Pres 346 As they have ordered the business, they have made it superstitious and Idololatrical 1679 J Barlow Introd Saints & Ador Cross 13 Stupidly irrational and highly Idololatrical

†Idolola trify, v Obs [f L idōlolatrī a Idololatry + -fy cf glorify] trans To make the object of idolatry

a 1641 Bp Mountagu Acts & Mon (1642) 45 False, Idolo latrified Pagan gods

†Idolo latrous, a Obs [f Idololater or its source) + -ous] = Idolatrous

a 1641 Bp Montagu Acts & Mon (1642) 88 The maine multitude of rebellious and Idololatrous Israelites Ibid 232 Those Idololatrous Priests

†Idolo latry. Obs [ad L idōlolatria or Gr εἰδωλολατρεία, f εἰδωλο- Idol + λατρεία service, (the etymological form from which idōlatria Idolatry was contracted] = Idolatry

1550 Hooper Serm Jonas vi 146 b, The vtward behauour and gesture of the receauer [of the sacrament] hould want al kind of suspicion, shew, or substauration of Idololatrye a 1641 Bp Mountagu Acts & Mon (1642) 219 Inducements, incitements to Idololatry, and all manner of impiety

Idolster, obs form of Idolater

†Ido lothasm Obs rare [irreg from next + -ism] The practice of offering to idols

1607 Schol Disc agst Antichr 111 We haue viewed the signe of the Crosse in his Idolothisme considered in generall Ibid 20 The Apostle, in steed of saying by from Idolothisme, saith, fly from Idolatrie a 1640 J Ball Answ Canne II (1642) 24 Flie from idolothisme

†Idolo thyous, a Obs [f Idolo- + θύω to sacrifice + -ous, after idolothyt.] Offered or sacrificed to an idol

1607 Schol Disc agst Antichr 111 The thing being knowen to be Idolothious, a protestation in it we honor not the Idol, serueth not the turne 1637 Gillespie Eng Pop Ceremn II ix 29 What needed Paul to write so much as touching the scandall of meates, and against the scandall of Idolo thious meats? Ibid II iv 49 The Idolothyous Cer monies are become Idols to those who have retained them

Idolothyte (εἰδῶλοθῡτ), a and sb ? Obs In 6 -athet, ? -othite, -yte, ? -ithete, 8 -yte [ad eccl L. Idōlothȳtus, f Gr εἰδωλόθυτος offered to idols, f εἴδωλο- Idol + θυτός sacrificed]

A. adj Offered to an idol

1562 A Scott Poems (S T S) 1 153 Paull biddis nocht deill wt things idolathett. 1637 Gillespie Eng Pop Ceremn II ix 38 The eating of Idolothyte Meats.

B sb A thing offered to an idol Chiefly pl (=Gr neut pl. εἰδωλόθυτα Acts xv 29, 1 Cor. viii 1)

1579 Fulke Heshus' Parl 392 They did eate Idolothytes of the sacrifice 1607 Schol Disc agst Antichr 111 The Canon Law doth reackon a Pagan poems to be an Idolo thite not to be vsed 1703 Moderation a Virtue 9 The Apostles Decree about Idolothytes, Blood, Things strangled, and Fornication

Hence Idolothy tic a, of or characterized by the eating of meats sacrificed to idols

1889 Huxley Ess Controverted Quest (1892) 437 Those who assert the lawfulness of eating meat offered to idols I have called "idolothytic Christians

†Idolous, a Obs [f Idol sb (or I dol-atry) + -ous] a. Of the nature of an idol b Addicted to idols, idolatrous

1546 Bale Eng Votaries 1 (1550) 70 b, Was not thys good wisdom in counsell of thys Idolous Byshop? 1550 — Image Both 11 K vij b When such an Image or Idolous prince is thus vp set or Vnderstand by authority 1550 — Apol 20 Now wyll I saue Christians yoldous sytyknge more monyes to shew himself abroad in hys owne proper persone 1657 Colling Def Bp Ely 11 iv 389 An idolous peice of work

†Idolry. Obs [f Idol + -ry] = Idolatry

1535 Stewart Cron Scot II 46 The faith of Crist and halie kirk to know. And idolrie for to abhor allsail Ibid 399 The Fauth of Christ he hes tyrst full quyte. And turnit hes to idolrie full tyte.

†Idol-te mple. The temple of an idol

1507 [see idol house s.v. Idol 10] 1651 Webster Met Pseud Mem 48 An Idol Temple, dedicated to Apollo 1708 Mickle tr Camoens' Lusiad 3 Levell'd to the dust The idol temples and the shrines of lust 1860 Pusey Min Proph 387 The temple of Baal was to them one great idol temple of which the centre and end was man, a rival worship to God

I-doluen, ME pa pple of Delve v

†Idolum, -on (εἰδόλ-ῠm, ŏn) Pl idola (also ? -ons, -uns) [L. idōlum, Gr εἴδωλον Idol (cf also Eidolon, and see Idol 6, 7]

1 An image or unsubstantial appearance, a spectre or phantom, a mental image, an idea

1619 Pl Sclhas Microcosmus (1916 568 The Constitution of the Worlde is confuse of the Matter, Spirit, and Animall Soule, or Idolum 1647 H More Song of Soul III II xxvi, If like be known by like, then must the mind Innate idolum in self contain, To judge the forms she finds imprinted find Upon occasions 1787 T E Webb Intellectualism Locke v 68 If by the inadvertent utterance of the word Idol the magician has raised a host of idols, he has himself furnished the counter spell by which they are to be exorcised

2 A false mental image or conception, a fallacy

[1620 Bacon Nov Org I xxxix, Quatuor sunt genera Idolorum quae mentes humanas obsident In Idio enda, quibus nomina imposuimus, vt primum genus, Idola Tribus, secundum, Idola Specus, tertium, Idola Fori, quartum, Idola Theatri vocentur]

1640 G Watts tr Bacon's Adv Learn 3 IV § 3 As for the Ideas & Images or Idolaes, certainly Idolaes are the profoundest Fallacies of the mind of man 1654 Whitlock Zootomia 255 To come to the second Bench of Censurers, the Idolists 1678 Cudworth Intell Syst I iv § 7 (67) His opinion can be accounted no other than an Idolum specus some affect to phrase it more—Lord Bacon in his Nouum Organon or a prejudice of men's minds 1865 Lecky Ration (1878) I 403 Bacon was peculiarly qualified for his classification of the idola or distorting influences that act on the mind 1874 Sayce Compar Philol ii 63 Words were intended to be mental landmarks become what Bacon expressively termed Idols empty as sumptions and miscon ceptions

I dol-wo rshipp

1609 Milton P L xii 115 Bred up in Idol worship 1712 S Clarke Doctr Trin 11 § 361 Beware of Idol worship 1875 Helps Ess, 1st Discipline 19 It is idol worship to substitute the form for the spirit

Hence I dol wo rshipper

a 1619 Fotherby Atheom 1 xi § 5 (1622) 121 In making himselfe an Idol God, hee becommeth an Idol worshipper

†Idoni, Idonie, obs forms of Idio, Idie

Idoneal (aidōnĭăl), a rare [f I idoneus + Al] = Idoneous

1760 V Knox 7th Ser (1888) VI 403 Tho they have Parts, with fortune at their Will, fine paper too idoneal Types for Jargon

Idoneity (aidonē·ĭtĭ) [ad late L idoneitas, -tātem, ? idoneus (see next Cf ineptitude, It idoneità] Fitness, suitableness or aptitude

1612 Sir T Smith Pol Eccl Ep 1 x 288 We are not to meane it of morall idoneity, or morall sufficience, but of Ecclesiasticall 1668 Howe Bless Righteous (1825) 139 They want the meetness, the aptitude and fitness for the inheritance of the Saints in light 1822 C Butler Reunion (1823) I 32 To inquire and report upon the learning and general idoneity of the pure Jews

Idoneous (aidōn·ĭəs), a Now rare [f I idone-us fit, suitable + -ous] Apt, fit, or suitable

a 1625 Breme Cron Fetla Kaus (1850) 5 Quhilk Mark abhes eminent in the monastere and fande the said place destitute of idoneus persons, ornamentes, etc 1626 Wilkes' Arch in noth Kelj Hist MSS Comm App v 339 Two idoneous and decent persons shall be elected wardens of the said yeelde 1680 Boyle Prodnc Chem Princ II 71 Salt peter is slowly generated in the Earth by gradual Alterations of some Idoneous Benefice 1726 Ayliffe Parergon 39 An Ecclesiastical Benefice ought to be conferred on an Idoneous Person 1822 Sir Smith Rec Wks (1859) 41 Idoneous, bustling, theological Bishops, the idoneous vehicle of abuse against the Establishment

Hence Ido neousness, fitness, idoneity

1727 Bailey vol II, Idoneousness, fitness, meetness 1848 Blackw Mag Nov 527 The scattered rays of idoneousness and idoneousness.

Idorgan (aidĕ·rgăn) Biol [Arbitrarily f Id-eal + Organ] An ideal or potential organism

1883 F Gregory in Encycl Brit XVI 849/2 The colonies of Protozoa are mere idorgans

I-dorue(n, ME pa pple of Derve v I-doublet, of Double v Idous, obs f Hideous

I-douted, ME pa pple of Doubt v I-douwed, of Dow v 2, to endow

Idra, Idre, obs ff Hydra I-drad, ME pa pple of Dread v I-drahen, I-drawe n, of Draw v I-drede, of Dread v

† I-dree, v Obs [f I- pref 10 + dreogan, f dreogan to Dree] trans To do, perform, endure suffer

Ormulum (A) 2726 Þatt he dede hwatt he drogen hefde

c 950 Lindisf Gosp Matt xx 29 Wiþ þa bleden þeoung, zeeddiende þeet þeelnog 1175 Lamb Hom 9 Wa unnen þæregan ure wil þe hwile þe we beoð sunge 1205 Lay 6708 He ne mihte idrizenie 1275 Iodelin to þen kynge þat he drem 1225 Juliana 47 Hwil þat cancr sculen men in idren idrehen heaten hire bearc bodi

I-dreufe, ME pa pple of Drive v

Idrialin (ĭdrĭ·ălĭn) [f as next + -in] 1 Min The name originally given by Dumas (in 1832) to Idrialite

1844 Dana Min (ed 2) 517 Idrialin

2 Chem The essential constituent of idrialite, $C_{11}H_4O$, forming colourless scales which melt at a very high temperature

1858 T Thomson Chem Org Bodies 748 When branders is distilled idrialin comes over in brilliant plates light and micaceous, burning with the exhalation of a balsamic odour 1858 Turner's Chem 1071 Idrialin was obtained by M Dumas from a mineral found in the quicksilver mines of Idria. 1865–72 Watts Dict Chem III 242 Idrialin heated with strong sulphuric acid forms a solution of a fine blue colour, like that of sulphindigotic acid

Idrialite (ĭdrĭălāĭt) Min [Named from Idria in Austria where the mineral is found in the quick silver mines see -lite] A mineral hydrocarbon, called also inflammable cinnabar, of a massive and opaque, with greasy lustre, and greyish or brownish-black colour (Watts) (It was made known to chemists by Payssé in 1814, and was at first named by Dumas, 1832 idrialin)

1849 J Nicol Min 527 Idrialite burns with a thick smoky flame 1868 Dana Min (ed 5) 738 Dumas separated the idrialite by treatment with oil of turpentine

Idrious, Idromancer, Idropise, Idrosis, obs ff Hydrious, Hydromancer, Hydropsy, Hydrosis

I driuen, I-dronken, I-drowe, ME pa pples of Drive, Drink Dree vbs

I-dubbed, I-dubled, I-durked, I-dust, I-dut, ME pa pples of Dub, Double, Dark, Dust Dit vbs

† I-duze, v Obs [Cf OE dugan to be of use, avail (see Dow v 1)] Profitable advantageous

a 1250 Owl & Night 182 Þat gode wif fondeþ hu heo muze Do þing þat him beo muze

Idyll, idyl (ĭ·dĭl) Also 7 eidyl I see also Idellium [ad I idyllium (idyllium), f Gr εἰδυλλιον a short descriptive poem, dim of εἶδος form, picture (cf F idylle)]

1 A short poem, descriptive of some picturesque scene or incident, chiefly in rustic life Prose idyll, a prose composition treating subjects of the same kind in a poetic style

1601 Holland Pliny II 299 Those amatorious eidyls and eclogues of Theocritus among Greek Poets of Catullus and Virgil among us 1698 Phillips, [idyl, a kinde of Eclogue, or Pastoral Poem such as was written by Theocritus, Moschus and others. 1799 W Taylor in Robberds Mem (1843) I 241 The descriptive parts of this idyll are unsurpassable 1859 J H Stirling Text Key Tennyson 126 Such is the Idyll or Idyl — as on the whole, Tennyson's favourite form of rhythmical composition 1873 Symonds Grk Poets x 206 The name of the Idyll sufficiently expresses its nature It is a little picture Rustic or town life, legends of the gods, and passages of personal experience supply the subject with subjects Generally the poet is a shepherd, and in his fate the Idyll is epic, its verse too is the hexameter 1879 World 16 Apr An Idyll is not necessarily concerning pastoral matters though from the prevalence of such topics in the idyls of Theocritus the general notion is that idyllic and pastoral are almost convertible terms 1888 Barrie (title) Auld Licht Idylls [Prose]

2 transf An episode or a series of events or circumstances of pastoral or rural simplicity, and suitable for an idyll

1841–4 Emerson Lect Poet Wks (Bohn) I 264 The pruning of the birds is an idyll, not tedious as our idylls are 1869 Lecky Europ Mor II v 296 Nausicaa, whose figure shines like a perfect idyll among the tragedies of the Odyssey

3 Mus A composition, usually instrumental, of a pastoral or sentimental character (Cent Dict)

4 Comb Idyll pastoral a, pastoral in subject and idyllic in form

1849 C C Otte tr Humboldt's Cosmos II 124 The artificial form of the pastoral romances, or what is called the poésie Idyller (ĭ·dĭlə). [f prec + -er1] The author of an idyll

1895 Brit Weekly 7 Feb 258 That life which he has just behind to-day and would soon be quite forgotten if it were not for the idyller who has saved some of the best for us

Idyllian (ĭdĭ·lĭăn), a rare Also 5 idyllan [f L idyllium (Idyll + -an] = Idyllic

1726 M Davies Athen Brit II 160 Of all the Poetick Suits, the Pastick is most Pure the Eclogue and Idilian the most Country wise and Natural 1844 Thirlwall Greece G3 – 2

VIII lxxi 416 A pleasing idyllian episode in a life divided between the senate and the camp. 1865 MARK HOWITT F Bremer's Greece I 115 The country is of idyllian beauty

Idyllic (ıdi·lik), a. [mod. f. Gr εἰδύλλιον or ΙΔΥΛΛΙΟΝ + -IC. Cf. Idyllique.]

a. Of, belonging to, or of the nature of an idyll

b forming a suitable theme for an idyll, full of natural simple charm or picturesqueness

1856 MRS. STOWE Dred II 68 How perfectly cool and inviting, you look! Really, quite idyllic! 1861 Sat Rev 7 Sept 248 I he Amante and Madonna of Guido d'Arezzo to us appears to display a genuine and wonderful idyllic power 1862 LOWELL Biglow P Ser II 11, Much might be said on the topick of Idyllick and Pastoral Poetry 1874 FARRAR Christ xiii, At Nazareth, with all its idyllic memories of His boyhood, and His mother's home 1897 DOWDEN Int Lit iv 326 An Utopian visionary an idyllic dreamer

Hence Idyllical a. rare, Idyllically adv.

1874 SYMONDS Sk Italy & Greece (1898) I viii 164 The female heads are singularly noble and idyllically graceful 1876 SAINTSBURY in Academy 30 Dec 622 They spend the winter idyllically 1885 STEVENSON Dynamiter 117 A pro cess of idyllical simplicity

Idyllism [see ISM.] The peculiar character or nature of an idyllic poem or scene 1873 S. WARD in Longfellows Life (1891) III 219 The omission of those disarming contrasts makes your master piece soothing and tender, almost to stillness.

Idyllist (ɔi·dilist) Also idylist [f. IDYLL + IST.] A writer of idylls, an idyllic poet

1799 W. TAYLOR in Robberds Mem (1843) I 244, I should not think the English idyllist wise, who made himself a character in such a scene 1873 [see IDYLL 1] 1886 Athenæum 6 Feb 209/2 Ready to measure himself with the idyllist of another age

Idyllium, -on. Obs. Also 6 idillion PI. idyllia (-uma, -ona) [a. L idyllium, a. Gr εἰδύλλιον: see IDYLL.] = IDYLL

1579 F. K Glass Speculum Sleyth Cal Aug, Such pretie descriptions (with the like) doth bring in his Idyllia thid. Oct, Thus Æglogue is made in imitation of Theocritus his 21 Idillion 1647 H. MORE Poems Pref., Every Poem is an Idyllium 1777 TRANS. M. W. MONTAGU Let to Pope 1 Apr., Theocritus I do not doubt, had he been born a Briton, but his idyllums had been filled with descriptions of threshing and churning 1865 CHAMBERS Cyclop. Theocritus is the oldest author who has written idyllions. 1869 W. IRVING Knickerb (1886) 52 To sing, in soft Bucolic or unrhymed Idyllium, the rural Beauties of the scene

Idyllize (ɔi·dilɔiz) v. [f. IDYLL + IZE.] trans. To make into an idyll, to render idyllic

1886 SYMONDS Renaiss It, Cath Reac (1898) VII viii 12 The force of the poem [in 1579 Tears of the Muses] is idyllised in the episode of Erminia among the shepherds

Idyot(e, Idyothe, obs forms of IDIOT

Idyous, obs form of HIDEOUS

Ie-, former spelling of IE-, as in Iealousie, Ieius see I, the letter

-ie, earlier form of -Y suffix primarily in words from OF -ie or -e, as astronomie, famine, ethic, duetie, but often extended also to words from OF -ig, as rie, stonie, and from other sources, in most use known chiefly as the Sc. spelling, now also often adopted in England of the diminutive y in birdie, deasie, doggie, Jeanie, Willie, etc.

1747 W. MAURICE Trav Mind 109 English Words that end with the sound of i, may be indifferently writ with a y, or ie, Safety or Safetie, Bounty or Bountie, but you must never end them with an e only, as Bounti, Safeti for we have no English words so terminated 1889 J. S. WINTER A Siege Baby 9 Now, my chickie, let me go Iebet, iebot, obs ff GIBBET I-eggede, ME pa. pple of EGG *v.*1 Iekyll, obs f ICKLE, icicle Ield, obs f. YIELD I-eled, ME pa. pple of FELE *v.*1 Obs., to anoint. Ielefloure, Ielopher, obs ff GILLIFLOWER I-ended, ME pa. pple of END *v.*1 Ieniuer, obs f JUNIPER Ieode, pa. t. of I adv. Obs.

-ier, a suffix forming nouns designating position, employment, or profession, derived from obs. rarely agent nouns from vbs., (1) in words of ME age, in which the suffix is unstressed, and varies (or has varied) with -yer, as collier, bowyer, (2) in words of later date (since 16th c.), in which the suffix is stressed, and varies with -EER, as bombardier, cashier, cannoneer (-ier), financier

1 In words of ME age, the suffix is of obscure and app of diverse origin Among the earliest examples are cottier (-other), tilier, and bowyer the first is a OF cotier = med L cotārius, and its retention of -ier is remarkable, because OF -ier normally became -er in AFr and Eng., as in butler, draper, farmer (see ER- 2), tillere (1250–1400), 'tiller, cultivator', appears to be an analogical formation on OE tilha, early ME tilie, on the analogy of such pairs as OE hunta, ME huntere, since the etymological formation would have been tilere, for bowyer (1297 bowiare, a 1450 bowyere, bowyere), the suggestion has been made that the i, y, represents the y of ME boye, BOW, but this is doubtful Other examples are collier (1381 colere, cholier, colyer, etc.), lawyer 1362 (but also, a 1400, lawer, lowyer (1407 lokier), brasier (1400 50 brasuer, brasyere), hellier, hillyer (15th c helier, helyer, hillyer), spurrier a 1450, halyer 1479 (haulyer 1577), grasier c1500 Of glasier a 1400), clothier, hosier, sawyer a 1500), furrier, painter, sour (16th c.), there exist as early (in some cases earlier) forms in -er, courrier, cozier, furrier, are 16th c forms altered from ME. or OF agentnouns in -our, drapier glasier, soldier, are 16th c. variants of draper, glaser, soldier, farmer a late vulgarism for farmer. In other words, as carrier, courtier, currier, soldier, the suffix is really -er (or earlier our), the i belonging to the Eng. or F vb stem (see also IOUR.)

2 In words of later introduction, the suffix is the F -ier (-ière see -ARY) The earlier of these, as bombardier, cannoneer (-eer), cashier, cavalier, chevalier, halberdier, harquebusier, date from 16th c., others, as brigadier, cuirassier (-eer), cuirassier, financier, fusilier, gondolier, grenadier, from 17th or 18th c. Some, as cordelier, have taken the place of an earl er form in -er, which goes back to ME Many of these also occur with the spelling -eer, expressing the English pronunciation; in some this spelling has been established, and from them -EER has become a living English suffix, as in auctioneer, charioteer, pamphleteer

Iorapigre see HIPPA PICRA Ierarch, ierarchie, obs ff HIERARCH, -Y I-erded, -et, ME pa. pple of FRDE v. Obs, to dwell

Ierce obs f. IRK Sc. Also Iesit ogre [Gael iar ogha, iar after i-ogha grandchild] A great-grandchild

1701 BRAND Descr Orkney 21 (Jam.) There was also one Laurentius in the parish of Waes, whose heir dyes do yet live there, who arrested at a great age 1786 BURNS Dedto Gavin Hamilton xiv, May he thrive and prosper, with mutual joys, Shine on the evening o his days, Till his wee curlie John's ier-oe, The last and warmest tie! [see SCOTTICISMS]

I-esced, ME pa. pple of ASK v. Iessorand, obs f JAZERANT Iest(e, obs ff GEST, JEST Iesyne, var GESINE Obs childbed I eten, ME pa. pple of EAT v. Iethe, iepe, var of FATH Obs, easy Iette, Ietteour, obs ff JET, JETTER Ieuese, var of I use Obs Iey, obs f. IVY

If (if), conj. (sb.) Forms 1 gif, gyf (xof, xife xib), 2–5 yif, yef, 3 yef, 3eif, 3yf, (Ormin) 3iff, 3–5 3yf, yef, also 4 3iue, yif, yhef, 4 5 3eue, yeue, 5 3ife, 3yfo, yiffe, yeffe, 3eff), 7, 3, 4– if, (4 of, 4–6 yf, 5 yff, 5 6 iffe, 5–7 iff) See also GIF [OF (gif (early WS rare gef), late WS 3of Northumbrian ruic, gef), contract (more or less) to OI ris gef (-f), gef (-f), ef (-f) (MLG jef, MDu jof, of, Du of) 'if', OHG ibu (oba, ubi), MHG obe, ob, Ger ob 'whether, if', ON ef 'if', Goth ibai 'whether, lest', jabai 'if, even if, although' The phonetic relations of the various forms, and their OEnt type or types, have not been satisfactorily determined By many considered to represent one or more forms of the type represented by OHG iba str f., 'condition, stipulation, doubt', ON if, ef neut, ifi, ef wk masc., 'doubt, hesitation' (whence ifa, efa vb 'to doubt', Sw ef 'exception, challenge', jafna 'to make an exception against, to challenge'), the conj thus meaning originally 'on condition', 'on the stipulation (that)' , but it has not been certainly determined whether the conj is thus derived from the sb., or the sb founded on the conj A notable point in ME is the development of the northern form GIF, q v]

I Introducing a clause of condition or supposition (the protasis of a conditional sentence)

On condition that, given or granted that, in (the) case that, supposing that, on the supposition that

1 With the conditional clause or protasis in the indicative The indicative after if implies that the speaker expresses no adverse opinion as to the truth of the statement in the clause, it is consistent with his acceptance of it

(In modern use the indicative is preferred to the subjunctive in cases when it be near the border line of 1 and 2)

a Conditional clause in present (or pres perf) indicative, b with principal clause in present (or pres [perf.]) indicative

Beowulf (Z) 1347 Ac he me hrðdman wile dýrjeore ðinne ðif mec deaðe nimeð 971 Ilakl Hom 27 Þas ealle ic þe sylle, þif þu feallest to me 1000 Ags Gosp Matt xviii 15 Gif he þe synnaþ, þu gesceadwisl hine bradlor 1200 Trin Coll Hom 31 Iyr'ius 33 Sif þu ðus dest. Danne berest þu þin rode 1382 WYCLIF John i 25 What therfore baptisist thou, if thou art not Crist, neiþir Helyc, neiþir prophete? a 1450 Knt de la Tour (1868) 5 For syf ye do, the dede pruethe for you 1611 BIBLE Gen iv 7 If thou doe [16 doest] well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest [Geneva doe] not well sinne lieth at the doore 1885 Pall Mall G 17 Dec 10 If faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone 1777 SHERIDAN Sch Scandal II ii, She's six and fifty if she's a day

1885 JULIA KAVANAGH French Wom of Lett I viii 214 If I have not married, it is because I have not loved 1864 HOWEN Logic vi § 3. 165 If A is true, O is false, E false, and I true If A is false, O is true, E is false, I is true. 1878 MORLEY Crit Misc Ser I Carlyle 200 If he does see it, he rides roughshod over it β with principal clause in future indic. (or its equivalent)

c1000 Ags Gosp John vii 52 Sif hwa mine spræce zehealt ne hiġ he nafre deaþ c1000 ORMIN 673 Siff he seþ þatt i min tes obbe þurrhzeredd off hiss wiþþ3e, He wile himm fa3renn a 1250 Owl & Night 904 Set I be wulle an odur segge Sif þu hit sonst a riht bikigge. 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 10997 Sif we ðe ssolle ssewe ure wille, þou ssalt ine londe 1340 Hampole Pr Consc 1350 Harrow Hell 119 3ef þou revest me of myne, Y shal reve the of thyne c1390 Cursor M 14254 (Trin.) 3if þe þis temple felle to grounde I shal rere in litil stounde. c1440 Partonope 6663 Gyff I scape fro thens on lyve Agayn to pryssoun I shall come as blyþe 1596 SHAKS. Merch V iii 1 50 If we are like you in the rest, we will resemble you in that 1633 Castle Women i 1 Bullen O Pl IV, He tell another tale, if they have done 1776 Trial of Nundo comar 73/2 If you do not give a plain answer to a plain question, you will be committed 1816 J. WILSON City of Plagues i 36 I'll give thee half of it If thou speak'st truly Mod If he does it, he will be punished.

γ with principal clause in imperative a900 Martyrol in O & Texts 178 And gif monn munne noman nemnede in ænige freeninsse Sonne zeðyhe se ilcere aldhoderinsse c1000 Ags Gosp Matt xviii 15 Soplice zyf þin broþor synzaþ (I ind synnizæ), hrahtw firnize rel synzaþ) wið þe, ga and sylf him oncnaw wið xyf he þe ne zeþyrð þ. Lc xvii 3 Gif he þec, and gif he þe ne zeþyrð, Rushw zif he þec neode twegen to þe c1200 Trin Coll Hom 33 Sef þe is lef þin hete, heald þin cunde 1340 Ayenb 189 Yef þou hest ynou of goode yef largelyche, yef þou hest lute, yef of þo litle yef gledliche. 1388 WYCLIF Matt xvii 26, 17 If he herith the not, take with thee oon or tweyne And if he herith [v r here] not hem, seye thou to the Church 1535 COVERDALE Gen xlvi. 6 Yf thou knowest that there be men of actuyte amonge them, make them rulers of my catell 1611 BIBLE Job xxxvii 18 Canst if thou knowest it all — Psalms 18 If hee hath wronged thee or oweth thee ought, put that on mine account 1680 DRYDEN Troil & Cres (Arb) 17/1 If I [Folio 1623 I'll] am a traytor, assert your Son By some sure Sign Mod If they are not good, throw them away

δ with principal clause of other forms

1611 BIBLE 2 Cor xi 4 If he that commeth preacheth another Iesus, ye might well be ate with him 1822 BYRON Cain I ii 91 If I shrink not from these, why should I recoil from him who now approaches? Mod If records are to be trusted there was no famine this year

b Conditional clause in past (or pluperf.) indic, with principal clause in indic. or imper c885 Lindf Psalter vii 4, 5 gif ic dyde ðis, zif is unrelt wrans in handum minum, zif ic azald ðam zeleddendum me, yfel, rel zefylde [etc.] 1000 Ags Gosp Matt xxvi 24 zif þu hin hæd3 3 wære hwæmes zeeacnes he forzifð þt þuh 1200 Trin Coll Hom 33 Ige Gosp John xiii 14 zif ic þwoh eowre fet ze sceolon þweon eower ele oðres fet 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 8815 Sif eine of is men misdude þe poure vengiance he nom stronge 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron (1810) 40 If he had pes at euen, he had non at morow 1386 CHAUCER Wife of Bath's T 57 If that Pafamon was wounded sore Arcite is hurt as moche as he or moore. 1600 SHAKS. A Y L iii ii 41 If thou neuer saw'st good manners, then thy manners must be wicked Thou art in a parlous state 1832 TENNYSON Lotos-eaters 13 If his fellow spake, His voice was thin as voices from the grave 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) I 267 If Amyclas was the Achæan spirit, we can the better understand how it might be able to hold out 1895 LYALL Wes Gorkha ii (1897) 21 But if the town wish for less noise it so were the stars Mod If he had loved her before, he now adored her

c Conditional clause in future indicative (or its equivalent) with principal clause in indic or imper Now arch (supplied by a)

(Also is here considered as future.)

c885 Lindf Psalter xii 5 [xiii 4] Dy swancie ne zefrah, zif onsyrzd is beim 850 in O men fiehte þem þe in freoðsmunde, zif he ðonne lifes bið 1000 Ags Gosp Matt v 37 Soðlice zyf þeer mare þis þ, hot þeð of yfele 1205 LAY 480 Sif þou þis nult þolien þe þinen þolien þe wer 1297 R. GLOUC. (Rolls) 716 Sif þou wole sse3 sum more write of me, Al þe ground schulle segge þe 1375 Cursor M 9419 (Fairf) Yf þou wolle wit þi fader wille, Þou salt be lord as I bee told 1388 WYCLIF Matt xviii 15 Sif thi brother shal synne (1388 synneth, 1611 shall trespasse) in thee, go thou and repreue hym Bytwix thee [Rhem and him], if thy brother shal offende against thee, goe and rebuke him If he shal heare thee, thou shalt gaine [1611 hast gained] thy brother 1611 BIBLE Matt xviii 19 If two of you shal agree as touching any thing that they shall aske, it shall bee done for them

2 With the conditional clause or protasis in the subjunctive, and the principal clause or apodosis in the indicative or imperative The subjunctive after if implies that the speaker guards himself from endorsing the truth or realization of the statement, it is consistent with his doubt of it a Conditional clause in present subjunctive, a with principal clause in imperative

Beowulf (Z) 1452 Onsend hizelace xif mec hild nime 805 in O & Texts 442 xif þu bearn mæðbe ponne he to 8 un londe a900 Ihal Hom 176 xif men herlice wyrde munecha, oððe specan ne mæge, halga him ðis watter c950 Lindisf Gosp Mark xii 19 Moses us awræt þæt gif hwelc broðer deaid sie and forlete þet wif onfoe broðer his hi fæ3. the c1000 Ags Gosp Matt iv 3 zyf þu godes sunu sy [Vulg si, Lind 8u ar8, Rushw sin, Hatt syo] cwæð þet þu stanas to hlafe zeworðon Ihal 6 zyf þu godes sunu eart [v r. I. ar8, R sie, H ert] c1385 Merc Hom 52 Ilk dai mak we a forne I till heuin, if we god men be 1388 WYCLIF Matt iv 3 3if thou be [1388 art, TINDALE and all ye to 1611 be, R V srtl Goddis sone, say that hese stoons be maad loones c 1430 Two Cookery Mss 9 3if t be lente or fyuaday take brothe of be freyshe fyshe 1534 TINDALE Luke xiii 9 If it beare not then, after that, ut it doone [later 1611 thou shalt cut it downe] 1611 BIBLE John xx 15 Sir, if thou haue borne (Vulg. sustulisti: WYCLIF, Cranmer, Rhem, R V hast, TINDALE, CRANMER haue borne) him hence, tell me where thou hast layd him. — Phil ii. 1 If there bee therefore any consolation in Christ. Fulfill ye my ioy 1795 JOHNSON Idler No. 58 P 2 if there be any man faultless, bring him forth into publick view Mod. If he come to morrow, send for me

B with principal clause in future indic (or its quivalent)

13 Cursor M 6675 (Gött) If he to mun auter fly Men sal um bein draw to dede c 1386 CHAUCER Prol 500 If gold ute, what shal Iren doo? c 1400 MAUNDEV (1839) ii 25 if thou kepe wel, thou shalte have alle thu Treasure. Ibid (Roxb) v 24 If pou ga noght, pou schall hafe grete sarme c 1450 Myrc 67 3ef thow do bus thow schalt be fere fo alle men that ven and here 1526 TINDALE Luke x 5 And yf the sonne of peace be there, youre peace shall rest upon hym 1533 More Debell. Salem Wks 956/1 He that lyeth in deadly sinne shall goe to the deuill, if goddes word be true 1611 BIBLE Judg xvi 17 If I bee shauen I shall become weake, and bee like any other man 1818 CRUISE Digest ed 2) II 142 If part of the money be paid off, and a farther sum is borrowed no redemption will be granted unless both sums are paid

γ with principal clause in pres indic

c 1400 MAUNDEV (Roxb) Prol 2 If we be rigt clulder of Criste, we awe for to chalange be heritage bat oure fadir eft to vs Ibid 1 4 If a man come fro be west partys of be werld he may wende thurgh Almayne 1450 (Hvac 22 Luytel ys worthy by prechynge, 3ef thow be of euyle lyuynge 1526 TINDALE John x 35 Why lay ye vnest thou then yf thou be not Christ, nor Helias? 1596 SHAKS. Merch. V iii 1 71 If a Iew wrong a Christian, what is his humility? 1611 BIBLE John xv 18 If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you 1648 JENKYN Blind Guide 3 If I be so young, I am in part excused for my ignorance 1854 J COOK Logick (1657) 118 [PS cxxvii 1] If the Lord keep not the citie, the people watch in vain 1839 Times 18 Apr, If we be not ill Dutchamised within another month, it is not from my sensible relaxation in the work of projected mischief 1851 A LAYTON Ch of Christ iv (1898) 163 If it [the Church] were in its essence so visible a body as the republic of Venice, we have no need of faith to realise its existence

b with principal clause of other form

1668 STILLING Drag Sacr i vi § 4 If we believe Joseph's singer, there could not be in Esther of the Sun at the time thereof by Iarruthus 1697 DRYDEN Virg Georg iv 7,5 (or sev'n continu'd Months, if Fame say true, The wretched swain his Sorrows did renew

b Conditional clause in past subjunctive (in past ense), with principal clause in indic or imper

a 1400 (?Alexius 841 Yif he were ey3 lete wor, Thanne ere he to moche more 1535 STUART Adds. Ld. Fenner I were Traitor, My name be blotted from the books of Life 1601 — Tul. Com iii 84 If it were so, it was a generous Fault, And a courtesy hath Cæsar answer'd it 1850 TENNYSON In Mem cxxii, If thou wert with me, and the grave Divide us not, be with me now

c Conditional clause in subjunctive with should in present or future sense (if it should rain to day it to-morrow') with principal clause in imperative, or in future, present, or pres perf indicative ('do not come', 'I shall not come', 'I am prepared for t', 'I have planned something else')

1821 3 ROGERS Italy xviii 1 If ever you should come to Modena Stop at the Palace near the Reggio gate 1838 DICKENS Nich Nick vii, If you should go near Barnard Castle, there is good ale at the Kings Head 1850 TENNYSON In Mem xliv, If such a dreamy touch should stay Or turn thee round, resolve the doubt Mod If you should come across him, tell him that I am looking for him.

3. With both protasis and apodosis in the subjunctive Expressing a supposition which is admittedly not true or realized, and stating what would be the logical or natural consequence of its truth or realization

a Conditional clause in past subjunctive, with present or future sense ('if you came', 'should come', 'were to come' now or to-morrow)

898 O. E. Chron an 894 Swa bet he nidre asgierne ierendan 3if he ænigne feld secan wolden c 1000 Ags. Gosp John viii 42 3if god were cowre fæder, wyrdlice 3e lufedon me Lind. 3if god fæder ure wære 3e ualde lufiga me] c 1250 Kent Serm in O E Misc 27 He bit wolde don, yef he hit mohte finde c 1300 Havelok 1974 Yif he ne were, ich were noon ibed 1307 Horrok & Might in Rel Ant I 241 This world were nout 3if wimen nere 1380 WYCLIF Serm Sel Wks I 217 If Peter were now alyue he wolde seie bei were nou prestis of Crist 1382 — John xvii 30 If this were not a mysdoer, we hadden not bitaken 3ym to thee [1388 Rhem, If he were not a malefactour, we would not haue deliuered him vp to thee] 1509 MORE Dyalogue iii Wks 200/1 Yet wer it a damnpable errour to worship anye if we shoulde worship none at all c 1615 FLETCHER Mad Lover i 1, If I were given to that vanity What a most precious subject had I purchased 1766 GOLDSM Vic W xvi, And if I were a king, it should be otherwise. 1849 MACAULAY Hist I 11 3, I should very imperfectly execute the task if I were merely to treat of battles and sieges Mod. If he were to come, what should we do? If he came, I should have to fight. If I were you, I would not do it If they should meet you, it would be awkward

b Conditional clause in pluperf subj, with past sense ('if you had come', 'would have come')

1382 WYCLIF John xi 21 Lord, if thou haddist be here, my brother haddist not be deed [1539 CRANMER, Lord, yf thou had dest bene here, my brother had not dyed] 1482 Monk of Evesham (Arb) 59 He hadde brought pleasaunte wordes and tydynges of my dampnacyon to hys father the deuyl, yefle the mercye and goodnes of my lorde sente Nycholas hyd not wythstonde hym 1614 BP HALL Recoll Treat 610 If they had beene as hot for God, as they were for themselves it had beene happy 1665 SIR T HERBERT Trav (1677) 120 Shame it were, If we had gathered nothing 1818 CRUISE Digest (ed 2) III 419 If he had altered it. it would deem'd to the vsier of the whole blood 1819 SHELLEY Cenci II, If he had killed me, he had done a double deed 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng vii II 256 All his difficulties would have been greatly augmented if Anne had declared herself favourable to the Indulgence 1851 Mod If he would have consented, all would have been right

4. In pregnant senses

a Even if, even though, though, granted that c 1340 Cursor M 5779 Fairf Pe stude wil-outen ende ile a mun bit 3it vn-seyne, if [Cott pof, Gött þou, Trin þouje] bit of alle haue a sijt 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter lxxi 14 (1781 & MS) Honorable in [= name of poor] before him 1560 BIBLE (1st ed of present) before men] 1572 R H tr Lanuginis Cheatles (1596) 197 If Spirites of their owne accorde would gladly tell vs matters of things, yet we must not giue eare vnto them Mod. If he did say so, you needn't believe him If they are poor, they are at any rate happy

†b — If it is certain or true that, as sure as Obs

1606 SHAKS Mach iii iv 74 If I stand here, I saw him

5. If that (north) of as if Now as ch

c 1200 ORMIN Ded 249 He shall o Domes dag3 Sus gæfenn hiss mede, 3iff þatt he wel wel3enn wollde here a 1300 Dame Siriz in Wright Anecd 3 If that thou me tellest skil I shal þan dien after þe wil 1309 Hegg Lyfe I. iv, Alyen þat he hadde forlet [Trin Coll þat he hadde forlyte c 1340 Cursor M 5869 Fairf] Par salle for sop if ani atte I may Wirk ydayes werk a non adrij c 1386 CHAUCER Prol 2 And eek in what array that they were inne And at a trappe, if it were dried or bledde c 1450 Guy B anw (C) 1809 Yf pat y may, With my handys I schall assay 1509 BARCLAY Ship of Fools (1874) I 169 In the meane space, if that death vntretable Arrest the 1605 SHAKS Lear v iii 269 If that her breath will mist or stayne the stone, Why then she liues 1818 BYRON Sardan i 482 If that you conquer, I live to joy in your great triumph

6. The conditional clause is often elliptical, and may dwindle down to if and a word or phrase sufficient to suggest the complete sense, so if not (= if a thing is, be, or were not), formerly sometimes = unless, except

c 1380 Sir Ferumb 1 Knowe it spue ge be can 1560 BIBLE (Genev) Dan iii 18 Our God wil deliuer vs But if not, be it known to thee, o King, yt we will not serue thy gods 1642 Rogers Naaman 11 § 139 61 He hath not authorize to deliver it, if not by commandement 1665 SIR T HERBERT Trav (1677) 175 Troas are of great vertue, if finically wrought 1691 Wood Ath Oxon I 318 If not to judge of the feelings of others by what we might feel if in their place 1845 M PATTISON Ess (1889) II 13 The style of Pope, if not elegant I am, yet correct, sufficiently classical 1888 A non Lege II 70 So that she, if not dead, is possible 1888 Diary Lond Rem 1 July 18/1 He measured six feet two, and inch, he weighed eighteen stone, if a pound 1895 R H SHEPARD in Book mart Oct 2 Mod labours had over his proofs of the book, though little, if at all, over the newer portions

7. The conditional clause alone by apostopesis of the principal clause) is sometimes used as an exclamation to express (a) a wish or determination, e g If I had only known! 'see I would have done so and so', b surprise or indignation, e g If ever I heard the like of that! The wretch! if he has not smashed the window!

c 1000 Sax Leech I xlv 42 3if þu wistest and wisdi le on þysum þinum dæge þe be to syþlic sint 1380 WYCLIF Wks (1880) 3 Han þanken God, and þanken hem in this thi day 1637 RUTHERFORD Lett (1862) I 393 If this kingdom would glorify the Lord in my behalf! 1702 VANBRUGH Relapse II iii, If he is not equipped for a housebreaker! Mod collog bless me! if there is not another of them!

†c If of the conditional clause is often omitted (esp with a subjunctive), the sense is facilitated by giving by inverting the order of subject and verb

Formerly sometimes without inversion, esp after that, and after glad (where if was perhaps confused with that)

1340 Cursor M 7210 Fairf Pe vnde he in hir bed lai [Cott pof hit nere] for wrek dome 1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 2473 Vbs. pou pour ynou hou mist pe glad & blipe 1377 LANGL Piers Pl B xvi 211 Ac if he is nat equipped for a housebreaker! Mod collog bless me! if there is not another of them!

†c If of the conditional clause is often omitted (esp with a subjunctive), the sense is facilitated by giving by inverting the order of subject and verb

Formerly sometimes without inversion, esp after that, and after glad (where if was perhaps confused with that)

1340 Cursor M 7210 Fairf Pe vnde he in hir bed lai [Cott pof hit nere] for wrek dome 1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 2473 Vbs. pou pour ynou hou mist pe glad & blipe 1377 LANGL Piers Pl B xvi 211 Ac if he is nat equipped for a housebreaker! Mod collog bless me! if there is not another of them!

†c If of the conditional clause is often omitted (esp with a subjunctive), the sense is facilitated by giving by inverting the order of subject and verb

Formerly sometimes without inversion, esp after that, and after glad (where if was perhaps confused with that)

1340 Cursor M 7210 Fairf Pe vnde he in hir bed lai [Cott pof hit nere] for wrek dome 1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 2473 Vbs. pou pour ynou hou mist pe glad & blipe 1377 LANGL Piers Pl B xvi 211 Ac if he is nat equipped for a housebreaker! Mod collog bless me! if there is not another of them!

I could 1902 if it were possible Ibid 1 4 If a man come fro be west partys of be werld he may wende thurgh Almayne 1450 (Hvac 22 Luytel ys worthy by prechynge, 3ef thow be of euyle lyuynge 1526 TINDALE John x 35 Why lay ye vnest thou then yf thou be not Christ, nor Helias? 1596 SHAKS Merch V iii 1 71 If a Iew wrong a Christian, what is his humility? 1611 BIBLE John xv 18 If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you 1648 JENKYN Blind Guide 3 If I be so young, I am in part excused for my ignorance 1854 J COOK Logick (1657) 118 [PS cxxvii 1] If the Lord keep not the citie, the people watch in vain 1839 Times 18 Apr, If we be not ill Dutchamised within another month, it is not from my sensible relaxation in the work of projected mischief 1851 A LAYTON Ch of Christ iv (1898) 163 If it [the Church] were in its essence so visible a body as the republic of Venice, we have no need of faith to realise its existence

b with principal clause of other form

1668 STILLING Drag Sacr i vi § 4 If we believe Joseph's singer, there could not be in Esther of the Sun at the time thereof by Iarruthus 1697 DRYDEN Virg Georg iv 7,5 (or sev'n continu'd Months, if Fame say true, The wretched swain his Sorrows did renew

b Conditional clause in past subjunctive (in past ense), with principal clause in indic or imper

a 1400 (?Alexius 841 Yif he were ey3 lete wor, Thanne ere he to moche more 1535 STUART Adds. Ld. Fenner I were Traitor, My name be blotted from the books of Life 1601 — Tul. Com iii 84 If it were so, it was a generous Fault, And a courtesy hath Cæsar answer'd it 1850 TENNYSON In Mem cxxii, If thou wert with me, and the grave Divide us not, be with me now

c Conditional clause in subjunctive with should in present or future sense ('if it should rain to day it to-morrow') with principal clause in imperative, or in future, present, or pres perf indicative ('do not come', 'I shall not come', 'I am prepared for t', 'I have planned something else')

1821 3 ROGERS Italy xviii 1 If ever you should come to Modena Stop at the Palace near the Reggio gate 1838 DICKENS Nich Nick vii, If you should go near Barnard Castle, there is good ale at the Kings Head 1850 TENNYSON In Mem xliv, If such a dreamy touch should stay Or turn thee round, resolve the doubt Mod If you should come across him, tell him that I am looking for him.

3. With both protasis and apodosis in the subjunctive Expressing a supposition which is admittedly not true or realized, and stating what would be the logical or natural consequence of its truth or realization

a Conditional clause in past subjunctive, with present or future sense ('if you came', 'should come', 'were to come' now or to-morrow)

898 O. E. Chron an 894 Swa bet he nidre asgierne ierendan 3if he ænigne feld secan wolden c 1000 Ags. Gosp John viii 42 3if god were cowre fæder, wyrdlice 3e lufedon me Lind. 3if god fæder ure wære 3e ualde lufiga me] c 1250 Kent Serm in O E Misc 27 He bit wolde don, yef he hit mohte finde c 1300 Havelok 1974 Yif he ne were, ich were noon ibed 1307 Horrok & Might in Rel Ant I 241 This world were nout 3if wimen nere 1380 WYCLIF Serm Sel Wks I 217 If Peter were now alyue he wolde seie bei were nou prestis of Crist 1382 — John xvii 30 If this were not a mysdoer, we hadden not bitaken 3ym to thee [1388 Rhem, If he were not a malefactour, we would not haue deliuered him vp to thee] 1509 MORE Dyalogue iii Wks 200/1 Yet wer it a damnpable errour to worship anye if we shoulde worship none at all c 1615 FLETCHER Mad Lover i 1, If I were given to that vanity What a most precious subject had I purchased 1766 GOLDSM Vic W xvi, And if I were a king, it should be otherwise. 1849 MACAULAY Hist I 11 3, I should very imperfectly execute the task if I were merely to treat of battles and sieges Mod. If he were to come, what should we do? If he came, I should have to fight. If I were you, I would not do it If they should meet you, it would be awkward

b Conditional clause in pluperf subj, with past sense ('if you had come', 'would have come')

1382 WYCLIF John xi 21 Lord, if thou haddist be here, my brother haddist not be deed [1539 CRANMER, Lord, yf thou had dest bene here, my brother had not dyed] 1482 Monk of Evesham (Arb) 59 He hadde brought pleasaunte wordes and tydynges of my dampnacyon to hys father the deuyl, yefle the mercye and goodnes of my lorde sente Nycholas hyd not wythstonde hym 1614 BP HALL Recoll Treat 610 If they had beene as hot for God, as they were for themselves it had beene happy 1665 SIR T HERBERT Trav (1677) 120 Shame it were, If we had gathered nothing 1818 CRUISE Digest (ed 2) III 419 If he had altered it. it would deem'd to the vsier of the whole blood 1819 SHELLEY Cenci II, If he killed me, he had done a double deed 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng vii II 256 All his difficulties would have been greatly augmented if Anne had declared herself favourable to the Indulgence 1851 Mod If he would have consented, all would have been right

4. In pregnant senses

a Even if, even though, though, granted that c 1340 Cursor M 5779 Fairf Pe stude wil-outen ende ile a mun bit 3it vn-seyne, if [Cott pof, Gött þou, Trin þouje] bit of alle haue a sijt 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter lxxi 14 (1781 & MS) Honorable in [= name of poor] before him 1560 BIBLE (1st ed of present) before men] 1572 R H tr Lanuginis Cheatles (1596) 197 If Spirites of their owne accorde would gladly tell vs matters of things, yet we must not giue eare vnto them Mod. If he did say so, you needn't believe him If they are poor, they are at any rate happy

†b — If it is certain or true that, as sure as Obs

1606 SHAKS Mach iii iv 74 If I stand here, I saw him

5. If that (north) of as if Now as ch

c 1200 ORMIN Ded 249 He shall o Domes dag3 Sus gæfenn hiss mede, 3iff þatt he wel wel3enn wollde here a 1300 Dame Siriz in Wright Anecd 3 If that thou me tellest skil I shal þan dien after þe wil 1309 Hegg Lyfe I. iv, Alyen þat he hadde forlet [Trin Coll þat he hadde forlyte c 1340 Cursor M 5869 Fairf] Par salle for sop if ani atte I may Wirk ydayes werk a non adrij c 1386 CHAUCER Prol 2 And eek in what array that they were inne And at a trappe, if it were dried or bledde c 1450 Guy B anw (C) 1809 Yf pat y may, With my handys I schall assay 1509 BARCLAY Ship of Fools (1874) I 169 In the meane space, if that death vntretable Arrest the 1605 SHAKS Lear v iii 269 If that her breath will mist or stayne the stone, Why then she liues 1818 BYRON Sardan i 482 If that you conquer, I live to joy in your great triumph

6. The conditional clause is often elliptical, and may dwindle down to if and a word or phrase sufficient to suggest the complete sense, so if not (= if a thing is, be, or were not), formerly sometimes = unless, except

c 1380 Sir Ferumb 1 Knowe it spue ge be can 1560 BIBLE (Genev) Dan iii 18 Our God wil deliuer vs But if not, be it known to thee, o King, yt we will not serue thy gods 1642 Rogers Naaman 11 § 139 61 He hath not authorize to deliver it, if not by commandement 1665 SIR T HERBERT Trav (1677) 175 Troas are of great vertue, if finically wrought 1691 Wood Ath Oxon I 318 If not to judge of the feelings of others by what we might feel if in their place 1845 M PATTISON Ess (1889) II 13 The style of Pope, if not elegant I am, yet correct, sufficiently classical 1888 A non Lege II 70 So that she, if not dead, is possible 1888 Diary Lond Rem 1 July 18/1 He measured six feet two, and inch, he weighed eighteen stone, if a pound 1895 R H SHEPARD in Book mart Oct 2 Mod labours had over his proofs of the book, though little, if at all, over the newer portions

7. The conditional clause alone by apostopesis of the principal clause) is sometimes used as an exclamation to express (a) a wish or determination, e g If I had only known! 'see I would have done so and so', b surprise or indignation, e g If ever I heard the like of that! The wretch! if he has not smashed the window!

c 1000 Sax Leech I xlv 42 3if þu wistest and wisdi le on þysum þinum dæge þe be to syþlic sint 1380 WYCLIF Wks (1880) 3 Han þanken God, and þanken hem in this thi day 1637 RUTHERFORD Lett (1862) I 393 If this kingdom would glorify the Lord in my behalf! 1702 VANBRUGH Relapse II iii, If he is not equipped for a housebreaker! Mod collog bless me! if there is not another of them!

†c If of the conditional clause is often omitted (esp with a subjunctive), the sense is facilitated by giving by inverting the order of subject and verb

Formerly sometimes without inversion, esp after that, and after glad (where if was perhaps confused with that)

1340 Cursor M 7210 Fairf Pe vnde he in hir bed lai [Cott pof hit nere] for wrek dome 1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 2473 Vbs. pou pour ynou hou mist pe glad & blipe 1377 LANGL Piers Pl B xvi 211 Ac if he is nat equipped for a housebreaker! Mod collog bless me! if there is not another of them!

†c If of the conditional clause is often omitted (esp with a subjunctive), the sense is facilitated by giving by inverting the order of subject and verb

Formerly sometimes without inversion, esp after that, and after glad (where if was perhaps confused with that)

1340 Cursor M 7210 Fairf Pe vnde he in hir bed lai [Cott pof hit nere] for wrek dome 1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 2473 Vbs. pou pour ynou hou mist pe glad & blipe 1377 LANGL Piers Pl B xvi 211 Ac if he is nat equipped for a housebreaker! Mod collog bless me! if there is not another of them!

B sb The conditional conjunction (see A 1 used as a name for itself, hence, a condition, a supposition (cf Bull) Often in the philological collocation ifs and ands and; see AND C 1†

1513 MORE Rich III (1883) 47 What good the protector thou seemest me, I wene, with ifes and with andes 1532 — Confut Tindale Wks 537/1 Thought put for shadow repentaunce therunto, with ifftes 1585 R BROWNE Iust Catechy 28 By his ifs and his supposings 1613 Shirley Cunning of Hatchets Induct 5, With ifs and ands he begins to say 1670 DRYDEN 1st Pt Conq Granada II 1, Ibid If I am king, and if my brother die Tyndar Two ifs scarce make one possibility 1711 KEN New Pos Wks 1721 IV 4 9 Ah if, sad if! Love should die so! 1849 HARP Pict Serm II 455 We are always taking up some if or other, to disturb our faith 1868 CAO Theol Ess V expos ii 214 'Tis but a mirror shows one image forth, And he sees the future dask with endless ifs

Hence If v, to say or use 'if' only in iffing 1685 R I Stranger turn'd Out 21 The Letter is iffing of it now again too with a What if the Messenger Masters late] 1887 Athenæum Oct 22 In No 3 2 But iffy it will not endow a college

I-fa, cuti ME form of I-FE

†I'fa ds, int Obs In 7 y fads, 1 vads [A parallel form to y fa, ly, i fay, i fegs] In faith 1672 WYCHERLEY Love in Wood iii ii, Would you tell me? I'm like you, y fads!

I-failed, i-fallid, ME pa pples of FAIL v
I-faired, of FAIR v, to make fair, beautify †I'faith, in faith: see FAITH sb 12 b
† I-falle, v Obs [OE gefeallan (=OHG gefallan), f feallan FALL v] intr To fall, befall Beowulf (Z) 2835 He eorðan gefeoll c 1000 Ags Ps (Lib Hevin 9 Me eac þeis þinra edwita on gefeollon c 1250 Kent Serm in O. E. Misc 19 So swi[th] asenture þet wyn falede
I-falle(n, MF pa pple of FALL v
† I-fang, i-fō, v Obs Forms: see FANG v 1 [OE gefōn (= OHG gafāhan, MHG gevāhen, Goth gafahan), f fōn (see FANG v 1)] trans To lay hold of, take, grasp, seize c 888 K. Ælfred Boeth xxxix § 1 Ær he gefehþ þæt c 1000 Ælfric Colloq in Wr. Wülcker 94 Ic nah hwæt wen is gefoh c 1175 Lamb Hom 131 De mon þe wel deð he wel ifeh c 1205 Lay 7254 Þæt is a mochel aut lond þet Bruttes ærest feng Ibid 8213 Sif ich mine ut cumen [c 1275 ohwa fon] Ibid 22 883 He on vaste sueng, fenere his sweden a 1250 Owl & Night 612 Sif ich hit mai ifo Ibid 1645 Þu sexst þat gromes ches þe a 1300 Floria & Bl 694 He him nolde ayen ifo † I-fare, v Obs Forms: see FARE v 1 [OE gefaran (= OHG gafaran, gevaran), f faran to FARE] intr To go, proceed, fare
c 950 Lindisf Gosp Matth iii 4 Dæs on merne waldr xefara in þaleme c 1000 Cædmon's Gen 1355 Fall under hrof xefor c 1205 Lay 6090 Þus i-sæt i-sorȝ 1275 ferde forþ] al helin þing Ibid 26595 Þus hem ferden fiftene mulen
I-fare(n, ME pa pple of FARE v, to journey, go † I-fast, v Obs [OE. gefæstan (= OHG gafestan, MHG gevesten), f fæstan FAST v 1] trans To make fast, confirm, settle c 950 Lindisf Gosp Matth iii 3 Wingeard ȝesette monn & ȝefeste [Rushw Gosp ȝesette] ða ðæm londtigendum c 1205 Lay 21553 Þis forward he nuste and ȝeles he funde a 1300 Fault & P 93 in E. P. Al in helle were i fast
I-fast, -e, ME pa pple of FAST v 1 and 2
I-fat, of FET v I-fed, of FEED v † I'fe gs, int Obs exc dial Forms (with or without apostrophe) 7 i'fac(k, i'feck, i'fex, 7–8 i-, y'facks, i', y'-, ifackins, 8 i, efags, efacks, i-, efocks, efocklings, ifackins, 9 i'fakins [Perversions of y'faith, in faith: see FEOH and I'FAITH.] Used, esp by 17th and 18th c dramatists, as a trivial oath amounting to a simple assseveration
In faith, by my faith 1610 B Jonson Alch i ii, Dap I fac, I doe not. You are mistaken. Face How? sweare by your fa? Dap I fac's no oath a 1625 Fletcher Nice Valour iv Wks (Rtldge) II 467/1 I fex have they 1673 Wycherley Gentlem Dancing Master ii ii, Mrs Caut Y'acks, but you shun me I'll ask him. Dan Y'fackins, but you shan't ask him! 1709 Steele Lover No 1 ? 2 He will tell you, that I'fackins, such a thing is true 1742 Fielding Tom Jones v xiv, Ifags! the gentleman has caught a tutor Ibid ii xiv, Ifacks, a good story 1775 Sheridan Duenna iii vi, Ifecks, Father, I should have guessed as much 1785 Hutton Bran New Wark 16 Good friends, these ar sad dungs efeclings. 1825 Brockett, i-fackins, in faith: a frequent asseveration b In exclamations
1687 Congreve Old Bach iv iv, Nay, dear Cocky, don't cry I was but in jest, I was not ifeck
† I-feined, ME pa pple of FAIGN v I-fel, obs form of EVIL a I-fele see YFELE v, to feel I-fel(l, pa t of I FALL I-felle see YFELLE v, to fell I-felled, i-feld, ME pa pple of FELL v I-feng, pa t of I FANG, I FANG v, to seize † I-feond, -de. Obs [OE gefeond, fynd pl see I FIND] Enemies
c 1000 Ags Gosp Luke xxiii 12 Hig wæron ær ȝefynd him betwynan c 1205 Lay 6876 Þa þer weoren ifeonde, inakede heom to ifeolonde Ibid 16077 Þu hauest þine ifan be binoren, & þine ifeond hafst iseten
I-fere see YFERE sb and adv
I-fered, ME pa pple of I FEAR v, to terrify
-iferous, combining form of the suffix -FEROUS
I-fesid, ME pa pple of fese, YFEZE v 1, to drive
I-fet, of FET v, to fetch I-fetered, i-fetred, of I FETTER v 1 I-fethered, i-fepered, of FEATHER v
-ific, combining form of the suffix -IC, q v
-ification, combining form of suffix -IFICATION, q v
The i is always present, either as the L stem vowel of its representative, as in glorification, mollification fract ification or as connecting vowel, as in ossification
I-fiht, early ME form of I FIGHT sb I-find see YFIND v, to find I-flemed, i-flemd, ME pa pples of FLEME v, to chase. I-floured, i-flured, of FLOWER v I-flown, en, i-flozen, of FLEE v I-flo, I-foman see FOE, FOMAN I-fo, I-fon see I-FANG v, to seize I-foghten, i-fozten, i-fohten, ME pa pple of FIGHT v I-folde(n, of FOLD v I-fonded, of FOND v, to try I-fongen, of FANG, I-FANG v I-forth-see YFORTH v, AFFORD v I-fostered, ME pa pple of FOSTER v I-founded, of FOUND v I fredo see FREDE, YFREDE v, to feel I free, i-freozen see YFREZE v, to set free † I-freond, -de, sb pl Obs [OE gefriend, frynd, f gefreond, FRIEND] Friends

c 1000 Ags Gosp Luke xxiii 12 On ðam dæge wurdon herodes and pilatus ȝefryndd c 1205 Lay 7715 Freond scipe aleggen, maken feolle ifreond Ibid 21591 Her king wende hit heo wæren ifreonde
I-fret, i-fretten, ME pa pples of FRET v
I-fridged, of FRY v I-frore(n, of FREEZE v Ifsoever, adv nonce wd [After when-, where soever] If in any circumstances, if ever 1847–57 De Quincey Secr Societies Suppl note, Wks VII 300 Some bold fictions that should for ever stop the mouth of the Christian, whensoever or ifsoever any opening dawned for uttering a gleam of truth
I-fuled, ME pa pple of FOUL v I-fulled, i fullet, of FILL v I-furn. see FERN adv and a, former, ly I-furred, ME pa pple of FUR v
† I-fuse, v Obs [ME ifusen (u), vousen – OE gefȳsan, f fȳsan to hasten, FUSE v 1]
1 trans To cause to make haste, hasten, hurry Ormulum (J) 219 Winde xefysed flota a 1200 Cædmon's Exod 54 Werod was xefysed c 1205 Lay 22123 He wolde hine ifusen to ane hare walme 2 intr To make haste, to hasten c 1205 Lay 503 An horsen & an foten ford heo ifusten Ibid 28946 Ford heo iusnden
-ify, combining form of the verbal suffix -FY, q v
I fynd see YFIND v, to find
I-ga, i-gan, ME forms of I-GO v
I gabbet, ME pa pple of GAB v 1
† Igad, i'gad (ıgæ·d), int Obs Variant of I GAD, see GOD, and cf IGOD 1671 Villiers (D. Buckhm) Rehearsals (Arb 137, I gad, I'll e'en kneel down, and he shall cut my head off Ibid 141 I will justifie it to be as grand to the eye, every whit, I gad, as that great scene in Harry the Eight and grander 1711 I gad 1790 Bath Guide Wonders xvi, I gad, I understand nothing of the matter 1728 Vanbr & Cib Prov. Husb iii 1, I gad, if I don't keep a tight Hand on my Tit, here, she'll get
I-gadered see GATHER v
† I-gain, adv and prep north dial Obs [a ON í gegn again, in turn, against, correp to OE ongēan, ongēan see AGAIN]
A adv In reply, in turn, again
c 1325 Metr Hom 47 And he iqam to tham gan wri, Quam ert þou Ibid 140 Sone he answerd And him com igain B prep Against, to meet.
c 1325 Metr Hom 4 And sithe stand igain the fend Ibid 142 He mankes com al him igane Hence (with genitival -es) Igai nes, egaynes, in same sense a 1300 Cursor M 469 (Gott) Saint mychal þan egaynes him forto fight c 1325 Metr Hom 54 Quat thou hanis him in hiden igaines
I-gan, pa t of I GIN v Ihs
I gast, a Obs see AGAST
† I-gastliche, adv Obs [Cf AGHAST] Fearfully terribly
c 1205 Lay 12869 Of him comen homen igastliche sonen Igasuric (ıgæsiū·rik), a Chem [ad F igasurique, f igasur, the Malay name for St Ignatius' Bean see -IC] In igasuric acid, an acid contained in small quantities in the St Ignatius' bean, nux vomica, and the root of Strychnos colubrina 1834 Lindley Nat Syst Bot 215 Igasuric acid occurs in combination with Strychnia in nux vomica and the St Ignatius bean 1865–72 Watts Dict Chem III 242 Igasuric acid appears to be acetate of lead
So Igasu rate, a salt of igasuric acid Igasu rine, a poisonous alkaloid found in nux vomica, discovered by Desnoix in 1853 1852 Mayne Expos Lex, Igasurate 1865 72 Watts Dict Chem III 242 The igasurates are for the most part soluble in water and in alcohol Ibid, Igasurine crystallises in colourless prisms having a silky lustre 1879 H C. Wood Therap 318 The igasurates of strychnia and of brucia Igdrasil see YGGDRASIL I-gederen, -unge see GATHER v, GATHERING I geng, obs form of GANG sb
I-gord, girded, ME pa pple of GIRD v 2 c 1380 Wyclif Sel Wks III 279 Þuk þi ȝyn þorȝ be heued i-gord þer wiþ & ful doun ded
I gored, ME pa pple of GAR v I-gossyd, of GOSSE v I-goto, of I GET v
Ight, var eight, AUGHT sb[1] Obs, possession 1300 Havelok 1 (Cmf II 278 This Prymmis had in his ight [MS Laud 2 yhte] A wife and He cuba she hight Igt, obs var OUGHT v I-gilt, ME f GILT ppl a † I-gin, v Obs [A parallel form to OE on ginnan, AGIN v] To begin, in pa t -gon
c 1205 Lay 18237 In are braide strete he igon [c 1275 i gan] mete feco cnihtes † I-ginet, pa pple Obs [Cf GIN v 4] Contrived, devised a 1225 Leg Kath 1981 Þis punfule gin wes o swuch wise igined
I-gistned, I-gladed, I glowed, ME pa pples of GESTEN, GLAD, GLOE vbs
‖ Igloo (i·glu) [Eskimo, house]
1 An Eskimo dome-shaped hut, esp one built of blocks of compact snow 1668 J Davies in Observat Lay Ambass 71 The Groen landers speak fast, Iglun, a House] 1856 Kane Arct Expl I xxiii 380 The hut or iglue for Smith Sound Eskimos] was a single rude elliptical apartment, built not unskilfully of stone, the outside lined with sods 1864 C F Hall Life with Esquimaux xi (1865) 170 [They] commenced sawing out snow blocks, while I carried them to a suitable spot for erecting the igloo 1878 Nares Polar Sea I iii 53 The settlement of Etah consisted of three stone igloos, and one hut roofed over with canvas.
2 The cavity in the snow above a seal's breathing hole (Ogilvie, 1882)
I-gloset, ME pa pple of GLOZE v 1 I-gloupet, of GULP v I glyden, of GLIDE v I-gnahen, i gnawe, of GNAW v Igname, early f YAM
+ Igna ro Obs [a It ignaro adj = 1 ignārus 'ignorant', the use in English may have been derived from Spenser In F, ignaro sb occurs in the 14th c] An ignorant person, ignoramus 1590 Spenser F Q I vii 31 Sir hatte Ignaro did his nature right aread] 1620 Sanderson Serm II 158 Your mere ignaro's, what they err, they err for company, they judge not at all 1634 Heywood & Brome Late Lancashire I ii's Wks 1874 IV 175 A meere Ignaro, and not worth acknowledgement 1644 Bp Mayne Farewell Chr Assop Deal 9 Ignorues who are better versed in the Statutes and Acts of Parliament, than in the Acts of Christ 1686 Goad Celest Bedlam i xvii 160 We poor Ignaro's Ignatian (ıgnē·ʃiăn), a and sb Also 7 Ignasian, Ignation [f personal name Ignatius (see def) + -AN] A adj
1 Pertaining to Ignatius Loyola (1491–1556), or to the Order of Jesus founded by him
1605 Weste Hist Undone (1870) 182 I have farre this Igna Ignasian revolte c 1610 Sylvester Hen Gt Ded Soon, O! just revenge, rout out th' Ignatian Pack 1626 I Owen Spec Jesuit (1630) 68 The same Ignatian sect 1679 Let Vind Ref C4 8 These Ignatian Loyolists do very much de rogate from Gods Great Attributes of Justice and Sanctity
2 Of or belonging to St Ignatius, bishop of Antioch, martyred at Rome early in the 2nd century, esp in Ignatian Epistles, letters attributed to him, the authenticity of which, in the various forms in which they have been handed down, has been the subject of much controversy 1647 Ussher (title) Appendix Ignatiana, continens genuinas vtriusque epistolas] 1852 Murdock tr Mosheim's Eccl Hist (1841) I 89 Indeed the whole subject of the Ignatian epistles is involved in much obscurity and perplexity 1846 W Cureton Vindic Ignatius Appx, Opinions of various learned men respecting the Ignatian Epistles from the year 1630 down to the discovery of the Syriac Version
B sb A follower of Ignatius Loyola, a Jesuit 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 393 They also was the Ignatians device 1626 L Owen Spec Jesuit (1630) 15 Iake notice, what foule mouth companions these Ignatians are 1683 Oldham Sat (1686) 2 A word to Ignatius Concrete, Harden'd, as his own Face, with Impudence.
Hence Igna tianist = Ignatian B 1
1716 M Davies Athen Brit III Cent Heat 4 Made by the said Ignatianists for the Popish Schools
Ignatius' Bean. = Bean of St Ignatius (see BEAN 4), the poisonous seed of Strychnos Ignatius Also, in South America, applied to the medicinal seed of Feuillea trilobata and some other cucurbitaceous plants 1758 Sir J Hill Mat Med, Fruits xiii 506 (heading) False Sanctu Ignatii, St Ignatius's Bean 1783 Chambers Cycl Supp Ignatius's Bean, ... is a dry and hard fruit, or kernel of a fruit, of the size of a large hazel nut 1820–34 Good's Study Med (ed 4) I 607 The nux vomica and Ignatius's bean combine, with an intense bitter, a most active narcotic virtue 1880 Bentley & Trimen Medic Plants III 306 Tab 239 The name of St Ignatius Beans is also used in South America to designate the seeds of several medicinal Cucurbitaceous plants
+ Igna've, a Obs rare[−0] [ad L. ignāvus see next] Slow, sluggish Hence +Igna vely adv
1657 Physical Dict, Ignave, cowardly, sluggish 1657 Lodiowen Renou's Disp 502 They do it so ignavely
† I gnavy, Obs [ad L ignāvia n, f of quality f ignāvus idle, sluggish, f ī a-in- not + gnāvus busy, diligent] Sluggishness, slowness, sloth 1543 Jove Confut Winchester's Art xiiv, Our own sluggishnes negligence and ignauye is the cause thereof 1545—1 yp Dan xii 234 What ignauy and sleugth is ther to any godly reformation? 1657 Lodiowen Renou's Disp 97 The violence may be obtunded, or its ignavity excited [1850 Carlyle Latter d Pamph iv (1872) 122 Nations sunk to blind ignavia, demand a universal suffrage Parliament to heal their wretchedness] † Igneal, a Obs rare[−1] [f L igne us IGNEOUS + -AL] Of fire (medical) ignēal Fiery 1669 Worlidge Syst Agric (1681) 7 Igneal Flames, and Claps of Thunder
† I gnean, a Obs [f as prec + -AN] Fiery 1635 Person Varieties i 12 The Comets and falling Stars, etc wherein many are neighbours with this Igneau sphere, we visibly see Ibid ii iv 61 Comets being of the number of igneau and fiery meteors † Igneduct Obs rare[−1] [irreg f L. ignis fire, after aqueduct] A vent or passage for fire
1676 Hooke in Phil Trans XI 763 The mouth of these Igneducts Igneo-aqueous, a. [f igneo-, as comb form of L ignеus igneous + AQUEOUS] Due to the agency of both fire and water 1882 Sidereal Messenger I 215 We may look upon the state of igneoaqueous solution as one in which the water-substance is in a gaseous state
Igneous (i·gnĭəs), a [f L igne us of fire, fiery (f ignis fire) + -OUS (F has igné, It igneo)]

1 Of, pertaining to, or of the nature of fire, fiery 1664 H More Myst Iniq Apol 406 There are many instances how Igneous and Lucid they [the bodies of angels] are 1777 Priestley Matt & Spir (1782) I xx 267 The sul was first conceived to be an aerial or an igneous substance 1830 Lyell Princ Geol I 327 Earthquakes and igneous exhalations 1876 Page Adv Text Bk Geol n 39 Volcanoes, earthquakes, and other igneous phenomena
2 Resulting from, or produced by, the action of fire, esp in Geol Produced by volcanic agency opposed to Aqueous 3) 1662 Glanvill Sceptis Sci xx 127 Ignorant of the immediate way of Igneous solutions 1796 Kirwan Elem Min (ed 2) I 455 The igneous origin of basalts 1812 Sir J Davy Chem Philos 48 The analysis of mineral bodies by experiments on their igneous fusion 1830 Lyell Princ Geol I iv 58 Basalt and other igneous rocks 1858 Gilpin Nat Boulder viii 146 The cleft has been once filled by wall of igneous rock called a trap dyke

Ignescent (igne sĕnt), a and sb once rare [ad ignescent-em, pres pple. of ignĕscere to take fire, become inflamed, inchoative of ignere*, f. ignis fire]

A adj Kindling, bursting into flame, firing up 1 and fig
1828 Webster, Ignescent, emitting sparks of fire, when rock with steel, scintillating, as ignescent stones Four Sy 1882 Hall Caine Recoll Rossetti 132 The outbursts of her ignescent hate

B sb An ignescent body or substance a 1828 tr Fourcroy in Webster (1828), Many other stones evide this class of ignescents, produce a real scintillation hen struck against steel

+ Ignible, a Obs rare⁻¹. [ad L type ignibilis*, f ignis re to Ignite + -ble] Capable of mition , ignitable 1658 R [Russell] Geber II 1 iii xii 80 A metallick Body ignible (or sustaining Ignition)

+ Ignic, a Obs rare⁻¹ [f L ignis fire + -ic] lf or pertaining to fire 1611 Sibbes Saints' Medicine II v 59 Terrica is an Ignick ountain, the very heritage of all kinds of Burnt ueths 1855 Mayne Expos Lex, Ignicus, igneous.

Ignicolist (igni kŏlist) [f L ignis fire + cŏla, f col ĕre to worship + -IST Cf F ignicole 1752)] A fire-worshipper 1816 T Maurice Ruins babylon II 43 In whatever region the earth this infatuated race of ignicolists took up their sode, the sacred fire immediately began to burn 1819 P Burton Centr Afr in Jrnl Geog Soc XXIX 349 he ancient Persians were ignicolists, adoring etherial fire

Ignicolous (igni kŏ-ləs), a [f L ignifer, f ignis fire -FEROUS] Fire-bearing, producing re Also fig Hence Igni ferousness.
1658 Ibrmer Ovid's Almanack 11 The manner how to ash it [fire] out of the igniferous flint 1797 Bailey vol II, pyriferousness, ire bearing or producing Quality 1756 J Lucas Ess Waters III 114 This same igniferous matter as but a piece of lime 1884 Fabian Ess 209 The igni rous orators of the Socialist party

Ignific, a [f L type ignificus*, f ignis fire -FIC] Producing fire.
1753 B Martin Philos Brit II 280 If the simple Particles of Light are sufficiently condensed by a Burning lass, they become ardent and burn + Ignifluous, a Obs rare [f late L ignifluus (f ignis fire + fluĕre flowing) + -ous] lowing with fire.

1623 Cockeram, Ignifluous, full of fire 1659 D Pell impr Sea 277 The Sea, which is sometimes of such an ignifluous lustre, as if it were full of Starrs 1721 in Bailey, ance in some mod Dicts

Igniform (i gnifăm), a rare [f L ignis fire + -FORM] Of the form of fire 1744 Berkeley Siris § 322 Democritus held the soul of the world to be an igniform Nature 1824 Wood in Bacon's Nov Org II § 7 129 We must examine whether that spirit is aeriform or igniform

Ignify (i gnifai), v rare [f L type ignificāre*, ignis fire see -FY. (Cf late L ignefacĕre)] rans To set on fire, to cause to burn a 1586 Sidney Arcadia (1598) 575 O lace, lace, or all the it will be ignified 1656 Blount Glossogr, Ignify, to burn 1691 Tennison Curs Math 445 It is also probable, that he solid parts of the Sun are thoroughly ignified in the ame manner as the Bricks in the Roof and Sides of a urnace are 1706 E Ward Hud Redrv I v 18 Let the femorial Be doom'd to ignify our Pipes 1848 Lowell able for Critics 813 There is Bryant, as quiet, as cool, and s dignified, As a smooth, silent iceberg, that never is ignified

Hence Ignified ppl a , Ignifying vbl sb 1659 Stanley Hist Philos xvii (1701) 599/2 Falling Stars may be made either by pieces broken off from the true tars or from a company of ignifying Atoms, meeting and uning together to effect it 1763 W Stukeley Palæogr Sacra 72 The sun formed, out of the ignified part of matter

Ignigenous (igni ǧenəs), a rare [f L. ignigena fire born (epithet of Dionysus), f ignis fire + -genus, from gen stem of gignĕre to produce + -OUS] Produced by fire, or by the action of fire 1797 Bailey vol II, Igneigenous, ingendred in or by Fire 1818 Blackw Mag II 379 How difficult it is to distinguish between Igneigenous and Neptunian formations a 1852 Cagelliveay Mod Stat Dra Aside (1855) 5 The obdurate ordinary and igneigenous rocks

+ Igni-parous, a Obs rare⁻¹ [f L ignis fire + -par-us bringing forth + -OUS] (See quot)
1684 tr Bonet's Merc Compit xix 270 Nothing is more prepareous or productive of fire than Nitre]

Ignipotent (igni pōtĕnt), a [f L ignipotent-em having power over fire, an epithet of Vulcan, f potens powerful] Ruling or having power over fire 1656 Blount Glossogr, Ignipotent, mighty by fire 1725-20 Pope Iliad xxi 398 Hh pow r ignipotent her word obeys. 1813 H & J Smith Rej Addr, Fire & Afe xii, But, spite of her shrieks, the ignipotent knight To the skies in a sky rocket bore her

Hence + Igni potence Obs rare⁻⁰
1727 Bailey vol II, Ignipotence, efficacy, prevalency against or power over Fire

Ignipuncture (ignipu ŋktiur) Surg [f I ignis fire + Puncture] Puncture with a white-hot stylform cautery 1886 Syd Soc Lex, Ignipuncture, Rucket s mode of treating disease by the introduction of platinum needles at a white heat 1888 Medical News LIII 216 (Cent Dict) Each gland should be treated by ignipuncture

‖ Ignis fatuus (i gnis fa tiuĕs) [med or mod L, = foolish fire] A phosphorescent light seen hovering or flitting over marshy ground, and supposed to be due to the spontaneous combustion of an inflammable gas (phosphuretted hydrogen) derived from decaying organic matter, popularly called Will o'-the-wisp, Jack a lantern, etc
It seems to have been formerly a common phenomenon, but is now exceedingly rare
When approached, the ignis fatuus appeared to recede, and finally to vanish, sometimes reappearing in another direction, and to the notion that it was the work of a mischievous sprite, intentionally leading benighted travellers astray Hence the term is commonly used allusively or fig for any deceitful guiding principle, hope, aim, etc.
1569 W Fulke Meteors (1640) 61 This impression seene on the land, is called in Latine, Ignis fatuus, foolish fire, that leadeth men but only fetcheth fooles. 1658 Phillips Ignis fatuus, a kind of slight exhalation set on fire in the night time, which oftimes causeth men to wander out of their way 1665 Hooke Microg 1 i 5 509 An Ignis fatuus that bewitches And leads men into Pools and Ditches. 1688 J Clayton in Phil Trans XVII 789 Ignes fatui, Who there [in Yorkshire] boggy Swamps and Marshes are seldom, if any are seen there. 1774 Goldsm Nat Hist (1862) I xxi 134 Floating bodies of fire the ignis fatuus, or wandering fire 1794 Sir R Darwin Phytol (1800) 184 It is to avoid being led astray by the ignis fatuus the most secure method is to carry a lamp fig 1590 Borough Sea Affr 40 To fetch light from their Heathenish Ignis fatuus 1632 Star Chamb Cases (Camden) 51 For 'r Arthur Savage, he is the primum mobile, the Ignis fatuus that misleades all the rest 1777 J Adams in Pam Lett (1876) 264 What an ignis fatuus this ambition is? 1844 Byron Juan XI liv, Following the ignes fatui of Passion 1851 Mayhew Lond Labour I 1 Pref 7 That ignis fatuus of the time - uniformity of worship throughout the three kingdoms attrib 1845 Disraeli Y to youthful friend xvii, An ignis fatuus gleam of love

Ignitability, -ible (igni tăb'l, ĭb'l , a [f Ignite v + -ABLE, -IBLE] Capable of being ignited 1646 Sir T Browne Pseud Ep II iv 84 Such bodies as strike fire as have sulphur or ignitable parts within them 1823 J Badcock Dom Amusem 64 The explosion of an ignitible substance 1854 Ivanov's Mix XLIII 297 Immense street of ignitable warehouses 1860 J Whitwood Illustr xi 106 Two piles of wood mixed with ignitible materials 1878 Dobbie Cremat VI viii 174 To find ignitible substances

Hence Ignitability, ibility
1809 Irnrgh Mag LV 20 Accident from the ignitability of the materials

+ Ignite, a Obs [ad I ignit-us, pa pple of ignī-re (see next)] Intensely heated, in a state of white or red heat, glowing with heat, fiery Also fig hot, ardent 1590 Robinson Crt Aromas 81 That we might know his libertine Ignite, Ardent, and hot 1635 Person Varieties II 55 These vaporous exhalations, whereof all the ignite and hery Meteors are composed 1652 Comm Quad Colmar on Arb Par L (1806) 190 Apr 16 Tabacco is an ignite Plant 1671 R Boyle Wind 171 The ignite and volcanating Air, which inflates the Burning Cone Ibid 175 The Ignite Burning Matter 1678 Cudworth Intell Syst 1 Earth quakes if they escape through the Pores of the Earth 1693 Rew Journ Lond C 8/3 A Purse made of Alumen plumosum put into a Pan of burning Oyl, will make it soon thoroughly ignite 1704 J Pitts Acc Mahometans 72 Without any other probable Heat, but that of the Sun, and such ignite Particles as the Rays of it afford

Ignite (igni t), v [f prec., or L ignīt ppl stem of ignīre to set on fire, f ignis fire]
1 trans To subject to the action of fire, to make intensely hot, to cause to glow with heat, in chemical use, spec to heat to the point of combination or chemical change 1666 Pepys Diary 3 Sept A heate with a long set of faire and warme weather had even ignited the aire and prepar'd the materialls to conceive the fire 1795 Pearson in Phil Trans LXXXV 211 A piece of the substance was ignited to whiteness, and then quenched in a large bulk of cold water 1858 C Tomlinson Wond Man Nat Philos I 144 By the intolerance we mean a glowing heat, and this is often either different from ignition, since in the latter process the body is hence often changed, and generally speaking, a body can be ignited but once, whereas a body may be brought to a state of incandescence many times 1853 W Gregory Inorg Chem 107 The liquid is now evaporated to dryness, and the dry residue ignited and melted in a covered platinum vessel 1880 Nature 31 Jan 295/2 On evaporating a quantity and igniting in a platinum dish
2 In popular use To set fire to, to kindle 1755 Johnson, Ignite, to kindle, to set on fire A chymical term 1823 J Badcock Dom Amusem 64 His preparation would not ignite any substance whatever, even gun powder 1860 Tyndall Glac I xxv 189 Half a box of matches was consumed in the effort to ignite it [a lump] 1874 Holland Mistr Manse iv 125 We shrink and shrivel in the flames That low desire ignites and feeds fig 1871 Tyndall Hours of Exercise iv 94 Over the rugged face of the Breithorn itself the light fell as if in splashes, igniting its glaciers

3 intr To take fire, to begin to burn 1818 Todd, Ignite to become red hot A term of chymistry 1846 Webster, Ignite, to take fire, to become red with heat 1856 Gardner Sc Gossetry 90 A serious accident occurred from the fuse of a shell igniting 1885 Manch Exam 10 July 5/1 The gas ignited, and the explosion followed

Hence Igni ting vbl sb and ppl a 1813 J Bushy Thurstons v 1382 From friction might spring the igniting cause Ignited (igni ted), ppl a [f Ignite v + -ED] a Made glowing or incandescent b Set on fire, kindled + c fig Hot, ardent a 1691 Boyle Hist Air (1692) 61 Masses of ignited matter thrown up a great way into the air 1794 Burnaby Serm I 212 Pluto enumer ating the ignited jakes, names wine in the first place, and tar in the second 1807 J Thomson Chem (ed 3) II 227 When this acid is placed on ignited coals it emits a dense aromatic fume 1871 Tyndall Fragm Sc (1879) I v 124 In exhibiting it on I placed an ignited spunt [sic] on the palm of the hand 1881 384 Pinching ignited rods of iron between indented rollers

Igniter (igni tər) [f as prec + -ER] a One who ignites b A device to set fire to an explosive or combustible 1883 Q Jrn Sci 514 The slow burning fuse would give it igniter a minute or so of grace to walk quietly away 1884 Health Exhib Catal 123/2 Patent Igniters and Instantaneous Fuses 1887 Nat Aquar 17 Sept 183/2 An ingenial machine provided with a time exploder or igniter

Ignitible, -tibility see Ignitable

Ignition (igni ʃən) [f. med or mod L ignition-em, n of action f. ignīre to Ignite Cf F ignition (16th c in Hatz Darm)]
1 The action of subjecting to the full action of fire, esp Heating to the point of combustion, or of chemical change with evolution of light and heat, the condition of being so heated or on fire 1612 Woodall Surg Mate Wks (1653) 271 Ignition is calcination, the fire reducing solient bodies into Ashes 1666 Boyle Orig Formes & Qual (1675) 307 Silver will endure Ignition for a good while before it be brought to Fusion 1685 — Ill Parad Chym 8 Ignition is that whereby intensely heated but brought to no actual ignition 1794 G Adams Nat & Exp Philos I ix 354 Bodies in certain degrees of heat appear luminous. A body which is thus rendered luminous is said to be ignited and the effect itself is called ignition 1807 J Thomson Chem (ed 3) III 163 It loses no weight in any degree of heat below ignition 1811 A J Thomson Lond Disp (1828) 108 The crucible must be heated above 700° of Fahrenheit, which is the point of ignition of zinc At this temperature the metal inflames, burning with a dazzling and beautiful flame. 1827 Faraday Exp Res xxxviii 218 A portion of the gas caused full ignition of the platina 1858 [see Ignite 1]
2 The action of setting fire, the process or fact of taking or catching fire, or beginning actually to burn, also, loosely, burning 1816 T L Peacock Headlong Hall viii, The progress of the ignition which burned his system, and the explosion took place 1839 Bailey Festus (1848) 169 Like burning banners or a bend bost there Arrested in ignition 1840 Mather Stones Va 44 Fire, from spontaneous ignition of coal in the bunkers. 1846 C G Addison Contracts iv 87 § 3 (1883) 734 As the insurers take upon them selves only the risk of fire, they will not be responsible unless there has been actual ignition of the property insured 1863 Tyndall Heat § 314 By friction a lucifer match is raised to the temperature of ignition

b A means of igniting or setting on fire 1881 Greener Gun 161 This arm [Demondion's breech loading pen ssion gun] is one of the first in which cartridges containing their own ignition were employed

+ Igni tious, a Obs rare⁻¹ [f Ignition see -IOUS] Susceptible of ignition 1753 B Martin Philos Brit II 278 Bodies are hotter or colder, as they contain a greater and lesser Quantity of igniteous particles

Ignitive (i gnitiv) a rare [f L stem ignīt (see Ignite v) + -IVE cf unitive] Having the property of igniting or taking fire 1823 J D Hunter Caspar Ne Amer 174 The Indians are acquainted with its combustible or ignitive properties

Ignivomous (igni vŏməs), a [f late I ignivom-us (Lactantius), f ignis fire + vom ĕre to vomit see -OUS] Vomiting fire Also fig
1693 Harsnet Pop Impost 70 What a Man is he Calls gould Sun or Season Ignivomous presses keep in hell 1839 Fuller Holy War III xxii (1647) 150 This ignivomous curre did bark at and deeply bite the quarrelsome genives 1859 Stanley Hist Philos xvii (1701) 601/1 Ignivomous Eruptions, as that of Ætna 1674 Phil Trans IX 239 There are other ignivomous Mountains besides Hecla yet all are covered with snow 1721 Desham Ibid XXVII 274 The Mouth of the ignivomous Cavern 1869 Phillips Vesuv iv 97 Throughout the whole of 1822 this small opening was ignivomous

Hence Igni vomousness
1797 Bailey vol II, Ignivomousness, Fire vomiting Quality such as that of Vulcano's or burning Mountains

Ignobility (ignōu·bĭlĭ) [ad L ignōbilitās, n of quality to ignōbilis IGNOBLE, after nobility see -ITY.] The quality of being ignoble.

1 Lowliness, humbleness, meanness (of birth or station)

1483 CAXTON Cold Leg (1490) 267 b, His ignobylite or vnworthines was tormed in to sublymite and heyth. 1520 BARCLAY Ingurth 10 b, He dysdayned be ignobylite of Ingurth for avnoche as he was vnlyke vnto them of hyrth. 1624 HEYWOOD Gunaik II 99 Modestie illustrates the ignobility of birth. 1793 I. TAYLOR Saddust v. 52 That nobility or ignobility of parents may be predicted from the stars.

b The ignobility, the whole body of persons not of the nobility, the commons rare.

1548 LANGLEY Pol Verg de Inuent I. v. 20 b, Very many of the ignobilitee were promoted into the degree of senatours. 1610 Historio m II. 22 Vrgent need makes Princes behind their knee An service vn to ignobilitie. 1835 Tennyson Maud XI. 115 The nobility like ignobility, was divided into the two ranks of landed and landless proprietors.

2 Want of nobility (of nature or disposition), meanness or baseness of character

1549 BATMAN Lupset Itin C ij b, A more vyce of ignoby lytye can not be seen then to hyde such noble monumentes. 1612 Women Saints 4 Much ignobilitie were it, for a potent and riche Prince to cast his affection on a begger woman. 1737 WHISTON Josephus, Antiq IV viii § 15 Nor let servants be admitted to give testimony, on account of the ignobility of their soul. 1842 J. MARTINEAU Chr Life (1867) 297 Selfishness secretly conscious of its ignobility.

Ignoble (ignōu·bl), a (sb.) Also 5 Innoble [a F ignoble (14–15th c. in Hatz.-Darm.) = It ignobile, Sp innoble, ad L ignōbilis, f. I-3 + gnōbilis, nōbilis NOBLE.]

1 Not noble in respect of birth, position, or reputation, of low birth or humble station a Of persons, their birth, family, condition etc.

1404 FABYAN Chron VII 335 All must pay by the fifte dele, Noble and innoble. 1548 HALL Chron, Hen IV 139 Of all men as well noble as ignoble, as well of hie as of poore. 1593 SHAKS. Hen VI, 3, I. iv. 130 You must confesse, That I was not ignoble of Descent. 1617 MORYSON Itin III 133 The Gentlemen doe not meddle with trafficke: they thinke such trafficke ignoble and base. 1683 Jrnl Spec 191 To be ranked among the Peasantry and ignoble. 1738 WESLEY Ex XIX xix, Daughter of Heaven, thou born on Earth to upset the first ignoble Birth. 1869 FREEMAN Norm Conq (1876) III xi 59 A West Saxon house which two generations back had been undistinguished perhaps ignoble. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) V 313 No man will be allowed to exercise any ignoble occupation.

b Of animals, compared with each other or with man

In Ornith applied to those birds of prey, such as the kites and buzzards, which are not used in falconry. In Falconry applied to the short winged hawks, such as the goshawk and sparrow hawk, which chase or take after the quarry, in contradistinction to the noble or long winged falcons, which stoop to the quarry in a straight swoop.

1661 LOVELL Hist Anim & Min 234 Peacock fish IS an insipid and ignoble fish. 1668 POWER Exp Philos I 38 This more ignoble creature the great Black Snail hath also a circulation of its nutritive humour. 1772 GOLDSM. Nat Hist (1776) V 129 The more ignoble race of birds make up by cunning and assiduity what these want in force and celerity. 1829 LYTTON Devereux I. ii, As the human eye is supposed to twe into impotence the malignant intentions of the ignobler animals. 1833 R. KNOX Brit Birds (1841) I 79 The old division of noble and ignoble hawks, so well understood, when falconry was a general field sport.

c Of things, places, etc (Often passing into 2.)

1611 COTGR. Crudities (1776) I 23 This Clermont is a meane and ignoble place, having no memorable thing therein, worthy the observation. 1635-56 COWLEY Davideis IV 351 Like some fair Pine o'erlooking all th' ignobler Wood. 1666 BOYLE Orig Formes & Qual (1667) 41 Some maintain it to be possible to transmute the ignobler Metals into Gold. 1713 YOUNG Last Day III 234 My strength exhausted, fainting I descend, And chuse a less, but no ignoble, theme.

2 Not noble in disposition, nature, or quality; mean, base, sordid, dishonourable Of persons, their actions, aims, desires, etc.

1598 NASHE P. Penilesse (ed 2) 23 b, His beggerly pure penny and ignoble dishonest shifts. 1599 SHAKS. A.Y.L. IV v 22 Here is the Hand of that ignoble Traytor, The dangerous and vnnaturall Hastings. 1660 MILTON Free Commw Wks (1847) 448/2 The worst and ignobleſt of men. 1667–7 P. L. II 227 Thus Belial: Counsel'd ignoble ease, and peaceful sloth. 1695 ADDISON Poems, King, His Ends for no Ignoble aim designed. 1793 PRICE Rev Pol Hist I. With so mild and mind of ignoble and delight. 1851 RUSKIN Mod Paint I. Pref to ed 2 12 Every kind of knowledge may be sought from ignoble motives, and for ignoble ends. 1871 DIXON Tower IV x 96 The most ignoble year in an ignoble reign.

3 As sb. chiefly in pl ignobles, persons not of noble rank, commoners. In quot 1808, used as -persons of ignoble character.

c1610 SYLVESTER Honours Tarr will 42 A holy Mirrour, Reuling Nobles, from Ignobles' Litour. a1761 LAW tr Jehnson's Mort Magnum XIII (1772) 98 It is either by Nobles or Ignobles, none excepted. 1808 J. S. BARRETT Mem Ed Jenerad 19 note, The Reader may think that Ignobles would be a more proper term [than nobles].

Ignoble (ignōu·bl), v rare [f prec adj., as the opposite of ENNOBLE] trans To make ignoble or infamous, fig to make of bad repute 1590–8 BACON Disc Praise Q Eliz in Spedding Lett & Life (1861) I 142 The Invincible Navy ignobling many shores and points of land by shipwrack. a 1614 DONNE Biathanatos (1644) 80 By confiscation and by condemning the memory of the delinquent, and ignobling his race. 1628 EARLE Prose Char (1629) not. The Person dignifies the Place, the Place ignobles not the Person. 1870 L. PEACOCK Lall Sirdi III 188 If only sorrow had prevented us ignobled much that was good in him.

Ignobleness (ignōu·blnės) [f IGNOBLE + -NESS.] The quality of being ignoble (in either sense of the adj.), ignobility 1625 B. LONG tr Barclay's Argenis I xiv 79 Wilt thou stretch by thy ignobleness of life shamefully the death or victory? a 1661 HOLYDAY Juvenal 71 1741 MIDDLETON Cicero II ix 129 (Antony) Reproached him with the ignobleness of his birth. 1850 FARRAR St Paul XXXI II 62 It was not with the world's rank, but its ignobleness, divine forces were allied.

+ Ignoblesse. Obs nonce wd. [f IGNOBLE, after noblesse.] = prec

c 1611 CHAPMAN Sonn. to Earl Montgomrie, Though Ignoblesse, all such workes debases As tend to Learning, and the vse of Arts.

Ignobly (ignōu·blĭ), adv [f IGNOBLE + LY 2.] In an ignoble manner, lowly, meanly, basely, dishonourably 1591 SHAKS. 1 Hen VI, II v 35, I, Noble Vncle, thus ignobly yeild Your Nephew comes. 1607–Timon III 283 No vile nouns bounty yet hath past my heart, Vnwisely, not ignobly haue I giuen. 1738 ROWE Tacitus IX 453 Yet now, ignobly, they both hold your Hands, When most you need your Aid demands. 1746–7 HERVEY Medit (1818) 57 Let others ignobly fawn, or anxiously sue for preferments. 1878 TROLLOPE Ch Clavering II 198 No sooner had the hour for action arrived than he shrank ignobly from the helm. 1878 W. S. GILBERT H M S Pinafore I, She says I am ignobly born.

Ignominious (ignomi·nĭės), a [a F ignominieux (14–15th c. in adv ignominieusement, Hatz.-Darm.) = It., Sp ignominioso, or ad L. ignōminiōsus, f ignōminia (n NOMINY.]

1 Full of ignominy, involving shame, disgrace, or obloquy; shameful, disgraceful, discreditable

In recent use sometimes in weaker sense, 'lowering to one's dignity or self-respect'.

1548 Lyfe of Wolsey (W 1557) 205 b, The ignominyous and shamefull death of the crosse. 1607 DEKKER & WEBSTER Sir W Wyat D 5 Wks 1873 III 111 You free your Coun try From ignominious Warre. 1660 Trial Regic (1796) I 241 Will not 49 The ignominious terms of peace were rejected with disdain. 1833 HT. MARTINEAU Chas and Sis I. 7 Ludlow submitted to an ignominious exile. 1869 RAWLINSON Anc Hist 82 Carthage consented to conclude an ignominious peace.

2 Of persons Covered with ignominy, deserving ignominy, infamous

1577 Q. Catherine Lith Pur Gal iv 27 (1615) 220 b, Such as before were strong full, rich, glorious, shall become feeble, hungrie, poore, ignominious. 1599 SANDYS Europe Spec (1632) 11 Hee is most ignominious, that is most wicked and wicked-rice, that ever the world was yet pestered with. 1611 BIBLE Gen XLIX 15 Then first with fear surprized and sense of paine, Fled ignominious. 1712 BLACKMORE Creation VII 80 Where will thou hide thy ignominious head? 1744 WARBT Dwight's Let in Wks 1788 III 388 Ludlam appointed to an ignominious exile. 1869 RAWLINSON Anc Hist 82 Carthage consented to conclude an ignominious peace.

Hence Ignomi niously adv., in an ignominious manner, with ignominy or dishonour, shamefully. Ignomi niousness, the quality of being ignominious 1615 G. SANDYS Trav 89 Men ignorant in letters, studious for their bellies and ignominiously lazie. 1727 BAILEY vol II, Ignominiously. 1781 GIBBON Decl & F XXX III 167 The death of the royal captive, who was ignominiously beheaded, disgraced the triumph of Rome and of Cæsar. 1791 BOSWELL Johnson an 1763 I 440 Dr. Goldsmith said, He was sentenced to ride ignominiously on a horse with his face towards the tail.

Ignominy (i·gnŏmĭnĭ) [a F ignominie (15th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad L ignōminia disgrace, dishonour, f I-3 + not + gnōmen, nōmen name, reputation]

1 Dishonour, disgrace, shame, infamy, the condition of being in disgrace, etc 1540 MORYSINE Vive Instruct Vives Cvj b They in general ignominy and shame. 1548 HALL Chron, Hen VIII 191 This ignominie shalbe ever newe and not dye, till you have obteigned the double honor, against all your enemies. 1597 MORLEY Introd Mus II 273 Degrading, and other notes of ignominy, which in military discipline are used. 1727 SWIFT Gulliver II. The ignominy of being carried about as a monster. 1748 SMOLLETT Rod II xx 312 Even his successes had been purchased with ignominy. 1866 MOTLEY Nether L I 10 He had been obliged to leave the country covered with ignominy.

2 Ignominious or base quality or conduct, that which entails dishonour or disgrace 1564 BRIGHT Wks Gen Pref C ij, The ignomine of all Priests is, to looke for their owne gayne and profite. 1643 SIR T. BROWNE Relig Med I § 4 I am not so much afraid of death, as ashamed thereof: 'tis the very disgrace and ignominy of our nature. 1828 MACAULAY Ess Hallam (1889) 94 He [Churchill] then repays by ingratitude the benefits which he has purchased by ignominy.

+ Ignominous, a Obs Shortened form of IGNOMINIOUS (q.v. next.)

1574 RICH Mercury & Sold Lvij b, Leaving their renowne defaced and their life ignominous. 1581 MARBECK Bk of Notes 98 If thou doe gather, it is ignominous vnto thee for infamie will thereby come. a 1598 PEELE Sir Clyomon Prol., Worthy writers works, Wherein, as well as famous facts, ignominous placed are

+ Ignony. Obs Shortened form of IGNOMINY 1534 WHITINTON Tullyes Offices I (1540) 32 They seme to dredc their reputacion from dignyte as an ignomye and infamye. 1540 COVERDALE, etc Bryan Pur Trust II 30 Vexed with many afflictions and ignonies. 1560 J. HALL Paradeyse 36 F ime when once it do lines bring, double ignony. 1704 HEARNE Duct Hist (1714) I 100 The good Effect of virtuous actions, and the contrary Evil and Ignony attending vicious Ones. 1805 tr Desforges Eugene & Eugenia I 93 The shame, the reproach, the ignony, cast upon their name

Igno rable, a [ad L ignōrābilis unknown, f ignōrāre to IGNORE see -ABLE (cf F ignorable.)] Capable of being ignored, of which one may be ignorant 1856 FARRER Inst Metaph 433 The only possible object of ignorance the only ignorable—if so barbarous a word be permissible. 1866 Cork Index I 483 The knowable alone is the ignorable.

+ Ignora mo Obs An Italianized or Hispanicized form of IGNORAMUS 2

1623 LISLE Aſſyrn on Ω & N Test To Rdr 26, I beswale these Ignoramos

Ignoramus (ignōr.ē·mŭs) Pl -uses (-ŭsĕz), also + -us [L., = 'we do not know', in legal use) 'we take no notice of (it)']

† 1 The endorsement formerly made by a Grand Jury upon a bill or indictment presented to them, when they considered the evidence for the prosecution insufficient to warrant the case going to a petty jury. Hence quasi sb or ellipt, esp in the phrases to find, return, bring in (an) ignoramus, usually rarely in passive, to be found, returned ignoramus. Also transf an answer which admits ignorance of the point in question, fig a state of ignorance

(The words now used in the finding of the Grand Jury are 'not a true bill', or 'no bill'.)

a 1577 SIR T. SMITH Commw Eng II xxii, If they doe not find it true, they write on the back side, Ignoramus, and so deliuer it to the Iudges, and it is called billa ignoramus. 1583 STANYHURST Descr Ireland in Holinshed Chron I 17 Natiue, I haue seene the best, yea naturall Italians goue it ouer, or giue their verdict, with An ignoramus. 1607 COWELL Interpr, Ignoramus, is a word properly vsed by the grand Enquest: and written vpon the Bill: when as they mislike their euidence, as defective, or too weak to make good the presentment. 1626 BEAUMONT Isle of Man (1697) 102 On the backe of this Indictement they [the grand jury] write either Ignoramus, or Billa vera. 1632 Star Chamb Cases (Camden) 9 Against the Defendant Aston the Grand Jury found an ignoramus. 1658 J. JONES Orad's Ibis 88 As for Medusa's brother I return ignoramus. 1688 Eng Mist Sheriffs 14 An Ignoramus brought in upon an Indictment against the Earl of Shaftsbury. a 1734 NORTH Exam I ii § 119 (1740) 95 Bills preferred to Grand Juries for High Treason duly proved were returned Ignoramus which was the Form for rejecting the Bill. 1742 FIELDING Andrews II xi, If you can prove your innocence you will be found ignoramus, and no harm will be done. 1769 BLACKSTONE Comm IV xxiii (1809) 305 The grand jury used formerly to endorse on the back of the bill, 'ignoramus', or, we know nothing of it. 1827 HALLAM Const Hist (1876) II xii 450 The grand jury of London, in their celebrated ignoramus on the indictment preferred against Shaftesbury. Ibid 1613 BRADE & FL. Honest Man's Fort V iii, Would thou come to point of marriage with an ignoramus? 1661 GRANVILLE Lan Dignum IX 78 It hath changed its site yet whether that were caused by its translation from us, or ours from it, seeme leaves us in an Ignoramus

b attrib as in ignoramus jury, crew, Whig (alluding to the Grand Jury which rejected the bill against the Earl of Shaftesbury, 1681).

a 1680 Rawh Bull (1883) IV 562 Who hose sock'd up, and visage like a Fury, Or Foreman of an Ignoramus Jury. 1681 Ibid IV 335 All her Pride was reassumed by the Ignoramus Whigs. 1682 Ibid (1885) V 309 Let the Grand Ignoramus Crew, That Justice hate, and Treason brew. 1688 DRYDEN Dk Guise Prol 43 Let ignoramus juries find me traitors, And quaint impeachments quite scribble natives. 1848 MACAULAY Ess, Hallam (1889) 87 Where were the members of ignoramus juries?

2 An ignorant person

[In reference to the origin of this, cf Ruggle's Ignoramus (acted 1615) 1 written to expose the ignorance and arrogance of the common lawyers', in which 'Ignoramus' is the name of a lawyer. The word occurs also in Selden, evidently in legal connexion: 'The Case and Arguments against Sir Ignoramus, of Cambridge, in his Readings at Ample's Inn, by R Callis, Serjeant at Law 1628'. See also quot 1634 below.]

a 1626 BEAUMONT Virtue of Sack in Poems (1653) N 2 Give blockheads beere, And let Ignoramus's, such as think there's powder treason in all Spanish drink. 1634 Grammar Warre D vij All students of Ignorance, with these bussards of Barbary, Ignoramus and Dulman his Clearke, were exacted for euer out of all Grammar, and all false Latine was euer after confiscated to their vse. 1642 Vox Borealis in Harl Misc (Malh.) IV 434 So-many of their commanders are ignoramusses in the very vocables of art. 1675 COCKER Morals 8 By verbal sounds, who makes his small parts famous, But proves himself the greater Ignoramus. 1683 KENNETT tr Erasm on Folly 48 Who is so silly as to be Ignoramus to a Proverb? 1790 COWPER Lett 10 May, So ignorant am I and by such ignoramuses surrounded. 1853 C. BRONTË Villette vi, I am quite an ignoramus, I know nothing—nothing in the world.

Hence + Ignora mus'd ppl a, freed from prosecution by the ignoramus of the Grand Jury

a 1734 NORTH Exam Chronol., 1681 July 8th College ignoramus d in Middlesex Oct 19th Rouse ignoramus'd

Ignorance (i·gnŏrăns) Also 4–6 ig, ygnorance, (6 ignorence, 6 ynguorance) [a F ignorance (12th c. in Littré) = It ignoranza,

Sp ignorancia, ad L. ignōrántia, f ignōrānt-em IGNORANT]

1 The fact or condition of being ignorant; want of knowledge (general or special) a 1225 Ancr. R 278 Sunne & ignorance, bet is, unwisdom & unwetenesse. a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter cxiv 6 Pe blynd in ignorance he makis seand in wisdome. c 1380 WYCLIF Serm Sel Wks. II 32 He pat synnip of ignorance 1400 CAXTON Fayttes of A. II 10 Proserpyne maketh theyr memorye to wexe feble and conuerteth it in to ygnorance 1573 J SANFORD Hours Recreat (1576) 104 Marvell is the daughter of ignorance 1607 DEKKER Dead N IV ii 49–50 This house is as darke as Ignorance, though Ignorance were as darke as hell 1635 NAUNTON Fragm Reg (Arb) 15 It was the maxime that ouer ruled the foregoing times, that ignorance was the mother of devotion 1742 GRAY Odes, Prospect Eton Coll 99 Where ignorance is bliss, 'Tis folly to be wise 1798 BEATTIE Minstr II xxx, Be ignorance thy choice, where knowledge leads to wo 1862 SIR B BRODIE Psychol Inq II v 147 Much of the evil which exists in the world may be traced to mere ignorance

b Constr of (+ in, or dependent clause)

1300 GOWER Conf III 79 Thou of thy self hast ignorance 1366 Acts & Consitl Scotl I to Rde * in, Thair is na excusatioun to the man pretendand ignorance of the l aw 1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 495 Oversights of Writers, through negligence or ignorance in forren names. 1847 I HUNT Men, Women & B I i 11 The supposition is founded on an ignorance of the nature of the human mind 1879 RUSKIN Eagle's N § 16 National ignorance of decent art is always criminal

c With an and pl An instance or example of ignorance rare

1749 C WESLEY in Rp Lavington Enthus Methodists (1754) I ii 76 That very weak Sermon which is an Ignoratio Elenchi an Ignorance of the Point in Question! 1758 BLACKSTONE Study of Law in Comm I (1809) 7 An ignorance in these must needs be of dangerous consequence 1817 J SCOTT Paris Revisit (ed 4) 62 Difficulties which the ignorances and violence of the people have frequently thrown in the way of their princes 1881 Modern Rev Jan 136 All falsities and ignorances are eliminated

+2 With an and pl An act due to want of knowledge, an offence or sin caused by ignorance

c 1325 Poems [F E T S 65] 78 Pey, Lord, remembre pou not be trespasuis of my youpe, and myn ignorauncis 1549 Bk Com Prayer, Litany, That it may please thee to forgeue us all our synnes, negligences, and ignorances 1598 DONG Diana 6 He neuer committed any ignorance, that might turne to the hurt or hinderance of his faith 1621 BURTON Anat Melanch 75 Sinnes are multiplied about our heads, and our ignorances haue reached vp vnto heauen [1841 TRENCH Parables xxii (1877) 377 Sin is oftentimes an ignorance]

†Ignorancy. Obs Also 6 ygnorancye. [ad L. ignōrántia see prec and -ANCY] The quality of being ignorant, = IGNORANCE 1

1526 PINDAR Pph iv 18 Thorowe the ignorancy that is in them 1545 ASCHAM Toxoph To Gentlem Eng (Arb) 19 I hey can neyther followe it by cause of they ignorauncie 1588 GREENE Pandosto (1843) 4 Rather frowne at my impudence, then laugh at my ignorancie

Ignorant (ignōrănt) a /sb] Also 6 ygnorant [a F ignorant (14th c in Littre) = It, Sp ignorante ad L ignōrant-, ignōrānt-em, pres pple of ignōrare not to know see IGNORE]

1 Destitute of knowledge, either in general or with respect to a particular fact or subject, unknowing, uninformed, unlearned + Ignorant Fryars see IGNORANTINE

c 1374 CHAUCER Boeth v met iii, 124 (Camb MS) What wyht pat is al vnknunge age and ignorant 1483 CAXTON Cato 2 b, To theradicacion & extirpinge of them that ben ygnorunt 1500–20 DUNBAR Poems lxx 17 We ar so bestiall, dull, and ignorant, Our rudnes may nocht lichtlie be correcit 1661 Grand Imp of Sp The same were to be read by the ablest and ignorantest man 1693 tr Tom Itanne's Hist Monast IV xiv 144 The Order of the Brothers of Charity called otherwise Ignorant Fryars 1700 J EDWARDS Mr Montagu Let to Miss A Hervey 121 Aug, I shall return to London the same ignorant soul I went from it 1797 BEALE Brit Birds (1842) I 71 To mislead the young and credulous 1855 MOTLEY Dutch Rep v iii (1866) 7.4 There were none so ignorant as not to know his deeds

b fig or transf of things

1611 SHAKS Cymb III i 27 His Shipping (Poore ignorant Baubles!) on our terrible Seas, stucke fast, vpon our Rockes 1728 J CORNWALLIS Acct Ld Aylmer's Expedit 8 viii § 1 That the Origin thereof can be ascribed to nothing less than an Accidental and Ignorant Cause

2 (const as With in Unnformed or unskilled in, not acquainted with (a subject) rare

1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) 6 b, For that we shulde not be ignorant how feble & weyke in these thynges 1563 W FULKE Meteors (1640) 56 The ignorant in Philosophy must be admonished, that all things are full nothing is empty 1666 J DAVIES tr Olearius Voy Ambass 180 Finding the Muscovian Pilot absolutely ignorant in the business of Navigation 1833 I TAYLOR Fanat I 2 Ignorant in the chief article of the case

b with of Having no knowledge of, hence unconscious of, innocent of, having no share in also ignorant to) (In quot 1755, taking no notice of, ignoring)

1483 CAXTON G de la Tour I b, Ignorant of this fayttе 1530 in W H Turner Select Rec, Oxford 85 He is ygnorant to the acte 1548 HALL Chron., Edw II 195 b, Of thys the erle of Warwycke was nothyng ignorant 1615 G SANDYS Trav 64 Of cards and dice they are happily ignorant a 1726 SOUTH Serm III 278 In some things it is much more difficult for a Man to be Ignorant of his Duty than to Learn it 1755 Man No 38 P 5 To be ignorant of calumny more effectually stops its progress than vindication 1862 BRODIE Psychol Inq II v 144 They are ignorant of many things with which we are well acquainted

c with dependent clause

c 1532 Remedie of Love xxxiv, As a wanton lambe full ignorante How he is pulled and drawen to be bounde 1551 ROBINSON tr More's Utop Fp P Gules (Arb) 24, I am ignorant in what sea that yslande standeth 1586 A DAY Eng Secretary To Rdr (1625) A iv, Being nothing ignorant what great perfection is to be required in such a one 1658 FRYER Acc E India & P 114 They being ignorant how the Veins lye 1791 MAS RADCLIFFE Rom Forest iv, I am ignorant what Lawyer I ought to employ 1806 GURNEY Trial E Holt 1 (1868) 29 She was ignorant what sort of man Harold had become now

3 transf Showing absence of knowledge, resulting from ignorance

1509 HAWES Past Pleas xiv (Percy Soc) 56 Beside my draughtes rude and ignorant 1604 SHAKS Oth, ii ii 70 Alas, what ignorant sin haue I committed Mod This is a mere ignorant statement

+b That keeps one in ignorance nonce-use

1611 SHAKS Wint T i iii 397 If you know ought which does behoue my knowledge thereof, withdraw not In ignorant concealement

+4 Of things Unknown Obs

c 1613 Remedy of Love (Spenser Soc) 1

1547 HOOPER Answ Bp Winchester Ded A ij b, It is not ignorant unto youe what may be done by the vertue of a lerne and holy ignorant man 1548 UDALL Erasm Par Luke xviii 119b, It was not ignorant to him wh at thyng the blynde man wished to haue 1612 CHAPMAN Widow's T v 1, Whether this ignorant to vs 1634 SIR T HERBERT Trav 219 It seemes ignorant that, long before, our Countrimen had embraced Christ by the preaching of Joseph of Arimathea

B sb An ignorant person Now rare

c 1480 HENRYSON Mor Fab 7 Who is enemie to science and cunning, But ignorants who vnderstandith not? 1563 FOXE tr Bullinger Decades (1577) I 1 Whereby he bewrayeth himself 1627 H BURTON Institut Popez Instil 2 Ignorants write their marke, in stead of their names 1700 CONGREVE Way of the World v iii, Ah! to marry an ignorant that can hardly read or write! 1863 MRS C CLARKE Shaks Char xxi 394 Her society ignorant of all but their fascination for him a 1874 MICKLETHWAITE Mod Par Churches 29 Church authorities too often entrust their buildings to ignorants

+b pl An order of friars see IGNORANTINE

1593 tr Thomas a Kempis' Monast Exercises 20 Besides these Orders, there is mention made of the Ignorants

Ignorantine (ignōrĕntin), a and sb Eccl Hist [ad F ignorantin, f ignorant IGNORANT, after bénédictin, capucin, etc see -INE] Ignorantine friars, Ignorantines a name applied to the members in humility by the members of a religious order, the Brethren of Saint-Jean-de Dieu, founded in 1495 to minister to the sick poor, they were introduced into France by Mary de Medici, and subsequently devoted themselves to the instruction of the poor (cf IGNORANT a 1 quot 1693 and sb b) In France, by confusion, and sometimes in mockery (latter), the name is given to a member of the 'brethren of the Christian Schools', or 'Christian Brothers', a community founded c 1680, for the spread of education among the poor

1802 M ARNOLD in Life Matthew Arnold 37 Both the Ignorantines and the Christian Brothers have, I suppose, greatly respected in the country 1888 J BOYLE Turgot Archb Armagh II 1066 Ignorantines the name of the members of an institution founded in the beginning of the 18th century in France by the abbot Baptiste de la Salle

Ignorantism (ignōrăntizm) rare [f IGNORANT + -ISM Cf F ignorantisme.] A system which exalts or favours ignorance, = OBSCURANTISM

1896 Sat Rev II 214/1 The aim of these censors is, obviously, to institute a sort of Protestant Ignorantism—a new religious hierarchy, in which readiness to pronounce one or two commonplace Shibboleths shall send a man to the top of the scale

Ignorantist. OBSCURANTIST

1794 WILLIAM Almshalel Nypoll

Ignorantly (ignōrantli), adv [f IGNORANT a + -LY 2] In ignorant manner, without knowledge

1495 Act H. Vii 11 c 63 Ironshil In the which Acte Sir Richard Francis Knyght was ignorantly lefte oute and omitted 1526 TINDALE Acts xvii 23 Whom ye then ignorantly worship, hym shewe I vnto you 1600 J FORD Fame Virginia D iii 38 Extreme pains of the councelle, which ignorantly they call, the paine of the hart 1644 MILTON Educ Wks (1847) 99/1 An ambitious and mercenary rout ignorantly zealous divinity 1784 COWPER Task 108 Taught of God they may indeed be wise, Nor ignorantly wand'ring miss the skies

Ignorantness. rare [f as prec + -NESS] = IGNORANCE

1632 HEYWOOD Trav VIII 373 My Dragoman, doulting of his passage, which arose from his ignorantnesse there of 1727 in Bailey, II

Ignoratio elenchi see next, 3

Ignoration (ignorā·ʃən) [ad L ignōrātiōn-em, n of action f ignōrare to IGNORE]

+1 The fact or condition of being ignorant, mistaking or misunderstanding through want of knowledge Obs

1612 R ARMIN Annot Ps vii heading, The word properly signifieth Aberration, or Ignoration

2 The action of ignoring or treating as unknown, disregarding, the fact of being ignored

1865 Standard 12 June 6/6 After long years of ignoration, let us coin the word, it is wanted in our language, Cheruhim is about to be recognized 1872 HARDWICK Traditl Lang 63 The faith in the tradition produced a more tragic result than the most superstitious could have dreaded from its ignoration 1881 Q Rev 152 The reply to that is that it is an entire ignoration of fact in nature

3 Ignoration of the Elench, a rare anglicized repr of the more usual Scholastic L attn Ignoratio elenchi (ignorā·ʃio ĕlĕ·nkəi), a logical fallacy which consists in apparently refuting an opponent, while actually disproving some statement different from that advanced by him, also extended to any argument which is really irrelevant to its professed purpose

1588 WHITAKER Disp Sacred 1849) 289 (Stanf) This fallacy is that called ignoratio elenchi 1638 CHILLING Wks II 103 (Stanf) Here was no petitio principii in Dr Potter but rather ignoratio elenchi in you 1843 MILL Logic xxii § 3 The fallacy of Ignoratio Elenchi, also called by Archbishop Whately the Fallacy of Irrelevant Conclusion 1866 FOWLER Deduct Logic viii § 4 The fallacy of Irrelevancy (or, as it is sometimes called, shifting ground) is technically termed Ignoratio Elenchi, i e ignorance of the syllogism required for the refutation of an adversary this has now received a wider meaning Whenever an argument is irrelevant to the object which a speaker or writer professes to have in view it is called an ignoratio elenchi

Ignore (ignōr·), v [ad F ignorer not to know, to be ignorant of, mistake, misunderstand, disregard, ignore, f L ignōrāre not + gnōr ave, f stem gnō- to know (cf gnārus knowing)

In sense 1 the word occurs frequently in the works of Robert Boyle, with whom it has been apparently supposed to have originated (cf Aubrey's Lett (1813) II 159, and Bentley Phalaris Pref 86) Todd, who points out that Johnson was wrong in holding this view, adds 'that it is a word not worthy to be used' This sense appears to have become obs by 1700, though occasionally used later (cf quot 1880) Sense 2 appears in the 19th c, and as c 1850 still used with apology]

+1. trans Not to know, to be ignorant of Obs or rare

1611 COTGR, Ignorer, to ignore, or be ignorant of, to want skill, not to know c 1618 SYLVESTER Prophets Hennie Gt Wks (1621) 1088 Who dost not speak, his nildnes did ignore 1680 SHELTON Quix iv 11 He was ignorant of the consequence Thinkes she, might return him she cast herself down at his Feet 1695 BOYLE Occas Reflf iv xx (1848) 261 There are others desirous to be taught, that know, the little they know, and they ignore 1674 K GODFREY Inq 4 Ab Physic 173 Good in an Apothecaries Hand, who ignores their Dose or Composition [1758 Sq Inscrib 89 Known by Boyle endeavoured to introduce but it has not been received 1776 G CAMPBELL Philos Rhet (1801) I 352 They appear in spots in his work Such is the appearance which the terms opine, ignore, adroitness have at present in the writings of some ingenious men] 1860 R F BURTON Centr Afr II 206 The permanent air at the southern extremity ignored the extent northward

2 Said of a Grand Jury To return a bill with the endorsement 'not a true bill', 'not found', or 'no bill' see IGNORAMUS 1, the reason for which is founded or having insufficient evidence, to refuse acceptance of

1830 DE QUINCEY Bentley Wks VII 176 The word ignore, which he threw in the teeth of Mr Boyle is in fact, Hibernian, which Boyle had only found out in England is obsolete, except in the use of grand juries (Note in H 1843) It was written in the summer of 1830 at which time no vestige of a suspicion had arisen that very soon the word would be called back or rather would be raised from a lifeless toleration in law books to a popular and universal circulation It was a word much wanted Yet there are pedants who would even now (1852) ignore this indispensable word 1858 Penny Cycl XIV 480/2 When the bill is found not to be true or, as it is frequently called, 'ignored' the accused is discharged Sometimes, when the bill is ignored on account of some slip or error, the jurie will direct the accused to be kept in custody 1880 Law Times XCV 281/1 the Lord Chief Justice suggested to the Grand Jury to ignore the bills but they returned true bills

3 To refuse to take notice of, or not to recognize, to disregard intentionally, leave out of account or consideration, shut 'one's eyes to'

1801 W TAYLOR in Robberds Mem I 81 It is the worst symptom about your rise, that many of your former friends 1832 H REEVE-BUNNEN in H re / re 1878) I ix 395 It was resolved to ignore this invitation 1837 CARLYLE Fr Rev III i i 1 Ignore such human history as talent of taking up simply what they can carry, and ignoring all the rest 1851 LD SHAFTESBURY in Hodder Life (1886) II 358 They beg us by reviling me, they now ignore me in the phrase goes 1854 FARL OF CARLISLE Diary Turk A Crit Waters 189 Mr Finlay says that the modern Greeks wholly ignore (I beg pardon for the use of the word) the whole period from Alexander the Great to Lord Palmerston 1856 FROUDE Hist Eng (1858) I ii 166 He could not ignore an important feature of necessary evidence

Hence Igno ring vbl sb and ppl a, also Ignore, one who ignores

1615 SYLVESTER St Lewis 274 Th hopefull Arrogance Sprung from ignoring of our Ignorance 1841 Fraser's Mag Manners Wks (Hohn) I 213 Society loves an ignoring eye, which does not see the annoyances, slights, and inconveniences, that cloud the hour of the sensitive 1883 Athenæum 31 Aug 267/1 The ignoring of this distinction 1895 Columbus (Ohio) Citizen 12 Jan 1/5 A sweet ignorance of the laws Of etiquette and rules of dress

†Igno scency. Obs rare [ad late L ignoscentia, abstr sb f ignōscēre to pardon, forgive f in- not + (g)nōscĕre to take notice of] Forgiveness, forgiving spirit

1647 Trap Comm Matt xviii 3 And become as little children in simplicity, humility, innocency, ignoscency Ibid, 1 Cor xiv 20 In innocency and ignoscency †Igno scible, a Obs rare—° [ad † ignō scibilis (rare), f ignōscĕre to pardon see BLE.] 1656 Blount Glossogr., Ignoscible, tollerable, to be pardoned Hence in Phillips, Bailey, etc.

†Ignote, a and sb Obs [ad L ignōtus, f I-3, in- not + gnōtus, nōtus known Cf It, Sp ignoto.] A. adj Unknown

1623 Cockeram, Ignote, vnknowne 1633 Cowper Pict Bless, A Vote Th ignote are better than ill known 1639 tr. Daniel Ecclus xli 60 Things secret, and Ignote 1663 Flagellum, or O Cromwell (1672) 137 Persons of such mean and ignote extractions 1697 Aubrey Lives, Hobbes (1898) I 366 They were both ignote to foreigners

B sb A person unknown

1639 tr. Daniel Ecclus IX 33 Leave not a proved friend, For an Ignote Comes but at hazard 1670 Hackett Abp Williams I (1692) 162 In a letter that an ignote wrote Ibid II 144 Such Ignotes were not courted but pass'd over

†Igno tion Obs nonce wd [Noun of action f I ignōscĕre, intended as a negative of notion.] An ignorant notion, a notion falsely so called

1647 Ward Simp Cobler (1864) 19 These wits cry up and down in corners such bold ignotions of a new Gospell

†Ignotism. Obs [irreg f L. ignōt-us unknown + -ism.] A mistake due to ignorance

1727 [see] Gent Mag VII 336/1 It has 92 Errors or Ignotisms in it

†I-go, v Obs Pa t i-eode [OE gewīn (= OHG gigān, of OE segangan, OS, OHG sgangan), f gān to Go.]

1 intr To go, pass

c 1205 Lay 4253 Swa8em Brutten hit [Bruttaine] seode [c 1275 hadde] Ibid 26376 While þine aldren France seoden [c 1275 he seode]

I-go, i-gon, ME pa pple of Go v I-goded, of gode, Good v I-gon, pa t of Ieiw v, to begin I-goven, ME pa pple of Give v I-grad, of Gripe v, to cry I-graithed, i-greithed, of Graith v I-gramed, i-gremed, of Grem v I-gra|unted, of Grant v I-graven, of Grave v

†I-gre de, Obs [f I- pref[1] + Grede cry] Crying, clamour

a 1250 Owl & Night 1641 Mid ialinge and mid igrede

†I-grete, v Obs [Ob gegrētan, I grētan to Greet] trans To greet

c 1000 Ælfric Hom I 326 Þæt we maȝon ure freond gecnāwan and ure siblingas gegrētan a 1225 Leg Kath 227 Se engel gegrette hi c 1275 Death 99 in O E Misc 174 Alle þat feore þe iseretten c 1315 Shoreham 119 Þo wile þat mayde wes y gret

Hence †I gretinge vbl sb greeting

1258 Eng Psalms Hom III, Henr þurg godes fultume king on Englelond-ande Send igretinge to alle hus holde liferde and ileawede

†I-gripe, v Obs [OE gegrīpan (= OHG gagrīfan, MHG gegrīfen), I grīpan to Grip] trans To grip, grip, or hold of c 1205 Lay 26580 Þa men þa he ugrapde a 1225 Juliana 73 Igripe ha me eanes a 1225 St Marher 12 Þis milde meiden mergarete igrap him

I-gripen, ME pa pple of Gripe v and Ie Rile v I-gritthed, i-gritted, of Gritte v, to pacify, etc I-groten, of Greet v, to weep I-groun|de(n, of Grind v I-growe(n, of Grow v

†I-grure (ɑ) Obs = Grure, horror, terror

c 1205 Lay 812 Heo heom aweihten mid hoten wæles igrure

Iguana (ɪgwā nă) Forms 6 iuanna, iwana, 6, 9 iguano, 7 yguana, guana, wana, gwana, gwayn, 7– iguana [a Sp iguana, repr the Carib name iwana; variously given by early writers as hiuana, iqoana, iuanna, ywana.]

A large arboreal lizard of the West Indies and South America, Iguana tuberculata, which attains to a length of five feet or more; also, in Zoology, the name of the genus, which includes the horned iguana of San Domingo, and other species, and loosely applied to other lizards of allied genera 1555 Eden Decades 326 Foure footed beastes named Iuannas, muche lyke vnto Crocodiles, of eight foote length, of moste pleasaunte taste 1600 Hakluyt Voy III 675 Store of fish foule, deere and Iwanas Ibid 815 Iguanos which are a kinde of Serpents with foure feete, and a long sharpe tayle 1604 F. Grimstone] tr. D'Acosta's Hist N Ind iv xxxvii 313 The flesh of the Yguanas is a better meate 1607 G. Percy in Purchas Pilgrimes (1625) iv 1686 We also killed Guanas, in fashion of a Serpent & speckled like a Toade vnder the belly 1625 Ralegh Apol 37 [South America] hath plenty of Tortoyses, Armadilles Wannes 1630 Capt. Smith Trav & Adv 54 Guanines they have, which is a little harmelesse beast, like a Crokadell or Aligator, very fat and good meat 1648 Gage West Ind xix 143 Another kind of meat they feed much on which is called Iguana 1708 Stedman Surinam I 142 That species which is here called the iguana, and by the Indians the wayamaca, is seldom above 3 feet long 1841 Elphinstone Hist Ind I 15 Iguanas and other lizards, are found in all places 1889 Fenwick Ceylon II vii 122 The hideous but harmless iguano moves slowly across the high road 1880 A. R. Wallace Isl Life II 27 The peculiarly American family of the iguanas is represented by two genera in Madagascar

Hence Igua nian a, resembling an iguana, belonging to the iguana family, Iguanidæ; sb, one of this family, also Igua nid. Igua niform a, having the form or structure of an iguana Igua noid a and sb = iguanian

1838 Penny Cycl XII 441/1 Only one Iguanian belongs to Europe, the common Stellio 1854 Owen Skel & Teeth in Todd's Cyc. Organ Nat I 200 In the iguanians the synchondrosis is obliterated 1855 Mayne Expos Lexic, Iguanoides, iguanoid 1864 Owen Power of God 46 The Iguanian lizards [are] peculiar to the Western or American hemisphere 1878 19th Cent Dec. 1048 Madagascar pos sesses iguanoid lizards (Hoplurus and Chalarodon)

Iguanodon (ɪgwā năděn) Palæont [f Iguana + Gr. ὀδούς, ὀδοντ- tooth, after mastodon, etc Mantell, Fossils of their Teachings (1851) 231-2, states that the name was suggested to him by the Rev W. D Conybeare]

A large herbivorous lizard found fossil in the Wealden formation, it was from twenty-five to thirty feet long, and from its teeth and bones is considered to have resembled in many respects the iguana, whence the name

1830 Lyell Princ Geol I 123 The huge iguanodon might be styled the wonder, and the ichthyosaur in the sea 1854 T. C. Bakewell Geol 56 The length of the Iguanodon must have been nearly 70 feet

Igua nodont (ɪgwā nŏdŏnt), a and sb [see prec] adj Having teeth like those of the iguana

b sb A saurian so characterized, a member of the family Iguanodontidæ of extinct dinosaurs, typified by the iguanodon

I-gurd, i-gurt, ME pa pple of Gird v

I-haoked, ME pa pple of Hack v I had, of Have I-haded, of Hade v[1], to ordain

I-hal, var of Yhole

†I-hald, i-hold, v Obs [OE gehealdan (= OS gihaldan, OHG gihaltan), f healdan – haldan* to Hold] trans To hold, maintain, observe, keep, preserve

Beowulf 2 1680 He fæstne ȝeheold fela missera c 1000 Ags Ps (Th) cxviii[1] 101 Þæt ic þine word mihte wel ȝehealdan c 1000 Ags Gosp Luke xi 28 Sæliȝra hi þe wæpmon bis cæftenn ȝehealt c 1275 Lamb Hom 65 Hwoso nu i haldeþ þa hodie a 1200 Moral Ode 56 in Lambeth Hom, Giue hues i-he at] for godes luue þenne deþ hes wel ihalden [Trin Coll MS ihuldi] c 1205 Lay 5505 [He] wolde þat hit wel ihalden were

I-halden, ME pa pple of Hold v I-halewed, i-halwed, i-halged, of Hallow v[1]

I-halowed, of Hallow v[2]

†I-handle, v Obs [OE gehandlian* (= MHG gehandelen), f handlian to Handle] trans To handle

c 1205 Lay 14390 Ne preost ne na biscop ne mihte ihandled godes boc

I-handled, ME pa pple of Hold v I-haneled, (?) of Hank v I-hapet, of Hasp v I-hated, of Hate v I-hate(n of Hight v[1] I-hat te, i-heat, of Heat v I-heawen, i-hewe, of Hew v I-hed, of Hide v see Yhid

†I-hede, v Obs [OE gehȳdan, gehēdan, f hēdan, hȳdan to Hide] trans To hide, conceal

c 888 Ælfred Boeth xxxix §8 He hine ȝehȳt and ȝehēdt c 1300 Seuyn Sag (W) 1314 He ne wiste Whar he mighte hit best i-hede

I-heled, i-hel(e)et, ME pa pple of Hide v

I-helved, of Helve v[2] to helve

†I-helmed, pa pple Obs [OE gehelmod (= OHG gehelmōt), pa pple of (ge)helman, f helm Helme sb[1]] Helmed

c 1000 Ælfric Gram xlii (Z) 156 Galeatus, ȝehelmod c 1205 Lay 16277 Gerin & Beuif . . and Walwain ihurned and ihelmed

I-hende, var of Yhende, at hand I-hent, ME pa pple of Hent v

†I-herde, v Obs [OE gehertan, f hertan to Hent] trans To grasp, to hold, uphold

905 O E Chron, Lull bæt he ȝehentan mehte c 1230 Hali Meid 21 For þi was wedlac ihalet in hali churche to iherde unstrengeþen

I-heorted, ME form of Hearted ppl a I-heouwed see Hued I-hercned, ME pa pple of Hearken v I-herd, of Hear, Yhere, Ihpry vbs I-here, var of Yhere v I-hered, -et, -i-e(d), ME pa pple of Hery v I-hert, of Hide v I-hete, of Heat v

I-heyed, i-hevied, weighed down, ME pa pple of Hevy v a 1225 Ancr R 332 Þe neoðere [grindstone] is iheueȝed [MS ȝ iheueȝet] her mid herde uorte beon cwite of herdre c 1370 Chaucer Boeth v met v 133 (Camb MS) So þat they thoght ne be nat I heuyed ne put lowe

I-hewed, ME pa pple of Hew v, Hue v

I-hid, ME pa pple of Hide v see Yhid

†I-hire, v Obs [OE gehȳran, f hȳran, hȳrsan to Hire] trans To hire

c 1000 Ælfric Hom II 74 Þæs hiredes ealdor ȝehyrde wyþtian into his wingeardе c 1250 Kent Serm in O E Misc 34 Godalmichti i hierde werkmen in to his winyarde

†I-hitte, v Obs [f I- pref[1] + hitte, Hit v] trans To hit.

c 1205 Lay 314 He wende to scoten þat hea der, & ihitte [c 1275 hitte] his ȝæne fader

Ihleite (ɪ'lɑɪlɛit) Min [Named 1876 after Ihle, superintendent of mines at Mugrau, Bohemia see 122.] A hydrous iron sulphate, found as a yellow efflorescence on graphite

1876 Amer Jrnl Sci Ser III XII 151 Prof Schrauf has announced a new mineral under the name Ihleite

I-hoded, ME pa pple of Hade, Hode, to ordain

I-hoked, ME form of Hooked a

I-hol- see Yhole, whole

†I-hold. Obs [OE geheald 'keeping, guarding'] Place of shelter or abode, hold a 1250 Owl & Night 621 Par inne ic habbe god ihold A warre warm a sinere cold

I-hold, var I-hald, to hold I-holden, ME pa pple of Hold v I-hole(n, of Heie v[1], to hide I-hon, i-honge see Yhong v, to hang

I-hondsald, ME pa pple of Handsel v

a 1225 Juliana 7 Hit wes him sone sibbesald þeh hit hire unwil were

†I-horned, a Obs [Of OE gehyrned (= MHG gehurnet), f I- pref[1] + horned.] Horned

(c 1000 Sax Leechd III 266 Syf seo sunne þine [the moon] ȝewylt riht þwyrȝes honne hyð he emlice ȝehyrned.)

a 1225 St Marher 9 In his shurnd heaued 1387 Trevisa Higden III 397 In likenesse of lubter i horned 1425[1] Lydg Temp Glass 8 Derk Ioue, dirkened, nobugh celer

I-horyed, ME pa. pple of Hory v, to pollute

c 1405 Pol Song Lewd 138 The lond shal be I horyed & I stey|ned with grete slaught of men

I-hosled, early ME form of Housel a c 1275 in O E Misc 91 Þayh we her hoppen ihosed and ischolde 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) I 73 þat bobe i hosed and i schod Goddes peple may passe þerby

I-hote, ME pa pple of Hight v[1]

‖ Ihram (ɪrā m, ɪɣrā m) Also 8 hir r)awem [Arab. احرام ihrām (f. حرم haramа to forbid of Harem), a kind of dress used by the Arabs in Spain and Africa, 'sacred state' (Fr.; tag.]

1 The dress worn by Mohammedan pilgrims, consisting of two pieces of white cotton, the one girded round the waist, and the other thrown over the left shoulder

1704 J. Pitts &c Mahometans 91 80 They take off all their Cloaths, covering themselves with two Hair-sewns, or large white Cotton Wrappers 1811 tr. Ali Bey's Travels Arabia xii in Pinkerton Voy X 20 Pilgrims, in their first journey to Mecca, are obliged to assume the Ihhr un immediately after passing Cape Wardan 1819 J. Hall Anastasius (1890) II iv 68 An ihram in rags, an old mat torn to pieces 1862 Fraser's Mag Aug 187 The time had arrived for changing our usual habiliments for the 'ihram or pilgrim costume of two towels, and for taking the various interdictory vows involved in its assumption

2 The state in which a pilgrim is held to be while he wears this distinctive garb, during which time many acts of ordinary life are held unlawful

1704 J. Pitts &c Mahometans 79 On this side Mecca, where all the Haggees do enter into Ihram, or Ihrem Ibid 95 The eighth Day after the said two months they all enter into Hirrawem again

IHS, in MI, med L, etc, also written ℔HS, Ihs, ĪHC, Ihc, representing Greek ΙΗΣ or ΙΗC, a MS. abbreviation of the word ΙΗΣΟΥΣ (= ΙΗ(ΟΥ)C, Jesus, also used as symbolical or ornamental monogram of the sacred name Mediæval Latin texts have commonly ihs or ihs, ihm, ihu (with or without a stroke over or across the h -h), or other mark of abbreviation) for Iesus, Iesum, Iesu In ME, the usual form was ihu = Jesu, less frequently ihs, ihc, or ihus These abbreviations were in later times often erroneously expanded as Ihesus, Ihesum, Ihesu

The Romanized form of the abbreviation would be IES, but from the entire or partial retention of the Greek form in Latin MSS as IHC or IHS, and subsequent forgetful ness of its origin, it has often been looked upon as a Latin abbreviation or contraction, and explained by some as standing for Iesus Hominum Salvator, Jesus Saviour of men, by others as In Hoc Signo (vinces), in this sign (thou shalt conquer, or In Hac Salus, in this (cross) is safety

(c 600 Codex Iesus Luke vi 5 (Greek text) ΕΠΕΙΡ ΔΕ Ο ΙΗC ΠΡΟΝ ΑΥΤΟΥC (Latin text) dixit autem ihs ad eos c 950 Lindisf Gosp (Latin text) Matt iii 13 Tunc uenit ihs a galelea in iordanen) a 1240 Wohunge in Cott Hom 269 Ihu, swete c 1250 Kent Serm (Laud MS 471, f 128 b), Vm natue esset ihs, in bethem iude 1377 Langl. P Pl B III 154 Ih ihus with here jewelen 3owre iustices she shendeth. Ibid xvi 144 Iudas iangeled þere aiein ac Ihhs hym tolde 1450–80 Cursor Mundi (Cott.) 1 H 2 with a Cross, in English it had the Characters of I H S. 1721 Strype Eccl Mem III App xlvii 145 [HS is God with us (quoting a tale of 1559, which had) Jesus is God with us] 1897 Daily News 30 Nov 7/1 The monograms IHS and XPC, which are so often to be seen in our churches, sorely puzzle a portion of the congregation

I-hud(de, ME pa. pple of HIDE v see YHID

†I-hudeket, ppl a. Obs. [ME, f hudeken vb, app repr an OE hydecan*, deriv of hýdan to hide.] Hooded

a 1225 Ancr R 424 (Cott MS) Vte, gan i manttkt , be heaued i hudeket

I-hurnd see I HORNED I-hurt, ME pa pple of HURT v I-huseled, of HOUSEL v

†I-hwat, pron Obs [OE. gehwæt, neut of gehwá every one = OI G gihwat, neut of gihwé] Everything a 900 CYNEWULF Crist 1002 As, hæt fyr nimeð burh folces zehwæt a 1250 Owl & Night 1056 I ym and grune & wel ihwat [Cott MS cwat] Sette and leyde be for to lacche

I-hwer see YWHERE I-hwile, -illc, early ME forms of OE gehwyle EACH, q v

†I-hwrulen, v Obs [ME, f hwule (n), in Ancren Riwle = hwil WHILE, time] intr To have time, be at leisure

a 1225 Ancr R 44 Hwon so 3e euer muwen shwulen Ibid 292 Ne mei heo nout i hwulen uo to hercnen mine lore

I-imped, ME pa pple of IMP v

I-iron see I the letter

Ijs, obs spelling of ICE Ik, ME form of I pron

I-kakeled, ME pa pple of CACKLE v

†I-kary, i cary Obs [In 6 ickary [ad RUSS. икра ikra CAVIARE] = CAVIARE

1598 G FLETCHER Russ Commw (1857) 12 Of ickary or cavery, a great quantitie is made vpon the river of Volgha, out of the fish called bellougina, the sturgeon 1668 J DAVIES in Hakluyt Voy Arabasa 87 Ihe spawn of fish, especially that of Sturgeon, they order thus The Mus covites call it Ikary, and the Italians Cavaiar [1887 Pall Mall G 15 Feb 11/1 Can you use the roe of any other fish but sturgeon and sterlet as caviar, or ikra, as you call it?]

I-kaujt, i-kaut, ME pa pple of CATCH v

I-keled, of KELE v to cool

†I-ken, i-kenn, v Obs [OE gecennan to make known, confess, f cennan to declare, attest; KEN] trans To make known, mention, to know, recognize

c 1000 Ilymn x 4 (Gr) IL 8e ecne God senne 3ie cenne a 1225 LAY 4844 Pis wrecches þeos kinges strakte þe ich i kenned [c 12753 i nemnd] habbe Ibid 28859 Mon i þan hihte non per se mihte skenne [c 1275 s nowe] nenne kempe

I-kenned, -kend, -kent, ME pa pple of KEN

†I-kepe, v Obs [f ME kepe, KEEP] trans To keep, receive, observe Hence I-keeping, -unge vbl sb, taking keep', heeding, regarding a 1225 Ancr R 156 God hit is me silence ikepen Godes grune c 1230 Hali Meid 23 Drue adun swiðeren wulleð ikepunge a 1250 Owl & Night 1225 And grete dunten he ȝe þe lasse ȝef me ikepth mid twarnesse

I-kept, ME pa pple of KEEP v I-kest, of CAST v I-ket, of CUT v I-kid, known, renowned see KID and KYTHE v I-knawe(n, I-knowe, ME pa pples of KNOW v I-knede, of KNEAD v

†I-knit, i-cnutte, v Obs [OE gecnyttan, f cnyttan to KNIT] trans To tie, fasten, attach c 1000 Ags Gosp Matt xvii 6 þæt an cwyrn stan si to hys swyran gecnyt c 1050 Lib Scintt in Wr Wülcker 2405 9 Gecnyttan 1393 LANGL Piers Pl Ictte to þan sparewen noten wrste heom a-nutten

I-knit, -yt, ME pa pple of KNIT v

Iknn, variant of Icun

I-korven, I-kunnen, ME pa pples of CARVE, COME vbs I kundo, var of IGUNDE, nature I-kupled, ME pa pple of COUPLE v Ikyl, obs f ICKLE, icicle

†Il, ile. Obs [OE igil, il—OHG igil (MHG., Ger igel), MLG., MDu., Du egel, ON igull, going back, with Iith exjo, Gr ἐχῖνος, to a pre-Teut eghi-nos*, -los, a deriv of eghi-, for eghs- adder] A hedgehog (In OE also a porcupine) c 897 K ÆLFRED Gregory's Past xxxi 241 Se nil þeowian he to anum cheowene and tuhð his fet sua he unnest mæȝ and xehyt his heafod Ibid, Donne loft ðaes iles heafod ȝeseuwen c 1000 ÆLFRIC Glass in Wr Wülcker 123 21 Istrix, se mara igil c 1050 Mantyrol in Cockayne Shrine 55 He [St Sebastian] was ðara [cristna] swa full swa igil hip hyrste a 1200 Fragm Æelfric's Gram, etc (Phillipps 28/8) 8 Prikende so piles on ile

Hence †Ile pil, Ilespil, Ilspile [OE pil pointed stick, dart, prickle], prop a spine of a hedgehog, but used as the name of the hedgehog itself a 1225 Ancr R 418 Ne bere ze non iren, ne here, ne irspiles [v r yrnlipes, yrnspilfelles, a 1295 V Jedmund 47 in E E P 1862] 88 As fat as an illespi] is of pikes, about 1389 TREVISA Higden (Rolls) I 339 Bere lekkeb also ispulled, [v r ispiles, Caxton ylespiles], wontes and obere venemous beestes

Il, obs form of ILL

Il-1, assimilated form in I. of the prefix IN-2 before initial l, which is written in the same way in Eng, as in il-lation, il luminate Usually only one l is heard, but both (or a prolonged l) may be pronounced when distinctive emphasis is laid on the prefix, as in il-lision, il lude, distinguished from elusion, e-lude For the varieties of meaning, 'in, on, into, upon', see IN-2

Il-2, assimilated form in L of the negative prefix IN-3 before initial l, which remains in the same form in Eng, as in il-legal, il-legitimate, il literate Also used in forming negatives in English on the analogy of L, as in ILOGICAL, ILLOYAL, and in such nonce-words as il-level, il locomotive, etc When the main stress immediately follows, an effort is often made to give the separate effect of the prefix by pronouncing both l's, or combining them in one prolonged l, this is especially the case when rhetorical stress is laid on the prefix, as in 'You call this a Liberal measure, I consider it thoroughly il liberal'

-il, -ile, suffixes, the Eng representatives of I -ilis and -ilis, forming adjectives, sometimes also substantives, as in fazzilis fossil, ravilis civil, agilis agile, juvenilis juvenile These suffixes are in origin the same, -ilis with connective -i-, which with -i- stems as civi-s, hosti-s, and in some other words, gave -ilis In OE, the latter came down as -il, e g April em, Avril, April, the former regularly lost the post-tonic -l, and became -ie (for -i), as in humoi em humble, habil em able, fragil em, fraisle fraile, frêle frail, gracil em, gracile, gresle, grêle L words adapted in OF at an early date took the ending -il MISC, -ile fem, e g cevil, cevile, later words have the ending -ile only, as agile, facile, fossile Very few of these words in Eng have the suffix in -il, e g civil, fossil, utensil, in the 17th c we find occasionally -il for L -ilis, e g difficil, docil, fertil, steril, but modern usage in Eng as in French has levelled ilis and iles under the common form ile In Walker's Pronouncing Dictionary ile from -ilis is pronounced (-il), and ile from -iles as (-il), but the more recent tendency is to extend (-ail), with some exceptions, to all the words

I-laced, ME pa pple of LACE v I-lad, of LEAD v I-lade, of LOAD v I-laft, of LEAVE YLEAVE vbs

†I-lahe(n, v Obs [OE gelæhan, f læhan LAW, lagian to make a law, ordain] trans To ordain or appoint by law

1014 WULFSTAN Sermo ad Anglos (Napier 188) 157 On hebenum þeodum þe gelazod is to gedwol zoda weordunge c 1230 Hali Meid 21 For þi wes wedlac ilahet in hali cherche Ibid 23 Godd hauued ilahed hit

I-lahet, ME pa pple of LOW v, to relase

I-laht, of LATCH v and I LECCHE v, to seize

I-laid, of LAY v

Iland, obs (and etymological) spelling of ISLAND

I-lapped, ME pa pple of LAP v

I-last(e see YLASTE, to suffer, continue, last

†Ilastical, a Obs [erron for Ailastical*, f Gr type Αἰαστικός*, f stem of Αἰακεύειν to propitiate] Propitiatory, expiatory

1649 B REYNOLDS Stem Heaven 11 The sacrifices were Ilastical propitiatory, or expiatory 1671 PEARSE Penit Life 11 30 Ilastical or expiatory for satisfaction

†I-latet, a Obs [f ME lat LATE sb, ON látr manner, mien] Mannered

a 1225 Ancr R 133 As hu hwuttest daniel bimong be wode liuns ilatet se liubere c 1230 Hali Meid 33 Sif þu art unwurðlich & wradeliche ilatet

I-lated, -et, ME pa pple of LATHE v Ilche see EACH, ILK Ild, obs f YIELD (in pht Ild, ild.) Ild, obs f filled, pa pple of FILL v Ilde, obs by form of ISLE, AISLE Ildell, contracted form of ilk del, every part see ILK a 2 Ildre, obs f FELDER a and sb 3

†Ile 1, Obs [ad I ile or ile-um (see ILEUM and ILIUM) Cf F (pl) iles (13th c)] = ILEUM

1601 HOLLAND Pliny I 342 the small guts, through which the meate passeth in others it is named Ile 1656 [see ILEAC] 1706 PHILLIPS (ed Kersey), Ile, the Cavity or Hollowness from the Chest to the Thigh Bones the Plank that contains the small Guts

Ile 2, var of AIL sb 2, awn of barley, etc

1706 PHILLIPS (ed Kersey), Iles, or Oats (Country Word), the Spires or Beards of Corn

Ile, obs f ILE, ISLE, AISLE, a former spelling of I'll = I will, a vulgar or dial pronunciation (now esp in US) of OI

-ile, suffix see -IL

†Ileac, a [f Latinshouting of ILIAC a after I ileum, Gr ἰλεός, of ILEUM

1822–34 Good's Study Med (ed 4) I 162 The treatment of ileac passion 1855 MAYNE Expos Lex, Ileac Passion

I-leached, ME pa pple of LEACHE v see LEVE to leave, YLEVE to believe I-leanst, ME pa pple of LENE, to lend I-leanst, of LEAN, YLEAN, to teach

†I-lecche, v Obs [OE gelæccan, f læcan to seize see I ATCH v] trans To lay hold of, catch

c 1000 Ags Gosp John vi 15 Hig woldon hine gelæccan and to cynge don c 1100 O E Chron an 1087 Þa Englisce men zelehton of þam mannon ma c 1205 LAY 29260 Swiȝ monne he ilahte a 1225 Juliana 23 Hecche ha me eft ne finde ich na leche c 1300 LANGL Rich Redeles iii 136 He was lyghthiche y laujte and y lugged of many

I-lefde, pa t of YLEAF v, to believe I-leid, ME pa pple of LAY v

Ileitis (ilɪəi·tɪs Path [f ILEUM + ITIS] Inflammation of the ileum

1855 in MAYNE Expos Lex

I-lend, ME pa pple of LENE, LEND vbs

I-lenged, -ed, of LENGE v, to prolong

†I-lenge, v Obs [OE gelengan to prolong, f lengan, lang LONG] intr To continue one's journey, to attain to, get as far as

c 1205 LAY 17834 Leteð me ilenge [c 1275 I mei] nht to Stanhenge

I-lengthed, pa pple of LENGTHEN v

Ileo- (ɪlɪ,ǒ, ɔɪ·), used as combining form of ILEUM, in terms of anatomy, pathology, etc as

Ileo-cæcal (ɪ,lɪǒsɪ·kăl a, related to or connected with the ileum and the cæcum, as in ileo-cæcal valve, a valve consisting of two semilunar folds at the opening of the ileum into the cæcum the name is sometimes restricted to the lower of these Ileocolic (-kɒ·lɪk) a, relating to or connected with the ileum and the colon, as in ileo colic artery, a branch of the superior mesenteric artery, ileo colic valve = ileo cæcal valve (sometimes restricted to the upper fold of this) Ileo colitis (-kŏlɪ·tɪs), inflammation of the ileum and colon Ileo parietal (-pǎrəi·tăl) a, connecting the ileum and the body wall, as the ileo-parietal band in Brachiopods Ileostomy (-ɪstɒ·mɪ), formation of an artificial opening into the ileum

1857 DUNGLISON Human Physiology (ed 10) I 480 Ileo-lumbar artery 1876 H Wagner's Gen Pathol 53 In the ileo-cæcal region 1878 BELL in Gegenbaur's Comp Anat 321 The ileo-parietal band attached to the body 1886 Nat Sci Ileo colitis 1889 Lancet 16 Mar 532 I Jejuno ileostomy and ileo-ileostomy were performed in shortly after the second way 1897 ALLBUTT Syst Med III 823 In the colic invaginations

†I leon. Obs [med L (in Gr form) = ILEUM (f ileon) = ILEUM

1495 Trevisa's Barth De P R v xlii 158 The seconde grete gutte hiȝte Yleon 1504 [see next] a 1661 HOLYDAY Juvenal 80 The ileon, or the last of the upper guts is more large than our whole body 1707 FLOYER Asthm Watch 111 Inflammation of the Ileon 1767 GOOCH Treat Wounds I 401 In the Jejunum and in the Ileon

† I leos, Obs [f L ileus, and ILEUS] = ILEUM

1504 I Ii La Permanent Prov Trad 11 300 Then followeth the third small intestale, called Ileos by the Grecians (*marg*n the Ileon or folded Gut) 1706 [see ILEUS 1]

† I leous, a Obs (ɪlɪ·ĭəs) = ILEUM-OUS] Belonging to the ileum, = ILEAC a 1

1657 TOMLINSON Renou's Disp 6.8 It cures cholical and ileous dolours

† I-ler, a Obs Also 3 ilær [OE gelæs Sweet, f lær empty, LERE] Empty

c 1205 LAY 15961 Þa lai warnes wes al eadden & þe put wes ilær 1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 11221 Pe clerkes adde þe stretes some ilær

Ilesite (ɪ·lɪsəit Min [Named, 1881, after M W Iles, who described it] Hydrous sulphate of manganese, zinc, and iron, resulting from the decomposition of pyrite and sphalerite

1881 Amer Jrnl Sc Ser III XXII 140 Ilesite, a white friable mineral with a bitter, astringent taste

Ilespil(e, a hedgehog see Il sb

†I-lete Obs [f YETE sb] Manner bearing a 1250 Owl & Night 1021 He is wes lat bardelich & wlih his fo beh grete dete Ibid 1446 Hwanne ich iseo þe to bte dete þe luve bringð on þe junglinge

I-leten, ME pa pple of LET v

I-lethered, ML form of LEATHERED ppl a

Ilet-hole, obs f EYELET HOLE I-loue, I-leve see YLEVE v

I-leued, ME form of I FAVED a ‖ Ileum (ɪ·lɪəm, ɔɪ·) Anat [Inte or med L ileum, for which classical L had only ilia (pl of ile or ilium, with a dat sing ilio in the sense (1) flanks, loins, (2 small guts, entrails. The form ileum (ilium, -ii) seems to have arisen from a confusion of this with ilia, Gr εἰλεός (see ILEUS, ILIAC), whence also its restricted sense] The third portion of the small intestine, succeeding the jejunum and opening into the cæcum

1682 T GIBSON Anat (1697) 47 This Membrane in the small Guts, especially the Ileum, is full of wrinkles 1706 PHILLIPS (ed Kersey) Ileum, or Ilion, the third of the small Guts, so called by reason of its great turnings and being bout 21 Hands breadth in length 1843 J C WILKINSON Swedenborg's Anim Kingd I v 173 The ileon, folded in wreathing, 1861

‖ Ileus (ɪ·lɪŭs, ɔɪ· [f ileos, ileon GR εἶλεος or εἰλεόν colic, 'iliac passion', app f εἰλεω to roll] 1 Path A painful affection (frequently fatal, due to intestinal obstruction, esp in the ileum also called iliac passion

1706 PHILLIPS (ed Kersey), Ileus or Iliers, the small or thin Gut, also the twisting of the small Guts, when their Coats are doubled inward, and there is such a Stoppage that nothing can pass downward 1732 ARBUTHNOT Rules of Diet 158 An Ileus commonly called the Twisting of the Guts, but is really either a Circumvolution or Insertion of one part of the Gut within the other 1785 Med Comm no 266 (heading) History of a Case of Ileus, where great benefit was derived from the application of a blister

2 Anat = ILEUM
1706 [see 1]
I-lewed, early ME form of LEWD a Ilex (ai leks) Also 6–8 ilix [a. L ilex, ilic-em holm oak]
1 The holm-oak or evergreen oak (Quercus Ilex 1598 TREVISA Barth De P. R. XVII. lxxxiii. (1495) 654 Ilex is a manere oke, a tree that beereth mystle 1600 GUILFORDE Pilgr (Camden) 53 The tree called Ilex, that then stode byfore Abrahams dore is now wasted 1601 HOLLAND Pliny I. 458 Of the Ilex or mast Holme tree, there be two sorts 1708 BOSWELL Corsica I. (ed 2) 45 The Ilex, or ever green oak, is very common here 1787 P. BLAIR Lett. fr Italy 1805 I. 410 (Stanf.) A beautiful wood, enlivened in winter by the ilex and the cork tree, both ever greens 1789 G. WHITE Selborne lix. (1875) 204 The ilexes were much injured 1867 LADY HERBERT Cradle I viii 216 Labor, with its base skirted with dwarf oak, ilexes, and arbutus
b attrib and Comb
1849 SOUTHEY Sir T. More Ded. 6 Spain's mountain passes and her ilex woods 1860 W. G. CLARK in Macmillan's Mag. VI. 61 A steep ilex clothed hill 1887 RUSKIN Præterita II. iii. 92, I went for a walk through its ilex groves
‖ 2 In modern Botany, the name of a genus of Aquifoliaceæ, comprising numerous trees and shrubs, of which the most familiar is the common holly (I. Aquifolium) 1565 73 COOPER Thesaurus, Aquifolus, a wilde tree with pricking leaues a kinde of Ilix 1838 Penny Cycl. XII. 441/1 Besides the common Holly , the genus Ilex comprehends a large number of species
I-leye(n, ME pa. pple of LIE v
Ilia, pl of ILIUM
Iliac (i·liăk), a (sb) Forms 6 yliac, ake, ilyacke, 7 yliak, 7 iliack(e,-ak,-aque, iliacke, iliacke, 8–9 iliac, 7– iliac a. [= iliaque, or ad late I. iliac-us (in Celsus, passio iliaca also iliaci sufferers from colic), the I. is in form a deriv of ilia (see ILIUM), but the suffix is Greek (-ακος), and the sense goes with I. ileus, Gr. εἰλεός, (ACC. colic, ileac passion, hence it would appear that ileus from Gr. εἰλέω was associated with ilia, and that passio iliaca was interpreted as 'pain of the ilia', and the adj extended in late or med. L. to mean 'of or pertaining to the ilium']
1 Properly, Of the nature of the disease called ILEUS, but commonly understood as = Pertaining to or affecting the ILEUM Ilia passion [late I. passio iliaca] = ILEUS 1 cf. colic passion = colic 1598 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. VII. xlix. (1495) 263 This passyon callyd Colica hath a cosyn that hyghte Iliaca passio, and hath that name of a gutte that hyghte Ileon 1519 HORMAN Vulg. 258 b, I yng euylls ye yliacke and ye greuth the colic 1601 HOLLAND Pliny II. 39 Them that are troubled with the Iliack passion to wit, the pause and ringing of the small gutts, 1797 FLOYER Hydr. Cold-Bath Watch 111 In an Iliac Passion there is great Pain and Inflammation of the Ileon 1746 JAMES Medicin's Health Improvement 149 Inflammatory iliac Pains 1856 MRS. CARLYLE Lett. II. 227 Some derangement of the bowels, always expected to terminate fatally in iliac passion
2 Pertaining to the flank, or to the ilium or flank-bone Iliac artery, each of the two arteries, right and left, into which the abdominal aorta divides, each of these again divides into two, the external or anterior, and the internal or posterior iliac arteries. Iliac bone, the ilium. Iliac fossa, the depression on the inner side of the ilium, in which the iliac muscle lies. Iliac muscle, a muscle lying close to the ilium, and inserted, together with the psoas magnus, into the small trochanter of the femur. it serves for flexure of the hip joint. Iliac vein, each of the two veins, right and left, formed by the union of the external and internal iliac veins, and uniting to form the inferior vena cava 1541 COLLINS Compendyous Regyment Hyp. 3 Ther yssytes vilfed yliac are ouer the haunches 1615 CROOKE Body of Man 838 From the viter branch of the byfurcation of the Iliack trunke do ryse three veynes. 1741 R. DODSLEY Anat (ed 3) 295 The internal Iliac Muscle 1840 L. WILSON Anat. Vade M. v. 284 The internal iliac artery 1854 OWEN Skel. & Teeth in Cyc. Anat. & Physiol. IV. 123 The iliac bones [of the swan] are remarkable for their length, and for the number of the vertebræ to which they are anchylosed 1855 HOLDEN Hum. Osteol. (1878) 173 The inner surface of the ilium is shallowly excavated, so as to form the 'iliac fossa'
+ 3 sb 1 Short for iliac passion Obs
1542 BOORDE Dyetary x. (1870) 257 For them the whiche haue the Ilyacke or the colycke 1550 LEMNIE Treas. Heal. (1633) 89 b, The paynes of the small gutties, called yliacal
2 Short for iliac artery, etc 1782 A. MONRO Compar. Anat (ed. 3) 13 The umbilical arteries rise from the internal iliacs 1822–34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) IV. 17 The umbilical cord consisting of an artery from each of the fœtal iliacs, and a vein running to the fœtal liver
+ Ili acal, a Obs [f. as ILIAC + AL] = ILIAC a 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud Ep V. v. 239 Two Arteries arising from the Iliacall branches 1654 JER. TAYLOR Real Pres 42 A man does not eate bullets or quicksilver as unto the Iliacal passion, but swallowes them 1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Iliacal, or belonging to the Ilea or small guts Iliad (i·liăd) [ad L. Ilias, Iliad-, a Gr. Ἰλιάς (1) sc. ᾠδή, the Iroad, Troy, (2) sc. γυνή, a Trojan woman, (3) sc. ποίησις, the Iliad., f. Ἴλιος, Ilion, Ilium, Troy, the scene of the Trojan war. Cf F Iliade (16th c. in Littré)]
1 One of the two great epic poems of ancient Greece (the other being the Odyssey) traditionally attributed to Homer, describing the ten years' siege of Ilium or Troy by the Greeks
Sometimes used, with ordinal numeral, for one book of the Iliad hence formerly in pl. for the whole poem 1579 GOSSON Sch. Abuse (Arb.) 16 Homers Iliades in a nutte shell, a Iliads picture in a penne 1715 80 POPE Iliad Pref., The descriptions of his battles which take up no less than half the Iliad 1828 WHATELY Rhet. in Encycl. Metrop. 250/1 No one would believe it possible for such a work as the Iliad, e. g. to be produced by a forinulous shaking together of the letters of the alphabet 1878 GLADSTONE Homeric Synchr. 163 In the Sixth Iliad altered. 1791 COWPER Lett. to Mar. I have two French prints both of Iliads
2 transf and fig a. An epic poem like that of Homer, or a poem describing martial exploits 1619 BRENT Sparke's Comic Fervt's (1696) 2 The Iliad of our age 1674 W. Hickes's Anglish Iliads, or a best Fight reviewed in a Poem 1831 CARLYLE Sart. Res III. ii, Certain Iliads, and the like, live, in three thousand years attained quite new significance b A long series of disasters or the like (Gr. Ἰλιὰς κακῶν, Demosthenes), a long story or account 1609 B. W. BARTON Anew Nameless Catch 359 Her stay brought forth an Iliad of miseries 1611 TAYLOR (the Water Poet) Jo. Jacks (1630) 12/2 I they heaped an Iliade of curses vpon the heads of the Executioners 1698 FRYER Acc. E. India & P. 265 Here's a Catalogue, and a Iliad of Diseases 1796 BURKE Regic. Peace I. Wks VIII. 413 It opens another Iliad of woes to Europe 1865 Times 29 Apr., Any one ignorant of it turns a whole Iliad of nuisance in a comparative nutshell
Hence Ilia dic a of or pertaining to the Iliad, I liadist, (a) a singer of the Iliad, a rhapsodist, (b) a writer of Iliads (see 2 a), I liadise v, to relate in the manner of the Iliad 1599 NASHE Lenten Stuffe 31 M. Vlisses of whome it is Iliadized that your very nose dropt sugar candie a 1712 KEN Hymnotheo Poet. Wks. 1721 III. 289 The Iliadists in his quiet Robes are dress'd To picture what they sung of Wars and Blood of Greeks and Trojans slain 1858 CARLYLE Frederick I. i. (1872) I. 16 All real Poets, to this hour, are Psalmists and Iliadists after their sort 1890 AGNES M. CLERKE Fam. Stud. Homer i. 23 The experience of the Iliadic bard 1891 Academy 20 June 557/2 Odyssys Pref. 6 The leading Iliadic and Odyssean scholars
Ilich, -o, obs forms of ALTHEA see YLIKE
Ilicic (ili·sik), a Chem [f. I. ilex, ilic-em (see ILEX 2) + -IC] Of or pertaining to the holly, in Ilicic acid an acid contained in the leaves of the holly. So I licate, a salt of ilicic acid, I licin, the non-nitrogenous bitter principle of the holly 1861 MISS PRATT Flower Pl. III. 394 Dr. Rousseau of Paris found therein the existence of a hitherto unknown principle, named Ilicin 1865 Pharmacopœia 1864 (ed. 2) 244 Ilicin acid Ibid., Colourless flakes of calcium salts used Ibid., The ilicin extracted from the residue by alcohol is a bitter, amorphous, brown, very hygroscopic mass
I-lided, ME form of I-HIDDEN
I-lift-e, ME pa. pple of LIFT v
I-light, -liȝt, -liht, ME pa. pple of LIGHT v
I-like, obs f. ALIKE see YLIKE
+ I-likeness Obs [OE gelicnes (= OS. gelicnessi, OHG. gilîchnessi, Goth. galeikôneis) f. gelîc (see YLIKE, LIKE) + -NESS] Likeness, image, similitude
c 1000 Ælfric Gen. i. 26 Uton wrecan man to andlicnesse and to ure ȝelicnesse 1175 Lamb. Hom. 127 He wes imaked monne ilicnesse 1225 Juliana 21 He bihefdd hire lufsume leor ilkes licnesse 1225 Ancr. R. 36 Sif we hadd impedd te þe iliknes e of Godes deaðe
I-likned, pa. pple of LIKEN I-limed, obs f. LIME v, ME form of I-HIDDEN a
+ I-limp, v Obs [OE. gelimpan, f. limpan LIMP v.] intr To happen, befall 975 O. Chron. an 973 Da þa hys gelimp c 1000 Ælfric Saints' Lives (Skeat) xxxii. 4 Hit gelimpð þæt þa ylcan dæȝ hæfdon 1175 Cott. Hom. 231 Hut gelamp þat an mes king was c 1175 Lamb. Hom. 91 Pa com his sad saphna and þeines were þinnunges 1225 Juliana 8 A 34 Mote wunder lomp þer-inne þimpes]
+ I ling. Obs rare [quasi asiling, i for, ASILE] = ASILE Ilio- (i·lio), used as combining form of ILIUM 3 in anatomical terms, as Ilio-aponeuro tic a, connected with the ilium, and of the nature of an aponeurosis Ilio-ax illar, a, relating to the dorsum of the ilium (Syd Soc Lex) Iliopectine al a [L. pecten comb], relating to the crest or comb of the ilium which forms part of the brim of the pelvis, or to the ilium and the pectineus muscle ‖ Iliopso as, the iliac and psoas muscles regarded as forming one muscle I-spi in (-spin) with reference to other parts of the body with the sense 'relating to or connecting the ilium and ', as ilio can dal, -coccyge al, -co stal, -fe moral, -hypoga stric, -i nguinal, -i schiac, -ischia tic, lu mbar, -perone al (Gr. περόνη fibula) (applied to muscles connecting the ilium and the fibula, also as sb.), ilio-pecte tic, -pu bic, -sa cral, scia tic = ilio-ischiatic, ilio-tibi tal, -ti bial, -trochante ric, adjs (Syd Soc Lex)

ILK
1832 R. KNOX Cloquet's Anat 193 Ilio lumbar I argument by which the fifth lumbar vertebra and the os innominatum are connected 1840 G. V. ELLIS Anat 116 The last dorsal and ilio-inguinal nerves 1840 E. WILSON Anat Vade M (1851) 259 The ilio femoral articulation 1845 Toon & BOWMAN Phys Anat I. 141 The strong ilio sacral ligaments, which tie the bones together behind 1866 HUXLEY Preh Rem Cantbn 92 The depth of the true pelvis, from the iliopectineal eminence to the tuberosity of the ischium 1870 ROBERTSON Anim Life 21 The iliopectineal spine is absent 1871 HUXLEY Anat Vert vi. 304 In birds The iliosciatic interval is converted into a foramen 1879 HOLDEN Anat (ed. 4) 400 The two muscles are considered as one, and are sometimes called the ilio psoas 1883 MARTIN & MOALE Lettsom Dissect 163 The sciatic nerve issues from the pelvis by the ilio sciatic foramen Ilio-cæcal, -colic see ILEO-Ilion, obs var ILIUM Ilis, obs. pl of ISLE
+ I-lited, -et, ppl a Obs [f ON litr hue, countenance (= OE. wlita.)] Hued, coloured a 1225 Leg Kath 1433 Se rudie and se readie ihtet eauer euch hor I-lithe, -lithe, ME form of LITHE a
I-lithe(n, ME. pa. pple of LITHE v, to go, travel
I-lithered, of I LITHER v, to hurl with a sling
-ility, compound suffix (= ilité, L. -ilitās), consisting of -ITY added to adjs in -il (civility), -le (mercantility), or -le (debility) 1865 MRS. GASKELL Wives & Daus xxxii, He heard of his successors affability, and sociability, and amiability, and a variety of other agreeable 'ilities' Ilium (i·liăm) Anat Pl ilia. Also 4 -yllion, 6 pl illions [L. ilium that part of the abdomen which extends from the lowest ribs to the pubes, groin, or flank, in classical L. only in pl ilia (from ile or ilum) flanks, sides, also entrails 1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. VII. xlix. (1495) 263 The gutte that hyghte Ileon is a smalle gutte and longe bi lyppinge other gluttes about. 1541 COLLINS Compdyn's Quest Charurg Hiva, Yf the sklender gut that hyghth Ylion be hath many wondu cyons 1681 tr Willis' Rem. Med Wks. Vocab., Ilion, the thin gut or small gut 1847 AUBERNETHY Surg Wks I. 121 The villous coat of the ilium
+ 2 pl The parts of the body beneath the ribs on each side, the flanks (L ilia) Obs
1590 BARROUGH Meth Physick iii. xlii. 171 Cupping glasses fastened to the loins, and to the ilions, and to the reins and Kersey Ilia, the Flanks, the side parts of the lower Belly between the last Rib and the Privities 3 The anterior or superior bone of the pelvis, the hip-bone, it occurs in most vertebrates above fishes, and has various forms and relative positions, usually (as in man) it articulates with the sacrum, and anchyloses with the ischium and pubis, forming together with these latter the os innominatum
1706 PHILLIPS (ed. Kersey) Ilia Gr. Os, In Infants it consists of three Bones, viz Ilium, Ischium, and Pubis 1727–41 CHAMBERS Cycl s.v. Innominatum, Three bones, viz the ilium, the pubis and ischium 1832 R. KNOX Cloquet's Anat 115 The Anterior and Inferior spinous process of the ilium 1872 MIVART Elem Anat 178 A widely expanded upper part joins the sacrum and extends down to the socket for the thigh-bone as the ilium
I-livo see YELVE v, to believe Ilixanthin (ailiks·ænþin) (chem [f ILEX holly + Gr ξανθός yellow + -IN] A yellow colouring matter ($C_{17}H_{28}O_{11}$) obtained from the holly 1865–72 WATTS Dict Chem III. 944 the leaves gathered in January contain scarcely any ilixanthin, while those collected in August contain a large quantity Ibid., The ilixanthin crystallizes in straw yellow microscopic needles Ibid 945 Neutral or basic acetate of lead produces in the aqueous solution of ilixanthin a yephid yellow precipitate Ilk (ilk), a[1] (pron) Now S. Forms a 1 ylca, ilica, 1–3 ilca, (ilico,) 2 ilo, 3–6 ilke, 4 5 ylk, 4–6 yilco, (6 elke), 3–6, 9 ilk β 2–4 ilche γ 4 ich, 4–5 iche [OE. ylca m., ilce f and n, inflected as weak adj., app f the pronominal stem i-, i- (cf Goth is, he, Lat is, i-dem) + lic = Goth leiks (see LIKE); cf OE. hwelc, swelc WHICH, SUCH = Goth hwileiks, swaleiks. As in each, which, etc, the k was in southern and midland ME palatalized to ch, but the word survives only in the north]
+ 1 Same, identical, the (this, that) ilk, the same, the identical, the very same (person, thing, etc already mentioned, or specified in a clause following) Freq in statements of time, that ilk day, night, year, etc Sometimes with addition of same, self (See also THILK) a 805–31 Charter in O. E. Texts 444 Of ðæm slean londe a 1000 Andreas 752 (Gr.) Þa is se ilca ealwalda god 1154 O. Chron an 1135 Þat ilc ȝer warth þe king ded a 1250 Owl & Night 99 Þat ilke best þat fulep his owe nest a 1300 Cursor M. 1284 (Gott.) Sone with. To paradis þat ilke day! Prov be same day! Ibid. 1918 Bi þat ilk same day c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron (1810) 61 Þat ilk self ȝere c 1400 Rom Rose 1333 Kyght in that ilke same place 1483 CAXTON Gold Leg 388/1 That the ylke god shold be blessyd 1546 JAUDER Tractate 49 At this ilke compt quhat salbe said To thame?

B c1300 Vices & Virtues 23 De ilche gode wille 1358 Proclam. Hen III, 1. 1. 1. be ilche wordes 1340-70 Alexander 448 Pis cumlich Kyng bat ilcheh kith wynne-ȝ 13 Gaw Warth (A) 1303 bat ich while his ilyoun Sede out of be paulioun c1330 Amis & Amil. 890 I wraghe it meself bis ich day c 1480 Aywyn & Heremot 91 in Hazl. E. P. P. I 17 Send me grace bis ilke nyght

†2 absol. Thy, that ilk a the same person or persons Also with same, self. Obs.

a1000 Beoth Metr 11 24 ȝe slica het ealle aweahtan a1200 O. & Ch. 1058 Se ylca samde pallium hider to lande c 1200 Prov. Coll. Hom 45 We be ilche þat ben mihti to drinken a 1225 Leg. Katth. 1097 Pis ilke wiht is Godes sune c1340 Cursor M. 18141 Pis bisshul kyng hit is pat ilche [Land H. eche, Cott. M. ilk] a 1366 Chaucer Anel. & Arc. 1 Of the same stok and of the same ilke 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints, Matthias 181 Pat ilk suld put hirf doune al ȝow 1400 Antura of Trik 11, Her sadde semyde of þat ilke 1500-20 DUNBAR Poems lxxxiii 57 Sen all the world sayis þat ilk a 1650 Robin Hood's Death 56 in Ritson Percy Ballads I 54 Downe she came in that ilke

3 Of that ilk, of the same place, territorial designation, or name chiefly in names of landed families, as Guthrie of that Ilk, Wemyss of that ilk = Guthrie of Guthrie, Wemyss of Wemyss Sc.

1473 in Acc. Ld High Treasurers Scotl. I 68 Gevin to the Justice Schire Dauid Guthere of that Ilk, knycht 1536 BELLENDEN Cron. Scot. xvii vii (1821) II 299 Swanidce Iclphinstoun of that Ilk 1548 LYNDESAY Heraldic Acts Wks (E. E. T. S.) V 659 Scot of Balwery —Wemyss of that Ilk —Lundy of that Ilk 1579 LAMBERTON Presbyt. Hist. Scot. 11 1206 King James, the fyfte of that Ilke 1816 SCOTT Antiq. xxii, Iltben they were Knoxiunnocks of that Ilk 1880 GRAY Primordial Man III 111 Some of the canon and two choristers sent from St George's to the hospital of that ilk

¶ Erroneously, that ilk that family, class, set, or 'lot'

1845 MILLL in Nonconf V 212 Mr Hume, or Mr Roebuck, or any member of that ilk 1881 Annihilation 8 It has been left for our friend Dr —— and that ilk, to discover the long mistake

Ilk, *a*1 (pron) Now Sc. Also 4 5 ylke, 4 6 ilke [The northern and north midland form of ilch, ithe = southern alch, eche, EACH which see for the derivation and exterior history After 1500 only in Sc., and now less used than ILKA]

1 Followed immediately by a substantive = EACH IA, every c825-1450 [see EACH A §1] c1330 R. BRUNNE Chron Wace (Rolls) 43 Now schal we seyn of be partie c1400 SIR MORR. (Roxb.) Pref 2 Fforbi whilk ilk in mes-sained 1440 Promp. Parv. 258/1 Ilche or ylke quilibet c1460 Towneley Myst. xiv 214 In ilk cuntre 1508 KENNEDIE Flyting, Dunbar 15 Thy elders hanis ilk nycht ry sis and rutillis 1670 SCALDING Troub. Chas I (1829) 76 To raise ane of out of ilk chalder of victual 1707-25 MUSGRAVE Hist. Typog. 10 Trading Will in ilk direction, Far frae Britain's fostering isle 1837 R. NICOLL Poems (1842) 77 Ilk rugged mountain's curl

b Phrases Ilk deal (contracted il del, ildell), every whit, completely Ilk day's every day's ordinary, usual (cf ILKA b) On ilk half, on every side, all round (cf EACH 1 d)

c1300 Havelok 818 Pe mulner he louhe hom il del c1320 R. BRUNNE Chron (1810) 29 Heȝ wan pe lond ilk del c1350 Med. Ms in Anglia XXX 351 Gadir of ȝe gres ildell a1400-50 Alexander 731 Vnlefulle pe wele on ilk halfe c1470 HENRY Wallace III 280 Ilk day is ȝit 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis IV ix 63 Sche has hir command done ilk deill 1700 J. BOSTON Fourf. Nat Youtf VI (1797) 117 He must take up his ill day's Cross

2 absol, esp in ill other, each other (see EACH 5)

c1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. Wace (Rolls) 2823-4 Ilk oper pulled, ilk oper schok, Wib fet in fourche ilk oper tok 1562 DALRYMPLE & Leslie's Hist Scot I 77 Ilk knew vthar well Ibid IV 233 Ihe vther sevin, ilk according to his power

Ilka (ilkă), a Now Sc. Also (before vowel-), ylkan, ylkan(e (two syllables ilk a (an), = ilk a, 4 A (the indefinite article), but from 15th c usually written as one of each a (an EACH 1 b) Each, every c1200 ORMIN 5246 Ilic an unnclene lust a1300 I Dunlop (KEVINE) 13 In ilka land 1330 R. BRUNE Chron (1810) 26 Þorgh be gode Northeren slayn wer ilka man — Chron Wace (Rolls) 1060 So wel we is loked ilk an entre 1340 HAMPOLE Prose 55 Ilk a thyng þat I call has wroght Ibid 1020 Of vtake Ilde word and thoght And of ilkan ydel dede c1375 Sc Leg. Saints, Paulus 68 Pesilinge ilkaday agane be lowe 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb.) Pref 2 Ilke a gude Cristen man bat map 1483 Cath. Angl 194/2 Ilkaday, cotidianus 1500-20 DUNBAR Poems xxxiii 9 A standchell bang in ilka lug, 1686 G STUART Jus ære Dis. 19 Latin he speaks at ilka sentence 1724 RAMSAY Tea t. Mis. Ded. To ilka lovely British lass. 1816 SCOTT Antiq xv, That will be just five and threepence to ilka ane o' us. 1869 C GIBBON R. Gray xvii, Ilka day makes ye the mair precious to me

b Phrases Ilka deal, every whit (cf ILK *a*2 1 b) EAGR 1 d) Ilka day, week-day; altrib (also ilka day's) every-day (cf ILK *a*2 1 b) *a*1300 Cursor M 26671, I haue mi hert soght ilk a dele *c*1330 R. BRUNNE Chron (1810) 69 Pat he wild hold his oth & ȝeld him þe coroun of Inglond tikadee *c*1450 ST Cuthbert (Surtees) 6003 He did his byspynes ilk a dele, 1568 ROSS Helenore 1 85 Well neiper, I hae heard your tale, An even fairly at it ilka dale 1806 Ballt of Clyde II 11, I wa hours

On ilka days, on 'sundays tak ye of sweet 1818 SCOTT Hrt Midl. xvi, What did ye do wi' your ilka-day's claise yester day? 1822 GALT Sir A. Wylie I xxx 282 In ilka day meals, I am obligated to hae a regard for frugality

Ilkane, ilkone, pron Now Sc. [Orig, and still often, two words, 1 E ilk a + ane ONE

In mod Sc, stressed ilk a ne (eane, yew), and ilk ane (ilkin), also ilka ane (yan)

A. one, each (absolutely), see EACH 1 c a c1300 ORMIN 503 Pat ilc an sholldе wtenn well *a*1300 Havelok 2357 Ilkan hauede ful god stede *c*1375 Sc Leg Saints, Johannes 151 Skantly had I knaw of pa ilkane 23 (Harl MS) Purgh be lond bay prayssed hir ilkoone Acts & Sts ekoone] 1420 Buik of Alexander 3611 Pe vthir ilkone 1500-20 DUNBAR Poems lxxxiii 57 Sen all the world sayis þat ilk a 1650 Robin Hood's Death 56 in Ritson Percy Relics I 54 Downe she came in that ilke

I lkin, a (pron) [In sense 1 perh f ILK a 2 + KIN, in sense 2 a phonetic weakening of ILKANE]

1 adj Each kind of, each, every Obs

*a*1300 Cursor M 26831 He rett ilkan þing 1470 HENRY Wallace v. 602 Off ilkyn wicht scho keppt her fra blame 1674-91 RAY N. C. Words, Gloss Northumb 143 Ilkin, quilibet

2 In mod Sc a frequent pronunciation of ilkane Mod Sc Take ilkin a dog wi' ye

Ill (ĭl), a and sb Also 2 ile, (4 hil, hyl), 4-5 yll(e, 4-7 ille, (5 el, 6 yle) Early ME. ill, in ON illr ill, bad, wicked, difficult, injurious, etc Ultimo etymology unknown, not related to OE yfel EVIL

As an adjective, ill is now much less used in general Eng, than than as an adverb, and survives chiefly in certain combinations, as ill health, ill humours, ill temper, ill success, as an adverb (the opposite of well), it is, in certain construction, widely used in the sense which it qualifies, e g ill advised, ill bred, ill conditioned, ill spelt, etc In imitation of these, apparently, and from the feeling that it is not a general adjective, but one that goes only with particular nouns, the adjective is also often hyphened to its sb., as in ill-humour, ill wall, etc , but this is quite unnecessary when the humour stands to ill humoured just as grey hair to grey haired

Although ill is not etymologically related to evil, the two words have from the 14th c been synonymous, and ill has been often viewed as a mere variant or reduced form of evil This esp in Sc, where = between two vowels early disappeared, and deil, ee, creature, greet, = devil, Vee, a, become deil, ee, creature, greet, shoot, (Scott, so that evil might have become eil hence, in 15-16th c Sc, eil is found often written where ill was the word pronounced E g

1500-20 DUNBAR Poems xli 10 (Banatyne MS) Be ȝe ane traytour, ȝe sall be hangit lyk ane eill, eill, eill! 1570 ROTELAND Crt Venus iv 117 And take the best, and set on syde all euill (romes till, will, fulfill) 1662 Epitaph (on Hollar) Vertue & Art Andrewes, The worst doeth often kill Thes word doeth no svch eveill]

A adj

1 Morally evil, wicked, iniquitous, depraved, vicious, immoral, blameworthy, reprehensible

a Of persons Obs exc dial Common in Sc

a1000 Moral Ode 194 in Lamb. Hom 165 Iunyng bi is gode bat þa kunnede of godе wille And ec bete muchel þeue of þan be hette is ille *a*1300 Cursor M 886 Gott i Quai did bu pus bi alle wimmen? 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Treat 8 Ande alle be sette on his right hand, And þe ille on his left syde, wil stand 1422 in Acets & Sents Privy Coun II 210 More sleppe vnder turnement be ille shall spene þan alle þe wyses, þan the ill subiectes 1566 J. STAPLETON Apol. Cath. Treatise 21 A very ill man, bein, ju thy excommunicate 1600 DEKKER Old Fort I 1 Ill husband I pray heauen from one ill company to another 1737 WHISTON Josephus, Hist I iii § 1 The calumnies which ill men contrived 1813 HOGG Hist. Jas. & Seven 58 Ill but kind ye been ye ill-natured thing, These three lang nights frae hame 1861 GUY P. THOMPSON Audr Ale III 160 Ill as he is, he hope that while there are ill masters, there shall be no lack of unpalatable truth 1865 G. MACDONALD I Forbes xiii 49 Takin' up wi' ill boys like Sandy Forbes 1870 M. D. CONWAY Am Fugitives 49, In Time no bird will hatch the signification of 'immoral', and 'an ill fellow' means 'a man of bad habits'

b Of conduct or actions Now somewhat arch

a1000 Orosius (Sweet) 97 Þæt manna ys. And full of ille wilnesse *a*1300 Cursor M 42 Alle oure dedis, Both gode and ille 1513 MORE in Grafton Chron (1568) II 808 To amende that damage bys yll tyde 1701 Mandeville Hist Philos Bridge 3 Creatures, a Horrour for what is Ill, and Ill 1736 BUTLER Analog I iii Wks 1874 I 54 Ill or insufficient actions would be punished 1849 J. HOWISON Jas. Corr. ser II Barrow & Newton II 50 Correct your own ill habits 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par I 1 307 Many tales Of the ill deeds our fathers used to do c Of estimation, repute, opinion, or name Such as imputes or implies evil in the person or thing referred to

1683 Cath Angl 195/1 An ille fame, infamia 1546 J. HEYWOOD Prov (1867) 63 He that hath an yll name, as halfe hange 1640-4 LD FINCH in Rushw Hist Coll III (1692) I 124 That ill opinion which may perhaps be conceived of me 1742 WATTS Improv Mind I iii § 4 Prone to put an ill sense upon the actions of their neighbours 1760-72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual (1808) I vii 123 At a house of ill report, where she formerly had kept a millener's shop 1870 SYLVESTER Poets Dau Ps xxxvii 4 The darkness of his sorrow and his ill repute shall both flee away

2 Marked by evil intent or by want of good feeling, malevolent, hostile, unfriendly, adverse unkind, harsh, cruel (See also ILL WILL)

c1330 R. BRUNNE Chron Wace (Rolls) 3960 Wyb schrewe he dide hem many yll pat *c*1360 Sprite 285 in Horstm Altengl Leg. (1881) 344 Am ouercomen of be wordes ille 1598 HALL Chron., Edw IV 240b, Reuiling him with many ill wordes, and so shamful termes. 1640-4 LD FINCH in Rushw Hist Coll III 1162 I may ill affect those cruel to my self the House 1680 AITEN Peace & Unity 42 To forbear all hard speeches, and ill reflections on them that differ from them 1713 SWIFT Guardian No 49 P 3 By all treatment which the protestants have met with 1808 JAMIESON, S. Hes very ill to his wife! 1819 SHELLEY Cenci IV 350 Ill tongues shall wound me 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng xiv II 458 In spite of the ill offices of the Jesuits 1868 J. H. BURTON Reign Qu Anne I 395 His ill feeling against the foreign residents

b Of an animal Of evil disposition, fierce savage, vicious Now dial

1480 CAXTON Chron Eng clxxxvi 162 The forsyd dragon sholde be laide by an yle besyde 1574 HEST Diet Forvs iv, The bees are very ill 1800 BARTLET Diet Amer Ill, vicious, common in Lewis, as 'is your dog ill?' 'no, mine is be vicious' 1888 Pall Mall Gaz 1 Nov 2 The bear no doubt says he was that vicious, or that mischievous, as to be dangerous

3 Doing or tending to do harm, hurtful, injurious, pernicious, noxious, mischievous, prejudicial, dangerous Prov Ill weeds grow apace

1340-70 Alex & Dind 317 Aldrus and ydolatrous, and obpire ille wormus *c*1375 Sc Leg Saints, Nimian 62 Pare he saw synyne ille sede 1523 FITZHERB Husb § 20 The thistyll is an yll weede 1546 J. HEYWOOD Prov & Epigr (1867) 22 Ill weede groweth fast 1597 SHAKS 2 Hen IV, II 1 100 Prayers I told thee, they were ill for a greene wound 1611 — Wint T II 1 146 There were fourteen ill Plant raignes 1669 EVELYN Diary 10 July, It will be of ill consequence 1767 A. YOUNG Travels, Ireland I 158, It has a very ill effect upon our tillage 1850 BENHAM Book to Man lxxxvi, Doubt and Death, Ill brethren 1860 HAWTHORNE Marb Faun (1879) II v 54 The good or ill result

†b Unwholesome, injurious to health Obs

*a*1470 HENRY Wallace II 155 Ill meyt and drynk that gert ou till ha 448 Gawayne & Gol II 1 1 Ille ayre and ille water 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis VII prol 172 Ane ill mone will weather 1523 FITZHERB Husb § 20 Ille mete and ille drynke 1548 HALL Chron., Hen V 111 b/2 Ore it came and yll wether 1609 BIBLE (Douay) Ps xxxiii — The ills of the wicked shall slay the sinner 1654 H. CAMPEN Observ 174 Copper giveth no ill taste or smell to meat boyled in it 1725 DE FOE Fam. Instruct I 1 (1841) I 52 If it be but a little ill weather 1854 MRS. STOWE Uncle Tom's Cabin II 111, A knight riding up to him, told him he would die in ill death 1876 GEORGIUS Heaven's Sanctor 183 They fell into ill sickness which afterwards threw some

5 Of conditions, fortune, etc Miserable, wretched, unfortunate, unlucky, disastrous, unfavourable, untoward, unpropitious Prov It's an ill wind that blo es nobody good *a*1250 Owl & N. 408 Quoso wile cursien, maken, ille uersuhe, and him riken 1450-70 Merlin 10 Ar I am gude chance or ane ill 1562 J. HEYWOOD Four Ps Epigr (1867) 140 It is an yll winde that bloweth no man to good 1580 SIDNEY Ps. xxxvii 1 Fret not thy selfe bicause of the ill successe of the wicked 1611 BIBLE Isa III 11 Woe vnto the wicked, it shall be ill with him 1634 SIR T. HERBERT Trav 98 It was his ill fate to be a sleeper. As old Abbas was going a hunting 1725 POPE Odyss XXIV 176 Ill fortune led Vly es to our Isle 1771 Antiq. Saxons (Selby Bell) 4 note, The Church has been founded in an ill hour for the People who have been by bishopings, the day after twas finished 1879 FROUDE Cæsar III 61 Choose you an ill moment for your attack

6 Difficult troublesome, hard Usually with dativus ref, 'it will to please'

a1330 R. BRUNNE Chron 1810 181 Pat castelle was full strang, A ille for to wynne 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Treat 2 I passyd in ill mountaynes all alone 1552 LINDSAY Pitscott's Hist. Scotl. I amedum is strange and yll to fynde 1580 SIDNEY Arcadia (1622) 3 A delicate dish, but very ill acquired kept both field and garden a shipwrack without storme or ill footing 1644 EVELYN Diary 2 Apr, The country does not much make the traveller wish that and all way 1647 SIDNEY Anglia Rediv I 11 (1848) 25 It is wish of the most, the access was ill to 1711 Ch. Will. Let until 57 It was not ill to please 1838 LYTTON Lucr. ed Night Beauty (ed 9) 228 Beauty is intangible vague, ill to be defined

7 In privative sense. Not good, of deficient or inferior quality or condition, of little or no worth, defective, poor, imperfect unsatisfactory, not up to the standard, faulty, erroneous, (of an agent or his work) unskilful, inexpert arch and dial

*a*1300 Cursor M 21805 Pis tale quebet it be ille or gode I fand it written o ȝe rode 1400 MAUNDEV. (Roxb) liv 64 A full ill land and sandy and fyll fruyt herand 1470-85 MALORY Arthur II xii, I am an yll clymber and the tree is passynge hyghe 1500-20 DUNBAR Poems xxxii 56 Are browstar-wyvis the malt wes ill 1502 SHAKS Rom & Jul IV ii 6 Its an old Cauke that cannot licke his owne fingers 1602 — Ham II ii 120, I am ill at these Numbers I haue not Art to reckon my goods. 1843 WALTON Angler Introd. Did I have made so ill use of your former favors 1707 SWIFT Gulliver III iv. So ill an ear for music. 1708 MANN in Lett. Eur. Mem. (Camden) 223 He has the ill taste to prefer London to Paris. 1800 ADDISON Amer. Law Rep. 62 The declaration was ill, in not alledging [etc.]. 1833 LAMB Last Ess. of Elia Wedding, I am ill at describing fine apparel. 1870 RUSKIN Lect. Art i. (1875) 3 The first shoots of it enfeebled by ill gardening.

b Of manners or behaviour. Not up to the standard of propriety; improper.

1586 A. DAY Eng. Secretary i. (1625) 22 We rebuke the ill demeanors of our children. 1601 SHAKS. Twel. N. I. v. 162 O. What manner of man? Mar. Of very ill manner: he'll speake with you, will you, or no. 1655 FULLER Hist. Camb. iii. 54 Ill Manners occasion Good laws, as the Handsome Children of Ugly Parents. 1773 GOLDSM. Stoops to Conq. I. iii. My host seems to think it ill manners to leave me alone. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I. ix. I shall have to praise myself, which would be ill manners.

8 Of health or bodily condition. Unsound, disordered. Hence, of persons (formerly, also, of parts of the body). Out of health, sick, indisposed, not well, almost always used predicatively (The prevailing modern sense.)

1480 Coventry Myst. xiii. 528 But ys sekenes I feyll that haldys me full hayll. Imfor full sore am I and yll. 1575 G. HARVEY Letter-bk. (Camden) 168 I am yet as ill almost, as ever I was: and as soone as I shal recouver my helth [etc.]. 1598 SHAKSPERE Tw. Nt. II. v. 31 Alas, sir, how fell you besides your five wits? Clo. Lunatick, what's that? Oli. Mad, say you, sir, ha? Clo. No, indeed, sir, my healths extreame ill, hey ho. 1628 WITHER Brit. Rememb. (1881) 420 My hand is so ill as I know not when I shall be able to travel. 1637 BOLTON Pious Peoples (1639) 15 Where he before was sick but a little in jest, he feels himself sifer already with this message. 1660 PEPYS Diary (1875) I. 127 My eye was very red and ill, in the morning. 1681 LOVELL in Thoresby's Lett. (1832) I. 229 I here was one little Child ill of the small pox. 1712 W. ROGERS Voy. 160 Another lying dangerously ill. 1732 POPE Ess. Man iii. 87 Ill health some just indulgence long urge. 1806 Med. Trnl. XV. 380 I could get no other account from her than that she was ill of worse. 1808 C. SCHMIDIUS Nat. Unit Gentlemen, 50 One month after this attack, he was taken ill in a similar way. 1849 JAMES Woodman vii. Children are well and ill in a day. 1871 DARWIN Descent Man. I. 73 Prolonged ill health. 1897 MARY DICKENS Well Meaner 61 A seedy clergyman summoned to administer consolation to a very ill man.

9 In special collocations (often unnecessarily hyphened). ill desert, the fact of deserving ill demerit, blameworthiness (so ill deserving); ill ease, discomfort, uneasiness, + ill eye = evil eye (see EVIL a. 6), ill fames (see I. C.), esp. in house of ill fame (see HOUSE 8b 11), ill fortune (see ib. 2), ill house, house of ill fame, ill part (see PART sb.), ill rule, disorderly conduct, misrule (also fig.); ill success, imperfect success (sense 6), often = want of success, failure (cf. 5), ill temper see TEMPER sb.) ill thief (sb.), the devil see THIEF, + ill year, misfortune disaster [spp suggested by GOODEVER] See also ILL BREEDING, ILL HUMOUR, etc.

1736 BUTLER Anal. I. xi. 213 Virtue and of ill desert. 1861 G. MORLEY Serm. Isaiah 14 None knows, as he knows his own weakness, the moral ill desert of his rebellion. 1888 ROSSETTI Dante & Circle II. (1892) 280 My life seems inside for other lives ill ease. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 138 To defend them from mischance, and the power of ill eies. 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Past. iii. 139 What Mischiefs has bewitched the Woolly Dams, And what ill Eyes beheld the tender Lambs? 1798 BURNEY Cecilia I. 200 Pretty sin, I'm afraid the least suspicion of me keeping an ill house. 1506 Nottingham Ac. IV. 111 For keeping of vylle reulle howrs in hyr howse. 1580 HOLINSHED Descr. Fr. Fangs Archers houses of ill rule or gaming. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 140 Ill successe of the Christian armies. 1665 PEPYS Diary 20 Aug. My Lord is much troubled at all this ill success. 1796 MORSE Amer. Geog. I. 291 The ill success of these expeditions. 1876 BANCROFT Hist. U. S. VI. xxii. 25 Deserted by fortune ill success. 1598 BARRET Theor. Warres 201 I wish the 'ill scarre to his Eggars and setterson

10 In Comb see ILL- below

B sb [absolute use of the adj.]

1 Evil, in the widest sense (= EVIL sb. 1 a.), the contrary of good (Now chiefly in antithesis with good.)

a 1300 Cursor M. 913 Both be god and il knauand. 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Conc. 1615 Wa till yhow þat says wath will þat ille es gud and gud es ill. a 1400–50 Alexander 2118 Put we cuthe, my sotes, ȝowe betwyx gud and ill. 1605 ROWLEY Birth Merl. II. ii. Good must have great ill to opposite. 1734 POPE Ess. Man iv. 111 What makes all physical or moral ill? 1850 TENNYSON In Mem. lv, Oh yet we trust that somehow good Will be the final goal of ill

2 Moral evil, depravity, wickedness, iniquity, sin, wrong doing. arch.

a 1300 Cursor M. 5318 Pat mat neuermar held til it. c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints, Paulus 800 In yll be tyrand had sic ioy. 1426 AUDELAY Poems 8 Mon has fre chois Weder he wyl do good or ylle. 1526 TINDALE Pr. I. ii. Thou hatest all whose workes in yll are plaed. 1608–33 B. HALL Medit. & Vows (1851) 58 Those men, which will ever be either doing nothing, or ill. 1697 KEN Hymn, 'Glory to thee' ii. Forgive me, Lord, for thy dear Son, The ill that I this day have done. 1711 STEELE Spect. No 79 ¶ 9 Many People call themselves Virtuous, from no other Pretence to it but an Absence of Ill. 1818 SHELLEY Rev. Islam X. vi, Strange textures made a brotherhood of ill for Ibid., Each one the other thus from ill to ill did lure

†b A wicked or sinful act, a misdeed. Obs

13 E. E. Allit. P. B. 577 Alle illez he hates as helle pat stynkkes, But non nuyes hym As harlottrye vnhonest a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter vii. 3 Pride is rote of all illes a 1533 LD. BERNERS Gold Bk. M. Aurel. (1546) Gjv b, To chastyse vs for our yelles. 1600 ELIZ. GRYMESTON Miserrere xix. in Misc. If thou sunne offrings hadst desired How gladly those for all my illes I would haue yeelded thee! 1675 DRYDEN Alcib. IV. i, And set her Ills off with a winning Dress. 1742 MRS. MONTAGU Lett. I. 271 Who does an ill receives a punishment

3 † a Hostile, malevolent, or unfriendly feeling, ill will in phr. to ill, etc., to take (a thing) in ill, to ill to take it ill, take offence at it. Obs

1393 R. BRUNNE Handl. Synne 5660 Zyt þase he hyt with no gode wylle Ffor lastyt hyt after hym with ylle. 1330 – Chron. (1810) 25 Whan Alfrid & Gunter had werred long in ille. c 1340 Cursor M. 21598 (Fairf.) Agains him we were in a 1400 Octavian 1152 Syr, take hyt not yll ille. c 1430 Syr Gener. 7447, I besech you take it not at yll. 1440 Sir Degrev. 442 Y pray you take hit not to ille 1500–20 DUNBAR Poems xxx. 20 Lak it nocht in ill

b In reference to opinion or the expression of it. Something blameful, unfavourable, unfriendly, or injurious (Perh orig the adverb cf. next 2 b.)

1414 BRAMPTON Penit. Ps. iii. 6 Ne with here tunges hemyche my name, And spoke þere of ille. 1569 J. ROUS Jn. of Godly Lorde 184. Not once one to hear yl of another. 1656 B. HARRIS Contract. of Age (1658) 264 Many began now to speak ill of him. 1778 MAD. D'ARBLAY Diary (1842) I. 158 I allow no man to speak ill of[him] that he does not deserve. 1821 J. BRACKEN Brandon I. 177 Plumer knew no ill of him ... Mod. I can think no ill of him

4 Evil as caused or inflicted, harm, injury, mischief

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints, Paulus 582 Pat man has done gret ill To pame pat ar to þe lele men 1470–85 MALORY Arthur III. vi. What dost thow here? He answerd I doo neyther good nor greete ylle. a 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon cxlvi. 532 All the ylles and damages that he hath done to you. 1611 BIBLE Rom. xiii. 10 Loue worketh no ill to his neighbour. 1689–90 HEMILL Health & Long Life Wks. 1727 I be ware of the ill Consequences of too frequent Use. 1760 PORTIA Polite Lady xxvii. 123 I fest I should do myself more ill than good. 1816 SCOTT Old Mort. xxxvi, Let me say ill in getting out o' thae cheilds' hands an' ane could compass it?

5 Evil as suffered or endured, misfortune, calamity, disaster, trouble, distress. + To give oneself ill, to distress or trouble oneself, to grieve a 1300 Cursor M. 3037 Abraham ... [he] angel sal ligher ; pe not ill a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter xxii. 5, I sall dred nan ill a 1400 Ipomidon 93 I haf wepede sare and gaffe thame ille. a 1450 Le Morte Arth. 811 He sayed sare, and gaff hym ylle. 1502 ATKINSON tr. De Imitatione III. xix. 212 As gladly shall I take by thy grace yll as good, batter thynges by nature. 1535 COVERDALE Bible Ps. xxxiv. 20 Manye conforme me to my fortune, And to my greife Next day mine yll doth vex me, and importune My soule with thoughts of greife 1600 J. BRERETON Relation Eng. 141 Their lucke by their naturity cast to know if good or ill shall befall them. 1771 MACKENZIE Man Feel. xi. (1803) 76 We frequently observe the ills which are communicated by sagacity as the assurance of good. 1842 TENNYSON Two Voices 107 Still heaping on the fear of ill The fear of men, a coward still

b [with pl.] A misfortune, a calamity, a disaster, an adversity

a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter cxxxix. 7 Many yllys are agayns me 1546 HEYWOOD Prov. (1867) 10 Of two yls, choose the leest. 1611 COTGR., Choix, Choix IV 400 (Accordingly to the olde proverbe) one yll commeth never alone 1665 DRYDEN Ind. Emperor II. ii. The Ills of Love, not those of Fate. I fear your Ills are Old Penelope III. Coll 61 No sense have they of ills to come 1796 H. HUNTER tr. St. Pierre's Stud. Nat. (1799) I. 95 We communicate to each other only the ills of life 1888 H. SPENCER Concerning II. xiv. 182 To chart some measure meant to cure a pressing ill

6 Bodily disorder, disease, sickness (Chiefly Sc. or north.) Frequent in popular names of diseases or distempers. Comitial ill, epilepsy see COMITIAL 1 b See also Falling ill, Shield ill s.v. sb.

c 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints, Jacobus minor 577 Full besyly can he spere Of his seknes pe manere, And of pe cause als of pe ill. 1450 MYRC 565 That maketh a body to cache ille 1513 DOUGLAS Æneis III. i. 19 Sum lungis for the hurtyt ar seiklyt to lik of ane quart 1588 GREENE Perimedes 8 Mightie men cannot brooke the touch of their ill 1654 J. LILLIE Rules Health 8 Ill of Shield sb. 1694 MRS. PIX Beau Demolish'd 11, Pox take your ill, I'm not now grow old, and had An ill no doctor could unravel 1823 Northumb. Gloss., Ill, a disease. The 'milk ill' and the 'quarter ill' are diseases commonly among sheep

†7 The ill That which is faulty or erroneous, the wrong side in an argument Obs

c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 100 Pe bushop schewed wats pe ille, and mayntened pe ille

8 In Comb see ILL II below.

III (ɪl), adv Forms (?2) 3–4 ille, 3–5 ylle, 3, 6 yll, 3– ill, (4 il) [Early Mk. ille, f. ILL a., cf ON illa adv., Sw illa, Da. ilde.]

In an ill manner, badly

Quite other adjs. + to syntactical reasons, hyphened to a following adj., when the latter is used attributively, as 'an ill built house', but not when used predicatively, as 'the house is ill built'. Both examples of the unnecessary use of the hyphen in the latter construction are very frequent.)

1 Wickedly, sinfully, blameworthily (In modern use, with weakened force and associated with other senses, esp 6 b) c 1205 LAY. 5426 Þe king wes stille & þa swiken speken ille c 1250 Gen & Ex. 1760 Sichem hire ille bi nam a 1300 Cursor M. 6531 Son he herd tipand tell Pat his folk had ful il don c 1330 R. BRUNNE Chron. (1810) 49 He betrased my lord, & my sonne fulle ille Ibid. 163 Pe dede pat I did ille Ibid. 230 Pat I ne wrogt ille (1845) II. 433 My youth ill spent, and worse by women's guile 1726 SHIFT Vocke. Voy round World (1757) 8 Plausible pretences for behaving as ill as they pleased 1793 GOUV. MORRIS in Sparks Life & Writ. (1832) III. 46, being a little more drunk than usual, behaved extremely ill

2 With malevolent action, in an unfriendly manner unkindly, harshly, wrongfully a 1300 Harrowing 1954 Two houre þe þus ille maked, þus to rusen, and al mad naked? 1580 N. LICHEFIELD tr. Calvin Iudg's Comp. I. and lxxix. 162 b, He enuimes handeled our men very ill. 1773 MRS. CHAPONE Improv. Mind (1774) II. 16 Those who treat you with virtuous provocation 1830 MACAULAY Lett. to Napier 16 Sept. in Trevelyan Life (1876) I. 200 How ill you had used me ill, I might complain

b With unfavourable estimation, blamefully

chiefly in phr to speak, think, etc ill (of), so + to hear ill, to be ill spoken of (see HEAR 12)

1548 HALL Chron., Hen. VIII, 189 They grudged, and spake ill of the haste Parliament. 1625 CAMDEN Remains 56 He [is] ill reputed of that forbeareth so to do. 1631 SANDER Serm. Serm. II. 8 All our speeches and actions are ill interpreted 1664 MILTON Areop. (Arb.) 51 National corruption, for which England bears ill abroad 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 439 ¶ 4 A Man inquisitive after every thing which is spoken ill of him 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. II. 169 Ill as he thought of his species, he never became a misanthrope

c With injurious aversion, displeasure, or offence chiefly in phrases to like ill = (a) to displease (obs.) (b) to dislike, be displeased with (arch.), to take ill = to take offence at, take amiss

c 1200 ORMIN 18279 He ræfebþ þe þin alliderrdom And tet [= thee it] mann ille likenn a 1330 in Wright Lyric P. xx. 81 Alle we shule deȝe, þah us like ille a 1340 Symdale's Leg. 1093 Of that sȝaht lykyd hym full ȝil 1596 HARINGTON Metam. Ajax Pref. (1814) 2 Some will take it ill because they doe not like it 1665 PEPYS Diary 30 Aug. I like the Aspen takes it ill to have his head cut off 1701 ROWE Ambi. Step-Mother Dedi., The Town has not receiv'd this Play ill 1832 TENNYSON Lotos-Eat. I. 17 This suggestion was so ill received that he made haste to explain it away 1854 H. MILLER Sch. & Schm. (1858) 480 Mr Stewart liked the house of Hanover rather too ill to conceal it

3 Sorely, painfully, grievously, unpleasantly Obs exc dial

a 1275 Prov. Alfred 652 in O. E. Misc. 137 Pe bicche luit ille c 1400 Destr. Troy 12903 Pe kyng hit ȝarked ille and greuit hir yll c 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon xvi Sey, I prayse you gete me some mete, for I am yll a hungred a 1550 Christis Kirk on Grene xv, Sum fell in mischeivit Mud (Jamieson's dial.) He was ill clemmed

†4 Banefully, hurtfully, injuriously Obs

1483 Cath. Angl., 195/1 Ille, male, perniciose 1600 B. HOLGATE tr. Cone-finger 34 They chose rather to counsell him ill and please him than to advise him well and contradict him 1632 HITON Apol. Smect. Introd., Wks. (1847) 80 ? As with him whose outward garment hath been injured and ill bedighted

5 Unfavourably, unpropitiously, unfortunately, unhappily

c 1325 Metr. Hom. 149 Ic haf sped ful ille c 1460 Towneley Myst. xxvii. 6 Yll was thou ded, so wo is me that I it ken 1503 SHAKS. 3 Hen. VI, II. v. 55 Ill blowes the winde that profits no body 1600 B. HOLGATE tr. Cone-finger 34 If it succeeded ill, the losse would be generall 1657 R. L[IGON] Barbadoes (1673) 25 A Town ill situate, for if they had considered health ... they would never have set there 1741 RICHARDSON Pamela (1824) I. xxii. 273 I let them be young or old, well married or ill married 1770 GOLDSM. Des. Vill. 51 I ill fated the land Where wealth accumulates, and men decay 1864 DOWAN Their Majesties Serv. I. 21 But for the sympathy of the Earl of Leicester, it would have gone ill with these Ingrams.

6 Of manner or quality of performance = Not well, defectively, imperfectly, poorly, hardly, scarcely Sometimes (with mixture of sense 3). With trouble, difficulty, or inconvenience a 1300 Cursor M. 2181 (Gött.) Ill worth i for-pi [v.r. worþ] it es to tell be feld, pat noght again be sede wil ȝeild a 1400 Ipomedon 3518 Poure mene þat myghte ille goo a 1460 Towneley Myst. xiii. 1 Now ar we ill arayed, for ar cold I and I am yll happyd 1586 A DAY Eng. Secretary I. (1625) 31 Things ill beseeming or unworthy their repute. 1594 Z. COKE Catech. (1635) 11 Which I can ill call to mind 1617 MARTINEAU Life in Wilds II. 34 We can ill spare him 1839 MURCHISON Silur. Syst. I. xxiv. 301 The upper I incline rock is ill developed 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. IV. I. 484 With an intemperance which ill accordeth the judicial character

b Badly, faultily, imperfectly, unskilfully

1540 HYRDE tr. Vives' Instr. Chr. Woma (1592) I ij, If thou answere not quickly, thou shalt be called proude, or ill brought up 1579 SPENSER Shep. Cal. June 74, I play to please myselfe, all be it ill 1832 J. HAYWARD tr. Biondi's Eromena 138 Not many words, and those few ill expresst 1670 SIR S. CROW in 1278 Repl. Hist. MSS. Comm. App. v. 15 The silke being ill wrought when it left 1697 DRYDEN Virg. I. 139 The Houses are but low and ill built 1708 POPE Dunc. I. 66 Figures ill pair'd, and Similes unlike 1774 CHESTERF. Lett. (1932) I. lxiii. 134 Shop-keepers, common people, footmen and maid servants, all speak ill 1873 M. ARNOLD Lit. & Dogma (1876) 85 The admitted duties themselves come to be ill discharged 1895 Westm. Gaz. 2 Apr. 2/2 The entertainer ... recited, by no means ill, the celebrated 'All the world's a stage' speech

7 Phrases a Ill at ease see EASE sb. 7 b., hence ill-at-easeness (nonce-wd.), the state of being ill at ease. b Ill to-do, in poor circumstances, poor needy (the opposite of well to do) Ill-off in an unprosperous condition, badly off (the opposite of well off) see OFF a 1565 SIR T. GRESHAM in Burgon Life (1839) II 443 I am right sorry that my Lady is so ill at ease 1734 POPE Ess. Man IV. 119 The virtuous son is ill at ease When his lewd father gave the dire disease 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par. I 349 Ill was the King at ease 1880 STURGEON Fenn Diar. Pc. cxx 9 As all was becoming lying nough hours as if he had lived among savages 1890 MISS BROUGH Tom Alabas I xxiii, Elizabeth's evident ill-at-easeness

b 1853 LYNCH Self Instructor 115 A most honourable ill-to-do class fighting a good fight with poverty 1887 PATER Imag. Portraits 2 He is not ill to do, and has lately built himself a new stone house 1889 Charity Organ. Rev. May 221 There is room for doubt whether the well-todo man's conviction of the ill to do man's discomfort really leads to useful action

8 In Comb see IT- III below

Ill (il), v. Obs exc dial [f. ILL a.]

†1 trans. To contrive maliciously. Obs

a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter lxxxii 3 On þi folke þai illid counsale [L. malignantiam consilium]

†2 To cause ill or evil to, to harm, hurt, injure wrong Obs

c1200 [see ILLING] 1303 HARDY Reading Poet. xxxi, I hat will pay re and yll þi wynne 1583 T. WATSON Centurie of Love c (Arb.) 137 To pacyfie my minde By illing him through whome I find a slaue 1586 WARNER Alb. Eng. III xviii 52 My wretched Cause of your repaire, by wicked Romanes ild 1614 SYLVESTER Panaretus 454 Appeerd an Old man (as one deeply ild)

3 To speak ill of, abuse, malign, disparage

c1530 H. RHODES Bk Nurture in Babees Bk. 100 To ill thy foe, doth get to thee hatred and double blame 1674-91 RAY N. C. Words 79 To Ill to reproach, to speak ill of another 1683 MERITON Yorksh Dialogue 15 You ill my Farm, for you have said to some, You'r quite undone and beggar'd since you came 1858 Cumberld Gloss., I do not ill a body if you can't say weel o yan

Ill (in 3 illen), scribal var of HILL v.[1] to cover a 1300 Body & Soul 69 (MS Digby 86, f. 196 b) Pe bridde dai hed shal flouen þat al þe world shel illen [MS Harl 2253 ff 57 a, hylen vines vayle, myle, while]

Ill-, in combination

I General uses

1 a In attributive relation see III 1 a 9, also ILL BLOOD, ILL BREEDING, ILLFARD, ILL HUMOUR, ILL LUCK, ILL NATURE, ILL-USAGE, ILL WIT

b Parasynthetic compounds see 8

II From ILL sb

2 Objective and obj genitive, as †ill abearing (enduring evil), † abiding (= ILL BODING), -breeding, designing, dispersing, skimming, -doing, hastening, undertaking, persuading, presaging, -uttering adjs., ill-deme -doer, -hearted, -hearten, forebider, thinker, sbs., ILL WILLER, WILLING, WISH, -WISHER

1615 CHAPMAN Odyss VIII 455 Bound to this †ill abearing destiny 1868 JACKSON Creed VIII xxvi § 4 This unseason able †ill abiding Jesus now is a long to judge us 1912 KER Epic of Dark Ages 1921 IV 269 Ill abiding Birds who hate the Day 1570-18 SPENSER Fasti 1900 (J.) The craft of †ill designing men 1791 BURKE Rep. Ill Mgrs. Wks VI 83 To encourage ill-designing men 1594 SHAKS. Rich. III, IV i 53 †Ill dispersing Winde of Misery 1592 — Rom. & Jul. III v 54, I haue an †ill Planning soule 1738 SWIFT Pol. Conversat. 89 †Ill Doers are ill Deemers, 1865 SCOTT Gosp. M. Intr. It is the ill-doers, are ill dreaders, 1868 HELPS Realmah I. (1876) 2 The ill-doings of all the ill-doers who [etc.] 1612 SHAKS. Wint. T. I ii 70 We knew not the Doctrine of ill doing 1715 LEWIS Dialogues Archit (1742) II 91 Temples erected to ill-doing Gods 1788 BURNS Poem, Oh why the deuse should I repine, And be an †ill foreboder? 1602 CAREW Cornwall 118 This ill halt-seuing horne mane hath opened a gap to the scoffes of many 1703 CONGREVE Tears Amaryllis 89 Streams of †ill presaging Birds 1787 BURNS Death Poor Mailie i The lamp of day, with ill-presaging glare Dim cloudy, sunk beneath the western wave 1515 Cooke Troelle's 11 Surmowers, †ill thynkers and make brasers 1606 SHAKS. Ant. & Cl. II v 43 The Soule and Body rive, I will melt and powr Downe thy †ill vttering throate

3 Instrumental and native, as ill deceived (de ceived by evil), ill inclining (inclining to evil)

1601-79 PEITHAN Random 1 xxxv 46 Of the ill smoking soul 1647 H. MORE Poems, Insomn. Philos xxiii, Their ill-deceived soul

III From ILL adv

In 6 and 7 the hyphen is only syntactic, being required when the qualified adj is used attrib, but unnecessary when it is predicative of ILL adv Introd note

Both elements have usually a main stress, but one or other may predominate according to the construction, in particular, combinations like ill built, ill.tated, ill.fitting, standing before a sb, have rather the character of simple sbs. Ill cat a ill built house, the chimney is a ill.fa'ed fence, an ill fitting dress, a child he is no man, ill.fa'oured

4 With verbs, as ill husband, ill judge, ill-requite, ILL TREAT, ILL-USE (TWO STROKES)

1639 J. BRUCE in Camden Misc Relat 231 Whether he illhusbanded the mind of Parmene 1697-8 Burton's Diary II 362, I hope they will never ill requite it 1693 Lady's Call 54 To what can we more reasonably impute [it] then to our ill husbanding the means of grace? 1815 Sporting Mag XLVI 21 Shelton again ill judged his distance

5 With adjectives derived from verbs, as †ill agreeable, ill-effaceable, ill-manageable, ill-observant

1614 RALEIGH Hist World II (1634) 8 Ill agreeable to the holy Scriptures. 1813 C. LOFFT in R. H. Barker Parsvana (1820) II 79 note, A very ill manag able portion of time 1848 SIR A. DE VERE Song of Faith 83 Ill observant eyes 1860 PUSEY Min. Proph 523 The ill effaceable spot of ungodliness

6 With pres. pples., or adjectives of ppl form, forming adjs., as ill-according, -agreeing, -beseeming, -calculating, consisting, -contenting, fitting, going, -jesting, -guiding, neighbouring, -pet fuming, -sounding, -smelling, sounding, -suiting, -suiting, -yoking, etc., ILL-ARRIVING, -BOMENING, -LOOKING (Various see under IT above)

1611 BIBLE Ill xvii 10 There sounded an †ill according eine of the enemies 1623 in Rushw Hist Coll (1659) I 99 The disposition of that People being so malignant and ill agreeing with us 1886 W. J. TUCKER I. Europe 198 With an ill befitting air of haughtiness 1592 SHAKS. Rom & Jul I v 76 Put off these frownes, An ill beseeming semblance for a Feast 1893 A. Y. LEGLIS Statistics 39 †Ill fitting joints in the woodwork 1665 BOYLE Occas Reff II viii (1848) 123 Telling the Strokes of an ill going Clock 1634 MILTON Comus 466 Lest some ill greeting touch attempt the person Of our unspotted sister 1590 SHAKS. Lear v 46 Any ill-flattering man 1897 ATHELNEY Star Med III 889 Ill looking and often ill smelling mucus 1893 DRYDEN Juvenal Introd (1697) 88 He was forced to crouch his Verse with ill-sounding Monosyllables. 1590 SPENSER F. Q. I ii 2 Their boosteous paines and ill succeding night 1643 MILTON Divorce I viii, The forcible summoning of an impotent and ill yoking couple

7 With past pples., or adjectives of the same form, forming adjs. a in senses 1–4 of the adv., as ill-achieved, -acquired, -begotten, behaved, celebrated, -composed, -erected, -gendered, invented, -meant, -occupied, -reputed, -spent, -won, ILL AFFECTED, -ASSORTED, ETC., ILL-BRED, -FAVOURED, ETC., b in sense 5, as ill advertised, -counselled, -devised, -foreseen, -joined, -knotted, -met, -wedded, c in sense 6, as ill-accoutred, -acted, adapted, -armed, -arrayed, assorted, balanced, -bought up, -built, -cemented, -chosen, clad, -coined, coloured, -concealed, -conceived, -concerted, -conducted, -considered, -contrived, -cured, -dressed, -digested, -directed, -advised, -examined, -framed, -guided, -handled, -furnished, -governed, -grounded, -guided, -informed, -joined, -knitted, -lit, -made, -managed, -matched, -mated, -mustered, -paid, -regulated, -roasted, -ruled, -spun (c 1460), strung, -supported, taught, -tuned, understood, -ventilated, worded, -written, -wrought, -yoked, etc., ILL-ADVISED, -BRED, -SORTED, -STRUNG, -TIMED, -TUNED, -WORDED, -WRITTEN, ILL about

These quasi-combinations can be formed with almost any pp. pple. or adj. in -ed, and their number tends to increase indefinitely unlimited. Only a few are here illustrated

1577 Holinshed Hist Scotl 1170/2 Ill vsing A very slender and ill accoutred train of followers 1640 HARINGTON Castara iii (Arb.) 127 I like some dull ill acted part 1849 DE QUINCEY Pagan Oracle Wks (1862) I 86 In the wreck of my ill adventured youth 1593 SHAKS. Lucr 874 †Ill annexed Opportunity 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng. II 430 Ill managed elections 1838 THIRLWALL Greece III 1 Mal ecovered 1718 Ill behaved 1750 H. SMITH R. Rs (1803) II 477 †Ill bestead Poor in store in wealth a wretch 1579-80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 802 This ill husbanded liyrant 1704 Addn Tr. Cotton 16 Oct in Lond Gaz No. 4066/8 To enable Your Majesty to look at the †ill celebrated Hall used for Parliaments 1580 SIDNEY Pembr Ps (1912) 15 An ill gratefull treason of her †ill chosen husband 1784 COWPER Task III. 370 †Ill-clad and fed but sparely 1779-81 JOHNSON Prol. Goldsmith Wks. IX 180 Ill-connected marriages 1598 Malcontent 1. ill behaved 1592 H. SMITH Wks (1867) II 477 †Ill bestead Poor in store in wealth a wretch 1579-80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 802 This ill husbanded t fine clothes †ill fancied 1600 E. BLOUNT tr Conestaggio's 211 Fortified with †ill fashioned trenches 1821 SCOTT Kenilw. xxii, His ill fashioned gaberdine. 1576 NEWTON Lemnie's Complex (1633) 15 They make the body to breake out *†ill*favourably with scabs. 1643 True Informer 27 It hath made the Venetian to looke but ill favourably of us 1795 LOCKE (J.), †Ill formed and mis shaped productions 1697 RUTHERFORD Lett (1862) I 246 She is not that †ill friended 1842 ROGERS Naaman 845 It becomes as meet to an †ill habited stomach 1837 HIPKIN Wks (1619–20) II 489 Many an hollow and †ill hearted counterfait 1786 BURNS Twas Dogs 180 Flent haet o' them 's ill hearted fellows. 1656 CROMWELL Intell. Extra I iv P 36 551 Neither was this Trinity of Divine Subsistences only thus †ill-language'd by the Pagans generally 1604 F. HERING Modest Defence 32 In illiberal and †ilnet tered Natiues 1648 Satirical Touches II 22 May [times] become †ill laking and unfruitfull 1633 Bp. HALL Occas Medit § 56 A scandalous and *†ill*wel Teacher 1653 G. HERBERT Temple, Glance 13, I the malicious and †ill meaning harm 1681 Loud Gas No 1619/4 Designing and ill meaning Men 1611 COTGR., Mal enthaleté, maliciously affected, †ill minded 1798 ANNESLEY Afrem Pil. II 8 Ill minded priests. 1682 CROWNE Hen VI, II 14, I see Too much †ill mindedness in all this fury 1668 TOURNEUR Rev. Trag. IV ii, Wks 1878 II 171, I thinke thou art †ill monded 1887 MUNDAY & CHETTLE Death Robt. Earl Huntington D ij b, Last king John, that †ill part personage Of chaste Matilda let him make an end 1898 N. & Q. The malicious Scotter Johnny 22 Mare than an †ill scrapit tongue Musca'd ye snir 1884 PEAR Existence 63 To put up with your ill scraped tongue 1906 SHAKS. Tam Shr V ii 143 Like a fountaine troubled, Muddie, †ill seeming 1592 — Rom & Jul v i, 44 Skins Of †ill shap'd fishes 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie III xxii (Arb.) 263 Such manner of vnmanly speach vttered the Tanner of Tamworth vse I hope I shall be hanged to morrow, for I feare me I shall be hanged, whereat the king laughed to heare his †ill shapen terme. 1580 N. T. (Rhem.) Acts xix 9 *†*Ill speaking the way of the Lord before the multitude. 1598 SYLVESTER Du Bartas II iv Captaines 1010 An †ill stated body. 1647 H. MORE Song of Soul II I i xx, Certes they be †ill shew'd and baser born 1866 FORSYTH Beauties Scott IV 58 Short †ill thriven furre 1843 LEVER J. Hinton xviii, Such a little †ill a little cross-grained, ill thriven old fellow *c*1600 SHAKS. Sonn cxl, Now this ill wresting world is growne so bad, Madde slanderers by madde ears believed be.

†Illa'bile, a Obs rare [f. IL-2 + LABILE] Not liable to slip, fall, or err, infallible Hence †Illabi'lity, quality of being 'illable'

1740 CHEYNE Regimen iv 240 Is would seem that all Creatures must be labile, fallible, and peccable, and that even infinite wisdom and power could not make a creature illable, infallible, and impeccable. Ibid. 241 secondary nature of eternal infallibility, illability, and impeccability Ibid 276 †Illa'borate, a. Obs rare [ad late L. illaborāt-us see IL-2 and cf ELABORATE] Unlaboured, not highly finished unfinished.

1631 BRATHWAIT Whimzies, Traveller 93 So Indigested are his collections, and so illaborate his style as the Stationer shunnes them 1639 T. DE GREY Compl Herauld To Rdr, In this illaborate Discourse 1808 [BLOUNT Glossogr., Illaborate, done or made without labor, plain, unlaboured 1751 P. ORRERY Remarks Swift (1752) 12 I he style of it must be illaborate, and void of all freedom and vivacity

Hence †Illa borateness, 'the Quality of being effected without Labor and Pains' (Bailey 1737)

†Illabo'rious, a Obs rare—1 [f IL-2 + LABORIOUS] Not laborious, lazy.

*a*1631 DONNE Serm lxxii 728 This in misbeliefs and illaborious man that takes no paines.

†Illaccustomed see Ill- B

†Illa'cerable, a. Obs rare—0 [ad late L. illacerābilis see IL-2 and LACERABLE. Cf †illacerable] Not liable to be torn or rent Hence †Illa cerableness

1623 in COCKERAM 1626 in BLOUNT Glossogr 1707 BAILEY vol II, Illacerableness

†Illa'chrymable, a Obs rare—0 [ad L. illacrymābilis unwept, unmoved by tears, pitiless, f il (IL-2) + lacrimābilis see LACHRYMOSE] (See quots.) Hence †Illa chrymableness.

1623 COCKERAM, Illacrymable, pitilesse, unmercifull 1658 PHILLIPS, Illachrymable, pitilesse, also unpittied [sic 1678 uncapable of weeping] 1732 BAILEY (Vol II), Illacrymableness, uncapableness of weeping 1755 JOHNSON, Il lachrymable, incapable of weeping

Illachryma'tion rare [noun of action f I illacrimāre to weep over] (See quots)

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Illachrymation, a weeping or bewailing 1893 MAYER Expos Lex. Illacrymatio, term for excessive weeping lilacrymation

Ill-advised (i lǐdvai zd), a [ILL- 7 c] Done without wise consideration or deliberation, injudicious, imprudent, rash, careless, ill-counselled, following, or resulting from, bad advice (Of persons, their actions, etc)

*c*1598 MARLOWE Massacre Paris 1 ii, Your grace was ill advis'd to take them a 1600 HOOKER Eccl Pol VI iv ¶ 4 They which with ill-advised modesty seek to hide their sin like Adam 1677 Goot Venice 391 Vittor Amedeus was very ill advised to deliver Pignerol to the French 1708 Young Love Fame III. 52 To make that hopeless, ill advis'd attack 1818 SCOTT Rob Roy vi, The unfortunate and ill advised James II 1880 MCCARTHY Own Times III xiv 355 The ill advised undertaking had to be given up

Hence Ill-advi sedly (-ĕdli) adv, in an ill advised manner, injudiciously, imprudently.

1879 FROUDE Cæsar xxi. 353 So ill advisedly, so against all my counsels, the whole business has been conducted 1884 Pall Mall G 29 Dec 2/1 The Board, ill advisedly refused to forward the appeals.

†Illa·ga, ppl a. Obs. rare. [ad L illæs-us unhurt, f il- (IL-2) + læsus pa pple of lædĕre to injure Cf ILLESED.] Unhurt, uninjured 1599 A. M. tr Gentleman's Jor. Chivalry 10/2 The seconde table illæse or vnhurte Ibid 37 b/1 The middle of the Legge [is] as yet illæs

†Illa·tive, a Obs rare—1 [f. IL-2 + L læs, ppl stem of lædĕre to injure + -IVE] Harmless

1607–47 Feltham Resolves 1 lxxxiv 259 These they might sweeten with illæsive games

†Illa·tible, a Obs rare—0 [For illatable*, ad L. illædibilis, f il- (IL-2) + lædibilis joyful.] 'Sorrowfull' (Cockeram 1623)

Ill-affected (i l,fe kted), a [ILL- 7 a] †1 Affected with illness or indisposition; diseased Obs

1604 F. HERING Modest Defence A ij, As if a bleare-eyed man should not seeke remedy for his ill affected eyes. 1615 [see AFFECTED II 3]. 1666 NEEDHAM Medela Medic 379 In Scorbutick and other ill affected bodies. 1727 BRADLEY Fam Dict s v Eye, Diseases, that affect the Colour of the Eye

2 Not well disposed towards some person or thing, unfriendly, disaffected

1586 SPENSER State Irel Wks (Globe) 643/2 When all his adherents and allyes, all-affected unto him, as they usually be to all the English 1654 G GODDARD in Burton's Diary (1828) I Introd 192 To prevent the election of delinquents and ill affected persons 1884 Manch Examr 10 Oct 5/9 Somewhat better affected, or perhaps a trifle less ill affected

+3 Not versed with favour, disliked Obs

1629 E. First Estu II in Select Jr Hart Misc (1793) 13 This shall make ill-affected return of this our favourite, more infamous and hated

Hence Ill-affe ctedness, ill-affected condition

1658 HERRICK Proper, Prognostick (1869) 262 Nought but a kingdom ill affectedness

†Illa psable, a[1] Obs rare—1 [f IL-2 + LAPSABLE] Not liable to fall

1660 GIANVILLE Lux Or viii 86 They may be morally immutable and impeccable but this is great, not nature

Illa·psable, a[2] rare—0 [f ILLAPSE v + -ABLE] Capable of illapsing, or liable to illapse In recent Dicts.

Illapse (ilæps, ili-), sb Now rare [ad L. illapsus a gliding, falling, or slipping in, f illābi to slip, fall in see IL-2, LAPSE.]

1. The act of gliding, slipping, or falling in, of gently sinking into or permeating something a Theol Said of spiritual influences, esp in the illapse of the Holy Spirit and equivalent expressions (Freq in 17th c.)

1654 Gangræna Cred III xxi § 20 Testimonies for the plentiful manner of effusion [of the Holy Ghost] and placid illapse into the souls of every sort 1660 BP. REYNOLDS Heavens iv 57 By immediate illapse of Truth into the Understanding 1663 J. SPENCER Prodigies (1665) 80. 1706 J. OWEN Trans Europe I 55 I he illapses of the spirit were sometimes made subservient to the impulses of the flesh. 1882 F. E. WARREN Liturgy Celtic Ch II § 10 106 Praying for the illapse of the Holy Ghost

b. Of the vital principle, heat, passion, etc

1677 H. MORE Spir Div Mem III vi 277 When the Matter is fitly prepared, there is an illapse of this Vital, Formative, Spirital Principle into it 1727–66 THOMSON Summer 1262 Thus left, and pressed by the bold swimmer in the swift illapse Of accident disastrous 1768 MURPHY Zenobia IV 1 10 Beware, my friend, and steel thy heart Against the sweet illapse of gentler passions

†c Of a tributary stream Obs rare—1

1753 MURPHY Gray's Inn Jrnl No 30 P 1 A River which admits the tributary illapses of several lesser Streams

2 A gentle gliding movement rare—1

1835 J. HARRIS St Feacher (1837) 155, I will do this by illapses so gentle, by a process so natural

Illapse (ilæps, ili), v Now rare. [f L. illapt-us, ppl stem of illābi cf. LAPSE v] intr To fall, glide, or slip in Hence Illa psing vbl sb

1666 G. HARVEY Morb Angl xvi. 189 Their cure, when at any time illapsed into that Disease, is easier performed 1697 EARL Roscommon Ode Horace IV 130 The illapsing of Souls into prepared Matter *a*1721 KEN Hymns Festiv Poet Wks 1721 I 193 Israel's sweet Singer sang Ideas bright, Illap'd from Heav'n with true poetick Height 1835 T. AIRD in Blackw Mag XXXVII 780 A nymph Near walking on the checkered floors of woods, Or far illapsing through their green retreat

Illa·psing, ppl a rare—1 [f. IL-2 + LAPSING] That does not fall or slip.

1740 CHEYNE Regimen 1 28 The only mean, by which fallible, frail Super Creatures could be brought to an illapsing state of Stability

Illa·psive, a rare—1 [f as ILLAPSE sb + -IVE.] Characterized by an illapse (of the divine Spirit).

1812 KNOX & JEBB Corr II 367, I know little of illapsive communication

†Illa·queable, a Obs rare—1 [f L. illaquāre. see ILLAQUEATE v. and -BLE.] Capable of being ensnared 1678 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I iv ¶ 25 268 Whether or no a Philosopher be temptable by it, or illaqueable into it.

†Illa quate, ppl a Obs rare—1. [ad. L. illaqueāt-us, pa pple see next] Ensnared.

1598 HALL Chron, Hen VI 165 b, The labyrynth, in the which he and his people were enclosed and illaquate Illaqueate (ilæ·kwi,ĕt), v Now rare or Obs [f. L illaqueāt-, ppl stem of illaqueāre, f. il- (IL-1) + laqueāre to snare, f. laqueus noose, snare] trans. To catch as in a noose, to ensnare, entrap, entangle.

1548 HALL Chron, Edw IV 239 b, The devel is wont with such wytchcraftes, to wrappe and illaquiat the myndes of man 1630 tr Cousine's Ang Fenice 38 Errour illaqueates some men. 1737 BULLOCK Woman a Riddle I. 1 8, I have inadvertently illaquated my self in an ire coverable confusion *a*1834 COLERIDGE Lit Rem (1836–9) III 298 Let not his scholastic retiary versatility of logic illaqueate your good sense.

Hence Illa queated ppl a, Illa queating vbl sb

1664 H MORE Myst. Iniq. 65 The illaquiasting of mens consciences Ibid 481 Vexatious collucations betwixt the injured body and the illaquiested Conscience

†Illaquea·tion. Obs. [n. of action f L. illaquēare to ILLAQUEATE]

1 The action of catching or entangling in a noose or snare, entrapping or entangling in argument; the condition of being entangled or ensnared

1609 Bacon Adv. Learn II xiv ¶ 3, The more subtile fourmes of Sophismes, and Illaquiations. 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep VII xi 361 The word ἀνψίχενον. doth not only signifie suspension, or the strangulation but also suffocation, strangulation or intercepsion of breath 1699 EVELYN Lett Archd Nicholson 20 Nov, Mem (1857) III 328 They wholly gave themselves up to learn to wrangle, and the arts of illaquiation

2 'A snare, anything to catch another, a noose' (J).

+Illa·te, v Obs. rare. [f. L illāt-, ppl stem of inferre to bring in, INFER]

1. trans To bring upon, occasion, cause

1533 St Papers, Hen VIII, VII 438 Restitution of dammages to them illatid bi them specialli, whome the Pope sent thither agein the Turk

2 intr To be related, to relate

1653 R SANDERS Physiogn, Moles lxii 19 This is of the nature of Jupiter and Saturn, and illateth to the right shoulder or Cephena.

+Illa·tebrate, v Obs rare—0 [f. L. illatebrāt-, ppl stem of illatebrāre (rare) to lie hid, f latebra hiding-place] intr 'To hide in corners' (Cockeram 1623) Hence +Illatebra tion, 'a hiding, or seeking of corners' (Blount Glossogr 1656)

Illation (ilē·ʃən), [ad late L. illātion-em, n of action from inferre, illāt-um to bring in, INFER Cf F. illation (1521 in Godefroy).]

1 The action of inferring or drawing a conclusion from premisses, hence, that which is inferred, an inference, deduction, or conclusion.

1533 MORE Debell. Salem Wks 938/1 Yf is illacion that he maketh vpon the same woordes of mine 1565 HARDING in Jewel Repl Harding (1611) 342 In framing his reason by way of illation 1589 GILBERTE Eng. Expostulation 1 vii 96 What ground of consequence can warrant such an illation from these premisses? 1781 WARTON Wks (1872) XIII 463 By illation, I suppose he [Locke] means the inferring one thing from another 1832 AUSTIN Jurispr (1879) II 1053 In the process of syllogising there is not really an illation or inference 1885 N & Q 7th Ser I 255/1 It is permissible to smile at such an illation from such a major and minor

2 Eccl The Eucharistic Preface to the Tersanctus, as occurring in the primitive and some later liturgies, corresponding to the Preface in the Roman and Anglican liturgies.

1865 NEALE Ext Litury, 75 We now come to Illations, or, as they have been variously called, Prefaces, Contestations, or Prayers of the Triumphal Hymn Ibid 77 The Gallican has a different Illation for every principal festival

Illative (ilē·tiv), a and sb. [ad late L. illātīvus, f illāt-, ppl stem of inferre (see prec). cf F illatif (1617 in Godefroy)]

A adj 1 Of words: Introducing or stating an inference; esp in illative particle

1611 W SCLATER Key iii. 28 That reason collected from the illative particle therefore 1647 FARINGDON Serm, II 23 Which word is not causal, but illative. *a*1703 BURNET On N. T., Pref., Our Saviour draws an inference as appears by the illative particle 'therefore' at the head of the first verse 1864 BOWEN Logic VII 220 Connected by an illative particle, because, then, therefore, &c

2 Of the nature of, or arising from, an inference or illation, inferential

1837 GILLESPIE Eng Pref Canon IV. viii 490 The propositions part is illative upon and relative unto the matter of the assertorie part *a*1726 SOUTH Serm (1744) VIII 89 There is a great deal of difference between a mere illative necessity, which consists only in the logical consequence of one thing upon another, and between a causal necessity [etc.]. 1864 BOWEN Logic vi. 156 Logic takes notice only of what is called illative Conversion, in which the Converted and the Converse must either both be true, or both be false, together. Thus the Conversion of No A is B, into No B is A, is illative But the Conversion of Some A are not B, into Some B are not A, is not illative

3 Of or pertaining to illation or inference; characterized by illation 1879 J. H. NEWMAN Grove Assentin I § 334 The faculty or talent, which I call the Ratiocinative or Illative Sense, being parallel to shrewdness in conduct, and to taste in the Fine Arts 1896 L. CAMPBELL in Contemp Rev June 102 The English idiom is neither adversative nor illative in the same degree with the Greek.

†B sb. 1. An illative particle. Obs

1591 PERCIVALL Sp Dict E, A Coniunction some are illatiues, &c, asst, xo 1699 O WALKER Instruct Oratory 102 Such illatives omitted cause much ambiguity

† 2 An illative clause Obs

1604 HOOKER Eccles Polity v. 77 My illative therfore is, the Bishop did call other Ministers into a part of the Charge 1652 JER TAYLOR Clerus Dom 13 This discourse was occasioned by our Saviours illative All power is given me, goe yee therefore and teach

Hence Illa·tively adv, in the way of an illative

1655 BP RICHARDSON On O Test 434 Most commonly taken illatively 1827 WHATELY Logic II ii § 4 (1856) 78 Every proposition may be illatively converted

† Illa·trate, v. Obs rare—° [f. illatrāt, ppl stem of illatrāre (rare), f. il- (IL-1) + latrāre to bark] ' To scoffe or barke at a thing' (Cockeram 1623) Hence † Illatra·tion, 'a barking against one' (Blount Glossogr 1656)

Illaudable (ilǫ́·dăb'l), a [ad late L illaudābilis, see IL-2 and LAUDABLE.] Not laudable, unworthy of praise or commendation

1589 PUTTENHAM Eng Poesie I xvi (Arb) 50 The bad and illaudable parts of all estates and degrees were taxed by the Poets in one sort or an other 1670 MILTON Hist Eng v (Wks 1851) 230 His actions are diversly reported, by Huntingdon not thought illaudable 1774 RICHARDSON Grandison (1781) II xxviii 259 Young Ladies are too apt to make secrets of a passion that is not in itself illaudable 1848 CARLYLE Hermann in Misc Ess (1872) I 102 Grounded on no wicked or even illaudable motive

Hence Illau·dably adv, in a way not to be praised rare

17— BOSTON (J.), It is natural for people to form, not illaudably, too favourable a judgment of their own country. 1888 Scott Leader 14 July 4 The miles gloriosus whom his has illaudably encountered

Illauda·tion. rare [f. IL-2 + LAUDATION cf † illaudatum (in Godefroy)] The opposite of laudation, censure

1848 Blackw Mag LXIV 503 The temper of direct praise is always wholly genial; that of lauding by illauda tion has in it perforce an ungenial element

Illau datory, a rare [f. IL-2 + LAUDATORY] Not laudatory, not characterized by praising

1845 Blackw Mag LVIII 787 Unqualified praise from the illaudatory pen of Ritson

‖ Illaun. Irish [ad. Ir. oileán, oiledn (prob ad ON eyland, eyland)] An islet

1882 Cornh Mag May 541 Inny Illauns and carrigeens, which barely afford a foothold to the passing gull 1895 19th Cent Mar 422 Their curraghs were cast ashore and dashed to pieces against the illaun

Ill-being. nonce wd [f ILL adv + BEING vbl sb] 'Ill' or unprosperous condition, employed as the antithesis of well-being

1840 CARLYLE Heroes v (1872) 278 I the lest of vital well being or illbeing to 13 generation 1884 H SPENCER Man v State 113 Philanthropists insuring the future ill being of men while eagerly pursuing their present well being

Ill-beloved (see IL- III), a [f. ILL adv + BELOVED] Not well-beloved, not beloved, disliked

1546 BALE Sel Wks (1849) 182 They are not so ill beloved of their country merchants 1622 MABBE tr Aleman's Guzman d'Alf II 147 There is not a man, that hath so bad a name, or is so ill belou d, as he is 1785 J HUGHES Mod Times II 169 There is seldom a person dies that is so ill beloved, but [etc] 1876 GEO ELIOT Dan Der xlv, His ill beloved nephew

Ill blood, ‖ ill-blood d. [see ILL a 2, BLOOD sb 5, cf. bad blood, BAD 6] Unfriendly or angry feeling, animosity, strife

1624 CAPT SMITH Virginia 178 Finding this might breed ill blood 1645 HOWELL Lett (1650) I iii 122 It was fear'd this would have bred ill blood 1793 BURNEY in New Mon Trans III xvii (1920) 365 This Action bred ill Blood between him and Raleigh 1809 WELLINGTON Let to F Fellowes 19 May in Gurw Desp IV 346 I he embarrass ment and ill blood which it occasioned 1844 DICKENS Mart Chuz II. Don't let there be any ill blood between us pray

Ill-bo·ding, a [ILL- 2] That bodes or portends evil, of evil omen 1591 SHAKS 2 Hen VI, IV v 6 Malignant and ill boading Starres. 1642 MILTON Reform II (1851) 45 There cannot be a more ill boding signe to a Nation 1720 WELTON Suffer Son of God II xxviii 740 Unhappy Time! Ill bodıng hours! 1885 SINGLETON Virgil I 101 Dogs ill-omened, and ill-boding birds, Afforded presages

Ill-bred, -born see ILL- B

I'll-bre'd, a [f ILL adv + BRED ppl a] Badly brought up, characterized by ill breeding, unmannerly, rude (Of persons, their actions, etc.)

1622 MABBE tr Aleman's Guzman d'Alf I v 129, I was not so ill bred, but that I knew when it was lawfull for me to speake 1634 SIR T HERBERT Trav 15 Some Dutch ill bred Sayler 1673 [R LEIGH] Transp Reh 39 These Armenians are the rudest ill bred st persons. c 1700 PRIOR Henry & Emma 462 The ill bred question, and the lew'd reply 1834 LYTTON Pompeii I. An ostentatious, bustling, ill bred fellow 1892 F REEVES Honeward Bound 311 [In Spain] It is not considered ill bred to stare at ladies

Ill breeding, i·ll-bree·ding. [ILL a + BREEDING vbl. sb.] Bad or inferior breeding or bringing up, hence, Bad manners, rudeness

1800 MRS HERVEY Mourtray Fam II 136 Declamations against the ill breeding of modern young men 1829 BYRON Juan I clxxiv, To say the best, it was extreme ill breeding

Ill-coloured, -ored (i·l,kǫ·lœd), a [f ILL a + COLOUR sb + -ED2, or f ILL adv + coloured, pa pple of COLOUR v] Of bad colour; pale, sickly

1 Having a bad, unpleasant, or inferior colour

1435 MISYN Fire of Love 78 Noyd & dissesyd, wonedyd & ill-colorde 1721 Wodrow Corr (1843) II 581 He is turned blue and ill-coloured 1748 Anson's Voy II viii 219 If the bottom be muddy, the pervl is dark and ill-coloured a 1776 R JAMES Dissert Fevers (1778) 24 Ill coloured spots all over him

2 fig Having an evil appearance, that does not 'look well'

1631 SANDERSON Serm II 128 Some things if they be not evil, yet are ill coloured and carry in their faces some resemblance or appearance of evil

3 Badly coloured or painted

1749 HENRY FIELDING Tom Jones x Feb in FRASER Life viii (1871) 329 I am told he is a sot, and ill-coloured

Illcome (i·lkʌm), a rare [f ILL adv + COMP pa pple] Unfortunately come or arrived not welcome

1579 J STUBBES Gaping Gulf Civj, A most illcome guest therefore a 1598 GREENE George a Greene Wks. (Rtldg) 264 K James My Lord of Kendl'd, you are welcome to the court A Lddn Ny, but ill-come as it falls out now 1875 Academy 21 Aug 237/3 Always welcome, and as often illcome

Ill-conditioned (i·l,kĭndi·shŏnd), a [f. ill condition + -ED2] Having bad 'conditions' or qualities, of an evil disposition, in a bad condition or state In Geometry, applied to a triangle which has very small angles, such as that by which a star's parallax is determined

1614 RALEIGH Hist World III (1634) 5 His owne sonne being an ill conditioned Boy 1694 SALMON Rates Duty (1712) 678/1 Fish which is Wounds, and other malign and ill condition'd Ulcers 1771 SMOLLETT Humph. Cl 6 May Let 1, That a woman should place her affection upon such an ugly, ill conditioned cur 1796 C MARSHALL Garden viii (1813) 107 When roots reach a weak, ill conditioned soil the trees must fail 1850 MRS JAMESON Legt Monast Ord (1863) 186 His wounds also proved ill conditioned and thankless. 1897 ALBUTT Syst Med III 911 Peritonitis of an ill conditioned kind

Hence Ill condi·tionedness, the state or quality of being ill conditioned

1866 MRS MOLESWORTH Noble Life v 76 Ill health ill humour and ill-conditionedness of every sort 1875 LADY IN Land Lords Sev I In all conditionedness of the triangle

Ill-content, -convenient, -customed, etc see ILL- B

Ill, dle f silled, from ILL v

Ill-dee·dy, a Now Sc Also 6 evil deedy see note under ILL a 2 [f ill deed + -Y1 cf DEEDFUL] Given to evil deeds, mischievous c 1460 Towneley Myst XXX 274 Riche and ille deely Cederand and gredy 1535 LYNDESAY Satyre 4038 I like quhat it is to be evil dalidie 1536 BELLENDEN Prem Scot (1821) I 78 For I wount evill deedy men 1708 RAMSAY Amaryllis on Love, Cupid, that ill deedy gear 1824 SCOTT Redgauntlet II xii, Where that ill deedy hempy is 1894 CROCKETT Raiders xxiii, Whose that ill deedy men

Ill-disposed (i·l,dĭspōu·zĕd), a [f ILL adv + DISPOSED]

1 Having a bad disposition, disposed to evil or harm, immoral, wicked, malignant, malevolent, unpropitious.

1548 HALL Chron Reden (Rolls) II 367 The ylle disposede woman c 1460 FORTESCUE Abs & Lim Mon xxi (1885) 149 Vll dyspoosed emperours had alay n grete parte off pe nacion 1622 BP ANDREWES Sermons II 148 Of ill and uneven the way, if the weather ill-disposed 1800 Asiat Ann Reg, Misc Tr 18/1 In the country towards Bhopaul matters were in a disposition less ill disposed 1863 BARING GOULD Iceland 249 A hard hearted ill disposed fellow

+ 2 In a bad state of health, unwell, indisposed

1600 HAKLUYT Voy III 660 We lost not any one, nor had ill disposed in my knowledge c 1645 HOWELL Lett I v xxxv, My Lord of Sunderland is still ill disposed

3 Badly disposed or arranged

1708 LEONI Vitruv Pref 3/1 Ill disposed and not matched Scraps 1777 ROBERTSON Hist Amer (1788) III 214 The apartments were ill disposed, and afforded little accommodation

4 Not disposed (to do something) disinclined

1771 GOLDSM Hist Eng XLVII IV 307 The people were never so ill disposed to receive him, as at the very time he pitched upon to make a descent

Hence Ill dispo·sedness (-ednes), state or quality of being ill disposed 1628 BP HALL Old Relig (1686) Ded. The ignorance and ill dispositions of some travellers that taxed this course

Ill-doer, -doing see ILL- 2

Ill-ease see ILL a. 9

+ Illecebra tion. Obs rare [n of action f late L illecebrāre to entice, allure, f illecebra see ILLECEBROUS] The action of alluring, enticement, allurement.

1624 HEYWOOD Gunaik VII 364 The Syrens insinuating into the eares of man by their severall illecebrations or enticements a 1704 T BROWN Works (1760) IV 290 Modesty restrains the great familiarity of pleasant illecebrations

Illecebro·se, a. [see next] 'Full of allurements, very inticing' (Bailey vol II. 1727)

† Illecebrous, a Obs [ad L (ante- and post-classical) illecebrōsus, f illecebra charm, lure, enticement, f illicĕre to entice (see ILLICIT)] Alluring, enticing, attractive

1532 ELYOT Gov I vii, The illecebrous dilectations of Venus. 1586 W WEBBE Eng Poetrie (Arb) 45 Such ille cibrous workes and inuentions, as among them myght obtaine passage 1599 R LINCHE Arc Elition 63, Rockt asleep with the illecibrous blandishments thereof 1696 PHILLIPS Theatr, Illecebrous, that entertains or alureth

I·lleck, sb.? Obs A name in Cornwall of a fish, the gemmous dragonet, Callionymus lyra

1602 CAREW Cornwall 30 b Of flat [fish there are] Brets, Turbets, Dories, Illeck, Fluke [etc.] 1880 West Cornw Glean, Illeck, elick, the red gurnard

† Ille·ct, v Obs rare [f I illect, ppl stem of illicĕre to allure, entice, f il- (IL-1) + lacĕre to entice cf ALLECT] trans To allure, entice 1590 S FISH Supplic Beggers 6 Had not they ere vpper flours rychesse illected them to the vnlaw lust and yuell newse 1632 ELYOT Gov I vii, It were therefore better that no musike were taught to a noble man, than he shuld by that be illected to wantonnesse. 1634 MORE On the Passion Wks 1335/1 Into the fleshly body can the deuyll enter to illecte styrre and drawe vs to his purpose.

Hence † Illecta tion [late L illectatio], allurement, enticement, † Ille ctive a., attractive, enticing, sb an enticing agent

1652 GAULE Magastrom 269 Carpocrates practised all other machinations, indigmations, inducings, illectations 1706 PHILLIPS, Illectives, Allurement, Inticement

Illegal (ilī·găl), a [ad F illegal (14th c) or ad med L. illegālis, f il- (IL-2) + legalis LEGAL.] Not legal or lawful, contrary to, or forbidden by, law

1626 (implied in ILLEGALLY) 1639 PRYNNE Holy Table II viii (1647) 54 Gibellinus concluded the election of Fridericus to be illegall and void a 1654 SELDEN Table t (Arb) 73 In all times the Princes in England have done something illegal, to get money 1769 Junius Lett xxxi 166 I beg leave to return it as illegal 1817 W SYDAN Law Nat Prine (ed 4) II 425 Intended for carrying on an illegal commerce. 1855 MACAULAY Hist I iv xxi 1v 604 To print such a tract without the approbation of the licenser was illegal

† b Lawless, irregular Obs rare

1728 R MORRIS Lex Am Anchor 20 How preferable the Beauties of ancient Architecture are to the illegal Practices of our modern Builders

Illegality (ilēgæ·lĭti) [ad F illégalité (14th c) see prec and ITY]

1 The quality or condition of being illegal

1639 FULLER Holy War II xx (1647) 70 The illegality of his election was rectified 1647 CLARENDON Hist Rebl II § 71 Mr Hambden the most Popular man in the House and the same who had defended the Ship-money to be illegal in his own Name, upon the Illegality of ship money 1651 J HEATH Acc New Inverent 31 EXTRI The illegality of granting Lr fectures before a mixt assembly in the court of Fashion 1771 PERKS Sp on Middlesex Elect Wks 1887 VI 132 How long the people are bound to tolerate the illegality of our corrupt proceedings 1840 HALLAM Const Hist III iv. 136 The charge of illegality was well grounded b An instance of this, an illegal act or practice 1898 Daily News 22 June 7/2 Illegalities must deal with untruthful title, titles without their deeds.

+ 2 = ILLEGITIMACY Obs rare

1749 FIELDING Tom Jones I iii, She took the child in her arms, without any apparent disgust at the illegality of its birth

Illegalize (ilī·gălaiz), v [f ILLEGAL a + -IZE] trans To render illegal

1818 in Todd 1866 Cosmopolitan 28 Apr 479/2 The official presence of representatives from the bogus State of Western Virginia illegalizes its functions

Illegally (ilī·găli), adv [f ILLEGAL a + -LY2] In an illegal manner

1628 BP HALL Old Relig iv 23 The reformed being by that Church illegally condemned for those points, are not heretickes. 1765 BLACKSTONE Comm I xi. 180 Any The bastard shall be settled in the parish, from whence she (the mother) was illegally removed. 1884 Law Times Rep LI 335/2 A Judge in Chambers procured a warrant to be illegally issued without a written information on oath

Ille galness. rare [f as prec + -NESS.] ILLEGALITY

1656 Impeachm Dk Buckhm (Camden) 69 The Article touching the illegalness of embarguing 1727 in BAILEY vol II whence in later Dicts.

Illegibility (ledʒĭbi·lĭti) [f ILLEGIBLE a see -ITY] The quality of being illegible

1818 TODD, Illegibility, incapability of being read 1853 MRS CARLYLE Lett II 219 My hand shakes so, you must excuse illegibility

Illegible (ledʒi·bl'), a [f IL-2 + LEGIBLE] Not legible, that cannot be read, esp of written characters Undecipherable

1654 H GIBBON Herbert's Jerusa Pref, It was an old tome, almost illegeable in manie places.] 1660 HOWELL Dodona's Gr (1645) 55 The secretary poured the ink box all over the writings and so defaced them that they were made altogether illegible 1790 MRS PIOZZI Journ France II. Here several pages of the manuscript were totally illegible 1851 RUSKIN Mod Painr II Pref 10 and ed 2, It is no excuse for illegible writing, that there are persons who could not have read it had it been plain 1866 G MACDONALD Adam Q Neigbb v (1878) 58 Mrs Oldcastle's face was illegible

† b Unreadable, because of language or matter

1756 Gentl Mag XXVI 37/2 Let plodding Sloan his taste for authors boast, The most illegible esteem the most 1820 JEFFREY Lett in Ld Cockburn Life II Let xc Clarissa Harlowe and Sir C Grandison owe all their attraction to their length, an abstract of either would be illegible 1822 Edin Rev XLVII 203 Sir Michael Scott, again—being all magic, witchcraft, and mystery—is absolutely illegible

Hence Ille gibly adv, in an illegible manner

1818 in Todd 1860 MOTLEY Netherl (1868) I i 2 The diligent old man could write so illegibly Illegitimacy (ɪlɪdʒɪtɪməsɪ) [f ILLEGITIMATE sb.: see -ACY.] The quality, state, or condition of being illegitimate. spec. bastardy.

1680 WOOD Life (O. H. S.) II 403 The King's declaration concerning the illegitimacy of the duke of Monmouth 1751 EARL ORRERY Remarks Swift (1752) 15 He either suggests an uncertainty concerning the illegitimacy of his birth, or plainly owns it. 1864 HOWSE Magistrates 207 His mother had addressed him by no epithet referring to his illegitimacy. 1882 3 SCHAFF-HERZOG Encycl. Relig. Knowl. 2212 He was fully aware of its illegitimacy (a doctrinal confession 1898 F. HUEFFER in Memoirs (N. Y.) I XXI 492 The [alleged] illegitimacy of [the expression] in our midst.

Illegitimate (ɪlɪdʒɪtɪmɛɪt), a. (sb.) [f. L illegitimus (see ILLEGITIMUS), after LEGITIMATE a.]

1 Not legitimate, not in accordance with or authorized by law, unauthorized, unwarranted, spurious, irregular, improper.

1645 MILTON Tetrach. (1851) 124 Who shall judge of publike honesty? the Law of God? or the allcatmeal Law of Monks and Canonists? 1790 BURKE Fr. Rev. Wks. V 117 A thing not only vicious in itself but rendering our whole government absolutely illegitimate, and not at all better than a downright usurpation. 1874 H. R. REYNOLDS John Baptist III 111 The illegitimate separation to the prophetic and priestly offices. 1876 THOMSON Bandolier I v 281 A loan, unauthorized and illegitimate, curiously.

2 spec. a Not born in lawful wedlock, not recognized by law as lawful offspring; spurious, bastard. The earliest sense in Eng.

1536 Act 28 Hen. VIII, c. 7 § 3 Elizabeth the Kynges daughter illegytymate, or under the same marriage. 1555 W. WATERMAN Fardle Facions II v. 72 Their issue to children one, than through the favour of a bought woman alone, that is compted illegitimate. 1608 SHAKS. Per. IV vi. 18 I am a bastard begot, but instructed, Bastard in minde Bastard in valour, in every thing illegitimate. 1827 JAMES Fouth. Pby. v. 43 The two daughters having four children, three legitimate and one illegitimate — the latter being the child of him self and his wife born before their marriage. 1870 ROLLO Contr. xi. 135 There is no record of any illegitimate children.

b Not in accordance with rule or reason; not correctly deduced or inferred.

1599 SHAKS. Much Ado III iv. 53 O illegitimate construction! I scorne that with my heeles. 1664 H. MORE Myst. Iniq. Apol. 121 I propound all these wives of division as false and illegitimate. 1723 RYAN tr. Boethius's Cons. IV v. 82 A to the illegitimate modes. Aristotle has taken the labour to try and condemn them. 1864 BOWEN Logic xii. 289 Throwing out at once all [the Syllogistic forms] that are illegitimate.

c Naturally or physiologically abnormal. By Darwin applied to the irregular or abnormal fertilization of plants 1615 CROOKE Body of Man 114 I call that a lawfull or legitimate birth which commeth in due time & that illegitimate which happeneth before or after the due time. 1661 LOVELL Hist. Anim. & Min. 421 The weather is then if at the illegitimate and degenerate into a Colick, is cured by universall evacuation. 1868 DARWIN Anim. & Pl. (1905) II 166 The illegitimate union of two species gives rise to monstrous plants. 1875 Ibid. (1905) II 200 These illegitimate plants, as they may be called, are not fully fertile.

B sb. a A bastard b One whose position is viewed as in some way illegitimate 1673 [R. LEIGH] Transp. Reh. 47 Some of your papers may obey the common Rule of Civil estimates. 1848 J. CUNNINGHAM V. Wales xi 318 The illegitimate such as have legal reasons for existing, tho' only for the illegitimate, or as he is not free from that stigma. 1856 Orelia The Bar Sinister, or Memoirs of an Illegitimate. 1896 Lippincott's Mag. Sept. In 1885 the illegitimates were, in Suffolk, 8.1 per cent.

Illegitimate (ɪlɪdʒɪtɪmɛɪt) [f. prec. cf. LEGITIMATE v.] trans. To declare or pronounce illegitimate; to bastardize.

1611 COTGR. s.v. Mettre, the succession of ne-estate left by illegitimated bastards. 1624 J. MAYNARD Gorg. To illegitimate Don Anthony who was the first and neerest heire unto that Crowne. 1715 BURNET Own Time (1766) II 83 They were, by Acts of Parliament, illegitimated. 1848 D. W. MARCHANT Kaf. Clauses Factory Guardians, p. xv Evidence which the English law deems sufficient, for illegitimating children, born during the imminency of their maternal parent.

Illegitimately (ɪlɪdʒɪtɪmɛtlɪ) adv. [f. ILLEGITIMATE a. + -LY².] In an illegitimate manner unlawfully, without authority, spuriously a 1633 SIR W. MONTAGU (1654) 12 Let he should have been justly cut out by those Infidels as some Illegitimately born.

1835 Tait's Mag. II 669 This is illegitimately deduced from his own premises. 1868 DARWIN Anim. & Pl. (1905) II 166 Seedlings of Lythrum Salicaria raised from plants illegitimately fertilised by their own form pollen.

Illegitimateness rare [f. as prec. + -NESS.] = ILLEGITIMACY.

1643-60 HICKMAN Dutch Dict., Onechtschap Bastardize or Illegitimatenesse. 1661 MORGAN Sph. Gent. III v. 85 Adulteration of illegitimateness of Birth.

Illegitimation (ɪlɪdʒɪtɪmɛɪʃən). [f. ILLEGITIMATE v., after legitimation cf. obs. illegitimation in sense 2 (1616 C. in Godefroy).]

1 The action of declaring illegitimate, a declaration of illegitimacy.

1553 Act 1 Mary Sess. 2 c. 1 § 2 In which said two Acts were contained the illegitimations of your most noble person. 1588 ALLEN Admon. 32 The sentence declaratory of Pius Quintus against the said [Queen] Elizabeth concerning her illegitimation and usurpation and inhabilitie to the Crowne of England. 1682 BAXTER Hist. I. II. 28 Richard the third had a Resolution to divide their Estates upon false and incompetent Pretexts: the one of Attainder the other of Illegitimation. 1818 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Rev. LXXXVII 534 To found his title to the crown on the illegitimation, or bastardization of the children of Edward IV

2 Illegitimate condition = ILLEGITIMACY 1.

1594 PLOWDEN Comfer. Succes. II 234 They prove the illegitim ation of these children of the Lady of Hartford, for that it could never be lawfully proued that the said Carle and the lady Catheren were married. 1663 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (1677) 241 To his illegitimation he added incest. 1707 J. CHAMBERLAYNE State of Europe II 201 As a Prince of a Bastardly extraction and a Bastardly illegitimation.

Illegitimatize (ɪlɪdʒɪtɪmətaɪz), v. [f. ILLEGITIMATE a. + -IZE.] trans. = ILLEGITIMATE v.

1812 Thom. in Ann. Reg. 176 Thereby illegitimatizing the children. 1860 PEACOCK Hist. Eng. VI 200 Too Until her [Mary's] accession had been sanctioned by Parliament, and the act in question by which she was illegitimated.

†Illegitime, a. Obs. rare [= F. illégitime (14th c.) or L. illegitimus.] = ILLEGITIMATE a.

1502 Ord. Crosten Mon. (1906) 234 If he were vnlawe, illegitime, or concubynarye. 1609 [see Tanania 2]. 1611 COTGR. s.v. Illegitime, Illegitime, bastardly.

Illegitimize, v. [f. I illegitimus (see prec.) + -IZE, cf. legitimize.] trans. = ILLEGITIMATE v.

1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. II xi. 491 When both his wives were illegitimized.

Illeism (ɪlɪɪz'm) nonce-wd. [f. L ille third man, he after egoism.] Excessive use of the pronoun he (either in reference to another person or to oneself in the third person).

1809–10 COLERIDGE Friend (1850) I 56 For one piece of egotism there is, in fact, but too much of the opposite, illeisms and illeisms. 1827—Ess. Lit. I 10 Anadeictic exaggeration of certain well known and ever returning phrases, both introductory and transitional, including the huge assortment of modest egotisms and flattering illeisms.

So †Illeist, one who makes much use of the pronoun he, or writes of himself as he 1819 Blackw. Mag. V. 241 Your intense egotist commonly avoids the use of the first personal pronoun I, and is, in fact, an illeist.

†Ille pid, a. Obs. rare—° [ad. I illepidus, f. in- IL- 2 + lepidus pleasant, graceful: cf. OF. illepide, Godef.] (See quots.)

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Illepid, without delectation or grace, impolished. 1658 PHILLIPS, Illepid, dull and unpleasant in speech or action.

†Ille sed, ppl. a. Obs. rare—¹ [f. I illæsus (see ILLESIVE + -ED).] Uninjured, unimpaired.

1551 W. CUNINGHAM in Lond. Q. & N. (1868) 3 Ser. IX 61 In this my spirit be reserued on my bodi life illesed.

Illess, a. see ILL-LESS.

Ille vel, a nonce-wd. [IL-.] Not level.

1856 H. MARTINEAU Hours 107 The little illevel street.

†Ille viable, a. Obs. rare [f. IL-2 + INVIABLE.] That cannot be levied or collected 1630 in H. de Groot's Corresp. Incorporis (1868) 18 So much of the said Farmes as are become illeviable.

Illfare (ɪlfɛə) [f. ILL a. + FARE sb.] The condition of faring or 'getting on' badly; in fact, unlucky, the opposite of welfare. In recent use only as mons. coll.

1300 Cursor M. 3689 Out Galba He bas no of oper men ill fare. 1474 CAXTON Recuyell of Troye (1894) 169 Who was to thys ylfare and vilas. 1640 DE WITT tr. Jacchiac's Disc. 18 It much conduces to the decline of a Kink, and the illfare of his Kingdome to multiply Nobelize. 1871 H. SPENCER Study Sociol. (1872) 21 Men beg Thoughts in the operation of natural religion on human welfare or illfare.

†Ill-fa ring, a. [f. ILL adv. + FARING ppl. a.] Faring badly in bad condition, ill conditioned. Hence †Ill-fa ringly adv., in an ill conditioned manner.

1400 Sir Perc. 848 Suche life farande fare. 1580 SIDNEY Ps. xxiii in Wks. 1725 II 69 The ill faring word of Carnal. 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie III xix (Arb.) 261 When I consider how ill faring the Greeke terme is and small in the English ear. Ibid. III xxiii 281 Another spake as ill fringly in this verse.

Ill-fated (ɪlfɛɪtɛd) See ILL III a. 1

†Ill-favo ured, a. Having or destined to an evil fate.

1710 POPE Il. studies for 321 Let softer strains ill fated Hero wake. 1805 WORDSW. Prelude VIII, the day When this ill fated traveller died. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I 278 Are not the miserable ill fated? 1882 J. TAYLOR Sc. Gipsanties 79 That ill fated effort to retrieve the Royal cause.

Ill-favo ured, a. Sc. = ILL-FAVOURED, q.v.

†Ill-favo rited, a. Obs. rare. = ILL-FAVOURED 1579 (?). HARVEY Letter-bk. 81 The ill-favorited sprites and divells that move so truble and infest the world Ill-favored, -ored (ɪlfɛɪvəɹd), a. Also 5- ill faur-i, faur-e)d, -fawr-, -fa'ard, -fard [f. ILL a. + FAVOUR sb. 9 + -ED².] Having a bad or unpleasing appearance, aspect, or features, ill-looking, uncomely. (Chiefly of persons.)

1530 PALSGR. 316/1 Ill favoured, layt 1576 FLEMING Panopl. Epist. 237 A deformed and yll favoured bodie. 1611 BIBLE Gen. xli. 27 The seuen thin and ill fauoured kine. 1708 SWIFT Abol Christianity Wks. 1755 II 1 89 An ill favoured nose. 1809 in Skinner Wise Poetry 109 (Jam.) Sw. proud is I am O my attempts to be a bard, And think my muse nae that ill fawrd. 1810 TANNAHILL Poems (1846) 80 He had an ill fair'd twstie face. 1840 DICKENS Barn. Rudge vi. What is this ill favoured man?

b transf. Offensive (to some other sense than sight, or to the mind), objectionable 1552 LATIMER Serm. Lincolnsh. (1569) 140, I my self haue felt such an ill fauoured smokeloom vnder. 1578 LYTE Dodoens III 542 The whole plant is of a strong & ill fauoured sinking sauour. 1588 W. KNOX Winter's Exam. I iii. 258 These are vulgar, ill fauoured names. 1818 SCOTT Rob Roy xxiii, Ill-favoured loons o' excisemen and gaugers the ill feel thieves. 1865 Fall Mall G. 4 May 2 Dunwoody was in all favoured word to ugliness.

Ill-favouredly (ɪlfɛɪvəɹdlɪ), adv. [f. prec. + -LY².] In an ill favoured manner, in a bad or unpleasing way or style 1548 ANSHAM Leonyde ii (Arb.) 120 He that shot ofiuour eelye should be mocked. 1564 MILTON Treat. Apol. 41 This time ourself so ill-favordly imitated by our unjust tuncnt Bishops. 1678 CUDWORTH Intell. Syst. I iv § 18 (1) Men commonly pronouncing I would, would ill favourdly. 1794 RAMSAY Ten T. Misc. (1733) I 86 Illfardly wad she crooke her mou'.

Ill-favouredness (ɪlfɛɪvəɹdnɛs) [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being ill favoured, ugliness, uncomeliness, objectionableness.

1565 Cooper's Thesaurus, Deformitas vncomelinesse, ill fauourdchesse. 1571 GOLDING Calvin on Ps. xlv. 17 Without the ill fauourdnesses of the crosse there is not the glory of the Church before the world. 1656 EARL MONM. Advt. to Painters 20 Like those glass eyes which squint a-syd people, sent to buy them, ill favouredness of their face. 1721 BAILEY, Deformity, Ugliness, Ill favouredness.

Ill-formed, -friended, etc. see ILL- B.

†Illful, a. Obs. rare [f. ILL sb. + -FUL.] Full of evil, harmful, pernicious.

1613 J. ADAMS Il Barbs Devill 38 In many arts, the more skilfull the more ill full.

Ill-given (ɪlgɪ·vn), a Now only Sc Also ill-gi en Addicted to evil courses or conduct, ill disposed, ill inclined, irreclaimable. (Jam.)

a 1568 ANSHAM Schoham in Arb. (1871) 126 Shall be ill given by nature, and made worse by bringing vp. 1819 K. ANDERSON Counterfeit Lady 159 To protect wild an ill gean weyfe. 1866 CARLYLE Reminis. (1881) I 6 An ill given, unmanageable kind of entity.

Ill got (ɪlgɒt see ILL- III), a. [f. ILL adv. + got, pa. pple of GET v.] = next 1593 SHAKS. 3 Hen. VI, a. iv. 46 Things ill got had ever bad successe. 1693 [see Ill-gotten in Diction. Terms]. 1697 Ess. The Tabled Diuion never guarded more The Cabbin Deece, than he his ill got Store. 1705 POPE Odyss. xiv. 97 (of their lives) Possessed of wealth ill got. 1713 Guardian No. 43 ¶ 4 According to the old Proverb, Ill got, ill gone. 1848 J. CARLYLE tr. Dante's Inferno xvii. Keep well the ill got in mind.

Ill-gotten (ɪlgɒt'n), a. [f. ILL adv. + gotten, pa. pple of GET v.] Gained by evil means 1552 LATIMER 5th Serm. Lords Day in Serm. (1562) 40b, Ill gotten goodes. 1568 GRAFTON Chron. Hist. England (1809) V 162/2 295 The third heir seldom enioyes ill gotten goodes. 1859 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xvii V 45 Is compelled to disgorge his ill gotten gains.

Ill habited, hearted, etc. see ILL- B.

Ill humour, i ll-hu mour. [Properly two words ILL a. + HUMOUR sb.]

+1 A disordered or morbid bodily 'humour' (see HUMOUR sb. 2). Obs.

a 1568 ANSHAM Schoham in Arb. 115 Sureste mens bodies be not more full of ill humors, than commonlie mens myndes be full of fansies. 1665 BOYLE Occas. Reft. iv. (1848) 28 It would breed ill Humours and Diseases.

†2 An evil or malignant inclination (HUMOUR sb. 6 b). Obs.

1636 F. DARROCH in Macdonell's Disc. Univ. xiii. 98 The Romanes having had some sent of this ill humour, that had possessed the Latins.

3 A disagreeable, irascible, or sullen mood or trame of mind (HUMOUR sb. 8), crossness, morose ness, sullenness, bad temper (In this sense often hyphened.)

1798 G. WHITE Scarn (MS.) To bear with the ill Humours and Vices of those from whom they have worldly Expectations. 1776 BENTHAM Fragm. Gov. Wks. 18 81 Ego It is with men that they are in ill humour, not with laws. 1872 MAURICE Friendship His. I 168/41 Do us work the best and most perfect specimen of ill humour

†Ill humoured (ɪlhjʉ·məɹd), a. [f. prec. + -ED².] Having or showing ill humour (see prec. 3) bad-tempered, morose 1687 CONGREVE Old Bach. III v Love, they say will make illnatured people good. 1876 BANCROFT Hist. U. S. VI xiv 360 Joseph II even one his ill humored demure.

Hence †Ill humo uredly adv., in an ill humour

1795 SOUTHEY Annual Anth. III 131 Margaret ill humouredly retorted [etc.] 1859 GEN. P. THOMPSON Audi. Th. II xcix 89 What is the use of parading this ill humouredly?

Ill husband v. see ILL 4

†Ill liable, a. Obs. rare [f. IL- 2 + LIABLE.] Not liable

1649 G Daniel Irenarch., Rich II, cclxxvii. That the King might Act secure, and be Illyable to other men's Account Ibid., Hen IV, cxxiii. Whose Station They knew Illyable, to any frame Of Processe

Illiberal (ilibĕ'ral), a (sb) [a F. illibéral (14th c), ad L. illiberālis mean, sordid, f. il- (IL-2) + liberālis LIBERAL.]

1. Not befitting or of the nature of a free man, not pertaining to or acquainted with the liberal arts (see LIBERAL), without liberal culture, unscholarly, ill bred, ungentlemanly, unrefined, base, mean, vulgar, rude, sordid.

1535 Stewart Cron. Scot. II. 42 Ane Planctus, quhilk wes ane rycht soft man, Without ingyne or jeopardie in wer Illiberall, and rycht sembell wes trew *c*1590 Marr. town Tavern 1 35 This study fits a mercenary drudge Too servile and illiberal for me 1599 Hakluyt Voy. II. 92 Mechanicall & illiberall crafts 1649 Lithgow Atheom II. 81 (1682) 172 No Art, neither liberall, nor illiberall 1641 Hyde Theol. Gentiles XXXVII. 120 To celebrate their Festivals with such illiberall plays and sports 1841 Wilkins Math. Magick I. II (1707) 5 In Propriety of Speech those Employments alone may be styled Illiberal, which require only some bodily Exercise as Manufactures, Trades 1748 Chesterf. Lett. 2 Sept., Every word or phrase you cannot find in Caesar, Cicero, Livy, Horace, Virgil and Ovid, is bad, illiberal Latin 1797 Encycl. Brit. III. 548 Your hand writing is one, which is indeed shamefully bad and illiberal. 1837–9 Hallam Hist. Lit. I. v. § 3. 332 Most of the youth betook themselves to mechanick or other illiberal employments 1853 Ruskin Stones Ven. II. vi. There should not be a trenchant distinction of employment, as between men of liberal and illiberal profession 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) V. 79 No man will be allowed to exercise any illiberal occupation transf. 1697 Dryden Virgil. Georgics (1698) 604 Serpents have many loathsome gifts given unto them: as illiberal, perfidious, treacherous and such like.

2. Not generous in respect to the opinions, rights, or liberty of others; narrow minded, bigoted, opposed to liberal principles in ecclesiastical, political or commercial relations a 1690 Chas. I (J.), The charity of most men is grown so cold and their religion so illiberal, that they will not Eikon. No. 1 3 The affinity between all works which are benefited to mankind is much more than the illiberal arrogance of Scholars will allow 1703 Rowe Ulysses V. i. 62 Popery of the most bigotted and illiberal kind 1866 Felton Inc. & Mod. Lect. II. x. 455 The unwise and illiberal policy of the great Powers from 1815 to 1848 1871 Daily Telegraph 13 Jan. 2/1 We cannot think that any court would put so illiberal a construction upon such a

3. Not free or generous in giving; stingy

1623 Cockeram, Illiberall, sordidous, base. 1655 Woodward Nat. Hist. Earth (1701) 247 With the most illiberal Nourishment with its own sparing, or illiberal Hand 1752 Mason Heretic I. 8 Nor spit to win Favour, unless title too free a course Than with a thrifty and illiberal hand To circumscribe its channel

4. Comb., as illiberal-minded

1806 Sinclair Statistics I. 21 His impetuous illiberal minded wife

B sb (nonce use, from a.) One who is not liberal in opinions, etc.; one who is opposed to liberalism in politics 1818 Lady Morgan Italy (1821) I. 183 They all turn more Jansenists than ever, into public despair at the fund of Illiberals 1827 Hist. Europe in Ann. Reg. 112 I may be a Tory and an Illiberal 1831 Ruskin Lett. (1933) I. 8, I am a confirmed Illiberal, but it does not follow that I must be a Conservative.

Hence Illi beralism, Illi beralness, illiberality, illiberal principles 1727 Bailey, vol. II. Illiberalness, Niggardliness, Unboundfulness 1828 Memoirs of Sugrue 1830 in Spirit Metropol. Concerns Press (1840) II. 170 Now and corruption, no real illiberalism will be tolerated in any administration whatever 1851 Blackw. Mag. LXIX. 147 The now falsified prophecies of Illiberalism 1865 Nat. Rev. II. Mar. 276 This slough of intolerance, and illiberalism and servility

Illiberality (ilibĕra'liti), [a F. illibéralité (14th c., ad L. illiberalitat-em see prec. and -ITY.] The quality of being illiberal (in the various senses of the adj.) meanness, uncharitableness, niggardliness, stinginess 1581 Mulcaster Positions xxxiv (1887) 206 To be discerned from illiberalitie in trade. 1589 Puttenham Pref. Poesie I. xx. (Arb.) 57 Pusillanimitie and illiberalitie, or greater vices in a Prince then to commit to passion 1607 Bacon Ess., Parents & Children (Arb.) 474 The illiberalitie of Parentes in allowe nice towardes their Children is an harmefull errour 1777 Sheridan Schools Prof. There will always be found a pettifogging and illiberality in their conduct 1831 Brewster Newton (1855) I. v. 100 The illiberality of England to her scientific institutions

Illiberalize (ilibĕ'ralaiz, v. [f Illiberal a. + -IZE.] trans. To render illiberal

1807 W. Taylor in Ann. Rev. V. 568 It illiberalizes science 1840 Mitt. Hits & Dis., Coleridge (1859) I. 404 One who is to be studied by Liberals lest he should illiberalize the minds of the rising generation

Illiberally (ilibĕ'rali), adv. [f Illiberal a. + -LY2.] In an illiberal manner see the adj

c 1611 Chapman Iliad III. 378 There is no God given more illiberally To those that waive thee than thy self. 1695 Dessy Our Piety viv. P. 2 One that had been bountiful only upon surprize and incogitancy, illiberally retracts and contradicts his original design 1733 Chesterf. Lett. (1792) IV. receive my Nineteen, in age at which most of your countrymen are illiberally getting drunk in Port at the University 1828 Hallam Mid. Ages (1872) I. 498 The spirit of their administration was not illiberally exclusive

+Illiceitate, a. Obs. rare—1 [f. IL-2 + LICENTIATE.] Unlicensed

a 1659 Lady Alimony I. in Alvb, Tom Surly Sir, your design? Hen To nurse your Design, illicentiate Play wright

+ Illicentious, a. Obs. rare—1 Done without license, unlawful, illegal 1622 Malynes Anc. Law Merch. 461 Derogating many illicentious customes which grew by perverseness and corruptions of nations

Illicit (ilĭ'sit, ili-), a. Also 7 -ite [a F. illicite (14th c.), ad L. illicitus, f. il- (IL-1) + licitus pa. pple of licēre to be allowed.] Not authorized or allowed, improper, irregular, esp. not sanctioned by law, rule, or custom, unlawful, forbidden a 1652 J. Smith Old Pros. viii. 190 To purge and reform our breasts and all the illicit actions and motions there 1664 H. More Myst. Iniq. 274 Corrupting Christianity with the illicite Doctrines and practices of Idolatry 1748 Anson's Voy. I. ix. 85 The illicit commerce carried on to the river of Plate. 1806 Sir H. Inter. in Lond. (ed. 3) II. 248, I am the off spring of illicit love 1815 Europ. Mag. LXVIII. 134 Between the 6th and 7th hours are formed two illicit halls. 1845 M. Cullom Travelling II. x. (1849) 365 Illicit distillation is but little prevalent 1866 Geo. Eliot Felix Holt v. (1868) 25 Interested in stories of illicit passion

b Of an agent That does something illegal

1884 Law Times Rep. LV. 111. 5 [This] enabled the whole manufacture to compete successfully with the further c Logic. Illicit process that form of syllogistic fallacy in which a term not distributed in the premises is distributed in the conclusion

1827 Whately Logic 88 To infer a universal conclusion from a particular minor premiss would be an illicit process of the minor 1866 Fowler Inductive Logic (1870) 146 The following is called illicit process of the major or minor, according as the term illegitimately distributed in the conclusion is the major or minor term

Hence Illi citly adv., in an illicit manner

Illicitness, unlawfulness (Todd, 1818)

1812 J. Henry Camp. agst. Quebec 221 Captain Smith skulked further thickets 1856 Dana Ergot. Anthr. iii. 83 And they imbrute the illicitly and unpleasantly the life of mind 1873 Hist. South Carolina 225 A more profitable trade was illicitly carried on with the Spanish settlements

+ Illi cium. Obs. [a. F. illicium (1549) = L. ILLEX.] = ILLEX Hence +Illi citously adv., unlawfully

1611 Cotgr., Illicitz, illicitously unlawfull Illicitement, illicitously, unlawfully 1694 Phot. Hart Kabbala III. 88 That sort of Lottery is illicious

+ Illigate, v. Obs. rare [f. IL-1 + ligat-us, pa. ppl. stem of litigare to litter see next] trans. To bind or fetter, to bind with a spell

1598 Barckley Felic. Man III. 227 There were two thus illigated for three years space, and then reconciled, and lived very honestly

+ Illigation. Obs. rare. [ad. L. illigation-em n. of action from illigare to fetter entangle f. il- (IL-1) + ligare to bind.] Entanglement 1627–77 Feltham Resolves II. xxxi. 258 Not apprehending the hardship of others, by reason of the Reckonings and Illigations of pleasure. 1656 Jackson Comment. Creed II. 9. in marriages, or not uniting + Illi ghten, v. Obs. [appr. an alteration of Anglian ġelihtan, ġelihtnian, etc., f. il- (IL-1) + lihtan to illuminate, enlighten lit and fig.] = ENLIGHTEN 1736 q.

1555 J. Pointon in Coverdale Lett. Martyrs (1564) 241 The knowledge of God which hath illightned your myndes with the true knowledge of Christ 1592 Treat. Christ's Lib. II. Addr. Wit may be termed the worldes goggle eyde Counsaile which illightning all darknes in vayne. 1641 Hyde Treat. Sacraments 52 This was the worke of grace, being, illightned himselfe to illighten others. 1647 Trap Comm. Col. iv. 13 A Minister must be like the Sun that illightneth all in and about it 1693 (title) Heaven Is Not Far Off (ed. 2) 25 The understanding being illightned to see this Christ

Hence + Illi ghtened ppl. a., +Illi ghtening vbl. sb., also + Illi ghtener, an enlightener 1647 Sanderson Serm. (1689) 1. 1 Be illightned to rule discovers clearer the dissuing shewes of Sense 1649 Sir W. Mure True Conformist 238 Illightened eyes did know the true God 1649 Trapp Comm. Col. iv. 13 The illightner of antiquity 1656 Jenks Little Christ. 93 For the illightning of any mind though never so dull

Illimitability (ilimitabi'liti) [f next + -ITY.] The quality of being illimitable; unlimitedness, boundlessness

1841 Blackw. Mag. I. 62 The first and strongest impulses and the strongest wonderings, though I could feign it, the idea of illimitability. 1880 Veitch Dialectics Method 1. introd. 137 To know one's own limit is to know one's own illimitability Illimitable (ilimitabl), a. (sb.) [f. IL-2 + LIMITABLE. Cf. F. illimitable.] That cannot be limited or bounded, having no determinable limits, limitless, boundless.

1596 Spenser Hymn Heav. Love 57 The heauenly illimitable hight 1634 W. Habington Castara (1640) 108, I might scorne to prescribe Lawes to what is illimit able 1755 Pope Odyss. XX. 75 Lost thro the void illimitable space 1805 Foster Ess. II. 117 The attempt to comprehend the illimitable soul 1840 Carlyle Heroes I. (1841) 13 This huge illimitable whirlwind of Force which convulses us here 1872 Stephen Europ. Thought (1894) 75 An illimitable appetite.

B sb. That which is illimitable, an illimitable thing

1884 Browning Jocoseria (Ult. culture) 15 Cannot from out and off the illimitable 1895 Pall Mall Monthly Mag. 677, I see only unbounded space and indefinite time, and within those illimitables a finite world

Illimitableness [f prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being illimitable, boundlessness

1845 Chr. Remembr., Hand in Medley I. 21 (1858) I. 155 Restless illimitableness dismays the age 1866 Sp. Hearer 17 Nov. 128/2 When we apply the epithet infinite to space or time, this notion of perfection changes into that of illimitableness

Illimitably (ilimitabli), adv. [f as prec. + -LY2.] In an illimitable manner; without limitation or possibility of limit

1755 Johnson Illimitably 1798 Hist. in Ann. Reg. 88 These [projects] were illimitably extensive 1866 Sp. Hearer 17 Nov. 128/2 Degrees of infinity, not of magnitudes each of which is illimitably large or small 1879 J. Stephen Johnson 96 He talked and drank illimitably

+ Illi mitate, a. Obs. [ad. L. illimitat-us, f. il- (IL-2) + limitāre to limit, limit see LIMIT.] Unlimited, unbounded

1602 Fitzherb. Tenderlet 11 Also under the great and clame a generall and absolute power indefinite & illimitate over all men 1604 J. Wilkes Tanners v. B 4, 137 An illimitate and boundlesse act 1640 R. Baker Model of Moderate Gov. (1841) 11 Is not that the power of all true kings, to absolute and illimitate

Illimitation (ilimitē'shən) rare [IL-2 + LIMITATION, after limitation.] The condition or fact of being unlimited, freedom from limitation

1610 B. Rich Ipl. Interrogatories 23 Here Popes supremacy, infallibility, illimitation 1836 T. Sw. Hamilton Metaph. (1877) II. xxxviii. 314 Of the two supposed opposites, the one is that of Unconditional or Absolute Limitation, the other that of Unconditional or Infinite Illimitation

Illimited (ilimited), a. [f. IL-2 + LIMITED.] Not limited, unlimited; unbounded; unrestrained

1602 Fitzherb. Surveying 1. The unstable covetousness and illimited exercise hereof 1645 J. Evans Serm. 28 agst. Pope 13 Some plead for an illimited toleration of all Religions 1738 W. Wilson D. Kelson's Trial & Sufferings 318 The King was so illegal, to take away an illimited oath 1827 Aikman Hist. Scot. III. iv. 467 The illimited power of the bishops 1855 Irving Lett. & Sufferings II. Human wrath may be limited, or set bounds

Hence Illi mitedly adv., unlimitedly, in boundlessly Illi mitedness, the quality of being illimited, unlimited quality or degree a 1614 Donne Biathanatos (1644) 46 Thus natural Law is Self-preservation doth not necessarily bind us to unjustly and illimitedly bindes, but that [etc.] 1647 Clarke Jer. Ach. viii. § 86 The illustrious and illimitedness of his Commission 1720 Lett. Scots Affairs 11 Such Motives exist in the best manner illimitedly and infinitely 1843 Carlyle Hist. Lit. (1872) 11. 368 If the New Faith in the illimitedness of our limited Faculties

Illination, etron form of Illumion

+ Illine, v. Obs. rare [f. I illin-ere (IL-1) + linĕre to smear.] Of obs. I illinire (Cotgr.) trans. To smear, besmear

1615 Crooke Body of Man 1. 1 We will only hereat whereunto the passage is illined or smeared + Illi neal, a. Obs. rare [f. IL-2 + LINEAL.] Not lineal, out of line.

1640 Ward Simple Cobler 9 Clergymens unsound in the foundations, illineall in their superstructures

+ Illing, vbl. sb. Obs. rare [f. IL- + -ING1.] = Evil doing injuring harming, speaking ill Being or becoming ill illness

c 1200 Ormulum 4918 His fowl speech here bitre, rakc wid illing, tetocrāh and teriteh him c 1575 Davy Pricke 62 (1587) 260 Of all other that have spoken with English men in illing, & vnlawfull matters in time past 1579 Dudley Bulk IV. 91 To prevent her own Heart-illing.

Illination (ilinē'shən) Also erron. ilation [n. of action from I illinire (Columella, Pliny), late variant of illinĕre to smear: see ILLINE.]

1. The smearing or rubbing, in or on, of ointment liniment, or the like. b. concr. That which is smeared or rubbed in 1682 T. Gale's Mod. Compl. Surg. 4 Upon the application or illination of any fat thing, the cruely I visual 1822 Sir A. Carlisle's Med. Lect. in Lancet (1823) I. 67 Burnt alum dipped in the oil continues to be worn, after fresh illinations, till a cure is obtained

2. Techn. = ILLUMINATION 2. calcining process, in which metals were 'anointed' with certain solutions see quot 1678) Obs. b. concr. A thin crust of extraneous matter formed on the surface of metals hence a coating of foreign matter on other substances 1678 Salmon Lond. Dispt. 111. 834 Patented Oil of tin which is done by illination, as either by Antimony, Amalgamation, Cementation Fumation or Illination Ibid., By illination or Anointing, which is done by mixing, plates of Metal with the Solution of Sal Nitre Sal Armoniack, Sal Gem, or Common salt 1683 Lemery Treat. Min. 21 There are other ways of illuminations of Metals viz by Limation, or broad cloth 1 Fumacious Hist. ed. 2) I. 165 [Sobesmuire] is sometimes disguised by a thin crust of illination of black manganese 1811 Pinkerton Petral I. 246 Leaving on broad cloth 1 Fumacious illination

Illipsis, erron for ILLISIS

1749 Lond. Hosp. Acad. I. 171 An Illipsis will often help the Rhythmus by contraction, two Syllables into one, e. gr. Tom' for te'ig, do not

+ Illiquated, ppl. a. Obs. rare—0 [f. I illiquat-us, pa. ppl. of illiquare to flow into, f. il-

(IL-1 + liquare to melt liquari to be liquid, to flow] Melted down (Bailey vol II, 1747)

†Illiqua tion Chem Obs [ad I type illiquātion, -um*, f. il (IL-1) + liquatio melting, LIQUATION] The melting or infusing of one substance into another

1612 WOODALL Surg Mate Wks (1653) 271 Illiquation is the common ruin of terrene bodies with Metalline ones of Lapis calaminaris with cuprum) but so as each retains his own substance 1658 [see ILLIQUATE v.] Ibid [see Indocta Materia, Illiquation, in Infusion, dry things into liquid

† Illi quefact, v Obs [f I illiquefact-us melted liquified f. il IL-1 + liquefactus liquefied] trans To liquify to melt

1599 A M tr Gabelhouer's Fr Hospitalle 257 b Lake Terebinthine and illiquifacted. Hoggeseace liquefye them together 1669 J DAVIES Duty Rooms (1878) 33 (D) See how the wax is dissolved and illiquefacted by the Sun-beams, which also illiquefact the clothes [sic]

Illiquid (ilkwid) ill- a Law [f IL-2 + LIQUID (f. Obs I illiquid-us)] Of a right, debt, or claim Not clear or manifest, not ascertained and constituted either by a written obligation or by a decree of a court

1694 J D FOUNTAINHALL in M P Brown Suppl Decis Cur Sess (1826) IV 207 That in such illiquid rights, where they had not obtained decreet, as also in a hard to put an estimate and value thereon 1880 MUIRHEAD Gaius II § 51 A sort of interjacent limitation, commonly called taxation, following on an illiquid claim 1884 Law Times Rep LI 584/2 To ascertain whether the claim was liquid or illiquid

† Illish, a rare [f IL-1 + ISH] Somewhat ill or unwell, indisposed

1657 BOOK Pest Broads (1903) 77 They are not sick but are illish or not well 1679 Trial of White & Other Feasts 21 I saw you in the afternoon when you were a little illish

Illision (ilʌiʒən) Now rare [ad L. illīsion-em n. of action f. illīdere to strike or dash against] The action of striking against something

1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor 1055 Clearchus having set thus downe that the vigour and brimstuffe of things, is the illision and smiting of one by another 1658 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep vii 348 Aristotle affirmeth this sound (humming, of bees) to be made by the illision of air moved upon upon a pellis to be made resounding about the precinct or portion of liquid their body 1855 MAYNE Expos Lex Illision illision

† Illi te, v Obs rare [f L illit-, ppl stem of illinere ILLINE] trans To smear, anoint

1657 TOMLINSON Renou's Disp 224 Debates black skins if diluted with Oxycalk 1657 Phys Dict Illited, anointed

† Illiteracy (ilitĕrăsi) [f ILLITERATE, -ACY] The quality or condition of being illiterate, ignorance of letters, unlearnedness, absence of education, esp inability to read and write

1660 S TUCKNEY Ancilla Admon Wks (1679) 222 This have moved up Illiteracy itself 1774 WESLEY Hist Eng Po III 1779 II 281 To reform the illiteracy of the clergy 1782 Mod Universal Hist I 84 The illiteracy of Mahomet made it necessary for him to find some more learned associate 1880 S C BARTON Handlist Pol Quest 44 That illiterate voters are induced to plead illiteracy so that the ballot may know who they vote 1888 Pall Mall Gaz 1 Sept 7 Comparative illiteracy is tested by marks made in a column on the registers [mod]

b An error due to want of learning

1725 POPE Mart Scri (1961) 3 The many blunders and illiteracies of the best public hist [this w.]

Illiteral illiteral, ill , a rare [f IL-2 + LITERAL] Not literal

1765 B DOMVILLE Lucian on Dance 3 (D) A translation most of all unexact and illiteral

Illiterate (ilitĕrĕt, -ēt a 2, sb) Also 6 illiterato, 6–7 illiterat, 7 illiterate [ad L illiterāt-us (also CORNELIUS apud Gellium) unlettered, unwritten, f. IL- (IL-2) + litterātus lit f furnished with letters learned, liberally educated (see LITERATE)]

1 a Of persons Ignorant of letters or literature, without book learning or education, unlettered, unlearned spec in reference to census returns, voting by ballot papers, etc) Unable to read, rude totally illiterate

1556 UDALL Erasm Apoph 153 No more can Judges illiterate Doctors on matter 1635 SANDYS Ovid's Met (ed 5) 5 Neither was he illiterate for he was, as he would often profess a scholar to our Philip Sidney and there are of his own extant some fragments at this Point 1670 W CLARKE Nature 29 Every illiterate person talks of Brimstone in Thunder 1748 CHESTERF Lett (1792) II cli 48 The word illiterate is in common acceptation, means a man who is ignorant of the two languages (Greek and Latin) 1826 F INGLIS Tarbolton 11 On our The illiterate inhabitants of Golden ones unto the not and learning, of Greece and Rome 1881 Echo 1 Feb 1 Did the illiterate voter appear rather prominently in the proceedings

b Of things Characterized by or showing ignorance of letters or absence of learning or education, unlearned, unpolished

1597 A M tr Gentleman's Ex Chirurg 6 b, The harshness of my illiterate and rude style 1621 BURTON Anat Mel I II III xv (1651) 134 The Cyrill ian with an illiterate and barbarous Study 1788 JOHNSON Diet vol II 75 The disobedience of an illiterate education 1870 MAX MULLER Sc Relig (1873) 10 The crowd of books or illiterate religions

2 In sense of L illitteratus Unfurnished with letters, not written upon not expressed in words, unwritten, inarticulate rare

1645 MILTON Reform (1851) 58 Confidently to those who have read good bookes, and to those whose reason is not an illiterate booke to themselves I appeale 1715 ET CAT Pharmacy II 68 If Gospel Counsel we refuse, And our Illiterate Sorrows only bear 1888 E PEACOCK in Cath Hermit 18 Aug 11 Some few old bells are without any inscription but these illiterate bells are very rare

B sb An illiterate, unlearned, or uneducated person, spec (in reference to census or polling returns etc), a person unable to read

1648 WITHER Brief Remonst v 1747 Not as a weakling, or illiterate 1710 Spectator No 166 ¶ 2 There is no manner of Competition between a Man of Letters and an Illiterate 1865 Pall Mall G 23 Sept 4 1 We have been told that the intelligent tests we have introduced into our army will exclude from it the dashing illiterates whose stout hearts and strong thews and sinews made it what it was under the Duke 1883 Athenæum 3 Feb 152 2 Regarding the number of 'cannot reads' Iowa is the 'banner State,' having, out of its total population but 2 4 per cent of illiterates 1893 Times 8 Aug 7/3 (Hel) stad that in Ireland the illiterates were 21 per cent of the electors

† Illi terated, a Obs [f as prec + -ED1] = prec

1589 NASHE Pref Greene's Menaphon A iij b, Our unexperienced and illiterated Pumies 1621 VENNER Tobacco in Baths of Bathe (1650) 405 Apothecaries and other basse illiterated Empyrickes

Illi terately, adv [f ILLITERATE + -LY2] In an illiterate unlettered, or unlearned manner

1684 N S Crit Eng Dict Bible in 21 Those things which with the Jews he had passed, and illiterately contented 1743 SWIFT To John Pococke 7 To instead square illiterately 1 5 Among the learned and learned full as they

Illiterateness [f as prec + -NESS] The quality or condition of being illiterate, want of learning or education illiteracy

1631 R BYFIELD Doctr Sabb 4 The illiterateness and vanity of the Little 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) IV xxix 180 The extreme illiterateness and imbecility of this mind are surprising 1865 KINGSLEY Water xxi Childish illiterateness, and want of education in the most ordinary knowledge of nature

Illiteratism (ilitĕrătiz'm [f ILLITERATE, after literature (f. illitteratus Latter)] Want of learning, illiteracy, illiteracy

1592 R D Hypomnemata 1885 The cause doth proceed from ignorance, and hath his beginning from illiteratism 1602 WARNER Alb Eng I pat (1612) 39 The Obstinacie and illiteratism of the shallow people 1726 ANTHON Horace, on Art Poet The more usual cause of the Depravation are Illiteratism or Inability for the Discharge of that Sacred Function, Inchapon (ed) 1844 S R MAITLAND Church in Dark Ages Such is the nature of literature or illiteracy would have been highly interesting 1866 Pall Mall G 11 May 4 It cannot efface his antecedents in a respectable literature

† Illi tered, a Obs rare—1 [f illiterate with Eng suffix -ed, as in lettered] Illiterate, unlettered

1612 J TAYLOR Comm Letters 9 Rude and illitered men

† Illi tion Obs [ad L type illītion-em*, n of action f. illinere ILLINE] Smearing anointing

1657 TOMLINSON Renou's Disp 118 To drink or illition it confers against the stings of Scorpions 1855 MAYNE Illitio the term for the process of anointing, illition

Illi-judge v [see ILL a] = next

Ill-judged (ildʒd'd) see ILL III, a Done without judgement injudicious unwise

1727 GAUDEN Perils Mist Pref 17 2 ..... ph Nor do I intend to make his several sheets, ill judged Superfluity 1769 Junius Lett XXXV 158 I copy, every ill judged compliment 1820 W IRVING Sketch B (1880) 4 Recommending to an ungrateful world her ill judged 1828 Fraser's Hist Scot (1864) I 53 An ill judged economy

† Ill-ju dging, a [f ILL adv + judging, participle of JUDGE v] Judging, unwisely or maliciously

1715 WOOLASTON Gospel Conf Wks (1738) II 46 Injurious, slighful, and ill judging, Jews 1725 DE FOE Obsn XVIII 47 Thy ill judging, thoughts thy brave disgrace

2 Judging faultily or mistakenly, uncritical injudicious

1684 ROSCOMMON Prospect of Death 9 To their ill Judging Pallate sweet 1717 POPE Lett I 69 Our ill judging wives and daughters Mistake small beer for ratton waters 1858 MOZLEY Univ Sermons II xxxv 415 This noble people rejected with indignation the proposal of some ill judging orators

Ill-language, -lettered SEE ILL B

Ill-less, illess (ilʌles a 2, sb [f ILL sb + -LESS] Free from ill, having no evil designs, harmless, innocent

a 1670 SEARING Prodr Chr Faith 4 134 His most gentle, and generous illess nature, having no mind of such plots 1823 CRAIG Introit 110 62 The illess childe 1823 [see BEARD Jamie Hearing (1863) 2 Poor ill less creature]

Ill-living, -lyved SEE ILL B

† Ill-looked (ilʌlukt, a Obs Also 7 ill-lookt [f ILL a + LOOK sb + -ED2] Having an evil aspect or evil looks, ill looking, ugly (Chiefly of persons)

1636 MASSINGER Bashful Lover III, Ill looked devil, The spy thy bloody tongue 1722 DE FOE Col Jack (1840) 7 Vainly ill looked boy 1821 SCOTT Kenilw xxiv, A huge ill made and ill looked fellow

Ill-looking (ilʌlukiŋ a [f ILL a or adv + looking, pres pple of LOOK v] Of evil or repulsive appearance, ugly, the opposite of good looking (Chiefly of persons)

1633 JONSON Tale A Ill II 2, Son of a cat, ill looking hounds head 1725 DE FOE Eng wonder II xviii (1840) 101 Strange, ugly, ill looking fellows 1840 DICKENS Barn Rudge VII, She was not absolutely ill looking

Hence Ill-loo kingness

1796 COLERIDGE Lett (1895) 209 I laugh in the faces of gloom and ill lookingness

Ill luck, i ll-lu ck [ILL a 5 + LUCK sb] Bad or unfavourable luck, bad fortune, misfortune

1548 HALL Chron, Adw III 203 This good chaunce happed to kynge Edward, by the yll luck of kynge Henry 1598 SHAKS Merry W IV ii 70 Alas, sir John, we have had ill luck, we could never meete 1781 MAD D'ARBLAY Diary 14 Sept He had a run of ill luck 1791 'G GAM-MADGE' Ann Horizon IV (1890) 108 As ill luck would have it, the curb broke 1844 DISRAELI Coningsby III iv, Who always lamented his ill luck

attrib 1634 MILTON Comus 845 Helping all urchin blasts, and ill luck signs

Ill-mannered (ilmʌnəd), a [f ILL a + MANNER sb + -ED2] Having or showing bad manners, unmannerly, rude (spec, practice, their actions, etc.)

1422 tr Secreta Secret, Poor Polit (E E T S) 226 Who that haue the fleshe of the brestis tyrll and dry bene ille vmanerde and bene ikyend to apys 1573 SANSOM Honors Reversed (1576) 178 A faire young man, but yll mannered 1623 MASSINGER Bondman v iii, Our Arts foul mouthed Ill mannered too 1881 DAVIES Span Friar v iii, Curb your ill mannered zeal 1889 Daily News 20 May 5/2 Our Royal family are getting a little tired of the well meant, but at the same time, ill mannered, homage of well dressed crowds

Hence I ll-ma nneredly adv, in an unmannerly way, rudely Also I ll-ma nnerly a, unmannerly

1663 PEPYS Diary 21 May, He wrote that I ever said was that that was insolently or ill mannerdly spoken 1890 J H NEWMAN Lett (1891) I 4 6 Then I bethought myself, 'How ill mannerly'

Ill-meaning, -minded, ctc see ILL B

Ill nature, i ll-na ture [ILL a + NATURE] Malevolent disposition or character, unkindly feeling, churlishness, spitefulness

1692 WOOD Life & Times (O H S) III 465 He was told that a great deal of ill nature was expressed in my book 1704 SWIFT Tub Apol, If good and ill nature equally operated on mankind 1861 DICKENS Cloud Treas I ii, Why need we flatter ill nature with each other

Ill-natured (ilʌnēitĕd), a [f prec + -ED2] † Of evil or bad nature or character, malignant Obs

1645 LITHGOW Good Ch in bad I 1841) 32 Must the earth be sad, because some ill natured wight is sullen? 1665 NEEDHAM Medela Medic 261 A good humor drawn out of the Bodie by common, ill natured Purgers 1775 NOLAN in Phil Trans LVI 413 If the wound be inflamed and the edges of it looked thick and ill natured 1788 POTT Chirurg Works II 449 An ill natured fungus

2 Of evil disposition, having or showing malevolent character or feeling unkindly, churlish, spiteful Of persons, their actions etc

1635-56 COWLEY Davideis I 560 An cruel Father, whose ill natural Rage Neither thy Wrath, nor Marriage can assuage 1668 DRYDEN Sir Mart Mar III ii, Is he so ignorant and ill natured as not would have exposed them to contempt and ruin 1704 J PHILIPS Blenheim Wks (1720) I 5 My loud Reproaches to the ill natured, and always very illnatured 1865 MISS MULOCK Chas van's Mistake v 111 He would be filled, not with only bad and good, but with an intermediate class which is merely ill natured 1869 TROLLOPE He Knew IX xvi 126 People say such ill natured things

b Irritable in temper, peevish cross Sc

1823-80 JAMIESON Sc, He has every kind heart, but (O what is that to live with, he is so ill natured 1843 BROWN Sc Jrnyds Mare 80 I am ill natured when I think that you had some hand in driving my best friend from the house in which she was born and bred

Hence I ll-na turedly adv, in an ill natured manner, I ll-na turedness (rare), churlishness

1654 WHITLOCK Zootomia 486 That Snake hath some sparring ill naturedness 1683 WITHERS (DK Buckhn) Ars Separandi 1 ed 4) 7 Pliny, For that he naturedly done of em 1865 Comh Mag Oct 404 After ill they may not mean them ill naturedly

Illness (ilnĕs) [f ILL a + -NESS] The quality or condition of being ill (in various senses)

† 1 Bad moral quality, condition, or character, wickedness, depravity, evil conduct, badness Obs

c 1500 Melusine 261 That we were on enuye, to the illnesse & dysobedyence of Claude ayenst our soueraygne lord natural, your father 1548 HALL Chron Hen VIII 148 When we doe ill, we shall receiue our rewarde for our illnes 1605 SHAKS Macb I v 21 Thou Art not without Ambition, but without The illnesse should attend it 1690 NORRIS Theoretikus (1694) I 81 Besides its own proper illness, its farther to be detested upon the Scandal of its Neighbour 1718 PRIDEAUX Connect O & N Test I 78 The condemning of the whole Jewish State by the illness of his Conduct.

† 2 Unpleasantness, disagreeableness, troublesomeness, hurtfulness, noxiousness, badness Obs

1595 MAYNARDE Drakes Voy (Hakluyt Soc) 56 Warned with the illnes of the ways 1606 HOMAN Dut Voy Incan senatus By reason of their vnaptnes and illnesse of sound, when two vowels or letters can not be pronounced 1690 LOCKE Hum Und II xxi (1695) 14 By the darkness of the Night, or illness of the Weather 1718 BLACKLEY Treat Gout Italy 12 Apr, Wks 1871 IV 593 Land flat, marshy, hardly inhabited for the illness of the air

3 Bad or unhealthy condition of the body (or, formerly, of some part of it), the condition of being ill (ILL n 8), disease, ailment, sickness, malady Also with an and pl The only current modern sense, badness being now used in the other senses 1689 90 LEMUEL Use, Health & Long Life Wks 1731 I 184 Rue is of excellent Use for all Illness of the Stomach 1698 — Mem 1872-79 (R) While his illness lasted and the event was doubtful, all was in suspence 1703 ROWE Fair Penit I ii 323 They told me you had felt some sudden Illness, Which ere you sought 1726 COMBER Duel & F I xiii 392 From the indolency of the weather and the fatigue of the journey, he soon contracted a slow illness 1838 LOCKHART Scott Iaxv, In the family circle, Sir Walter seldom spoke of his illness at all 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) III 260 Athletes are liable to most dangerous illnesses if they depart from their customary regimen

† Illo cable, a Obs rare⁻⁰ [ad L illocabil-is that cannot be disposed of in marriage, f il (IL-) + locāre to give in marriage, to let, hire. SEE -ABLE] That cannot be hired or placed out' (Bailey 1721)

Illocal (ilō kăl, ill-), a [ad late L illocal-is, f il (IL-) + locālis LOCAL] 1 Not local, having no place or location in space 1601 DEACON & WALKER Spirits & Devils 93 they are not most simple, most infinite, illocal, nor omnipotent powers 1678 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I v 776 It is supposed to be finite and particular Beings to be thus illocal and immoveable 1893 FAIRBAIRN Christ in Mod Theol III iii 453 His miraculous power to illocal and transmit elsewhere

† 2 Out of place, misplaced Obs nonce use 1804 ANNA SEWARD Lett (1811) VI 180 Not to be considered as impertinent, or ill I may be allowed to coin a word, which is lawfully compounded illocal

Hence Illo cally adv, in an illocal manner, without reference to place or location 1678 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I v 776 It is individually, and unmultiplically, and illocally, there present with that which is naturally divisible, and multiplicable, and in a place.

Illocality (ilōkă lĭtĭ [f ILLOCAL + -ITY] The quality or condition of being illocal 1678 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I v 783 The Fourth and Last Objection, against Incorporeal and Unextended Substance, is from that Illocality, and Immobility, (which will follow thereupon,) of Humane Souls 1708-74 HUTCHESON Th Nat (1850) I 210 The notion of Illocality is as bad as old as Aristotle 1857-8 SEARS Athan II xiii (1859) 178 The early Lutheran divines describe the Lord's post resurrection body as endowed with the qualities of 'ubiquitability, invisibility, and illocality

Illo comotive, a nonce wd [Sec IL-] Not locomotive, not moving readily 1835 New Monthly Mag XLIV 364 To cast the sloughs of this expensive and illocomotive humanity, and find yourself afloat with all the necessary apparatus of life

Illogic (ilŏ gĭk, ill-) [f IL- + LOGIC, after next] The opposite or reverse of logic, want of logic, illogicalness 1896 J SKELTON Table Talk 88 An article pervaded by the fervid illogic of Mr Kingsley's mind 1887 Pall Mall G 10 Apr 4 There is one delicious bit of logic—or rather illogic—in this morning's choice 1889 Nat Ref 7 Dec 3 The illogic of the official position is clear

Illogical (ilŏ gĭkăl, ill-), a [f IL- + LOGICAL.] Not logical, devoid of or contrary to logic, ignorant or neglectful of the principles of sound reasoning 1588 FRANCIS Lawyers Log I xii 56 b, Illogicall lawyers who thinke it a fruitles point of superfluous curiositie to understand the words of a mans owne profession 1662 COWLEY Verses & Ess, Shortness of Life (1669) 131 What is there among the actions of Beasts so illogical and repugnant to Reason? 1788 Northanger Ab Iaxii 111 Wks II 95 Though their principles were often unnatural, their conclusions were rarely illogical 1850 KINGSLEY Alt Locke I (1859) 14 So foolish and illogical antipathy

Illogicality (ilŏdʒĭkă lĭtĭ) pl -IES [f ILLOGICAL + -ITY] Illogical quality or character, want of logic or sound reasoning, illogicalness, unreasonableness Also with pl an instance of this 1830 Blackw Mag XXVIII 574 The utter illogicality of any argument drawn from their misery 1873 H SIDGWICK Methods of Ethics (1877) 306 The illogicalities and absurdities to be found in current opinions 1882 Athenæum 15 July 72/1 Another instance of unpardonable illogicality

Illogically (ilŏ gĭkălĭ), adv [f as prec + -LY] In an illogical manner, without reference or recourse to logical reasoning 1660 R COKE Justice Vindic 54 They most illogically confound the relations of agents and patients in the same subject 1752 WARBURTON Serm VIII Wks IX (R) He would infer, and not illogically on such a Principle that [etc] 1869 Spectator 4 July 801 This error was settled English fashion, illogically and stupidly, but finally

Illo gicalness [f as prec + -NESS] Illogical quality or character, illogicality 1639 HAMMOND Serm, Pastors Motto Wks 1684 IV 546 The illogicalness of their utterance 1683 O U Parish Churches not out entuled? We may plainly see the Illogicalness of his Arguing 1890 Daily News 10 Mar 5/3 That curious illogicalness which the rural magisterial mind is sometimes 'very cunning in'

Illogi cian, nonce wd [f IL- + LOGICIAN] The reverse of a logician, an illogical reasoner 1884 A BIRRELL Obiter Dicta Ser I 182 The baffled illogician, persecuted in one position, flies into another

Illogistry (ilŏdʒĭ stĭ) rare [f IL- + LOGIC + -ISTRY Cf F illogisme.] Illogicalness, illogicality 1886 Daily Tel 6 Apr 5/1 The measure is pervaded by one obvious illogistry

Ill-om (ĭlŏ mĕnd) a [partly with ill omen -MD-] Having or attended by bad omens, ill starred, inauspicious 1685 DRYDEN Thren Augustl 48 Soon as the ill-omened rumour reached his ear 1738 GRANGER Lamentus II 265 Which you extract from these ill-omened lips 1832 TAYLOR Eminent I i 11 Without the pouch stood the ill-omened travellers 1884 MRS C PRAED Zero 21 My blessing might be ill-omened

Illoricated (ilŏ rĭkĕ tĕd, ill-, a Zool [f IL- + LORICATED] Without a lorica or hard shell like covering So Illo ricate a 1861 J HOGG Microsc II iii 602 594 These nucleus, situated illoricated, which means shell less

Illote (ilō t, ill-), a [ad I illot-us] Unwashed 1845 LORD Randolph Spain I 62 The cut means sure to by which his own illote enemies Roman cemented

Illow, obs var of HILLO

1688 R HOLME Armoury II iv 266/2 We say ... Illow ill, illow, there to the Grey hound when we encourage him to follow their chase

Illoyal (ilŏ răl, ill-), a [ad I *illoyal-is

†b To cheat out of something' Obs
1541 Act 33 Hen VIII, c. 16 ¶ 1 Illuded and deceyved therof
†3 To cavade, elude (In quot 1820, absol.) Obs
In some instances there is much confusion with elude.
1553 Brende Q. Curtius v. (R) [He] cutt with his swoorde the cordes a sunder thereby either illuding, or else fulfilling the effect of the prophesie 1599 Broughtons Let. xiii. 44 One place in Plato excepted, which the Rastercul Father hath not ably illuded 1880 Morr in Black. Mag. VII. 6-7 The magic rainbow Reading, and illuding cave Hence Illu ded ppl. a.; Illu ding vbl. sb. and ppl. a.
1547 Parliament Hen. VIII in Lamont Hist. A. (1878) III. 70 To the great Displeasure, illudying, and scoffying of our Subjects 1577 Hanson Gold. Epist. 79 Causing no other credite to it than as a vision or illuding suggestion 1610 Healey St. Aug. Citie of God (R) I sposse the time in some commendations of the Labours of illuded antiquitie 1656 Lorimer Good and Dec. vii. 140 An illuding and mocking of them 1745 Watson Lives. Malach. 185 Ill-worldliness stocks and distrusts, talks, trains, alarms The illuded wise 1887 Athenæum 1 Dec. 744/1 They [women] conceive no unfavourable specimens of the illuding sex † Illu dent, a. Obs. rare. [ad L. illudent-em pres. pple. of illudĕre to Illude.] Deceiving, deceptive mocking 1431-50 Hoccleve's Compl. to Mother of God 1 Introd. 116 O poete so unpudent To thee the goddes prudente Minerue is studente?
Illu der rare [f. Illude + -er¹.] One who illudes, a mocker, deceiver 1550 Bale Apol. 51 O illuders of ye holy ascension. 1598 Sylvester Du Bartas II. iv. Colonies 1147 False Romes and such fond Deluders, (Their zealous Readers modest Illuders) Illume (ilū·m), v. [A poetical shortening of Illumine or enlume, al o used by Shaks. Perhaps influenced by L. allumĕre, rallumĕre (Or alumen, ralumen), also Or enlumier, of which the stem lumer came through * lumner from L. lūminare.]
Illumine almost exclusively poetic.
1 trans. To light up, to make shining or bright, to brighten 1602 Shaks. Ham. I. i. 37 When yond same Starre that's westward from the Pole Had made his course t'illume that part of Heauen Where now it burnes. 1708 Motteux tr. Du Périer's Voy. E. Indies II. 17 I ran out instead of Wax with a bit of Flame I had illum'd the goodly company and Dancing room 1791 Cowper Odyss. XVI. 42 Pallas from a golden lamp illum'd the Hall. Such as before them 1821 Shelley Adonais lxi. Second sun arose to illume, To burn, to illume 1875 Browning Aristoph. Acharn. 1. (ed. 2) 1. It illumes to a greater extent the atmosphere 2 transf. and fig. To 'light up' (the face), to smile, to enlighten or illuminate (the mind or understanding) a 1764 Lloyd Lullaby's Heirinade Poet Wks 1774 II. 2 Descend and with thy storm, and purest light My verse illume. 1795 Southey Joan of Arc I. 146 Before thoughts illume The enlightened glance 1798 Coleridge Sabbath 111 A small illumes The face of some. 1862 Neale Hymns Ant. Ch. (1866) 57 Till through frost clouded doors Thou shine and thy Disciples illume †3 To set alight, kindle Also fig. Obs. rare.
1728 Pope Dunc. III. 260 You sons he rears at ph-nix pyre higher Illumes their light, and sets their flames on fire 1744 Akenside Hymn to Sun. v. 36 She by this illumes the lamp of mid-noon, impulse of desire.
Hence Illumed (ilū·md), ppl. a. Also Illu mer, one who or that which illumes 1836 I. Taylor Hist. Enthusiasm (1857) 179 A weak illumed Landscape 1854 Keightley Mythol. Introduct. (ed. 3) 384 Colour being the illumer Illu ming, vbl. sb. [pres. vb.] Illumination 1838 Southern Poetic Tales 37 The lightnings flashed their dread illums Illuminable (ilū·minăb'l) a. [ad L. illuminabilis, f. illuminare see Illumine v. + -able.] Capable of being illumined or illuminated 1730-6 Bailey (folio), Illuminable, capable of being enlightened 1891 H. Jones Browning 253 A drench of utter dark not illuminable by white Illumina·do, obs. variant of illuminate, with Spe ding adds west Illuminati 1672 H. More Israel Kefph 17 Further there are some such known illumina·does that hold that Flying with another in a wife is not Adultery in them though it be so in others Illuminant (ilū·minănt, a. and sb. [ad L. illuminant-em pres. pple. of illuminare to Illuminate.] A adj. Lighting up, enlightening 1677 Gale Crt. Gentiles 493 Chrysostom stiles it illuminant illuminating the illuminant intellect 1886 H. Wonsfort Gosp. Divine Help xiii. 185 Types and sacrifices were a shadow of the good things to come and therefore not illuminant of them
B sb. That which illumines or illuminates, an illuminating or lighting body, substance, or agent, a source of illumination
In Webster 1864 noted as obs. but subsequently in common use, as a generic term for artificial agents of light.
1644 Digby Two Treat. i. viii. (1645) 129 The reflexion is made towards the perpendicular drawn from the illuminant to the superficies 1686 Boyle Usef. Nature Nat. ii. 117 The Bodies that are endow'd with it [light] as the Planets by participation from an Extraneal Illuminant 1875 Bloxam Chem. Lect. (ed. 2) 133 The illuminants or combustibles have consisted of animal or vegetable oils 1880 Pall Mall G. 20 Mar. 2/1 The incandescent lamp as a domestic illuminant 1895 Crockett Stickit Minister 250 He carried no illuminant with him except a few lucifer matches Illu minary, a. and sb. rare. [f. Illumine v., after luminary.]
A. adj. Tending to illumine, illuminative 1730-6 Bailey (folio), Illuminary, of or pertaining to Illuminating †B. sb. = Illuminator Obs.
1692 Lutterell Brief Rel. (1857) II. 608 The kings birth day ringing of bells, illuminaries and bonefires Illuminate (ilū·minĕt, ppl. a and sb. Also 6 7 at [ad L. illuminat-us, pa. pple of illuminare (see next).]
In use as pa. pple and ppl. adj. before the introduction of Illuminate v., of which it subsequently served as pa. pple., but was gradually displaced by illuminated.]
A pa. pple and adj.
1 Lighted up; made bright by light arch.
1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) I. 297 Ellede Dolon in the night but was illuminate of the sonne a fore other londes 1555 Eden Decades 265 Shorte nyghtes illuminate of the moone 1603 Holland Pluturch's Mor. 1218 He could see the earth no more, but the Isles all bright and illuminate with a mild and delectable 1733 Swift in Hist. Europe XVIII. 180 The illuminate lamb of the Most Holy Lords In a Child 108 This rustic seat With its ever-living golden canopy Of leaves illuminate with autumn fires.
† 2 Enlightened spiritually, divinely taught or inspired, in technical use, converted, baptized Sometimes contemptuous = professing to have the inner light Obs.
1535 Coverdale Two Sour Thes Quest Wks. 1888 I. 90 The holy penitent man Scripture, quha was illuminat be the spirit of prophetie 1579 Fulke tr. Cotton's Ans. Somn. Ded. Hj b, Impudent and slanderous reporte with Anabaptists the spirituall illuminate, Pelagians and other merrie makers 1594 Nashe Unfort Trav. (1897) 230 Hee may be counted illuminate and brotherly for a while, but none shall bee good people, pray for vs. 1613 Purchas Pilgrim. (1614) 480 The illuminate Elders of the Familists 1617 Minsheu Ductor I. v. 72 Clowders of ignorance, & illuminate women so they call whores entring Closters 1672 Cave Prim. Chr. II. xiii. 1075. 21 Speaking to the illuminate or Baptized 1677 Barrow Serm. (1686) III. xxiii. 238 The most illuminate Seraphims 3 Enlightened intellectually, well-informed, learned arch.
1579 Lyly Euphues Part I. 24 The illuminate doth teach out aquayntance his deuoute and blind enemies 1605 Bacon Adv. Learn I. vii. § 1 If they be illuminate by learning, which illuminateth Schismaticks (1686) 84 A sch. illuminate mind shall well see 4 = Illuminated 5.
1851 R. H. Stoddard Hymn to Flora Illuminate musical upon the meads bending, waves the sceptre of dewy beads B sb. A spiritually or intellectually enlightened person or one claiming to be so, one initiated into 'the mysteries' arch.
1600 W. Watson Quodlibets 200 That bold attempt of most such illuminates, and mad-setting in air under God Almighties kite. 1612 I. James Treat. Penit. 14 Says Jesuit takes upon him to be an illuminate, an intelligent and wise man 1683 Jevon Plain Dealer 62 I have spent Philosopher and Illuminate of his Age 1800 Lowell in Illinois Monthly Mag. 48 The illuminate too often looks upon the stern and floor of the Cabin 1818 Scott Heart Mid. by which to pull up the grimy tubers 1889 I. Hall in Nation (N. Y.) 478 Not one of those illuminates has been proof of even moderate scrutiny and weight.
Illuminate (ilū·minĕt), v. Also 6 illum, ylluminate, pa. t. (= illumnat [f. I illuminat-, ppl. stem of illuminare to throw light on, light up, brighten, set in a clear light, make illustrious, as med. L. to baptize, to kindle, to paint or limn in colours, f. In lumin light.]
1 trans. To light up; give light to 1538 Stewart Cron. S. P. II. 604 An field of burnest gold so bricht, That all the land illument with creit licht 1545 Joye Exp. Dan. (1561) 208 b Sonne, moone, & starres, & ylke to the seuen illuminatynge as well the infernyal phantesies as the supernyal phantesies 1667 Milton P. L. VII. 360 God made two great Lights, And set them in the firmament of Heav'n I illumin'ate the Earth 1718 Lady M. W. Montag. Let. to Mrs. Scott to Apr., The mosques [is] illuminated with a vast number of lamps. 1736 J. McUpo in Poems & Verses (1855 App. 28/2 It is illuminated with 44 windows. 1872 Yeats Calton Hist. Comm. 139 Most dwellings were illuminated by candles or torches of pinewood b To give light to, or remove blindness from the eyes; esp. fig. in religious sense.
1582 Bentley Mon. Matrones I. 209 Illuminate mine eyes, O good Lord, that I sleep not in darkenes 1596 Spenser Hymne Beautie 20 Doe then vouchsafe with thy Loue kindling light I illuminate my dim and dulled eyne. 1638 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (ed. 2) 74 He commands his senses eyes to be forbitted, but the poyson is more mer cifull, leaving, one eye a little illuminated 1672 Flavel Fount of Life x. 30 So sin with eyes clearly illuminated with the purest light 2 To shed spiritual light upon, to enlighten spiritually, in quot 1696, to bring the Gospel to (In most use commonly figurative from 1.)
1538 Starkey England II. i. 143 That hyt may plese Hym to yllumynate and lyght our hartys and myndys 1548-9 Vit. St. Cene Transl. It may that it may please thee, to illuminate all bishops, pastours, and ministers with true knowlege and vnderstanding of thy word 1611 Bible Heb. x. 32 Ye forme dayes, in which after ye were illuminated, ye endured a great fight of afflictions. a 1696 Hales Sin. & Ign. Ii. Ghost Tracts (1677) 13 Assuredly, to be illuminated signified to be Baptized 1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 271 St Basil illuminated the lower Armenia 1719 De Foe Crusoe II. vi, That He would further illuminate them with a beam of his heavenly grace 1875 Manning Vatican Council v. 99 Faith therefore illuminates us to know that God is the end for which we were made 3 To enlighten intellectually, to give knowledge or understanding to a 1566 J. Aubay tr. Bourgeman's Theat. World (1614) Ex cellent Doctors in this Universitie by whose good condition and doctrine all Europe is at this daye illuminated 1635 J. Hayward tr. Biondi's Banished Virg. 91 Disciplines illumin ate the intellect 1712 J. Boswell, Let. to Johnson 20 Feb., You have illuminated my mind, and relieved me from imaginary shackles of conscientious obligation. Mod. Testimonials, I cannot imagine a teacher more gifted to lead, encourage, and illuminate a body of young students 4 To throw light upon (a subject), to make luminous or clear, to elucidate Also absol.
1588 Reyn. Blas. Genetos To Gentlem Inner Temple Other autentique probations did illuminate and give in formation 1604 R. Cawdrey Table Alph., Illuminate, to inlighten, or make plaine 1640 Sanderson Sermons (1686) 17 Which Text might be illuminated with sundry Examples 1748 Watts (J.), My health is insufficient to amplify these remarks, and to illuminate the several pages with variety of examples 1791 Boswell Johnson Feb. an 1744, the various incidents [in Johnson's 'Life of Savage'] are illuminated throughout with so much philosophy 1851 D. Wilson Preh. Ann (1863) II. iv. 267 All combine to illuminate the obscure period of history
5 To make resplendent or illustrious, to shed a lustre upon 1602 Shaks. Ful. C. I. iii. 110 What trash is Rome? What is waxe For the base matter to illuminate [Or illumine?] Saville a thing as Cæsar 1632 Lithgow Trav. V. 197 The chiefest Gentry All which in each degree illuminat the soyle with grandure 1830 D'Israeli Chas. I III. iv. 49 Hampden was to have illuminated his genius this new order of government 1850 Robertson Serm. Ser. III. xii. 198 Self-sacrifice illuminated by love
6 To decorate profusely with lights, as a sign of festivity or in honour of some person or some event 1700 Land Gaz. No. 3842/1 The whole City being in an extraordinary manner illuminated 1717 tr. Lesage's Spy 164 The Streets of Lima be very seldom illuminated with Lanthorns 1863 Illustr. Lond. News 28 Mar. 248/2 The hotels and places of business were illuminated with transparencies and coloured lamps 7 To set alight, light, kindle rare 1658 Whitlocke Scotch Nat. 66 [It] will extinguish a touch that is lighted, and being immediately put in again, it will illuminate it 1849 Blackw. Mag. LXV. 722 The butler illuminated the antique Gothic chandelier b intr. (or refl.) To take fire, to kindle 1801 Mid. Jrnl. V. 283 The wood when it begins to illuminate, is mostly ignited in small particles 8 To decorate (an initial letter, word, or text, in a manuscript) with gold, silver, and brilliant colours, or with elaborate tracery and miniature designs, executed in colours; to adorn (a manuscript, inscription, text, &c.) with such decorative letters and miniatures † Formerly, also, to colour a map
(In this sense it has taken the place of Enlumine.) 1706 Phillips, To illuminate, to draw in Gold and Colours the beginning Letters and other Ornaments of a Book in many old Manuscript Books to by Colours upon Maps and Prints 1710 Brit. Mus. Cott. Ch. (O. H. S.) II. 47 Some of the Letters are illuminated 1778 Pennant Tour Scotland Dissert. II. (1775) I. 4 He was so fond of letters, that he did not shut an to blind and illuminate books 1864 Town Tr. Lond. II. 111 We had shall be the best which I choose, to illuminate and hang up in my bedroom
Hence Illu minating vbl. sb. and ppl. a., Illu minatingly adv., in an illuminating way 1561 Nixon Treat. Gall. 48, Without the illuminating and inspiration of the holye ghost 1632 Lithgow Trav. I. 41 The splendor of the illuminating Image 1643 Milton Divorce II. iii, the illuminating guidance of Gods Law 1780 Cowper Table Talk 732 To shed illuminating rays On every scene and subject it surveys 1854 Tomlinson Treat. Atmos. 127 Each point of the illuminating surface will project a light which will diminish in the inverse proportion of the squares of the distances 1866 Reade Cloister & H. II. 12 He had made several trials at illuminating 1891 Sat. Review 12 Mar. 311/1 Mr. Ruskin is now the more illuminatingly illuminatory for being recognized as the sentiment which no father should feel Illuminated (ilū·minĕtĕd), ppl. a. [f. Illuminate v. + -ed¹. cf. Illuminate a.] 1 Lighted up, made light, luminous, or resplendent 1664 Power Exp. Philos. II. 91 Such like illuminated eye as this we breathe in 1725 tr. Amyraldus on Bible I. 111 17 The Bosom or Stone . . if exposed a while to the illuminated Air, will imbibe the light 1831 Brewster Optics Introd. 3 light is derived from every point of a luminous or of an illuminated body 1884 F. J. Britten Watch & Clockm. 85 Illuminated dials for turret clocks are as a rule made of opalescent glass
2 Having or claiming spiritual enlightenment 1606 G. W[oodcocke] tr. Bertrane Hist. Anabaptists trusting unto illuminated revelations 1768 H. Walpole First Doubts Pref. 1 All very sensible history except that of the illuminated Jews is a perfect fable 1863 Geo. Eliot Romola I. 1 Every revelation has in my meanings, which is given to the illuminated only to unfold
3 Enlightened intellectually
1661 Boyle Style of Script (1675) 1. 3 They believe them to have been endowed with very illuminated intellectuals 1792 Paine Rights of Man (ed. 4) 10 That august, illuminated and illuminating body of men. 1832 Carlyle Sart. Res. III. viii, 'But is it not the deepest Law of Nature that she be constant? cries an illuminated class.

4 Of or belonging to various societies or orders called illuminati Also absol = ILLUMINATI

1634 CANNY Necess Separ (1849) 271 One of the illuminated fathers of the Familists 1685 R Bonhomes St Incarnation II 77 In Spain certain Visionaries, who were call'd the Illuminated, or Men of new Lights 1801 Edin Rev I 17 The object of the Illuminated Orders was probably unattainable

5 Of letters, writing, manuscripts, etc Adorned with brilliant colours, metallic pigments, etc (see ILLUMINATE 2 b)

1712 HEARNE Coll (O H S) III 172 Not only the Black, but all the Red (commonly call'd Illuminated Letters) are painted 1765 BUCKSHORT Comm 1774) I 88 A copy of this act, elegantly engrossed and illuminated 1856 EMERSON Eng Traits Truth Wks (Bohn) II 51 Illuminated missals

b College slang Of a text Having an interlinear translation

1891 B H HALL College Words 261 Illuminated books are preferred to ponies or bobbies, as the text and translation in them are brought nearer to one another

‖ Illuminati (ĭlĭmĭnā·tī), sb pl Also sing Illuminato (-ā·tō), + plur -os [Plural of I illuminātus, It -ato 'enlightened' used in hg sense] A name assumed by or applied to various societies or sects because of their claim to special enlightenment in religious or (later) intellectual, matters

a Applied to a sect of Spanish heretics which existed in the 16th c under the name Alumbrados or 'enlightened', subsequently, to a similar but obscure sect of Familists which arose in France in Louis XIII's reign

1599 SANDYS Europe Spec (1632) 166 An other pestilent sect there was not long, since of the Illuminati in Arragon 1654 R HOWARD Country Catech 11 5 The Illuminatees of the times, the Anabaptists 1685 R Bonhomes St Jesus Truth 77 The Imputations, were induced to believe, that the Person might either be an Illuminato or a Jesuite 1749 P TAYLOR Unhim Methodists & Papists (1750) 118 114 The Alumbrados or Illuminati of Spain b Used to render Ger Illuminaten, the name of a celebrated secret society, founded at Ingolstadt in Bavaria in 1776, by Professor Adam Weishaupt, holding deistic and republican principles, and having an organization akin to freemasonry, hence applied to other thinkers regarded as atheistic or free thinking, e g the French Encyclopedists

1797 J ROBISON (title) Proofs of a Conspiracy against all the Religions and Governments of Europe, carried on in the secret meetings of Freemasons, Illuminati, and Reading Societies 1798 WESTMACOTT Lett Wolf 1804 XIV 1 The doctrines of the Illuminati and principles of Jacobinism 1808 KELT Hum Gen Knowl of Spirit God The Freethinkers of England, the Philosophists of France and the Illuminati of Germany

c gen Persons affecting or claiming to possess special knowledge or enlightenment on any subject often used satirically

1816 J I PEACOCK Headlong Hall 1 The conversation among these illuminati soon became animated 1846 H ROGERS Ess I (1857) 167 What a new dark tide has been happily quite clear of the illuminati [the Calvinists] 1850 MARY FULLER Life without a Veil (1860) 47 Which is deemed worthy of admission to the society of the Illuminati, that is those who have pierced the veil of life, and know what it is to be and to do 1878 SIR W SCOTT Recollect in (1879) 121 All thanks and honour to the older Pugin, however much other illuminati may sneer 1887 Contemp Rev Apr 636 An illuminato like Ruskin may write as if Russell was invincible, practice it must know better

Illumination (ĭlĭmĭnē·ʃən) [= I illumination (14th c, Oresme ad I illuminationem, in of action f illuminare to ILLUMINE, ILLUMINATE]

1 The action of illuminating, the fact or condition of being illuminated, enlighting up, supplying of light

Circle of illumination see CIRCLE 9 22

1563 W FULKE Meteors (1640) 11 Eyre scattered in the ayre, or illuminations, we generally in the lowest region of the ayre 1603 HOLLAND Pliny's Hist I 259 Men disputed at dice with the Moone, and won from her the seventeenth part of every one of her illuminations 1766 tr Bourdaloue's Serm II (1794) 44 The illumination of the streets during the night at the public expense 1784 COWPER Task iv 74 The glowing hearth may surely vie With fuint illumination 1816 PLAYFAIR Nat Phil II 15 The circle separating Day from Night, or the half of the earth from the dark hemisphere of the earth, is called the Circle of Illumination 1869 STONEY in Proc Roy Soc XVII 61 The source of illumination chosen was the electric light The dirt and filth were strikingly revealed by this method of illumination

b Optics Degree of lighting up, the intensity of the light falling upon a surface as measurable by the amount reflected from each unit of the surface

1865 ATKINSON tr Ganot's Physics § 420 The illumination of a surface placed in a beam of parallel luminous rays is the same at all distances 1878 Lees Dict Arts 11 881 Experiments for determining the relative illumination of the different lights

c Directly fig or in fig context

1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep I v 18 Our understandings being eclipsed we must betake our selves to ways of reparation, and depend upon the illumination of our endevours 1662 STILLINGF Orig Sacr II v § 5 Nature is sensible of the imperfection of its own light, and therefore seems rather to require further illumination 1885 LAMB Thin Sacr to Supernatural of Man, The prospect threw something of an illumination upon the darker side of my captivity

2 Spiritual enlightenment, divine inspiration, + spec baptism (obs) The earliest sense in Eng

1398 TREVISA Barth De P A xviii 1 (MS Harl 614) b, He (1495 & lengeth more parfite, to be partenes of ye illuminacion of ye holy goost) c 1450 tr De Imitatione III Contents xxvii, A prayer for illumination of mynde 1579 DEE Math Pref 15 Especiall prouidence, of Illumination or Reuelation from heauen 1640 HARRINGTON Contarini III Arb) 212 Confounding, with superstitious illumination, the supernaturall judgement of the wise 1795 tr Paplin's Treat Heat 1796 I 57 Besides the Name of Baptism they have it also the Name of Illumination, of Light, of Illumination 1824 H J ROSE Theology in Engl Ministry II 87211 Ecclesiastical History gives us several instances of similar claims to prophecy and divine illumination 1827 HARE Unchastised Infidel 15 In baptism we are illuminated in illumination adopted

b pl An instance of this, an inspiration, + revelation

1530 HAMPOLE Fenne Luf 17 pe douelle entes pan by fals illuminacyons, and fals sownines and swetnes, and thynkynes i wan sauh 1538 SIR T ELYOTE Dict s v Medes, ingenuously confessing, the olde illuminations not seeing the some things the prophecie of this authoritie 1576 FLEMING Panop Epist 11 vi 230 Worship God to whom in justice you ought to ascribe these illuminations 1878 C SMYTHE Spirit Christ I 2, Whose soul was visited with preternatural illuminations

3 Intellectual enlightenment, information, learning, + esoteric pl intellectual gifts

1530 PALSGR Introd 1 Illumynacion of the understandynge 1630 R JOHNSON Kingd & Commw 1 Medes ingenuously confessing, the olde illuminations not seeing the some things the prophecie of this authoritie 1764 HORNER Lett II xi 230 Worship God to Whom in justice you ought to ascribe these illuminations 1878 C SMYTHE Spirit Christ I 2, Whose soul was visited with preternatural illuminations

4 Illuminated enlightenment, information, learning, + esoteric pl intellectual gifts

1634 SIR T HERBERT Trav 32 They [Columbus and Americus] had an Ambassador from whom writings and Mappes they had their illuminations 1658 EVELYN Diary 7 June, These, and the like illuminations, far exceeded his 1692 RAY Disc World III ii (1732) 140 After further illumination they were better informed 1864 LOWELL Study Windows (1870) 147 Even to the illuminations of many monks on many points Truth must finally emerge 1881 J C SHAIRP Aspects of Poetry 1 The illuminations of genius, most illumination of which Voltaire, Diderot and the host of Encyclopedists were the high priests 1886 DOWDEN Shelley II 1 The materialistic public opinion of the French Illumination 1893 SIR R PAIT Story of Nile 78 The illumination which is substantive does not afford

4 The lighting up of a building, town etc now usually as a decorative way, with coloured lights arranged in artistic designs, etc , in token of festivity or rejoicing b with an and pl An instance of this, also pl the lights or figures composed of lights used in such decoration

1691 LUTTRELL Brief Rel (1857) II 293 With many bonefires and illuminations at night 1698 LUTTRELL Narr IV 94 Time of Solemnity sometimes kept for several Weeks together with Illuminations on their Houses 1767 EDWARDS Hist W Indies 1827 IV 59 At Church and Market Dume where we went to see a magnificent illumination, with figures, etc 1823 BYRON Juan XI xlix When London had a jubilee or illumination So that the streets of cobalt & lamps are full 1864 Daily Tel 20 Sept, The illuminations were really magnificent attrib 1797 MRS RADCLIFFE Italian VII, It was an illumination night

5 Elucidation Obs rare —1

1656 B HARRIS Parivall's Ivon 1 Many to prepare for the study of Antiquities, and for the illumination and illustration of Sciences 1658 PHILLIPS, Illumination, the same [as Illustration, an explaining, or making clear]

6 Illuminated decoration A decoration of a letter or writing with bright or luminous colours, the use of gold and silver, the addition of elaborate tracery or miniature illustrations, etc see ILLUMINATE 2 b

b with pl The designs, miniatures, and the like, employed in such decoration of the formerly, also, the colouring of maps or prints

1678 PHILLIPS (ed Blount) Illumination a laying colours upon Maps or Printed Pictures, so as to give the greater light as it were, and beauty to them 1856 KUGLER Hist Painting II 1 The distinctive difference between illumination and painting proper lies in that illumination admits no shadows, but only contrasts of pure colour 1858 HAWKINS Ital & Gothic Art II 1 Beautiful illuminations the vermilion and gold of which looked as brilliant now as they did five centuries ago 1870 RUSKIN Lect Art § 1 Perfect illumination as only writing in ink freely the moment it passes into picture making it has less dignity and function

Illuminative (ĭlĭ·mĭnătĭv) [f ILLUMINATE + -IVE] = ILLUMINANT OR GEN Illuminant 1 + -IVE] ILLUMINISM

1798 HUTTON Man Fossil Kg (1798) 1 Poetry is well in prose, romance as well as history, witness on this subject the work of an able Prelate, where these have been employed to instil the principles of Illuminative 1842 Blackw Mag LII 52 Here would be ample material in the illuminative line for the Abbotsford Club

Illuminatist (ĭlĭ·mĭnătĭst [f as prec + -IST] = ILLUMINIST

1852 S Jean Marigold II iii (1873) 274 A third sort, who are less despised, and not so much to be execrated—the Illuminatists 1880 I FROST Forty Years Recoll 11 The days dawns of the Illuminatists, St Simon and Fourier

Illuminative (ĭlĭ·mĭnătĭv, ĭlĭū·mĭnătĭv, Obs) [f I. illuminat, ppl stem of illuminare to ILLUMINATE see -ATIVE] = I illuminatif (with e Gerson]

1 Having the property of illuminating lighting up, or affording light

1644 DIGBY Two Treat I iv (1645) 98 The illuminative motion of fire 1706 PHILLIPS Illuminative, Month that part of Time, during which the Moon gives Light, or is to be seen between one Conjunction and another 1870 J ANTHONY Steel Tools 1 Coal when united with hydrogen becomes ordinary illuminating gas

fig 1855 CARLYLE in Wemyss Reid Life Houghton (1891) I 252 The sight of your face will be illuminative in every body in these premises

2 Having the quality or claim of illuminating spiritually or intellectually, spec applied to the second stage of spiritual advancement see quot

1649 JER TAYLOR Unum Noc I 1 The Mean time part of repentance is resolved on, and begun and put forward we then enter into the illuminative way 1656 BLOUNT and sett upon the second stage of the purification of spiritual graces 1656 GAYTON Pleas Notes IV xxv 257 Illuminative and inspired physick he detested 1669 WOOD in Life & Times (1891) I 444 After many years first passed through the Purgative way and some advance made in the Illuminative 1830 SOUTHEY in Life & Corr (1850) V 188 The pure, active, illuminative, and unitive 1860 Edectic 1898 CARPENTER Psych Growth 108 A glimpse into the interior of the Perfected who shall be illuminative 1893 Expositor 1 Thess 1 5 Revelation must be not merely illuminative, but remedial

b Const of into

1701 NORRIS Ideal W I 1 iii 157 Upon the contrary upon sense, that of Colours knowing its creature in themselves, the consequence will be that the creatures are freely illuminative of their Creator

3 Pertaining to the illumination of writing,

1870 J NICHOLS Handy-bk Lett Mss 19 The finest and richest specimens of Anglo-Saxon illuminative art

B sb An illuminating agent rare

a 1721 KEN Hymnotheo Poet Wks 1721 III 246 The Look inspired There all Illuminatives of Love Divine There all sublime Illuminations shine

Illuminato, sing of ILLUMINATI

Illuminator (ĭlĭ·mĭnēĭtəɹ [= I illuminator agent n I illuminare to ILLUMINATE Cf F illuminateur (17th c)]

1 He who or that which illuminates or gives light, an illuminating agent

1598 FLORIO Worlde An illuminator or light giuer 1755 JOHNSON, Illuminator, one who gives light 1834 M Watkins Trav XIII 88 Sesostris and Ægis are the grand facilitators and illuminators of the mysteries of the most distant points 1883 Century Mag XXVI 259 To produce a clear illumination from water

b Astron Applied to various instruments or devices

a In a microscope or other optical instrument A lens or mirror for concentrating the light b In surgery An instrument for directing a stream of light into a cavity of the body, or for illumination, an internal part C A glazed opening in a floor the deck of a ship etc to admit light to the part beneath

1837 GORING & PRITCHARD Microg 9 Fig 4 is an illuminator for opaque objects

2 One who illuminates or enlightens spiritually

The earliest sense, in Eng

1485 CAXTON Chas Gr 1882 15 The holy ghoost, our lyenmyster and Illuminator of al good werkes 1711 ADDISON Spectator No 379 ¶ 1 Those Words of Truth disposed, Then their Illuminator they adore 1866 J C MANNING Comm Revel xxxiii 1 The Lord above is the great Illuminator of the divinely-used saint

3 One who enlightens intellectually, who imparts instruction or knowledge applied contemptuously to the 18th century Illuminati

1777 ERSKINE Confl Rel & Pol 11 Most wonderful must effect Reg the greatest illuminators of the study of Nature 1790 Gent Mag in Ann Reg 1791 His new illuminators who despised all experience and disdained all wisdom but their own 1809 W CORNISH tr Reinhold's Lett I 164 The habit of philosophy when it is confined to a small minority, points out the necessity to the many, to submit themselves to the illuminators 1862 J HALL Hindu Tales 258 215 note, Pt is a sect of the Sannyasis and the illuminators be also called by the Europeans Illuminees

†4 One who makes resplendent or illustrious

1605 VERSTEGAN Decay Intell (1634) 23 The poet Gower's Chaucer who is so often called the first illuminator of the English tongue

5 One who embellishes letters with gold and colours, or manuscripts with ornamental writing so embellished see ILLUMINATE 2 b 8

1655 LUTTON Hist Camb 4 Illuminators, such as save light and limn Manuscripts 1699 WARTON in Life Tal Mon (Camden 28) It seem to me I have been the cause of the Illuminator 1708 HEARNE Collect (O H S) II 148 they are of the Larger sort for y use of y Illuminators 1762 Ft H WALPOLE Letters Intell Lamt (1904) 69 the most valuable article I have seen were the illuminators of manuscripts 1841 W SANDYS Early Art Intl II 244 the Vatican, educated as an illuminator of manuscripts

Illuminatory, a rare [f I illuminat see ILLUMINATE 2 + -ORY] Illuminative explanatory

In quot 1762 applied to the colouring of a map

1762 tr Justinus's Hist Gen VI 51 In the leaf containing the whole district of Sabsan, the division of the county is very accurately marked the principality of Jauer belonging to the prefecture of Breslau whereas the illuminatory strokes include it within that of Brieg Wherever I set to that it is fully so Illuminated as if it

ILLs 1896. If ye have time plenty to look forwards to the commencement of your illumination course in October Illumine (ilū·mĭn - Also 4-6 illumyn yll [a 1 illuminare (12 13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.) ad L. illuminare] = ILLUMINATE v.

1 trans. To light up; shed light upon or shine upon or into, to light up in token of rejoicing or honour

1375 BARBOUR Bruce VIII. 228 Thir speris, that personnys sa thir schelds. Of licht Illumyt all the feldis 1447 JAMES SHAW Writs (Roxb.) 32 A full moyth lyght illumyned sufficiently that clerk personis 1500-20 DUNBAR Thistle & Rose 41 Illumynit our with orient tyis bricht 1667 MILTON P. L. I. 606 The sudden blaze far round illumind hell 1794 SULLIVAN View of Nat. I. 7 Clouds illumined by the sun 1852 TENNYSON Ode to Memory xiii. When the long, illumined cities flame At their far festivals 1860 EMERSON Culture Works I. 274 The Aiguille and Dome were most singularly illumined

fig. 1550 in Doctor's Commonplace (1721) 120 Jesus the stainless, almost bowed In the inquisition. I to darkness to illumyne the 1896 Nat. Rev. II. 469/2 Lurid expressions illumine, hidden depths in the man's heart and character

b To give light or sight to the eyes)

1548 HALL Chron. Hen. VIII 188 b, When God had illumined the eies of the king 1587 Gentl. Trial (1850) 9 Who illumineth myne eyes with my salvation

c intr. To become light or bright, to be illuminated

1500-20 DUNBAR Thistle & Rose 21 All the bownis illumynit of hir lemys Ibid. 157 All the land illumynit of the licht 1773 J. ROSS Fortescue Papers 398 (MS.) The clouds approve and Heaven dark hemisphere Illumines as they pass 1801 ANNA SEWARD Lett. (1811) V. 295 Our city illumines to-morrow

2 To enlighten spiritually, to convert, to inspire

a. The earliest sense in Eng.)

1340 HAMPOLE Prose Treat. (1866) 8 When the resone is illuminede with grace for to be lidde Godde and gastely thynges 1382 WYCLIF Heb. vi. 4 Hem that onys ben illumyned [L. illuminatos] 1489 CAXTON Sonnes of Aymon xiv. 336 Good lord, ye ben tied and made our fader Adam and illumyned him with the grace of the holy goost 1552 in Strype Eccl. Mem. II. (1721) xxvi. 311 Which truth is wrought by the H. Ghost Where through the mind is illumined 1818 J. WILLIAMS Hymn, Dept. Supreme 4 The lights that from his Godhead in darkness sound, O may they illumine Our spirits within a 1549 SKELTON Bowge of Court 20 Upon mine fall some dyde me dyscure, And shewed that in this stre I was not sure For to allume, she sayde I was to dulle 1538 Kyndde of Love xxx. 17 O mirrour mine Whiche ye were wont to be mine aide & light, My penne to direct my lerne to illumine 1667 MILTON P. L. I. 18 What in me is dark Illumine 1784 Cowper Task Conclusion, What I delivered, I delivered unasked 1847 TUPPER Prov. Lett. II. xi. This benighted mind only illumined by a kind of moral twilight

3 To enlighten mentally or intellectually trans.

4 To brighten as with light to make radiant

1508 DUNBAR Golden Targe 258 Thy fresch mantle temes ouir all this mayis cowll illumynit on hall 1598 SYLVESTER Du B. 2nd Day 2nd Week 1. 1. 1.

they only seem to fortify the organ for seeing distinctly, but they have still many illusions to correct 1794 SULLIVAN View Nat. II xlviii 381 In lifting our eyes to the firmament, we see all the stars, as it were, attached to the same dome. But, this is merely an optical illusion 1860 ROBERTSON Sermons 1st Ser. III vi 84 You may paint a picture in which rocks, trees, and sky are never mistaken for what they seem, yet produce all the emotion which real rocks, trees and sky would produce. This is illusion 1858 HAWTHORNE Fr. & It. Jrnls I. 104 Perhaps brought to such perspective illusion, that the edges seem to project into air 1859 HUXLEY in Darwinian Hypothesis 181 We define an illusion as the false appreciation of real sensations 1884 J. SULLY in Nature XXIV 185 As distinguished from hallucinations, illusions 'must always have a starting point in some actual impression, whereas a hallucination has no such basis' 1886 GURNEY, etc. Phantasms of Living II 184 Illusion consists either in perceiving a totally wrong object in place of the right one or in investing the right object with the wrong attributes

5 A name given to a thin and very transparent kind of tulle

1887 B. FARJEON White Golden Sleep 8 Pale blue silk, looped up with illusion and forget me nots

Illu·sionable, a rare [f. prec. + -ABLE.] Liable to illusions

1879 E. J. PAYNE in Academy 6 Sept. 167/1 One who had been in the maturity of his powers and reputation when those illusionable youths were in their cradles

Illu·sionary, a [f. as prec. + -ARY.] Characterized by illusions, of the nature of an illusion; illusory

1886 Cornh. Mag. Nov. 513 A romantic and in illusionary temperament 1890 Blackw. Mag. CXLVIII 634 An illusionary, dream like light which had had no touch of earthly reality about it

Illusionism (ɪlū·ʒənɪz'm) [f. ILLUSION + -ISM.] Theory or doctrine pertaining to or dealing with illusions, the theory that the material world is an illusion

1843 For. Q. Rev. II 358 From illusionism (the theory of Bishop Berkeley) to mysticism 1882 Athenæum 11 Jan. 51/3 It contains what professes to be adequate answers to the 'akosmism of Brahmanism' and the 'absolute illusionism of Buddhism

Illusionist (ɪlū·ʒənɪst) [f. as prec. + -IST.]

1 One who holds the theory of illusionism, one who disbelieves in objective existence

1843 For. Q. Rev. II 343 While the pantheist and the illusionist are discussing systems, the masses enact that there is no God 1862 J. HALL Hindu Philos. Syst. 166 note, It tells with equal relevancy in confutation of the illusionists (mâyâvâdin) and crypto Buddhas (prachhanna Buddhas)

2 One who produces illusions, spec. a conjuror or juggler of hand performer

1864 Daily Tel. 6 Sept., In compliance with a request from the illusionist, four gentlemen advanced from the body of the hall to cooperate in a portion of the evening's entertainments. 1894 Times 7 Aug. 6/2 The illusionist succeeded in mystifying his audience by producing a living tree on a piece of glass

3 (See quots.)

1864 WEBSTER, Illusionist, one given to illusion 1882 Harper's Mag. Apr. 699/1 He [the paper stoner] is a good antidote against the 'illusionist', who sees too much, and then adds to it a lot that he does not see

Illusive (ɪlū·sɪv), a [f. illūs-, ppl. stem of illūdere to ILLUDE + -IVE.] That tends to allude or deceive by unreal appearances, productive of illusion or false impression, deceptive, illusory 1679 JENISON Popish Plot 38 As if all were but an apparition or an illusive thing 1753 G. COOKE Lunch Shaks. (R.) In yonder mead behold that vapour whose vivid beams illusive play, Far off it seems a friendly taper To guide the traveller on his way 1823 SCOTT Peveril Concl. I. A vain illusive show, That melts where'er the sun beams glow 1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. iv (1858) II 290 The efforts at a combination had hitherto been illusive and ineffectual 1893 W. H. HUDSON Patagonia 208 The mysterious illusive city, peopled by whites; is to modern a myth.

Hence Illu·sively adv., in an illusive manner, by an illusion, Illu·siveness, illusive or deceptive quality 1797 BAILEY vol II, Illustrious 1818 TODD, Illusively 1824 Examiner 246/2 Water was never more illusively lucid 1829 I. TAYLOR Loiolus iv 248 A vein of illusiveness runs through every page 1859 Fraser's Mag. XIX 3-7 The illusion loses its illusiveness.

Illusor (ɪlū·sɔr) rare [ad. late L. illūsor, -ōrem, agent n. from illūdere, illūs- to ILLUDE.] A deceiver, deluder

1828 WEBSTER, Illusor pl. in the latter days illusors (false or scorners, or deceivers) shall come in decept 1483 CAXTON Gold. Leg. 91/1-R Suppl.) They be sayd illusours and deceyuours, by cause they deceyued heroils. 1886 STUBBS Med. & Mod. Hist. viii 197 Though he profered peace he only wanted money, he was an illusor, and they would have nothing to do with him

Illusory (ɪlū·sərɪ), a [ad. late L. illūsōrius of a mocking character, ironical, f. illūsor see prec. and -ORY. Cf. F. illusoire.] Having the quality of illuding or tending to deceive by unreal prospects, of the nature of an illusion, illusive

In first quot. as sb. = an illusory or illusive thing, an illusion

1599 Q. ELIZ. Let. (N.) To trust him upon pledges is a meare illusory. 1631 DONNE in Select (1840) 70 A false, an illusory, and a sinful comfort. 1691 BOYLE Reff. Theol. Distinction I. 2 It is not an arbitrary or illusory distinction

1794 SULLIVAN View Nat. I. 25 The illusory offspring of the imagination 1866 J. MARTINEAU Ess. I. 256 The promise is for the present illusory 1866 ROGERS Agric. & Prices I. xxv The price given is illusory 1869 HUXLEY Short Stud. IV iii. 256 Much illusory physiology was based on this hypothesis

Hence Illu·sorily adv., in an illusory manner, by an illusion, Illu·soriness, deceptiveness of appearance

1632 DONNE Serm. v. (1634) 42 That that Priest did illusorily wash his hands from the blood of any of those men 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Illusoriness 1829 ARNOLD Last Speech in (1873) 88 The utter illusoriness of the accident I contemplate in the unbestowed words 1880 J. CAIRD Philos. Relig. v. 136 Thus very healing of the mind's illusoriness of the world 1898 Westm. Gaz. 2 Sept. 2/1 The way in front is illusorily barred by swiftly flowing water

+Illustrable, a Obs. [f. I. type illustrābilis* f. illustrāre to ILLUSTRATE: see -BLE.] = next

1658 SIR T. BROWN Gard. Cyrus iv. 43 Solution and conjunction amount and denote illustrable & not illustrable in the old Nitrum or nutre wker 1668 CH. Man of Mercy Dis. Dead To Rdr. 9, How illustrable that passage is from the last verse of the Chapter of Dan. Curtes his Meteors

Illustrable (ɪlʌ·strəbl), a [f. ILLUSTRATE v. + -ABLE.] Capable of being illustrated

1850 D. G. ROSSETTI Let. in W. B. Scott Autobiog. (1892) I. 251 An illustrable paper 1889 Scott. Leader 17 Dec. 4 The gradual reduction of animal organs was illustrable by innumerable examples

+Illustrate, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. illustrat-us, pa. ppl. of illustrāre: see ILLUSTRATE.]

A. as pa. ppl. Illustrated, illuminated, lighted up, enlightened: see ILLUSTRATE v.

1506 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 285 O welde, god I were illustrate or lyghned with the light and felyngs therof 1548 HALL Chron. Edw. IV 210 b, The warde eyes of his soule, wer in the meane space clearely illustrat 1619 BARNFIELD Poor Tom Conceit 11. The Country at first is illustrate with a bright resplendence 1671 True Non-conf. 334 These things need not to be illustrate

B. as adj. Illuminated, resplendent, clear, luminous, illustrious

1560 A. SCOTT Poems (S. T. S.) 1. 2 Welcum, illustrat Ladye, and oure quene 1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. I. i. 28 This most gallant, illustrate and learned Gentleman 1601 CHESTER Love's Mart. Robt. Lord Houghton's 10 In Hel Dudley VIII. 315 Bright sun, retire gild not this vault of death With thy illustrate rays 1669 Philos. Trans. IV. 1149 That illustrate Author 1675 TRAHERNE Centuries I. 58 Let the Philosophers groupe hither here, will by the most approaches of the light of our newest writing day, be plain and illustrate to us 1704 HEARNE Duct. Hist. (1811) I. 138 That illustrate Works. I meet the most illustrate Men, Greeks and Romans

Hence +Illu·strately adv.

1634 Certain Verses upon the Master Mico (Malb.) IV. 181 Our Faith in God, and loyalty to the King, are most transluscently light refulgently light, illustrately light Illustrate (ɪlʌ·streɪt), v. [f. L. illustrāt-, ppl. stem of illustrāre, to light up, illuminate, clear up, elucidate, embellish, set off, render famous or illustrious, cf. illustre to ILLUSTRE. For the stress see CONTEMPLATE.]

1 trans. To shed light upon, light up, illuminate. Obs.

1604 SPENSER Godg. Del. II. (1633) 35 The brave rayes of the Sun illustrate and lighten the Moone 1681 CROWNE Bond Peak (ed. 4) 89 The Windows Illustrating the noble Room 1719 PARNELL Hymn for Winter 3 Let the light, serenely fair, Illustrate all the tracts of air

+b Directly fig. esp. To illuminate (the mind) Obs. or arch. (The earlier use.)

1596 SPENSER F. Q. VI. ix. 28 Which with sweet precepts of learning ye mote Illustrate, and beautifie your mynd 1605 BACON Advan. Learn. (1848) 55 The Mind of Man illustrated in the Beams of Heavenly Light, and by 1708 BARNARD Sermons at St. Dead II. 92 Virtue and Truth in their Fulness of Light, illustrating the whole World 1872 BROWNING Aristoph. Apol. 144 Some persons there be, the same Self-manifesting flash illustrate every man And woman of our mass

+2 To make lustrous, luminous, or bright; to set off with bright colours, gen. to beautify, adorn Obs.

1592 NASHE P. Penilesse (ed. 2) 15 b, There is no study but (Poetry) doth illustrate, and beautifie 1634 SIR H. HERBERT Tent. 19 The walls have been illustrated with Gold, and with some place of marble 1650 BULWER Anthropomet. 105 They illustrate their Arms and Hands, their Legs and Feet, with painted flowers and birds 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) III. 29 Her head dress was a Brussels lace mob, with sky blue ribbon used to illustrate it

+3 To set in a good light, to display to advantage, to show up Obs.

1603 H. CROSSE Vertues Commw. (1878) 81 The deformity of the one doth much illustrate and beautifie the other 1628 PRYNNE Lame Lackeys 15 The onely meanes then for for men to embrace, illustrate and set out their Beautie, is to neglect it 1686 W. DE BRITAINE Hum. Prud. 41 Honour and Greatness add nothing to me, but to illustrate my Humility 1757 H. WALPOLE Mem. Geo. II., III. 71 Pitt though apt enough to take any step to illustrate his own measures.

4. To shed lustre upon, to render illustrious, renowned, or famous, to confer honour or distinction upon. Now rare or Obs.

1530 PALSGR. 589/1, I illustrate, I bring to light or make noble or worthy 1604 HEYWOOD Gunaik. To Rdr., Women such as have beene illustrated for their Vertues, and noble actions. 1704 GIBSON Mem. in Misc. Hist. (1824) I. 15 Mr. Wedderburne who now illustrates the title of Lord Loughborough 1834 SIR W. HAMILTON Discuss. (1852) 377 Under this system, no men of distinguished merit have illustrated our Universities.

5 To throw the light of intelligence upon, to make clear, elucidate, clear up, explain

1538 COVERDALE New Test. Heb. Shall not that same translation declareth, openeth, and illustrateth another? 1600 J. DAVIS in Dr. Faustus (1818) 87 Arminius that is brought to confirme and illustrate more & more the manifest doctrine that which is to be confirmed, and illustrated 1691 NORRIS Treat. Humility 37 When Revelation is but illustrated and obscure Text of Reason 1793 THOMAS Let. Darwin 29 Many experiments upon animals, tending to illustrate this important subject 1874 SIDNEY Plant Life II. 4 You have illustrated it by quotations and metaphors which no sound and to the point

6 To make clear or evident by means of examples, to elucidate, to give an example in support or illustration of, to exemplify

1612 BRINSLEY Pract. Test. viii. (16 7) 183 Illustrated by a few more examples 1738 BERKELEY Siris II. 44 Confirmed and illustrated by this doctrine of Cycles by examples 1766 W. THOMSON Hutchin's Philip III (1792) II. 274 To illustrate the advantages of vigilance and foresight 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. I. 124 Perhaps no single circumstance more strongly illustrates the temper of the governing class in this respect, than the Christmas day 1874 GREEN Short Hist. viii. § 1. 723 Not only better illustrates the transformation of the land in the hands of its Norman masters 1891 HALE in Nation (N. Y.) XII. 96 To illustrate the usage which has been illustrated is a good deal older

7 To elucidate (a description, etc.) by means of drawings or pictures, to ornament (a book, etc.) in this way with elucidatory designs. Said also of the pictures themselves 1638 F. JUNIUS Paint of Ancients 128 That the clearest grounds on Artists is due to pre-ound Arc art illustrated and cleared by Picture 1676 Mem. Coffee-house 4 Few readers are willing to take the pains to read such a learned tome (if descriptions unless illustrated by figures 1773 COWPER in Rural Hist. (R.) The engravings which illustrate and adorn the account of the voyage 1882 Ch. Times III. 50 I shall subjoin two cuts as cases, together with a drawing to illustrate the latter 1887 HOLMES Autocr. I. 171 A gentleman engaged to assist in illustrating this work 1873 HOOKER Himal. I. Those men illustrated the results of the expedition with about 100 excellent photographs 1891 Daily News 29 Apr. 5/3 Journals which did not formerly allow a trade now do so, and look and read as trade literature are more than ever illustrated to meet the popular taste

+8 To clear the head or brain. Obs.

1684 tr. Bonet's Merc. Compit. xxv. 180 Some Cephalick though they be less grateful to the Palate or Stomach yet illustrate the Brain

Hence Illustrating vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1598 HAKLUYT Voy. I. 12 To the illustrating of the Queenes most worthie Name, Title, honour and commendation of this her highnesse Realme 1620 GODWIN Dr. Lindsey 87 In this speciall use in illustrating, and amplifying 1681 DRYDEN Hath Caused 11. In illustrating, with all the spirit upon the hands of sinners 1700 BURNET Fr. Rev. VII. v. 80 Our liberty has a pedigree and illustrating ancestors.

Illustrated (ɪlʌ·streɪtɛd), ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ED.] [f. ILLUSTRATE v. + -ED.]

1 +a Illuminated, made lustrous or bright (obs.)

b Having pictorial illustrations

1832 Lit. Gaz. Odes or Morning Interlocutors IX. No. 1 (First Article) Illustrated article Two nights in Beauchamp tower 1838 Fraser's Mag. VI. 141 The child in his illustrated book had the use of a microscope and telescope in 1844 Athen. The Illustrated London News 1850 Punch XVIII. 89 A paper on Photography and Illustrated Journalism

2 as sb. An illustrated newspaper or magazine (In quot. 1879 = Illustrated London News.)

1879 Truth 20 Feb. 245 Looking at the illustrateds or Punches 1892 NEILSON & CAMERON Educ. Year-Bk. 45 It may fit me for a position on one of the illustrated Illustration (ɪlʌstrē·ʃən) [f. illustration (1) + -ION, or Godef., ad. I. illustrātion-em Quintilian), n. of action f. illustrare to ILLUSTRATE.]

The action or fact of illustrating

The sense history is parallel to that of ILLUMINATION the meaning 'spiritual enlightenment' being the first to appear

†1 Lighting up, illumination, enlightenment Obs.

a Spiritual (the earliest sense) or intellectual 1375 Sc. Leg. Saints (Appendix) He had such infusone of gods illumone 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 1 b, The persone that receyueth suche illustracyon or light 1548 UDALL tr. Erasmus' Apoph. 1. 1604 I WILKINSON Passion 52 The manifold inspirations of God, the illustrations of his holy Angels 1612 DRAYTON Polyolb. xxiii. 180 Which Virgil, then I better could discover, if this he read I ordained my friend to explaine every hard matter of fiction 1653 H. VAUGHAN Godman's Vis. 11 A divine illustration cleared his understanding

b physical

1632 DONNE Serm. VIII. (1634) 83 Such an illustration such an irradiation, such a consecration, that by that light he could have read in the night 1681 WHARTON Def. Nat. & Revel. Wks. (1683) 647 We see no illustration in Comets but only some illustration 1704 Phil. Trans. XV. 1236 In unusual and very remarkable illustration of the atmosphere continued the whole evening.

2 The action of making or fact of being made illustrious, brilliant, or distinguished, distinction Also, an example, means or cause of distinction

1616 BULLOKAR, Illustration, a making famous or noble 1649 JER. TAYLOR Gr. Exemp. I. 41 He [Christ] came not in pompous and secular illustrations 1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Qual. (1809) III. 46 They have invested this then hated [the king] with all possible illustration in concentrates the rays of many natures 1776 ADAM SMITH Wealth of Nations (1869) II 360 In Rome at [law] gave a considerable degree of illustration to those citizens who had the reputation of understanding it 1850 MERIVALE Rome Emp (1865) I iv 61 The illustration of his family existed only from his father 1855 THACKERAY Newcomes I xiii 71 My mission in that genius is an illustration, and mean is better than any pedigree

3 The action or fact of making clear or evident to the mind setting forth clearly or pictorially, elucidation, explanation, exemplification

1581 MARBECK Bk. of Notes 491 It is a figure, called Illustration, by the which the forme of things is set forth in words, that it seemeth rather to be seene with the eies, then heard with the eares 1588 FRAUNCE Lawiers Log. I 13 b By explication and illustration or proofe and conclusion 1657 J. SMITH Myst. Christ. 17 Anthesis, is also the illustration of a thing by its opposite 1704 J. BROWNE Pleasant Travels Wks. 1711 I 42 What need I bring more Examples for illustration? 1853 ROBERTS Narr. Inv. II xvii I have confined the illustrations of the architecture

b With an and pl. That which serves to illustrate or make clear, evident, etc., an elucidation, explanation, an exemplar instance 1585 I. WATSON Decachordon (1865) 11 Here ye see the Mare of Bulgen in his illustrations of Gaule 1640 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. VII viii 312 Some, from whom we receive the greatest illustrations of Antiquity, have made no mention hereof 1649 BLITH Eng. Improver Improv'd (ed. 8) Some illustrations upon some of the former passages 1832 (title) Views in New York . . . Picturesque Drawings with Historical Topographical and Critical Illustrations by Hugh Reid 1860 JEVONS Elec. I xxiii 154 An illustration of the principle which runs throughout nature 1866 DR. ARNOTT Phil. Rubbish 6 A passing mark or illustration of some one especial life.

4 The pictorial elucidation of any subject, the elucidation or embellishment of a literary or scientific article, book etc. by pictorial representations.

1813 HERBERT Redcliffe Church Prof. I was also tempted to enter more fully into the illustration of the building. Ibid. The artist engaged in the illustration of this symptuous work Process plates used in the illustration of cheap periodicals

5 An illustrative picture, a drawing, plate, engraving cut or the like, illustrating or embellishing a literary article, a book etc.

[1816 Rees's A Classified Illustration of Great Britain in a series of about 250 Engravings.] 1817 Idler in Q. Rev. 1819, Westall's Illustrations to the Works of Walter Scott, Esq. In 8vo beautifully engraved from the Paintings of R. Westall R.A. 1822 W. J. HOOKER Guide Botanical Illustrations being a Series of Figures designed to illustrate the Terms employed in Lectures on Botany 1828 Lit. Gaz. 9 Feb. 84/1 The Illustrations of the book are worthy of George Cruikshank 1830 J. MOORE (title) The Fat Quixote, or Tale with Vignette Illustration by J. M. W. Turner, R.A. 1842 MURRAY Handbk. Lond. Antiq. 10 I select items from the illustrations of the numerous works which the press is daily pouring forth 1851 RUSKIN (title) The Stones of Venice with Illustrations drawn by the Author 1888 Nature 23 Aug. 384 The book is one which especially nets worthy for the beauty of its illustrations 1898 Navy & Army Illustr. 23 July 442 Our next illustration shows a boat engaged in sounding.

Illustra'tional, a rare [f. prec. + -AL1] Of or pertaining to illustration, illustrative

1885 BOWEN in Van Amstel Lect. III 60 Pattern, in its emphatic and illustrational way, that the whole person is a sight of present interest that concerns and affects Lands

Illustrative (ilʉ·strătiv), a [f. ILLUSTRAT-E + -IVE] ppl. stem of illustrāre to ILLUSTRATE + -IVE]

1 Serving or tending to illustrate, make clear or elucidate, explanatory, elucidatory, affording an illustration or example, illustratory. Const. of

1643 SIR T. BROWNE Relig. Med. I § 43 Unspeakable mysteries in the Scriptures are often delivered in unclear and illustrative way 1792 MARY WOLLSTONECRAFT Rights of Wom. vi 260 Till some so curious circumstance makes the information dart into the mind with illustrative force 1828 COBB Scarborough Collection 1 The following paragraphs illustrative of the accompanying etchings. 1867 SMILES Huguenots Eng. II (1880) 2 The life of Palissy is eminently illustrative of his age 1868 DENNING Astron. 109 § 1 Const. 89 Lest ye miss a point illustrative 1869 TENDALL Notes Lect. Light 110 Taking, as an illustrative case, the passage from air into water

†2 Shining illuminative Obs. rare

1686 Good Celest. Bodys 2 It will be as bright and Illustrative, as Phœbus and but now

Illu'stratively, adv [f. prec. + -LY2] In an illustrative manner, by way of or by means of, illustration, so as to illustrate

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Vulg. Err. VII xiii 314 Delivered Hieroglyphically, metaphorically, illustratively 1822 DE QUINCEY Confess. (1856) 14 Treating the question illustratively rather than argumentatively Illustrator (ilʉ·strētŏr). [Agent-n. in L form f. ILLUSTRATE v. Cf. late L. illustrato (1 actantius), f. illustratus (15th c. in Godef.)] One who or that which illustrates, in the various senses of the vb.; one who gives or draws illustrations, the artist who illustrates a book or periodical.

1598 FLORIO, Illustratore, an illustrator, a glorifier, a giuer of honors. c1612 CHAPMAN Homer's Iliads Sum Of 6 The right gracious Illustrator of vertue the Earle of Montgomrie 1638 BURTON Anat. Mel (ed. 4) III iv v 585 Leontius his illustrator Garcæus. 1689 Sp. in Woods Life 30 Jan (O. H. S.) III 323 'An illustrator', or 'picturer of great letters in books' 1812 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Rev. LXVII 499 From Herodotus and his illustrators 1834 L. BRADLEY (title) Graphic and Historical Illustrator of the Popular Superstitions and Customs of Wales 1870 DICKENS Edwin Drood (1880) II 139 You please me with what you say of my new illustrator 1879 C. BROWN Thirty Sons of Belial 114 She stands out as the deepest, broadest and most catholic illustrator of the true ethics of Christianity

Illu'stratory, a [f. I illustrāt- (see ILLUSTRATE) + -ORY2] Illustrative

a 1734 NORTH Exam. (1740) 660 Introductory, illustratory, or explanatory answers of Irish facts] 1806 Monthly Mag. I 48 Dryden's works with notes critical and illustratory by the Editor

Illustrature (ilʉ·strătiūr). [f. ILLUSTRATE + -URE] A ornate illustrator 1866 [J.] Illustrated in Reader 10 Mar 248/1 The illustrature of the present book 1888 Sat. Rev. 29 Dec. 785

†Illustre, a Obs Also 6 illuster -are, ir [= F. illustre, 14th c. in Hatz. Darm.] Illustrious, ad. L. illustris clear, bright, lustrous, plain, evident, distinguished, famous.] Illustrious

1500-20 DUNBAR Lament 81 Illuster Lodovick of France most Christin King c1532 DU WES Introd. to Palsgr. 1 6 Right illuster & prosperous Iuly 1550 WEVER Lat. Rev. Nouns (1840) 9 the faithful subjects of this victorious and illustre realme 1585 JAS. I Lvs Poesie (ed. Reid 1911) 14 The deuine and illuster Poete, Salust du Barta 1612 MONSERRATE Abridgem. Sect. Christ. I 4 Some of the illuster and illustre acts of your Highnes 1653 H. COGAN Pythag. Moral. 66 Illuster Dames

†Illustre, v Obs [a. F. illustrer] to light up, illumine (obj.), render illustrious, illustrate, ad. L. illustrare (see ILLUSTRATE v.)

1511 Dance To light up, illumine, to brighten

1490 CAXTON Eneydos xxvii 96 To go vpryde ouerthe mesure lyght to illustre and illumyne the lande 1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas I 434 And, all illustred with Lights before shone Ibid. (1605) Magnif. 390 With Natures luster Thou oughtst (if it to thy Greatness to illustre

2 To render illustrious or distinguished, to confer distinction upon 1530 PALSGR. 584/2 His noble acte illustreth your famous and your ancesters 1548 HALL Chron. Hen. VIII, 71 For to decore and illustre the same assembly . . . they shall do some faire feate of armes 1579 FULKE Gods Pts 146 Ye shew your princes, illustre them

Hence Illu·stred ppl. a., made illustrious

In quot. 1649 used punningly with reference to a possible variant in the first meaning. Among the lustre

1511 Dance Illustred Lucrece Inform Sec. Ranks 9 That their illustrycyes might see his innocency 1761 MRS. ELIOT Let. to Mrs. Carter 1 Aug., See the short date of human life illustred 1776 Trial Jos. Reg 84 A name of great illustricity in the annals of France

Illustrious (ilʉ·strĭəs), a (Also 7 illustrous, 8c -uous) [f. L. illustris + -OUS]

†1 Lighted up, having lustre or brilliancy, luminous, shining, bright, lustrous Obs.

a 1605 Northumb. Ballad in Child V 7 From the igniferous body Seven splendent or illustrious rays are spread 1668 CLEVELAND & COLE Exorbitant Answ. 11 10 Too Bright, the companion of Heavenly Spirits, by which the Saints are a more Illustrious Choir 1713 DERHAM Phys. Theol. V iv 350 A Diamond he observed to be more illustrious at some times than others 1886 DOWDEN Shelley I 321 476 He and Peacock made the darkness illustrious with fireworks

+2 Clearly manifest, evident or obvious Obs

1599 T. M[ORTON] Sch. Verity 1 The Lustrous God Retruing may be destroyed as to all outward visible illustrious apprehension 1762 KAMES Elem. Crit. (1788) II 405 The final cause of music is illustrious 1792 J. MARTON Pandora I Dissert 6. They demand our assent from the illustrious certainty they possess.

3 Possessing lustre by reason of high birth or rank, noble; of exalted nature or qualities, distinguished, eminent, renowned, famous. a Of persons

(Sometimes used as a title of courtesy in addressing or speaking of persons of high rank. Cf. ILLUSTRISSIMO)

1588 WARNER Alb. Eng. VI xxxiv (1612) 149 Two illustrious Wights, A man of fire, new words, fashions owne Knight 1605 — Lear v. iii 135 Conspirant 'gainst this high illustrious Prince 1611 SHAKS. Cymb. V. v. 480 Most Dear & Royall Sir, And O' I wish your brave, illustrious prince Were here 1692 DRYDEN Nat. Humorist's Ess. 204 There are Illustrious Deluders, but there never was an Illustrious Miser 1729 ROBERTSON Hist. Scot. VII II 150 She was an accomplish woman, rather than an illustrious Queen 1809 Mod. Patriot 14 The only tribute we can pay to the illustrious dead 1855 PRESCOTT Philip II, I II iii 176 Several of these victims were not only illustrious for their rank but yet more so for their talents and virtues

b Of things

c1566 J. ADAMS (R. bonystonus) Theat. World Q ij b, Acknowledging in him his proper figure and illustrious marke 1582 J. HAYWARD tr. Belondi's Eromena 13 His illustrious deeds, his renowme as quirl 1701 Stanley's Hist. Philos. Biogr. 7 Mr. Des Cartes has given us an illustrious Instance of the Use of this Method in his Meditations and Method 1820 LAMB Elia Ser. 1 Two Races Men, One leaf of the illustrious folio

¶ In the following passage in the Shakspere folios, in the sense 'not lustrous, dull' (II.-6) whence editors have substituted illustrous, inlustrous, un lustrous

1611 SHAKS. Cymb. I. vi. 109 (1623) An eye Base and illustrious as the smoakie light That's fed with stinking Tallow

Illu·striously, adv [f. prec. + -LY2] In an illustrious manner, †luminously, brightly, resplendently, clearly, conspicuously, brilliantly

1638 CHILLINGW. Relig. Prot. I v § 18 259 A Church thus illustriously and conspicuously visible 1725-90 POPE Odyss. XI 388 In his own native illustriously he fails 1768 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) III iii 28, I never beheld a skin so illustriously fair 1869 COLERIDGE Poets Holmes VII 62 In the Cross of His Son God is most illustriously seen

Illu·striousness. [f. as prec. + -NESS] Illustrious quality or condition, †brilliance, resplendency, distinction, illustrious rank or position

1650 BP. HALL Mysterium Pietatis (1658) 383 Learnt to all our New Nobility Good might Illustriousness 1660 JER. TAYLOR Duct. Dubit. II iv 726 The illustriousness of the birth 1682 MRS. BEHN Lucky Chance II iii, And please your Illustriousness 1889 Harper's Mag. Mar 501/1 Academies which can vie with ours in the illustriousness of their numbers

†Illustrissimo (ilŏstri·simō, It. illustrissimo), a and sb (Anglicized illustrissim) [It., ad. L. illustrissimus, superl. of illustris (ILLUSTRE a.)]

a adj Most illustrious, used as a title of courtesy in addressing or speaking of illustrious nobles, whence sometimes applied to others. b sb A man of noble rank, one of the Italian nobility

1623 WEBSTER Duchess Law Case II i, Your switching up it the horse race, with the illustrissim 1681 Dux Tanger I. 12 The illustrissimo of Lettun 1708-24 DUNTON Lett. Nat. (1955) I 475 Mynheer, dear Doctor, celeberrimous Doctor insignitæ illustrissim Doctor 1809 South Amer. Sk. XIX. Not will we suffer your pitiful likes with the Wife Italian, and cull you all the time Illustrissimo and Magnifico

Illustrous : see under ILLUSTRIOUS.

†Illu·tible, a Obs rare⁻⁰ [ad. late L. illutibilis (Nonius), f. il (IL- + intĭre, lut- to wash) + -BILE.] (see quot.)

1623 COCKERAM, Illutible, that cannot be washed away

1656 in BLOUNT Glossogr.

†Illuxu·rious, a Obs rare⁻¹ [f. IL- + LUXURIOUS.] Not luxurious, void of luxury

1751 LADY ORRERY Remarks Swift iv (1752) 72 The widow Vanhomrigh and her two daughters quitted the illuxurious soil of their native country for the more elegant pleasure of the English court

Ill will, ill-will (i·lwi·l), sb [In early use northern, corresp. to ON illvili, f. ill adj. + vili sb 'will'. In ME usually written as two words cf. euil will, OI (hist.) yfela willa

(Of also) malevolentia, of which and the adjs malevolus, malevolus, this and the following words are often the English rendering.]

1 Evil or hostile feeling or intention towards another, malevolence, malice, enmity, dislike.

a 1300 Cursor M. 7834 (Cott.) Qua las hand in felom Of of hill wil him mai not quitte 1340 Ayenb. 259/1 (Earl) Pat hest was hoot wib uuel ille wille 1375 Barbour Bruce Mathias 390 Pe lowis, pat tuk tent here til, For Inwy and grat ill will 1533 LD. BERNERS Huon lxx. 240 Ye do me grete wronge to cal me yours, yll wyll 1597 SHAKESPEARE Taming Shrew Induct. ii. 4 Inuic, thiefe, adulatione or flatrie 1600 SHAKS. A. Y. L. III. v. 71 Why looke you so vpon me? Phe. For no ill will I beare you 1753 YOUNG Centaur I. Wks. 1757 IV 108 It is both folly, and vice, to bear any man ill will 1888 SCOTT E. M. Perth XXVII, How comes it, then, that thy stages are haunted by perils and ill-attrib. a 1838 BENTHAM Deontology Wks. 1834 II 265 Correspondent to that same good will fund there is an ill will fund

+2 With an ill will, unwillingly Obs

1601 R. JOHNSON Kingd. & Commw. (1603) 61 They are drawne from their houses with an ill will

Hence +Ill will v. trans., to regard with ill will wish evil to

1568 NORTH tr. Guevara's Diall Pr. (1582) 423 He beloued of the Princes is commonly ill willed of the Common people

Ill-willed (i·lwi·ld), a. [f. prec. sb + -ED2] Of one illwillyadv, L. malevolus]

1 Feeling or cherishing ill will, malevolent a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter IX 39 Altobreke be arme of be vsynful and of be ill willid Ibid. CIV 14 In my prophets wilns nought be illwilled 1470 HARL. MANUSCR. Sayings 115 Ignorant folkis froward and ill willed 1483 Cath. Angl. 195/2 Ille wylled, malevolus 1885 BROCKETT, Ill willed, malevolent, illnatured

+2 Unwilling, reluctant Obs

1549 COVERDALE, etc. Iwam Par Row 41 Not to teache you, as ignorante, neither to commaunde you, as people ylwylled

Ill-willer (i·lwi·lər). [Late ME., f. ILL adv. (or sb.) + willer of the earlier il willand sb (see NOT) in same sense; also the parallel evil-willer, weel willer, and the expressions to will one ill, evil, or weel.] One who wishes evil to another, one who cherishes ill will or hostile feeling

c 1300 Melusine 211, I haue be yl willer bothe to you & to your lady (c 1388 ayenst alle your euyl willers). 1387 PEYNE Bartlay's Fragarth 89 Al the purposes of mine yllwyllers and aduersaries. 1678 MARVELL Def. Howe Wks. 1875 IV 230 He seems to be no ill willer to transubstantiation 1692 Andrew Fracis II 28 Some of those Male contents and Ill wilers of their Neighbours 1780 JOHNSON Lett. to Mrs. Thrale 21 June, His ill-wilers are very unwilling to think he can ever more sit in parliament [Not in Ir's Dict] 1808 Scott F. M. Perth xix, I have ill wilkers enough. 1876 Bancroft Hist U S I ix 285 Ill wilkers to New England were already railing against its people.

Ill-willing, a. rare [f Ill adv or ppl. a. + Willing ppl. a. Cf OE. yfel-willende, L. malevolens.] Wishing evil to another; cherishing ill will; malevolent. In first two quots as sb. = Ill-willer.

a 1300 Cursor M 6820 If þou find oþer iuwilland [o r ill-willand] his beast ligand ... a 1300 E. E. Psalter xliii 6 In be sal blaw with horn our ill wiland 1742 Richardson Pamela (1824) I v 240 This same ill willing world might think it was.

Ill-willingness = Ill-will 1.

a 1340 Hampole Psalter lxxiv 22 Restore my saule fra ill willandnes of þaim 1580 Hollyband Treas Fr Tong, Malveillance, ill willingnesse Ill-willy (i ˌlwili), a. Chiefly Sc. [f Ill will sb. + -y.] Cf Evil-willy.] Cherishing ill will; malevolent, malignant, ill-disposed.

[1300-20 Dunbar Poems lxxv 32 Be warme baurit and nocht evill willie, Bannatyne MS illwillie] Almanack of Year 1786, 5 Saturne is colde and drie, and illwilly. a 1568 Wyf of Auchterm viii, Than thair cumis ane illwilly cow. And brocht in hame the buttock. 1611 Cotgr., Malingre, ill willie. 1721 Kelly Sc Prov 12 (Jam) An ill willy cow should have short horns. 1819 W Tennant Papistry Storm'd (1827) 122 Syn baith the Bears now shune ill willie.

Ill-wish, v. [f. Ill adv. (or sb.) + Wish v.] trans. To wish evil to; to bring misfortune upon, or bewitch, by wishing evil, according to a popular belief in some rural districts (cf evil eye).

1869 R. Hunt Pop Rom W Eng Ser II 80, I believe I was ill-wished once. 1879 E. Garrett Home by Work I 162, I fear they almost ill wished her when her husband lured lodgings for her at the seaside.

Ill-wisher (i ˌlwiʃəɹ). [f Ill adv (or sb) + Wisher: cf well-wisher.] One who wishes evil to another; an ill-willer 1607 Hieron Wks I 445 These ill wishers to the Iewes. 1710 Addison Freeholder No. 55 Propagated by the ill-wishers to our constitution. 1848 Hallam Const Hist (1876) II ix 123 His ill wishers knew how to irritate the characteristic sensibility of the English on this topic.

Illy (i|li), adv Now dial [f Ill a + -ly.2] In an ill manner; badly, ill.

1549 Dr. Somerset Let Sir T Hoby 24 Aug in Strype Eccl Mem II App. lxi 106 In Norfolk, gentlemen, and al serving men for their sake, are ally handled as much. 1594 Carew Huarte's Exam Wits v (1596) 62 In the morning we learne best ... and at the euening ally. 1600 R. Knox Hist. Ceylon iv iv 233 They might see, how illy they were served. 1785 Jefferson Writ (1894) IV 100 Beauty is jealous, and bears the impudence of a rival. 1798 Southey Joan of Arc viii 634 Thou dost deem That I have illy spared so large a band. 1848 Lowell Fable for Critics 938 He does it sketchily, not lovingly, Nor illy, and shows ally. 1849 W. Irving Goldsmith (Tauchn.) 56 Never were two beings more ally assorted than he and Goldsmith. 1898 T. Hardy Wessex Poems 170 Even the rank poplars bear illy a rival's air Ilmenite (i ɪlmɛnəɪt). Min [Named, 1827, from the Ilmen Mountains (in southern Urals), where found] Oxide of iron and titanium found in brilliant black crystals and in massive varieties.

1827 Edin New Philos Jrnl III 187 1894 Bowker in Harper's Mag Jan, 410/1 Ilmenite, or titanic iron (I e Ti), O_3 an ore in which one of the iron molecules of hematite is replaced by the metal titanium

Il-logen, ME pa pple of Lie v^2, to tell lies

Il-loke(n, of Look v. I-loked, of Look v

I-lome : see Ylome adv, frequently. I-lomp, pa. t. of I limp v. I-long adv. see Alonge and Ylong I-lope(n, ME. pa. pple of Leap v. I-lore(n, of Lose v. see also Lorn I-losed, of Loose v Ilot, var of Islot, islet Ilote, obs. f. Helot. I-loten, ME. pa pple of Lot v. I-loued, of Love v I-lowe(n, of Lie v^2 Ilpa see Illupi.

†Ilsample, a perversion of Ensample, to suggest ill example, ill example

1588 Newport Feast (Arb) 5 But euerie Lord B(ishop) in England, as for ilsample, lohn of Cant 1589 Marpret Epit (1843) 52 That is the ilsample of Archbishop Titus.

Ilsplin, a hedgehog : see Ils 3

I-luve, var of Yleve, to believe

I-luved, ME. pa. pple. of Love v

Ilvaite (i lvəɪˌəit) Min [Named, 1811, from Ilva, Elba, where it is found] A black crystalline silicate of iron and calcium, called also hievrite

1868 R. Jameson Syst Min II 75. 1868 Dana Min (ed 5) 297

I-lyche, i-lyke : see Alike, Ylike

Im-1, assimilated form of the suffix In-2, before b, m, p. This assimilation took place in Latin during the later classical period, and remains in French and English (although in- (en-) was not infrequent before p in OF and ME) In words that survived in living use, L im-, im- became in OF. em-, em-. These words were taken into ME in their current Fr. form, but from the 14th c. onward, there was a marked tendency to alter the French back into the Latin form of the prefix Hence, many words are found with both em- and im-, in some cases one, in some the other, being ultimately prevalent, while in others, as empanel, impanel, the variation still continues. see Em-, and In-2 In this Dictionary, words thus varying in the prefix are treated under the prevalent spelling, or under that which analogy favours, whether Em- or Im-, a cross-reference being given under the other spelling In words more recently derived from Latin (or from Italian) im- is the regular form

Words in im- are chiefly verbs and their derivatives, and may be thus classed ·

a. Words in im- taken from L or Romance), directly or through later French, as imbibe, imbue, imburse, immerge, immure, impact, impale, impend, implore, imprecate b Words in which OF em- has been altered back to im- or AF or Eng , as impair, impeach, implead, improvish c Words formed in Eng on the analogy of the preceding, from obs, adjs , or verbs, not only of Romance, but also of native Eng or other origin The earlier of these began with im- (being the form of En before labial), which was afterwards altered to em- in the 15th c, after this, later formations began with im from the first Such are, from obs , imbarge, imbarre, immantle, immould, impalace, imperil, impocket, imbirch, imbreed, imbroad, imcloud, imcrimson, imdeer, imdiamond, imgulf, impeccish (cf imbrutish, impoor, from verbs, imbake, imbesiege, imbreathen, impatch, impight, impinge, implead In some of the last, im may have been felt as a variant of In-1 For the sense expressed by the prefix, see In-2

In words in imm-, usually only one m is pronounced, but when in technical words in the prefix, or it is necessary to make plain its force in a nonce word or an unusual word, as immind, immoss, immud, both mm, or a pro longed m, may be pronounced

Im-2, assimilated form in L of the negative prefix In-3 before b, m, p, which retains the same form in English, as imbonity, immemorial, impossible In imm-, only one m is ordinarily pronounced (the prefix being then reduced to i-), but mm may be kept separate where emphasis or distinctness requires, as in im-malleable, im-mixed

Im, obs form of Him

I'm (aim), colloq. contraction of I am

I-maad, i-mad, ME. pa. pple of Make v

I-meht's : see Might sb

Image (i mėdj), sb Forms 3-6 ymage, (4 ymag, ymadge), 4- image [a F image (13th c in Littré), = Pr imatge, Sp imagen, Pg imagem, ad. L. imāgo, imāgin-em imitation, copy, likeness, statue, picture, phantom, conception, thought, idea, similitude, semblance, appearance, shadow, app containing the same root as im-itāri to Imitate]

1 An artificial imitation or representation of the external form of any object, esp of a person, or of the bust of a person a Such an imitation in the solid form, a statue, effigy, sculptured figure (Often applied to figures of saints or divinities as objects of religious veneration) a 1225 Leg Kath 1476 Hulde hete make þe of gold an ymage a 1300 Cursor M 2098 For freind ded bat pan was dere did make ymage o metal sere c1375 Sc. Leg. Saints, Agnes 387 Sum wald ha þe ymag in hy, & mad him pere altarete 1388 Wyclif Lev xxvi 4 Thou schalt not make to thee a grauun ymage thou schalt not reere þee, neither þat wole haue ... c1400 Maundev (1839) 170 An Ymage, þat haþ ny bedes. 1450 Mirour Saluacioun 1316 With the ymage of goddi Hamone ymn wroght ... 1526 Tindale Acts xvii 29 As þough þem selves from filthines of ymages [Wyclif 15 mulacris, 1611 Idoles] 1563 Homilies II Agst Idolatry i (1859) 238 We should not have þese ymages in our sight, for an occasion of worshipping them 1615 G Sandys Trav 8 The Inchantresse having made two Images of her beloved, the one of Wax, the other of Waxen substance 1740 Maunder Chr I iv 384 Gregory the second (was) instrumental for the worship of images 1860 Pusey Min Proph 379 Graven and molten images, the idols which men adore shall be their destruction

b (Less usually) Such an imitation delineated, painted, executed in relief, etc upon a surface, a likeness, portrait, picture, carving, or the like (Now rare or Obs exc. as illusions to Matt xxii 20) c1305 Pilate 142 in E. E. P (1862) 115 Anon þo he be ymage (on Veronica's kerchief) isey he was þliol anon 1362 Langl. P Pl A. i 48 God asked whom þe ymage was lyk þat per lenede [on pennyȝ stod 1382 Wyclif Matt xxii 20 Whos is this ymage, and the wryting aboue? 1548 Hall Chron, Hen VIII 207 b, I the one clothe was embraudred with the image of the old man 1601 R. Johnson Kingd & Commw (1603) 97 Hee gaue them a red banner with the image of the crucifixe painted therein 1713 Steele Guard No. 1 ¶ 1 Art has taken care to affix his own image opposite to the title-page 1839 Yeowell Anc Brit Ch ii (1847) 22 Their coinage of gold and silver with Cæsar's image.

†c Applied to the constellations, as figures or delineations of persons, etc. Obs

1481 Caxton Myrr III xx 178 The sterres whyche be named ben all figures on the heuene and compassed by ymages 1594 Blundevil Exerc VII xxxviii (1636) 714 The 48 Images of the fixed stars otherwise called 48 Constellations. 1604 Moxon Tycho Astron. 1 § 10 The Images called Constellations, drawn upon the Celestial Globe

d fig Applied to a person (a) as simulating the appearance of some one, or considered as unreal, (b) as compared in some respect to a statue or idol

1548 Hall Chron, Hen VII 37 b, Hearyng that they feyned duke was come, and had heard that he (Perkin Warbeck) was but a peinted ymage 1559 W Cunningham Cosmogr Glasse 1 Those most miserable men (yea, rather images, and pictures of men, then very men in dede) [1599 Shaks Much Ado II i 3 The one is too like an image and saies nothing] 1741 Richardson Pamela (1824) I xxiii 135 Can the pretty image speak, Mrs Jervis? How she has speaking eyes! 1892 Mrs Oliphant Little Pilgrim xx 204 'How old are you, Topsy?' 'Don no, missis, only the image, with a grin that showed all her teeth

2 An optical appearance or counterpart of an object, such as is produced by rays of light either reflected as from a mirror, refracted as through a lens, or falling on a surface after passing through a small aperture

An image of this appearance may also be a mere subjective impression on the sense of sight, as an After-image (q v), and the negative or accidental image seen after looking intently at a bright coloured object and having a colour complementary to that of the object

An image produced by reflexion or refraction is called in Optics a real image when the rays from each point of the object actually meet at a point, virtual image when they diverge as if from a point beyond the reflecting or refracting body 1325 Shoreham 27 In a myrour thou myȝt se wel thi selve se, Bote nouȝt þi ȝoȝe ne schelte 1548 Hall Chron Rich III 44 b, He perfectly knew my owne image in a glasse 1563 W Fulke Meteors (1640) 8 Appearing as though there were many Sunnes, whereas indeed there is but one, and all the rest are images 1653 Robins Pantila I 16 6 From seeing upon the Sun the impression leaves an image of the Sun before our eyes a long time after 1674 Boyle Excell Ch & Christ v Wks I 408 The Image of a Man cast into the Air by a Concave Spherical Looking-glass 1779 Cowper Poplar Field 4 Nor Ouse on his bosom their images shows 1823 Newton Optics II ii 211 The size of an image formed behind a lens is always proportioned to the distance of the image from the lens.

b transf. (a) A collection of heat-rays concentrated at a particular point or portion of space, analogous to an image formed by light-rays. (b Electr (See quot from Maxwell)

1873 Tyndall Lect Light v 181 The substantial identity of light and heat (is proved by) the formation of invisible heat images 1873 Maxwell Elec & Magn I xi 292 An imaginary electrified point, which has no physical existence but which may be called an electrical image, because the action of the surface on external points is the same as that which would be produced by the imaginary electrified point if the spherical surface were removed 1885 Watson & Burbury Math Theory Electr & Magn I 115 Every electrified system within the sphere has its image outside the sphere No closed surface except a sphere or infinite plane, generally speaking, has an image

3 abstractly Aspect, appearance, form, semblance, likeness (Now only in allusions to, or uses derived from, biblical language, esp Gen i 26, 27)

a 1300 Cursor M 12371 Yee þat he has wroght to men after his aun ymage 1382 Wyclif Gen ix 6 Therfore is we han bore the ymage of the erthen man, here we and the ymage of the heuenli 1548 Hall Chron Hen VI 92 b, Who he child was iudged to have the very ymage and lovely countenance of his noble parent 1602 Shaks Ham I ii 77 By the image of my Cause, I see The Portraiture of his 1611 Bible (Acts i 27 God created man in his owne Image, in the Image of God created hee him 1700 Dryden tr. Ovid's Metam I 89 The face of things a frightful image bears 1781 Gibbon Decl & F xxxi III 43 The affability of his manners display'd the image of his mind 1857-8 Sears Athan xi 91 We grow into the image of what we love

†b concr A visible appearance, a figure; an apparition Obs or arch

1530 Tyndale Prol Deut Wks (1573) 22/1 Ye saw no image when God spake vnto you, but heard a voyce only 1548 Hall Chron, Hen VI 53 b, Which was by him by the ymage a slepe ȝe he sawe diuerse ymages lyke terrible deuelles 1602 Shaks Ham I i 81 Our last King, Whose Image euen but now appear'd to vs 1667 Milton P L xi 588 The slipp'ry God will ... various Forms assume, to cheat thy sight, And with vain Images of Beasts affright 1832 Tennyson Marianna in South vii, An image seem'd to pass the door, To look at her with sight

4. A thing in which the aspect, form, or character of another is reproduced, a counterpart, copy

a 1300 Cursor M 1116 (Göt) He [God] wil pat he by be vtrage, Pat murtherd sun his aun ymage 1393 Langl. P Pl C xxi 328 As bow by gyfedest godes ymage 1 2560 Barnes Wks (1573) 346/1 Yee were better to haue vnto those Idolles and to warme this true image of God there by 1594 Shaks Rich III II iii 50, I haue keuept a worthy Husbands death, And liu'd with looking on his Images 1600 Granger Dyv Logike 147 Sleepe is the image of death 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iv 70 Hollow Rocks that double Images of Voice resound 1821 Byron Sardan i ii, 400, I have loved, and lived, and multiplied my image 1866 De Argyll Philos Belief 184 In ourselves is the external and the internal world, and we are the image and embodiment of both Mod He is the very image of his father

b A thing that represents or is taken to represent something else, a symbol, emblem, representation (In mod. use scarcely distinguishable from prec)

c 1386 J Audlay tr Beaumont's Christ Worldy Kn, Blond which is the image and figure of sunne 1600 Shaks. Ham III ii 248 This Play is the Image of a murder done in Vienna. 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 13 The silent Moone constant image of the worlds inconstance 1620 Granger Dyv Logike 164 The name is a note, signe, image, or symbol noting, and representing the nature of the thing 1804 W. JENNAY Ind Recreat (ed. 2) II 248 This nosome dungeon affords an image of the gate of Tartarus, rather than the porch of paradise

c A thing in which some quality is vividly exhibited, so as to make it a natural representative of such quality, a type, typical example, embodiment (Now always of the quality, formerly also of a person: see quots. C, 'the picture of health') 1548 HALL Chron., Hen. I 174 b, [He] saw that Andrewe of his frend was sodainly transformed, into the image of his extreme enemy. 1593 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, i. iii 177 Image of Pride, why should I hold my peace? 1605 — Tr. & Cr. iii. 3 They are sacks that no words will fill: how true would all the night's meete fetches! the images of revolt and flying off! 1691 T. ROSS Andromaca's Devout Exercises 137 Never in my life did I see such an Image of Devotion. 1821 SHELLEY Prometh. Unb. I. 36 An awful image of calm power. 1879 MRS. BRADDON Cr. Knots, Mr. Simpson dropped his cigar, and sat translixed, an image of half amused astonishment.

5 A mental representation of something (esp. a visible object), not by direct perception, but by memory or imagination, a mental picture or impression, an idea, conception c 1374 CHAUCER Boeth. v. met. iv. 170 (Camb. MS.) Stoy eyens wenden fat ymagis and sen shadowes, fat is to seyn sensible ymaginacions, weren empreynted in to soules, fro bodies wib oute forb. 1390 GOWER Conf. III. 253 So as him thought on his corage Where he portreieth her ymage. 1597 HOOKER Eccl. Pol. v. § 1 Concepts are images, representing that which is spoken of. 1601 SHAKS. Twel. N. iv. 19 Such as true Louers are, Vnstaid and skittish In all their motions else, saue in the constant image of the creature, that is beloued. 1704 ADDISON Italy Pref. (1733) 12, I have only cited such Verses as have given us some Image of the Place. 1797 MRS. RADCLIFFE Italian I. (1826) 6 She endeavoured to dismiss his image from her mind. 1874 SUTTY Sonnet's Introit 87 The current of images that daily sweep through consciousness.

6 A representation of something to the mind by speech or writing, a vivid or graphic description 1532 MORE Dyaloge Verse Wks. 84/1, I shal put the a more ernest ymage of our confusion. 1598 B. JONSON Every Man Out (1616) The Image of the Heriuile. 1717 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Let. to Pope 1 Apr. The scribe has only given a plain image of the way of life amongst the peasants. 1817 COLERIDGE Biogr. Lit. (1847) 170 In a word, dramatic illustration does introduces the image of woman child or lord

7 Rhet. A simile, metaphor or figure of speech 1676 [see HOMILY 1]. 1750 JOHNSON Rambler No. 4 ¶ 9 In conscious combinations of images. 1846 TRENCH Mirac. vi. (1862) 188 To speak of death as a sleep, is an image, common to all languages. 1896 DR. ANGUS Handb. Bible 262 The image of the Creator walking in the garden: the angels with flaming swords to prevent return: all these are splendid images, but these are images more than laws.

8 Comb., as image bearer, -grave, -monger, -ware, -work, image bearing adj., ↑ image doter, one who doats on or is superstitiously devoted to images or idolatry, so ↑ image doting adj., ↑ image-dously [Gr. δουλεία see DULIA], image-man, a man who makes or sells images, image mug, a mug or pitcher in the form of an image or bust. Also IMAGE BREAKER, MAKER, -WORSHIP, etc.
1884 A. MURRAY Like Christ xxxi. 238 Image bearers of God! live a Godlike, live a Christlike life. 1889 Anthony's Photogr. Bull. II. 132 In removing the skin with the accompanying image bearing film from the waxed plate be sure that the whole is uniformly dry. 1629 SIR W. MUIR Jesuit Gunpowd. 139 Therefore God's decree stands to make Iniste. 1649 MILTON Eikon xxviii. An ancient and irrational and "image-doting rabble. 1570 LEVINS Comput. Nativ. 623 Confesse thou a true "Image though so better then Idolatrie. 1579-80 NORTH Plutarch's Lives (1676) Of whose deitie the "image graver. 1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst. iii. 266 They do prooue their vnlawfulnesse with the obedience and good workes not with a bare & "image like visor of faith. 1827 HONE Every Day Bk. II. 313 The board of the "image man. 1553 BRENT Answ. Gardiner (1606) 50 "Athanasius proueth emboldlye agaynste all "Imagemongers. 1731-73 JOHNSON F. T. Hist. (1876) II. 179 The history of the "image war is written by all impartially.

Image (i·mədʒ), v. [f. IMAGE sb.] 1 trans. To make an image of, to represent or set forth by an image in sculpture, painting, etc.; to figure, portray, delineate. Also fig.
a 1750 WARTON Pict. Poet. (R.) Shunes of imag'd saints. 1821 SHELLEY Prometh. Unb. III. iv. 173 Those imaged to the life of kings and priests. 1844 MRS. BROWNING Drama of Exile Poems 1853, I. 84 The images his Master wounded. 1856 PRESCOTT Mod. Eng. II. 408 Images of the fair beauty of the moon to spirit we may yet see imaged in the sculptured figures upon the floors of our cathedrals.
2 To form an optical image of (esp. by reflexion); to reflect, mirror 1792 S. ROGERS Pleas. Mem. II. 159 Had noblest structures imaged in the wave. 1860 TYNDALL Glac. I. iv. 35 The houses on the margin of the lake were also imaged to a certain height.
3 To form an image or counterpart of, to copy, imitate rare c 1611 CHAPMAN Iliad I. p. Ded. 83 They bo clear virtues emulate, in truth and justice imaging his state.
b to be an image or counterpart of, to resemble rare 1701 NORRIS Ideal World I. v. 231 The Divine Ideas are not imaging or imitative, but archetypal representatives. 1715 POPE Odyss. XIX. 445 None imag'd ever like thee my master lost.
4 To form a mental image of, to conceive; ↑ a. something to be executed. To devise, plan (The earliest sense now Obs. or merged in next) c 1440 Jacob's Well 1 He ymagyth and castyth before in his herte how he wyll makyn it. 1460 CAPGRAVE Chron. (Rolls) 200 Then told him who Mortimer had ymagined his deth. [1855 BROWNING Grammar Poet. 69 Image the whole, then execute the parts.]
b an object of perception or thought. To imagine, picture in the mind, represent to oneself a 1708 J. PHILIPS (J.), Image to thy mind How our fore fathers to the Stygian shades Went quick. 1781 J. MOORE View Soc. H. (1790) I. 347 We image to ourselves the Emperor Nero as a tremendous precipice. 1847 J. WILSON Chr. North (1857) I. 245 Image to yourselves the scenery of Burns and Lake.
5 To represent or set forth in speech or writing, to describe (esp. vividly or graphically) a 1668 T. GOUGE Holy Learning, xv. Hence sprung the Schooles, by first and second kinds Of substances, by essences and existence, That time and yet Vnutedlesse diuine to comprehend, and image to the sense. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 411, ¶ 5 Milton's Apprehension of the Contrast of the Creation, is finely imaged in the beginning of the Speech. 1796 W. TAYLOR in Monthly Rev. XX. 453 Who can describe or imagine the charms, who can image forth the beauty? 1824 ROBINSON Crusoe I. ii. (1858) 64 If only his Redeemer had been differently imaged to him.
†b To represent by an emblem or metaphor, to symbolize, typify 1816 SHELLEY Alastor 505 O thou! Imageless and invisible spirit, yet Imaging forth the wonders of thy power! 1866 PUSEY Min. Proph. 17 He shews forth His resistless power, imaged by His creatures in whom the quality of power is most visible. 1871 R. ELLIS Catullus lxiii. 21 Smiles Charact. i. (1876) 26 The heathen deities at least imaged human virtues.
Hence imaged ppl. a., and ppl. a.
1666 DRYDEN Ann. Mirab. Pref., Wks. (Globe) 40 The delightful imaging of persons, actions, passions, or things. 1701 NORRIS Misc. 186 Those Ideas or Images. 1880 GOSSE (1881) 290 The sun-tracing would not deceive, as her own tricks of imagining might do.

Imagable (i·mədʒăb'l), a. Also ↑ imagible [f. IMAGE v. + -ABLE.] Capable of being imaged, esp. in the mind 1691 F. TAYLOR Behmen's Theos. Philos. 42 Whatever hath Limits of number and measure is imagible. 1809-10 COLERIDGE (1847) Friend (1818) III. 90 Whatever is admitted to be conceivable must be imagible. 1864 Reader 21 May 697 The concepts of the mind are divided into image-able and unimage-able.

Image-break·er. One who breaks or destroys images (as being idolatrous), an iconoclast 1596 DARYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. v. 269 A counsell holdine at Berwik, anent the Image-breakers. 1641 EARL STRAFFORD Dooms day in R., Image brickers, foes to Papyll power. 1859 GUTCH & LIMEBURNER Laing 62 The Iconoclasts or image breaking sect of the Eastern church.
So Image-break·ing sb., iconoclasm, adj., iconoclastic 1654 WHITLOCK Zootomia 208 That I earned Iconoclastes, that first-rate King Pierneto Intellectual Idolatry (Bacon). 1840 CARLYLE Heroes vi. 319 It is tropical for us all to be concerned in image breaking and down pulling.

Imaged (i·mədʒd), a. [f. IMAGE v. + -ED.]
[ ] Represented by an image (physical or mental), sculptured, portrayed, reflected, imitated, imagined c 1718 PRIOR Solomon iii. 368 His ear oft frighted with the imag'd voice Of Heav'n, when first thunder'd. a 1750 [see IMAGE v. 4]. 1866 ROSSETTI Poems, Dante & his Circle 124 The saints in imaged row. 1872 GEO. ELIOT in J. W. CROSS Life (1885) III. 169 You are often among my imaged company both in dreaming and waking hours.
2 [f. the sb.] Adorned with an image or images Of porcelain. Decorated with human figures 1797 SOUTHEY Lett. Spain & Portug. (1799) 301 An imaged crucifix.

Imageless (i·mədʒĕlĕs), a. [f. IMAGE sb. + -LESS.] Without an image or images 1821 SHELLEY Prometh. Unb. II. iv. 116 The deep truth imageless, of which all Myths are shadows. 1871 R. ELLIS Catullus xcv. 27 Bocarus has numerous imageless shrines. 1885 MRS. HARRISON Stud. Gk. Art iii. 85 The worship of an imageless Polyeuktos.

†Imagely, a. Obs. rare [f. as prec. + -LY.] Characterized by images, idolatrous 1561 DANIEL Bullinger on Dan. (1573) 244 Old Rome is long since that mighty Monarche decayed: new Rome shall perish also with her Imagely Empire.

I·mage-ma·ker. A maker of images (usually in sense 1 a), a sculptor, carver, statuary 1500 Nottingham Rec. III. 85 Thomas Hyll, image maker. 1579-80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 145 Phidias the Image maker had undertaken to make the Image of Pallas. 1821 SHELLEY Prometh. Unb. III. 130 A very vehement assertion against Image makers. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) III. 130 If you are not an imitator or an image maker.

Imager (i·mədʒəɹ), Forms 4-5 ymageour, e, 5-6 or, 7 imager, (7 our) [ME ymageour, a. OF ym-, imageour (14th c. in Godef.), imagere, the surviving imager may repr. OF ymagier, imagier (12th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), or exemplify the frequent Eng. change of -our, -eur, to -er (-ER 3).] †1 A maker of images, a sculptor, carver Obs.
c 1 A Alex. 7689 (1697) (Laud MS.), Pis ymage is made after bee, I dude it an ymageoure Lasten after bi vigoure. 1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton 1483) iv. xxxvii. 84 More helply is a Carpenter or a potter than an Organer, a peynter or an ymager. 1532 HERVET Xenophon's Housek. (1768), Good joyners, good peynters, good ymagers. 1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor. 1296 Lysippus also the Imager did very well to reproove Apelles the painter.
†b Applied to a painter Obs. rare.
1591 SYLVESTER Du Bartas I. vi. 350 This more peer lass learned Imager, Life to his lovely Picture to confer, Did not extract out of the Elements A certain secret Chymick Quint essence.
2 One who images or graphically describes 1894 SUSIE BROOKE Tennyson xiv. 497 The poet as the emotional imager of life

Imagerial (imədʒi·riăl), a. rare [f. IMAGERY + -AL.] Relating to or of the nature of imagery, figurative, symbolic 1849 Fraser's Mag. XL. 568 The imagerial descriptions of Holy Writ. 1852 Howitt's Hierts IV. 230 Herat is called, after the imagerial way of the Easterns, the key of India.
Hence Image rially adv., in the way of imagery, figuratively, symbolically 1879 G. MEREDITH Egoist II. ii. 40 Imagerially, [they are] the frozen North on the young brown buds bursting into green.

Imagery (i·mədʒri, i·mədʒəri) Forms 4-6 ymagerie, -ry(e, 4-7 imagerie, -ye, (5 imagery, ymagry, 6 emygerie, imagrye), 6- imagery [a. OF imagerie (13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), f. imagier IMAGER see -ERY.] 1 Images collectively, carved figures or decorations, image-work, statuary, carving. More rarely referring to pictures. Also in pl.
a 1325 Prose Psalter lxxxiii[i]. 7 Þei bi alle confounded þat anueren ymagerie. c 1384 CHAUCER H. Fame iii. 100 Many subtile compassynges, Rabewyries, and pynacles, Ymageries and tabernacles. c 1400 Destr. Troy 1562 Vmaty ouer all vmyt þere was. 1591 SPENSER Ruines of Time 96 Wrought with faire pillours and fine imageries. — Virg. Gnat 102 His cage imbost with Imagery. 1596 W. HALIFAX in Phil. Trans. XIX. 92 A Statue, which the Turks, zealous enemies of all Imagery have thrown down. 1712 J. COOKE Voy. 5 Sea 246 The Imagery they made, their Drawings and Paintings of all lively Colours. 1870 MORRIS Earthly Par. I. ii. 188 He had wrought most godlike works in imagery. 1878 GOSSE Bk. Prof. 429 Chambers of imagery in the soul [see EZEK. viii. 12].
†b Figured work on a textile fabric, as in tapestry, embroidery Obs.
1530 GOWER Conf. III. 320 She wafe a cloth of silke all white With letters and ymagery. 1480 in Archæologia XVI. (1812) 117 A counterpoynt of arras silk with ymagery. 1553 Lew. Wills (Camden Soc.) 31 In it ij pillowes and a coverying of imagerie. 1623-44 in Willis & Clark Cambridge (1886) I. 452 [Item] ij peeces of fyne tapestrie of silke Imagrye. 1777 WARTON Odes v. 3, Each room, array'd in glistering imagery.
c transf. The pictorial elements of a natural scene or landscape, scenery; nature's 'image-work' 1849 H. MOORE Poems 195 A cloth's looking glasse (reflect) such imag'rie As it to the beholder doth present. 1774 WARTON Hist. Eng. Poetry XXXVII. (1840) III. 35 Descriptive poetry, and the representations of rural imagery. 1799 WORDSW. & COLER. Lyrical Ball. 203 The various scene, With all its solemn imagery, its rocks, Its woods. 1847 POLLOK Course of T., Scotia's northern battlement of hills. The standard still of rural imagery.
†2 The use of images in worship, idolatry Obs.
c 1440 Bestus (Laud MS. 559) If 7 b, He trowed all in Idolatrye And in false ymagerye. 1561 [PARKHURST tr. Jewel], The frames or Tabernacles deuised to aduance Imagerie holy water stones also to be clean taken away. 1624 T. WADE Jacob's Staff to Rome 208 The Aduocate of Imagerie should first of all haue declared, what hee vnderstandeth by Worship of Images.
†3 The making of images, the art of statuary or carving, rarely, the art of painting Obs.
1532 ELYOT Gov. III. xxvi. Alexander came to the shoppe of Apelles, the excellent paynter, and reasoned with hym of lines, adumbrations, proportions, or other like thinges pertaynyng to imagery. 1576 NEWTON Lemnie's Complex. (1633) 53 He in his art of Imagery so artificially handled his worke, that all other Carvers and Statuaries set him before them as an absolute Patterne for imitation. 1611 COTGR., Stoc, a compounded morter or clay verie fit for Imagerie.
†4 The way in which a thing is imaged or fashioned, workmanship, make, figure, form, fashion Obs.
c 1550 CRESSE Expos. Bacon's Dream 64 She is beauties ouermatch, If thou surueyst her curious imagerie. 1661 J. CHANDLER Ye subtle Jan 295 They are our Brethren, and pieces of the same Imagery with our selves. a 1667 JER. TAYLOR Holy Dying (1727) I. vi. 183 If V. 175 Dress your people into the imagery of Christ.
†5 An imaging, portrayal, or visible presentation of anything Obs. rare c 1718 PRIOR Solomon iii. 385 What can thy imagery of sorrow mean?
†6 A material representation or embodiment of something, = IMAGE sb. 4, 4 c. Obs.
1596 FITZ-GEFFRAY Sir F. Drake (1881) 76 Heaven-counterfaite, Fames Pyramis, honours imagerye. a 1649 DRUMM. OF HAWTH. Poems Wks. (1711) 47 Anthen, thy tears pour on this silent grave And Niobe's imagery be done.
7 †a The formation of mental images, imagination, fancy, groundless belief Obs. b. The result of this, mental images collectively or generally 1611 SPEED Hist. Gt. Brit. IX. xxi. (1632) 1097 Nor is she to be condemned vpon the imagerie of his suspicious head. 1651 HOBBES Leviath. II. xxviii. 136 Leaveth the Law of Nature and followeth the imagery of his own brain

a 1665 Jer. Taylor (J.), Things of the world fill the imaginative part with beauties and fantastick imagery 1722 Addison Spect No 417 P 1 Any single Circum-stance of what we have formerly seen often raises, up a whole Scene of Imagery 1819 Shelley Masque of Anarchy liii, Like a dream's dim imagery

8. The use of rhetorical images, or such images collectively, descriptive representation of ideas, figurative illustration, esp of an ornate character

1589 Puttenham Eng Poesie III xix (Arb) 248 Resemblance by Pourtrait or Imagery Ibid 250 When we liken an humane person to another in countenances, stature speach or other qualitie, it is called resemblance by imagerie or pourtrait a 1700 Dryden (J.), I wish there may be in this poem any instance of good imagery 1791 Boswell Johnson (1831) I 78 The whole of it [Ossian] is rich in thought and imagery 1818 J. H Newman Hist Sk (1873) III iv vi 385 The glowing imagery of prophet-

9 attrib, as †imagery work - sense 1 (and 1 b)

1500 in Ann Reg (1768) 134 A counterpane of Imagery work. 1586-12 in Wills & Clark Cambridge (1886) I 442 For wyping owte the Imagery worke vppon the walles.

†image-wo rshiip. The worship of images, idolatry

1648 Hall Old Relig x § 1 91 There was an act made for Image worship 1732 Berkeley Alciphr VII § 24 Moses not approving the image worship of the Egyptians 1787 Dull Hist Relig 64 The image worship which prevailed among them at the time of Mohammed

So †image wo rshipper, one who worships images, an idolater, †image-wo rshipping vb, image-worship, adj, that worships images

1585 Homilies to Agst Idolatry 1 (1859) 178 Such image worshippers shall never come into the inheritance of the kingdom of heaven 1595 Calfhill Answ Treat Cross (1846) 138 Called ... Image-worshippers an Image enemy Ibid 156 By applying that to image worshipping which made nothing at all to purpose a 1661 Fuller Worthies, Staffordsh (1662) 38 Itsily affords finer Alabaster (whereof those Imaglets wrought at Leghorn are made)

†Imaglet Obs rare [? for imaglet f Image + -let dim suffix] A small image, a statuette.

Imaginabi lity. rare—[f next + -ity] The quality of being imaginable

1830 Coleridge Ch & St (ed 2) 233 In order to the imaginability of a circular line

Imaginable (imæ·dʒinăbl), a Also 4 ymn [ad late L imāginābilis (Boethius), f imaginare to Imagine see -ble]

Capable of being imagined, conceivable

a In ordinary adjectival, chiefly predicative) use a 1374 Chaucer Boeth v pr iv 128 (Camb MS) Reson comprehendeth the thinges inmaginable & sensible 1538 More Confut Tindale Wks 547 1 Hys worde, which he by a meane to vs not imaginable continually speaketh vnto them 1638 Sir T. Herbert Trav (ed 2) 26 Such a dreadfull noyse, as is scarce imaginable 1651 Hobbes Lead v Wks 1 82 No use is imaginable why we may publish treasures in a private subjects. 1750 tr Leonardus Aloe Stones 51 The human understanding extends itself to things intelligible and the imagination to things imaginable 1852 H Rogers Eclt Auth (1853) 76 Miracles are, at least, imaginable

b Frequently used to emphasize the absolute or universal nature of a statement, being placed after a sb preceded by all the or a superlative, esp the greatest, or between all, every, or no, and the sb 1647 Clarendon Hist Reb I 83 Urged with all the artifice and address imaginable 1656 tr B Higden's Rare wits Trim Ad (ed 2) 98 The People held him still for the Author of all imaginable mischief to the Kingdom 1691 Washington tr Milton's Def Pop v M 2 Wks (1851) 362 Guilty of the greatest imaginable perjury 1709 Steele Tatler No 41 P 9 The Elector of Cologne is making all imaginable Haste to remove from hence to Rheims 1711 Addison Spect No 123 P 1 To find all the Duty and Affection imaginable for his supposed Parent 1798 Malthus Popul (1817) II 179 Under the best form of government imaginable 1880 L. Stephen Pope II 73 This was the last word imaginable in English or Latin 1884 Law Rep 5 Ch Div 491 There is no imaginable reason why the Court should not have power to sanction it

Hence Ima ginableness (Bailey vol II, 1727

Ima ginably, adv [f prec + -ly 2] In an imaginable manner, conceivably

1658 Sir Mist Disbelief 40 What is unimaginably, then is the meaning? 1685 Boyle Effects of Mot v 67 A scarce imaginably little force may suffice to impel them 1804 Hoveis in Cosmopolitan May, A waste and ruined field which had imaginably once been the grounds about a pleasant home

†Ima·ginal, a[1] Obs rare [app f Imagine + -al] a Of or pertaining to the imagination b Imaginable

1647 H More Song of Soul I xvi No might unequall May reach that vast profundity Ibid II ii xxx The downward life is th' impressed magnitude Of Natures Art Ibid III iv xxi They would be strike wise, Know one anothers thoughts imaginal 1658 J Webb tr Caliprendi's Cheiromancy III ii, 181 With all imaginall pomp

Imaginal (imæ·dʒinăl), a[2] Entom [f L imāgin-, stem of Imago + -al] Of or pertaining to an insect imago Imaginal disk see quot

1877 Huxley Anat Inv Anim VII 449 The apodal maggot, when it leaves the egg, carries in the interior of its body certain regularly arranged discoidal masses of indifferent tissue, which are termed imaginal disks. These imaginal disks undergo little or no change until the larva encloses itself in its hardened last shed cuticle, and becomes a pupa 1885 Athenæum 25 Apr 539/1 Reserving the two others to rear to the imaginal condition 1891 F W Myers in 19*th Cent* Apr 642 What are called 'imaginal characters'—points of structure which indicate that the larva has descended from an imago

†Ima ginant, ppl a and sb Obs [ad L imāginānt-em, ppr. ppple of imāginare to Imagine]

A ppl a That imagines

1626 Bacon Sylva § 901 Introd, The Force of Imagination either vpon the Body Imaginant, or vpon another Body

B sb One who imagines, an imagiist

1605 Bacon Adv Learn II xi § 3 46 The bodie of the Imaginant 1626 — Sylva § 902 There is no doubt, but that Imagination and Vehement Affection worke greatly vpon the Body of the Imaginant 1665 J. Spencer Prodigies (1665) 223 The single testimony of some superstitious and melancholy Imaginant †Imaginarian, nonce tod [see -arian] One who occupies himself with imaginary things.

1830-3 Montgomery Lect Poetry 216 The greatest realists, and the greatest imaginarians,—if I may coin a barbarous word for a special occasion

Imaginarily (imæ·dʒinărĭli), adv [f next + -ly 2] In an imaginary way, in imagination

1593 Nashe Christ's T (1613) 69 My heart shall recreate it selfe in imagining, and abandonne him 1632 R. H. Treasury of Hist Creatures 305 Perplexed with what he is either really or imaginarily wanteth 1779 G. Keate Sketches from Nat (ed 2) 15 On the beach we saw, imaginarily all 1874 Motley Barneveld II xi 36 The places which they are now imaginarily to leave

Imaginary (imæ·dʒinări), a (sb) Also 4 ymag-, 6 imaginarie [ad L imaginārius, f imāgo, imagin- Image. See -ary 1]

1 Existing only in imagination or fancy, having no real existence (Opposed to real, actual)

1382 Wyclif Acts Prol, Sum visioun is bodili sum is spiritual or imaginarie, as whanne we seen slepinge, or elles wakinge we beholden the ymges of thingis, bi whiche sum other thing is signefied 1510 More Picus Wks 17 2 How shorte, howe vncertain, how shadowe like, false imaginary and ymaginable thinges 1588 J. Lyly Pappe Ep, The word ghosts, which signifieth the Imaginary inhabitants of mans brain 1709 Lady M. W. Montagu Let to Jam Hartley 20 Jan, After giving me imaginary wit and beauty, you give me imaginary passions, and you tell me I am in love 1727 Swift Gulliver II vi Besides real objects we are entertained with the characters of persons, for which the physicians have invented imaginary cases 1792 Cowper Let 29 July Wks 1836-7 III 60 You may think them imaginary 1822 Hazlitt Table Talk Ess xiv, Short Stud III iv 265 Rich men could not easily abandon substantial enjoyments in pursuit of so imaginary an object

b Said of lines, etc, assumed to be drawn through or between certain points

1601 Holland Pliny II 397 If a woman make three imaginary circles round about them [etc.] 1601 R. Jones Arith Euclid (1702) 40 Imaginary Lines are such as cannot be drawn from Number to Number 1703 Moxon Mech Exer 230 Each two Centers shall have an imaginary Line drawn between them 1727 Wm Hill Navig Indica 9 1857-71 Imaginary lines drawn upon it

c Math Applied to quantities or loci having no real existence, but assumed to exist for the purpose of generalization, or of extending a formula to all cases in which the square root of a negative quantity, or any expression involving such a root or any point, curve, etc. denoted algebraically by such an expression Imaginary quantities are sometimes called impossible quantities Also transf Relating to imaginary quantities or loci, as imaginary geometry, projection, etc. (Opp to real)

1831 Dick Philos Relig (1836) 214 Imaginary, or sometimes called, impossible roots, may quelquefois seulement imaginaires] 1706 W Jones Syn Palmar Mathesios 177 The Original Composition or Roots of all Equations may be either Affirmative, Negative, Mixed, or Imaginary 1816 tr Lacroix's Diff & Int Calculus 98 The coefficient of assumes an imaginary value 1841 J. R Young Math Dissert 130 Expressions which in their common algebraic character denote impossibility or impossible quantities 1859 Barry Nat Hist Eighteen Cent 60 If [the] ratio of gravity or any even root of a negative quantity is called an Imaginary quantity 1882 Mascheroni Euclid Rectified 215 The remaining portion of this equipotential locus is the imaginary circle which cuts the circle of poles orthogonally

†2 Relating to the imagination, imaginative

1595 Shake John II i 56 My face was blunt, And foule imaginative eyes of blood Presented thee more hideous then thou art 1600 — Sonn xxvii My weake imaginary dreames Make me a restlesse pilgrime of thy throne 1677 Gilpin Demonol (1867) 141 Satan had power to work upon their imaginary faculty the species, images, or chimeras of what was to be suggested

†3 Of the nature of an image or representation Obs

1593 Shake Lucr 1422 Much imaginarie worke was there Conceit deceitful, so profound, That it deprived both the eye and eare To their objects, seeing what was not there 1598 Barckley Felic Man III xxxiii 281 Is this Vision, though it be Imaginary (or representing itself by way of Image, to me), was never seen by me with the eyes of my Body

†4 Supposed, putative Obs

a 1632 Donne Serm xxv 250 His Imaginary father Joseph

†5 Imaginable, that can be imagined Obs

1653 Ashwell Ardes Apost 12 Clearing my way as I go of all Imaginary rubs and obstacles 1689 A Lovell tr Thevenot's Trav III 20 All imaginary enquiry was made after them, but there was no news to be had

B sb †1 An imagination, a fancy Obs

1709 Mrs. Manley Secret Mem (1736) III 208 False glittering imaginaries. 1728 Richardson (Jarman 1811) I 224 And Cowley thus addresses beauty in a mere imaginary Ibid II 211 But the lovers imaginaries (her own notable word) are by that time gone off

2. Math An imaginary quantity or expression see I c above

1864 in Webster 1883 Cayley Presid Addr Brit Assoc 19 Sept, The circular functions are connected through the theory of imaginaries

Hence Ima ginariness Bailey vol II, 1727)

†Ima·ginate, ppl a Chiefly Sc Obs [ad L imāgināt-us, pa ppple of imāginare to Imagine] sometimes consd as pple 1] Imagined, imaginary

1533 Bellenden Livy II xiii 123 The faderis war ay commovit for this tressoun, recentlie imaginate thair thrau vpreist thair sentence 1563 Winjet Four Scr Tract Quict Wks 1888 I 119 Gif ye approue na Kirk except an imaginat inuisible Kirk 1588 A King tr Canisius Catech 223 Na thing can be imagined mair intolerable nor mair absurde 1601 Holland Pliny VII xxi 161 The imaginate Feathie Feather living creatures is unmoveable

†Ima·ginate, v Obs [f L imāginat, ppl stem + -e prec and -ate 3] Trans To imagine

1563 Winjet Four Scr Tract Quict Wks 1888 I 61 Qu quhidder imaginat ze zour Kirk to be inuisible? Ibid 1890 II 2 For perchuenture we imaginat that thingis 1570 Levins Manip 41/1 Imaginate, imaginare

Imagination (imædʒinē·ʃən Also 4–6 with y for i and 4 0(u)n, etc, 6–7 imagination [a F imagination (12th c.) ad L imāginātion-em, noun of action from imāginari, -ate to Imagine]

1 The action of imagining, or forming a mental concept of what is not actually present to the senses (of sense 3), the result of this process, a mental image or idea (often with implication that the conception does not correspond to the reality of things, hence freq vain (false, etc) imagination)

a 1340 Hampole Psalter xxxiii 7 Pe fende pat trauails vus sulde vs put in ymagynacions Lancs Pr B xx 1 Wenynge is no wysdome ne wyse ymagynacion 1450–1530 Myrr our Ladye 41 Alone ymaginacions of the same thynges comen to his mynde 1460 Towneley Myst v Lyne Man 118 128 We nede in this case to vse connecture and imagynacion 1576 Fenne Conph Epist 193 They accounted his transformation but fonde imaginations 1590 Locke Hum Und III v § 12 When we speak of Justice, or Gratitude, we frame to our selves no Imagination of any thing 1702 Hickes Spir Pop Jos III xiv 208 Could such an imagination ever have been entertained by him? 1819 Jas Mill Hum Mind (1869) I vii 219 I am said to have an imagination of a house, a man of ideas. 1896 De Argyll Philos Belief 221 The truths which they proclaimed were facts and not imaginations

†2 The mental consideration of actions or events not yet in existence a Scheming or devising, a device, contrivance plan scheme, plot, a fanciful project, Obs exc as a biblical archaism

c 1385 Chaucer L Wom 1 1 Ne of the false suggestiouns ne ymaginacions 1400 Maundev (1839) xxiii 241 Alle here pat and alle here ymaginacions ben to putten alle Kynges under hir subjeccioun 1535 Coverdale Lam iii 60 How hast herde their despytfull workes (O Lorde) yee and all their ymaginacions 1548 Hall Chron, Hen VI 147 b That mischevous imagination which he nowe newely began, and attempted 1660 Trial Regic 9 In no Civile Law Imagination or Compassing, without an actuall effect of it, was punishable by Law 1709 Statt 7 Anne Anc Rights Wks 1755 II 127 These airy imaginations of introducing new Laws in the antient Courts of Justice 1870-72 H Lonsdale Lives of Qualifs 118 91 111 47 Any imagination tending to change the nature or form of any one of the three estates

†b Impression as to what is likely, expectation, anticipation Obs

1623 Bingham Xenophon 20 As soone as it was day, all set forward in imagining, that his men set them behind much 1 Villages of the Polyhamian Territorie Neither were they deceived in their imagination 1628 Hobbes Thucyd (1822) 106 The sickness—the only thing that exceeded the imagination of all men 1654 Marvell Corr Wks 18[8]–[9] II 1 I tell you truly mine own imagination I thought he would not open it while I was there

3 That faculty of the mind by which are formed images or concepts of external objects not present to the senses and of their relations to each other or to the subject, hence frequently including memory (Sometimes called the 'reproductive imagination', cf sense 4.)

1340 Ayenb 156 Oberhuil hit is zet to be zeye, oþer ase to be ymaginacion 1398 Trevisa Barth De P A man is callede Mens, þe þredde hat ymaginacion, þerby he vnderstondiþ þe likenesse of bodily þinges, but he[y] doeste[n] not 1485 Caxton Chas C7 a The comune understondyng is better content to the ymagynacion of it 1541 Coverdale Answ to Gardiner Christ Doctr J b, In the fourth degree of the vnreasonable soule is set ymaginacion 1598 In the seconde vertue of ymaginacion 1601 Shake Ado, Well I iii 3 I hunt counsell with My imagination 1611 Bible Isaiah liv 17 No weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper 1639 T Brooks tr Camus Mor Relat 3 In the very features of the faces remained so much even in his imagination 1751 Johnson Rambler Wks 1787 I 184 Love ... fondly called imagination or fancy which retains the fleeting forms of things, when things themselves are gone and all sensation at an end 1797 Mrs Radcliffe Italian I 18 65 § The beauty of her countenance haunting his imagination 1840 Mill Diss & Disc Pathology 1859 I 331 The Imagination to which the name is generally appropriated by the best writers of the present day [is] that which enables us, by a voluntary effort to conceive the absent as if it were present

4 The power which the mind has of forming con cepts beyond those derived from external objects the ‘productive imagination’).

a The operation of fantastic thought, fancy

*c*1386 Chaucer Miller's T 426 Men may dyen of ymagynacion So depe may impression be take 1390 Gower Conf III 98 (MS Fairfax 3) Full of ymaginacion, Of dredes and of wrathfull poghtes. 1601 Shaks Twel N IV 48 I poke how imagination blowes him 1645 Boate Irel Nat Hist 165[2] 23 All in very deed he had seen and suffered all those things, which his weak imagination did figure unto him 1834 Medwin Angler in Wales I 75 And I fancied, though it might be imagination, that her cheek trembled too

b The creative faculty of the mind in its highest aspect, the power of framing new and striking intellectual conceptions, poetic genius

1509 Hawes Past Pleas xx (Percy Soc) 63 Upon hys imaginacyon He made also the tales of Canterbury 1590 Shaks Mids N V i 14 And as imagination bodies forth The forms of things, unknown, the Poet's pen Turnes them to shapes, and gives to ayre nothing, A local habitation, and a name 1657 R Lyon Leonard (1693) 10 Nor can imagination frame so vast a beauty 1762 Adams Lect Nat Phil (1833) 480 This innate power of fabricating images without any foundation in reality, is distinguished by the name of imagination 1871 Darwin Descent Man I iv 148 The Imagination is one of the highest prerogatives of man. By this faculty he unites, independently of the will, former images and ideas and thus creates brilliant and novel results

5 The mind, or a department of the mind, when engaged in imagining; hence, the operation of the mind generally, thinking, thought, opinion Now rare or Obs

*c*1384 Chaucer H Fame II 920, I wille Telleu the a propre skille, And worthe a demonstracion In myn ymaginacion 1390 Gower Conf III 323 Now is he all mon: The pale Knight after the condition Of his ymaginacion 1500 Three Kings Sonnes 18 The kynge whis imaginacion thought to make a grete assaute upon the Barons castell 1548 Hall Chron, Edw IV 208b Counterfaites, which often deceyue the imaginacions of fonysh folke 1632 J Hayward tr Biondi's Eromena 12 That neither the terror others came thereby to lose or raise in the imagination of others 1660 J Davies tr Olearius's Embassie 171 Upon the first sight the prospect in imagination is much, but they were the Cossaques

6 attrib and Comb, as imagination monger, imagination shooting wild

1889 Pall Mall G 28 June 2 To the exclusion of other industrious imagination-mongers

Imaginational (imæ̆dʒine͡ı·ʃənăl), a [f prec + -al] Of or pertaining to the imagination

1846 A Vaughan Mystics (1860) I 128 Within the depths of thine own soul shalt thou find a threefold heaven—the imaginational, the rational and the intellectual 1865 J Grote Exam Utilitar iv (1870) 48 We should have in imaginational knowledge or a quasi-sensation

Imaginative (imæ̆dʒinătiv, -ătĭv, a (sb) forms 4–5 ymagyn, ymagin, atyf, yff, if, (6 ife, yfe, -yue), 6– imaginative [a OF imaginatif (14th c), ad late I imaginativus see IMAGINE & -ATIVE]

1 Of persons Given to imagining, endowed with or specially characterized by imagination

a Full of thoughts, plans, designs, or devices SO OF imaginatif -ive Obs b Full of fallacies, fanciful c Having exceptional powers of fancy or inventive genius

*c*1386 Chaucer Franklin's T 76 No thyng ne.l thym to been imaginatif 1485 Caxton Paris & V 147 For alwayes he was pensif and ymaginatif 1509 Hawes Past Pleas iii (Percy Soc) 24 Ye be the more ymaginatyf Of fantasyes to fight ymaginatyfe 1525 Ld Berners Froiss II clxxxv (1812) The kyng emplyed all the nyght but the dyde of surgyons who was expert and ymaginatyue wherby he coude helpe 1592 Wyrley Armorie, Chant's 2 His countenaunce might, sage, ymaginative, found for his foemen hy warlike instinct 1626 Bacon Sylva § 100 The Witches themselves be Imaginative and believe oft times, they doe that, which they doe not. 1841 D Israeli Amen Lit (1867) 257 Philosophers were often in need of the aid of imaginative men 1853 Kane Grinnell Exp xxxi 285[2] 207 Men become moping, testy, and imaginative

2 Of, pertaining to, or concerned in the exercise of imagination as a mental faculty

*c*1374 Chaucer Boeth v pr iv 129 (Camb MS) Ymagynacion ymagyneth & comprehendeth alle thinges suo thyng, at leyser sensible of alle thinges, but he resoun knoweth 1581 Sidney Apol Poetrie (Arb) 13 The imaginative and judging power 1647 H More Poems Notes 349 Every sensitive and imaginative soul 1783 Burn Abel xxxiii 1 322 Poetry included then, the noble burst of the human and the whole exertion of its imaginative faculties 1817 Coleridge Biog Lit I iv 82 Milton had a highly imaginative, Cowley a very fanciful mind

†3 Imaginable Obs rare—1

1387–8 T Usk Test Love III i (Skeat) 22 In that heuen hal they dwel without any ymaginatyf ydel in soy halue

†4 Existing only in the imagination, unreal, ancied, imaginary Obs

1561 T Norton Calvins Inst iv xvii 1217, Only an imaginative forme and not rather a naturall truth of bred 1603 J Cartwright Confut Rhem N T (1618) 459 His righteousnesse imputed unto us, is not an imaginative, but a true righteousnesse 1646 H Lawrance Comm Angelis 8 In imaginative sight being onely within, in the imagination, consequently appeares to him onely, which so sees it

5 Characterized by, or resulting from, the productive imagination, bearing evidence of high poetic or creative fancy

1829 Scott Guy M Introd, The imaginative tale of Sintram and his Companions, by Monsieur Le Baron de la Motte Fouque 1873 Black Pr Thule vi, He had sketched out his imaginative picture of the scene 1874 Green Short Hist viii § 7 415 No great imaginative poem had broken the silence of English literature for nearly two hundred years

†B sb Imaginative faculty, imagination Obs

[1387 Langl P Pl B xii 1 I am ymaginatyf, quod he, Idel was I neuere, bouse I sitte ha my self in sikenesse ne in helthe] 1412–20 Lydg Chron Troy I vi, Fortelleth is myne imaginatyf *c*1430 — Min Poems (Percy Soc) 95 Soothe and considerithe in your imaginatif 1641 Milton Animad Remonst Wks (1847) 214 Your Doctrine subtly, who through your eyes infecting your pregnant imaginative with a red softness, begets a continual thought of blushing

Imaginatively (imæ̆dʒinătĭvli), adv [f prec + -ly 2] In an imaginative fashion, in imagination

1564 J Rainolde Confut Apol Osiand 140 The body of Christ is not by imagination nor imaginatively 1662 Pepys Diary 25 Others are but potentially or imaginatively rich 1833 I Taylor Enthusiasm Imag Faculty 367 To Howarth exercised on the position my one painter within the first fifty years that has treated a story imaginatively? 1877 Farrar Hist Interp 10 The Christo-Pagan, and equally noble, and imaginatively beautiful

Imaginativeness (imæ̆dʒinătĭvnĕs) [f as prec + -ness] Imaginative nature or quality

1664 H More Myst Iniq iv ii 506 Or therefore is Satan an Imaginativeness of Spirit 1845 Rogers Ref Essays II iii 81, The exquisite imagination and truth of the lines 1884 Church Bacon iv 120 Some high intellectual and moral imaginativeness ever existed to force itself in

Imaginator (imæ̆dʒinēĭtŏr, rare, [ad I type imaginātor*, agent in f imaginātus to IMAGINE] One who imagines

*c*1650 Howell Lex Tal 74 Hen 1664 Cart The Doctor and Doctrine) or Imaginators held nothing, or ill, what but (Christ) was what he did, what he suffered but all onely vain, so and in appearance 1838 Thirlwall Hist VI 62 Would not the imagination of such a thing have been treated as a mania? 1882 Athenæum No 2867 471 These masterly delineations of imaginators of fairyland

Imaginatory, a Obs rare, [ad I type imaginātōrius*, cf prec] = Imaginary b Imaginative

a 1618 Raleigh Apol 57 To satisfy his Majesty, that my designe was not Imaginatory, but true 1650 Penn Rudiments Learn Wks (1679) 305 The dark and distant Dreamings which have entered and entertained themselves in thy Imaginatory Mind

Imagine (imæ̆dʒin), v Forms 4–6 ymagyn(e, -gene, 5–6 ymagine, imagyne, -gene, 6 ymagin, -en, imagyn, -en, ymmagen, immagin(e, -gyne, 6 7 imagin, 5– imagine [a F imaginer (1297 in Hatz.-Darm.), ad L imāgināre to form an image of, represent, fashion, in middle voice imāginārī to picture to oneself, fancy, imagine, f imāgin-, imāgo see IMAGE]

I trans 1 To form a mental image of, to represent to oneself in imagination, to picture to oneself (something not present to the senses)

1340 Hampole Pr Consc 6847 Alle be men of substance Cordeth to, bothe with ymaginacion & dede 1382 Wyclif Hydras sight c 1400 Maundev (Roxb) xxv 114 Pure so curious oly made but a man may ymagyn many curious thinges 1561 T Norton Calvins Inst iv xvii (M) Neither is it not possible for man to ymagine the like without seing 1601 R Johnson Kingd & Commw (1603) 188 By the Romish Church they imagine, that they can neuer imagine the state of his forces 1638 F Junius Paint of Ancients 19 Phidias hed a singular ability to imagine things in their proper kinds in a mysticall manner 1739 Hume Hum Nat I iii 7 (1874) I 339 Its an establish'd maxim in metaphysics, That nothing we imagine is absolutely impossible 1786 A Seton Comm Jas 268 Not grounded by the most tremendous mountains that can be imagined 1861 H Sidney Remi Poems I ii § 22 (1870) 4 Like men in a state of sound sleep, who imagine they have effort be imagined 1874 Green Short Hist viii § 5 611 Milton's imagination is not strong enough to identify him with that which he imagine

b with obj clause

1586 A Day Eng Secretary I (1625) 121, I cannot easily imagine how you may be served better 1656–9 B Harris Parl Intell I 28 I well enough can imagine, that the said Duke would be able to hinder that passage 1697 Dryden Æn I 175, I cannot imagine wherefore they were offended

2 To create as a mental conception, to conceive, to assume, suppose (is a mathematical line or figure) Also with obj clause or obj and inf

*c*1386 Wyclif Wks Sel Wks I 168 Pei seiden, here is neuer siche, but siche one bat is ymaginyd 1391 E Hakluyt Introd I 8 11 This first cube rests Pythagoras number of an extreme ymaginyd to be the Pole Arctik Ibid II 8 99 The longitude of euery thing you imagined first to stand 1522 More Pr Quar Wks 1116 Imagine your self in the same case As I think ye will think yea 1549 Compl Scot vi 48 Sa will ymagyn nocht bot that passis throucht the spire . . at the endis of the said lyne, se sal ymagyne tua stertis 1588 Greene Chron I 1298 Imagine you see before your eyes your wayes, and daughters in danger 1617 Morison Itin III 215 This law is thus practised imagining there be three brothers, Thomas, John, and Andrew, and it happening, that Thomas first dies leaving [etc.] 1659 D Pell Impr Sea 85 That hee would strongly imagine Cato to bee in presence

3 To conceive in the mind as a thing to be performed, to devise, plot, plan, compass Also with inf Now a biblical or legal archaism

[1352 Act 25 Edw III, Stat v c 2 Qui homme fait compasser ou ymaginer la mort nostre Seignr le Roi] *c*1386 Sir Fernumb 3244 Ymagened y have neuer lyng to conquery be tour at ones 1406 Paston Lett No 41 I 12 Purpoyng and imaginyng to putte William Paston in drede 1492 Act 7 Hen VII c 23 Preamb, Richard White traitrously ymagened and compassed the deths and destruccion of oure said Souveregne Lord 1535 Coverdale Ps lxxi 13 Why do the people ymagyn [A V marg meditate] vayne thinges? Ibid lxxiii 3 How longe wil ye ymagin myschefe against oure euery man? 1548 Hall Chron, Hen VI 171b Now that the Frenchmen daily imagined to destroye the Englishe pale 1632 J Hayward tr Biondi's Eromena 34 The Count could imagine no possible means to exercise the Admirall 1907 J Chamberlayne St Gt Brit II vi 100 To imagine the Death of the Prince . . is made High Treason 1747 Gentl Mag XVII 151 I find I must alter traitorously compass and imagine the death of his majesty 1769 Blackstone Comm IV xi 78, 78–9 What is an imagining or imagining, the death of the King, &c? Here the two synonimous terms, the word compassing signifying the purpose or design of the mind or will . . But, as this compassing or imagining is an act of the mind, it cannot possibly fall under any judicial cognizance, unless it be demonstrated by some open, or overt, act 1830 Kilchrist Hist Ina II 29 Fisher also was arraigned for imagining to deprive the King of his title and dignity

†4 To consider, ponder, meditate, bethink oneself (With obj clause) Obs

*c*1386 Chaucer Clerk's T 542 Anon goodh he ful faste ymaginyng, If by no wyle he myghte hire wynne, that she Were chaunged 1430 Lydg Min Poems (Percy Soc) 4, Lyggyng alone I can to ymagyne, How with Troye tymes departyd is the grete renoun 1535 Coverdale Ps lxxvii 5 I haue ymagined, how I might fynde out a reason 1588 N Lichefield tr Castan Basha's Conq I Hist 4 Ymagining (He) did imagine against what course he might best take to reuenge himselfe

5 To conjecture, guess, suspect, suppose a with simple obj or clause, or obj and inf

*c*1386 Chaucer Wife of Bathes T 1180 This Pulleus hadde knt coupe, Imaginyng that it I soon myghte be Lnhaunsede so That from his regne he myghte ben put a doun 1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes 67 Imagyne no thing to be in hun, but that, that is nedfulle goode and couenable 1548 Hall Chron, Rich III 46b, No suche he fraude sus pected, nor soo lyttle treason ymagyned 1548 Gage Hist Ind vi 18 They presently imagined the truth that hee could not come thither but with some Spanuard 1700 W I to Stykes Lap E Ind 40 In vain did I imagine many things, to be the natural causes of it

b with obj and complement

1596 Polic Pref (W de W 1531) 197 b, Whiche in no wyse ought to be imagyned to be lyke vnto 1611 Cotgrave Comoger Classe Pref A iv b, The Situation of Paradise . . some imagine it either in heaven or in the barts of the quiet and faithfull 1654 Sir T Herbert Trav 2 Were lore up to speake with them, imagining them Enemies and men of ware (but they proved Flemings and our Friends 1774 C Phipps Voy N Pole 48 We imagined ourselves in rather more than eighty degrees and a half 1792 W Robbins Cookes on No 3 Pro Except you opened his mouth you might imagine him in the full prime and mettle of his years

6 To form an idea or notion with regard to something not known with certainty, to think, suppose, fancy, ‘take into one's head’ (that), often implying a vague notion not founded on exact observation or reasoning

1548 Hall Chron, Hen I III 153 b, The greate Turke imagined that his time was come, to do some gre ate act in Christendom 1576 Fleming Panopl Epist 180 It is not to be surmised, not imagined, that the mention of these matters is unseasonable 1642 J Jackson True Evang Test 119 Vpon which inuented one would imagine, that by Catodemons 1687 A Lovelace Aretologia 211 It may most not imagine to find such lovely Grass plats and borders of Flowers as were in Europe 1726 Swinden Hist Count Bedford (1727) 75 In short one would imagine it impossible that any thing living could subsist in so rigid a climate 1759 Johnson Rasselas I iii, I should imagine that facts which you relate, but imagine that you impute them to mistaken motives 1802 Mar Fitzgerald Musical (1826) I 9 He did not imagine that he could relieve them 1863 Geo Eliot Romola II iv, Into felt that Romola was a more unforgiving woman than he had imagined

II intr †7 To think, meditate, to form designs Obs (cmb. to ‘imagine’) 1377 Langl P Pl B xii 289 With Inwit and with out wit ymagenen and studye As best for his body be *c*1460 Rous Ta Belle Dame sans Mercy 14 Person's while I stood musyng, and in myself ymagenyng 1528 Lyndesay Pol Loems (Rolls) II 270 The fals traytours agayne hym ymagynyage 1589 Cogan Haven Health (1636) 241 Diuines that imagine and study upon high and subtile matters.

8 To form mental images or ideas, to exercise the imagination (intr to 1 and 2)

1632 Wodrowes Nat Phdos 52 Pleasant dreames are when the spirits of the braine, which the soule useth to imagine with, are most pure and thin 1700 T Brown tr Fresny's Amusem Ser & Com 5 He who Imagines Briskly, thinks Justly, and Writes Correctly 1820 Original [Author] 1809 Sir Smith Wks (1850) I 283 If it can be shown that women may be trained to reason and imagine as well as men [etc.]

9 Imagine of = sense 1 (Cf conceive of, think of, know of)

1586 A Day Eng Secretary (1625) 61 A minde that could never so much as thinke or imagine of things contemptible 1687 Tuberv Trag I (1837) 153 Imagine of their joyes, Whom filthie sinne did linke 1825 Scott

Tulsom iv. In his wildest rapture the knight imagined of no attempt to follow or to trace the object of such romantic attachment

Hence Ima ginning ppl a , that imagines

1660 S Fisher Rustick's Alarm Wks (1679) 348 Alas poor imagining Man!

† Imagine, sb Obs rare—1 [f prec vb] Device, contrivance cf IMAGINEMENT

1599 Peele Battle Alcazar iv Introd, By this imagine was this barbarous Mour Chas d from his dignity and diadem

Imagined (imæ·dʒind), ppl a [f IMAGINE v + -ED1] 1 Invented, planned, designed In later use only as vb, as ill-, well imagined

1509 Hawes Past Pleas xxxix (Percy Soc) 110 Fantasy hath the hole aspecte, The ymagyned matter to bring to fynyshement 1598 Cleveland Rustick Rampt Wks (1687) 491 By false, subtile, and imagined Language 1809 Kendall Trav II xxvi 19 A bridge will shortly be completed, of well imagined construction 1822 Scott Pirate vii, Large and ill imagined additions, hastily adopted to the original building

2 Conceived (in the mind), supposed, fancied

1549 Compl Scot vi 49 The pole antartik is bot ane ymaginet point 1609 Bible (Douay) II Hist Tobis 108 Lovrie townie and village had their peculiar imagined goddes 1667 Milton P L v 263 As when by night the Glass Of Galileo observes Imagind Lands and Regions in the Moon 1683 Froude in 19th Cent Aug 333 Byron was a world to wonder for imagined weakness

† Imaginement. Obs rare—1 In 5 ym- [f IMAGINE v. + -MENT Cf OF ymaginement image] Contrivance, subtlety

c 1400 Harding Chron cxv v, Some in his sherte put of tymus venemyng Some in his hose, by great ymagenement

Imaginer (imæ·dʒinəɹ) [f as prec + ER1 Cf OF imagneur] One who imagines 1483 Cath Angel 195/1 An Imaginer, motitor, cogitator 1595 Lo Bernyers Froiss II clxvii (Lucy) 465 Men of warre inclosed in fortresses are sore imagyners, and whan their imagination in lyneth to any thyng, they wyll craftely colour it 1598 Chapman Iuvenall Satyr v 700 As if the strength of imagination were such that it could not only create phan tes but also to sensible objects, and that at a distance too from the imaginers 1880 Sir J Reid Japan II 238 He must be but a poor traveller and a weak imaginer

Imagines, pl of Imago

Imagining (imæ·dʒiniŋ), vbl sb [f IMAGINE v + -ING1] The action of the verb IMAGINE, in various senses, imagination

c 1340 Hampole Pricke 1 40 In imagynynge of be mon hede of oure Lorde 1385 Chaucer L G W Prol 231 (MS Gg 4 27) For hate or for lelous ymaginyng 1430 Lydg Min Poems (Percy Soc) 221 What may avayle al your ymaginynge? 1548 Hall Chron, Hen VIII 32 While these thynges were thus in commonynge and immagenyng 1605 Shaks Macb I iii 138 Present Feares Are lesse than horrible Imaginings 1685 Sir H Spelman (1697) I 441 Our own Common Law looks upon a Man's raising Arms against his Prince, as an Imagining, or Consuming of his Death 1811 Byron Lett & Jrnl To Hardy 10 Guileless beyond Hope's imagining! 1872 Palgrave Yng Queen 72 In hopeless chase of vain imaginings

Imaginist, nonce-wd [f IMAGINE v + IST] An imaginative person

1815 Jane Austen Emma xxxix III 43 How much more must an imaginist, like herself, be on fire with speculation and foresight!

† Ima·ginous, a Obs rare [f I imago, imágin-em image + -OUS (cf doubtful L imaginōsus) or ? f IMAGINE v (cf ravenous)] Imaginative, full of fancies

1608 Chapman Byron's Conspir III 4, Till man hath cast the beames, Of his imaginous fancie through it 16 Gataker Joy of Just in Serm (1637) 235 Others that be awaked out of imaginous sleepe

Imago (imē·gō) pl imagines (ɪ dʒɪnɪz) and imagos. [A modern application of L imāgo IMAGE, representation, natural shape, etc (First used by Linnæus, Syst Nat ed 12 (1767) I II 535.)] Entom The final and perfect stage or form of an insect after it has undergone all its metamorphoses, the 'perfect insect'

1797 Encycl Brit, (ed 3) Natural History, to a name given by Linnæus to the third state of insects, which they appear in their proper shape and colours 1816 Kirby & Sp Entomol I 69 The states through which insects pass are four the egg, the larva, the pupa, and the imago Ibid 72 This Linne termed the imago state because it is now become a true representative or image of its species 1847 Selby in Proc berw Nat Club II No 5 208 Species, whose imagos only appear at uncertain intervals 1881 Westwood in Science Gossip No 202 253 In the year following, the larvæ of Vanessa polychloros swarmed on the elms [but] neither caterpillars nor imagines have since been noticed b transf The perfect stage of other animals that undergo a metamorphosis

1854 Owen Skel & Teeth in Cyc Sc, Organ Nat I 189 The conversion of the cartilaginous skull of the larva to the ossified one of the imago or perfect frog

I-maked, -et, ME pa pple of Make v

‖ Iman, imaum (imā·m), forms 7 eomawm, imman, 8 emaum, 9 imawm, imáin, 7- Imam, 8- imaum, also 7- iman. [a Arab إمام imām leader, president, etc, f. أمّ amma to go before, precede. The form iman is that used in F and Sp]

1 The officiating priest of a Mohammedan mosque

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 301 Then ariseth another Priest of another order called Imam and readeth a Psalme aloude 1625-6 — Pilgrims II 1609 Immediately after euery one is deuoted and come into the Moschea's 1638 Kemwam which is the Parish Priest beginnes to pray 1687 A Lovell tr Thevenot's Trav II 102 The director of the Prayers, who says the Prayers, and makes the rest say them, in Turkey he is called the Imam 1717 Lady M W Montagu Let to Alice Couts 17 May, The outside of the mosque is adorned with four towers, vastly high, got on the top, from whence the imaums call the people to prayers 1775 R Chandler Ion Greece 18-5 II 55 The Turks have erected a pulpit for their imam or reader 1815 Efflinstone Hist Caubul (1842) II 276 The Imaums of towns have fees on marriages, burials, and some other ceremonies, and are maintained by them and the gifts of them congregation 1884 J Bonar Lords Island 257 The chief imam condemned such an interpretation of the law

2 A title given to various Mohammedan leaders and chiefs

Applied to a the Caliph as sovereign of the community and more or formerly to other independent princes b the chief of Islam; c the twelve Caliphs of Islam; d the twelve Shiah descendants of Ali, and the founder of the fourth sect; e the Imam of Muscat; f the author of the leading treatises on any subject

1668 J Davies tr Olearius's Voy Ambass 373 On these twelve Imams they bestow the quality of Imam or Lieutenant 1698 Fryer Acc E India & P 220 The Prince of this Country [Muscat] is called Imaum, who is Guardian of Mahomet's Tomb, and on whom is devolved the Right of Caliphship 1728 Morgan Algiers I vi 171 The Khalifs of Bagdad the legitimate Successors of Mahomet, and Sovereign Pontiffs of the Mussulmans 1753 Hanway Travels (1762) II x iv 241 The Muscats are a tribe of Arabians they are subject to an Imam, who has an absolute sway over them 1804 W Lennas Pal Revenge (ed 2) I 170 Hossein—This holy Imaum is believed not only to have been a saint, but a martyr 1883 C W Wilson in Encycl Brit XIII 108 Where are buried the imams or saints, of the Shiah, Hussein and Hassan one of the greatest shrines of Persian pilgrims 1899 Daily Chron 7 Mar 5/1 By the treaty of 1862 France and Great Britain entered into a mutual engagement to respect the independence of the Imam of Muscat

Hence Ima·mship [cf I imamat], Ima mship, the dignity of imam

1727 & 41 Chambers Cycl s v Imam, The Mahometans do not cease among themselves about this emanate or dignity of the imamship 1803 Gardner Turtles Shell II 1 Among the Arabs, the Sultan is the Imam of Mecca 1813 — Ibid A member of the Schintes claimed the right of Moussa to the Imamate 1895 Lall Mallig 2 Dec 2 2 The man who has given the trouble to the Government to the Imamship of Yemen—the titular ruler of the country before the Turks occupied it in 1872

Imam (imā·m), forms form of Mahdi q v

I-mang see Among

† Imaret (imā·ret, i mā·ret) [a Turk, a Arab عمارة imārat rendering habitable], hence 'hospice'] A hospice for the accommodation of pilgrims and travellers in Turkey

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 209 Their Hospitals, they call Imarets They found them to be schooles of the poore, and of trauellers 1638 Sir T Herbert (ed 2) 124 We found a neat Caravansaray or Inne, the Turks call them Imarets the Indians Sarrais 1817 Hobhouse Illustr Childe Harold iii 318 Many a dome and fan roofed imaret

I-mariet, MF pa pple of Marry v

I-martred, MF pa pple of Martyr v

Imbace see Embase

† Imbe, e Obs rare [f IM-1 + Bake v] trans To encrust, cake

1638 Heywood 1st Pt Iron Age iv Wks 1874 III 320 Troilus lyeth imbak'd In his cold blood

Imbalm, -ment, etc see Embalm, etc

1619 S Sandys Trav 130 They brought it to the place where they say he was imbalmed 1644 Milton Areop (Arb) 53 A good Booke is the pretious life blood of a master spirit imbalmd and treasurd up on purpose to a life beyond life

† Imbalsama tion Obs rare—1 [f IM-1 + Balsamation] Embalming, in quot fig

1603 W Watson Quodlibets (1602) 1 To prouide for his memory that clerical imbalsamation which perfumed and hallowed for ages the reliques of Constantine

Imbalsam, v rare—1 [ad med L imbalsamāre, to interdict see IM-1 and Bann v] trans To interdict, proscribe, excommunicate

1808 J Barlow Columb Hist 723 Unless my tribes! what, half mankind imbann'd 1828 Webster, Imbam to excommunicate, to curse, to cut off from the rights of man

Imbane nd, v rare—1 [f IM-1 + Band sb] trans To form or enrol into a band

1812 J Barlow (Webster, 1864), Beneath full sails imbanded nations rise

Imbank, -ment see Embank, etc

1576 Fleming Panopl Epist 231 Or what should become of the water, if it were not imbanked with the earth?

† Imbanka tion. Obs rare [n of action from imbank, Embank] Embankment

1776 G Semple Building in Water 118 Till a substantial Imbankation may be erected Ibid 119 A substantial Road, or Imbankation

Imbannered, var of Embannered

Imbaptize, v rare [f IM-1 + Baptize v] trans To baptize by immersion, in quot fig

1855 Bailey Festus 34 He at their heat his soul In the moon's argent streams did imbaptize And purified his spirit in the sun

Imbar, etc, var of Embar v, etc

† Imbarge, v Obs Also imbardge [f IM-1 + Barge sb] trans To embark 1598 Drayton Legend of Agincourt (R) As when the soue reigne we embarge'd doe see 1604 Cawdrey Table Alph Imbarge, Imbarke, see embarke 1627 Drayton Agincourt, etc 78 Whither his friends she to send him to imbardge

Imbarge, Imbargo, var Embargf, Embargo

Imbark (imbā·k), v Also 7 em- [f IM-1 + Bark *sb*1] trans To enclose in or clothe with bark Also fig

1642 H More Song 256 Imbarked as in a tree Abiding life we lead 1649 Lovelace Lucasta 159 Imbark thee in the Laurell tree 1815 Mrs Hemans Poems 328 I am not she sys imbarked and rested in my testaments and myrtles a 1822 Shelley Fr Wks (1888) III 69 It is leaning for wind upon a knotty staff imbarked and circled by a viper

Imbark, -ation, etc see Embark, etc

† Imbarn, v Obs Also 8 em [f IM-1 + Barn sb] trans To gather into a barn or barns, to garner Also fig

1610 Acts Cant Church Canterbury 17 July (MS) To imbarne in the Barne all or the more part of the tythe come 1610 Churches Inv, Ammore 58 To imbarne them in bellsafe sees 1686 Pest Staffordsh 3 If Oats is not to be had to imbarn their Corn, they set it up in ricks 1796 Sun Set Chance XXVII 21 (E D S) They embarn as much as they can of their corn

Imbarque, -barrass, -barren, -base see Embark, etc Imbases, obs pl of Embassy

Imbassador, -ator, -itor, etc obs ff Ambassador Imbassage see Embassage

† Imba stardize, v Obs rare—1 [f IM-1 + Bastardize Cf It imbastardire, obs f embastardir, also bastardire, abastardire.] trans To render bastard or degenerate

1649 Milton Eikon Pref, Imbastardize from the ancient Nobleness of their Ancestors

Imbasure, var Embasure

Imbathe, -battle, -bay see Embathe, etc

Imbeam (imbī·m, v nonce-wd [f IM-1 + Beam sb Cf Embathe] trans To cast as a beam

1839 Bailey Festus xxxix (1848) 503 Oh! let not a planet like eye Imbeam its tale on thine

† Imbear, v Obs [app for imbare or imbarr] trans To make or lay bare

1657 W Moore Crook in Lot 209 Def vv 206 They have their hip by the weight of jewels pendent in them drawn down over them clinks to the imbearing of their teeth

Imbeasell, -beasle, -beelle, obs ff Imbezzle

Imbecile (imbi·sil, imbi·sīl a and sb) forms 6 ill, e, ? 8 il, ? - ile [a F imbécille (15-16th c in Godef now imbécile admitted by the Acad 1835, ad L imbecillus, -is, weak, feeble in body or mind A word of unknown composition]

I On an erroneous impression that the L word was in + baculum stated in Bailey's Dict, repeated by Johnson, and made the basis of argument by Walker, the spelling imbecile found in 17th c, was revived in 18th c The pronunciation imbī·sil, connected with the confusion of this word and Imbezzle (q v) Imbecile was used down to the beginning of 19th, and was defended by Walker 1791 though unlike D after Dr imbécille, is said to have been 'the more fashionable']

1 In general sense Weak, feeble, esp feeble of body, physically weak or impotent

1549 Compl Scot vi 57 The Indians that take part of my body be cum'd exille and vyce 1597 A M tr Guillemeau's Childbirth 34 b The important parts situate on the inside of the walls of my matrice 1599 — tr Gabel Hunter's Bk Chirurg 17 He must drinke verye smalle and subtile wines, and take heede of all grosse and thicke wynes what soever 1659 D Pell Impr Sea To Reader, My Pupils may prove that God would prosper this poor and imbecil Prince to every one of their Suits 1730 Bailey Imbecile, Weak, Feeble 1797 Godwin Enquirer iv 40 4 An old man who has something imbecil in his motions 1823 Shelley Cenci III xii, His stunted stature and imbecile frame 1855 Macaulay Hist Eng xix III 474 The admiral to whom had been constantly committed more than his powers 1858 Froude Hist Eng, Elizab Wks (Bohn) II 74 The robust rural Saxon degenerates in the mills to the imbecile Manchester operative

2 Mentally weak, of weak character or will through want of mental power, hence, I nfirm, stupid, idiotic (The chief current use)

1755 Johnson, Imbecile, weak, feeble, wanting strength of either mind or body 1790-1805 Wordsw Prelude IX 583 His days he wasted,—an imbecile mind] 1804 Matilda Betham Lang Dict Celeb Women, Fr Agnes, She alone had sustained the imperial dignity under the reign of her weak and imbecile brother 1846 Dr Quincey Eliance Wks Masson's Ed XIII 63 But he had the misfortune to be timid and, as he was partially an idiot 1866 Geo Eliot F Holt I 42 The news came that Dursey, the imbecile son was dead

b Of actions Marked by mental feebleness or fatuity, hence, inane, stupid, absurd, idiotic

1861 Mrs Browning Wedding & Fun xv, Twere im beclle, hewing out roads to a wall 1897 Mary Kingsley W Africa 581 Here getting beneath the waterproof sheets over the bed, and pretending they can't get out and forth with losing their tempers which is imbecile, because the whole four sides of the affair are broad open

c Comb, as imbecile mindal

1846 R. H. Froude Rem. (1838) I. 191 Imbecile minded people

†3 Made away with, squandered, or dissipated of Imbecile v. 2, Imbezzle. Obs. rare

a 1677 Barrow Serm. on Creed xvii. Wks. 1686 II. 374 We in a manner were a bit out of God's possession were, in respect to him become imbecil and lost we were like sheep gone astray.

3 ab. One who is imbecile, a person of weak intellect

1808 Negroes Let. to Nov. in Dk. Buckhm. Court Geo. III. (1855) III. 236 Le Clerc was an imbecile. Further to no more. 1838 Lytton Alice I. iii. These knights imbeciles shall fall into the trap they have dug for us. 1873 Hamilton Intell. Life xi. 11 (1875) 413 We are not all of us exactly imbeciles in money matters.

Hence Imbecilely adv. in an imbecile manner, stupidly, idiotically 1847 R. W. Hamilton Disp. Salta 11 (1848) 177 [The pulpit] may be unbecomingly filled. 1870 Daily News 20 Sept., The Mobiles are peasants when I speak to them they nudge each other and grin imbecilly.

†Imbe cole, v. Obs. Also 6–7 ill. [The history of this word can scarcely be disentangled from that of Embezle v. The latter (in 15–16th c. imbesil, imbesill) was evidently thought to be derived from L. imbecillus, is, or F. imbécille weak, thence arose a series of spellings and senses connecting it with this supposed derivation, the ultimate result of both being imbecile.] in the sense to impair, weaken see Imbezzle 2.

1 trans. To make imbecile, weak, or impotent; to impair, weaken, enfeeble, debilitate. See Embezle 2.

The modern instance is a mere use from the adj., having no historical relation to the 16–17th. word 1539–40 Act Parl. Ireland (Parker Soc.) I. 7 I would be loth now that any man should enter to imbecile the thing. 1546 Langley Pol. Verse & Prose (1774) 183, I have ... imbecilled their ills, pressed their woes. 1566 Drant Horace, Sat. v. v. [His] so imbecill all their strength, that they are naught to me. 1574 Newton Health Wks. 63 To imbecile and hinder health. 1651 Jer. Taylor Holy Dying, iii. § 7. It is a sad calamity that the fear of death shall so imbecil man's courage and understanding. 1851 W. Anderson Expostor Expos. (1858) 181 What an imbecile you are—with your judgment imbecilled by some lust!

2. (In senses of Embezzle 2.) To do away with the force of, annul, abrogate, make away with, take away dishonestly

c 1546 in Brand Hist. Newcastle (1789) I. 28 The decke of the found acon was lost or imbecilled away long syns. 1548 Gest. Pr. Masse in H. G. Dugdale Life (1840) App. 2 We have prayer mosse embecilled and teketh away our harties Christ Iheu viii. To disanul and embecyl Christ his sonnes death! 1565–89 Lever Serm. (1632) I. 301 By whom the Authorities of old Grants, Statutes I was and Privileges, are imbecilled and abrogate. 1580 Holyband Treas. Lan. Long, Appetuser, to diminish, to lessen to imbesill. 1637 Gaules Mans wine Duties Better 194 [It] has proved a deut and faithfull keeping and preserving of provisions that they be not imbecilled or made away. 1650 Jer. Taylor Holy Living, iii. § 12 Gratuities of presents and wages, that suffering their persons to be oppressed or their estates imbezill'd

Hence †Imbecilled ppl. a., †Imbecilling vbl. sb.

1549 Allen Yad's Pas. Ix. xvi. 25 This is imbecilling and diminishing of their power and dominion. 1578 Banister Hist. Man. 8 What is the further downward, the more imbecilled and weakened. 1599 A. Mvrr Caleb mus's Def. Physic Ix. 117. It exsuccateth and all to-clyeth the imbecilled stomache

Imbecilitate imbɛ'silitēt, v. [f Imbecility, after debilitate, facilitate, etc. see -ate 3.] In 17th c. imbecill see note to Imbecile a.] trans. To render imbecile, weak, or feeble, to enfeeble 1653 A. Wilson Jas. I, 58 He was being skilful in natural Magick, did use all the Artifice his subtilty could devise, to ruffle to imbecilitate the Lad. 1689 G. Harvey Cruing Day for Papist 18 A Man or Woman being never so little imbecilitated in their Reason. 1809 Edin. Rev. XIV. 56 The same cause imbecilitates the superintendence of their official superiors. 1821 Black. Mag. VIII. 564 A great effect in imbecilitating the understanding.

Imbecility imbɛ'siliti Forms 6–7 imbecillitie, -illitie, 6–8 illity, 7– -ility, (6 -yllyte, -ite, -illyte, -bicillitye, 7 besilitie) [f. F. imbécillité (14th c. in Littré, ad L. imbecillitatem, n. of quality f. imbecillus, -is, Imbecile. For the single l, see note to the adj.] The condition or quality of being imbecile

1 Weakness, feebleness, debility, impotence

a 1533 Frith Disput. Purgat. Wks. 31 (R.) Saith we any not of power and habilities to perform the law of God lamentying our imbecillitie that we can do him no further pleasure. 1538 Starkey England I. 170 The imbecillyte of mannys nature. 1596 Barrough Meth. Physick (ed. 3) 458 It is a singular help against the imbecility of the kidneys. 1624 Wotton Archit. in Reliq. (1672) 32 Such [Arches] for the natural imbecility of the sharp Arch itself ought to be exiled from judicious eyes. 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. I. 272 If any thing can give us a picture of complete imbecility it is a man when just come into the world. 1783 Johnson Let. to Taylor 22 Nov., Another evidence of its own imbecility. 1822–34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) I. 119 The imbecility of the liver is obvious in most cases of dyspepsia. 1838 Sir W. Hamilton Logic xxx. (1866) II. 133 The imbecility of the human intellect in general. 1855 Macaulay Hist. Eng. IV. iii. 385 The misery of the Irish ... was not the imbecility of the Irish administration

b Incompetency or incapacity (to do something). 1767 Blackstone Comm. I. 265 A tenant for life, for years, at will, or a copyholder, cannot prescribe, by reason of the imbecility of their estates. 1812 J. J. Henry Camp. against Quebec 140 His imbecility to restrain us was apparent. 1822 Imp. Lex. Sect. II. Confess Drunkard, Languid enjoyment of evil with utter imbecility to good

2 with an and pl. An instance of weakness, infirmity or debility

1541 R. Copland Calyons Terap. 2 Fij, Dyspathies, Syncopies, Imbecyllitees, fymptudes and sondry other such maner. 1619 Middleton Mayor of Queenb. Treat. Iv. Mad. I. iii. 30/2 Catarrhes, rheumes, and other imbecillities. 1727 Swift Gulliver II. v. Such imbecillities of nature. 1888 J. Nicol Lect. Poets I. v. 87 (1893) 98 Those imbecilities of the understanding

3 Mental or intellectual weakness, esp. as characterizing action, hence, silliness, absurdity, folly, a piece, speech or example of this

Medically, mental debility; imbecility is generally used to denote a defect of mental power of less degree than idiocy and not congenital 1604 Cast. Swift Enquirer vi. 222 Give me leave to excuse my self, of so much imbecillitie, as to say, that in these cathetick secres I have not learned, there is a great difference betwixt the directions and judgements of expert in all knowledge, and the superficiall conceiture of a raiable relation. 1803 Med. Jrnl. IX. 339 Can a stronger proof of the filly, or imbecility of the Romanists be required? 1862 Lord. Winston in Times 2 Jan. I class this case as a case of imbecility in medical jurisprudence I should be inclined to call it temporary insanity. From Annuities 1874 Mahaffy Sports in Ment. Dis. in 66 Imbecility is weakness of mind owing to defective mental development. 1888 J. Nicol Text Life Scotland 4 The sneers and stupid imbecilities of the untravelled septic

Imbed, Imbellish see Embed, Embellish

†Imbellic, a. Obs. [f. In- 2 + bellic as in stark Bellicose war. f. imbellis Unwarlike. 1620 Letham Kalend. (ed. 2) 18 The Imbellicke persons are those, who comes first to the field shakes at the report of a Musket. 1623 Cockeram, Imbellick, cowardly, not fit to warre.

†Imbellious, a. Obs. [f. imbelli- as unwarlike (f. im- (In- 2) + bellum war) + -ous after rebellious.] Unwarlike, cowardly 1623 in Bp. Pate (1624) 257 The voluntarie submission of this their imbellious Countrie. 1627 H. Burton Tatius, Lops's Bull 5 [They] cannot possess gencrous minds with an imbellious disposition. 1628 Protestation 1628 — Israel's Fast 2. Ignoble and imbellious Spirits.

†Imbeni gnity. Obs. rare [f. Im- 2 + Benignity.] Unkindness 1656 in Bunyan's Grace Ab. 89 By reason of their Imbenignity, stubbornness and Indocibleness.

Imber, obs. var. of Limber, obs. f. Imbaer.

†Imbere bio, a. Obs. rare—0. [f. imbiberi- re (In- 2) + -bibulous.] Readiness to drink 1624 Cockeram, Imberebious, ready to drink.

Imbesel, -ell, -bezel(l, -ill, etc., obs. ff. Embezzle.

Imbetter, var. of Embetter 2.

1598 Norden Gouernors Duall Pr. (1852) 263 To enlarge and imbetter their estate and estate.

Imbiba tion, erron. f. Imbibition

1826 Black. Mag. XIX. 699 Preferable for promotion of imbibation. 1847 Hamilton Sandwich Land Tour in Spec. Mis. I. 81 Indeed, forthwith, by simple imbibation, upon the elaborated juices of its host †Imbibbed, a. Obs. rare. Wrongly for 1611 Cotgr., Imbeu, etc. imbibed, that, or a child hath a bib or mucket put before his breast, to keepe him from drinking thereon

Imbibe imbaib v. Also 4 enbibe, 5 embybe, 6 enbybe, embibe [Partly a f. imbiber to soak or penetrate with moisture, refl. to be soaked or penetrated with moisture, to soak into, later (esp. in pa. pple.) to imbue, in 18th c. to drink in, imbibe, partly ad. L. imbibere, in cl. L. to conceive or imbibe (opinions, etc.), later in lit. sense, to drink in, imbibe, f. im- (In- 2) + bibere to drink.

The imbibed pa. pple. early forms of Eng. is an active verb to correspond to the pa. pple. imbibed and imbibing, and as such took to itself the meanings of imbibed which the Eng. verb adopted together with those of imbiber. The early forms in Fr. suggest a French origin, though imbiber is not recorded before 16th c.]

1 †1 To cause to absorb moisture, or liquid; to soak, imbue, or saturate with moisture, to steep Obs

c 1386 Chaucer Can. Yeom. Prol. & T. 761 And oure matires enbibyng, [Corpus enbibyng, Petw. enbykinge] And eek of oure matires enconteryng. And for oure silver entmacion. 1489 Caxton Faytes of A. II. iv. 96 Lowe of flaw that wel embybed were with oyle. a 1529 Skelton Agst. the Scotyes 73 Into your Corse for grace now I call To ayde my pen, and my pen to embybe. 1558 Warde tr. Alexis Secr. I. (1580) 2b, When it is almoste waxen drie, imbibe it with a wet sponge. 1588 W. Fleming tr. Lemnius Occult. (ed. 2) 41 That portion of the water wherewith the earth was imbibed. 1709 tr. Smith Laboratory I. 426 Imbibe that powder with strong white vinegar. 1804 Caption. of Valour I. 144 Could a minister have the wickedness to imbibe with slow poison their blood which, at his voice, was to become the body of his Divine master?

†b fig. To Imbue. Cf. F. imbiber (see etymol.)

1628 Malynes Anc. Law-Merch. 263 This question is fruolous and bredeth but contention to imbibe Merchants braines with them. 1709 Curios in Husb. & Gard. 265 In regard to Fruits we may imbibe them with a Medicinal Purgative Power

†c With inverted construction. To instil into

1746 W. Horsley Pol. xxvii 8 Until such villainous Principles are thoroughly imbibed into us by the Enemies of our Peace. 1812 J. Henry Camp. against Quebec 6 He wished to imbibe into the minds of his children a taste for mechanics

II 2 trans. To drink in, absorb, or assimilate (knowledge, ideas, etc.), to take into one's mind or moral system

1555 Eden Decades To Rdr (Arb.) 57 They may also herewith imbibe trewe religion. 1652 Evelyn State France (R.), After the Psalm and more smooth Languages are once thoroughly imbibed. 1690 Locke Hum. Und. II. xxii. (1695) 90 Those confused Notions and Prejudices it (the Mind) has imbibed from Custom, Inadvertency, and Common Conversation. 1746 Hervey Medit. (1818) 64 Imbibe the precious truths. 1858 Holland Titcomb's Lett. vi. 139 Young women are apt to imbibe another bad habit, namely, the use of slang. 1874 Green Short Hist. viii. § 5. 507 Charles had imbibed his father's hatred of the Presbyterian system

3 Of a person or animal To drink in, drink (liquid), to inhale (the air, tobacco smoke)

1622 Venner Tobacco in baths of bathe (1650) 402 They that for every light occasion imbibe or take down this fume. a 1792 Black. Lock Pr. I. (R.), The wild beasts ... imbibe the silver surge, with best approval, to cool the fever of his glowing breast. 1848 Scott Jrnl. 28 Oct., Oliver rose'd it to his head with a trembling hand, imbibed the contents with lips which quivered with emotion. 1859 Tang Ind. Jrnl. 1857 The mess room where more cheroots were smoked, and more weak brandy and water imbibed. 1874 Helps Soc. Treat. II. 16 The population imbibe fresh air

4 Of a thing To suck up, drink in, absorb (moisture) Also absol.

1642 Fuller Pisgah I. (1650) 33 Let this Salt imbibe as much of the Oil as it can. 1667 Boyle Orig. Formes & Qual. (ed. 2) 349 A Plant that grows by some petrifying Spring by imbibing that water is transformed into a Stone. 1781 Cowper Friendship 184 So barren sands im bibe the shower. 1813 Sir H. Davy Agric. Chem. (1814) 49 The roots imbibe fluids from the soil by capillary attraction. 1860 Tyndall Glac. II. xxxi. 412 Water, will be partly imbibed by the adjacent porous ice

5 To take up, absorb, or assimilate (a gas, rays of heat or light, etc.), to take (solid substances) into solution or suspension

1665 Bacon Syl. a § 290 The Aire doth willingly imbibe the Sound as greatfull, but cannot maintaine it. 1831 Jordan Nat. Incident. II. 82 Lime-water, when mixed, imbibed, and will sink to the bottom again. 1785 Pott Chirur. VI. 111 While the robes imbibe the solar ray. 1744 Berkeley Siris § 142, Such salts are easily imbibed by water. 1807 J. Thomson Chem. (ed. 3) II. 434 When volatile oils are exposed to the open air they imbibe oxygen with rapidity. 1842 J. Bucke Cyclopædia I. 142 Having incorporated the mixture well, add of Frankfort black as much as it will imbibe. 1834 Mrs. Somerville Connex. Phys. Sc. vi. (1849) 132 The heat of the sun's rays which the earth imbibes †6 transf. and fig. To absorb, swallow up Obs.

1664 H. More Myst. Godl. 360 So as it may appear that the one does wholly imbibe the other. 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. v. 771 No One Magnitude can be Imbibed or Swallowed up into another. 1718 Swift Poems, Medals 77 The former merciless imbibes Commissions, perquisites, and bribes.

Hence Imbi bed ppl. a., †absorbed, Imbi bing vbl. sb., †steeping, saturation. †Imbi bement Obs. rare, imbibing, imbibition. Imbi ber, one who or that which imbibes or drinks, †an absorber 1584 R. Scot Discov. Witchcr. xiv. 1 (1886) 204 Termes of art ... (for a taste) their sublimating, unsligaming, englutting, imbibing, incorporating. 1592 Lyly Gallathea II. iii. Our [alchemists'] instruments decensories, viales, manuall and mural, for imbibing, and imbibing. 1669 Worthington Spir. Learn. (1668) 10 Use the imbibing or steeping of Corn, or any other Seeds in such Wines. 1684 Boyle Porosum Aquæ & Salis Fossil 36 The vapour ... of the imbibed Particles of water. 1698 Phillips (ed. 5) s.v., The Imbebement of Principles, the sucking or drinking in of Principles in our Infancy. a 1735 Arbuthnot (J.), Salts are strong imbibers of sulphureous vapours. 1870 Iron Standard 17 Sept., The imbiber of absinthe

Imbibition (imbibi·ʃən) [a. F. imbibition (14th c. in Godef. Compl.), ad. L. imbibition-em*, n. of action f. imbibere to Imbibe.] The action of imbibing (in the various senses of the vb.)

†1 Soaking or saturation with liquid, steeping or solution in liquid, combination of solid and liquid by this process, an instance of this, concr. a solution. To tie in imbibition, to tie a soak on a steep Obs.

1471 Ripley Compl. Alch. vi. xxviii. in Ashm. (1652) 168 Ma. Imbybyng ouer many mues we have yet. 1596 Plat Jewell-h. I. 36 Water wherein good store of Cow dung hath lyen in imbibition. 1606 Bacon Sylva § 918 The Congruity of Bodies, if it be more, maketh a perfecter Imbibition, and Incorporation. 1668 J. Davies tr. Olearius Voy. Ambass. 64 They steep the seed in an imbibition of fair water and Sheep's dung. 1678 R. Russell (Geber II. ii. 41 Mixed with them by frequent Imbibitions, etc. continually grinding, imbibing, calcining and reducing

2 Drinking in, absorption, assimilation by absorption usually of moisture or matter in solution, but sometimes of aeriform bodies or of solid particles by a liquid

1601 Holland Pliny II. 139 After this imbibition, when that the Frumenty hath thus drunk up all the water. 1672 Boyle in Phil. Trans. VII. 5159 A kind of Imbibition of certain Particles of an Acreal Nature by the Water. 1770 Watson Hist. Ld. I. 3 An imbibition of the particles of the several salts into the pores of the water 1846 Kirby & Sp. Entomol IV 89 That their nutrition is by imbibition or immediate absorption 1875 Burnett & Dyer Yorks. Bar 710 Imbibition is the term given to the capacity of organised structures to absorb water between their molecules with such force that they are thus driven apart. Ibid. 711 When wood distends on imbibition or contracts on desiccation

b Drinking (Affected use)

1844 J. T. Hewitt Parsons & H. xxxix, The imbibition of a little strong beer 1896 Allbutt Syst. Med. I 485 The free imbibition of port

3 The imbibing, 'drinking in', or absorption of knowledge, opinions, etc

1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 50 The imbuition of good nourture in childhood 1859 Holland Gold & Silver 296 Every imbuition of truth 1883 H. Drummond Nat. Law in Spir. W. 152 If all one's truth is derived by imbibition from the Church Imbind, Imbitter, Imblase see Embind, etc.

Imblemish, var of Emblemish Obs Hence

†Imblemishment, defacement, injury

1599 Ast. against Bishops 11 in Ld. Herbert Hen. VIII (1649) 266 To the great imblemishment and hurt of your said Royall Jurisdiction

Imblosson, obs. var of Emblosson †Imboard, v. Obs rare—0 [Im-1] trans. = Implank, q. v.

Imboase, -boce, Imbocer, etc., obs. forms of Emboss, etc.

1552 Huloet, Imbocer or chaser of plate

Imbossed see Embossed

Imbody, Imbog, Imboil, Imbolden see Embody, etc.

†Imbolish, v. Obs [app. a perversion of Abolish by confusion of a- prefix with im-, im-1 trans. To do away with, to make away with 1550 Crowley Depos. 7 Yeelding to the Muse, to imbolish Pathetibeate — Thereselding out (1631) C2 The hurne you do, is to imbolish mens goods, and bring them to poverty

Imbolster, Imbolt see Embolster, Imbolt

†Imbonity, Obs. rare—1 [ad. late L. imbonitās (Tertullian), f. im- (Im-6) + bonitās goodness] The reverse of goodness, unkindness

The quot. is an echo of Tertullian's omnis duritia et inhumitas et insuavitas (Dial. ad Vigilium 3 and init.)

1621 Burton Anat. Mel. I. ii. iv. (1624) 188 All the sinnes, griefes, suspitions, discontents, imbonities, insuavities.

†Imboo k, v. Sc. Obs. Also imbuik, buike [f. Im-1 + Book sb.] trans. To enter in a book, to book, enrol, register

1587 Mrs A Long (Brit. Mus.) To regester, imbooke, or inconicle all such worthye persons as by their valyaunt acts have deserved perpetuall remembrance. 1618 in Row Hist. Kirk (1842) 319 Selected some brethren should, with the clerk, forme the acts see them imbooked 1620 in Spot. Misc. (1846) 76 He said he wold not suffer them to be imbooked

Imborder, var. of Emborder †Imbo rdure, v. Obs. Also 5-6 en-, 6 em- [f. Im-1 + Bordure] trans. To encompass with a border, spec. Her. to furnish with a bordure of the same tincture (distinguished from Bordured), used when the bordure was of a different tincture from the field) Always in pa. pple. or vbl. sb.

1486 Bk. St. Albans, Her Bija, Iher be vi Differences in armys Labell and Imbordurying for lordis 1562 Leigh Armorie (1597) 110 b, His bordure is termed enlarged, because it is of the same that the field is of 1572 Bossewell Armorie II. 36 b, Of Armes embordured, or with bordure. 1610 Guillim Heraldry v. (1611) 17 You shall say that he beareth such metale colour or furre imbordured. 1658 Phillips, Imbordering, a term in Heraldry, when the field and circumference of the field are both of one metall colour, or fur 1737-6 in Bailey (folio) 1775 in Ash

Imborsation (imbɔ:sē·ʃən) rare [ad. It. imborsazione, n. of action f. imborsare, f. im- (Im-1) + borsa purse. Cf. Imburse 2.] An Italian mode of election to magistracies, in accordance with which the names of the candidates were put into a bag or purse to be drawn out 1787 J. Adams Wks. (1851) V. 280 The imborsations are made, and eight hundred names are put in the purses ‖Imboscata (imbɔskā·tă) Obs. Also em [It.] = Ambush, q. v.

1595 Savolo Practise 1, To drawe the enemy either into some imboscata or place of advantage. 1820 Scott Monast. xxi, To set upon me here as in an embuscata

Imbose, obs. form of Emboss

†Imbosk, v. Obs. Also 6 bosque [ad. It. imboscare 'to enter or goe into a wood, to take covert or shelter as a Deere doeth . . . Also to lye in ambush' (Florio), f. im- (Im-1) + bosco wood Cf. Emboss *v.*²] refl. To hide or conceal oneself 1562 J. Shute Cambine's Turk. Warre II. xi. Sulenberg went as secretly as possible, to imbosque him selfe neere to that place 1612 2nd Pt. Sir Quixote IV. viii. (1675) 46 Sancho requesting him to depart and imbosk himself in the mountain 1697 S. W. Schism Dispatch't 221 He cares not what contradictions he maintains, so he can but imbosk himself handsomely in them

b intr. for refl.

1641 Milton Reform. I. Wks. (1847) 10/1 They seek the dark, the bushy, the tangled forest, they would imbosk

Imbosom, Imbosk(e see Embosom, Embosk

Imbost, ppl. a., obs. var. of Embossed², foaming at the mouth from exhaustion

1595 1651 [see Embosk v. and Embossed ppl. a.] 1735 Somerville Chase III. 485 The Huntsman knows him by a thousand Marks, Black, and Imbost † Imbowst, sb. Obs. [cf. prec. and next.] Foam from the mouth of a beast)

1677 N. Cox Gentl. Recreat. I. 78 Yet will that [Stream] with the help of the Wind ledge part of the Steam and Imbost [printed Imbosh], that comes from him, on the Banks 1727 R. Bradley Fam. Dict. s.v. Hart, the Steam and Imbost

† Imbo st, v. Obs. rare [f. imbost, pa. pple. of imbost, Emboss *v.*² – (sense 3.)

App. the pa. pple. or pa. t. was taken as the vb. stem, whence a new pa. pple. imbosted (cf. graff, graft, graf'ed)

1 trans. To drive (a hunted beast) to exhaustion, to cause to foam at the mouth = Emboss *v.*² 2.

1590 Cokaine Treat. Hunting D3, He will cho e sp his mouth although he had not been imbosted or hunted that day

2 intr. To foam, as a result of hard running = Emboss *v.*² 3.

1590 Cokaine Treat. Hunting C1v Who o hunteth in breathed hounds in hot weather, causeth them to imbost and surfeate greatly

Hence † Imbo sted, boasted ppl. a., foaming at the mouth (like a madman)

1628 Feltham Resolves II. lxxxvi. 249 Sure, they borrow it from the imbosted Ied 1709 raging] Savage, and from tormenting spirits

Imbosture, Imbound, Imbow, Imbowel, Imbower, Imbox, Imbrace, etc. see Im-

Imbrad, var. of Embraid *v.*¹ Obs., to upbraid

Hence Imbrading vbl. sb. Also Imbrai der, one who upbraids, an upbraider

1542 Imbraydyng [see Imbroderd] 1552 Huloet, Imbrayder or caster in teeth with an olde benefite 1568 Grafton Chron. II. 680 They fell at such great words with such imbraydings and casting in the teeth of olde benefites shewed

Imbraid, obs. f. embraid see Embrace

Imbrake, var. Embrace v. Obs., to entangle

1613-18 Daniel Coll. Hist. Eng. 108 (D.) John imbraked the state and himselfe in those miserable incombrances thereof 1636 Heywood Challenge for Beauty I. ii. 20 So We have not leisure to imbrake [imple Ars] our selues in those braules

† Imbranch, v. Obs. Also en-, in- [f. Im-1 + Branch sb.] To graft on the stock &c. (q.v.)

1577 B. Googe Heresbach's Husb. (1586) 72 Three kindes of Grafting, betwixte the barke and the woode, in the stocke, the implanting or imbrauching. The first sort they call grafting, the seconde imbranching, the thirde moothation or imbudding 1598 Florio Iardiniere, to engraffe or imbranch 1611 Cotgr., Imbranquer, an vnbranching, imbranching, or vnbudding † Imbra nd, v. Obs. rare. [f. Im-1 + Brand sb.] trans. To arm with brands or swords 1610 G. Fletcher Christ's Tri. I. xl. The heavnly hoast, imbranding in red shockly, imbrandished were

Imbrangle, Imbrase see Embr-

Imbrasier, obs. var imbrasure, † Imbracery

1589 Sir J. Smith's Commw. Eng. II. xiii. 72 The Matters in this Court are Conspiracies, Champarties, Imbracery 1628 Coke 4 Inst. 140, 1633)

† Imbrate, v. Obs. rare [ad. It. imbrattare (Florio, 1598)] trans. To defile, sully, pollute

1542 St. Papers, Hen. VIII IV. 5 The things of this Scite wanted to be look imbrated by corrupted factions

Imbrauthery, Imbrayder, obs. forms of Embroidery, Embroider

Imbreast (imbre·st), v. rare—1 [f. Im-1 + Breast sb.] trans. To hold in one's breast or bosom, to Embosom 1867 Bailey Univ. Hymn 12 Who in Himself imbreasts both thee and he seen Imbreathe (imbrī·ð), v. Also 6 imbrethe, imbreth [f. Im-1 + Breathe v., partly variant of Embreathe, partly of Inbreathe.]

1 trans. To breathe in, imbibe Also fig.

1574 J. Jones Nat. beginning Corne Plants 14 The hurt cooled by the dayly imbrething of ye aire 1871 Farrar Hist. Interpr. iii. 84 The curse of a Pharisaism must have been imbreathed with the first lessons of consciousness even by innocent childhood

2 a. To inspire, instil. b. To inspire with

1601 Br. W. Barlow Eagle & Lady (1609) Eiij, The Soules returning vnto God, who first imbre athed them 1641 H. Ainsworth Defence Faith Church Eng. 39 Which was imbreathed of God 1647 Trail Comm. Ecc. xxii. 6 The holy men spoke no otherwise then as they were acted or inbreathed by the holy Ghost 1657 Comm. Ps. xl. 3 I cannot breath out a desire after him except he first im breath me therewith 1812 W. Taylor in Monthly Mag. XXXI. 54 A sceptical philosophy pervades the treatise, which imbreathes contentment and philanthropy 1853 Coleridge Aids Refl. 9 God transfused into man a higher life and imbreathed a self-subsisting soul

Hence Imbrea thed ppl. a., inhaled, imbibed

Imbrea thing vbl. sb., inhaling, inspiration

1574 [see 1] 1691 F. Taylor Sermons Thos. Philos 73 The Imbreathing whence Man became a Living Soul

1841 Clough Early P. x. 8 Imbreathed draughts of wine

Imbrech, var. Embreach

Imbred, Imbreed, var. Inbred, Inbreed

† Imbreke, Obs. A plant house-leek

1597 Gerarde Herbal App., Imbreke vs Houseleeke

† Imbreve, v. Sc. Obs. Also imbrew [ad. med. L. imbreviare 'in Breves redigere, describere' (Du Cange)] see Brieb sb. Cf. Of embrever, Embreve.] trans. To put into the form of a brief

1583 Leg. Bk. of Aubroath 1104, I will leave blanks for to imbreue thame [printed imbrew, rum. believe them] 16 Inducis of Perth (1734) 53 No complaints as pretends to the King, and his crown should be imbrevit and keipit untill the cumin, of the Justice in the harrow court

Imbreviate (imbrī·vĭĕt), v. Also 7 (Sc.) Imbreviat [f. med. L. imbreviāt-, ppl. stem of imbreviāre (see prec.)] trans. To put into the form of a brief, to enrol in a register

1609 Skene Acts 81 § 58 The Schiref all cause imbreviat, and put in writt the names of the twelue assisours 1636 Prynne Arminianis. agst. Montgom. 37 The Clerke caused all the ships to be imbreviated by his Writ 1805 Symons Institut. I. 14 Let the coroner cause their names and the names of the pledges to be imbreviated [in AF. enbrevier]

Imbrew, obs. f. Imbreve, Imbrue

¶ Imbrex (i·mbrĕks) Pl. imbrices (i·mbrĭsēz) [imbrex, i, timber a rain shower]

1 Technol. A curved roof tile (see quot. 18–7)

1857 Birch Anc. Pottery (1858) I. 165 The joints of the flat roof tile were covered by the imbrex, or rain tile which was made semi-cylindrical, the sides generally upright with an arched top. Ibid. II. 229, 1888 Trans. Archæol. Inst. Feb. 193 The absence of imbrices, which are a necessary adjunct in the formation of a Roman tiled roof

2 One of the scales or overlapping pieces of an imbrication

Imbricate (i·mbrĭkĕt) a. (sb.) [ad. L. imbricātus, pa. pple. of imbricare to form like a gutter tile, to cover with rain tiles, f. imbrex, imbricis rain.]

†1 Formed like a gutter-tile or pantile Obs.

1656 Blount Glossogr., Imbricate, square and bent like a roof or gutter tile, which the Latins call Imbrex. Also covered with such a tile 1661 Lovell Hist. Anim. & Min. Introd. The nailes are in all three hairs, but the wyers are imbricate [cf. Ibid. A Scale is an Os imbricatum]

2 Covered with or composed of scales or scale like parts overlapping like roof tiles, e. g. said of the scaly covering of reptiles and fishes, of leaf-buds, the involucre of Compositæ, etc.

1656 [see 1] 1760 J. Lee Introd. Bot. (1788) 56 1794 Martyn Rousseau's Bot. vi. 68 One of the most common forms of all other calyxes in this class [Compositæ] is the imbricate, or that which is made up of several rows of folioli, lying over each other like tiles on a roof 1826 Kirby & Sp. Entomol. IV. 340 Antennæ lamellate when the summit of each joint is more or less upon the like of that which precedes it. 1830 Lindley Nat. Syst. Bot. Introd. 24 In Polypetals both vitæ and imbricate æstivation exists

b Of leaves, scales, etc. Overlapping like tiles

1796 P. Russell Gen. Inst. Serpents 7 (L.) Two rows of large scales, ovate and imbricate 1852 Dana Crust. I. 48 In this, compressed scales of imbricate plates in two series

3 = Imbricated 4.

1890 Cent. Dict. s.v., An imbricate pattern

B as sb. A reptile fish, or other animal covered with imbricated scales

1869 Dana Man. Geol. 527 The Devonian ganoids are of three kinds . . . Imbricates having the scales arranged like shingles

Imbricate (i·mbrĭkĕt) v. [f. L. imbricat-, ppl. stem of imbricare, see prec.]

1 trans. To place so as to overlap like roof tiles. Also with together or fig. sense 1784 in Beddoe's Contrib. (1836) Notes 314 Trains of pea cocks, whose quills were seen in full system, and with which the plumes in the gradations of their natural growths 1874 Coues Birds N. W. 440 Webs often thus folded or imbricated over the next succeeding

2 trans. and absol. To overlap like tiles

1820 Hook Treat. on Brack. Hibernat. 279 The petals [of a carnation] should be regularly disposed alike on every side, imbricating each other 1854 Woodward Mollusca 41 Flattened prisms . . . united obliquely to the surfaces of the shell, the interior of which is imbricated by the rotten crop 1873 Sir C. Wyville Thomson Depths of Sea 24 In all essential family characters they agree. The plates imbricate in the same directions and on the same plan

Imbricated (i·mbrĭkĕtĕd), ppl. a. [f. prec.]

1 (See quot.) Obs.

1704 J. Harris Lex. Techn., Imbricated is used by Mr Townefort, and some other Botanists to express the figure of the Leaves of Flowers which are folded on, like an Embrex, or Gutter Tile 1727–41 Chambers Cycl.

2 Composed of parts (leaves, scales, or the like) which overlap like tiles. Also, covered by overlapping leaves, scales etc.

1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp. Imbricated shell, any species of shell fish, whose shells are elevated into transverse ridges, lying over one another at the base, in the manner of the tiles on a house 1760 Lee [see 1] Introd. Bot. (1788) 79 On this earth the imbricated liverworts find a bed to shake their tufts in 1858 Gosse Hist. Rochelle II. 68 Like the cocks on the roof of the Scotch fir 1882 Garden 1 Apr. 215 Another beautiful variety, having large and finely imbricated flowers

3 Of leaves, scales, etc. Arranged so as to overlap each other, after the manner of roof tiles

1753 Chambers Cycl. Supp. s.v. Leaf imbricated leaf, leaves placed over one another in the manner of the tiles of a house, or like the scales of fishes. 1777 Pennant Zool. IV. 101 (Jod.) Peeten with about thirty exhausted imbricated rays 1806 Gazine Brit. Fish. 20 Thumes imbricated over every side 1861 Hulme Wonders Insect-life II. 170 The Common Wood louse . . . The body is oval . . . composed of a number of imbricated rings

4 Resembling in pattern a surface of overlapping tiles = Imbricative 2.

1875 Fortnum Majolica II. 39 Sometimes ornamented with chequered, chevroné or imbricated patterns

Imbricately (i mbrik'ătli), adv [f IMBRICATE a + -LY 2] In an imbricated manner or order 1846 DANA Zoöph (1848) 592 The pinnules, when unexpanded, imbricately crowded

Imbricating (i mbrikĕtiŋ), ppl a [f IMBRICATE v + ING 1] Overlapping like tiles 1830 LINDLEY Nat Syst Bot 229 Flowers not surrounded by imbricating bracteæ 1851-6 WOODWARD Mollusca 136 Cistula Squamosus shell composed of 8 trans verse imbricating plates

Imbrication (imbrikē·ʃən) [n of action see IMBRICATE v and adj]
1 † The dropping of water from roof tiles Obs 1650 BULWER Anthropomet 68 Robbing the Eyes of their natural Port house or Water table, they expose them bare to imbrications +2 See quots Obs
1656 BLOUNT Glossogr, Imbrication, a covering with Lile 1658 PHILLIPS, Imbrication, a bending like a gutter tile, also a covering with tile
3 An overlapping as of tiles, a dcborative pattern imitative of this 1713 DERHAM Phys Theol VIII ix (1732) 270 A well made Tegument beset with bristles, adorned with neat imbrications 1831 R KNOX Cloquet's Anat 247 Their edges also overlap each other presenting the appearance of imbrication to use the language of botanists 1854 WOODWARD Mollusca 111 147 Shell armed in front with rasp like imbrications 1870 ROLLESTON Anim Life 43 The imbrication of the spinous first dorsal fin

Imbricative (i mbrikĕtiv), a [f IMBRICATE v + -ATIVE Cf F imbricatif, ive] = IMBRICATE a 2 4 1855 MAYNE Expos Lex s v Imbricatives, Most botanists call estivation imbricative, that which Candolle terms irregular 1880 GRAY Struct Bot 111 111 Imbricate or Imbricative is the general name for aestivation (or venation) with overlapping

Imbrica to- Com'uning form from I imbrication, = imbricately, imbricated and —, as imbricato granulous having imbricated granulations 1852 DANA Crus I 212 Areolets partly granulous and imbricato granulous

†Imbrid, a Obs=° [ad I imbrid-us I imber rain] Wet, rainy (Cockeram, 1623)

†Imbri er, v Obs [f IM- 1 + BRIER sb] trans To entangle as among briers 1605 CHAPMAN All Fools IV Dram Wks 1873 I 177 Yo shall see, if I leave not both these gallies with imbrier'd 1622 MABBE tr Aleman's Guzmane d'Alf III 113 I imbrd how many Brambles and Bushes must he imbrier himself e withall 1690 PALMER tr Ambros Oracle I 30 That they were imbryar'd in an Indian war

Imbri ferous, a rare [f I imbrifer (f imber a shower) -ous -FEROUS] Rain bringing, showery
1813 I FORSTER Atmosph Phænom (1815) 80 In the imbriferous quality of the atmosphere

Imbrighten, obs var of IMBRIGHTEN

Imbring, obs var of embering, EMBER[2]

Imbring, var of INBRING v Obs

+Imbri stled, a Obs rare [f IM-1 (=EM-) + BRISTLE sb + ED 1] Covered as with bristles 1599 NASHE Lenten Stuffe 4 All the fennie Lerna betweixt, that with reede is so imbristled

+Imbroca do[1] Obs [Alteration of It imbrocata, as if from Sp see -ADO Spelt also FMBROCADO] = IMBROCATA
c 1600 Distracted Lmp V ii (Bullen O P III 233) Favorytts are not without their stoccados, imbrocados, and puni [] reverses 1612 WITHERS Abuses Stript I v The; are for nothing but the Imbrocado 1652 R. LEIGH Transactions (1653) 52 Some of these Portugal Negroes play at Rapier and Dagger very skilfully, with their Stockadoes, their Imbrocades, and their Reverses

+Imbroca do[2] Obs=° [Alteration of It imbracado (Florio) cf brocado, BROCADE, and IMBROCADO v] = BROCADO v
1696 in BEDDOE Glossary 1698 PHILLIPS, Imbrocado, cloth of Gold or Silver

Imbrocate, obs var IMBROCATE

+Imbrocca ta. Obs [a It imbrocata 'a thrust at tence, or a tenie giuen ouer the dagger' (Florio), f imbracare 'to giue a thrust at fence ouer the dagger', b bracia said, mail (cf BROCADE sb)] A pass or thrust in fencing (see above)
1595 SAVIOLO Pra tice 9 The marster shall breake the same imbrocata or Cyne out wrd from the left side. 1598 B JONSON Ev Man in Hum III vii, I would teach these nineteene, the speciall rules as your Stoccata, your Imbroccata, your Passada &c 1599 B JONSON Cynthia's Rev V ii, You have your passados and imbroccatas in court ship, as the butter bob in wit

Imbroder, -ery, obs ff IMBRODDER, -IRY

+Imbro gild, ppl a Obs rare[—] [var of embroiled] see IMBROIL v 3, influenced by It imbrogliare.] Imbroiled, involved in a quarrel 1670 COKE Diary (Hkl Soc) 247 I had hkrd to have been imbrogild for disputing it Imbroglio (imbrō·lyo· Also em [a It imbroglio 'an entangling, an entrapping, a gurbolle &c (Florio), f broglio confusion see BROIL sb[1] and v]

1 A confused heap
1750 GRAY Long Story 66 Into the drawers and china pry, Papers and books in huge imbroglios 1850 CARLYLE Latter-d Pamph VIII (1872) 283 It will lie there an imbroglio of torn boughs 1864 BROWNING A Likeness 49, I keep my prints an imbroglio, Fifty in one portfolio
2 A state of great confusion and entanglement; a complicated or difficult situation (esp political or dramatic), a confused misunderstanding or disagreement, embroilment
1818 LADY MORGAN Flor Macarthy I iv 235 The object of this farcical embroglio was the fanciful and accomplished ideologist 1833 F W CROSSE in C Papers 4 Apr (1884) A financial imbroglio would be immediate anarchy and general ruin 1836 MRS CARLYLE Lett I 57 No household imbroglios 1864 Academy 8 Oct 458/2 The play is exceedingly clever in its intrigue and imbroglio 1879 FARRAR St Paul's II 351 Matters had fallen into a hopeless imbroglio 1885 STEVENSON Dynamiter 60 The items of the letter, and the explosion of the early morning, fitted together like parts in some obscure and mischievous imbroglio
3 A passage, in which the vocal or instrumental parts are made to sing, or play, against each other, in such a manner as to produce the effect of apparent but really well ordered confusion (GROVE Dict Mus 1880)

Imbrother, -ery, Imbroil see EMB-

Imbrown, v Obs var EMBROWN, to befoul 1566 PAINTER Pal Pleas I 74 b He was imbrowned and arrayed with the dunge wherof the Lakes was full

†Imbro theled, a Obs rare—[f IM- 1 + BROTHEL sb + ED 1] Placed in a brothel
1593 DEKKER Sat in 4 Worse than Imbrothelld strumpets & prostitute

Imbrother, -browder, obs ff IMBRODDER

Imbrown, obs f EMBROWN

Imbrue, -ery, Imbrul see EMB-

Imbrun, v Obs var EMBROWN, to befoul
1566 PAINTER Pal Pleas I 74 b He was imbrowned and arrived with the dunge whereof the Lakes was full

†Imbro theled, a Obs rare—[f IM- 1 + BROTHEL sb + ED 1] Placed in a brothel
1593 DEKKER Sat in 4 Worse than Imbrothelld strumpets & prostitute

Imbrother, -browder, obs ff IMBRODDER

Imbrown, obs f EMBROWN

Imbrue, -ery, Imbroil see EMB-

Imbrun, v Obs var EMBROWN, to befoul
1566 PAINTER Pal Pleas I 74 b He was imbrowned and arrived with the dunge wher

1555 EDEN Decades 168 The nations seeme apte to be imbued with good maners 1591 SPENSER Ruines of Rome xxiv, What fell Erynnis with hot burning tongs, Did gripe your hearts with noysome rage imbew'd? 1667 MILTON P. L. VIII 216 Thy words with Grace Divine Imbu'd 1736 HERKELEY Disc. to Mathematicians Wks III 415 To imbue the multitude with such notions as may controul their appetites 1822 HAZLITT Table Talk Ser. II v (1869) 118 He is so thoroughly imbued with the spirit of his authors 1865 M. ARNOLD Ess. Crit. x (1875) 259 How deeply the prejudices of the multitude imbued the educated class also

Hence Imbue ment, the action of imbuing, the fact of being imbued a 1693 URQUHART Rabelais II xiii 301 An Imbuement from its Divine Source 1864 in WEBSTER

†Imbui tion. Obs rare—0 [irreg from imbue of IMBUTION]

1658 PHILLIPS, Imbuition, a thorough moistning, also a seasoning, also a staining

Imbull, var of IMBUIL

†Imburden, v. Obs rare—1 [f IM-1 + BURDEN v.] trans To lay as a burden

1557 Spenser Premier Pts. xxxiii, For daie and night hath thyne hand been imburdelned upon me

†Imburied, pa. pple Obs—0 [f IM-1 + BURIED] Entombed, 'layd in bed' (Cockeram, 1623)

Imburse (imbɔ·rs), v. Now rare Also 6 ymburse, 7 emborse, emburse [ad late and med L imbursāre (It imborsare, OF emborser, Fr embourser) f im- (IM-1) + bursa purse cf disburse, re imburse]

1 trans To put into one's (or a) purse; to stow away, store up c 1530 Debate Semer & Winter in Hazl E. P. P. III 37 Thou sellyst in to exyle my goodes & mone ymbursed 1678 Pol. Ballads (1860) I 208 Then Imps sit dol on Pickering call, His charge to imburse 1791 BAILEY, To imburse, to put into Stock of Money 1755 JOHNSON, To Imburse, to stock with money. This should be emburse, from embourser 1871 MARIA F. ROSSETTI Shadow of Dante (1884) 56 Round holes, 'purses' in which these money sinners are imbursed from sight

† b trans.f To pour as into a purse nonce use

1602 J. SALTER Triumphs Jesus 6 Fountaines and Rivers with an eager Course Woo'd to the Ocean all their Floods imburse

2 †a To enrich Obs b To pay, refund

1641-6 FARL MONM in Rushw. Coll Hastings 1 132 The spoiles, estimated at 1600000 pounds, imbursed them that were the Authors or Permitters thereof 1721 BAILEY, Imburse, to restore or refund Money owing 1890 Daily News 25 Nov 2 1 The Bank naturally desires to be imbursed for the double work

Imbursement. rare [f prec + -MENT] The action of supplying with money, payment 1665 MANLEY Grotius' Low C. Warres 94 Provision was made for Imbursement of all Charges, by giving to him whatever Towns the Enemy held beyond the Mare 1762 tr Buchan.'s Visit Geog V 537 He was obliged for the imbursement thereof to grant certain prefectures, places and estates.

Imbushment, obs form of AMBUSHMENT

Imbusy, var of EMBUSY Obs

†Imbute, v. Obs rare [f I imbūt-, ppl stem of imbuĕre to INBUE] trans To steep, soak

Hence †Imbu tion, steeping, soaking

1657 TOMLINSON Renou's Disp 53 An Infusion or rather an Imbution Ibid 286 Lixuitary in whose succe their Powders must be imbuted

I-medled, MIDDLE pa ppple of MEDDLE I-mend, I-ment, of MEND v., to mingle

†I-mele, v. Obs [OE. gemǽlan (= OHG gamahlan, MHG gemælen), mælan to speak] see MELE v.] intr To speak, say a 1000 (Cædmon's Gen 787 (Gr) Adam gemælde and to hiuan spræc a 1240 (Trinum 48 in Cott. Hom 193 Ne mai no mub imelen Ha michel god du gerkest wið mine paradise.

†Ime lle, prep and adv. Obs. Also 4 in melle, 4 ymel, 5 ymelle [Of Norse origin cf Icel í mælli, Sw emellan, Da imellem (ON í milli, i millum, f ON mi MIDDLE, cf AMELLE.]

A prep Amid, among

13 L. L. Alit P. A 1126 To loue be lombe his meyny in melle c 1386 CHAUCER Reeve's T. 243 (Ellesm & Hengw) Lo while a cowplyng is in[t]olde DAY a mong be twinne, betwixe, ytwixe] hem alle c 1400 Rowland & O. 84 Oure noble kynge His doghety men I melle c 1440 Alph. Tales Med 18 (Halliw) Whenne the kyes were dryeste ynowghe and bakene y melle the stones

B adv Together, = AMONG adv 3

c 1400 Liber Cocorum (1862) 24 Hew þyn herme and do þer to penne þy henne and yolkes of eyren melle

I-melled, ME pa pple of MELL v., to mix

I-melt, of MELT v. I-membred, obs form of MEMBRED a

†I-mene, adj and adv Obs [OE gemēne = OS gimēnu, OFris gemēne, OHG gimeini (Ger gemein, Du gemeen), Goth gamains common = O Teut gamainis*, cognate with L communis]

A adj Common (to a number), shared or owned in common

c 1000 Ags Gosp Matt VII 27 Hwæt ys þe and ys gemene? c 1050 Suppl Ælfric's Voc in Wr Wülcker 177/10 Com pascuæ agri, gemæne lond c 1175 Lamb Hom 101 Heo dudan heore þing beoh gemene c 1200 ORMIN 5506 Nwa þatt se mujhenn alle innenn þatt rihhte weræ follhhenn

c 1230 Halt Meid 23 Þat is to alle itiche meanne a 1250 Owl & Night 628 Hit is fele other wrije imene

B adv In common, together

c 1200 Trin Coll Hom 11 Ne haue þu nwiht þin oȝen wil, ac alle manne imene a 1225 Ancr R. 390 Ssome we us eft sæan & speken of alle imene c 1400 K. Alisaunder (Auch) 1063 Þat we ne schulle ben imene c 1440 Promp. Parv. 260/1 Imene, or medlyd, promiscue

Hence †I-me nnesse [OE. gemǽnnesse], community, fellowship, society

c 1050 Mozdred in Cockayne Shrine 147 Sealdon hi hyre in hiaura ȝemænnesse a 1240 Ureisun of Loverd in Cott. Hom 217, I bileoue on holi thinche, imene ant ssrifte

I-meng(e)d, ME pa ppple of MENG v., mingle

Imergency, obs f IMERGENCY

I-merked, ME pa ppple of MARK v. I-merred, of MAR v. I-met, I-mett, of METE v.

†I-met. Obs [OE gemet (= OS gimet, OHG gamēz, Goth. gamēts), f OI mētan, Goth mitan to measure] Measure moderation

c 975 Rushw Gosp Matt VII 2 In ðæm ȝemete þe ȝe metað c 1200 Ormulum 'Men þatt Lord &c. þy lac be of ȝemete hæwebe c 1275 Lamb Hom 127 Þæhon ikke imet þe se meteð a 1225 Ancr R. 286 Luuriich þing me men, þeah, ȝeornen Beat is imet imeti.

†I-mete, a Obs [OE gemēte (OHG gemāze, MHG gemēze, f. mete MEET a.] Moderate, meet, fit, appropriate

?a 1000 Colossus Daniel 492 (Gr) We nið him hyra hyge Jesune mæst wæl) c 1175 Lamb Hom 105 Temptatiun þet is mitnesse on englen, þet mon hes imete on alle þing c 1205 LAY. 9584 He wes of his speche ikke imone imete a 1300 Cursor M. (Fairf) (1877) 30 He mete it mike imete

Hence †I metnesse, moderation

c 1175 Lamb Hom 101 Imetnes is ælc mihti moder

I-mete v. SEE YMETE, to meet I-mete n, MI pa ppple of METE v., to measure

†I-metlich, a Obs [OE gemetlic, f. gemet, I-MET sb + -lic, -LY1] Moderate, meet, of moderate size

c 888 K. ÆLFRED Bo. xx § 2 Mary, seceaseth þonne he behufe wǽre, hun ȝemetlic sie c 1000 Ælfric's Introd 87 in Ælfric Bk., Wiðfeoht and ȝemetlice c 1205 LAY. 2038 Alle þa þe hit ȝeme of þan men ne ualden †Imid, adv and prep Obs [Northern var of AMID The i- (varying with e-) might be merely a phonetic weakening, or it might be from in cf in middium in Ruskw Gosp, immidles in Cur-or M (Fairf) in Hampole], on mydde, in Morte Arthur] Amid amidst, in the middle of) a 1300 Cursor M. 6613 (Cott) Þai fand bot wemis crou fand imyd it cott emid Fairf ámid) 1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Consc. 6409 Þe fende is ay with-outen falles

So †Imi ddes prep = AMIDST

1340 HAMPOLE Pr. Consc 5185 Jerusalem þat standes imydes be world wyde

Imide (imaid), imp (d) Chem [Purposely altered from AMIDE] A name given to derivatives of ammonia (NH_3), in which two atoms of hydrogen are exchanged for a metal or organic radical these being viewed as compounds of the metal, etc., with a hypothetical radical Imidogen (imɔdɔdʒĕn) NH Often in combination, as in succin imide, NH(C4H4O2)2

1850 DANA Syst. Min (ed 2) 948 Imidogen, by which name I current intended to express ammonia form of a of which by hydrogen atoms 1865 Pall Mall Gaz III 246 Imides mon amides in which a at hydrogen are replaced by adrotoma radicle 1869 Eng. Mech 4 July 391 Imides are intermediate between the amides and nitrites, supposed to contain a hypothetical radicle, imidogen

Hence Imi do-, combining form of prec, as in imidoacetyle acid, imidocaprylimide, imidosul phuret, imidosulphonate, etc.

1881 Watts Dict Chem VIII 58 The products are imido-pyrolic acid and imido-pyrylimide

†I-milce, -milse, v. Obs Also imilce [OI gemiltsa = MHG gemilzen, f. gemilts mercy, see MILCE] trans To have mercy upon, pardon

c 1000 Ags Gosp Matt xx 34 Da ȝe miltsode he hun c 1000 Ags Ps (Spelm) lv 1 (Bosw) Gemilsa me God ȝemilsa me c 1175 Lamb Hom 39 Bure we onwille be imilsen and forȝeuen hun monne c 1205 LAY. 16837 Imilce þu Crist & his mæren þeos wælled a tiudsun under fon

I-mim, ME pa ppple of MIM v.

Imit (ai mit) nonce wd [f I imit-us lowest, after summus, cf med I imitari] Lowest point

1885 LAIT Prophetius Matt. xv § 85 72 A watercourse is thus the lowest line that will run from a col so as to pass through an Imit, or lowest point of the surface

Imitability (imitabi·liti) [f IMITABLE see -ITY.] The quality of being imitable

1658 NORRIS Coll Misc (1699) 259 The various modes of Imitability, or Participation 1707 Hist Ulloa I v 54 This account so far as it states the ability of God upon his imitability or participability is truly Platonic 1887 W. M ROSSETTI in Shelley Soc Papers 6 Outside the pretences of imitability

Imitable (i·mităb'l), [a f. imitabile (16th c. ad I. imitābilis, f. imitāri to imitate, see ABLE] 1 Capable of being imitated

1598 FLORIO, Imitabile imitable, that may be imitated 1656 COWLEY Pindar Odes, Preface Pindar 1, Pindar is imitable by none 1721 SHELE Spect No 223 P 1 We secretly believe the Part of the dying Person imitable by ourselves. 1880 J. STEPHEN Pope viii 198 All poets who have any mixed style are more or less imitable

†2 Desiring of imitation Obs

1550 NICOLAS Thucyd 6 That whoche shalbe founden to be therein Imitable, and good to followe 1680 SIR T. HERBERT Chr Mon 81 The worst of times afford imitable examples of Virtue 1748 RICHARDSON Pamela IV 82 Such advanta geous Lights as shall make the Vice that ought to be censured, imitable 1781 R. TWINING in Training Bam Papers (1887) 16 Wishing that painters and sculptors would confine their labours to imitable objects

Hence I mitableness, imitable quality

1633 ANNE Aged Coteem 11 The reason of this imitableness is the same 1774 A. GOLDSMITH Hist Earth I 332 The perpetual obligation and imitableness of the precepts and examples

†I mitably, adv Obs [f prec + -LY2] By way of imitation of counterfeiting

1616 J. LANE Cont Sqr 1 174 And the use of imitable designes doe frame To force a truth out of neutralitie

†Imita men. Obs rare—0 [= I imitamen f imitāri to imitate.] An imitation, a counterfeit 1677 GALE Crt Gentiles III 91 Al the Phenomena Baalim and Orc tau Demons were but Idolatric Imitamens et Apes of the true Messias.

I mitancy nonce wd [f I imitānt-em see next and -ANCY.] The quality or property of imitating, imitativeness.

1832 CARLYLE Misc Ess., Boswell's Johnson (1872) II 88 The servile imitancy of Mankind must be illustrated under the different figure of a Flock of Sheep 1850 Tatler & Pamph 1 (1930) 17 Not humanity or manhood applaud rather, pitiably imitancy, from the mimic ape and

I mitant. rare [f I imitant-em imitating pres ppple of imitāri to imitate see ANT.] That which imitates, a counterfeit article, or product

1888 Sat Times 3 Mar 1162 To lower the quality and to foster the use of imitants and adulterants

Imitate (i·mitĕt) v. Also 7 imm [f I imitāt-, ppl stem of imitāri to copy etc.]

1 trans To do or try to do after the manner of, to follow the example of, to copy in action

1534 MORE Pic. Wks 1 In the whiche we be taught so reuerently the bloode of his redemer, that he will not yet imitate and follow his passion 1600 J. BROUGHTON Low Masse 18 Be ashamed, thou hating, to imitate the vices of his ancestors 1668 CULPEPPER & COLE Barthol Anat 1 xxiii 55 Symphonia whom I remember'es of Rostock does faithfully imitate, he hath engraved the Muscles of Cupids 1697 DAMPIER Voy I 7 The Children imitating their Parents 1781 GIBBON Decl & F xxxvii III 7 note In the form and disposition of his ten books of epistles he imitated the younger Pliny 1876 MOZLEY Univ Sermons (1877) 188 We use to imitate others so far as they possess most qualities which we are of a general and common stock

b Sometimes with implication of incongruity or of specific purpose To mimic, counterfeit 1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 558 The Hyæna will imitate mans voyce and having heard the tune of some of the shepheards will call him 1660 F. BROOKE Le Blanc's Trav 188 Of Apes and Monkies there are that will imitate all they see 1727 DE FOE Magic I iii (1840) 76 It remains a question here, by what power the magicians of Egypt in short imitated or imitated the miracles of Moses and Aaron 1738 SWIFT Lett to a Lord 72 His imitating Lady Answerall's tone Very pretty!

†c Said of undesigned similarity of action Obs

1601 R. JOHNSON Kingd & Commw (1603) 102 Herein it should seeme they imitated the opinion of the Stoikes 1602 PARSONS R. Doctrine Gentiles 77 The Pygmies also imitated this of Moses his sacrifices, that they immolated the like beasts.

†d With inf To endeavour, make an attempt to do something Obs exc dial

1646 EVELYN Mem (1857) I We omit and practise to make swifter motions than any out of your muskets a 1825 JAMES For. Fortnight, Imitate, to attempt, to endeavour Ex A child or weak person imitated to walk.

2 To make or produce a copy or representation of, to copy, reproduce 1590 SPENSER F. Q. II xii 42 A piece pakt out by choyce of best dyes That nature wrought with meruile great 1658 R. JONES Faint of Ancients 19 Some Artificers can imitate the workes of others most accurately 1687 A. LOVELL Thevenot's Trav I 89 They do not think they can imitate the Colossus of Nature 1860 TYNDALL Glac II xii 260 In such moraines it is possible to imitate the phenomena of the firm-stream

b To pursue the course of (a composition) so as to use parallel images and examples (J)

1700 DRYDEN Æneis Pref (Globe) 436 The adventures of Ulysses in the Odyssey were imitated from those of Virgil's Æneas 1732 GAY (J) For shame! what must an Ode be? a 1838 SCOTT Prefaces I Waverley note This title is imitated, rather than copied, from a fragment

3 To be, become, or make oneself like, to assume the aspect or semblance of, to simulate a intentionally or consciously, b unintention ally or unconsciously

1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. II iii 205 Red fearfe is self blacke to imitate her brow 1601 Twel N. III v 418 For hum I imitate 1615 CHAPMAN Iliad V 7 In blame they imitate the Italians 1654 GAYTON Pleas Notes 1 8 The confusion must imitate the more unworthy and weaker part that is promised 1740 DYCHE & PARDON New Dict s.v., The diseases of the mind imitate those of the body 1859 MACPHERSON Natur Syst Class 179 Where they may be seen in countless profusion, imitating, in their outline, horse-shoes, rings, almonds etc Ibid A faith painted to imitate iron

Hence I mitated ppl a, I mitating vbl sb and ppl a 1591 Percivall Sp. Dict. Remedamunda, imitating 1686 Plot Staffordsh 284 This imitating quality becomes involuntary 1697 Dryden Æneid x. 905 This hand apparel'd a shining sword to wield, And that sustain'd an imitated shield 1745 Eliza Heywood Fem. Spectator (1748) IV. 24 In this imitating age there will be few fond enough of vice to be out of the fashion.

† Imitate, sb. Obs. rare [ad. I. imitat-us an imitation, f. imitārī to Imitate.] An imitation 1669 Gale Crt. Gentiles I. III. i. 15 The Greek Rapsodies and Rapsodists were but Satanic Imitates of the Hebrew Psalm-sists.

Imitation (imitē·ʃən) Also 6 ymy-, imytacion [ad. L. imitātiōn-em, n. of action from imitārī to Imitate: perh. through F. imitation.]

1 The action or practice of imitating or copying + Acts of imitation = imitative arts 1500 Aeneydos of D. Imitation Godly A full denoute & goosteley treatyse of ye Imytacion & folowynge ȝ blessyd lyfe of our most mercyfull sauioure cryst 1520 Whitinton Vulg. (1527) 3 Many persones saythe they that lyuynge maye vpon be deceyued 1538 Juwes Laud. of Inconst. 150 Concerning the manifold vse of these Arts of imitation 1727 De Foe Voy. Round G. I. (1840) 7 Adam, posterity learnt to sp ak most immediately from him and Eve their mother by mere imitation of sounds. 1769 Junius Lett. v. 28 An example for imitation. 1820 Coleridge Table Talk, Imitation is the sincerest of flattery. 1876 Morris Cur. Nouvelle 6 Imitation is well as nature is the source of pastoral verse.

b Phrase. imitation of (cf. I. ad imitationem). Also after the, according to the out of an imitation. + in his imitation (cf. I. à son imitation) 1579 Sir N. North Plutarch's Lives 3 They leamed it not of the Arabians neither did they it after the imitation of the Messians. 1585 I. Washington tr. Nicholay's Voy. 61 b, Crediug to the imitation of the auncient Emperors and Kommunes. 1586 A. Day Engl. Secretary I. (1625) 30 In imitation of the best and most learned iudgements of our time. 1594 Carew Huarte's Exam. Wits (1616) 113 Hee which this notable man vsed to doe. I am now also resolued to doe in his imitation. 1651 Hobbes Leviath. II. xxiv. 170 To see the late troubles in England, out of an imitation of the Low Countries. 1823 Ruttер Southill 25 Carved timber work, painted in imitation of old oak.

2 The result or product of imitating: a copy, an artificial likeness; a thing made to look like something else, which it is not; a counterfeit 1602 Shaks. Ful. C. II. i. 37 One that feeds On Objects, Arts and Imitations 1638 + Jonson Pasm. of Imitati. 143 So is the imitation of an invention much more hard and difficult 1708 Johnson Pref. Shakes., Imitations produce pain or pleasure, not because they are imitations for realities. 1875 Jowett Plato (ed. 2) III. 60 They are not true philosophers, but only an imitation. 1876 Humphrey Corn Coll. Mun. 405 Modern imitations of ancient coins.

3 Literature. A method of translating looser than paraphrase, in which modern examples and illustrations are used for ancient, or domestick for foreign. Jᵒ.; a composition of this nature 1656 Cowley Imitat. Odes. Praise Imitat. In imitation of Horace his second Ode. 4 1721 Prior Epist. The Lady's Looking-glass. In imitation of a Greek Idyllium. 1734 Watts Relig. Fear, Hebr. Text, The Difficulty of most Imitations of the Psalms of David in applying to the Imitation of them in Christian Language. 1870 Courthope in Dryden's Works (1882) 488 Dryden's imitations or, to himself, all-them translations of Chaucer and Boccaccio were made in 1698 and 1699.

4 Mus. The repetition of a phrase or melody, usually at a different pitch, in another part or voice, either with the same intervals, rhythm, motion, etc. exact imitation, or with these more or less modified. free imitation. see also Augmentation, Diminution, Inversion 1727 & Chambers Cycl. Imitation in music, a kind of composition wherein one part is made to imitate another throughout, that the whole piece which is one of the kinds of canon or only during some measures which is a simple imitation 1880 Ouseley in Grove Dict. Mus. I. 76, If the imitation is absolutely exact vs to intervals it becomes a Canon. Imitations may take place at any interval or at any distance. Ibid. 69 A specimen of simple imitation at the octave, from such small germ as this the modern fugue has been gradually developed.

5 attrib. Made of (less costly) material in imitation of a real or genuine article or substance.

1858 Gosse Gossiana 241 The fitting up of an imitation gun I. the African market with an imitation musket for the same. 1895 Outing (Amer.) II. 151 Imitation tortoise shell combs.

Imitational (imitē·ʃənăl), a. [f. prec. + -al.] Of, pertaining to or characterized by imitation 1833 Q. Rev. XLIX. 117 We do not merely imitate and as many of the pieces included in this volume are [etc.] 1874 Sayce Compar. Philol. v. 217 Root are not emotional or imitational cries, although they may have grown out of them.

Imitationist (imitē·ʃənist) [f. as prec. + -ist.] One who practises imitation, or gives imitations; (a mere imitator, one who wants originality.)

In mod. Dicts

Imitative (i·mitătiv) a. sb. [ad. late L. imitātīv-us, f. imitārī (see -ative), cf. F. imitatif.]

1 Characterized by or consisting in imitation

Imitative arts, the arts of painting and sculpture, imitative word, a word which reproduces as a natural sound

1584 Twine Painful Life A vij, There are three kinde of styles in a Poeme, either Actiue, either Imitatiue which Caecinus call Praxiticum. 1697 Dryden Virg. Georg. iii. 282 Ploughing, is an imitative Toil, Resembling Nature in an ease Soil 1753 Hogarth Anal. Beauty xi. 91 It is allowed by the most skilful in the imitative arts. 1853 Ruskin Stones Ven. II. vi. This is the error of merely imitative painters of still life, flowers, &c. 1865 Taylor Early Hist. Man II. 33 Words which are evidently imitative, like "peewit."

b Const of.

1700 Dryden Palamon & A. III. 527 This temple Was imitative of the first in Thrace 1849 Perkman Archit. I. iv. 91 Some of them are directly imitative of the timber construction 1867 Miss Broughton Not wisely II. ii. 36 Walking in a manner feebly imitative of the human gait

2 Given to imitation, prone to imitate, copy, or mimic

1752 Hume Tr. & Treat (1777) I. 216 The human mind is of a very imitative nature 1827 Gilfillan Lord's Days Introd. 36 At present, we are become an imitative, not to say a mimic race 1837 Sir Smith Wks (1867) II. 249 Human beings are very imitative

3 That imitates the appearance of something else, simulative, fictitious, counterfeit 1838 Dickens Nich. Nick. xxxv, Dazzling articles of imitative jewellery almost equal to real † B as sb. = Sec. quot.; Obs.

1678 Phillips (ed. 4) Imitatrix, in Grammar those sort of Verbs which express any kind of Imitation, as Patrizo Gree. to take after the Father, or imitate his actions, humour, or fashion

Hence I mitatively adv., in an imitative manner, I mitativeness, imitative quality 1846 Mackintosh cited in Worcester for Imitativeness 1849 Perkman Archit. I. iv. 91 His chief aim is imitativeness 1879 Cassell's Techn. Educ. V. 279 Ilpoints are employed as ornaments they must not be treated imitatively.

Imitator (i·mitēɪtəɹ) Also 6 imm-, 6, 7 -our, -or [ad. I. imitatores (-trix), n. of imitārī to Imitate, agent-noun f. imitāri to imitate.]

1 One who imitates, copies, or follows another, one who produces an imitation of anything. Also transf. of things 1543 In Berners Froiss. Pref. (1812) I. Dij, In semblable wyse dyd his vnyuersite, nobile duke Theseus 1548 Coverdale Godly Exhort. 3 b, Gods children ought to be euery one imitatours of nature. 1585 I. Washington tr. Nicholay's Voy. III. xxii. 102 b, This they doe to shew themselves true imitatours of their Prophet Mᵃᵗ. Mahomet's Orᵈ. 1611 Bible Ephes. v. 1 Be ye therefore followers of God, as deare children, and imitatours of him. 1824 Bp. Shirley Sermons I. 52 Every plant of her immaculate cap.

b Nat Hist Without coloured spots or marks, unspotted

1797 Bracken Bee Feeds (1847) I. 54 He describes the male bird to be of an immaculate white 1808 Stark Elem. Nat. Hist II. 198 Abdomen with spots and angulated bands of brown and white. 1847 Halliwell Dict. Immaculate, legs immaculate 1847 Harvey in Proc. Berw. Nat. Club II. No. 5. 236 Thorax narrowed towards the bave, immaculate

Hence Imma culately adv., spotlessly, stainlessly, faultlessly

a 1721 Ken Hymnarium Poet. Wks. 1721 II. 4 Thou art God alone; Thy Nature is immaculately pure 1870 Disraeli Tancred xiii, Those cheeks usually so immaculately fair

Imma culateness. [f. prec. + -ness.] The quality of being immaculate

1641 J. Jackson True Evang. Test. II. 103 The Immaculateness of the Lambe. a 1843 in Southey Comm. Bk. Sec. II. (1849) 574 They set themselves against S. Thomas Aquinas, taking advantage of his unpopular doctrine respecting the immaculateness 1865 Athenæum 7 May 593/2 Mr. Lee struggles hard to prove the immaculateness of his client

† Immaculā·tion. Obs. rare. [f. Immaculate a. see -ation, and cf. med. L. immaculātio.] Immaculate condition

1609 W. M. Man in Moone (Percy Soc.) 47 Beautie seiseth enthroned on her brows: immaculation on her necke.

† Immal·led, a. Obs. rare. [f. Im-1 + Mail sb. + -ed.] Clad in mail, mailed

1613-16 W. Browne Brit. Past. II. iv, Instructed swarmes Of men immayl'd

† Immalleous, a. Obs. rare. [f. Im-2 + Malleous.] Not malleous, having no evil intent

1655 Petty Taxes 63 When the executors of them [penal laws] keep them but until a fault be done, and then shew them terrible to the poor inhabitants offender

Immallowed (imæ·lōɪd), imm-, a. rare. [f. Im-2 + Mallfable.] Not mallcable, incapable of being hammered out, unyielding (to force)

1675 Boyle Mech. Orig. Conservence Expl. xi. 24 It [aqua fortis] quickly frets the parts asunder, and reduces it [tin] to an unmallcable substance 1682 Mem. Sir J. Godfrey 79 (L.) How immallcable does it render their stony natures to the force of all humane impressions 1876 Jevons Logic. Prim. 19 When it cannot be so hammered out, it might be called immallcable, but we generally call such a piece of metal brittle

Immanacle (imæ·năkl, imm-), v. rare [f. Im-1 + Manacle.] trans. To put manacles on, to handcuff: to fetter

1634 Milton Comus 665 Thou canst not touch the freedom of my mind although thou corporal rind Thou mayst immanacle 1812 Dudley Amoroso I. 45 He found her on the floor bleeding and immanacled

Immanation. rare [f. Im-1, after Emanation.] A flowing or entering in.

a 1834 Lamb Let. to Coleridge (L.) A quick immanation of continuous fantasies.

Immane (imē·n), a arch [ad. L. immanis monstrous, huge, savage, f. im Im-2 + manus hand.]

† b Constr. from Obs.

1579 Fulke Heskins' Parl. 373 As they were immaculate from faults of their bodies, so he was immaculate from sins. 1790 Gibbon Misc. Wks. (1814) III. 507 His chastity was immaculate from sin or scandal.

c Immaculate Conception, the conception of the Virgin Mary, as held to have been free from the taint of original sin in 1854 declared to be an article of faith of the Roman Church

1687 Bramhall Vindic. 1 (1710) 31 The Dominicans were obliged to assert, that she was born in Original Sin. By this the Dominicans began to lose Ground extremely in the Minds of the People, who were strongly prepossess'd in favour of the immaculate Conception 1788 Priestley Corrupt. Chr. I. iv. 382 The university declared for the immaculate conception 1861 Stanley East. Ch. viii. (1865) 264 1871 Freeman Norm. Conq. IV. xviii. 137 The feast of the Conception—not yet declared to be immaculate—of our Lady

d Immaculate lamb, applied to Christ, after L. agnus immaculatus (Ter δαμὸν ἄμωμον), 1 Pet. i. 19

c 1450 Cov. Myst. (Shaks. Soc.) 272 This immaculat lombe that I tall yow leve Is bothe God and man 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 10 b, The immaculate lambe Jesu Christ, the sone of God 1772 Fletcher Logica Genev. 209 The personal righteousness of the immaculate Lamb of God 1858 Neale tr. Bernard de M. 388 He, Lamb Immaculate

2 Free from fault or flaw (Chiefly in negative or ironical use.)

1830 W. Irving Alhambra II. 147 The words of the immaculate Fredegonda 1856 Dod Eccles. Cyc. Faith I. i. § 2. 48 The sceptical philosophy is by no means so immaculate 1865 Bright Sp. (1876) 26 We are not immaculate and your wisdom is not absolutely perfect

b Of manuscripts or printed books. Absolutely free from textual errors 1841 Maitland Dark Ages iii. 40 They [the Jews] believed that all the manuscripts of their Law were immaculate, and the same to a letter. 1864 Burton Bk. Hunter (1869) 65 Editions sort of unattainably immaculate as immaculate, as for instance the Virgil of Didot and the Horace of Foulis

3 In literal senses. a. Spotlessly clean or neat.

1735 Pope Donne Sat ii. 253 A white glov'd Chaplain in immaculate trim, Neatness itself impertinent in him 1853 J. Brown Horæ Subs. Ser. I. (1882) 169 Then out to parade in proper trim, pipe clay immaculate 1866 Mrs. Stowe Dred I. v. 52 Every plait of her immaculate cap.

b Nat Hist Without coloured spots or marks, unspotted

1797 Bracken Bee Feeds (1847) I. 54 He describes the male bird to be of an immaculate white 1808 Stark Elem. Nat. Hist II. 198 Abdomen with spots and angulated bands of brown and white. legs immaculate 1847 Harvey in Proc. Berw. Nat. Club II. No. 5. 236 Thorax narrowed towards the bave, immaculate

Hence Imma culately adv., spotlessly, stainlessly, faultlessly

a 1721 Ken Hymnarium Poet. Wks. 1721 II. 4 Thou art God alone; Thy Nature is immaculately pure 1870 Disraeli Tancred xiii, Those cheeks usually so immaculately fair

Imma culateness. [f. prec. + -ness.] The quality of being immaculate

1641 J. Jackson True Evang. Test. II. 103 The Immaculateness of the Lambe. a 1843 in Southey Comm. Bk. Sec. II. (1849) 574 They set themselves against S. Thomas Aquinas, taking advantage of his unpopular doctrine respecting the immaculateness 1865 Athenæum 7 May 593/2 Mr. Lee struggles hard to prove the immaculateness of his client

† Immaculā·tion. Obs. rare. [f. Immaculate a. see -ation, and cf. med. L. immaculātio.] Immaculate condition

1609 W. M. Man in Moone (Percy Soc.) 47 Beautie seiseth enthroned on her brows: immaculation on her necke.

† Immal·led, a. Obs. rare. [f. Im-1 + Mail sb. + -ed.] Clad in mail, mailed

1613-16 W. Browne Brit. Past. II. iv, Instructed swarmes Of men immayl'd

† Immalleous, a. Obs. rare. [f. Im-2 + Malleous.] Not malleous, having no evil intent

1655 Petty Taxes 63 When the executors of them [penal laws] keep them but until a fault be done, and then shew them terrible to the poor inhabitants offender

Immallowed (imæ·lōɪd), imm-, a. rare. [f. Im-2 + Mallfable.] Not mallcable, incapable of being hammered out, unyielding (to force)

1675 Boyle Mech. Orig. Conservence Expl. xi. 24 It [aqua fortis] quickly frets the parts asunder, and reduces it [tin] to an immallcable substance 1682 Mem. Sir J. Godfrey 79 (L.) How immallcable does it render their stony natures to the force of all humane impressions 1876 Jevons Logic. Prim. 19 When it cannot be so hammered out, it might be called immallcable, but we generally call such a piece of metal brittle

Immanacle (imæ·năkl, imm-), v. rare [f. Im-1 + Manacle.] trans. To put manacles on, to handcuff: to fetter

1634 Milton Comus 665 Thou canst not touch the freedom of my mind although thou corporal rind Thou mayst immanacle 1812 Dudley Amoroso I. 45 He found her on the floor bleeding and immanacled

Immanation. rare [f. Im-1, after Emanation.] A flowing or entering in.

a 1834 Lamb Let. to Coleridge (L.) A quick immanation of continuous fantasies.

Immane (imē·n), a arch [ad. L. immanis monstrous, huge, savage, f. im Im-2 + manus hand.]

1 Monstrous in size or strength, huge, vast, enormous, tremendous

1615 CHAPMAN Odysses IX 268 A man in shape immane, and monsterous 1679 DRYDEN Sylvæ XVI (ed 3) 71 What immane difference then is there between the twenty fourth of Aug and commencement of March? a 1734 NORTH Lives I 101 An immane concern of himself and of his own worth 1859 HOOD in Fraser's Mag XI 316 So wild, unearthly, and immane

2 Monstrous in character, inhumanly cruel or savage

1608 DEVEREUX 2nd Pt Parall 38 To unite his lodge in peculiar is a thing verie immane 1644 BUNNER Sparrow 12 The immane cruelty of Heiron, the Tyrant of that City 1886 (1) W HOLMES in Pages for Old Folk (1890) 44 That immane and nefandous Burke and Hare business

Hence Imma nely adv, hugely, monstrously, inhumanly, Imma neness (Bailey vol II, 1727)

1612 R SHELTON Serm St Martin's 29 Christ meerely hoysed up, immanely pitched down with the rosse 1670 MILTON Hist Eng I (1851) 23 A man Valiant, Liberal, and fair of Aspect, but immanely Cruell

Immanency (ĭ mānĕnsĭ) [f IMMANENT a 2 + -ENCY.] The fact or condition of being immanent, indwelling

1816 COLERIDGE Tay Serm 341 Its state of immanence is reason and religion 1849 J EWES Stat Philos (1869) II 106 Bruno anticipated Spinoza in his conception of the immanence of the Deity 1883 FIDDES-DIN Life Jesus (ed 6) II 527 Conscious immanence in Him [Christ], and of His Word in us are the indispensable conditions of our privileges

Immanency (ĭ mānĕnsĭ) [f as prec see -ENCY.] The quality of being immanent, in dwellingness

1659 PEARSON Creed 170 The immanency and inherency of this power in Jesus 1866 Reader No 170 318 1 His immanency and perfect unity of the two 1886 Westm Rev Oct 469 Christ never reflected on transcendency and immanency

Immanent (ĭ mānĕnt), a [ad late L immanent em, pres. pple of immanere, f. im- IM-1 + manēre to dwell, remain Cf F immanent (14th c.)]

1 Indwelling, inherent, actually present or abiding in, remaining within

In recent philosophy applied to the Deity regarded as permanently pervading and sustaining the universe, as distinguished from the notion of an external transcendent creator or ruler

Immanent principle (with Kant), a principle limited to the realm of experience opposed to transcendental principle

1535 THOMSON Vulgar Lyfe Quhen our forfather fell, Drawing vs all, in his loynis immanent, Captive from glore 1610 T HIGGONS Serm Paule Crosse 1611 13 He hath an immanent loue dwelling in him 1637 GILLESPIE Eng Pop Ceremo Pp B3, That we may forget to thinke this inward evills immanent and evills imminent 1659 PEARSON Creed (1741) 86 The power of miracles cannot be conceived as immanent or inhering in him 1836 Blackw Mag XXXIX 454 The man Whose form enshrouding immanent Deity Mourned from the cradle to the cursed tree 1898 J MARTINEAU Study Chr 310 They have not cared to recognize it (the external world) as the shrine of immanent Deity 1898 J R TUTCHONE Devine Immanence 21 It remains then that we conceive of God as at once transcending and immanent in nature

2 Immanent Act and Action, an act which is performed entirely within the mind of the subject, and produces no external effect, opposed to a transient or transitive act Now rare

This distinction, formulated in Scholastic philosophy, is the connexion in which the word most freq occurred during the 17th and 18th centuries

1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 5 The workes of God, which are either inward and immanent, or outward and transient 1677 HALE Prim Orig Man I 1 28 The internal and immanent Faculties and Acts of the reasonable Soul are Intellect and Will 1785 REID Intell Powers IV xiv (1803) I 306 Logicians distinguish two kinds of operations of the mind, the first kind produces no effect without the mind, the last does The first they call immanent acts, the second transitive. 1836 7 SIR W HAMILTON Metaph (1870) II xxv 218 A cognition is an immanent act of mind 1847 DE QUINCEY Milton Wks 1863 V 177 In metaphysical language, the world of an opera or a drama should be immanent, not transient it should be vitally distributed through the whole organisation of the tree not gathered or secreted into a sort of red berry pendent at the end of its boughs

Hence Immanently adv, in immanent manner 1721 KEN Hymnarium Poet Wks 1721 II 73 Immanently will'd Within thy glorious self the First pass'd

Immane ntal, a rare [f prec + -AL] Of or pertaining to the immanence of the Deity

1885 J MARTINEAU Types Eth Th (1886) I 118 119 The mysteries of the Immanental Methysics

Imma nifest, a rare [f IM-2 + MANIFEST (f OF immanifeste)] Not manifest or evident

1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep II VI 294 A time not much unlike that which was before time immanifest and unknowne. 1674 BOYLE Nat & Practicall State Bodies 3 If the Body were under my violence, I was exercis'd by usual, but often immanifest Agonies 1787 TAYLOR Diallus II 115 1840 J H NEWMAN Lett (1891) II 316 The suppressed premiss is not immanifest

Hence Imma nifestness

1882 T TAYLOR Apuleius 276 The immanifestness of the act by which they were made

† Imma·nity. Obs [ad L. immānitās, f immānis IMMANE Cf F immanité (16th c.)] The quality of being immane

1 Hugeness, monstrosity, enormity.

1604 CAWDREY Table Alph, Immanitie, beastlie cruelitie, or hugenesse and greatnes 1663 COWLEY Ess Verse & Prose, Liberty (1688) 81 If the immanity of so many Vices had not been covered and disguised 1667 PRIDEAUX Letter to Prelate (1733) 45 The Immanity of their Blasphemies against God

2 Monstrous cruelty, atrocious savagery

1597 NORTH tr Guevara's Dial Pr 135 a/2 To shewe more their immanitie they dranke the bloude of him that was lately alyue 1583-87 FOXE A & M (1684) III 649 Not to be accounted inhumanity, but rather immanity and beastly cruelty a 1619 FOTHERBY Atheom II II § 6 (1622) 207 Those not able immanities which Dolabella exercised upon the body of Trebonius 1659 BASTICK Flagel XVI 51 Phalaris the Tyrant came to that degree of Cruelty and Immanity, that he took pleasure of sucking Children

† Immansuete, a Obs rare—° [ad L immansuētus see IM-2 and MANSUETE] Ungentle, untractable, outragious, wilde (Blount 1656)

Immanta tion. [ad med L immantātion em, n of action from immantāre to clothe with a mantle, f mantum mantle] The investiture of a newly elected pope with the mantum or mantle

1891 Academy 11 Dec 564 Some other ceremonial rites associated by custom with the 'tractatus' namely the change of name, the adoration, and the 'immantation'

Immantle (imæ ntl, imm-), v Also 7 em-, 9 en- [f IM-1 + MANTLE.]

1 trans To cover or enwrap with, or as with, a mantle chiefly fig

1601 HOLLAND Pliny I v Vndes the pourprise and bending cope whereof [heaven], all things are enmanteled and couched 1620 J REMINGTON Mary Mag 425 From top to toe she was immantled With purest Lawne 1646 ARTHUSIUS Parisian Scene 27 The Sunne is immantled with a mist and darkned 1719 LEADBEATER Boyle Lectures I 47 The verdant Foliage Immant ling the Eiden Branches. 1850 TENNYSON In Mem lxxxix, Immantled in ambrosial dark 1881 J ADDINGTON SYMONDS Songs of Study 49 The cathedral emmantles those head

+ 2 To place round as a fortification (Cf dismantle) Obs rare

1601 HOLLAND Livy II 343 The walls that he caused to be built and emmanteled about other towns

Imma nuable, a Obs [f IM-2 + MANUABLE] Unmanageable, incapable of being controlled

1628 EARLE Microcos (1732) 158 Where a honest serpent hath bitten a man or beast he falleth mad, his eyes grow dim and his nerves immanuable

Imma rble, v rare [f IM-1 + MARBLE sb Cf EMMARBLE] To convert into marble, to make cold, hard, or immovable, as marble Hence Immarbled ppl a

1642 VICARS Lord in Mount 17 Such was their immarbled impudence 1839 BAILEY Festus (1854) 170 The immarbled windows of heaven

† Immarce sence Obs = [f L immarcēs-ĕre (see MARCID) + -ENCE] 'Unfadingness, incorruptibleness' (Phillips, 1658)

Immarcesci ble (imaɹse sibl), a Now rare Also erron 9 -cessible, [f able [ad late L immarcēscibilis, f. IM-2 + marcēscĕre, marcēs- to fade, wither] Unfading, incorruptible, imperishable, esp in immarcescible crown of glory (Immarcescibilis corona 'unfading garland' occurs in Paulinus Nolanus (*c*431 A D) Carm IX 15, Pro his beatis immarcescibilis a Pet I 4, corona incorrupta, I Cor IX 25)

1548 HEYWOOD Pathw Prayers Kvj The immarcescible (sic) and incorruptible Crowne of glory 1548-9 MAY Bk Com Prayer, Form consecr Bishops, We may receyue the immarcessible (1660 incorruptible) Crowne of glory 1640 HOWELL Dodona's Gr (1654) 166 Palms of Victory and immarcessible garlands of glory and triumph to all eternity 1654 VINCENT Heaven Had Suppl 248 Man was made immortal in immarcessible and fed from it by sin 1708 Addr fr Jersey in Lond Gaz No 4453/3 May he reward your Piety, with an immarcessible Crown of Glory 1858 R CHAMBERS Traits Scot Pr 54 Children of Mary's care, and like herself of bloom and fragrance immarcessible

Hence Immarce scibley adv unfadingly, Immarce scibleness, imperishableness

1632 DE LA PRIME Hist Jerusalem 83 A crown immarcessibly eternal, a crown of immortall glorie 1727 BAILEY vol II, Immarcessibleness, never fading Nature

Immargina te (imā ɹdʒĭnĕt, imm-), a [f IM-1 and Bot [f IM-2 + MARGINATE] Having no distinct or separate margin

1826 in KIRBY & SP Entomol IV 337 1880 CRAN Struct Bot (ed 6) 416/1 Immarginate, not margined or bordered 1881 SOWERBY in Syst Bot X No 217 15 Papillose, immarginate, sharp pointed leaves

† Imma·rtial, a Obs rare [f IM-2 + MARTIAL] Not martial, unwarlike

1611 BIBLE Wisdom Introd VII 206 Assay not me like one young and immartiall 1615 — Odysse IX 638 To oppose their least Agaynst a man immartiall, and a Guest

† Imma sk, v Obs rare [f IM-1 + MASK sb or v] Also IMMASK] trans To cover as with a mask, to disguise 1596 SHAKS 1 Hen IV, I II 201, I have Cases of Buckram for the nonce, to immaske our noted outward garments.

† Imma·tchable, a Obs [f IM-2 + MATCHABLE] That cannot be matched, unmatchable

1596 DRAYTON Legends, Q Crownwell to 346 Men in those times immatchable for wit 1630 R Johnson's Kingd & Commw 198 For the store of shipping they are also immatchable

† Imma tchless, a Obs rare [f IM-1 + MATCHLESS, by confusion with prec] Matchless

1595 MARKHAM Sir R Lovelace To the Sayers in Thou great Sower again of the earth, Oncle immatchless Monarch rose of lords 1609 ANSUR Rhimes of Mon (1880) 118 Go and returne as Paris did from Greece With that immatchles Helen

Immaterial (imătiə·riăl, a and sb) Also 5 -ell, 6-7 -iall, 6 in [ad med L immaterialis, f im- (IM-2) + materialis MATERIAL] A In 1398, prob a F immatériel (14th c.)

1 Not material, not consisting of matter, incorporeal, spiritual

1398 TREVISA Barth De P R (1495) 1 The immaterial cyrcumference of the heuenly heruclyes is immaterielle 1527 ANDREW Immunitees Daiffll Wakers A3 That the corruptyble shall be made incorruptible, and to make the materyall immaterjall 1579 BULLINGER Decades (1584) I 61 Number is more simple and pure then is magnitude and also immaterial 1641 WITKINS Mercury xii (1707) 78 That strange immaterial Power of the Loadstone 1748 HARTLEY Observ Man I i 2 If God be not an immaterial Being, then Matter may be the Cause of all the Motions in the Material World 1850 TENNYSON In Mem Conclud 141 Demon ghosts witches, and other immaterial and supernatural agents

b pl as sb Things that are non material

1661 GLANVILL Van Dogm xii § 2 67 Thus more perfect apprehensions may conceive Immorials Our imaginations paint Souls and Angels in as dissimilar a resemblance 1682 NORTH Examen III vi § 30 (1740) 564 Immaterials in thy head ascend unto invisibles 1730 W HARRIS Ess Satire 20 As well might the thing bind Immensity, Or passive Matter Immaterials see

2 Having little substance flimsy slight rare

1606 SHAKS Tr & Cr V ii 23 Thou alle immaterial skeine of Sleyd silke?

+ 3 Not pertinent to the matter in hand Obs

1598 J DICKENSON Greene in Conc (1878) 18 Had I intituled this discourse, A looking Glasse, the Metaphisicall not been wholly immaterial 1633 HEYWOOD Iron Age Your absurd pretence Your immaterial purposes

4 Of no essential consequence, unimportant

Johnson says 'This sense, though frequent in common and writings of barbarians, ought to be utterly rejected' it is however the opposite of material in the sense of important found from 17th c onwards

1698 FRYER Acc E India & P 27 After some immaterial Discourse they returned to their Tents 1748 HARTLEY Observ Man II v 3 Immaterial circumstances 1814 J WARD Introd Rhetoric (ed 2) II 213 Only employed for coarse purposes, where colour and appearance are totally immaterial 1859 JEBB tr Antig 1 Append to l VIII 421 2 The question of motive becomes immaterial after my finding that there is no engagement

Hence Imma terialness rare, Immat rialness

1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep III VII 169 For the visible species of things strike in our senses immaterially 1727 BAILEY vol II, Immaterialness immateriality

Immaterialism (imătiə·riălĭz'm) [f prec + ISM, after materialism]

1 The doctrine that matter does not exist in itself as a substance or cause, but that all things have existence only as the ideas or perceptions of a mind

1713 BERKELEY Hylas & Phil III Wks 1871 I 342 You tell me indeed of a resemblance between Mine or Berkeley and Immaterialism 1777 J BURNET (title Immaterialism Debated, or Answer of the First Principles of Things 1862 F HALL Hindu Philos 149 Berkeley's immaterialism that objects of sense are only ideas, they having no existence in themselves and apart from perception This is an untenable view

2 nonce use IMMATERIALITY 1 b

1824 BISHOP Immanuel 221, For immaterialism is not to matter, so that even those whose faith is the most great in unseen immortal, shun them to face to face

Immaterialist (imătiə·riălĭst [f as prec + -IST] One who holds the doctrine of immaterialism

1734 NORTH Life to Ld Guilford, Supt. Dr George Berkeley, going to England very young became the founder of a sect there called the Immaterialists 1822 34 Lives Mod Philos (1839) 1 The immaterialist objected to the intermixture of modern times freely almost that the Mind has No Place of existence 1829 J YOUNG Last Days all Flesh xxiv (1837) 227 Darkly himself was a devotional immaterialist

Immateriality (imătiĭrĭă·lĭtĭ [f IMMATERIAL + -ITY]

1 The quality or character of being immaterial or not of the nature of matter a Said of forms of energy, or of the conceptions of pure mathematics

1570 DEE Math Pref 19 The purity simplicity, and Immaterialitie, of our Unimpeall Science of Magnitude 1653 H MORE Enquiry Cabbal (1662) 30 We may be assured that Immateriality was the work of the First Day's Mouldor Unite beings, so express a signification of the nature thereof 1804 WORDSWORTH Prelude (1850) I 181 Light electricity and magnetism seem to possess equal claims with thought to the unmeaning distinction of immateriality 1863 TYNDALL Heat iv § 208 (1872) 178 The experiment which really proved the immateriality of heat

b said of spiritual beings or essences

a 1652 J SMITH Select Disc v 186 A demonstration of the soul's immateriality 1698 CROWNHURST Intell Syst I II § 8 .. it He [Pythagoras] asserted the Immortality of the Soul, and consequently its Immateriality 1710 BERK § 133 Princ Human Knowl Intr Of the existence and immateriality of God 1859 SMILES Self Help iii (1860) 66 Speculations as to the immateriality and immortality of the soul

c Slightness, flimsiness rare

1886 STEVENSON Dr Jekyll 109 The trembling immateriality, the mist like transience, of this seemingly so solid body in which we walk attired

2 An immaterial thing, existence, or essence

1847-8 H MILLER First Impr (1857) 209 After omitting these buoyant immaterialities, projected them upon the broad current of time

3 The quality of being unessential or unimportant

Mod The immateriality of the consideration

Immaterialize (imătĭ·rĭălaiz, v [f IM MATERIAL + -IZE] trans To render immaterial or incorporeal Hence Immate rialised ppl a

1661 GLANVILL Lux Orient xii 109 Though possibly Assolutly in the most refined cogitation he no trouble or pain to immaterialize d spirits a 1711 KEN Hymns Exalt Poet Wks 1721 I 108 Simon Body'd and solidify'd, But he his Flesh might immaterialize 1856 Tait's Mag XXIII 656 Our theologians immaterialize Heaven too much

†Immateriate, a Obs [f IM-2 + MATERIATE] IMMATERIAL

1626 BACON Sylva § 1144-5 (OBSCR) After long Inquiry of Things, Immerses in Matter, to interpose some Subject which is Immaterial or less Material 1653 H MORE Conject Cabbal 166 175 Philo makes all Immaterialle Beings to be created in this first day

Immaterriculate, v rare [f IM-1 + MATRICULATE, v Cf F immatriculer] trans To matriculate In quot 1814 fig

1718 BOHUN Jenk's Vit Rem (1854) I 39 Mr Piper was immatriculated here yesterday 1764 Hon L Pratt manuscr 252 I was ordered immatriculated 1814 Sporting Mag XLIV 60 It would be an acquisition of this species (if dear) were immatriculated in our parks

See Immatricula tion, matriculation, especially in a German university' Funk 1893)

1891 FLINT German Eng Dict Immatriculation, immatriculation

Immature (imătiū·r), a [ad L immātūrus untimely, unripe, I im IM-2 + mātūrus MATURE]

1 Occurring before its time, untimely, premature (Almost always said of death) Obs or arch

1548 HALL Chron, Hen VIII 48b Ye seldom and immature death of hir sone 1561 BARON Instr Mid I 11 b vii (1638) 163 Prince Henries immature death 1726 LEONI Alberti's Archit I 7b The whole Frame falls into dangerous Distempers and immature old Age 1858 HAWTHORNE Transf Italy I 21, The design being prevented by his immature death

2 Not mature, not arrived at the perfect or complete state, unripe. a Of fruits NOAH Jare 1599 A M tr Gabelhouer's Bk Physicke 56 Water of immature wilde nuttes. 1692 DRYDEN Cock Hancock 10 Seed cakes Many other Fruits are gathered and eaten whilst they are immature 1787 BRADLEY Fam Dict s v Cider Cider made of green immature Fruit

b Of other things, in respect of physical growth

1641 tr SANDYS Euripides' Song Vol VII 111, We have a Sister immature 1667 MILTON P L VII 277 The Earth in the Womb as yet Of Waters, Embryon immature involvd 1845 DARWIN Jrnl Researches (1879) 211 The young cells contain quite immature polypi 1880 GUNTHER Fishes 170 Immature males do not differ externally from the old female

c Of things immaterial

[1635 J HAYWARD tr Biondi's Eroarch I Eng 76 This project being immature, and the fertile style of his inuention 1665 PATR Occas Reflt II iv 71 The green and immature Essays of only Wittes 1701 ROWE Timb Hell Moth v 1 As yet the secret's immature 1823 DE QUINCEY Lett Hum v (1860) 111 Pre ented to the immaturest student 1851 D WILSON Preh Ann (1863) II iii viii 451 In these immature centuries

Immatured (imătiū·rd), ppl a [f IM-2 + MATURED] Not matured, left immature

1803 FRIEDR Versus Infanticide 358 The seeds of genius immature dy haste 1834 CARLYLE Sart Resart I iii 63 The immatured budding of animal and vegetable formation

Immaturely (imătiū·rli), adv [f prec + -LY2] In an immature way, in an unripe condition or immaturity

1620 VENNER Via Recta (1650) 291 They immaturely die by some acute disease 1736 LEDIARD Life Marlborough II 32 His high Opinion appeared to be too rashly and immaturely formed 1751 WATSON Chr Trust XVIII 177 This prevents the falling of the fruit immaturely 1887 A NOTTAGE Ice I 237 Though he died young, he did not die immaturely

Immatu reness [f as prec + -NESS] The quality of being immature, immaturity

1665 BOYLE Occas Reflt Dial, The Immaturenes of some of them would make many think they come forth Unseasonably

Immaturity (imătiū·rĭti) [ad L immāturĭtāt-em untimely lyste (CICERO), unripeness (Suctonius), f immātūrus IMMATURE] The quality or condition of being immature

†1 Prematureness, untimeliness Obs,

1540 tr Pol Verg Eng Hist (Camden) 199 He was prevented for the immaturitie of his deathe, skarcelie having accomplished the 56 years of his reigne 1670 G Hist Caractacus I ii 43 His words (though spoke with some kind of heat and immaturity)

2 Unripeness, imperfect or incomplete state

1606 HOLLAND Sueton 54 The immaturity of young, espoused wives 1651 GALASER Hydriotaphia in Bulley's Hist Archit (1867) II 112 His immaturity of years 1764 HANWAY Observ I ii 54 When the grapes shall not be gathered, as they were wont before, to be, in a state of immaturity 1845 STOCQUELER Handbk Brit India (1854) 102 The men and women who chiefly compose the society leave home in their immaturity 1877 DOWDEN Shakes Prim vi 82 The poem of later date exhibits far less immaturity

b with pl An immature plant, production, etc

1651 BIGGS New Disp 177 Their own crudities, infirmity, immaturities 1890 H MILLER Footpr Creat x (1874) 181 That the rich vegetation of the Coal Measures had been composed of magnificent immaturities of the vegetable kingdom

†Imma se, v Obs rare [f IM-1 + MAZE] trans To involve as in a maze or labyrinth

1632 BRATHWAIT Eng Gentlew (1641) 294 That love seeke Ease, when he is so immazed in loves error 1647 WARD Simple Cobler 2 The Planters had immazed themselves in the most intolerable confusions and inextricable thral domes

Immeability (imī·ăbĭlĭti) [f IM-2 + meabilis passable (I meāre to pass) see BILITY] Inability to pass or flow (through a channel)

1732 ARBUTHNOT Aliments v § 29 (R) The visidity and immeability of the matter impacted in them 1752 WATSON in Phil Trans 350 That the immediate cause is the immeability of the vessels through which the nerves

Immeasurability (imezhūrăbĭlĭti) [f next + ITY] = IMMEASURABLENESS.

1824 DE QUINCEY Analects Exhort Wks XIV 139 In sight of this immeasurability of life 1882 Fraser's Mag XXV 400 A sense of infinitude, brod perhaps of the immeasurability of the surroundings

Immeasurable (imezhūrăbl), a Also 4 ymmos , mmeas , 6 immeas-, 7 immeus [f IM-2 + MEASURABLE, q v Cf MDu L immensurabile] Not measurable, that cannot be measured, immense

1440 J SHIRLEY Deths K James (1818) 25 His tyranny ymmeasurable, without pite or mercy a 1535 MORE Comfort Tribulation Wks 1131/1 He for their immeasurable outrage finally resteth and refuseth them 1667 MILTON P L VII 211 The vast immeasurable Abyss 1790 COWPER Nat Hist Zool I 12 So the immeasurable distance between these apostate spirits had fallen from God 1838 DICKENS Nich Nick xiii, to the immeasurable delight and admiration of all the actors thereof 1869 MARTINEAU Ess II 10 Geology makes me familiar with immeasurable times

Immea surableness. [f prec + -NESS] The quality or condition of being immeasurable, immability of being measured

1561 T NORTON Calvin's Inst iv 77 Nor doeth [he] with immeasurableness of correction breake the bonde of fellowship 1611 COTGR Epat The (deepe) size or immeasurableness of 1616 Data Det v Novelty gives immeasurableness to fear

Immea surably, adv [f as prec + -LY2] To an immeasurable extent or degree, beyond measure, immensely, vastly

1631 GOUGE Gods Arrows i 84 § 71 Anger is moulered, when it is immeasurably moved 1760 H WALPOLE in Lett (1891) II 10 The Jesuits are immeasurably tedious 1878 HUXLEY Physiogr 67 The process is immeasurably slower

Immeasured (imezhūrd, imm-), a [f IM-2 + MEASURED, Cf F immesuré] Not measured, unmeasured, immense, vast

1590 SPENSER F Q II x 8 Such dreadful wights, As far exceeded men in their immeasured mights 1888 DRAYTON Legs of Eng (1748) 134 Poor sad mistaken people, philosophers agree I th four parts of the world undoubtedly to be 1745 BROOME Poems, Death (R) A stream, that alobs Through the etherial immeasured void 1828 MOIR Mansie Wauch xxiii 294 The forests and valleys Within the immeasured circumference

†Immea tion. Obs rare [n of action f L immeāre to pass into, to enter, f im (IM-1) + meāre to go, pass] A passing in, entrance, ingoing

1675 J HOWE Blessedness of Righteous (1716) 474 These mutual immeations, or interpenetrations, and we in Christ

Immecha nical, a Obs [f IM-2 + MECHANICAL a]

1 Of phenomena, etc Not mechanical, not of physical or material nature, origin, etc

1715 CHEYNE Philos Princ Relig I (1716) 45 The cause of the Motion of this subtill Fluid which is the Cause of Gravity is in itself Immechanical 1748 HARTLEY Observ Man I 33 Some suppose this Effect to be immechanical, and to proceed from the immediate Agency of God 1750 MARSHALL Bk England I 170 The crooks being cleared, by hand, in a somewhat immech anical manner

2 Of persons Without the mechanical or practical knowledge or skill, unmechinical 1737 BRACKEN Farriery Impr (1757) II 17 A very illiterate Way of speaking, and exceeding immechanical 1751 EARL CHESTERFIELD Lett Son (1774) II 120 Your mistake proceeds on the wild and immech anical enquiries of the philosophers of that age.

Hence Immecha nically adv (Craig, 1847)

†Imme'chanism. Obs [f IM-2 + MECHANISM q v] Non-mechanical property, mertin

1740 CHEYNE Regimen 45 However their Acts may be suspended, sopited, or destroyed by gross Matter, and the Immechanism of Bodies

Immediacy (imī·dĭăsi) [f next + -ACY]

1 The quality or condition of being immediate, freedom from intermediate or intervening agency, direct relation or connexion, directness

1695 SHERLOCK Letter 10 65 He Bore the Commission of my place and person. The which immediacy may well stand up, And call it self, your Brother 1658 OSBORNE Chr in Com xxxvi 14 xxi 1 (1669) 551 Where is the immediacy of his providence 1666 S PENDLETON Rectifyes Hearne Wks 431 The immediacy of those first Scriptures from God to us 1875 H JAMES A Hudson 1 to Questions bearing with varying degrees of immediacy on the subject 1885 STEVENSON in Contemp Rev Apr 549 A strange freshness and immediacy of address to the public mind

b Logic and Philos (See IMMEDIATE 2 b)

a 1834 COLERIDGE Lit Remr (1838) III 316 Spiritual verities, or truths of reason require not or receive are differenced from the conceptions of the understanding by the immediacy I grounded immediately] of the knowledge 1856-7 SIR W HAMILTON Metaph xxiii (1859) II 78 If Reid did not maintain this immediacy of perception he would at once be forced to admit one or other of the unitarian conclusions of materialism or idealism 1864 BOWEN Logic viii 265 The reduction of a Hypothetical Judgment to a Categorical shows every clearly the Immediacy of reasoning in what is called a Hypothetical Syllogism 1874 W WALLACE Logic of Hegel § 12 16 The a persons aspect or immediacy of thoughts, where there is a mediation, not made by any thing external but by a reflection into itself, is another name for universality

2 The condition of being the immediate lord or vassal see IMMEDIATE 1 b

1762 tr Blackstone's Syst Geog IV 446 Varel lost its immediacy, or independency, and stands at present under the superiority of Oldenburg Mod Univ XXIII 251 Emperors Charles IV and Wenceslaus engaged to maintain it in its immediacy on the Empire 1818-48 HALLAM Mid Ages (1872) I 2 n note, The immediacy of vassals in times so ancient is open to much controversy

3 The condition of being immediate in time (see IMMEDIATE 4)

1866 W A BUTLER Hist Am Philos I 453 The sage will ensure his certainty in the immediacy of enjoyment, carefully rejecting all intrusive suggestions of past or future 1898 Fortn Rev Mar 458 On a subordinate point like the immediacy of the Second Coming

Immediate (imī·dĭăt), a (adv, adv) Also 5 immediat, 5-7 immediat(e, 6 y-, imediat(e, immediat, 5 6 inmediate [ad med L immediātus (the adv immediātē was frequent in the feudal sense see IMMEDIATE 1 b), f IM-2 + mediātus MEDIATE Cf F immédiat (Cotgr)]

1 Said of a person or thing in its relation to another That has no intermed ary or intervening member, medium, or agent, that is in actual contact or direct personal relation a Of a person

1548 HALL Chron, Hen VIII 49b, The Dolphyn desyred [them] to be kind vnto of his immediat aider 1886 in Keble Life Bp Wilson i (1863) 27 Nothing unbecoming an immediat servant and follower of Christ 1760 COMMON Let 4 Acad II 51 The emperor conferred the rank of Illustrious on seven of his most immediate servants. 1882 LANE Lilin Ser in Confess Drunkard, My next more immediate companions

b spec In feudal language, said of the relation between two persons one of whom holds of the other directly, as in immediate lord, tenant, tenure, also (loosely) = Holding directly of the sovereign or lord paramount, esp in Germany of the Emperor

1543 4 1st 35 Hen VIII, c 4 The chefe lorde or lordes immediate, of whom such he houses be holden 1548 HALL Chron, Hen VIII 51 Ready to serue their soueraigne and immediate lord Jrnl Lord of Pembroke 1614 SELDEN Titles Hon 229 To be free from either a mediat, or immediat Tenure of him 1660 Trial Regic 20 To bring in immediate from God 1828-48 HALLAM Mid Ages (1872) II 9, The inferior nobility having now become immediate, abused that independence 1863 H COLERIDGE Dict 111 The King's immediate tenants were bound to attend his court

c Of a thing

1563 W BULLEIN Vertors (1640) 44 All men have taken them as immediate miracles, without any naturall means or cause 1597 HOOKER Eccl Pol v, lvi § 6 The true immediate cause why baptisme is necessary 1628 PRESTON Effectual Faith (1631) 51 He doth it by an immediate voice, by which he speaketh immediately to our spirits a 1763 SHENSTONE Ess 98 Objects which are struck with the immediate eye a 1862 BUCKLE Misc Wks (1872) I 4 The immediate object of all art is either pleasure or utility

2 Of a relation or action between two things Acting or existing without any intervening medium or agency, involving actual contact or direct relation opposed to mediate and remote

1533 MORE Apol Wks 893/1 As longe as the Prelates pretend that their authoritye is of high and very immediate of God, that the people are bounde to obeye them 1625 in Rymer Foedera (1726) XVIII 240/2 By Our owne ymme diate commande and for Our owne ymmediate Service 1709 BERKELEY Th Vision § 59 Bodies operating on our organs by an immediate application 1728 W ROGERS Voy 56 We are desirous of an immediate Trade with you 1864 BOWEN Logic I 2 Each [Intuition] is immediate, that is, it does not come through the intervention of any other state of mind Ibid II 34 They rest upon the immediate testimony of consciousness

b spec Immediate inference (Logic an inference drawn from a single premiss and therefore arrived at without the intervention of a middle term, sometimes called 'interpretative inference', because it renders explicit what was implicit in the original proposition Immediate knowledge (Philos) knowledge of self-evident truth, intuitive knowledge, as distinguished from that arrived at by means of demonstration or proof

1844 DE LAUNAY tr Du Moulin's Logick 166 Of immediate propositions some are immediate in regard of the subject, and others are immediate in regard of the cause 1843 MILL Logic Introd § 5 Whatever knowledge has been acquired otherwise than by immediate inference 1866 POWER Deduct Logic ii (1869) 73 Of Immediate Inferences the most important forms are Oppositions, Conversions, Permutations 1874 WALLACE Logic of Hegel § 24 45 When we compare the different forms of knowledge with one another, the first of them, immediate or intuitive knowledge, may perhaps seem the finest, boldest and most appropriate Hist § 64 108 The difference between philosophy and the assevarations of immediate knowledge rather centres in the exclusive position which immediate knowledge takes up and in its opposition to philosophy

3 Having no person, thing, or space intervening, in place, order, or succession, standing or coming nearest or next, proximate, nearest, next, close, near In reference to place often used loosely of a distance which is treated as of no account

1602 SHAKE Ham I iii 103 You are the most immediate to our throne 1611 HYDE Gold Age in Wks 1874 III 459, I am Jupiter, King Saturnes sonne, immediate here to Crete 1820 KNOX & JANE Corr I 3 Immediate neighbourhood I have none, save one family 1866 ROGERS Agric & Prices I xxiii 598 In immediate proximity to the mines 1888 J BALES Text Life Chaucer England 183 Each took its both away from the immediate vicinity of the plot Mod I know no one of the name in the immediate neighbourhood I have made it known to my immediate neighbours on each side

4. Of time Present or next adjacent, of things Pertaining to the time current or instant.

1605 BACON Adv Learn I ii § 3 Those of the later or immediate times a 1640 B MONTAGU Acts & Mon (1642) 172 Equall with, or immediate unto the Apostolicall times 1771 Junius Lett xliv 257 If the event had not disappointed the immediate schemes of the Ministry 1888 M PATTISON Essays (1889) I 2 Our own immediate age is confessedly rich in works of the historical class 1879 FROUDE Cæsar xv 252 The immediate future was assured

b Occurring, accomplished, or taking effect without delay or lapse of time, done at once, instant

1568 GRAFTON Chron II 1362 There was immediat order geven to Edward Leede Clynton with all expedicion to prepare himselfe 1586 J DAY Eng Secretary I (1625) 89, I did at the first aw some delaies in mediate dispatch of the thing 1603 SHAKE Meas for M v i 398 Immediate sentence then, and sequent death Is all the grace I beg 1667 MILTON P L VII 176 Immediate are the Acts of God, more swift than time or motion 1798 SOUTHEY Joan of Arc viii, Some base silver for our immediate expence 1774 C J PHILLIPS Jr Pole 64 The hopes we had conceived of the immediate effect of the speedy sending and bearing the bay 1855 MACAULAY Hist Eng IV 596 That he must either consent to an immediate surrender or prepare for an immediate assault Mod An immediate reply will oblige

5 That directly touches or concerns a person or thing, having a direct bearing

1705 DE FOE Jure Divino World (1840) 324 They began to think of their more immediate work 1791 BURKE Appl Whigs Wks 1842 I 515 Their own more immediate and popular rights and privileges 1816 BYRON Ch Har iii lxxvi, But this is not my theme, and I return to that which is immediate 1833 BROWNING Pauline 340, I rudely shaped my life To my immediate wants 1878 Bow SMITH Carthage 28 She allowed her colonies to trade only so far as suited her own immediate interests 1896 DE ARGAIZ Philos Relig 78 Any mere arrangement which is destitute of obvious or immediate utility

† 6 Uninterrupted in course, direct Obs rare

1634 SIR T HERBERT Trav 4 Jeneriffa is thought to squall in height any land in the World, allowing its immediate ascent from the Ocean Ibid 59 The immediate ascent is twenty two foot high

+ B sb (pl) Immediate acts or communications Obs

1645 RUTHERFORD Tryal & Tri Faith (1845) 38 Christ is speedy, and swift in a foot, especially in his immediates

† C As adv (In some cases perh L immediatè, as formerly in Fr and It) Immediately Obs

1532 MORE Confut Tindale Wks 620/1 Whose flowre chapters immediate before 1601 R JOHNSON Kingd & Commw (1603) 135 Lord of those which hold of him immediat 1646 BACON Sylva § 866 Bullies enflamed, wholly, and Immediate

Immediately (imī'diĕtli) adv Forms see IMMEDIATE [f pīce, or rather I immediat-us + -LY², it is actually found before the adj as the long equivalent of I immediatè.] In an immediate way, the reverse of mediately

1 Without intermediary, intervening agency, or medium, by direct agency, in direct or proximate connexion or relation, so as to concern, interest, or affect directly, or intimately, directly

1412-20 LYDG Chron Troy V xxxvi (MS Digby 230) If 1782 to Troye were sente letres To pall mydes immediately directe 1530 BAYNTON in Palsgr Introd 12 The frenche men borowe theyr wordes immediatly of the latines 1598 WEST 1st Pt Symbol § 35 No Obligation to Sinne is gotten either mediately or immediatlie Immediatlie by a mans owne proper contract 1598 HAKLUYT Voy I 64 Canow was immediatly vnder the dominion of the Lartars 1662 STILLINGFL Orig Sacr II vii § 8 All positive precepts commyng immediately from God 1690 LOCKE Hum Und II xviii (1694) 160 We immediately by our Senses perceive in Fire its Heat and Colour 1691 RAY Creation II (1704) 428 Insects useful to Mankind, if not immediately, yet mediately 1768 PRIESTLEY Lect Hist III iv 321 An article of information the most immediately necessary to a reader of history 1843 MILL Logic I iii § 4 Feelings immediately ascertained by bodily states. 1864 BOWEN Logic I 2 Not immediately, but only through the medium of what is called a Concept

b Of feudal tenure (and transf) SEE IMMEDIATE I b

1488-9 Act 4 Hen VII, c 17 The lord of whom suche hereditamentes be holden immediatly 1574 tr Littleton's Tenures 31 a, The Abbot shal holde immediatly the same tenuementes by knightes service of the Lorde of his grauntour 1647 N BACON Disc Govt Eng I xvi (1739) 39 All the Lands in England became mediately or immediately holden of the Crown c 1670 HOBBES Dial Com Lawes (1681) 202 Homage done to the King immediately 1863 H COX Instr in Mining Ld 104 All subjects lands were held mediately or immediately under grants from him [the king]

2 With no person, thing, or distance, intervening in time, space, order, or succession; next or just preceding or following, before, or after), closely, proximately, directly 1466 Mann & Household Exp (Roxb) 168, vj dayes immediatly folwyng 1476 SIR J PASTON in P Lett No 771 III 253 Immediatly after the decesse off the Duke 1552 AB HAMILTON Catech (1884) 46 The wordis that ar immediatlie before the text 1668 CULPEPER & COX Barthol Anatomy I xxii 45 The Liver, under which it [right kidney] rests immediatly 1672 CAVE Prim Chr II iv (1673) 161 Not immediately opposite to the whole tenor of the Gospel 1774 C J PHILLIPS Jr N Pole 61 Here immediately about the ships 1855 JORDAN Autobiog IV 65 I lost my immediately elder brother 1860 TYNDALL Glac I iv 63 Another peal was heard immediately afterwards Mod Fire broke out in the premises immediately adjoining.

3 Without any delay or lapse of time, instantly, directly, straightway at once

1480 Pynchon in Rymer Fœdera (1709) 937 I She shall take and have in the Kyndme of France, immediately from the time of cure Dathe, Duke, to the Somme of Twenty Mill Frenes Verly a 1500 Chester Pl xxi 107 He bade me goe immediatlye 1500 SHAKS Mids N II iii 150 Either die on you Or else immediately 1611 Authorized Version Mat xiii 20 He hid only dipped his Head into the Water, and immediately taken it out again 1877 WATTS Common Prayer Chron (ed 12) 213 A cryst dime precipitate immediately forms

b as conj (ellipt for immediately that) The moment that, as soon as CF DIRECTLY 6 b

1839 ANA STON Lect I 28 Immediately this was done I completed my arrangement with my publishers 1856 Ogilvie Introd 182 Immediately they came upon the ground, fourteen of them were netted 1856 WRIGHT Manual of Paper-hang 60 If the diagrams should be self interpreting immediately the principle on which they are constructed is understood

Immediateness (imī'diĕtnes) [f IMMEDIATE + -NESS] The quality or condition of being immediate, immediacy, directness of action, thought, relation, etc), absolute (or in loose use, relative) proximity in time or place 1653 ASH Dict 2 ed, Immediateness 1671 my man looke and he shall bade, that (ment, necessitie, and immediateness set a part significant Ceremonies are exterfull acts of religious worship 1692-8 NORRIS Pract Disc (1711) III 141 The immediateness, the inwardness of his Essential Presence and Union with the Soul 1704 Ideal World II v 285 The immediateness of the perception 1865 Pall Mall Gaz 6 Comm Gen 32 The certainty and immediateness of the event 1880 STEVENSON New Arab Nts (1884) 229 The immediateness of your peril

† Immedia tion. Obs [f IM-² + MEDIATION, after immediate] Immediate or direct action, communication, etc (The reverse of mediation)

1656 J SANDFORD tr Cebetis Tabula 20 Of Media tions, and Immediations 1659 Cath Ch Controv 1 Whether God workes all immediately, not only by the Immediation of his Creatur but also by the Immediation of his Creatur

Immediatism (imī'diĕtiz'm) [-ISM] = next

1 The principle or practice of immediate action, formerly, in U S Hist, applied to the policy of the immediate abolition of slavery

1835 H G OTIS in Liberator V 144 They [abolitionists] have entered into the nature with a vengeance, and immediatism also This is the opposite of gradualism, another new coinage 1880 O JOHNSON Garrison 45 Mr Garrison had learned the lesson of immediatism from Dr Beecher

2 The quality of being immediate, immediateness, immediacy a 1885 D SITWELL cited by Worcester

Immediatist (imī'diĕtist) [f IMMEDIATE + -IST] One who practises or advocates immediate action, spec in U S Hist one who advocated the immediate abolition of slavery

1835 H G OTIS in Life of H Cornwell (1885) I 300 [He (Otis) denied that the Scriptures were any where opposed to slavery, or rejected that Christ] Came to immediatists 1852 W COODELL in Mastery & Freedom (1882) 424 Those who professed to be opposed to slavery, and only desired the immediate abolition of it, were called immediatists 1888 I H STODDARD in Independent Rev Oct, The gospel of the Immediatist,—work while the day lasts

Immediate rial, a [f IM-² + MEDIATORIAL] Not mediatorial

1851 ROBERTSON Lect Ep Cor XXIX (1889) 272 We shall know Him, when the mediatorial has merged in the immediatorial

Immediable (me dikăbl), a Also 6 ymed [ad F immediable (Cotgr) or I immedicabilis, f im- (IM-³) + medicābilis MEDICABLE] Incapable of being healed, incurable, irremediable 1598 R. LINCHE Diella 1 (1877) 7 With fauall and ymedicable wounde 1606 WILLOUGHBY Nobles Comm 100 Glutted with excesse, [they] become immedicable by those surfeits 1744 ARMSTRONG Nature Health II 220 More immedicable. ills 1844 Good's Study Med (ed 4) IV 107 A disease immedicable by the healing art

b transf and fig

1533 MORE Answ Poysoned Bk Wks 1075/1 Through his immedicable malyce he fell of himselfe 1645 MILTON Colast Wks (1851) 359 For anothers perversnes, or im mediable disaffection 1823 COLERIDGE Lett (1895) 612 There remains an immediable Bad 1880 SWINBURNE Study Shaks II 167 Immediable scepticism of the spirit

Hence Immediableness, incurableness, Immediably adv, incurably.

1727 BAILEY vol II, Immedicableness, incurableness 1867 P. HAMILTON Worship Ld Nov 338 Maliciousness, be its venom s as s ty phoony is immedicably sad

Immedi cnable, a rare [f IM-² + MEDICINABLE] Not medicinable, incurable

1806 MRS SHERWOOD Last Man II 238 Fallen from health to immedicinable disease

Immelodious (imme'lōdĭus, imm , a [f IM- + MELODIOUS] Not melodious, unmelodious

1601 CHESTER Love's Mart xxvi, My immelodious discord I write 1615 DRUMM OF HAWTH Noun To his Lute When immelodious Words but made these mine 1652 CAREW Disp 2nd 20 A little hands to rub's time with unpleasant, immelodious chiping 1822 Sir C's Study Med (ed 4) I 429 Immelodious Voice 1892 Illustr Lond News 15 Oct 474 2 Those who crowed out immelodious days With flower-o'-speech speech

Imme mber, v rare [f IM- + MEMBER sb] trans To incorporate in a membership

1871 TAYLOR Faiths Unit II 198 Incorporated or immemberated in them, they cannot quit

† Immemo r, a Sc Obs rare Also imme moir- -or [ad I immemor, f im- (IM- + memor mindful] Unmindful, forgetful

1535 STEWART Cron Scot II 634 Thus king Malcolme was made immemor The great kyndnes that gude Duncane had of vs before him Ibid 699 Ides king Edgein, of quh me I schew before Of Scotis was immemor 1570 LAING MS

Immemorable (imme morabl), a [ad I immemorabilis f im- IM- + memorabilis MEMORABLE Cf 16th c. F immémorable]

1 Not memorable, not worthy of remembrance

1550 HALOET, Immemorable, or vnworthy remembrance immemorabilis 1616 BULLOKAR An Immemorable not worthy to be remembred 1768 Il man of Honor I 222 Poor immemorable mankind 1880 DISRAELI Endymion I xi 87 An ancient, and in its time even not immemorable name

b ? 1828

1768 Il man of Honor I 79 Contented with being one of those immemorables, cyphers of high life

+ 2 = IMMEMORIAL Obs

1669 J WEBB Stone-Heng Rest (1725) 65 As to Age, they be of most immemorable date Antiquity 1796 IRONSIDE Mistakes III 85 A right by immemorable prescription 1817 III 161

Hence Immemorableness, 'unworthiness to be remembred' (Bailey vol II, 1727)

1 Immemorate, a Obs In 5 immemorat [ad L immemoratus, f im- IM-² + memoratus pa pple of memorare to bring to mind, remind] Unmindful (cf IMMEMOR)

c 1400 Beryn 4048 Now I am ful celestiall ymmemorat of lyes Crouni me grace to morowe! so pat God be pleisid Make somme answere

Immemorial (imme morĭăl), a [ad med L immemorialis, f im- (IM- ² + memorialis SUCCUMBS MEMORIAL Cf F immémorial 16th c in Littré] That is beyond memory or out of mind, ancient beyond memory or record, extremely old

1620 PURCHAS Pilgrimes IV 1973 In making, title by prescription and continuance of time immemorial 1696 WHISTON Th Earth II (1722) 124 Which was the immemorial beginning of the Ancient Year long before the times of Moses 1765 BLACKSTONE Comm I 64 They receive their binding power and the force of laws, by long and immemorial usage 1847 JENNINGS Farm Law 53 The mean of draws in immemorial time. 1874 WHARTON Law Lex (ed 5), Immemorial usage a practice which has existed time out of mind custom prescription

Hence Immemo rialness Bailey vol II, 1727

Immemorially (imme morĭălĭ), adv [f prec + -LY²] In an immemorial manner, from time immemorial 'time out of mind', by immemorial prescription or usage

1614 SELDEN Titles Hon 38 There own immemorially possest right 1661 BOYLE Style of Script (1675) 90 The truth and authority of the Scriptures hath been immemorially believed by the learned of men in the world 1769 BLACKSTONE Comm IV xxxiii 423 § 4 Immemorially, or being founded in mere, and immemorially exercised by the crown 1855 MERIVALE Fall Rom Rep (1858) II 164 Small independent, and immemorially hostile tribes

† Immemo rious, a Obs rare [f IM-² + MEMORIOUS] Unmindful, forgetful

1622 W BAS Sword & Buckler C We Of our owne birth true immemorious know the Immense (imens', a (sb Also 5 emense, (6 immmens , 7 imens [a F immense (1360 in Godefroi) It, Pg immenso Sp inmenso ad L immensus immeasurable, boundless, f im- (IM-) + mensus, pa pple of metiri to measure]

1 Unmeasured, so great that it has not been or cannot be measured , immeasurably large of boundless extent, infinite Obs

1599 DANIEL Musophil (R), That immense and boundless ocean Of nature's riches 1640 HARNE Pract Catech III Ans 133 Great God! when I consider thee Omnipotent, Eternall, and imens 1677 GALE Crt Gentiles iv 464 God [is] not circumscribed or confined to any space, but immense in his Being 1736 BUTLER Anal I iii 89 The material world appears to be in a manner boundless and immense a 1770 JORTIN Serm (1771) VI xiii 159 The Scripture represents the goodness of God as immense

2 Much beyond the ordinary measure or size, extremely great or large, vast, huge

1490 CAXTON Eneydos xxvi 92 My teeres and emense wepynges 1575 TURBERVILE Ep (1837) 55 So immmens &

profuse ɔ charge of expens. 1660 F. Brooke tr. Le Blanc's Trav. 148 The immense Armies brought by the Persian Kings against the Grecians 1748 Hanway's Trav. I. iv. 88 Those immense hills called the Andes. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xii. II. 252 The immense fine which the Court of King's Bench had imposed. 1895 Lo. Esher in Law Times Rep. LXXIII. 702 The statute was minutely dissected at immense length.

b of persons in relation to actions or qualities. 1631 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 798 He was little of stature, but immense in wit and understanding. Mod. He is an immense eater.

3 slang. Superlatively good, fine, splendid, etc. 1762 Gentl. Mag. 86/1 Here's every—dividual man—an—mense—upon my word! 1865 Cornh. Lect. II. 43 The poem turned out to be something immense, as the slang is nowadays. 1883 R. M. Ballantyne Dy. Cassidies II. (1892) 47 You look like a crown prince. Perfectly immense.

†b as adv. Immensely. Obs. slang.

1754 Mitchell Contrast Jew Print No. 89 p. 5 An immense fine Woman. 1772 Ann. Reg. I. 142 A whale everything was immense, great and immense little, immense handsome and immense ugly.

B sb. Immense, boundless, or vast extent; immensity.

1791 F. Darwin Bot. Gard. I. 238 Bade with cold strokes the quick expansion stop And sunk the immense of vapour to a drop. 1805 J. Ingraham Journal (1806) 20 The rear was brought up by other troops, and an immense of rabble. 1849 Carlyle Varieties in Misc. (1869) II. 285 A kingdom of Dreaming, a half-delirious Immense. 1870 Morn. Lady's Mag. 17 Let others probe the immense of Possible.

Immensely (imē·nsĕli), adv. [f. Immense + -ly².] In an immense degree, immeasurably, infinitely; very greatly, vastly, hugely; in colloquial use often a hyperbolical intensitive = exceedingly, to an extent which one does not pretend to measure or limit.

1654 tr. Martinus Cony. China 108 They immensely augmented their Armies, by the access of the Tunxu Souldiers. 1738 Swift Dial. Dialogue 82 She's immensely rich. a 1742 Bentley (J.) The vast space of our system is immensely bigger than all its corporeal mass. 1746-7 Hervey Medit. (1818) 132 O ye Heavens whose suns, riches rise immensely high, and stretch immensurably wide. 1866 Lyndall Gloss. in Sp. The chances of safety are immensely in his favour. 1886 Ruskin Fors Clavigera 241 Clothes wrote that he was enjoying himself immensely.

Immenseness (imē·nsnĕs). [f. as prec. + -ness.] The quality of being immense, immeasurable or infinite; vastness, hugeness. Now usually expressed by Immensity.

1610 Donne Pseudo-Mart. 185 The Immenseness of this power asserts me from believing it to bee just. 1633 J. Adams Pl. of Scripture 47 The immenseness of the Seas. 1798 Pennant Hindostan I. Introd. 2 to return the immenseness of their knowledge.

†Immensible, a. Obs. [a. F. immensible or ad. L. immensibilis*, f. Im- (2) + mens, ppl. stem of metiri to measure + -ble.] Immeasurable, immense.

1579 J. Jones Preserv. Bodie & Soule I. xlvi. 123 Almightie, Everlasting, Immensible, and only wise God. 1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 19 Divided from either angle by so immensible a tract of Sea.

Immensity (imē·nsĭti). In 5 imoe [a. F. immensité, 14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.; or ad. L. immensitās n. of quality f. immensus Immense.] The quality or condition of being immense.

1 Immeasurableness, boundlessness. Infinity.

c 1450 Merlin Sātnus.-xxiv. 138 He filled heven and erthe with his immensitee. 1597 Hooker Ecclesiast. Pol. v. (1611) Infinity and immensity of essence and defect. 1630 Prynne God and Magistrates 14 Whose vast immensities doe farre transcend our finite understandings. 1662 Stillingfl. Orig. Sacr. III. ii. § 10 It is repugnant to the immensity of God. 1690 Locke Hum. Und. II. xiii. § 2 This Power of repetition, and doubling, any Idea we have of any distance, without being ever able to come to any stop or stint in that which gives us the Idea of Immensity. 1805 S. Worsley Islanders VIII. Thou, whose words seem semblance doth belie Thy Soul's immensity. 1874 Symonds Sk. Italy & Gr. (1878) I. 111 The immense becomes impatient to them in its infinitesimal immensity.

2 Vast magnitude, vastness, hugeness.

1652 A. Wilson in Burleyes Theoph. To Author. Her poor little Orb appears to be A very Point to their Immensitie. 1790 Cullen in Phil. Trans. LXXX. 347 The immensity of their number. 1883 Tartn. Rev. May 613 The immensity of the disaster increased the intensity of the disgrace.

b An immense quantity or deal.

1778 Mad. D'Arblay Diary 3 Aug., I have an immensity to write. 1834 Hr. Martineau Tourists viii. 160 They say that an immensity of money will be raised by this means. 1862 Carlyle Frederick IX. xiv. (1872) III. 115 Having drunk immensities of Hungary water. 1888 Rye Records 99 nos., A very slight expenditure of labour would save an immensity of searchers time.

3 That which is immense. absolutely, Infinite being or existence; infinity, infinite space.

a 1631 Donne Holy Sonn. Immortal iii. (R.), Thou shutst us little room Immensity, cloysted in thy dear wombe. 1688 Prior Ode. Exod. in 6 The mysterious gulf of vast immensity. 1695 Blackmore Pr. Arth. II. 68 Immensity is wrapt in Swadling Bands. 1753 Hanway Trav. (1762) I. iv. 62 Who fills immensity with his presence. 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr. II. iii. Thou Worker has to collect the mountains of Immensity. 1860 Tyndall Glac. II. i. 239 Immensity is filled with this music.

b An or the) immense extent of something; a thing of immense or unmeasured extent.

1704 Mathias Pues Usf (1798) 266 It is tendency is to the ocean, to which it pays its best tribute, and is finally lost in the immensity. 1821 Byron Cain II. i. 240 Did we tell one that which I have seen? You blue immensity—is bound less! 1853 Kane Grinnell Exp. xlii. (1856) 382 This solid immensity of ice. 1879 Harrison Choice Bks. (1886) 14 A pathless immensity beyond our powers of vision or of reach.

c pl Things or things that are immense or infinite.

1839 Bailey Festus xxii. (1848) 280 A spirit nobler Than all these laugh immensities. 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr. II. iii. He who can and dare trust the heavenly Immensities, and earthly Impossibilities, is subject to him.

†Immense, a. [Use insūrabl., fur. a. F. immensurable (15th c. in Godef.), or ad. late L. immensūrābilis (xiith c., f. Im- (In-2) + mensūrābilis Mensurable.] Immeasurable.

1538 Stewart Cron. Scot. II. 426 In meat and drunk and sleip also exceiding Immensurable, out out of temperance. 1612 W. Parker Cacodæmon Dev. (1876) 18 Forbidden fruite illimitlesse and immensurable. 1714 Dedham Astro. Theol. I. iii. (1721) 24 Were an immeasurable space in the Firmament. 1807 R. Buchanan Town Mystic III. 469 The rank of the different ests the immensurable superiority of the Prhomus above the rest of mankind.

Hence †Immensurableness, immensurable quality or condition.

1675 Sturry Tr. edem Will. 41 We must attribute this immenseness, or immensurableness to Him. 1678 Phillips (ed. Blount's Boscobel) Being unapplied to measurable or immensurable.

†Immensurate, a. Obs. [ad. late L. immensūrātus (5th c.), f. Im- (In-2) + mensūrātus, pp. of mensūrare to Measure.] Unmeasured, immense.

1654 R. Montague De-cent Innov. II. ix. § 3. 268 An immensurate distance from it. 1720 Welton Suffer Sion't Lord I. ii. 28 In Thy Immensurate and perfect Felicity. 1766 G. Canning Anti-Jacobin II. 237 Immensurate immunities.

†Immercu rial, a. Obs. rare—[f. Im- (2) + Mercurial.] Not mercurial, mobile or yielding.

1637 Rogerson Vitam Dis xxx. 148 Some of Gr in thamy and others of that Immercurial mould, may be so knotty and sturdy, that if you come with your Herculean armes to twine and twist them they will not circle in the binding like a gimme.

Immerd (imē·rd), v. rare [ad. L. type immerdāre*, f. Im- (In-1) + merda dung, cf. It. immerdare, F. emmerder.] trans. To bury in or cover with ordure.

1638 Quarles Embl. Dedi., Let Dors delight to immerd themselves in dung. 1652 W. Amer Sonets Sacr. Hymns (1652) 53 Doc wee see some eminent professor immerd himselfe in the dung of worldly wit-kednesse. 1879 Browning Aristoph. Apol. 160 Man's mischief of a man, There he remains, Immortally immerd.

Immerge (imē·ɹdʒ, imm-), v. Now rare. (Also often emerge.) [ad. L. immergēre to dip, plunge, sink (into), immerse, f. im (In-1) + mergĕre to Merge (cf. F. immerger.)

1 trans. To dip, plunge, put under the surface of a liquid; to immerse.

1624 Massinger's Sch. Salerne II. 37 The eyes are not only to be immerged in cold water, as is plainly proued. 1654 Fuller Ch. Hist. II. iv. § 4 They pour not water upon the Heads of Infants, but immerge them in the Font. 1664 Power Exp. Philos. II. 70 The deeper you immerge the Tubs, the higher still will the Quicksilver in the Tubs rise. 1770 Phil. Trans. LX. 304 A second method of preserving the Spirits, is to immerge them in spirits. 1828 Hutton Course Math. II. 731 Iron rises in boiling water.

†b fig. To 'drown', 'submerge'. Obs.

1644 Jus Populi 14 The right of Fathers is now emerged & made subordinate. 1765 Westmorland II. Not let thy wit immerge Rx reason too.

2 transf. and fig. To plunge into a state of action or thought, way of living, etc.; = Immerse 2.

1621 Sutton Disp. Medit. (1634) 183 [They] immerge themselues and their abetters into bottomlesse sensualities and distresses. 1750 Johnson Rambler No. 65 ¶ 7 We wantonly embark in hazardous marriage, immerge ourselves in luxury. 1829 Landor Imag. Conv. Wks. 1846 II. 496/1 [He] would immerge his country for twenty years in the most calamitous war.

3 intr. for refl. To plunge or dip oneself in a liquid, to sink. Also transf. and fig.

1706 Bayward in Sir T. Hoger Hist & Cold Bath II. 226 They have received it by immerging into Cold Water. 1747 Wesley Prim. Physic (1762) 76 Immerge up to the Breast in a warm Bath. 1779-81 Johnson L. P., Smart Wks. III. 380 He was now immerging into political controversy. 1841 Emerson Life Man. Nature Wks. (Bohn) II. 227 And then immerge us into the holy silence and eternity out of which as a man we rose.

†b spec. of a celestial body. To enter the shadow of another in an eclipse, or to disappear behind another in an occultation, to sink below the horizon. Obs.

1704 J. Hodgson in Phil. Trans. XXV. 1638 At London she [the moon] immerged at 38 minutes past 5. 1775 R. Chandler Trav. Asia Minor (1825) I. 4 The lower half of the orb soon after immerged in the horizon. 1786 J. Bonnycastle Astron. x. 172 When the satellites immerges into, or emerges out of Jupiter's shadow.

†c Of a title or estate. To become merged or ab orbed in that of a superior, so as no longer to have separate existence; to Merge. Obs.

1750 Carte Hist Eng. II. 868 Most of the great nobility had been destroyed in the bulk of their estates immerging into the crown. 1752 Ibid. III. 142 Her son to whom the title of Lennox upon its immerging in the crown, had been granted.

Immergence (imɜ·ɹdʒĕns). [f. Immerge v. + -ence, cf. emergence.] The action of immerging, plunging, or sinking into anything.

1859 Todd Cycl. Anat. V. 996/1 The pancreatic duct at the point of its immergence into the intestinal coat. 1878 F. Ferguson Life Christ II. x. 268 On our way to the immergence of the Jordan.

†Immergent, a. [Obs. Erroneous spelling of Emergent, in sense 'Unexpectedly arising', 'urgent'.

1655 Fuller Ch. Hist. V. iii. § 4 Used upon all extraordinary, and immergent cases. 1798 Washington Lett. Writ. 1891 XII. 248 On no occasion (unless very immergent ones).

Immergent, a. rare [f. Im-2 + Mergent.] Not merging into something else.

1837 H. H. Wilson Sānkhya Kārikā 46 A discrete principle is mergent, the undiscrete, immergent (indissoluble).

Immerger. [f. Immerge v. + -er.] One who or that which immerges or plunges into water, etc., spec. a diving bird. 1894 Newton in Cent. Dict.

†Immerit, sb. Obs. [f. Im-2 + Merit sb.] Immeritus undeserved.] Want of merit, demerit.

1628 Wither Brit. Remembr. 1. 967 That Machivillian crew, who to endeare their base immerits, fill the royall eare With tales. a 1641 Sir Symonds (J.), My own immerit tell me it must not be for me. 1750 Warburton Doct. Grace Wks. 1811 VIII. 400 In the immerit of good Works.

†Immerit, a. Obs. [Back formation from next.] trans. Not to merit or deserve. Only in †Immeriting press ppple and ppl. a. undeserving.

1635 R. Carew in Fismore Papers (1888) Ser. II. 111. 222 Those honourable favours vouchsafed vnto your immerrit inge me. 1650 Inlay Ammora v. in Hurl. Dodsley XIV. 307 Perish'd by th' immeriting touch Of a misshapen boor! 1656 Baker in Rigaud Corr. Sci. Men (1841) II. 30 Immerited, so immeritous a turn could favour from you.

†Immerited, ppl. a. Obs. [f. Im-2 + Merited, after L. immeritus, in sense 'undeserved'.] Unmerited, undeserved.

1600 W. Watson Decacordon (1602) 166 He is become so proud since this immerited authority one vpon him. 1667 Waterhouse Fire Lond. 121 Upon view of his mercies immerited. a 1703 Burkitt On N. Test. Acts xi. 6 Put into this state by mere grace, and immerited favours.

†Immerito rious, a. Obs. [f. Im-2 + Meritorious.] Not meritorious, undeserving.

1642 Vicars God in Mount 85 An unjust and immeritorious eulogie or elogie. 1738 Lex Talionis 81 It is therefore immeritorious to place human perfection in a solemn and formal round of devotional exercises.

Hence Immerito riously adv., undeservingly.

1675 O. Walker, etc. Paraph. St. Paul 99 All easily, and immeritoriously, stand in the truth.

†Immeritous, a. Obs. rare—[f. Im-2 + Meritous.] Not meritorious, undeserving.

1642 Vicars God in Mount 85 An unjust and immeritous eulogie or elogie. 1738 Lex Talionis 81 It is therefore immeritorious to place human perfection in a solemn and formal round of devotional exercises.

Hence Immerito riously adv., undeservingly.

1675 O. Walker, etc. Paraph. St. Paul 99 All easily, and immerit the bulk of mankind, whose souls are immersed in flesh and blood

2 trans. and fig. To plunge or sink into a (particular) state of body or mind, to involve deeply, to steep, absorb, in some action or activity. Chiefly pass. or refl.

1684 H. More Myst. Iniq. Apol. 234 It would engage them not to immerse themselves so much into the world but to live holily. 1712 W. Rogers Exp. 39 Art. The Portuguese immers'd themselves in Debt to the Company. 1790 Cowper Let. 19 Apr., A youth immersed in Mathematics. 1856 Dodd Facts Chr. Faith i. 14 We are immersed in difficulties which we cannot explain. 1861 Buckle Civiliz. (1873) II. viii. 469 He was immersed in the most grovelling superstition.

3 intr. for refl. To plunge oneself, sink, become absorbed. lit. and fig. Now rare or Obs.

1667 Decay Chr. Piety xiv. 272 When they find my promises immersing more in fashion. 1739 [T. Hyposaith on] Newton's Theory (1740) II. 191 But it must not decline towards this Medium and immerse into it?

†Immerse, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. immers-us, pa. pple. of immerg-ĕre to Immerge.]

1626 Bacon Sylva § 114–5 (Oliver), I practise as I do admire after long Inquiry of Things, Immerse in Matter to interpose some subject which is Immaterial, or less Materiate. 1649 H. More Song of Soul To Rdr. i. While I was so immerse in the inward sense and representation of things.

Immersed (imɔ́·st, pfl. a [f. Immerse v. + -ed.] Dipped, plunged, or sunk in, or as in a liquid. Also fig.

1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. v. 818 He does not seem to understand thereby, such a deeply Immersed Soul, as would make the World an Animal, and a Good. 1812 Playfair Nat. Hist. (1819) I. 281 The centre of gravity of the immersed part.

b Baptized by immersion.

1890 Daily News 6 Nov. 5/6 My question is whether [he] is an immersed believer?

c Growing wholly under water.

1860 Gray cited in Worcester.

d. Bot. Sunken or embedded in a surface.

1866 Kirby & Sp. Introd. Ent. (ed. 5) II. 224 Immersed, when they (the eyes) are quite imbedded in the head. 1833 Sir W. Hooker Smith's Eng. Flora V. 132 Cucubalus conicus —apothecium immersed-globular. 1892 J. D. Hooker Stud. Flora 159 Stemmanguisfolium, fruit shorter than in S. latifolium, with more immersed valvæ.

e. Astron. Plunged in darkness, eclipsed.

1667 Boyle in Phil. Trans. II. 597 The Light of the immersed Body. 1854 Mosely Astron. xviii. (ed. 4) 85 The enlightened hemisphere now includes the south pole, and the north is immersed.

Imme·rsement rare [f. Immerse v. + -ment.] A plunge, a plunging.

1827 Lyton Pilham xlv. After various immersements into back passages and causeways.

†Immersible (imɔ́·səbl) a. Obs. rare [f. L. type immersibil-is* f. im (Im-2) + mersibilis*, f. mergĕre, mers- to dip, immerse: see -ible (cf. Immersable.)] That cannot sink in water, that cannot be drowned. (Blount Glossogr. 1656.)

1693 J. Mather Essay. 274 Whether Witches be immersible, how came they to die by drowning in Bidenny?

Hence †Immersibi·lity, incapability of sinking.

1693 J. Mather Essay. 1880) 274 This pretended Gift of Immersibility standing Witches.

Imme·rsible, a.[1] rare [f. Immerse v. + -ible.] Capable of being immersed.

1846 in Worcester, who cites no later Dicts. (some of which erroneously cite Blount and Coles).

Immersion (imɔ́·ʃən). Also erron. emersion. [ad. late L. immersion-em (Arnobius), n. of action from immers-ĕre see Immerse.] 1. The action of immerging or immersing.

1. Dipping or plunging into water or other liquid and transf. into other things.

1658 Phillips Immersion, a dipping, ducking, or plunging. in 1664 Power Exp. Philos. I. 193 After immersion in the red or into the vessel of Quicksilver. 1693 Sprat in Ch. Hist. (1698) III. 86 Holding the Soul of Man to be a Spiritual Immaterial substance [they] accounted for real; fulness and defects from its Immersion into, and intimate connexion with matter. 1710 Addison Tatler No. 195 The Doctor gives her Two or Three cold Immersions in the Cold Bath. 1862 Tyndall Glac. I. xvii. 130 Being checked at intervals by a bodily immersion in the softer and deeper snow. 1882 Vines Sachs's Bot. 876 Immersion in warm or cold water. 1885 Century Mag. XXIX. 744/1 The Mantor, with only twelve feet immersion, could take my position.

b The administration of Christian baptism by the dipping or plunging of the whole person in water: distinguished from affusion or aspersion.

1609 Dowse Sp. Sermon (1640) 99 In Baptisme we are sunk under water, and then raised above the water, which was the manner of baptizing in the Christian church, by immersion, and not by aspersion, till of late times. 1721–23 Jortin Eccl. Hist. iv. (1846) I. 165 [It] requires of the bishops and presbyters that they should make use of a three fold immersion in baptism under pain of being deposed. 1822 J. Flint Lett. Amer. 114 The immersion of seven Baptists in a pool. 1852 Hook Ch. Dict. s.v., Immersion is the mode of baptizing first prescribed in our office of public baptism.

c Alch. Reduction of a metal in some solvent

1683 Petty Fleta Min. ii. 21 There are other ways of Calcination especially of Metals, viz. by Immersion. 1696 Phillips, Immersion, the putting Metals or Minerals, into some Corrosive, that they may be reduced to a Calx

d Ceramics. The application of the glaze to pottery by dipping it into a vessel filled with the glaze-cream

2 transf. and fig. Absorption in some condition, action, interest, etc.

1647 H. More Song of Soul 1. Rdr. 73 Others, whom sensuall immersion or the deadnesse of Melancholy have more deeply seiz'd upon. 1720 Wollaston Relig. Nat. iv. 214 Immersion in vice and ignorance. 1840 Alison Europe (1849–50) VIII. lv. 564 Austria was about to take advantage of his immersion in the Peninsular War.

3 Astron. The disappearance of a celestial body behind another or in its shadow: as in an occultation or eclipse. opp. to emersion.

1650 Fenwicke Cure Meth. 818 The greatest Immersion of the Moon into the Shadow does not then high. 1906 Proctor, cd. Kersey's Dict. Astronomy s.v. Eclipse of Satellites, is when it approaches so near the Sun, as to be hid in its Beams. 1774 M. Mackenzie Maritime Surv. I. viii. 81 It is the apparent time of an Immersion, or I may say, that is observed. 1808 Pike Sunrise Mission to (1811) 134, I observed two immersions of Jupiter's satellites.

4. Microscopy. The introduction of a liquid, as water or oil, between the object glass and the object. 1875, 1877 [see 6].

5 attrib., as (sense 1) immersion bath, tub, immersion rods, fig. immersion fluid, lens, objectives, parabeloid, system.

1875 Knight Dict. Mech., Immersion rod, one which is an object for the microscope, which is used with a drop of water between the front lens and the glass cover of the object examined, to prevent the extreme refraction of the luminous pencils of rays proceeding from it. 1877 Huxley's Phys. 109 Dr. Edmunds gave a description of the new Immersion Paraboloid, and explained its uses. Cells of fluid in glycerine being specially recommended as the immersion fluid. 1894 H. Garbiner Cuff Epistles 76 As he rose from the water his face was radiant, and when he had removed his immersion robe, his eyes filled with happy tears. 1897 Allbutt Syst. Med. III. 663 Where external treatment is carried out by simple hot immersion baths.

Immersionism (imɔ́·ʃənĭz'm). [f. Immersion + -ism.] The doctrine or practice of immersion in baptism 1845 J. A. James in J. Ch. Church iv. 166 Independency, Immersionism, Antipædobaptism. 1884 Ch. Times 413 The Baptistic craze of immersionism.

So Imme·rsionist, one who advocates or practices baptismal immersion, in quot. 1880 used playfully for a bather.

1846 Worcester (citing Hinton). 1880 Le Brock in Punch Jan. 30/1 No. 83 173 Leaving the doomed immersionist to her hard fate. 1897 Chicago Advance 20 May 668/3 Conference with immersionist churches.

†Imme·rsive, a. Obs. [f. L. immers-, ppl. stem of immergĕre (see Immerge) + -ive.] Characterized by or involving immersion 1655 Sir W. Vane Hist. Ref. 143 (L.) The sun's immersive heat doth so boil the water in the cloud, as looketh red when it falls. 1664 Sir Nicholas Bates Dreg (1721) 248 A Bath or to take pure Air is not more sure to an immersive Calenture.

Immesh, var. of Enmesh.

†Imme·thoded, a. Obs. rare—[1] [f. Im-2 + Method sb. + -ed.] Having no method, unmethodical 1653 Waterhouse Apol. Learn. 157 Their sudden thoughts, unmethodized discourses and slovenly sermon-notions.

Immethodic (imɛpɒ·dĭk, ĭmm), a. [f. Im-2 + Methodic.] = next 1858 Carlyle Frederick (1872–) I. 9 As if there were not in Nature, for children, fearfulness, immethodic plenitude, anything comparable to him.

Immethodical (imɛpɒ·dĭkal, ĭmm), a. [f. Im-2 + Methodical.] Not methodical, having no method. Immethodical 1605 C. Powell Infant Jesus Innocent Papist 84 I will not follow the Libeller in his immethodicall and idle Digressions. 1684 Bp. Bancroft's Surv. 1. 172 Although this Element be as immethodical, as immethodical and incertain. 1708 Hearne Collect. 7 May (O. H. S.) II. 127 A very Immethodical and poor book in two Volumes. 1821 Lamb Elia to Wild Oats Wks. 1840 My reading has been lamentably desultory and immethodical.

Immetho dically, adv. [f. prec. + -ly.] In an immethodical manner, without method, unmethodically 1624 Burton Anat. Mel. Democr. to Rdr. 21 He jumbles up many things together immethodically. 1704 Hearne Duct. Hist. (1714) I. 126 He may both be led astray by consulting Authors of uncertain Credit and by immethodic ally disposing those good ones he does look into. 1779–81 Johnson L. Cowley Wks. III. 9 His notions are half formed, and his materials immethodically confused.

Immetho·dicalness, [f. as prec. + -ness.] Immethodical quality or condition, want or absence of method, unmethodicalness

1684 Bp. Bancroft's Surv. Introd. 60 Sometimes, too, the seeming immethodicalness of the New Testament is due to the inconvenient distinction of chapters and verses now in use. 1850 Hopkins Serm. xxi. (R.), Immethodicalness breeds confusion Immethodize (imɛpɒ·dəiz), v. [f. Im-2 + Method + -ize.] trans. To emancipate from method; to render unmethodical.

1821 Lamb Ext. Trog. Chaste., A mighty irregular power of reasoning, immethodized from the ordinary purposes of life

Immetrical (imɛ·trĭkal, ĭmm-), a. [f. Im-2 + Metrical.] Not metrical, unmetrical 1598 Chapman Iliad 1. to Rdr., French and Italian are immetrical. Their many syllables in hvich a dissuit. 1884 Swinburne in 19th Cent. May 779 Cowley's immetrical irregularity. 1895 Athenæum 23 June 796/1 When the word following the begins with a vowel, the line is absolutely immetrical

Hence Imme·trically adv. Imme·tricalness

1884 F. Hall Sanskrit and Prâkrit 190 With respect to the immetric absence of the vowels. 1885 Swinburne in 19th Cent. Jan. 74 The eight hand margin of the line thus immetrically printed †Immew (imiū), v. Obs. [f. Im-1 + Mew v.] trans. To mew or coop up, to keep in restraint or confinement

16. Song in Lloyd Mem. Loves Sufferers (1665) My mistress's ambient air Although my heart's immew'd Immigrant (i·mĭgrant), a. and sb. [ad. L. immigrant-em, pres. pple. of immigrare: see Immigrate, after emigrant 1, 2.]

A adj. Immigrating

1805 Southey Life & Corr. II. ii. 11 Immo 6 Apr. in Life (1850) II. 323 To let the immigrant monsters overrun to gether here. 1885 F. A. Shorter in Pop. Sci. Mo. XXVIII. 93, As to the origin of the sea, immigrant cells, it may be regarded as certain that they have not been derived from the epithelium. 1897 Daily News 21 Aug. 6/1 If [crabs] are immigrant and European it is sudden not to say odd.

B sb. One who comes or has come into a country as a settler 1792 Pennsylvania Hist. Soc. Hampsh. III. Prefr. 6 There is another deviation from the first habits of the English that it names which is found extremely inconvenient in our discourses on popular topics, which is to call the mouns immigrant and immigration as used without example in some parts of the volume. 1808 III. 472. 1809 Kendall Travels II. 181 Town Count is perhaps the only new word of which the immediate adoption in the United States is not only desirable, but conducive to the English language. 1817 J. Dunlop Rev. Eng. Gram. (1840) II. 132 Immigrant are crowding to it from New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island. 1876 Gladstone Homeric Studies 216 The son of Priam, a foreigner and immigrant into Greece attrib. 1804 J. Wells Olive Branch I. 108 The immigrant landing depot in New York City

Immigrate (i·mĭgrēt), v. [f. I. immigrat-, ppl. stem of immigrare to remove or go into, f. im Im-1 + migrare to Migrate.]

1 intr. To come to settle in a country (which is not one's own), to pass into a new habitat or place of residence (lit. and fig.)

1623 Cockeram Immigrate, to goe dwell in some place. 1651 Cotterton Hobbes's Comm. Warres 11. 1. 67 In exchanging words, they exchange their Right and power, into the wishes they utter. 1798 [see Immigrant A.] 1845 M'Culloch Taxation iii. 138 If foreign labourers be permitted freely to immigrate into their midst.

2 trans. To bring in or introduce as settlers. (Cf. Emigrate 2.)

1868 Daily News 13 Feb. 5/5 By carrying out a new union mon-dustrial to which the Armenians would be immigrated. 1868 Heathen Chr. 14 May 97 The expense of immigrating coolie labour from the East Indies.

Hence Immigrated, ppl. a.; immigrating ppl. adj.

1869 Labour Amer. Speech in 1872 Those Irish or Manx believers that the Phœnicians were in immigrating race. 1882 Rep. Ir. Univ. Educ. Com. 1. 541 In Venezuela and Guyana, where, as in Australia, the immigrating element numbers. 1885 J. A. Sharpe in Pop. Sci. Mo. XXVIII. 89 The carrying of fatty particles into the hepatic by the immigrating leucocytes.

Immigration (imigrē·ʃən) [n. of action from Immigrate: see -ation.] The action of immigrating, entrance into a country for the purpose of settling there 1658 Phillips, Immigration, a going to dwell a passing into. 1774 Warton Hist. Eng. Poetry Diss. i. (1840) I. 18 Successive emigration and immigration of bodies of refugees. 1792 [Jedidiah Belknap] Hist. New Hampsh. III. 476 The precise increase, or the amount of immigration into New Hampshire in 1790 was 1804 C. Brockden Brown's Ariel's Lett. Amer. 1. 1. 1.

their taxes. 1782 Hist. Europe in Ann. Reg. 1783) 56 The imminence of the danger. 1850 MERIVALE Rom. Emp. (1851) II. 6 The apparent imminence of destitute.

2 That which is imminent, impending evil or peril.

1606 SHAKS. Tr. & Cr. v. x. 13, I dare all imminence that gods and men Address their dangers in. 1888 Quart. Med. Jrnl. 115/2 The morbid imminences of this age are few.

Imminency (i·minĕnsi) [f. as prec. see -ENCY.] The quality of being imminent, imminent character.

1665 R. BOYLE Comment. Tasks 36 In regard both of the apparency and imminency of that danger. 1806 Ann. Reg. 'Until the precise extent and imminency of the danger should be ascertained.' 1871 MORLEY Rousseau I. 111 This prelude it imminency of the advent.

Imminent (i·minent), a. Also 6-8 erron. eminent, eminet (see IMPINET 6 [cf. I imminens, ent-em, pres. pple. of imminere to project or lean over, overhang, impend, be near: f. im- (IM- + minere, as in eminere, cf. EMINENT, CF. imminent (4th c. in Hatz.-Darm.)]

1 Of an event etc.: almost always of evil or danger: Impending, threateningly, hanging over one's head, ready to befall or overtake one: close at hand in its incidence, coming on shortly.

1528 [LAMBERT in Pilgrim Soc. Supp. Early Eng. Inns 1] being so imminent and full sick. 1555 [see Perfect. ad. 2]. Preservation from so many imminent perils. 1593 SHAKS. 2 Hen. IV, IV. iv. 70 A most ill-tuned cheque is for imminent death. 1604 Ord. in Council 136 Rebellion is open, and imminent deadly breach. a 1661 FULLER Worthies (1840) III. 1 Preparing their intended and imminent destruction. 1769 ROBERTSON Chas. V (1828) III. 96 To oppose him of all the most real and most imminent danger. 1875 STUBBS Const. Hist. III. xxiii. 79 His own most imminent. 1883 L. WHITE Mod. Persia 33 In an Western battery a drawing was imminent.

+2 Remaining fixed or intent upon something. Obs. [L. imminens in sense 'to be intent upon.'] 1641 MILTON Reform. II. 65 Their eyes ever imminent upon worldly matters.

3 In literal sense: Projecting or leaning forward, overhanging.

1597 W. MASHER Inq. Wms. Comp. 27 Imminent, famous Imminent, over head. 1858 HAWTHORNE Fr. & It. Jrnls (1872) I. 38 Heights began to rise imminent above our way.

+4. Confused with IMMANENT. Obs.

1605 VERSTEGAN Dec. Intell. (1673) 18 This requireth an immanent reason to be sought for. 1644 HUTTON Anat. Monarchy v. 20 Now I expect from us an immanent Act, consisting in a mere expression of an Authoritative Will. 1657 CROMW. Parliament. Speech 4 Our present formed thoughts, the immediate and immanent acts of the mind. 1658 [see Fixed Earth I. 1. 7]. The moral law of the conscience is the most immanent of all that can be called knowledge.

+5 Confused with EMINENT. Obs.

1642 J. VICARS God in Mount 15 Some imminent Seats.

Imminently (i·minentli), adv. (Also 6-7 erron. emi- see EMINENTLY 5; [f. prec. + -LY2.] In an imminent manner, impendingly, threateningly.

1548 HALL Chron. Hen. IV 29 The evill fate and destenie of her husbande, which he eminently. 1568 GRAFTON Chron. II. 60 Before her eyes she saw to approche. 1646 [see CONSENTIVE 2]. 1786 BURKE H. Hastings Wks. 1842 II. 154 He did not shake the whole foundation of British authority, and immediately endanger the existence of the British dominion in India. 1858 Daily News 24 Sept. 5/1 The left attack was, I think, never imminently in serious danger.

Immingle (imi·ngl), v. [f. IM-1 + MINGLE 2.] trans. To mix or blend intimately, to mingle, intermingle.

1606 HOLLAND tr. Suetonius 199/1 Let it with the same be immingled. 1649 MILTON Eikon. v. Misc. Wks. 1738 II. 31 Crimes so evidly immingle themselves. 1726 Ld. Inverness' Memoirs 141 Where they could put or immingle them. 1848 CROKER Boswell's Johnson 28 Themselves accepted into it an immingled as truly Part of it as we the Kine in the field.

b intr. (for refl.)

1828 CROKER Memoirs de Dorset 9 Where, upon Aquenine lope, with the chestnut the oak trees immingle.

Hence Immi·ngling vbl. sb.

1855 [see Perfect. Self-Possession Note] 114 Heis devoted individually in all on account of the immingling (sanctus).

+Immi·nish, v. Obs. Also 5 emmenuse, emenische [IM- emmenu, v. OF emmenuser, emmenuiss-, incept. f. type immenuitiare* (see AMENUSE, refashioned as emmenish and ultimately after I. imminutus, as diminish Cf. AMINISH, DIMINISH, MINISH.]

a trans. To diminish, to belittle, b intr. To become less, decrease.

1424 Ld. Abergavenny Invent. in Archæol. XXVII. 300 All thou And his godness be nothing emenuste thereby. Ibid. If a8 Macedayne salle a vicary lesse and lesse, and i-menische day by day. 1526 COOPER Treat. Pest. Wore Masse (Parker Soc.) 163 So to imminish and debase the weight of Christ's Commandments. 1565-73 — Thesaurus, Venas authoritatem to imminish.

+Immi·nute, a. Obs. [ad. I. imminut-us, pa. pple. of imminuere to lessen, f. im (IM- + minuere to lessen.] Diminished, lessened.

a 1681 WHARTON Reliquiæ Wks. (1683) 106 In those Eclipses we suffer by reason of the Imminute Influence of the Sun toward us.

+Imminu·tion. Obs. [ad. L. imminution-em, n. of action f. imminuere: see prec.] Diminution, lessening, decrease.

1590 BARROUGH Meth. Physick v. iv. (1639) 269 This sodaine and often imminution of the tumour. 1657 J. COSIN Canon Script. ii. 34 Without any Addition, Imminution or Alteration. 1788 Washington's Def. Legat. in Vote H., Wks. III. 205 Where is the absurdity of Dr. Spen cer's grand decision or imminution of the Theocracy?

Immiraculous, a. nonce wd. [f. IM-2 + MIRACULOUS.] Non miraculous.

1880 FAIRBAIRN Studd. Life Christ xii. (1881) 290 These records of so-called miraculous events—so finely natural and immiraculous in tone.

+Immi·re, v. Obs. Also 7 en-. [f. IM-1 + MIRE sb.] trans. To immerse in mire, also fig.

1611 FLORIO, Infangare, to emmud, to imbog, to enmire. 1652 J. TRAPP Theol. Theol. (1845) 280 Most of them do immire their spirits into worldly projects.

Immiscibility (imisibi·liti) [f. next + -ITY cf. I. immiscibilité (Littré).] The quality of being immiscible, incapacity of mixing.

1807 Edin. Rev. X. 142 Which is unexplained by the causes of the immiscibility. 1881 Athenæum 6 Aug. 195/2 Equally type draws the line between immiscibility. 'The worst of John Bull and of Brother Jonathan in America is that he does not immire their spirits into worldly projects.

Immiscible (imisibl), a. [f. IM- + MISCIBLE cf. I. immiscibilis (Littré, who cites a I. immiscibiles from Quicherat).] That cannot be mixed, incapable of mixture.

1671 J. WEBSTER Metallogr. 326 Wismuth of a brittle immiscible Earth. 1751 Phil. Trans. XLVII. 48 A black ish liquid absolutely immiscible with water. 1833 URE Dict. Arts (1840) II. 18 Ether is like water and oil, they are immiscible.

Hence Immi·scibly adv., without capability of mixture.

1884 H. D. TRAILL New Lucian 216, I would that the hosts of darkness were thus immiscibly divided from the army of light.

+Immi·serable, a. Obs. rare—. [ad. I. im miserabilis unpitied, f. im- (IM-2) + miserabilis MISERABLE.] 'Whom none pitieth' (Cockeram, 1623).

+Immi·ss, v. Obs. Also 7 immisse [f. I. immitt-ere, ppl. stem of immittĕre to IMMIT With immisse (cf. premiss) trans. = IMMIT.

1647 H. MORE Immort. ii. 100 Whether the Sun will ever immerse it self into the deep. 1655 CULPEPER Riverius iii. 46 A Splenium immissed into that dark Matter.

Immission (imi·ʃən, imiən-) Now rare. [ad. L. immission-em, n. of action f. immittĕre to IMMIT: see -TION.] The action of immitting, insertion, injection, admission, introduction. The opposite of emission.

1578 BANISTER Hist. Man viii. 102 The strife there if how the sight is made, I leave to your judgement: as touching the reception and imission. 1615 CROOKE Body of Man 5 Notes by the Northwinde (much accounted of unions, builders. For immission of pure ayre. 1651 H. M. Helmont's Vindic. 188 God does not get immissions and impulses from heaven to no purpose. 1713 DERHAM Phys. Theol. v. viii. 289 Much fresh Fuel for Consumption and Immission of fresh Air. 1856 MASSON Life Milton I. 1 The theory of alternate immission and withdrawal of pores as necessary to the growth of the universe.

b (pl.) In Astrology use. = COMMIXTION 6.

1846 MANILIUS In Astrology 115 note, The mystical immission of the Emmission into the Cusp. 1877 J. D. CHAMBERS Div. Hist. Man 378 The solemn Immission into the Church of one Portion or of one Host. Ibid. 386.

c That which is inserted.

1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 46 Immyssions of the enemy, that be euyll suggestions. 1649 JER. TAYLOR Gt. Exemp. Pref. 5 Such as is prescribed to be an infused grace, an immission from God.

+Immissable, a. Obs. [n. of action from L. immittĕre to IMMIT + -ABLE.] Intimate, mixture or mingling.

1658 Rosa Anglica 242 Immissable and IMMISCIBLE and ION.] Intimate mixture or mingling.

+Immit (imi·t), v. Now rare or Obs. [ad. L. immittĕre to send in, introduce, etc., f. im- (IM-1) + mittĕre to send.] trans. To put in, insert, inject, infuse, to let in, admit, introduce (things material or immaterial): the opposite of emit.

1598 BARRET Theor. Warres 4 The heades (of the tubes) are immitted out the bodyes of the Vessells. 1634 T. ADAMS Wks. (1861) 1. 8 Was his sin inwardly immitted? 1669 BOYLE Contin. New Exp. Phys. (1682) 142 The Air being immitted. 1705 GREENHILL Art of Embalming 273 This Balsamick Liquor thus Dextrously committed into the Intestines. 1834 G. S. FABER Three Dispr. Election (1837) Pref. 18 If [new doctrine] be as Leviathan speaks, been immitted or let in or introduc'd at a later period.

Immitigable (imi·tigăbl), a. [ad. L. immitigabilis, f. im- (IM-2 + mitigabilis MITIGABLE.] That cannot be mitigated, softened, or appeased, implacable, not to be tamed down.

1576 FLEMING Panopl. Epist. 19 What cause was there that the imbecility of my minde should be immitigable? 17 HARRIS (J.) Did she mean, as these immitigable, these iron hearted men? 1814 SOUTHEY Roderick XIX. He on his flesh inflicts fierce vengeance with immitigable hand. 1832 TAUCHNITZ Ref. Younger Son III. 128 For four or five days and nights the pain was immitigable. 1887 SWIN BURNE Study Prose & Poetry (1894) 188 The principle or the impulse of unsevered and immitigable charity.

Hence Immi·tigably adv., in an immitigable manner or degree.

1824 Westm. Rev. I. 437 The most unavoidably and immitigably painful incidents of life. 1832 H. MARTINEAU Hack. & Hist. viii. 104 Mr. Bland looked as immitigably solemn as ever. 1854 N. HAWTHORNE Engl. Note Bks. II. 308 Much that is most valuable must be immitigably rejected.

Immix (imi·ks), v. Now rare [The pa. pple. immixt is found in 15th c., also a vb. IMMIXT, both from I. immixt-us, pa. pple. of immiscere The present stem immix was of later appearance, and due to the analysis of immixt as a pa. pple of Eng. formation, implying a present of this form Cf. COMMIX, ADMIX, which had a like origin.] trans. To mix in (with something else to mix intimately, mix up, commingle.

1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) I. 295 The people kepe the maneres and consuetudes of Frenche men, to whom they were immixte. 1598 GAINSFORD in Pocock Rec. Ref. I. 111 We immixed such things and reasons as might serve. 1652-87 PENN Wks. (1726) 58/1 The bole immixed the eucharist and thrust it in suffle into the mouth of the old man. 1696 WHISTON Th. Earth (1722) 47 Amongst her tears immixing prayers meeke. 1671 MILTON Samson 1657 Samson with these immixt, inevitably Pulled down the same destruction on himself. 1791 BURKE Policy Minority, Ye beastly wolves immixed with reedy lions. 1882 I. W. MYERS Rem. and of South. 40 How oft shall seeming-s vaunt and crimson his lineny the cruelly and divine cruelty.

b refl. To involve, or mix oneself up: in or with something.

1593 R. BARNES Faithful mephist xxvii in Arb. Garner V. 497 Lest my better part be nodder subject should dwell immix. 1671 True Nonconf. 124 Immixing themselves by privilege in secular Courts and affaires. 1748 J. GODDES Complete Installs 244 Having immixed himself with the real to or c intr. (for refl.)

1681 An Protestant Plot 9 Many others immix with them, and cooperate to promote their designs.

Hence Immi·xed ppl. a., mixed up, commingled.

1855 BAILEY Mystic. 80 Millet and lentil, and a thousand grains, As many and as immixed as the sands through her sad fingers. 1858 — The Age 160 Nor host immixed that by Proponic wave Its ranks deployed.

+Immi·xable, a. Obs. [f. IM-1 + MIXABLE.] Incapable of being mixed, immiscible.

1641 WILKINS Math. Magick II. xiv (1648) 175 Fill it with such liquors as may be clear of the same colour, immixable +Immixt, immixed (imi·kst), a. Obs. [orig. ad. L. immixt-us (pa. pple. of immiscere) MIXED.] Not mixed, unmingled, pure, simple.

1622 S. WARD Life of Faith in Death (1627) 101 The soule is older and more excellent sister to the body immixt and separable. 1658 SIR T. HERBERT Trav. (ed. 2) 339 They [the Chinese] are the most ancient and immixt people in the Universe. a 1690 JACKSON Creed XI. i. § 2 The divine nature or Godhead is simple, pure and immixt. 1699 LEVIS Let to Boyle 3 Sept in Boyle Lett. (1772) VI. 291 To assure you how pure and immixed the design is from any other than the public interest.

Hence +Immi·xtness, -edness.

1646 H. LAWRENCE Comm. Angells 125 Sincerity is an immixtness, and rightness of ends.

+Immixt, -ure, sb. Obs. [f. I. immixt- ppl. stem of immiscĕre see IMMIX + -URE. Cf. the parallel early vbs. admixt, commixt.] trans. = IMMIX.

1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) I. 13 Like some versus of that noble poete called Homere, and adde or immixte them in unto his werkes. 1523 St Papers Hen VIII, IV. 89 Immixting your certificates and communications with divide Conveyance of the Kinges armye.

+Immi·xtion. Obs. rare In 7 immixion [f. I. immixt-, ppl. stem of immiscĕre see IMMIX] The action of mixing in.

1653 R. G. tr. Bonavent. Hist. Bonds 181 Of words which are made by immixion of vowels.

+Immi·xture[1]. Obs. rare [f. IM-2 + MIXTURE, after IMMIXT a.] The condition of being unmixed, freedom from mixture, purity, simplicity.

1648 W. MOUNTAGU Devout Ess. I. xiv. § 3. 190 That wherein our love is the most defective, which is simplicity and immixture.

Immixture[2] (imi·kstiŭə) [f. I. immixt-, ppl. stem of immiscĕre to IMMIX + -URE, as if ad. I. immixtiōn-em*, of admixture, commixture.] The action of immixing or mixing up, intimate mixture, commingling, the fact of being 'mixed up' or involved (in something).

1859 GOLDIE & LOWE Paint 240 The immixture of oil with the colours. 1865 J. BROWN Rent Mental Affect. ii. (1876) 28 The immixture of the pollen with the stigma. 1888 Encyc. Sanitary Commun. xxvi. (1889) I. 256 To avoid an immixture in political strife. 1889 STEVENSON Master of B. xi. 166 Repenting the temerity of my immixture in affairs so private.

Immobile (imō·bil, -ēl), a. Also 4 in-mobill, 5 immoyle, 6 il, immoble, imoble [f. I. im mobile (4th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad. I. immōbilis, f. im- (IM-2) + mōbilis MOBILE.] Incapable of moving or of being moved, immovable (lit and fig.), fixed, stable. Also less strictly: That does not move, motionless, stationary (In first quot = IMMOVABLE A. 3.)

c 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Tr. 11 Thou sall noghte couayte be hous or oþer thynge mobill or in-mobill of þi neghtbour with wrange. 1490 CAXTON Eneydos xix. 69 Eneas holdyng hys syght alwayes Immoblyle atte anothre syde than upon dyds 1545 Joye Apol Tracy 8 R. It is not lawfull to brede them [sawes] but they be fierse and immobile 1549 Compl. Scot vi 48 Al the thyng that ornamits this fyrst mobil, is immobil and mouns nocht 1559 W. Cunningham Cosmogr Glasse 17 I do imagine . . That to be the axe tree, and mobile 1677 Gales Crt Gentiles iv 141 Frequent repeted custome in sin renders the conscience obdurate whereby sin becomes incessive, and immobile 1859 G. Meredith A. Feverel xxxvii. The fruits hung immobile on the boughs 1864 Mattie, a Story I. 20 His immobile features did not alarm the young suitor

† Immobi litate, v. Obs rare [f. med.] immobilitāt-, ppl. stem of immobilitare, f. immobilis Immobile + -ate: cf. mobilitate to render movable.] trans. To render incapable of movement

1654 Vilvain Theorem Theol. iv 46 Adams-superintural Grace given to corroborate him, did not immobilitate his will to evil

Immobility (imōbi·liti) [ad. L. immobilitāt-, f. immobilis Immobile: see -ity.] The quality or condition of being immobile, incapacity of moving, or of being moved, fixedness, stability, motionlessness (lit. and fig.)

1483 Caxton Gold. Leg. 258/1 In dyuynyte, in eternite, in vnmacion of immobylyte 1617 Bingham On Ps. lxxxiii. 15. The immobility of Gods word 1664 Power Exp. Philos. iii. 153 A Magnetical Demonstration of the Earth's Immobility 1732 Arbuthnot Rules of Diet 193 Palsy is an Immobility of a Muscle from Relaxation 1818 Cruise Digest (ed. 2) I. 163 If states for years are considered in law as chattels real, as an interest in real property, of which they have one quality, immobility, which denominates them real 1860 W. Collins Hum. Whites I. ix. 10. There was an unnatural immobility in her face

b. trans. = Immovable B. unonce use.

1873 Browning Red Cotton Nt-cap 132 Still is for sale that same chateau With all its immobilities

Immobilize (imōbi·liz), v. [ad. F. immobiliser (1835 Dict. Acad.), f. immobile cf. mobiliz.] trans. To render immobile, to fix immovably, to keep (a joint or limb) without motion for surgical purposes, to render troops incapable of being mobilized, to withdraw specie from circulation, holding it in bank-reserve

1871 Daily News 4 Jan., To-day, the country to annul a line around its considerable forces 1872 Contemp. Rev. XX. 681 [It] puts an end to a state of famine prices by immobilizing the organization of the present 1879 W. George's Hosp. Rep. IX. 769 The patient had his limb placed upon a cushion without being immobilized 1892 Pall Mall G. 12 Dec. 1. The Union cavalry, being immobilized in the State and in the Union treasuries 1898 M. P. Shiel Yellow Danger 4 The whole British navy had been almost immobilized for lack of steam fuel

Hence Immobiliza tion, the action or process of immobilizing, concr. specie withdrawn from circulation

1882 Quarain Med. Dict. 780/1 Immobilization [of a diseased joint] should not be continued longer than necessary 1894 Daily News 28 July 7/4 The immobilisation of the Italian banks will be distributed as follows To the Bank of Italy about 400 million francs [etc.]

Immoble, obs. var. of Immobile

† Immo delize, v. Obs. rare [f. Im-1 + Modelize.] trans. To model, mould, fashion 1649 J. Eachard tr. Balzac's Let. vi. 8 37 Your fortune or immodellized Science Ibid. xii. 8 9 The pride of the Devil hath so imprinted and immodellized it self, on the image of man † Immo deracy. Obs. rare [f. Immoderate + -acy.] Immoderateness, want of moderation, excess 1682 Sir T. Browne Chr. Mor. iii. § 3 The strength of delight is in its suddenness. Mediocrity is its Life, and immoderacy its Confusion 1686 Goad Celest. Bodies iii. 195 All Verdure by the immoderacy of the Season is parch'd and burnt † Immoderancy. Obs. rare [ad. late L. immoderantia, f. im- (Im-2 + moderant-em pres. ppple. of moderari to Moderate) + -ncy.

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. i. 7 He, by a decimall sum of all hope vanished his [God's] mercy, thus by an immoderancy the reof destroyed his justice Immoderate (imp·dĕrĕt), a. Also 5 in [ad. L. immoderat-us unbounded, unrestrained, excessive, f. im- (Im-2 + moderatus Moderate.)]

1 Not moderate, exceeding usual or proper limits, excessive, extravagant, too great 1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xix. xxvi. (1495) 760 In moderate heete greuyth fyeshe 1533 Lloyd Conf. Hobbis (1550) 48 b, Immoderate slepe maketh the body apt vnto palsies 1601 T. Godwin Rps. of Emp. 471 By reason of these immoderate expenses he became so bare, that [etc.] 1712 Budgell Spect. No. 397 ¶ 14 Her Neck was of an immoderate length 1855 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xxi. IV. 576 His immoderate zeal against the unfortunate clan

b Of persons. Wanting in moderation, going beyond reasonable bounds in action or opinion, extreme c 1450 Lydg. Secrees 939 In his departyng whoo is immoderat, This to seyn, whoo is nat mesurable In his Rychesse but disordinat, Is Callyd prodigus 1538 T. Elyot Dict. of Ancients 279 Pindarus was immoderate in the ornaments of his poesie 1792 Burke Fr. French Aff Wks. VII. 45 The government which the immoderate republicans beg us so very lately to introduce into Holland 1890 Daily News 17 Dec. 3/3 Mr. Labouchere said . . He was not a moderate but an immoderate Liberal † 2 Unrestrained in feeling, passions, or conduct, intemperate. Obs. exc. as implied in 1.

1497 St. Jerome Mons. Paul. Bij, A man wroth is so immoderat that he knoweth not what he sayth 1567 Maplet Gr. Forest 80 Therefore doubt not, Reader not to arme, but resolutely set rather learned than immoderate 1638 Sanderson Serm. I. 6 (Arb.) 55 Those immoderate courses of his youth 1659 D. Pell Impr. Sea 19 note Alexander was continent, yet immoderate 1696 Phillips (ed. 5) Immoderate, observing no measure, intemperate beyond excess † 3 Without limits boundless, vast, great rare.

1480 St Ursula Rosh's Aij, To be they vnder sholde be sent his angels to kepe And thorugh them to haue in thyngh his immoderate myght 1535 Coverdale Dan. iv. 22 Thine Maiestie is growen vp, and is immoderate. An heauy Mace walkes in Immoderate Grace Spoke things for more than Human in her Face

Immoderately (imp·dĕrĕtli), adv. [f. prec. + -ly².] In an immoderate manner or degree, beyond just or reasonable limits, excessively, in excess, extravagantly, too much 1482 Monk of St. Albans's Wks. (1881) Why he set soth, and wepte so immoderatly 1509 Barclay Ship of Fools (1874) II. 300 Of the whiche the hath immoderatly gathered and greatly kept together 1617 Moryson Itin. I. 240 The men shed by eating immoderately thereof 1737 Whiston Josephus Bk. v. ch. 7 ¶ 3 The Ladies fough immoderately all the Time 1858 Doran Lives of Fools 280 His sins and lives were immoderately long

Immoderateness (imp·dĕrĕtnĕs) [f. prec. + -ness.] The quality or condition of being immoderate, want of moderation, excess

1579 Twine Thassike. apol. Tort. iii. 58 b, A vanner, suralebeuse and immoderate easenesse to be eschewed 1681 H. More Exp. Dan. Prof. (1708) 21 There is no thing of Immoderateness or Extravagancy in this my zeal 1714 tr. L'Estrange's Obs. Times II. xlii. 254 This may be either by immoderateness or indiscretion Immoderation (imp,dĕrē·shŏn) [f. Im-2 + moderation (15th c. or ad. L. immoderation-em, f. im- Im-2 + moderatio Moderation.)] The opposite of moderation; immoderateness, excess

1542 Boorde Breu. Health xxxiv. 43 b, In compleccion and commodesyon of sanil conditions lyeth and consysteth the helth And in incompetence and immoderacyon in them the dyseas and sekenes 1581 Mulcaster Positions xxii (1887) 109 Immoderation in drinking 1650 Nansmith Command Jesus 108 Prof. Who would undertake to moderate the extravagancies and immoderations of our days? 1707 Burnet Own Time Reign of Charles II 1. 12 Against the Immoderation of the Mone 1875 Jowett Thucyd. I. 70 Many have begun by wise and moderate counsels, and have ended in a bondage of absolute excess

† b pl. Excesses, immoderate entertainments

1614 H. Crosse Vertues Commw. (1878) 148 All immoderations, or excesses, to be shun'd 1679 Penton Mother of Vices (1812) 5 Those who are for purity in the Church have great disputes and very ill proposition de measures in their own immoderations Immodest (imp·dĕst, a. [ad. L. immodest-us, f. im- (Im-2) + modestus Modest. Cf. F. immodeste.] 1549 R. Estienne,] Not modest, void of modesty

1 Void of modesty in self-assertion or pretension, arrogant forward, impudent

1570 Levins Manip. 91/43 Immodest, immodestus 1591 Sidney Arcad. (1674) 116 With this immodest clamorous Argument 1678 Cudworth Intell. Syst. I. 1. 1. 1. Hope, this kind of Beast will not seem immodest 1672 Wilkins Nat. Relig. (1734) 88 This were to subvert the whole end of History which is to instruct Posterity, as this sober man would be ashamed of 1771 N. Nicholls in Corr. w. Cowper (1843) I. 61 If you think this an immodest request, you may do it much more freely than I can do it

2 Wanting a due sense of decorum or decency improper, indelicate, indecent, lewd, unchaste

1590 Spenser F. Q. III. 7 Woe of folly and immodest vaine 1597 Shakes. Hen. IV, I. ii. 13 Is not a Buffe Jerkin a most sweet robe of durance? How ill quadrates it with other parts of the attire? And to speake truly, it lies as immodestly on my back as a Saddle on a Goose 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (1638) 150 Sex and Age, that is chiefly exacting, the least are given ill to all men immodest viewers 1728 Du Fay Reflex. Learning 1. 11 Nothing is so much hid as Love, and yet nothing so immodest 1806 Southey Madoc in Wales II. xxiii. 1846 Southey Doctor III. 180 Women of such bodies affliction and immodest folly hath deluded the land

Immodestly (imp·dĕstli) adv. [f. prec. + -ly².] In an immodest manner

1 With excessive self assertion, arrogantly

1600 F. Brooke tr. Consitagio Apol. Aij, To summon that I have spoken of them rather with reason or immodestie 1617 Moryson Itin. III. 234 I will not speake immodestly of your deeds nor immodestly of mine owne 1870 Lowell Among my Bks Ser. I. (1873) 318 Himself not immodestly compared to the civic wreath for having saved the lives of fellow citizens

2 Improperly, indecorously, indecently

1576 Wilkinson Iv. Manuall (1868) 11 Be not immodestly attyred nor vnseemly, but immodestly and incomely 1590 Spenser F. Q. III. 10 Throwing forth lewd wordes immodestly 1658 Phillips Dorcas 41 These Corinthian women discovered their faces immodestly in the congregation 1881 Miss Braddon Asph. I. 217 She wears her petticoats immodestly scant)

Immodesty (imp·dĕsti) [ad. L. immodestia, f. im- (Im-2) + modestia Modesty. Cf. F. immodestie (1564 J. Thierry.)] Want of modesty

1 Excess of self-assertion or pretension, arrogance, forwardness, impudence

1605 Play Stukeley in Simpson Sch. Shaks. (1878) I. 201 Count it not in me immodesty To love the man whom heaven appointed for me 1651 Baxter Inf. Bapt. 14 I thought it would seem meer pride and immodesty in me to send Argument to you 1681 G. Scott Gr. Life (1747) III. 159 Upon the great Immodesty of Creditors who will needs persuade the World, that by the Word in the Chables Paraphrase is no where meant a Person 1809 Rickes Conf. Infidels 12 Believe, to all immodesty to deny, or deny for want of capacities and license 1893 Independent N. Y. 19 Oct. 1 Long without immodesty so [etc.]

† b In wider sense. Want of moderation of restraint. Obs. rare

1665 Manley Grotius' Low C. Warres 19 By his cruelty towards Priests, and all other kinds of immodesty

2 Want of the sense of decorum or decency, impropriety, indelicacy, unchastity 1597 Daniel Civ. Wars viii. 80 She shames to think that ought within her face should breed th opinion Our modesty 1658 Sir T. Herbert Trav. (ed. 2) 4 Never recinding, they were naked . . I wonder at their immodesty 1685 Baxter Paraph. N. T. Luke v. 34 Of not fasting, but in immoderate . . and in excessive time 1859 Jephson Trad. apos. It seemed an easier thing, At once to strike her dead, Than to defy Habit, and to her own bright face Accuse her of the least immodesty † Immodish (imō·dĭʃ) adv. = Obs. nonce wd. [f. Im-2 + Modish.] Not according to the mode, unfashionable. Hence † Immo dishly adv. = prec.

1649 G. Daniel Iromedes To Ld. 72 A bond Im modish'd, or I had not whirl'd small sandglasses of Beard on's Chin 1690 Moral Fab. & Pict. Prof. 52 So immodishly qualified † Immo dulate, v. Obs. rare = [f. Im-1 + modulat-us immodulate, f. im- Im-2 + modulatus see Modulate.] trans. To spoil the modulation of, to render out of tune, without due proportion

Immo dulated, ppl. a. rare [f. Im-2 + modulated, pa. ppple. of Modulate.] Not modulated, without vocal modulation

1765 Patriotism; in Sch. Satire (1880) 215 While hybrid rant of th immodulated note He screws thro' all his discourse, of throat 1878 Symonds Shelley in His voice was harsh and immodulated † Immoi sture, v. Obs. [f. Im-1 + Moisture.] trans. To imbue with moisture, to moisten

1553 Sutton Conf. Lauds Eng. Offices Pitudes Immoystured with mekyng

† Immolate, ppl. a. Obs. or arch. [ad. L. immolat-us, pa. ppple. of immolare see next (In early examples confused with pa. pple. see next and -ate 2.)] Sacrificed, immolated 1534 More Treat. Passion Wks. 1291/1 The priest when he should immolate and offered in sacrifice the vnpetted lambe 1551 Jackson Pappe with a Hatchet Aij b, Whether I need to speak of the immolate of the Masse 1891 Pauline Mr. Sinacott 20 Not were unconsumed the rock on victims immolate

† Immolate (i·mŏlē·t), v. [f. I. immolat-, ppl. stem of immolare, or f. immola sprinkle with sacrificial meal (mola salsa), f. im- Im-1 + mola meal. The pa. ppple. seems to have been the part. first used of prec.]

1 trans. To sacrifice, offer in sacrifice, to kill as a victim. Properly, and now only, of victims in which life is taken

1548 Hall Chron., Hen. V 11 b, As though he should immolate a dewe vnreasonable or an host immolated for the homicide 1619 H. Hutton Follies Anat. (Percy Soc.) 48 Pan did the best frutes of his field present Ceres, and immolate Autumn's rich prime and Iuetes golden mines 1680 J. Brooks tr. Le Blanc's Jas. 320 They will cut them to pieces to make the blood to flow more freely 1728 Pope Dunc. A. 327 The horrible cost in Commanding the quiet of war at the Cities of those who had been slain in battle 1851 D. Wilson Preh. Ann. Scot. (1863) I. 138 Human victims were immolated to the Thunderer

† b absol. or intr. To offer sacrifice, to sacrifice 1628 J. Hall Paraph. Choir 12 Then mean we to immolate and sacrifice, unto them he absolveth us 1660 J. Brooks tr. Le Blanc's Jas. 319 In certain places there were immolators the Church at the Shrine of the present

Hence Immolated, ppl. adj.

1548 [see above] 1715 tr. Pope Innocent XI. To cram your immolated bulls are slain 1858 J. Martineau Stud. Chr. 159 His [Jesus's] voluntary spirit becomes the true priest and strikes his own person with immolating flow Immolation (imōlē·shŏn) [ad. L. immolation-em, n. of action f. immolare to Immolate cf. F. immolation (1376.)]

1 The action of immolating or offering in sacrifice, sacrificial slaughter of a victim, sacrifice

1534 More On the Passion Wks. 1291 Psycha in the book ageinst Jouin immolation 1552 Act Edw. VI, c. 1 § 11 (1884) 12 The immolation and sacrifice of the Paschal lambe 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage 1064 Immolations yea of their own children 1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. v. 241 In the Picture of the Immolation of Isaac or Abraham sacrificing his son 1844 Disraeli Tanc.

Nat. Hist. (1858) I. 31 Immolation of victims to the gods of paganism.

b Applied to the sacrifice of the mass

1548 Ridley Invect. Oratione touching Mass in, The Representation and Commemoration of Christ's Death and Passion, said and done in the Mass, is called the Sacrifice, Oblation or Immolation of Christ. 1644 Cosin Hist. subscr. 5 That immolation of Christ's flesh which is done with the Priest's hands. 1849 Rock Ch. of Fathers I. 172 St. Beda held that the immolation of this sacrifice was an injunction laid upon the priesthood of His Church by Christ Himself.

c trans. That which is immolated, a victim; (actual) victim; sacrifice, an oblation 1589 Warner Alb. Eng. II. xiii. 59 Poore Abel (not...) An Immolation or burnt-sacrifice, offered to the Infernall Deities. 1595 R. Barnes Spir. Sinon in Furn. 7 Title Let Him procure a immolation of mankinde. 1851 C. Cornwallis Life of Kelly I. 218 That which is offered and consecrated by the Priest is called a victim, a holy immolation.

2 fig. Devotion to destruction or severe loss for the sake of something else; sacrifice.

1690 Let. to Tillotson in Somers Tracts (1748) II. 243 His not Mammon be made an God, and a Crown in lieu to such the Price of many Kingdoms, and his Subjects Treasure, and all the Love of many thousands of Men, besides a vast Treasure that it is not fit to be named after the other to a Immolation. 1848 D'Israeli Chas. I, II. xiii. 160 Richelieu by many an immolation saved his country. Commissioners are. 1847 Emerson Repr. Men, Swedenborg, Wks. (Bohn I.) 384 This immolation of genius and time at the shrine of a passion.

Immolator (i·mŏlēitŏr). [ad. L. immolator agent-n. f. immolare to IMMOLATE.] One who immolates or offers in sacrifice.

1652 Gaule Magastom. 93 When the haste escaped from the Immolator at disrefull comes for the sacrifice to avoid the Altar. 1660 Burnet Hobb. Spoon (1662) 2 Manasses an immolator to Devills. 1847 in Craig. 1849 Neale Introd. xliii in The holy race supplied the victim and the immolators.

†Immole, v. Obs. rare [ad. L. immolare cf. immolo I sacrifice.] trans. = IMMOLATE 2.

1609 Bible (Douay) Lev. iv. 4 To him that immoleth victimes.

†Immo ment, a. Obs. rare [Arbitrary f. IM-2 + MOMENT sb.] Of no moment, trifling.

1666 Sprat Life 7 Some Lady trifles. In moment toys.

†Immo mentary, a. Obs. rare [f. IM-2 + MOMENTARY.] = IMMAT.

1662 J. Tisdall Phys. Conjects. Wks. (1670) 5 Out of vain Observations concerning Motes, Drinks, Dayes, Times, Fortunes and other Immoments Formalitues.

Immomentous (imŏmē·ntŏs), a. rare. [IM-2 + MOMENTOUS.] Not momentious, of no moment, unimportant.

1726 Y. Ken's Mem. Wks. I. Neither, in his Remarks on momentous. 1805 Anna Seward Lett. (1811) VI. 46 Our newspapers use to insert the Austrian defeat in momentous. 1808 Sporting Mag. 294 The Soul so momentous to Mr. Wilson.

†Immo narchize, v. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. IM-1 + MONARCHIZE.] trans. To confer monarchy upon; to make into a monarch.

1659 Owen Man. Theol. 3 They might be that men do shake down and immonarchize themselves.

†Immo nastered, ppl. a. Obs. nonce-wd. [f. IM-1 + monaster, early form of MONASTERY + -ED.] Shut up in a monastery.

1622 Drayton Poly-Olb. xxiii. 71 Immonasted in Kent.

Immoral (imŏ·răl sb. [f. IM-2 + MORAL (f. F. immoral 18th c. Rare.] The opposite of moral, not moral.

1 Not consistent with, or not conforming to, moral law or requirement, opposed to or violating morality; morally evil or impure; unprincipled; vicious, dissolute. (Of persons things actions etc.

1660 R. Coke Power & Subj. 85 It cannot be objected to be will then every man is subject to do any thing, because he doth will it: then which there is no thing, can be more immoral and destructive to all society. a 1725 Burnet Own Time I. 533 A friend but a very immoral man. 1738 Burke Inquiry II. Concl. The same does here immoral tempest of mind. 1841 Macaulay Crit. Dramatists (1887) 236 Morality is deeply interested in this: that what is immoral shall not be presented to the imagination of the young and sure public in such a manner with which is attractive. 1848 Wharton Law Lex., Immoral contracts, all contracts founded upon considerations contra bonos mores are void. 1860 Pearson in National Int. Oct. 170 The times were gross, and their literature is often impure, but it is not immoral: it does not pervade the soul.

†2 Not having a moral nature or character; non-moral. Obs. rare.

1765 Harmon Obs. II. 158 Whatever is not by a Power, I have it is exercised only with us, and withdraws us from and destroys and the renders them immoral acts.

B sb. nonce-wd., in opposition to moral sb. see quots.

1865 W. I. Bowring Life & Abstract 231 To sketch the morals or immorals of the times he lived in. 1896 Angier in Chem. Ind. Mag. Mar. 292 It is thought foolish now to [put] moral. At the same time what may be called an immoral is held eminently artistic.

Hence Immo ralness, immorality

1727 in Bailey vol. II.

Immoralist (imŏ·rălist) [f. prec. + -IST, after moralist.] An advocate of immorality or opposer of morality 1697 C. Leslie Snake in Grass (ed. 2) 90 Those who would improve this Principle to justifie Immoralists. 1857 Miss Muloch Ik. at Home vii. That arch immoralist, that high priest of intellectual self-worship Goethe. 1880 Acad. 4 Sept. Art. Mar. 48. The appeal so eagerly made by artistic immoralists to science.

Immorality (imŏrăli·ti) [f. as prec. + -ITY, after morality.]

1 Immoral quality, character or conduct; violation of moral law, wickedness, viciousness. (Now often used specifically of sexual impurity.)

1566 J. Alday tr. Bonaventura's Rom. World Nun. From thence the immorality and lingering of process do proceede. 1664 H. More Myst. Iniq. Spol. 551, Simply to speak what is false, but to immorality at all in it. Other wise we are taught that dissimulation or pretending a False Name. 1697 Collier Essays V. About View of the Immorality and Profaneness of the English Stage. 1879 Froude Caesar II. 13 The educated Greeks had no horror of immorality as such. 1894 Shr. Stephen Hours. 39 The distinction society draws between immorality in women and immorality in men is one of degree. Whatever is open is often thought immorality is cleary to them, whilst it is a disgrace to women, to conceal.

2 With an and pl. An instance or species of this, an immoral act or practice, a vice a 1631 Donne in Select (1840) 70 The immoralities that drain out towards men in scandalizing them, by thy sins. 1751-73 Chron. Pref. (R.), The writing of books of secret practice, under borrowed names, and impassing them upon the public, is an immorality. 1859 Taylor Hist. Inv. 276 Deceit and falsehood are not regarded as immoralities in the eyes of Arabs. 1878 Mozley Univ. Sermons 162 Injustice is of all immoralities not the one most easily condoned.

Immoralize, v. rare [f. IMMORAL + -IZE.] trans. To render immoral.

a 1632 Donne in Select (1840) 70 The immoralities that drain out towards men in scandalizing them, by thy sins. 1751-73 Chron. Pref. (R.), The writing of books of secret practice, under borrowed names, and impassing them upon the public, is an immorality. 1859 Taylor Hist. Inv. 276 Deceit and falsehood are not regarded as immoralities in the eyes of Arabs. 1878 Mozley Univ. Sermons 162 Injustice is of all immoralities not the one most easily condoned.

Immorality, adv. [f. as prec. + -LY.] In an immoral manner.

1727 in Bailey vol. II. 1798 Coleridge in Biogr. Literaria I. 47 Not afraid of acting immorally. 1894 Chadwick Theol. to Aug., A perverted mind and a depraved will immorally and immorally swayed bother and children by its environment.

†Immoration. Obs. rare [n. of action from I immorari to stay upon or at, f. im- (IM-1) + morari to tarry.] The action of resting or dwelling upon something.

1656 Sir T. Browne Pseudodoxia 102 Stay and immoration of the Mind upon the Object loved. 1666 Sir Thomas Obs. Christ (1668) 3 It is a work of difficulty to make any continuance of the immoration, upon those subjects.

†Immorigerous, a. Obs. [f. IM-2 + Morigerous (f. Lemon, c. 1600.] Unyielding, obstinate disobedient, rebellious, uncivil.

1623 Cockeram, Immorigerous, rude, uncivil. 1644 D. Calderwood Humble Supplic. 22 Are they unmorigerous and obstinate to the commands of God? 1649 In Nalson Coll. Interest I. 2 Ungodliness, and unmorigerous Spirit. 1658 Osborn Advice to Son (1659) 60 Immorigerous Sniff, and Toffle. 1738 Swinburne Hist. Public Rec. I. 11 Suppl. Such creatures as are immorigerous, we know found out expedients to tame.

†b absol. Not refined or elegant, 'rude'

1647 R. Baron Cyprian. Ded. 11 We were as well content in our immorigerous name, as others in the magnificent structures of our Royal Sovereign.

Hence †Immori gerousness, uncomplying obstinacy 1649 In Favour of Engagement 14 Of degrees of delay or degrees of immorigerousness or unwillingness.

Immortal, a. and sb. [ad. L. immortalis, f. IM-1 + mortalis MORTAL. Cf. F. immortel (13-14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.).] It. immortale.

A adj. 1 Not mortal, not liable or subject to death, deathless; undying, living for ever 1374 Chaucer Troylus v. 1, Nought willyng his trayt[e] be wist. Put him in [prison] immortal. 1535 Coverdale Wisd. of Salom. ii. 23 Immortalyte of that soule is vnto the. 1604 Dekker Whore v. 6 All these were divisions of a good mind. 1646 Jeremy Taylor I. 17 So then vnto a sad King, exclaiming immortall majestie, and way cannot be honour, and peace for ever and ever. 1809 Moore Diary (1853) I. 180 What if his words were true? he is both immortal & useless in his race. 1856 Q. Rev. Hymns Late Amer. Church (ed. 2) 89 Departed out of this frail life into the immortal state. 1742 Young Nt. Th. viii. 1008 Soul immortal made for bliss. 1884 Tennyson Lord Rivers, Hero Fab. 5 Whom soul might be immortal in the sense of living after it, and yet might never have attained the the true spiritual life of fellowship with God.

b transf. Pertaining to immortal beings or immortality, heavenly, divine 1535 Coverdale Isaiah xlv. 45 Those be they, that haue put of the mortall clothinge and put on the immortall. 1606 Shakes. Tr. & C. II. iii. 253 I hope Immortall longings in me. 1865 Workman Intimations in Our Souls have sight of that immortal sea Which brought us hither.

2 In wider sense. Not liable to perish or decay, everlasting, imperishable, unfading, incorruptible

1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw. 143 Of the Lawes in force, some are fundamentall and immortall others are temporall. 1644 Milton Areop. (Arb.) 43 The race, where that immortall garland is to be run for. 1788 Hume Pol. Disc. iii. 103 The world itself probably is not immortal. 1776 Adam Smith Wealth of N. II. iii. (1869) I. 220 The precious metals are not necessarily immortal any more than they [the coarse metals].

b spec. Of fame, or of famous works or their authors. Lasting through an unlimited succession of ages, that will not suffer from the memory of men, remembered or celebrated through all time.

1514 Barclay Cyt. & Uplondyshm (Percy Soc.) 18 [They] have in batayle Won fame immortall and excellent honours. 1632 Milton L'Allegro 137 Soft Lydian airs, Married to immortal verse. 1738 Swift Pol. conversat. Introd. 4 King William the Third of ever glorious and immortal Memory. 1756 C. Lucas Ess. Waters II. 18 As our Immortal Boyle has demonstrated, they are compound bodies. 1840 Arnold Rugby (1849) 50 VIII. iv. 464 Sura. Jesse now became immortal in the rolls of fame. 1873 Hamerton Intell. Life iv. 81 (1875) 81 It was during tedious years of imprisonment that Bunyan wrote his immortal allegory.

c Immortal herb = IMMORTELLE. Obs.

1731 J. Miller Gard. Dict., Xeranthemum, is vulgarly called the Immortal Herb, because the Flower of it may be kept for many Years for it when rigid Petals, which crackle as if they were Plates of Metal.

3 In hyperbolical use. Lasting, perpetual, constant 'undying', 'eternal'.

1538 Starkey in Hen. VIII's Eng. Life Ser. II. 271 With immortal thanks for your inestimable goodnes towards me. 1586 J. Day Eng. Secretary (1625) 75 The immortall hate that all good men beare to such kind of cruelties. 1669 Penn Truth Exalted 3 I have made myself an immortal enemy by it. 1681 Temple Mem. Wks. 1731 I. 368 An immortal Body of such thousand brave English which were by Agreement to be sent into Ireland. 1696 Phillips (ed. 5), Immortal, abusively said of things that last longer than People would have them, such a Woman has an immortal Clack.

†b colloq. Superhuman, inhuman, excessive. Obs.

1540 in Pol. Poet. Eng. Hist. (Camden No. 29) 208 Then he besought us humbly, that we would be his immortal beny's, he might retaine safely into his owne nobylyte. a 1687 Hayward Jour. to Ire. (Camden) 95 A most immortall and mischeeuse lustfull woman.

B, sb. 1 An immortal being, one not subject to death. In pl., esp. as a title for the gods of classical mythology 16 Walter J. 1 The Paphian queen, Like terror did among th' immortals breed, Might by her wound that goddesses may bleed. 1684 Bunyan Pilg. II. 8 She thought she saw her Husband in a place of Bliss among many Immortals. 1774 Bryant Mythol. Inq. I. 87 Had I been wise a wars erred on against the Lives of Babylonia, whom he styles the Immortals. 1791 Cowper Iliad xvi. 542 Under you great city light not to few Sprung from Immortals. 1864 H. Reed Lect. Eng. Lit. iii. (1878) 236 Man is as an mortal, gifted with a soul.

2 fig. a In pl. a title for the royal bodyguard of ancient Persia (see quot 1838); also, for other troops 1603 Holland Livy II. 62 The English expedition was opposed to their immortals to troops covered with trophies and spoils. 1823 Croly Semiramis Dict. Immortals Wks. a term of derision applied to soldiers who never see war. 1838 Thirlwall Greece II. xv. 253 A body of 10,000 Persian infantry, the flower of the whole army, who were called the Immortals, because their number was kept constantly full.

b. A person, esp. an author, of enduring fame of A. 2 b. Usually in pl.

Applied familiarly to the forty members of the French Academy (Les quarante immortels), with a side reference to the fact that their number is also spelled up, hence sometimes to the Royal Academicians in England.

1882 Froude Carlyle I. 421 He might not have been the Carlyle, who has conquered for himself among the Immortals.

3 That which is immortal; immortality

1841 Jones Iconium 4 As if the immortal within us were telling the moral of anxieties and griefs, and dangers, or perchance. 1844 Mrs. Browning Seraph. Heart 1 Love secures some fairer things, Dowered with his immortal.

Hence Immo rtalism, a doctrine of or belief in immortality; Immo rtalist, one who believes in immortality; Immo rtalness = IMMORTALITY

Immo rtalship [f. the sb.], the personality of an immortal (used as a burlesque title)

1796 W. Taylor in Monthly Rev. XXI. 509 Doctrines of freedom of the will, innate ideas, 'immortalism, and such like. a 1867 Th. Wright in Gent. Mag. (1872) II. 714 An inhabitant of Isle[s] were called Immortalists, because they saw this clearly, that virtuous and good men do not die, but that they do go into Heaven. 1827 W. Taylor in Monthly Rev. I. XXXIII. 15 Deists and atheists, immortalists and mortalists. 1616 R. C. Times Whistle (c. 1871) 1. 1 Then shall our corruptible flesh put on immortal disease and incorruption. 1818 G. Gorman Sermons, Theol. 1, p. their 'immortalships all bounced.

Immortality (imŏrtæ·liti) [ME. a. F. immortalité 12-13th c. in Godef. (compl.), ad. L. immortalitas, f. immortalis IMMORTAL.]

1 The quality or condition of being immortal, exemption from death or annihilation, endless life or existence, eternity, perpetuity

Conditional immortality see CONDITIONAL A. 1.

a 1340 Hampole Psalter xxix. 10 Pat may get be state of immortalite. 1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) I. 5 A story is the memory of life renewenge to thoo immortalite thynges like to persoche. 1526 Tindale 1 Cor. xv. 53 This mortall must put on immortalite. 1529 More Dyalogue i. Wks. 156/1 When we sayse we shall dye and tourne all to duste, we nothing entende thereby to denye immortalite of our oule 1685 Baxter Paraphr. N. T. Matt xvii. 2 The adducees denied the immortality of the Soul, and all our fe after this 1719 Watts Div. Songs iii. 35 days of praise hall hear it, past While immortality endures 1885 Ingelow Iland Keltg., Poem I. & 86-7 The word 'Immortality is often used loosely. When we speak of the immortality of the soul, we sometimes simply emphasize he fact that the soul survives the death of the body but, r other times, we mean that the soul is destined to exist

2 The condition of being celebrated through all time, enduring fame or remembrance.

1535 Coverdale Wisd. viii. 13 By the meanes of her I shal obtayne immortalitie, and leaue behinde me in euerlastinge remembraunce 1640 Sanderson Serm. iii. 61 Virtue and cunning were endowments of no other than nobleness and riches immortality attends the former. Making a man good 1800 Sc. Cantilena Tam an Edward 52 In this chance Poland has won her immortality 1866 R. W. Dale Disc. Occ. viii. 252 Shall sparate immortality is gone

Immortalizable (ɪmpɔ·rtălaɪzăb'l), a. [f. Immortalize + -able.] Capable of being immortalized, or of becoming immortal 1892 in Dialect Notes Oct. 5. 5 That man is not so much intrinsically immortal as immortalizable.

†Immortalizate, v. Obs. rare. [f. Immortal + -ize + -ate.] trans. = Immortalize 1566 Painter Pal. Pleas. I. 114 Which he placed ouer the gate of his castell to immortalizate the great chastitie of his wife

Immortalization (ɪmpɔ·rtălaɪzē·ʃən). [f. next + -ation. Cf. F. immortalisation (16th c. in Littré).] The action of immortalizing, or fact of being immortalized 1603 Florio Montaigne (1632) 650 His [Alexander's] exploits about his immortalization 1830 Blackw. Mag. XVIII. 846 'That another immortalization, (the expression of a man of genius)' Sharp Lett. & Lit. Sk. 251 It is surprising that none of our newly made millionaires could have sought the immortalization which the endowment of a gret observatory gives

Immortalise (ɪmpɔ·rtălaɪz), v. [f. Immortal + -ize. Cf. F. immortaliser (16th c. in Littré).]

1 trans. To endow with endless life, to exempt from death

1633 Parr Manch. Il Mondo (1636) 28 His body should be purified, perfected, and immortalized 1675 J. White Life in Christ iii. xx. (1878) 284 He will supplete the process by immortalising your mortal bodies also at the resurrection

b To make (a thing) everlasting, confer endless existence upon, to perpetuate 1596 J. Aston tr. Boaistuau's Theat. World 5/2, Pruning is the treasurer that immortalisth the monuments of spirites 1598 Davies Immort. Soul xxxiii. Mortal things desire their like to breed, That so they may their mortal immortalize 1688 Nat. Hist. Nevis (1707) 3 So What e most of the Histories of the World, but Lives immortalized 1715 tr. Le Clerc's Hist. Europe 1. 1. 4 The saving desire of her not to immortalize her fame 1841 Myers Cath. Th. II. ii. 147 Prayers generated by inner beats, as it were, merely temporary forms of expression c To cause to be remembered or celebrated through all time, to confer enduring fame upon (the prevailing sense.) Also absol.

1589 Greene Menaphon (Arb.) 60 Holde take thy fauors and immortalize whom thou wilt with thy verse 1591 Sidney Astr. & Stella xi. 13 Dride them from Orleance, to be immortaliz'd 1665 Mrs. Hutchinson Mem. Col. Hutchinson (1848) 1. 1 The same virtues, that so much enobled his name in those of Cicero Plutarch felt 1790 Cowper To Rose Pad. 8 Blest be the Art that can immortalize, In Cranford's Rose and Lady Throckmorton who have ortalized Edinburgh, —Walter Scott 1856 Emerson Fr. (1875) 1. 238 Those exquisite shapes which ancient Art immortized in marble

2 intr. To become immortal, to attain immortality or enduring fame rare

1737 Pope Hor. Ep. II. i. 54 Say in what age a Poet was divine? Find all those, and be the year precise Then British bards begin to immortalize!

Hence Immortalised ppl. a., Immortalising vb. & ppl. a.

1611 Cotgr., Immortalisé, immortalized, or immort dization, an immortalizing 1669 Gale Court Gentiles III. iv. 59 These immortalising drinks, Nectar and Ambrosia 1694 Bridge Dis. Paraphrase 4 The word of God will spring up to the nourishing, and the immortalizing of men's souls Athan. Creed xxviii. 30 [Christ] the great Exemplar of immortalized human nature

Immortaliser (ɪmpɔ·rtălaɪzəɹ). [f. prec. + -er.] One who or that which immortalizes 1710 Toland Acct. Socinianism's Scheme 9 That they right have an Immortaliser in each Province 1831 Sharpe Mag. XXIV. 525 The insidious immortaliser of all beauty 1888 tr. Hedwig Hand Bk. Needlew. 114 a comfort one's self with the hope of a life after death as the Greeks did when Herodotus calls or admonishes the immortalizers.

Immortally (ɪmpɔ·rtălɪ), adv. [f. Immortal + -ly.] In the way of immortal life or existence, timelessly, eternally, for ever 1599 Sheiton Deliu Northumbld 147 His right noble fame Immortally whiche is immaculate 1597 Shaks. Hen. IV, I. iii. 144 He that weares the Crowne immortally, Long guard it yours 1798 Law Tett. impost Sully 134 The first divine nature of Adam, which was to have been immortally holy in union with God is lost 1855 Brownsone Any Wife to Any Husband 18, Therefore she is immortally my bride, Chance cannot change my love, nor time impair

b Perpetually, without withering

1858 Hawthorne Jo's 3d Tenth (1857) I. 4 Green holds immortally green, whatever winter can do against them in

2 colloq. To a degree beyond that of mortals, infinitely [Cf. Cicero's laudeo immortaliter.]

c 1500 Sir Deb. Lyte, Thy Host (London No. 20) 155 But Anna, I am enjoying immortally for the victory [etc.] 1621 Burton Anat. Mel. I. II. iii. (1676) 102 As Ashborn Parish saith of Devonshire the best in the world of Ale Sorts (saith) immortaliter optimus, he was immortally glad 1883 Harper's Mag. June 134/2 How immortally beautiful that girl was.

Immortasse, -ese, -ise, obs. ff. Mortize.

1468 J. Paston in P. Lett. No. 491 II. 113 Certeyn lyve lode to be immortesid therto 1487 Ibid. No. 893 III. 341 That ought [out] of the seid manors schuld be perpetually immortysed vnder yeen lande 1657 Howell Londinop. 67 For the immortising and preparation of the Priory

‖ Immortelle (ɪmpɔ·tɛl, ɪ·mɔ·tɛl). [f. (short for) fleur immortelle, f. fem. of immortel Immortal.] A name for various composite flowers of papery texture (esp. Helichrysum orientale, and other species of Helichrysum, Xeranthemum, etc.) which retain their colour after being dried

Everlasting B 4

1830 Blackwood's Gamekeeper (1856) 45 The white love everlasting, the same that the chaplets are made of by the French and Swiss girls to adorn the tombs of their friends and which they call immortelle the Americans call it life everlasting 1838 Miss Pardoe Rom. & Heart II. 17 A tall black cross crowned with immortelles 1867 Lady Hardy Under Canvas 159 Cliffs covered with the beautiful bright yellow coloured immortelle

†Immo rtgage, v. Obs. rare. [f. Im- + Mortgage.] trans. = Mortmain 2, 3

1575 Gabriel Harb. in Bk. of Pref. Hous. Wks. Comm. App. 146 If the Queen Liege should not immortgadge or put to pledge any of their landes

Immortification (ɪmpɔ·tɪfɪkē·ʃən) [ad. ecclesiastical L. immortificatio = immortificatus in Kempis De Imitatione, I. iii. (Im- 4) + mortificatio Mortification. Cf. F. immortification (Hatz.-Darm.).] Want of mortification, a condition of the soul in which the passions are not mortified 1626 J. H[awkins] Concern. Holy Cov. 133 Sometime it [selfness] proceedeth from a great immortification of passion 1649 Jer. Taylor Gt. Exemp. III. 84 Let him in this action of spunt is the cause of all our spiritual mists ignorances and immortification but the want of sun and death, a state of immortification 1854 Jones Growth in Holiness xiii. (1872) 133 In a spiritual man impatience would be no sign of immortification

So Immo rtified a. [repr. med.L immortificatus] not mortified 1854 Faber Growth in Holiness viii. (1872) 115, One of the common delusions of immortified enemies.

†Immo tabile, a. Obs. rare. [ad. late L. immotabilis, f. im- (Im-2) + motabilis (Vulgate) moving, movable, f. motare, freq. of movere, mot- to move.] = Immovable

1577 tr. Bullinger's Decades (1592) 844 Opinions firme and immotable

†Immo te, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. immot-us, f. im- (Im-2) + motus moved, pa. pple. of movere to Move.] Unmoved Ist and 2nd

1601 Weever Mirr. Mart. (Arb.) A needle placed in equilibrio, Betwixt 2 load-stones and so immotate, I by either draw stands immote. 1685 Cotton tr. Montaigne II. 188 With an immote and unyielding constancy †Immo te, v. Obs. rare. [f. immot ppl. stem of late L. immovere to move into or upon place upon, f. im- (Im-1) + movere to move] trans. To convey or put upon something c 1440 Promp. Parv. 259 Ydelnesse wil chaunge & immote vpon the, & make the to be wery & wrecchous or ny of hit 3 mocis (immovis).

Immotile (ɪmō·tɪl, -əɪl) a. [f. Im- + Motile (f. Immove ppl. a.)] Not motile, incapable of movement 1872 H. C. Wood in Smithsonian Cont. to Knowl. (1874) XIX. 23 Propagation by means of three minute organs generally placed upon distinct plants. 1875 Bennett & Dyer Sachs' Bot. 789 The lateral bodies of Peronosporeæ are immotile when the temperature of the air is below —°.

†Immortion Obs. nonce-wd. [f. Im- + Motion.] Impulse (App. fantastically used.)

1706 Annesley Distaste to Wks. (Rtld.) 142 By certain immotions, which—um—use as one may suppose, a sort of convulsive, yes—hysteric, motion, am I to

Immotioned (ɪmō·ʃənd, ɪmm-), a. rare [f. Im-2 + Motion sb. + -ed.] Without motion, motionless 1821 Mogg in Blackw. Mag. X. 641 Still and immotioned are the lonely woods 1834 — Bride Lochleven xxxii. 37 She lay Immotioned as a statue overthrown

Immotive (ɪmō·tɪv, ɪmm-), a. [f. Im-2 + Motive a.] Unmoving, or incapable of movement

1827 Sir Bethun Reasbrea I. 120 Lad in the stillness of an immotive calme 1860 Lucyl Brit. XXI. 073 Almost immovable and immotive †Immould, v. Obs. [f. Im-1 + Mould sb.] Immolid] trans. To enclose as in a mould 1610 J. Fletcher Christ's Int. iii. 80 So fabled Homer old, That Circe, with her potion charmed in gold, Vsed manly soules in beastly bodies to immould †Immound, v. Obs. [f. Im-1 + Mound sb.] trans. To surround or enclose with a mound or mounds

1591 Spenser Ruines of Time 18 These straight and narrow streets and Towres And Inland Seas, which many a Mount immounded 1610 W. Folkingham Art of Survey II. 49 Collateraige Acres, as buying hedging or shewing immounding impaling manuring

Immovability (ɪmūvăbɪlɪtɪ). Also 4 in moeuc(e)ablete. [f. next + -ity.] The quality or condition of being immovable; immovableness 1374 Chaucer Boeth. v. pr. vi. 134 (Camb. MS.) Soo it is me may put comparisoun for the nimoeuablete but is ther yeet ony in the eternite of it 1748 in Hargrave's Law Tracts II. iii. 480 Our speculations to prove the Immovability of the Sun 1854 Lamb. Mag. I. xxxv. 56 A tribunal whose members enjoy immortality from office 1868 Lowndes Guillemots Heir (ed. 2) 349 Modern economical observations have established the idea of the immovability of the stars

Immovable (ɪmū·văb'l), a. (and sb.) Also 4 inmoeuable, 5 inmeuable, 5–6 immoveable, 6- immovable. [f. Im- + Movable (f. Obs. † immove v.) + -able.]

1 That cannot be moved physically, fixed, fast, incapable of movement. Often less strictly Motionless, stationary, fixed 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) I. 227 No reason defendeth that some thing ne be tauȝt immoeuable among that in eterne is immouable 1440 Promp. Parv. 262 Inmeuable, immobilis 1555 Eden Decades 30 Armes of man passe not the immoueable ice 1596 Spenser Q. Fay. II. ix. 55 The cable to the mainsh. and Anchor In which it doth immoue abide 1662 J. Davies tr. Mandelslo's Trav. 114 They lie down all along upon the ground immoueable as Statues 1774 C. Dodd Pract. Pleader 57 By these means the point of suspension of the pendulum is rendered much more immovable 1832 R. Knox Cooper's Tour 108 The relations are naturally divided into the moveable and the immoveable 1832 Browning Sordello iii. (1863) I. 155 In his eye the sun stood immovable in the centre of the universe

2 fig. Not subject to change, unalterable fixed Immovable feast see Feast sb. 1

c 1374 Chaucer Boeth. v. pr. vi. 173 (B. M. Addit. MS.) Pis like inmoue mouyng, of inmoeuable thynges by ȝe sentence estat of pe pat inmoueuable 1533 Tr. Bernes Gold Bk. M. Aurel. (1546) P iij/1 The realm of Egypte holde a long time immouable 1863 J. Spencer Fenton (1866) 12 Kingdoms increasing to a greatness in the eye of sense immovable and at last concluding in soil and dust 1706 Phillips (ed. 5) s.v. Feasts, The Immovable Feasts are those which constantly fall on the same Day of the Month 1871 R. Ellis Catullus lxiv. 289 Words which his steadfast soul had kept immovable. For

b Incapable of being diverted from one's purpose, steadfast, unyielding

1534 Fish Dyetr Pore (1876) 11 Be constant to prince in matter of justice 1548 Hall Chron. 211 b, Immoueable and his immoueable countenance gaue an answer which was not fauourable 1837 Dickens Pickw. ii, His features were immovable

3 Law. Not liable to be removed, permanent applied to lands, houses, etc., as opposed to moveable goods

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 262 Inmouable goodis 1590 Swinburne Testaments (1611) 15 Of immoueable things as of houses or of demeanes or of glebe and such like kinde. Steele 38 person can not dispose by their testaments 1851 Holmes Jacob II. iv. 121 Immoveable estate. Moveable and Immoveable 1706 Miller Bargain 84 When in Pursuit he goes to seize Goods, and finds immoveable, before he has seiz'd on the moveable Goods 1877 Markby Elem. Law § 217 Thus land is both physically and legally immoveable

B sb. Law. A piece or article of property that is immovable (see A. 3), almost always in pl. Immovable property, as land and things adherent thereto as trees, buildings, servitudes 1588 Martin Breef Instit. B3, This Inuentorie of all my goods, moueables, and immoueables 1677 Gale Reports 194 Contracts relating to the buying of Houses Lands or Ships (Ships being accounted immovables in Venice in reason of its situation) 1832 Bentham Disc. Introd. Civil Law Wks. 1843 I. 313 If he has property, it consists either in immoveables or in moveables 1884 Law Times Rep. LI. 141 The property is as regards immovables governed by the law of England

Immovableness (ɪmū·văb'lnĕs). [f. prec. + -ness.] The quality or condition of being immovable lit. and fig.

1535 Moseuo Sc. Hesham Lat., Immobilitas, immouableuesse 1787 Bradley Family Dict. s.v. Earth Then system of the Immoveableness of the Earth 1798 Richard son Clarissa (1811) II. xlv. 153 The immoveableness I have shown 1851 Hawthorne Snow-Image, Mam Street (1879) 74 With sullen but self-complacent immovableness.

Immovably (ɪmū·văblɪ), adv. [f. as prec. + -ly.] In an immovable manner (lit. and fig.), fixedly, steadfastly, unalterably.

1435 Misyn Fire of Love 46 Hym self in only deuote of hys maker immouebly. 1608 Le Grys tr. Bandars Discours 81 He immouably persisted on his former shew of mildnesse. 1761 Hist. Jemmy Twitcher III 21 She leaned upon her elbow immovably. 1843 J. G. Wilkinson Natural Man's Relation to Supernatural God I. II. 60 The upper jaw is immovably fixed to the bones of the cranium †Immoved (imū·vd, pple imū·vd, immū·ppl. a. Obs. [f Im-2 + moved, pa. pple of Move v.] Unmoved, motionless, unaltered

1600 Heywood 1st Pt. Edw. IV, A. Wks. 1874 I. 70 An immoued, constant Rebel. 1632 Lithgow Trav. VIII. 348 I abid immoued. 1659 We are fixt and stand immoued. 1659 Sherley Constant Ayre & Quiet I. Did he stand immoued As I, when I received upon my cuspis A mighty javelin?

†Immu·d, v. Obs. Also enmud. emmudde [f Im-1 + Mud.] trans. To enclose or bury in mud

1611 Florio Inuolare to enmud or enmire. 1654 Dugdale Imbanking 11 It is natural for such cold creatures to emmudde, & ingender themselues

Immund (imu·nd) a. and sb. [ad. L. immund-us for immundus, f. im- Im-2 + mundus clean, pure. Cf. F. immonde.] Unclean, impure, filthy, foul 1621 Burton Anat. Mel. I. II. III. 1. 1. Through their own nastiness and slothfulness, and immund sordid manner of life. 1862 Mrs. Norton Lady Lee I. Prol. 48 Where lurks immund foul loiterdom. 1875 H. S. Cunningham Chron. Dunfermline 1577 268 Great were the cleansings the white washings in many an immund old town and ill-odoured village.

†Immundi·city Obs. [ad. obs. F. immondicité 14th c. in Godef., irreg. f. immondic im-purity, ad. L. immunditia Immundity. The form was peth influenced by impudicity Impudicity.] Uncleanness, impurity, filthiness; b. concr. and pl. Impurities 1530 Palsgr. Lesclarcissem. To fyll with, or to be defyled in, the fylsyttie. Thy Pryde, Auarice and Immundicitie. 1541 R. Copland Guydon's Quest. Chirurg. Qvij He hath no receptacle where to holde the vyyl immundycytees. 1660 tr. Amyraldus Treat. conc. Rom. I. iii. 4 Exempt from the contagion of their immundicity.

†Immu·ndified, ppl. a. Obs. rare. [f Im-2 + Mundified.] Not mundified, unchastised 1597 A. M. tr. Gratianus de Clarea 386 I then followeth the mundifying, and that is, compresse the vnside in the steade of the immundified.

Immundity (imo·ndĭti rare. [f. I immundi-tia, but this gave F. immondicité.] Uncleanness, filthiness; impurity 1892 L. H. Pember Early Fathers Pref. 11 The assumption so happily of the various extraneous ones and immundities of the common mouth

Immune (imiū·n, -yū·n) [ad. L. immūn-is exempt from a public service, burden, or charge free, exempt, f. im- Im-2 + mūnis ready to be of service, mūnus service, duty, cf. obs. F. immune 'exempt, free, priuiledged discharged from' Cotgr. 1611

Found in the sense of some from 15th to 19th c. Rendered about 1586 (speech from Parliament) in connexion with the investigation of the nature of infectious diseases and their prevention by inoculation and the like]

1 Free from some liability, exempt Obs. in general sense since 17th c.

1440 Pallad. on Husb. I. 37 O Sone of God of vyne-drope or fraude immune. 1653 L. Christhall Cath. Hist. 264 These Privileges were free and immune with out appealing to the See of Rome. 1658 J. Rowlands Medela iv. 48 The Cochlearia will not dissle the French Ale, which is immune from it.

2 spec. Having immunity from hurtful bodily influences, as the influence of poison, the contagion of infectious diseases, and the like, esp. when rendered so by inoculation, etc. Cf Immune 1881 Local Govt. Board, Rep. Medical Officer 20 Pasteur further states that the animals inoculated with the weaker virus remain immune against further attacks of anthrax. 1888 J. P. Cobb in South Ac. Feb. 256 But this is the new medical barbarism we term 'immune,' although there exists contagion. 1888 J. R. Leaksingham Healthy Part Chimney Sweeps, Cancer 24 An animal which had survived an attack of the virulent Bacillus anthracis was thereby rendered 'immune' to subsequent attacks just as one attack of small-pox renders its survivor 'immune' in regard to that disease. 1891 Woodman in Science 472 He was able by inoculation to render an animal immune to the action of the most virulent anthrax bacilles. 1894 Sat. Rev. 17 Nov. 549 The new serum has the power of rendering those who survive the patient immune from the poison. 1898 Times 25 Aug. 6/1 They had not been able to render animals immune from the attacks of the parasites.

b. as sb. An immune person or animal 1898 Westm. Gaz. 29 Apr. 7/1 Regiments (mainly composed of negroes from the Southern States and other yellow fever immunes).

Immunist (imiū·nist) [ad. F. immuniste, f. immunité Immunity.] One who enjoys an immunity (see Immunity 1.)

1897 Maitland Domesday & beyond v. 177 It is conceded that the 'immunist' (it is convenient to borrow a term that French writers have coined) is entitled to many of the fines and forfeitures that arise from offences committed within his territory. Ibid. 288 The landlord is an immunist, or is the king who occupies the position of an immunist.

Immunity (imiū·niti. Also 4 ymunite 6 emenyte 7 emunity), immunity [ad. L. immūnitas freedom from public services or charges, in Med. L. privileged place, sanctuary, f. immūnis Immune: see -ity, and cf. F. immunité (1341 in Godef. compl.)]

1 Law. Exemption from a service, obligation, or duty, freedom from liability to taxation, jurisdiction, etc., privilege granted to an individual or a corporation conferring exemption from certain taxes, burdens, or duties. Also less strictly or in non-technical use Non-liability, privilege (Cf 2 Franchise.)

1382 Wyclif 1 Macc. x. 34 Dais of ymunite le loue or franchise [and of remission, to the Jewis that be now in ye tour 1550 Coverdale Holy Bible 1 Macc. x. 31 And there is sum place in London, as they saye, immunity sanctuarie. What should I call it a priueiledged place for wicked men. 1578-80 Norton & Sackville Gorboduc The Senate in fauour of his Profession gaue immunity to all others that from that time forth did practise Physick. 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 327 I must name the place with name of Cuire, with building and immunite. 1623 Cockram in His Ortog. Latt. sect. III. 1254 His Majesty forsees an infinite liberty a perpetuall immunity granted to the Romish Catholiques. 1641 Milton Ch. Gov't I. 11 Civil mutiny and destruction of that church, under an immunity and exemption of that church right and an immunity which the Parliament hath purchased for us with his blood. 1827 Hallam Const. Hist. (1876) I. v. 243 The English subject continued to prade himself in his immunity from taxation without consent of parliament. 1897 Maitland Domesday & Beyond v. 201 In an ordinary case the claim of immunity will first contain some general words declaring the lord to be free of burdens in general and then some exceptive words declaring that it is not to be free from certain specified burdens.

2 In Roman Catholic use: A particular exemption or privilege

1538 Starkey England I. i. 31 Certain prysoners and pore seruyt is he schold not be constreynyd to go forth to warr, with such other like immunytes and myn[y]leays. 1571 Jewel Def. Apol. (1611) 88 All manner of liberties & immunities [manners MS.] graunted to the said Chancellor & Masters and Scholers of the said Vniuersitie. 1600 Cheke Disc. Papists (1614) 117 Merchandising the purchasing of an Immunity or Monopoly to the preiudice of other. 1629 Parkinson Theatr. Bot. 1281 The Pope hath priuiledges and immunities were the consequences of their victories. 1848 Smith W. Peterham, He is the Priest of Peterham, and possesses the temporalities and immunities of the parish priest of. 1872 Yeats Growth Commerce 118

2 spec. Eccl. Exemption of ecclesiastical persons and things from secular or civil liabilities, burdens, or duties; as the exemption of the clergy from lay jurisdiction or of church property from secular taxation, and the freedom of sanctuary from myssion. Chiefly with an and pl.

1513 More in Grafton Chron. (1568) II. 768 God forbad that any man should breake the immunite and liberties of the Churche. 1594 Blt. Sav. & Incar. (1632) 280 That the freedomes and liberties of holinesse, with all priueleges & exemptions thereof, be obserued. 1655 Fuller Ch. Hist. (1868) v. 390 Many of the clergy be indued with special priuiledges and immunities. 1609 Skene Reg. Maj. Stat. Robt. II 19 How oft any maisterlyke takes him self to the immunitie of the kirk. 1620 Br. Carleton Synod 171 These immunities which Emperours and Princes haue giuen to the Church, the Church ought to vnite without distraction, to withdraw from the seruice of God, and to withdraw and impoll. 1711 Lond. Gaz. No. 4811/1 The Congress, out of Immunities have hud under them for sodden from the Affairs of Rules, where the Clergy had caused several Criminals of State to be taken forcibly out of the Churches, whither they had fled for Sanctuary. 1883 Hallam Const. Hist. IV. iii. 14 The question of the immunities of the clergy had been publicly raised

†3 Freedom from ordinary restraints, undue freedom, licence. Obs.

1589 See 1583 Stubbes Anat. Abus. 1 (1877) 23 A pleasant, hand, immured douzie with the Sea. 1588 Shak. L. L. L. iii. 188 Foule first learned in a leden cage, Lines not done enuired in the braine. 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 235 The lodge is not to be vnderstood of place, immured between two Hills. 1725 Pope Odyss. xxiii. 44 Immur'd we sat, and catch'd each passing sound. 1820 Scott Ivan. xl. Tales Ant. I. 208 In such haste for venting, wickedly to put it out to his Immunities and free Affairs.

4 Freedom or exemption from any natural or usual liability or from anything evil or injurious.

1598 F. Godwin Bps. Eng. (1601) 561 Hee obtained immunitie from all civil. 1617 Hieron Contempt. iii. 48. This notorious hope for an Immunity from trouble, so long, as I have no immunity from sinne. 1650 Fuller Pisgah II. iii. 180 Three thousand Grains of Water, inclose Immunity from common Salt we tryed it spirit. 1756 Burke Subl. & B. I. xv. Were it not for the fatal necessity of diseases, our immunity from them which produces our delight. 1854 C. Bronte in Mrs. Gaskell Life xxi. 432 It is long since I have known such comparative immunity from bad weather. 1894 J. Foster in Mountain Introd. 12 Ireland has enjoyed an immunity from snakes

5 The condition of being immune from or insusceptible to poison, the contagion of a specific disease, or the like, immunization. See Immune a. 2 [So mod F. immunité (Littré).]

1879 St George's Hosp. Rep. IX. 715 In one of the five instances the apparent immunity must have lasted for at least two years, that being the interval between the two diphtheritic visitations. 1887 Ost. Med. Mem. to R. du Bois Reymond 108 The immunity of vipers from their own poison proved by Fontana. 1896 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 564 The animal terms are passive while the immunity-conferring substances are applied to its tissues

6 proposed use (See quot.)

1879 W. L. Hearn Organ Househ. v. 232 Outside this association there was the Household, considered as a corporate body, without any relation to other Households IMMURED.

The independent position of the Household may be called Immunity, as opposed to Community

Immunization (imiūnaizē·ʃən) [f. next + -ation.] The action of immunizing or fact of being immunized 1893 Virchow in Westm. Gaz. 17 Mar. 7/1 It is also a kind of immunisation which has also great drawbacks, for this hardening as most unjust attacks leads very easily to a similar indifference, towards just attacks, and in fatality leads also to indifference to praise and recognition. 1894 Lancet 3 Nov. 1044 Artificial immunisation, even against diseases liable to recur, is not always certain. 1898 Allbutt's Syst. Med. I. 561 The process of immunisation is 'accumulative' Immunise (i·mmŭnaiz, v. [f. Immune + -ize.] trans. To render immune from or insusceptible to poison, or infection 1892 in Brit. Med. Jrnl. 20 Feb. 379-80 (transl. fr. German) Numerous cases ended in protecting animals by inoculating them with the virus rendered attenuated. 1894 Westm. Gaz. 31 Aug., 1 Experience in the new methods of immunising. 1894 Lancet 3 Nov. 1065 The immunising power of the serum. 1894 Sat. Rev. 17 Nov. 549 In 1891 Professor Hankin pointed out that the injection of the serum of animals immunised by repeated inoculations, had a preventive or curative effect by destroying or neutralising in the blood the products of disease producing microbes. 1895 Lond. Nat. Monthly Feb. 61 Prof. Carl Fraenkel first immunised guinea-pigs against diphtheria.

†Immu·ral, v. Obs. [f Im-1 + Mural (I) mūrus wall.] trans. To wall in 1662 J. Bargrave Pope Alex. VII (1867) 121 The cops were at their length immuralled in theas or, as it were, in hollow shelles dug in to the wall

† Immu·rate, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. immūrat-us, pa. pple of immūrāre to Immure.] Immured 1593 R. Barnes Eucharistical Medit. sig. B Arh Garner 364 O chaste desires, which held her heart immurate in walls of adamant unfoiled!

Immure (imiū·r), v. Also 6 emure [ad. med. L. immūrāre, f. im- (Im-1 + mūrus wall) (cf. late L. mūrāre to wall). Cf. F. emmurer, which may be the immediate source.]

†1 trans. To wall in, to surround with a wall or walls, to fortify. See also I. murare. Obs.

1598 Sylvester Du Bartas II. iv. Handie crafts 37 With stones and clay he mortis he immureth his port. 1615 tr. Sandys Trav. 134 These Islands are likewise immured but a part of the Cittie. 1668 Lovell tr. Imhof's Gen. 76 Mayr immured by a Square Wall. 1746 Lond. Evening Post 13-15 Nov. It is certain the Town is immured. Ibid. before that Date.

absol. 1636 C. Sandys Paraphr. Ps. Poems, Fol. 111 Who to haue, to hatter doubly, thinks immures.

2 To shut up or enclose within walls, to imprison, to confine as in a prison or fortress 1588 Shak. L. L. L. iii. 116 Those vnlet eamed starres, Haue in their sphere most bright and blazing Peepe out into mortal Stones, how tender Babes Whom Fate hath immur'd within your Walls. 1643 Howell Lett. I. vi. 11 I'm not so tedious to me, as to others to be thus immur'd in the Fleet. 1792 Miss Rachel Evans Journal 110 Long I had been immured in the walls of a cloister. 1847 Disraeli Tancred II. Resolved to break his sons spirit by keeping him immured in the country. 1879 Tyson Mumbo Jumbo II. 17 As rebels they were immured in jail.

†b To shut off, exclude secludc from Obs.

1618 R. C. Iesus Hearbe v. 228 Both carnall sense & appetite immures from God & goodnesse. 1652-62 Heylin Cosmogr. III. (1682) 139 They live immured from the sight of the World

3 transf. and fig. To enclose, encompass, encircle surround, to shut in confine. Now rare 1583 Stubbes Anat. Abus I. (1877) 23 A pleasant, hand, immured douzie with the Sea. 1588 Shak. L. L. L. iii. 188 Foule first learned in a leden cage, Lines not done enuired in the braine. 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. 235 The lodge is not to be vnderstood of place, immured between two Hills. 1725 Pope Odyss. xxiii. 44 Immur'd we sat, and catch'd each passing sound. 1820 Scott Ivan. xl. Tales Ant. I. 208 In such haste for venting, wickedly to put it out to his Immunities and free Affairs.

4 To shut oneself up

1586 Warner Alb. Eng. II. (1612) 50 They and their King, immure themselves at length. 1627 May Lucan II. (1631) 19 Himselfe immures In Pyrenean rocks. 1820 Johnson Kambler No. 180 P. 9 Men lead in shades and silence taught to immure themselves at once. 1846 Disraeli Let. Young Gent. I. To immure himself for three years in a German University.

4 To build into a wall, to build up or entomb in a wall. Also trans.

1575 J. Wilson Speculum Dunelm. 9 Hairs Straws, Grains of Sand fett Jars frequently found immured in Hailstones. 1808 [see Immured 1]. 1851 [see Immuring]. 1863 Sir C. Scott Chant Heather Hills (ed. 2) 64 The end of the tomb has been immured in the lower part of the chapel of King Henry V. Hence Immuring vbl. sb.

1610 W. Folkingham Art of Survey II. 49 Immounding, impaling, immuring, skirting, Girding. 1851 J. Hogg Mem. Cath. in Eng. 115 The torturings, the starvings, the immurings, the murderings proper to a monastic establishment †Immure, sb. Obs. rare In 7 emure [f. Immure v.] Something that immures, a wall

1606 Shakes. Tr. & Cr. Prol. 8 Their vow is made To ransacke Troy, within whose strong emures The rauish'd Helen sleepes

Immured (imiū·rd), ppl. a. [f. Immure v. + -ed.] Enclosed in walls or as in walls, imprisoned, confined, built up in a wall

1596 Edward III, II. i. 17 The prisoner of immured dark constraint 1651 Life Faith's Triumph (1656) 6 Among those immured Hermites of Saint Hermigaire 1740 GRAY Let in Poems (1775) 81 The doors we saw opened to him, and all the other immured Cardinals came thither to receive him 1808 SCOTT Marmion II XXV note, A female skeleton, which, from the shape of the niche, and the position of the figure, seemed to be that of an immured nun

Immurement (ɪmiu·mĕnt [f IMMURE v. + -MENT] The action of immuring or condition of being immured, imprisonment, confinement

1736 BAILEY (folio) Perf., Immurement, an inclosing between two Walls, a Punishment used in Popish Countries 1753 SMOLLETT Ct Fathom (1784) 178/1 By the interposition of his wife, whose aim was not the death but immurement of his daughter 1825 Fraser's Mag XI 275 Her melancholy immurement and tragic end

Immusical (ɪmiū·zikăl, imm-), a Now rare [f IM- 3 + MUSICAL.] Not musical or harmonious, unmusical

1626 BACON Sylva § 101 All Sounds are either Musicall: sounds which Sounds are (as I said) Articulate, Or Inmusicall. Sounds, which are (as I may call them) Vocall, Such as are the Voice in Speaking, all Whisperings, all Per sonions 1679 A final Conclus 13 We might industrious ly refrain from singing, especially if the voice be immusical 1706 A BEDFORD Temple Mus II 34 What our Writers fancy of their Notes, is known to the utterly Immusical 1890 Standard 26 May 3/3 They were in an immusical humour

Hence Immu·sically adv, unmusically

1694 N. N. Loyal & Impart. Natural Doct Anh. In genuine Whimseys, which sound but immusically to a judicious Ear

Immutability (ɪmiūtăbĭlĭtĭ [f IMMUTABLE + -ITY, after F immutabilité, L immūtabilitās.] The quality of being immutable, unchangeable ness, invariableness unalterableness

1504 HOOKER Lect Pol III xi § 3 Did any part of that Gods will require the immutability of laws concerning birth polity? 1611 Bible Heb vi 17 The immutability of his counsell 1718 Freethinker No 64 P 8 No Statute ever insisted, so rigorously, upon this Immutability of Laws, as the Lacedæmonians 1863 DARWIN Life & Lett (1887) III 8 He has really entirely lost faith in the immutability of species

Immutable (ɪmiū·tăbl), a Also 5 im- [ad L. immutabil-is, f. IM- (IM 2) + mūtabilis MUTABLE] (Also in 15–16th c. F.)

1 Not mutable, not subject to or susceptible of change, unchangeable, unalterable, changeless

1412 20 LYDG Chron Troy II xvii, He was Persecutour and of will immutable 14.. Promptorium in Camden's Lat (1843) 97 Stedfast kyng who regne is immutabil 1526 TINDALE Heb vi 18 By two immutable thynges in which it was impossible that god shulde lye 1651 HOBBES Leviath I xv 79 The Lawes of Nature are Immutable, and Eternall 1710 PARNELL Hesiod, Jupiter 170 Thus grant shall run on him, and immutable 1821 J. WILSON in C. Barnard Mem Ann III (1871) 118 To find some immutable standard of human measure 1879 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) IV 42 We speak of eternal and immutable justice, but not of eternal and immutable pleasure

b Techn Not subject to variation in different cases, invariable 1660 Compl Gard 1 Immutable Laws are the same in all the individuals of a species

1621 HAYDN Microcosmus 2 The greater circles are either Immutable, as the Equator [in] Mutable as the Meridian, Horizon 1796 PRESTON, Immutable, in Arithmetic are the same to all the Inhabitants of the Earth 1796 H. HUNTER St Pierre's Stud Nat (1799) II 73 A stature best suits on every being that which is adapted to it according to the Latitude for which it is destined Some of these adaptations are immutable and others variable

2 [IV 1] Mobile of IMMUTABLE Obs

1581 MARBECK Bk of Notes 869 If salt upon were by us to be gotten then we are so immutable that we should every minute of an houre, cast up ay ourselves

Hence Immu·tableness, the quality of being immutable, immutability

1610 DONNE Pseudo Martyr vi 345 In power of binding, and all visibles except immutableness equall to Dunne 1687 H MORE Conject Cabbal Pref (1713) Apx viii 184 The steddiness and immutableness of the Matter

Immutably (ɪmiū·tăblĭ), adv [f prec + -LY 2] In an immutable manner, without possibility of or liability to change, unchangeably

1601 DENT Pathw Heaven 282 It is to be immutably good, is proper onely to God a 1721 KEN Hymnar Poet Wks 1721 II 53 God ever is immutably the same 1855 MOTLEY Dutch Repb II v (1866) 224 Immutably determined to permit no change of religion within his dominions

Immutate (ɪmiū·mĭtĕt), a rare [ad L. immūtāt-us, f. IM- (IM 2) + mūtātus, pa pple of mūtāre to change] Unchanged

1788 J. ASH Introd Bot 111 (ed 4) 273 Having two Cotyledons, and these are either, Immutate, unchanged, Plicate, folded Duplicate, doubled [etc]

+Immutation. Obs [ad L. immūtātiōn-em, n of action f immūtāre see IMMUTATE Cf obs F immutation] Mutation, change, alteration, transformation (In quot 1704 = HYPALLAGE.)

c1540 in Pol Relig Lang Hist (Camden) I 195 The younger shaud their pride, while they endevored meetings and immutation 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng Poesie III xii (Arb) 175 Defect, or surplusage or immutation in the same speaches altering either the congruitie grammaticall, or the sence, or both 1647 H MORE Song of Soul I xxiii What delightfull immutations Of her soft flowing rest we contemplate! 1669 GALE Crt Gentiles I III iii § 10 Which reason of the immutation of this Light, is given by Moses, Gen i 14 1704 J HARRIS Lex Techn, Hypallage or Immutation, a Grammatical Figure As in this Instance Dare Claudius Inutros, instead of Dare Claues Anutris

+Immute, v Obs [ad L immūt are, f im- (IM-1) + mūtare to change] trans To produce a change in, to change, alter, transform

1613 SHERLEY Treat Imp 106 (L.) God can immediately immute, change, corrupt, destroy, or annihilate whatsoever pleaseth His divine majesty 1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseudod Ep II v 80 Although the substances of gold be not sensibly immuted or its gravity at all decreased 1661 GLANVILL Van Dogm 241 206 That would be more immuted by those greater alterations which are in cadaverous solutions

+Immute, a Obs rare [irregular shortening of immuted (f elated, elate)] Unchanged

1639 G. DANIEL Ecclus XXXI 53 Not but doth virtue stand, and love Immute, With her whose thoughts are truly resolute

Immutilate (ɪmiū·tĭlĕt a rare [ad late L immutilat-us, f im- IM- 2 + mutilatus see MUTILATE] Unmutilated without mutilation

1892 J. W. ALEXANDER Forty Days 233 A mutilator of the Catholic and Apostolic Faith immutilate

Immu·tual, a rare [f IM- + MUTUAL] Not mutual

1768 W DONALDSON Life & Adv Sir S Saphchall II 10 The sympathy of their souls, the immutual delight in each other's company

I-mone Obs [f I + mon MOAN] Moan

1297 R GLOUC (Rolls) 11156 He was sori & made gret imone [mod MAN moan]

I-mong see MONG

I-moned, MP to pple of MOUE v Obs, to moot

I-mot, MP to pple of MOUT v

Imp imp), sb Forms 1 impa, ?impe), 3, 7 impe 4–6 ympe 5 hympe, 6 himp, emp, 6–7 ymp, 6– imp [OI impa or impe), pl impan goes with impian to IMP see next Cf also MoG impf, Du ympe, Sw ymp Welsh imp graft, scion, is from ENG] I †1 Obs = IMPE sb, whence Mu empe, Sc impet with the same source.]

†1 A young shoot of a plant or tree, a sapling, a sucker, slip, scion Obs

c897 K ÆLFRED Gregory's Past xlix 381 Swa hilge gesomnung, godes folces, hæt endebi on eppelmum Some he æt leg, some he plentaa, some he burh engan 3 hlæfne hæsh 1000 Sax Leechd III 178 Singe impen me lognet mid hornes, lesse hewte mecten ham þeo hwule hyr heo wæs mercten 1398 TREVISA Barth De P. R. 68 Of feble trees ther comen wretche Impes 1448 Syon Sog (Pynson) The lord hadde in hympe gode [hait] in a fayr herber stood 1578 LYTE Dodoens IV 1 Of the hoppe yonges or tender impes of the Arbocke 1601 HOLLAND Pliny xvii 21 Some take for a slip of the tree a tears many young impes which are such stickes of the sap, that they draw to them all the goodnesse 1669 WORLIDGE Syst Agric (1681) 204 Many times young imps or seedlings rise sprung up, which must be very careful in keeping, them from such 1692 MARSHALL Rich Transp 1 13 [Ivy] is a sneaking, mischieving Imp

†b In big context, applied to persons Obs

1377 Pol Poems (Rolls) I 18 Thus ben this lordes sleid fal lowe The stok is of the same rote An vnpe bigunnes for to growe 1596 SPENSER Q IV xi 9 (Oxford) That fairie City, wherein make abode So many leuend impes that shoote abroade, And with their branches spred all Britt ny

†2 A shoot or slip used in grafting a graft

1377 LANGL P Pl B xvii, I was be cousines Gardyner for to graffe ympes 1483 Cath Angl 196 An Impe, arbuscula 1538 BALE Image II Baptizers (1550) 134 Ye haue graffe or ympe transcendith the tree 1599 H PEACHAM Hyda dore Pomo (1840) 20 Almond tree Imp, inserted to a Muskin, Apricock 1669 W STEVENS Hybrid Impregn The scions impes and grafts of fruit trees 1706 PHILLIPS, Imp, a Kind of Graft to be set in a Tree

†b In big context, applied to persons Obs

1581 MULCASTER Positions xxii 114 Hobs bee happened to the natural branches what shall become of the impes (that were grafted into the Tree) 1612–15 B HALL Contempl, O T IV xi, Of their dead sons, for the natural olive shoot for that wild Impe which hee hath graffed in 1613–16 W BROWNE Brit Pastl I II (N), Poor Dondon, the impe Whom nurses seem'd to have selected forth To be inscribed on some stocke of worth

3 Scion (esp of a noble house), offspring, child (usually male Obs since 17th c exc as a literary archaism, as prob by continued in 5 c 1412 HOCCLEVE Balle Pr Hoors in De Reg Princ (Roxb) 195 In the presence Of kynges ympe and Princes worthy nesse 1548 HALL Chron, Hen VIII 140 b, That hys wife was prest to bring forth an other yong lord, regne over you 1575 Ippus & Ydg I in Hazl Dodsl IV 119 Ther is there a virgin pure an impe of hy worth nesse 1584 Epit Life Antich in Inc compl Jewel (1614) 1 Antioch, Heere resteth the body of the noble Impe Robert of Dudley, sonne of Robert Duke of Leycester 1621 SMITH Virg Commw III xi 264 He had issue Lysimachus, Faustus, a vertuous Impe of those impious parents 1808 SCOTT Marm I Introd 17 My impe, hardy, bold, and wild, As best befits the mountain child 1842 ALFRED BAILEY Poems, To a Child 1, Whose imp art thou with dimpled cheek, thou urchin sly?

b as Child' fig and transf Obs or arch

c1380 WYCLIF Wks (1880) 134 A frere þat is a confessour to kyng, or to a duke is impe or pere to a bishop 1535 Act 28 Hen VIII c 10 § 1 Ye vers seditious persones, being impes of the said Bisshopp of Rome 1558 W WATERMAN Fardle Facions II xiii 179 Rome cannot dwell ther, ne none of his impes 1621 QUARLES Div Poems, Esther 10 Art thou that Impe of Glory? 1645 PACITT Heresiogr (1647) 126 This opinion is easily discovered to be an Impe of Pelagianisme 1796 BURKE Bill for shorten Durat Parl Wks 1812 V 386 My honourable friend has not brought down a spirited imp of chivalry to win the first six horsemen

1809 W IRVING Knickerb (1848) 402 That imp of fame and renown, the headstrong Peter

4 spec A 'child' of the devil, or of hell

a with pirentage expressed Applied to wicked men, and to petty fiends or evil spirits

1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) 65 b Soche appereth as angelles but in very deede they be ympes of serpentes 1538 BALE Gods Promises III (Shirley Ol Pl 1780) I 13 An ympe though I be of helle deathe and damnacyon 1563 Homilies II Rebellion (1859) 577 Those most wicked imps of the devil 1581 SAVILE Tacitus Hist I (1877) 111 An impe of Sathan c 1648 BRUEN-STAPLETON Liturgy of World (1658) 94 The Devil's Impe the Pope 1706–7 EACHARD Remarks Clergy 11 What Wretches did now have these two Imps of the Devil been a hatching here a 1806 K WHITE Poems, Despair 56 Hither, ye furious imps of Acheron 1821 SHELLEY Adonais xxxiii, Either Hillsbergh itself or else an imp of the devil in good earnest

b Hence, with omission of the qualification A little devil or demon, an evil spirit esp in 17th c one of those with which witches were supposed to be familiar, now chiefly in use and mythology

1584 R SCOT Discov Witchc XV xiv (1886) 12 They have soft ed us with bull beggers spirits witches tritons venture vile ofe ts tutts imps 1681 Salmon's Lenthall 1683 18 The Imps of Witches are sometimes wicked spirits that have been Sorcerers in this life 1693 C MATHER Ess to do Well (1710) 15 I seen seven Devils of their own Children so delate and into the Devil, that the Imps have sucked them and rendred them Venomous (Devilish) 1706 PHILLIPS Imp Witches are said to be attending upon Witches 1849 CAMILLE HOLE Pollution 187 [It] was Satanism, much above more. I the imp that the angel 1845 ROBERT SOUTHEY Poems II 1 Where more fresh some Imp I see in Beelzebub's self-built wild-an seen 1882 I knot in Cornh Mag (1883) I 1 Imp sing, in work [I destruction with the Lord's Prayer, and with a curse

c Applied to a human being. Often humorous

1633 D KIDWELLY Treat Vsurers 122 Will not this teach all the rest (except Impes and degenerate) to be much more so? 1750 GRAY Lett (1775) 44 Is this dutch Boy's luck? A wicked Imp they call'd a Pool 1857 DICKENS Lit Lyrics, Lo Invites's Dwell 1 small imp of blackness, off at once

5 A mischievous child having a little of the devil in him, a young urchin often used playfully

(App partly a continuation of sense 3, but largely influenced by 4 b)

1642 in Miss Hickson Ireland in 17th Cent (1884) I xxiii 356 Sir Lucius children of that town who notably fell upon him so that he by them wicked young imps who was none of them above eight years of age quickly after died 1727 THOMAS Gallicisms 104 Some Country young Imp, who has been brought up at home 1809 W COLLINS Ode Highlands (1873) 3 With a wild imp of Welsh boy following her as gamble and broom

+6 A young man, a youth, a fellow, man, 'lad', 'boy' (cf GIRL sense 7) Obs

1579 LYLY Euphues (Arb) 111 These dwelt in Athens a young gentleman of great patrimony It happened this young Impe to arriue at Naples Ibid 168 His boy to aid monish all young Imps and nouices in love 1648 GAGE West Ind xi 56 The mendis are Franciscan Fryers vowedly poverty but these wretched Impes live as rich Friars as though they had never vowed 1885 R BUCHANAN Heir of Linne 1, Room there, you imps and loons

7 A piece added on to eke out, lengthen out, or enlarge something; = EKE sb 1 and +8. An additional tag to a bell rope so that more than one person may pull at once = EKE sb 2 a and b dial An addition to a bellwire consisting of a wreath or wreaths placed underneath to increase its height

EKE sb 2 b dial A length of twisted hair in a fishing line

1595 Treaty Bks (Surtees) 123 Paul for xj emps to ye bell ropes xxj*s* 1605 Ibid 142 More for bell imps, xxij*s* 1606 Ibid 144 For the greet bell ympes of the length of xx feddom 1845 W LAWSON Yks Dales & Moors (1927) An imp is, three or four wreaths wrought at the How, to some compass to raise the How with all 1788 W WESTALL Yorksh Dialect (1849) 6 Imp, a wreath of twisted hair to be hive 1846 BROCKETT Gloss Words (ed 2) 124 An addition to a bee-hive is called an imp, so also is a length of hair twisted, as for an angle, part of a fishing line

8 attrib and Comb, as +imp garden, garth, yard (nursery garden, garden of plants), +-tree, imp like adj

1337–8 Durham Acc Rolls (Surtees) I 34 In semine emto empyard xij*s* ij*d* 1523 Orpheo 68 I shal seien hem down all three, For I under an ympe tre 1446–7 Durham Acc Rolls (Surtees) I 82 Pro custodia orti Celerarii tempore ympi 1577 B GOOGE Heresbach's Husb (1586) 76 The ordering of an Imp Garden wherein as in a paske the young plantes are nourished 1655 FULLER Church-hist IV 59 Where Imp Gardeners poor, the tender Plant does seldom thrive 1831 J HUNTER Hist Pennies Doncaster II 6 An unpeopled place is what is now known in the town nursery garden, as may be seen in the Books of Husbandry by Barnaby Googe 1866 CARLYLE Remin I 146 What a childlike and yet half imp like volume of laughter lay in Frank

Imp (imp), v Forms see the sb [OE impian (rare) = OHG impfon rare, MHG and G impfen, beside which OHG had (more commonly) impōn, MHG impfe in Da ympe, Sw ympa are from LG impen*, Welsh impio is from Eng + enter (whence MDu enten then Du enten, MLG enten is supposed to be ultimately from the same source

The history of this vb and the prec sb is in some points to cure from a state of violence. The corresponding F enter to cure from a state of violence. The corresponding F enter to graft ente (for empte: graft are referred by Diez, see s.v. to late L emputare, emputa* the latter neuter pl of -us subjoin as implanted, engrafted, -ius implanting, engrafting. There is evidence in the Salic Law for a med. L impetus, impetus = engraft. This was presumably the source also of OHG impitôn not impfitôn), MHG impeiten, though some would refer it to I putâre to prune OF empan, OHG impfo, is evidently, from the OHG lautverschebung, a word of earlier adoption, but was probably not in some way from the same Gr source (from πεφυτ-ευ-), of this the OF -ch suggests that -ch would then have been a derivative, on the analogy of agent nouns in -e, so mod Ger impf from impfen.]

1 L Trans To graft. Obs.

c 1000 Gen & ex in Jnâm 262 On þ tegene ent ȝn and impan, be ma ȝ sewan, wingeard sett on 1377 Jnscr. Pl. H in. 142 Impe on ye vn clene, and ȝ hope apple be sweet. Modcl mereuele me þinketh 1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton 1483) iv. 58 Vpon that braunche was imped a grafte that was clene fre fro sqpul tree 1553 J Watson Apol. wks (Arb) 10 Impe or graffe you, sirre. 1588 Bunney Hort. Ref 1866 H 230 He gaue himself to gardening, and vsed to graft and imp such his own head

†2 To plant young shoots. Obs. rare

c 1440 Jallad. Husb m 14 Then ket ȝ adon thes sons hee and there And wanpe in oon mencry stikes pl ace

3 Transf and fig From 1 and 2: To engraft; implant to inlay, set or fix in, to 'engraft' (as by marriage) in a family arch

1340 70 Ilesmont's rec Vbon hem seuen harde Impied in my Wife soode-slinc & goble gralich stired 1400 Ant. Kyng 842 But Ioue ... Impied in my thought

1425 Hampole's Ladder Mett. Prol 20 Coppid he is, þo Sauiour bem of vnclennes of flesch, and impied hat he bene seme ympid in wip crey 1596 Shaksp L. L. v. ii. 54 It is a that he dies e ery ou mes trouke be reard from ground And, hewing unpe the bo ot ȝ ngeyns, in stead to bind is at dyve s found 1612 Sylv. Have set supt of A xx. ii (Tebu and Jehoram) Nothing is more dangerous then to be imped in a Nobl family thus rel ation too often drawn in a share both of sinne and punishm nt 1613-16 W Bridges Rest Paul iii. 31 And when thy temple's well ordering hopes Might ampu a prole in the tree to each thy praise 1647 Trapp Comm Matt 1 8 It was because they were imped in the wicked family of Ahab 17 Bidwell Ch Rom xi 5 (Jam) Believers are so closely united to Christ, as that they have been imped with him like an imp joined to an old stock 1876 Bickn Notes Acts v 38 (Ld) The bow is the time, which the times had imped into his budding soul

4 Falconry To engraft feathers in the wing of a bird, so as to make good losses or deficiencies, and thus restore or improve its powers of flight. Hence, allusively, with reference to 'taking higher flights', enlarging one's powers and the like In various constructions

†a To imp feathers into or in a wing etc. Obs

1477 Jaster Jett III No 74 15 Like is the fawcon Which is ofte taken ... And yit can he not Oon hym that wot wit is her feders to pick and ympe. 1580 Lyly Euphues Arb 213 Ympping a feather to make me flye, when thy mischiefe rather to marr my wing Then to helpe my winge. 1589 Nashe Pasquil & Marf 21 Such as I (who as multiplie euery word ... and ympes so many feathers into euery tale that it flyes with all speede into euery corner of the Realme 1641 Prom Jer xlvii Comm Wks 1673 III 74 To see a swallow with a white feather imped in her tail 1706 Phillips, To Imp a Feather in a Hawk's Wing, among Falconers, to add a new piece from an old bad one to mend it

b To imp a wing or bird with feathers. To imp the wings of to strengthen or improve the flight of

1596 Southw Hum Heart Bauties 157 (Herring plum) of perfect speculation, To imp the wings of thy high flying, mynd 1598 Drayton Ideas Lyr x 73 Here Buzard wings, imp'd with our Eagles Plumes 1618 Sylvester Tobbiasi Summ iv, Imping his broken wings with better plumes 1648 Milton Song at Ludlow 14 Like to these displays Her broken league to imp their serpent wings. 1798 Wolcot (P Pindar) Ep Ld Macartney 40 And (fortune) with an Eagle's pinion imps an Owl 1816 Southey Lay of Laureate Poem ii My spirit mpd her wings for stronger flight 1852 Jessica Autobiog II xvii 51 At the same time Byron, Corsair, was in the air, on my grateful pages 1886 Swinburne Misc 115 The highest flight that Wordsworth's muse could attain when his wings were imped with plumes of religious duty

c To imp wings on or to a person, to impart with wings

1633 G Herbert Temple Easter Hymn 9 If I imp my wing on thine Affliction shall advance the flight to me 1635 Heywood London's Nurse Nichols Wks 1874 II 79 These are Impt with no human wings But Plumes Immortall 1659 Isaiah Prophet to Country Eng 31 To see a Gall ant flutter with no other wings than his Tailor has imp'd on 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iv 480 Imp'd with Wings, He flies, proceed to Pace with pointed Stings 1730 Pope Ep Bathurst 81 Idest paper credit! That lends Corruption lighter wings to fly! Gold imp'd by thee can compass hardest things 1814 Cary Dante, Purg xxxi 70 Beloved That circumcision in the modes should imp The flight of innocent wings.

†App by a misunderstanding of the hawking term, taken in the sense of 'to clip'

1657 Br H King Poems ii (1843) 9 God shall imp their pride and let them see They are but fools in a sublime degree 1683 Kennett tr Erasm on Folly 91 But imp the wings of his towering ambition Ibid 147 Her seeming wings are imp'd and all her enlivening faculties clogged

5 To extend, lengthen, enlarge, add to, to eke out (that which is short or defective), to mend, repair, to add on a piece to Cf Imp sb 7.)

1598 Tyr Maiden 11, A woman's tongue must with a barbar's will prouse a floor or a riuer 1606 Chapman Mons D'Olive Plays 1873 I 7 All my cares for followers Imp out my labour 1865 Scottish Guardian 10/8 Ill and ill, restless, rose humour, which is imped with Smart, and quickned with Opposition 1671 Clarendon Dialogues in Tracts (1727) 306 We ought to imp out these unavoidable defects with an extraordinary civility and condescension 1828 Craven Dial, Imp to add to enlarge It is a very common expression when applied to bee hives 1834 Sir H Taylor Artevelde I iii (1849) 7 You have imped me with a new device

6 Imper Surg To mock like an imp or demon

1839 Bailey Festus (1848) 119, I am with the mightiest folly mocked Which ever imped a soul to madness

†Impd cable, v. Obs [f Imp sb + L fibula to pin, fix, appose + -ABLE.] That cannot be pinched or opposed; implacable

1571 Fortescue Forest 72 Seedes of implacable discorde and dissention 1591 Spenser Ruines of Time 395 Freed from bands of impia ible fate 1620 Warner Hh Eng 1pt (1612) 356 Ihe implacable Incursions of those barbarous and vnlimited Parties

Hence †Impeachabil ity, implacability obs

1602 Warner Hh Eng 8pt (1612) 5 the Implacability of the Pictes and Scotes

†Impacific, a Obs rare [ad late L impacificus or f Imp- + Pacific.] = Pacific 1 a

Pacifying 1. Not pacific, or peaceful restless a 1653 G Daniel Idyllt The Implacable Seas of our own Isles And Jealousie

Impack (impæk) v. rare Also 7 em [f Im-2 + Pack v.] trans To pack in, to press closely together into a package, to pack up, to stow away

Impacking vbl sb, Impackment, the action of impacking or of being impacked (Webster 1864)

1611 Florio Impa are to pack vp, to impack Ibid Intabbiare to impack vp in packes. 1867 J Hain Oper Polar Sea 85 The ice was so closely impacked behind us as before us

Impact (impækt sb. [ad L type impactus* sb, f ppl stem of impingĕre to Impinge (cf mod F impact.)] The act of impinging, the striking of one body against another, collision Chiefly in Dynamics, in reference to momentum

1781 Bp Watson Chem Ess (1784) I 165 note, The same rule by which common shot is found to fall to such a distance after their impact is calculated 1795 Scottish Journ of Agric 28 The English and Flanders, against his advice, had been driven to the practice of the spade drawen, True to its aim fled fatal 1862 Times 7 Mar, No such satisfactory results in the way of resisting the tremendous impact of the shot have as yet been obtained from any other target 1863 Tyndall Heat II § 50 The impact of atoms of oxygen against masses of sulphur 1866 Rogers Phys Glas I 223 The impact of the vibrations of the luminous ether on the retina attrib 1879 Stewart & Tait Unseen Univ iv 146 We are driven to the impact theory as the only tenable one

b fig

1817 Coleridge Lay Ser 63 In any keen perception there is something which has been communicated to it [the mind] by an impact, or impression akin to data 1874 Sidgwick Mor Hist I 7 The impact of barbarian conquerors upon the minds of the Latin tongue.

†Impact ct, ppl a Obs. [ad L impact us, ppl of impingĕre to Impinge.] = Impacted of which, in later use, it was prob taken as t short end form) (cons ta pple or adj

1563 J Gaye Introduct 1 b When there are humours impacte or ympe gathered 1579 Thomas Proverbs Sfphard (1586) 61 From hir whose ius pure still I fynde within my breast impact 1647 H More Song of Soul III i 11 All these Forms ... Had sense of pain, and were impact with woe 1652 French Distill Sparke 4 A cold, crass slimy morbifick or hot impact matter

Impacted (impæktĕd) a. [orig, and usually in pp pple impacted, which was prob directly f L impact us + ED1 (see Impact ppl a and Impacted), the verb proper being a later back-formation from this see -ED 2, and cf Compact 2.]

1 trans To press closely into or in something

To force in, to pack in 1601 Holland Pliny xxi II 73 The seed of this herbe, remooueth the tough humours baddied in the stomacke, how hard soeuer they be 1709 Jourdain Hist Trans XXII 1 Pg 1 Dy'ed cloths which receive the Blue ... are imparted in the Cuves 1791 Wesley Serm Isaiah lv 5 Wks 1872 VII 427 Impact fire not water it by hammering it when heated 1857 Allbutt Nat Med III 815 A stone like mass ... which had become impacted in the lower thum

2 To stamp or impress (on something) rare

1677 Gale Crt Gentiles iv Poems 4 The same notions impacted on the mind Ibid 44 Every creature has a law impacted or impress d on its Being.

Impacted impæktĕd), ppl a [See Impact v.] Packed closely in firmly fixed

1683 Salmon Doron Med II 163 To melt (as it were) any impacted humour, though never so tough 1720 W Cleaver Farriers Dispens 1 13 To ripen and dissolve hard impacted Humours 1856 Kane Arct Expl I xxi 209 The fine impacted snow dust of winter

Impaction (impæk ʃən [ad L impaction em, n of action f impingĕre to Impinge.] The action of becoming, or condition of being, impacted or firmly fixed in

1739 J Hicham Fevers (1750) 196 To prevent the further Impaction of the obstructing Lentor 1853 Kane Grinnell Exp xxiv (1856) 197 In case of accident or impaction further north 1873 J H Green Introd Pathol (ed 2) 42 Sudden obstruction of the circulation by the impaction of an embolus in one of the larger arteries Impactly, adv. rare [f Impact ppl a + -ly2.] With firm infixion or close pressure.

1860 Tenn Sch Arts X 325 2 A cube of 23 inches, impactly secured, was subjected to a force of 200 tons

Impa ctment. [f Impact v. + Ment] = Impaction

1853 Kane Grinnell Exp xx 158 He counseled us to prepare for the chances of an impactment [in the ice]

Impaint, obs form of Impair

Impained see Impaned

Impaint (impē·nt) v. [f Im-1 + Paint.] trans To paint upon something depict

1596 Shaks 1 Hen IV, v i 80 Neuer yet did Insurrection want such saulse wafure colours, to impaint his cause 1799 Savage Wanderer III 83 O er all ers thus impainted, we behold Half circling glories shoot in rays of gold

Impair (impē·r), sb.1 Obs or arch Also 7 em- [f Impair v.] An act of impairing, the fact of being impaired, impairment

1568 North tr Guevara's Dial Pr (1618) 171 Hilfe a dishonour and an impair of his credit 1598 Chapman Achilles Shield in Homer (1857) II 81 Nor is it more impair to an honest and absolute man's sufficiency to have few friends, than [etc.] 1612- Widower's Treas 1873 III 46 Rockett ... is no impair to thee: the greatest dost 1615 G Sandys Trav 132 Such and such like affoord they yearely without impairs to themselues 1677 Hale Prim Orig Man iv m 258 Vnimpaired of his sovereignty and dominion over the Creatures 1848 J A Carlyle tr Dante's Inferno 8 To keep as he ts my from impair Impair, a and sb.2 (ME impaire unequal (1484 in Godef Compl.), and pair]

†1 (f) Unsuitable (1), mate, inferior Obs But the reading is disputed.)

1606 Shaks Tr & Cr I iii 303 Fel) Yet gives he not till judgement guides his bounty, Nor dignifies an impaire [Qo impaire, Globe, etc impute] thought with breath

2 Not paired, not forming one of a pair; odd b sb An unpaired individual thing, an odd one

1839 47 Todd Cycl Anat III 844 Why the latter is the representative of the superior occipitals of Cuvier 1880 J Ingelow in Academy 23 Oct 294/1 Grouping, the letters in two sets of pairs and an impair, which upon pairs with the other impairs Impair (impe·r), v Forms 4 ampayr-i ampayr i, ampayr i, etc (see Aimpair) β 4 6 empeire, -peyre, -paire, -peyre, empeyre, 4 7 empare empeire, -paire, -peyre, 5 enpaire, 7 empair γ 5-7 impaire, -payre, 6 impeire, impere, inpayre, 6-7 impaire, 7- impair [The current form impair is a partially Latinized refashioning of the earlier empaire, impeire, a Obs impeirer, empeirer to make worse = Ital type empeiorâre* to make worse, I en (In 1 + peior worse The earliest form was ampayr-, whence apayre Aimpair Impeyre, closest to contemporary French, was commonest in 15 16th c e late in 15th c the prefix began to be spelt im- after Latin giving the current impair, which has superseded empair since c 1660 (cf Appair, Pair, Empair.)

1 trans To make worse, less valuable or weaker, to lessen injuriously, to damage, injure

[a 1297-1643 see Impairing.]

B c 1374 Chaucer Boeth II pr iii 93 (Camb MS) Thynne v the Maner of goode falle with hym, shal empeyre it c 1375 Cato Major iv xxxiv in Anglia VII. Empeyre pou nouȝt hire fame 1494 Fabyan Chron vii cxxxix 270 A cytie of Dane he wastid and enpayred very sore 1548 Hall Chron, Hen I III 243b, the governors ought some to be enpaired 1576 Fleming Panopl Epist 115 In hope that I shoulde receyue my health, which also I feele and enpaired 1602 Ludicke and Pt Parall 22 Whereby hee was empeired and became worse 1655 Fuller Ch Hist II iii § 27 It never wastes nor empaires Estate 1658-78 Phillips, Impair [1696 cited s.v. Impair]

γ 1488-9 Act 4 Hen VII, c 24 The defence of this law [is] impaired 1533 More Debell Salem Wks 1019/1 [It] hath helpeth not bys matter, but vnpayreth it much 1667 Milton P L ix 665 Sat in could not be see through inside the sight, and thought himself impaired 1703 Moxon Mech Exer 239 No time will impair or decay those Grey Scottish Brick 1740 Somerville Chace (1986) The stag must yield, but truth No ye er impair 1882 Sir H Barkly Typhoid Inq II 11 The best memory may be impaired by neglect

2 pass To be destitute of, or badly off for 1591 Horsey Trav (Hakluyt Soc 25) If I want my parell of money, he would send me out of his own purse

3 intr (for refl.) To grow or become worse, less valuable, weaker, or less, to suffer injury or loss, to deteriorate, fall off, or decay ? Obs

1526-1681 see Aimpair.]

β c 1386 Sir Ferumb 4691 Pe power of hem anyredde faste 1486 Bk St Albans C vjb, The Fyghen will swell and empeyre in her hede 1533 In Berners Froiss I cxxix 279 The kynge hys syre sicke and euery daye he empayred worse and worse 1590 Spenser F Q i vii 42 Flesh may empaire, but reason can repaire. 1600 J Walker Sp Mandeville 72 b, The sicke Gentleman daily so empaired in health

γ 1523 Lp Berners Froiss I ccxlv 364 The prince dayly

impered of a sickness. 1579 Lyvve Huscbe agst Jorot ii xxviii 205 a, All things impaire, and goe backewarde 1648 Boyle Seraph Love (1700) 152 Celestial Pleasures not impairing by being u ed long 1709 Swift Lett to Pope Wks 1761 VIII 93 When years increase, and perhaps your health impairs 1827 Southey in Life (1850) V 284 His own health and faculties sensibly impairing day by day

Impairable, a rare [f Impair v + -able] Capable of being impaired

a 1665 J Goodwin I called to the Spirit (1867) 26 Though his power, if executing, be not impaired nor indeed impairable by any negligence, and unfruitfulness, or unfruitfulness of men 1678 Cudworth Intell Syst I iv § 36 505 Souls Self unprovable, and Self unpairable

Impaired (impēə·rd), ppl a [f Impair v + -ed] Rendered worse, injured in amount, quality, or value, deteriorated, weakened, damaged

1611 Speed Hist Gt Brit IX viii (1632) 563 He repaired with large diet his wasted limbs and sinewes 1719 Boyse Works in Smith's Lett (1766) II 4 Those fancy's ills, so dreadful to the sick, & lost election, or impaird estate 1845 Stoddart Life of Scott (1850) 170 Hamilton was necessitated by an impaired constitution to return to England

Impairer (impēə·rəɹ) [f as prec + -er1] One who or that which impairs

a 1586 Sidney Arcadia (1622) 215 The quiet mind whereof my selfe empairer is 1610 W Folkingham Art of Survey I v 21 Wheat, Barley, Oates, Rye, are the greatest improvers and soakers of the soyle. a 1779 Warburton (Mason), Immoderate labour and immoderate study are equally the impairers of health

Impairing (impēə·rĭŋ), vbl sb [f as prec + -ing1] The action of the verb Impair, making worse, deterioration, impairment

a 1580 Watts Hus (1588) 389 It is empayring not only of some estate of perfection, but of alle pre a 1592 Dr Allen in Full of Inexpiation (Bullal Soc) 33 With out empeyering of his person 1613 Douglas Thesis Concl 10 And here my paine is more than empairing 1618 Latham All Falconry (1633) 7 Other dangers that may grow to the great impairing of her health 1721 Strutius Cases (1737) II 174 The impairing of my one part must tend to the disorder and ruin of other parts

Impairing, ppl a [f as prec + -ing2] That impairs

1566 Boyd Dying Teares & Quail (1657) 270 That Impairing Alteration of Texture we all Rottenesse

Impairment (impēə·rmĕnt) Forms see Impair v, also Attirment [a Of empeirement, mod f empirement (14th c in Littré), empirer, empirer see Ment] The action of impairing, or fact of being impaired, deterioration, injurious lessening or weakening

1340 Ayenb 148 Yef he ne deþ wyþ oute empirement 1400 Alexius (Laud MS) 705 In londe þat gomen wyssen alle, Wisdom ne empirement 1533 3 Hen VIII c. 1111, c 9 8 To the great impairement & diminucion of their good names and honestes 1611 Speed Hist Gt Brit IX viii (1632) 562 A greater impayrment of his hopes 1651 Life Father Sanford (1676) 38 A manifest impairment of his health 1885 Manch Ex Exec Jo on Bible 471 The following extraordinary impairment of memory

Impalace (impæ·lăs), v. Also 7 em- [f Im-1 + Palace] trans To place or install in a palace Hence Impa·laced (-est) ppl a installed in a palace

1611 Florio Implacciare, to empallace 1795 W Taylor in Monthly Rev XVIII 543 In impalacing the magazine 1839 Bailey Festus v (1852) 61 One or two, impaled, mitred, throned And lampreied, luxurious. The lively penury of the Son of God Hist Sav 438 The impalaced prisoner of the bi est † Impalatable, a Obs rare [f Im-4 + Palatable] Not palatable, unpalatable.

1787 W Marshall Norfolk II 88 And render it altogether unpalatable to stock 1792 A Young Tra Frame 115 A thing equally unpalatable and an institution of 1814 Miss West Alicia De Lacy IV 68 The grandeur and luxury were unpalatable, but not insecure

† Impala·tion. Obs rare [f Impale v + -ation] = Impalement 2, 3

1594 J Paterson Comm Milton's P L 357 Impalation is a most tormenting punishment of malefactors

Impale (impē·l), v Forms a (6 empale) 6 g empale, 7 empaile, (empall, empaal) β 6–7 impayl, (impail), 7 impail, (impal , 6–impale [a f empaler (Cotgrave), ad med l impalāre 'in palum impingere.' (Du Cange), f im- (Im-1) + pāl us stake (cf Ital L palare to support with stakes prop up)]

1 trans. To enclose with pales, stakes, or posts to surround with a palisade , to fence in Now rare

a 1602 Holland Pliny II 516 Minding to mound and empale his cottage round about with a fence of stakes 1610 — Camden's Brit II 73 (Ireland) Their country doth under the tearme of The English Pale, because the best Englishmen did empale for themselves certaine limits in the East part of the Iland 1634–5 Sherfton Tour (Chetham Soc.) 44, I saw a pool empaled wherein were pall sturs β 1530 Palsgr 590/1, I impale, I close a grounde or a parke with pales, je emparyme 1614 Ralegh Hist World III (1634) 61 The same wall which had preserved their lives, by holding out the enemy did now impale them 1766 Porny Heraldry iv (1777) 64 The Pale denotes Strength and Firmness, and has been bestowed to impaling Cities 1824 Hood Fairy Tale 21 So he might impale a strip of soil

b transf and fig To surround or enclose as with a palisade , to shut in, hedge about, confine, hem in Now rare

a 1581 J Bell Haddon's Answ Osor 33 Men that are empaled within the bounders of the Church 1612 Drayton Poly ulb II 4 Where Portland doth overpeere the maine Her rugged front empal'd on every part with rocks 1625 Grew Anat Trunks I ii § 25 Every single Milk Vessel being empaled or hemmed in with an Arch of Rorriferous Vessels]

β 1579 Tomson Calvin's Serm Tim 899/1 Wee must keepe ourselues still within the purke which God hath impayled 1598 Sylv I Handay Trade 96 (1705) 100 Welcomed by the Queen, who impales him in her arme, and cryes for joy 1725 Pope Odyss XIX 540 Besides high impal'd with glittering spears 1800 Mrs Inchbald Nat Lov I 8 Sea (1625) I 8 465 It would have been impaled in a nook of the very drop of water in which it was brought forth

† 2 Her To enclose or surround (troops) for defence, as with other troops, or with wagons, etc (Improperly, to set in array, draw up) Obs

a 1553 Brende Q Curtius (1) 28 Nabarzanes empaled the hill all on the right hand with a great power of horsemen, and xxx thousand slingers and archers 1569 Stocker tr Diod Sic III ii 105 He empaled his Campe with hys carriages 1587 Hollns Scotland Hosp, Gen xxii 16 Against these five, the other fower their Battailes did empale 1641 Baker Chron (1679) 214/2 The Battel consisted of a thousand Bill men empaled with two thousand Pikes

B 1579 Digges Stratiot 109 To set his souldyers out that they should impale the rest 1585 Hunnis Hive of Hon (1634) 343 Impaling the reere with the Wagons Carts and Luggage 1670 Milton Hist Eng II (1851) 60 The Legion closed and impaled with light armed

2 To surround for adornment, to encircle, as with a crown or garland, to border, edge (with decoration) Obs or arch

a 1553 Brende Q Curtius Dd vij, Garmentes of linnen cloathe imbroidered with golde, and impaled with purple 1630 Brathwait Eng Gentlem (1641) 247 A crowne of glory shall impale you 1686 Goad Celest Bower 11 An Egyptian Queen impaled with light answered

3 To surround for adornment, to encircle, as with a crown or garland, to border, edge (with decoration) Obs or arch

a 1553 Brende Q Curtius Ddvj, Garmentes of linnen cloathe imbroidered with golde, and impaled with purple 1630 Brathwait Eng Gentlem (1641) 247 A crowne of glory shall impale you 1686 Goad Celest Bower 11 An Egyptian Queen impaled with light answered

4 To surround for adornment, to encircle, as with a crown or garland, to border, edge (with decoration) Obs or arch

a 1553 Brende Q Curtius Ddvj, Garmentes of linnen cloathe imbroidered with golde, and impaled with purple 1630 Brathwait Eng Gentlem (1641) 247 A crowne of glory shall impale you 1686 Goad Celest Bower 11 An Egyptian Queen impaled with light answered

5 To combine (two coats of arms, as those of a husband and wife) by placing them side by side on one shield, separated palewise, i e by a vertical line down the middle (Also said of one coat of arms, with the other as obj)

a 1611 Speed Hist Gt Brit IX ix 1 Their marriages are made known by the sculpture of an hand in hand and the Coat armes of the parties impaled 1725 Ord & Cer No 6382/3 The Escocheon of the Arms of the Order impaling those of the Sovereign 1870 O Sutton Hist Mod Heraldry 111 A bishop impales his family coat of arms with the arms of his see

6 1693 [see Impaling 2 a] 1810 Guillim Heraldry III ii (1611) 256 Recorded as an augmentation of honour impaled with her patrimall coat 1789 Porny Heraldry (ed 4) 160 1880 Clowes Hist Navy I 160 A man marrying an Heiress During her Father's lifetime he husband only impales her Arms

† b fig To place side by side (for comparison, or as being equal in dignity) Obs

1647 N Bacon Disc Cont Eng I lxxi (1739) 193 I have thus impaled these three, that the Reader may the better discern how they relate each to other 1655 Fuller Ch Hist II v 132 His Admission of Sir Patrick to be read and impaled with the Blessed Virgin in the Honour thereof 1659 H L'Estrange Alliance Div Offices Pref 4 You may view them in one scheame as they stand impaled

4 To thrust a pointed stake through the body of, as a form of torture or capital punishment, to fix upon a stake thrust up through the body

a 1598 R I Ruins Troy Nouant (1609) 19 Will Bevis to devour his Snakes to Impale us 1713 Addison Cato III v, Let them be impaled and left to writhe at least upon the bloody stake

B 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 389 He impaled this Curageous in the way on a sharpe stake fastened in the ground 1660 T Gage West Indies (1677) 47 Some [Indians] To be impaled is to have a stake thrust through the hands and breasts, out of the mouth 1668 Trial Gaz No 288/1 A Gentleman named Creek is to be impaled 1848 G W Briggs Ann Jamaica II xv 205 In a general massacre of the whites some were impaled by the Savage hands of their own domestics. 1894 J Jenkins Tr in 1867 The King, impaled him for his piracy

b transf To transfix upon, or pierce through with, anything pointed, fig to torment or render helpless as if transfixed

a 1678 Marvell Reasons Synod & Bishops Their tyrannous will Which stretched upright impales me so 1807 Sir R Wilson Journ 17 Aug in Life (1862) II 363 The Falcon often impales himself on the long and sharp beak [of the heron] 1878 Smiles Robt Dick v 45 Impaling it with a pin

Impaled (impē·ld), ppl a [f prec + -ed1] Fenced in, enclosed with a paling or fence Also fig

1549 Compl Scotl, etc Trans Par Tax 34 The compiled compasse of the teethe and lippes 1586 J Hooker Girald Hist in Holinshed's Ir 141/1 These arrogant and disloyall parts of these impaled malecontents 1592 in V & A Cat Sculpt (1893) IV 77 That impaled ground called Hide Park 1854 Blackw Mag LVI 133 That impaled territory

2 Her Placed side by side on a shield divided palewise see prec 3

1864 Boutell Her Hist & Pop xiv (ed 3) 137 Neither the Hero nor the Maiden of any House bear the impaled Arms of their Father and Mother 1882 Cussans Her Ant (ed 3) 166 Impaled Arms are not hereditary

3 Transfixed upon a stake, etc see Impale v 4

Impalement (impē·lmĕnt) Also 7–9 em- [a F empalement 1600 in Hatz Darm f empaler to Impale, but in recent use perh directly from the Eng vb see Ment] The action of impaling, or that which impales

1 The action of enclosing with pales or stakes, concr an enclosing fence or palisade

1611 Speed Hist Gt Brit IX xxvi 837 To fortifie their battels with a Palisado or impalement of stake 1665 J Webb Stone Heng (1725) 154 The Impalement is of them exactly square 1786 tr Beckford's Italy (1834) I The prison was encompassed by seven impalement fr n bars 1848 Wheeler, Impalement a fencing, fortifying, or inclosing with stakes

b transf and fig see Impale v 1 b, c

1598 Barret Theor Warres II v 96 The impalement may be made of more stakes in a ranke 1641 Milton Reform I ii, The rules of Church-discipline are hedg'd about with such a terrible impalement of commands 1814 Cary Dante (Cambridge) Parad xxvii 106 Beyond it, through the dread impalement fared a way

+ 2 Bot Applied by early botanists to the calyx and, in composite flowers, to the involucre Obs

1671 Grew Anat Plants I v § 2 The general Parts [f the Flower] are most commonly three, the Empalement, the Foliation and the Attire The Empalement I call that which is the utmost Part of the Flower, enwrapping the other two 1719 Martyn in Phil Trans XXXVI 28 The Impalement of the Lactuca is squamous 1735–6 In Brookes Chem Lectures (R), The flower of some daisies is now simple, The impalement, foliation, down, attire 1799 Knight in Phil Trans LXXXIX 202 The male and female parts within the same impalement

3 Her The marshalling of two coats of arms side by side on one shield divided palewise, the arms so marshalled

1774 Warton Hist Eng Poetry xxxi (1840) II 391 Two coats of arms conjoined, implements of Learning and of his friends. 1882 Cussans Her xii (ed 3) 165 Marshalling by Impalement is effected by slightly compressing the two Coats of Arms, and placing them in their entirety side by side on one Escutcheon

4 The torture or punishment of impaling (see Impale v 4)

1630 R Johnson's Kingd & Commw 13 Tortures & executions impalements on stakes 1797–41 Chambers Cycl Impalement, or Impalement a cruel kind of punishment, wherein a sharp stake, or stake, is thrust up the fundament and through the body 1813 Byron Corsair II iv To morrow's evening sun Will sinking see impalement's pangs begun

Impaler (impē·ləɹ) In 7 em- [f Impale v + -er1] One who or that which impales, applied by Grew to each of the calyx leaves or scales of a simple flower, and the bracts or phyllaries of a composite (cf Impalement 2)

1671 Grew Anat Plants I v § 2 Each Empaler being as another little Leaf Ibid, The continuation of all the three aforesaid Parts into each Empaler is discoverable I think no where better than in an Artichoke Which is a true Flower, and whose Empalers are of that amplitude as fairly to shew them all

+ Impalemented, pa pple Obs nonce-wd rendering F empaletoqué 'muffled, or lapt up about the chinne, as with a Cassocke or Gober dine' (Cotgr) see Paletot in Cotgr paletot)

1593 Urquhart Rabelais I xxx His own mistaker in paleacked, or lap up about the chin, like a Gobelin hoop

Impaling (impē·lĭŋ) [f Impale v + -ing1] The action of the verb Impale, concr that which impales or is impaled

1 The action of enclosing with or as with pales, concr a paling or palisade Impalment 1

1598 Barret Theor Warres 96 The Muskets of impaling, doe roundly bestow their volie in the face of the enemie

1600 Norden Spec Brit, Comm (1728) 21 Their Parkes of fallow Deere, where I remayne still, the rayned on paylings 1623 Purchas Pilgrimage (1626) 514 At either end of that double empaling or entrance

2 Her = Impalement 3

1605 Camden Remn (1629) 248 The impaling of his Armes with the Armes of Saint Edward 1823 Scott Let to Terry 19 Or, in Heraldries, The different bearings of different families of the Clan Scott, which with their quarterings and impalings, will make a pretty display

3 The action of transfixing on a pointed stake, etc (see Impale v 4 b) = Impalement 4

1615 G Sandys Trav (ed 5) Forms of putting to death impaling upon stakes 1711 Addison Spect No 227 Impaling of Insects upon the point of a Needle for Microscopical Observations 1870 Dickens & Dread v Set up by the Sultan on orders for the impaling of whole of Janissaries

Impaling, ppl a [f as prec + -ing2] That impales see the verb

1649 G Daniel Trinarch Hen IV (1888) The One Eyed Scott Reaches through impleiing Swords 1742 Francis Horace, Odes xxix 3 Before these stinks inexorable Fate, And grasps empaling, nails and wedges dread

Impall (impɔ·l) [f Im-1 + Pall sb] = Impale v see also empall s v Im- 1 a] trans To enfold or wrap in, or as in, a pall

1852 J Jarvis Dis & Mis Hist 101 The chamber of the dead is impalled in silence and blackness

Impall, obs (certain) form of Impale † Impallid impæ·lĭd), t Obs rare [f Im-1 + Pallid, cf L impallescĕre to grow pale] trans To render pallid or pale

1661 Lelthan Answ 12 It is [Penn] the chief sickness of the soul impalled all the body to an Hectique leanness

Impalm (impɑ·m), v rare Also 9 em [f IM-1 + PALM sb.] cf I empamare, in 16th c. impaulmer, It impalmare, in the sense or allied senses I trans To grasp or take in the palm of the hand also fig.

1611 Cotgr., Empaulmer, to impaulme, to gripe sense, lay full hand on 1808 J. Barlow Columb IV 442 Nature herself (whose grasp of time and place Impalms all space)

† Impa lmed, a Obs rare [f IM-1 + palmed, repr I palmatus, as in tunica palmata] Worked or embroidered with palm branches said of the tunica worn by Roman generals in their triumphal processions

1661 Feltham Resolves II liv 243 Her Conquerors impalmed Purples, and their lawrell Temples in their Turrouter Chariots

Impalpability (impɛlpăbi·liti) [f next + -ITY cf F impalpabilité.] The quality of being impalpable or imperceptible to the touch

1605 M. Stafford Briefe Exam (1606) 100 The most subtilty and impalpability of Christes body in the Sacrament

1751–73 Jortin Eccl. Hist (1846) II xxxviii 161 A curious dispute whether the bodies of the righteous after the resurrection, should be solid or thinner than the air Gregory was for the palpability and Eutychius for the impalpability 1809 W. Irving Salmag (1824) 201 A young body whose unparalleled impalpability of weight was the envy of the drawing room a 1849 Poe M Aloona Laura Wks 1864 IV 233 The futility, the palpability of their axioms

Impalpable (impɛ·lpăbl), a Also 6 IN- [a F impalpable (1537 in Hatz.-Darm.) or med L impalpabilis see IM-2 and PALPABLE]

1 Incapable of being felt by the organs of touch, imperceptible to the touch, intangible Said of things immaterial, also, of very fine powder, in which no grit is perceptible when it is rubbed between the fingers

1509 Hawes Past Pleas xviii (Percy Soc.) 106 Though that samuell be invysyble, Impalpable and also celestiall

1594 Plat Jewell-ho III 88 So substituted as that it became almost an impalpable powder 1666 Mirabell Le Nevil Art of Glass (1951) Grind it to an impalpable powder 1792 Cowper Odyss IX 609 A thing impalpable, A shadow 1873 W. Ellis Ramblers II v 130 Watery vapour, existing as an impalpable transparent gas

2 fig Incapable of being (readily) grasped or apprehended by the mind, producing no definite mental impression, 'intangible'

1774 Warton Hist Eng Poetry xlvii (1840) III 174 His own religion from its simple and impalpable form was much less exposed to the ridicule of deeper exhibition 1858 Prescott Peru I ii (1846) I 102 By the almost impalpable lines of style and expression 1873 M. Arnold Lit & Dog ma (1876) 298 The impalpable and incommunicable character of the subject is treated

Impalpably (impɛ·lpăbli), adv [f prec + -LY 2] In an impalpable manner or degree

1796 Pearson in Phil Trans LXXXVI 413 A light impalpably fine powder 1864 J. H. Newman Apol (1873) 265 A spout within us working itself, though not in secret yet secondly and impalpably is hardly to admit of pre-intion

Impalsy (impɛ·lsi), v [f IM-1 + PALSY sb.] trans To affect with or as with palsy to paralyse

c 1750 Shi nstone Lunch Abbey 2.5 The boy of solicitor impalsy'd at the news drops the lifted steel

Impalsham (impɛ·lshăm) Path [f IM-1 + L. pulsus, pulsid em marsh + -ISH] The general morbid state, with predisposition to intermittent fevers and enlargement of the spleen, which is found in the dwellers in marshes' (Syd Soc Lex)

1881 Nature No 627 74 On the parasitic nature of the orders arising from impalsham 1889 Lancet 2 Feb 259/2 A memoir on the parasite of impalsham

Impanate (impɛ·nāt, impæ·nāt), ppl a [adapted L impānāt-us, pa pple of impānāre (see IMPANE)] Contained or embodied in bread see IMPANATION

1550 Cranmer Defence 332 As we have God verely incarnate for our redemption, so shoulde wee have him Impanate 1551 Gardiner Explic. Catch Anglicanus (R.) In this mystery of the sacrament, in the whiche by the rule of our faithe Christes body is not impanate a 1555 Ridley Wks (Parker Soc.) 34 Saying 'We grant the nature of bread remaineth and yet the corporeal substance of the bread therefore is gone, lest two bodies should be confused together, and Christ should be thought impanate 1565 Byr Lamb A & M (1684) III 648 That impanate God, whom Bucers Cyclops had chased from thence 1855 Pusey Doctr Real Presence Note A 3 (continuation) says [trans.] 'That Christ should be impanate, no ground required, nor did Prophets foretel, nor Christ shew, nor Apostles preach, nor the world believe

Impanate, v rare [f ppl stem of med L impānāre see prec] trans To embody in bread

1847 in Craig

Hence Impanated ppl a = IMPANATE ppl a

1579 Fulke Heskins Parl 257 Neither impanated, nor inanimated, nor inaccidentated 1624 Gataker Transubst 145 Impanated or enclosed in bread a 1740 Waterland Wks VIII 249 (R.) If the elements really contain such immense treasures, what have we to do but to look down to those impanated riches?

Impanation (impæne·ʃən) [ad med L impānātiōn-em, n of action f impānāre see IMPANE] In Eucharistic theory A local presence or inclusion of the body of Christ in the bread after consecration one of the modifications of the doctrine of the real presence

1548 Gest Pr Masse in H A Dugdale Life App 1 (1840) 80–7 Impanation of Christes body 1550 Such a presence of Christes body in the host wherwith the lyers should be unsevered, personed and have all theyr condicions and properties 1576 Woolton Chr Manual Parker Soc 1 76 Nothing, but so greatly moved the Saracens and Turkes against Christians as the impanation of God 1585 T. Dupuy Eccl Hist 17 & 18 I xi 20 [Peter Martyr] attacked Berault Stuart, and supported the opinion of Luther concerning the Impanation 1818 J. Milner Panl Lindley Lecture in (1819) 42 note, Ostenden taught Impanation, or subjected the real and personal union of the host with Christ's body

Impanator (impæne·itəɹ) [ad med L impānātor em, agent-n f impānāre (see next)] One who holds the doctrine of impanation

1854 H. Cole Doctr Real Presence Note A 4 [transl the author of the 'de Sacramentis'] These His impanators the Lord Jesus clears with the word of His mouth, when He says 'This is My Body' He does not say, 'in this My Body' 1866 F. Harker Peace the Church 258 Others he distinguishes as impanators

† Impa ne, v Obs Also imp- [ad med L impānāre, f im (IM-1) + pānis bread] trans To embody in bread see IMPANATION

1547 Bale Lett I cam Anne Askc 01 24 But now we must believe that he commeth downe many a tt the wyll of the priest, he impaneth or inclosyth hym selfe there in one dramne to be incarnated or inflesshed for our vnworthi nesse sake 1548 Gest Pr Masse in H G Dugdale Life App 1 (1840) 87 Properly termed 3 impaning or enbreding thereof

† Impa·ned, a Obs In † mpained [f IM-1 + PANE + -ED2] Of a window Having panes fitted with (something) in each pane 1595 Drayton Amad Pr 218 A window impained with flaming lights.

Impanel (impæ·nĕl), v [f IM-1 + PANEL] trans To fit with or as with panels

1577 Harrison England III xii (1877) I 234 The chair wherewith our houses are impanelled, as either white, red, or blue

2 To insert as a panel

1596 Nashe Saffron Walden xiv H 474 The painting of Westminster Bridge, impanelled in the wall over the pulpit mantel peece

Impa nel, impa nnel, v another form of IMPANEL

1514 [see IMPANEL] 1586 in 10th Rep Hist MSS Comm App v 440 The Mayor shall impannell a jury of the best 1596 Nashe Saffron Walden H 474 A Jurie was impanell sheight 1623 I. Cook Dutch Inne Song 25 The Coroners Inquest was there impanelled upon the dead corpse 1628 Wotton Archit (1672) 1 A Jurie was impannelled 1817 W. Spence Inne Vitt Justice 41 If 1127 the jurors that are impanelled to inquire of such issue 1832 Hallam's Lit Eur (ed 4) 537/2 Women are impannelled as a jury where a female prisoner is condemned to be executed, and pleads pregnancy

† Impantoufled, ppl a Obs Also offled [Apparently f IM-1 + PANTOUFLE (= slippers).]

1611 Cotgr., Empantouffl, impantoffled or wearing pantoffles Vn empantouffle, a Pooke with a thicke cruste] 1653 Urquhart Rabelais I xxii, A huge impantoffled or thick coated brevity

† Impanpase, v Obs [f IM-1 + pupa pupe the suffix perh after Gr πανπώ, to call (my one) papa] trans To raise to the papacy, to make Pope

1580 Sidney Arcad A 3 If (1926) 1/2 Pope Stephen the 5th and pope Paschalis the 1st were impapised through discord without election of the emperor

† Impaquet, v Obs [ad F empaquet-er, f paquet PACKET see also PACKET] trans To enclose in a packet

1599 Bastian Le Dean of Carlisle to Nowell, Mem 1857 III 381 Of whom I had several letters impaqueted with many others

† Impar, ch Obs [L impar unequal, f im (IM-2) + par equal] A thing unequal to another, pl unequals

1697 tr. Bourgeoisdu Jay's Logic xv 84 Impurity is a diversity in quantity Those things are said to be impars of which one is greater or less than another so silver and gold, gold and virtues, are esteemed to be impars in this sense Talia sunt impar ut aurum et argentum aurum

Imparadise, v Also imparadize [ad L impar, f im- (IM-6) + par equal, even, cf F imparir 1484 in Godef (compl.)]

1 Of a number Uneven, odd

1430 Lydg Bochas IV 1 Ten is 6 In the place of the Impare sette a side put half of the even

2 Unequal unequally matched

1535 Stewart Cron Scot I 572 Perchis thair power thit tymes was impar This Coell thain was sone put to the war [= worse]

Imparadise, empara dise (impa·rădəis, em-), v Also 6–7 IMP- [Corresponds to It imparadisare (Florio), and F emparadiser (1576 in Littré) see IM-1 and PARADISE]

1 trans To place in, or as in, Paradise, to bring into a state of rapture or supreme happiness, to transport, ravish

a 1592 Constable Sonn xiii in, Though Death mee and my loue imparadizeth. 1592 Daniell Delia Wks (1717) 400 She that can my Heart imparadise 1667 Milton P L iv 506 Imparadis't in one anothers arms 1751 Smollett Per Pic (1779) III lxxxi 88 We were imparadised in the ratification of our mutual wishes 1849 Rockster Albany (1848) 209 When he imparadised himself at Richmond β 1598 Florio, Paradisare, to emparadise 1610 Guillim Heraldry IV xiv, As in his burning throne he [David] sits emparadised 1644 Quarles Barnabas & Bess Emparadise thy soul in fresh delights 1882 Miltan Martyr of Antioch 84 Emparadised in bliss 1891 Sir H. Palgrave Norm & Eng I 49 The Greek emparadised by luxury and intellect

2 To make a paradise of (a place or state) a 1658 Cleveland To Sleep 49 Darkness emparadize'd 1776 Mickle tr Camoens' Lusiad 304 Song and Joy im paradised the bowers 1848 Tait's Mag XV 427 Improvements which would have literally imparadised the spot 1849 Mohr in Blackw Mag LXVI 565 The round white moon Imparadises midmost June

Hence Impa radised (-əd) ppl a a 1586 Sidney Arcadia (J.) This imparadised neighbourhood 1606 Lord Homer Ets (1843) II The fruition of an imparadised content 1853 Lafcadio Cuthbert in N. The imparadised spirits of our saints

† Impara rallel, a and sb Obs [f IM-2 + PARALLEL a and sb of next] a adj Unparalleled b sb A thing unparalleled

1643 Trapp Theol Theol 173 Such a rule of imparallell Rhetorick is to be found in that twelfth of Ecclesiastes! 1661 Hist Cleveland 53 in C. Wks (1687) 270 Poore this imparalled soul you will find A Mine of treasures in a Marble's Mind

Imparalleled (impa·rălĕld) a Obs [f IM-2 + paralleled] Without parallel, matchless, unparalleled

1604 Drayton Moses III (R.) Pisga Surveyeth the imparalleled land 1639 J. Bruce tr Camus Moral Relat 119 Image of a faithfull friend, and of a lover imparalleled 1680 Pusbet Rochester (1692) 168 A Thing of such an imparalleled Folly

† Impara rasite. Zool Obs [f IM- + PARASITE] An animal that is not a parasite, applied by Kirby and Spence to certain insects so Imparasi tic a (see quots.)

1816 Kirby & Sp. Entomol (1843) I 21 Those which are insectivorous only in their larva state may be divided into parasites and imparasites, meaning by the latter those that prey upon insects already dead Ibid 22 The imparasitic insect devours chiefly belong to the Hymenoptera

† Impra rdonable, a Obs Also 6 imp- [f IM-2 + PARDONABLE cf F impardonnable, (1581 in Hatz.-Darm.)]

1 Not to be pardoned, unpardonable

1523 in Pickers Foxe I exclxxi 598 They shulde come trespesse so yt it shulde be impardonable 1647 W. Bacon Disc (1657) 26 In which Sin the Lord Kim and People declare it an impardonable crime by the Common Law 1797 Mrs. M. Robinson Walsingham I 40 An act of disobedience which she deemed imparadonable

2 That gives no pardon rare

1625 Bacon Ess (1626) 180 And to the so spilled and polled the nations with impardonable pardons, and mercilesse indulgences

Hence † Impra rdonably adv, unpardonably (In quot actively = unforgivingly merciless)

1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud Ep III xxiv 179 He must impardonably condemn the obstinate Jews

Impare, obs form of IMPAIR v. IMPAR a

† Impa rel, v Obs (See also IMPARET) Altered form of APPAREL v

1556 Chron Gr Friars (Camden) 82 The 19 of August 1553 came in the queenes grace gorgiously impareld with all the resydew of hirs Ladys

Imparesse, obs form of EMPRESS

1497 R. Q. Mare Anc Hist Eng in Thos Wallis & Clark Camb Irridge (1886) I Introd 63 The Imparesse of alle sciences and faculteres, theologie

Imparfit, -fite, obs forms of IMPERFECT

Imparidigitate (impæ·rĭdʒĭtēt), a Zool [f I impar unequal, uneven + DIGITATE] Having an odd number of digits (fingers or toes) on each limb, perissodactyl

1864 Webster cites Huxley

Imparipunnate (-pʌ·nāt), a Bot Also -pennate [ad med L imparipinnatus (Linnæus, 1753) cf prec and PINNATE.] Pinnate (as a leaf) with an odd terminal leaflet

1847 in Craig 1870 Bentley Bot 162 When a pinnate leaf ends in a single leaflet, it is impari-pinnate or unequally pinnate 1876 Harley Mat Med (ed 6) 665 Leaves exstipulate, imparipinnate

Imparisyllabic (-silæ·bik), a (sb) Gram (Also 8–9 errou impara) [f I impar unequal + SYLLABIC cf PARISYLLABIC.] Applied by Greek and Latin nouns which have not the same number of syllables in all the cases e g nom ὄδους, gen ὀδόντος, nom lapis, gen lapidis

1730–6 Bailey (folio) Imparisyllabick. (So Ash, Craig, etc.) 1774 J. Bryant Mythol I 175 We must have regard to the oblique cases, especially in nouns imparisyllabic 1796 Pegge Anonym (1809) 287 The imparisyllabic genitives of the third declension 1813 S. Parr Wks (1828) VII 623 Markland's hypothesis upon the formation of the impara syllabic genitive 1854 De Quincey Autobiog Sk Wks II 268 note, Of the nouns Aeon and Dorom the first belonged to an imparisyllabic declension, the second not so

B. as sb An imparisyllabic noun

1893 Athenæum 5 Aug 189/2 The distinction of pari syllables and imparisyllables is barely indicated

So †Imparibility ibid. rare—
1678 PHILLIPS (ed. 4) Imparisyllabical, not consisting of a like number of syllables in every Case 1721 in BAILEY Imparity (impæ·riti) Now rare or Obs. [ad. late L. imparitas, f. impar unequal, uneven: see IM-2 and PARITY. Cf. F. imparité (13 in Littré).]
1 The quality or condition of being unequal; inequality (in magnitude, degree, or rank). = DISPARITY 1.
1563 in Strype Ann. Ref. (1709) I. xxxv. 44 About matrimony and the virgin state, he had said that there was no imparity, but the vow and dignity of both was equal. 1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor. 463 That there might be no imparitie nor inequalitie at all among his citizens. 1694 ROWSE Regulus v. 58 A commonwealth bears no imparity. A gift of man is a tumor, a disease. 1708 Toleration 19 An imparalled Imparity between your light Affections and the grievous Oppressions of other men. 1840 DE QUINCEY Style II. Wks. 1860 XI. 265 You cannot affirm any imparity where his ground is preoccupied by disparity.
†2 The quality of being unlike, difference in nature or character, dissimilarity. = DISPARITY 2.
1608 TORSELL Serpents (1658) 673 These claws stand not as other Birds do, three together and one by it self but in imparity or dissimilitude, three on the one side, and two on the other. 1687 TOWERSON Baptism 169 There is this great imparity between the cases.
†3 Of numbers. The quality of not being divisible into two equal (integral) parts; uneven-ness; an uneven or odd number. Obs.
1646 Sir J. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. v. 193 By parity or imparity of letters in words is meant, 1658 Card. Cromp. 70 By two and three, the first parity and imparity. 1659 J. PECHE Tarnasus Purg. 56 I owe you Imparity / Good, When He created Stars, created Odd.
Impark (impā·k), v. Also 6 impk, 6–9 empark [a AF empaker (1304 in Godef.), OF emparquer, f. em IM-1, + parc PARK.]
1 trans. To enclose or shut up in a park, as beasts of the chase. Also gen. to enclose, shut up (1304 Year-Bk. 32–33 Edw. I (Rolls) 65 Pour ne vestes emparker.) 1568 GRAFTON Chron. II. 641 The vant-unes strongly emparked themselves with high trenches, and deepe trenches. 1614 B. J. King Lear Travest. 32 The wild boar of the forest that will not be held nor impacked within my bounds. Ibid. 1400–50 Alexander 5499 Artheuus ane whitt knaue dyd no be imparkis, And ane ser Iarbyn. 1491 Act. Parl. Scot. I. 208 § 5. His dowgheter, before passe away maykne and reteigne unto the tyme that the rent be fully payed. 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie II. xiii. (Arb. 112) Holding unparked as it were, Her people to be herded of feere. 1665 Sir J. Kaye's Jrn. E. Ind. in C. Havers Della salle's Voy. 159 Their they see no where imparked. 1698 MAKKELL Poems Wks. III. 198 Which of all his mistake cure? / Impark the wanton mole of the?
2 To enclose (land) for a park, to fence in. 1535 Act 27 Hen. VIII, c. 22 They have in once obtained of the kinges said tenures to impaire the same. 1548 ORDEST Thirs. Poesie 87 Emparke or enclose for thy commoditee. 1611 SPEED Theat. Gt. Brit. xxx. (1614) 59/1 Woods there are plenty, and many of them impacked. 1635 KENSHAM Tax Tutty 16. Licence to impark his woods there.
Hence Imparked (impā·kt) ppl. a. in quot. 1872 = surrounded by or situated in a park). Imparking vbl. sb., enclosure of land for a park; also Imparka tion = prec.
1547 HOOPER Declar. Christ Decal. One in dum and land, divided from all the world by breaking of the sea. 1550–6 LAMBARDE Eirenarch Kent (1826) 473 The pleasures of the imparked grounds there. 1710 Lond. Gaz. No. 4717/2 To bring in a Bill to encourage the improving, &c. 1872 J. CLAYDEN Ilman in Spite of Himself I. iii. 126 There a golden girt valley and emparked mansions. 1886 Antiquary Dec. 241 Inquire into buildings lately destroyed for imparkation of lands.
Impark (impā·k) v. Obs. exc. Hist. Also 4–9 impk, 5–7 parle [a obs. F. emparler to speak, plead, f. em IM-1, + parler to speak.]
†1 intr. To speak together, or with another, upon a matter, to confer, consult, parley. Obs.
1492 BRETON Fant. 4 § 6 Et i cuntost voyseni les jurours in utter part ou ses meanes pur emparle. 1579–80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 25 The two Generals impacked together with their heritages. 1580 HOLLAND Livy v. 1 They put me the Volsciens called the Consull forth to emparle.
2 Law. To have license to settle a litigation amicably, to obtain delay for adjustment. (What on Law Lex.) Obs. in practice, exc. HIST. 2.
1461 Paston Lett. No. 282 II. 8 He, prayed hem, of he testament of my maister your Fader, and therof make another mater, he cause they had emplied to us by fore. 1531 Dial. on Laws of Eng. I. xxxv. (1638) 41 He shall take a day to emparle at the same terme. 1613 SIR H. FINCH Law (1636) 455 In an appeale of Robberie if the defendant plead a plea whereby his life should come in iopardie, the Plaintife shall not emparle vnto it but must answer Sedente curia. 1767 BLACKSTONE Comm. III. xxi. 358 The demandant desires leave of the court to imparl or confer with the vouchee in private, which is (or was) allowed him. 1844 WILLIAMS Real Prop. I. ii. (1877) 47 †3 trans. To talk over, to discuss. Obs. rare.
1600 DYMMOK Ireland (1841) 50 [The matter] was first imparled between themselves in private. 1805 in Spirit Pub. Journ. (1806) IX. 281 My Lord, your leave I humbly crave t' imparle it!
Hence Im-, emparling conference, parleying.
1450–80 in Secreta Secret. (E. E. T. S.) 53 When this em parling is done, than rusth on of the wrist lords.

Imparl (impā·l), v. Also 6–7 em-, impark, 7 -ance [a AF emparlance, f. emparler see prec. and -ANCE.]
†1 The action of speaking together upon a matter, esp. before taking action, conference, debate, discussion, parleying. Obs.
1579–80 NORTH Plutarch (1676) 505 After this imparlance [with Metellus] Antiochus came and did put himself about with a Will. 1596 SPENSER T. of V. 50 With his Lord she would emparlance make. 1627 F. C. Hist. Adv. H. (1680) 2 The will have no Imparlance, no discoursing. 1828 Examiner 273/2 This by way of imparlance and more to revert to the bourne whence no suitor ever returns. Chancery.
2 Law. An extension of time to put in a response in pleading a case, on the fictitious ground of a desire to negotiate for an amicable settlement, a continuance of the case to another day, a petition for, or time granted for, such delay. (Abolished in 1833.) Also fig.
1601 2 Parliam. 1st Pt. Parnell 59 In a Writ brought by one as vouchee and heire to I. N., after imparlance the tenant cannot plead to the Writte that he is Chaundler, that hee is not heire. 1613 SIR H. FINCH Law (1636) 434 Imparlance, is when the defendant demaundeth day to see if he will plead in the writte without further suite, which he may do once, but not oftner. 1713 SMITH Cod. nov. & Luminous 122 But with rejoinders and triplers Demur, imparlance and reveyn. The prizes never could come to an end. 1828 JACKSON'S Comm. III. xx. 209 The defendant before he pleads is intitled to demand one imparlance, or to crave leyonde: and this may have more grounded by consent of the plaintiff, to see if he can end the matter amicably without further suit by talking, with the plaintiff. 1840 Francis Maj. 1xxii. 288 An imparlance was a duly paid fee of the bar. 1853 Rules of Court, Trin. Term xxxi, No entry or continuance, by way of imparlance or otherwise, shall be made upon any record or in the pleadings.
†Impra rlee. Obs. rare Also emparle [f. as prec. after parlee PARLEY.] = IMPARLANCE 1595 SHAK. Lr. Com. 2431 They caused they trum peters to sounde the Ilist of emparlee, [Hearing a trumpet] that composition of either part might be made to auoyde the imminent slaughter.
†Impra rlement, em-. Obs. rare [f. IMPARL v. + -MENT.] = IMPARLANCE Imparlment adj. (1428 in Godef.).
1450–80 in Secreta Secret. (E. E. T. S.) 24 Haue em parlement with them of the nedis of the Rewme.
†Imparler Obs. rare—[f. IMPARL v. + -ER1 (OF emparlier, -ler advocate.)] One who imparls.
1611 COTGR. Parlier, a Pleader Imparler.
Imparour, Imparre, obs. ff. EMPEROR, EMPIRE.
Impar sonee (impārsōnī or a Lat law Also 7 imperssonee [f. med.L. impersonata, f. im (IM-2) + persona PERSON after such adjs. as applicata (ult. ad L. applicātus) associata, etc.] In Impar sonee a clergyman duly presented, instituted, and inducted into a parsonage or rectory.
1607 COWELL Interpr. s. v. Parson, Parson impersonee Parson impropriatour is he that is in possession of a church Ibid., A Deane and chapter be persons impersonees of a benefice appropriated unto them. 1613 SIR H. FINCH Law (1636) 131 This plea must be, That the Church is full of his presentment which a person impersonee cannot say. 1765 BLACKSTONE Comm. I. xi. 391 When a clerk is thus presented, instituted, and inducted into a benefice, he is then in full and complete possession, and is called in law persona impersonata or parson impersonee. 1815 STEPHEN Comm. Laws Eng. II. Notes 657 Impart (impā·t), v. Also 5–6 im-, 5–7 imparte, 6–7 empart 7 import [a OF em-, im-partir (14th c. in Godef.) ad. L. impartīre (usu. impertire) to share, communicate, bestow, f. IM-1 + partire to PART.]
1 trans. To give a part or share of, to make another a partaker of, to bestow, give, communicate. Usually (now only) with immaterial object, e.g. a condition, quality, etc.
1477 CAXTON Jason 139 But if I unlese the goddes impart to me their grace to be in grete danger of our lyues. 1583 STANYHURST Descr. Ireland (Arb.) 89 These vices impanted no light. 1599 B. JONSON Every Man out of Humour II. iii. Thou hast impanted two grooms, or half a crown to our use. 1609 BIBLE (Douay) Ezek. xviii. 19 Cannot God doth not imburste by imparting, malice, but by not imparting, mercie. 1630 PRYNNE Anti-Armin. 138 How can he such a freedome of will imparted unto all men. 1756 C. LUCAS Ess. Waters I. 121 To the different solvents it imparts different colors. 1858 HOLLAND Titcomb's Lett. viii. 77 You are worth to society the happiness you are capable of imparting. 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I. 194 In a short time they can impart their skill to any one.
b absol.
1601 B. JONSON Poetaster iii ad fin. Did not Minos impart? 1659 JER. TAYLOR Serm. xxxiii. 1 Let us be ready to impart, and glad to communicate. 1661 BIBLE Luke iii. 11 He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none. 1853 ROBERTSON Serm. Ser. III. xvi. 271 Let the rich impart to those who are not rich.
†2 = into (with). To part with. Obs. rare.
1666 G. WOODCOCK tr. Hist Justin 136 b. They impart with many thousands of their store into Italy.
3 To communicate as knowledge or information, to make known, tell, relate. Const. to, formerly sometimes with (a person) arch (or merged in 1).
1547 SURREY Prisoner in Windsor in Tottell's Misc. (Arb.) 14 The secrete thoughtes imparted with such trust 1577 DALTON Country Justice I. 1 Inuite to impart with my countrey men some such secretes. 1596 SHAKS. Merch. L. III. ii. 246 When I did first impart my loue to you. 1656 J. B. HARRIS Parival's Iron Age (ed. 2) 64 The Embassadours imparted the news to their friends. 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 58 ¶ 2 I shall from Time to Time impart my Notions of Comedy. 1831 BREWSTER Newton (1855) II. xiv. 14 It does not appear that Newton imparted any of these methods to his mathematical friends.
†b absol. To make known one's mind, to hold communication. Obs.
1625 BACON Ess., Counsel (Arb.) 21 King Henry the seventh imparted himselfe to none, except it were to Morton and Fox. 1649 CROMWELL Writ Aff. Ir. (1742) 4 Imparting himself equally to all Men. 1663 H. MORE Inited 4th an. xiv (1712) 132 The holy man that so freely imparted himself to Bodies.
†4 To have or get a share of, to share, partake. 1581 J. BELL Haddons Answere 109 Yet might not this power be imparted then with other Ministers in such wise. 1639 WEBSTER Appius & Virg. I. iii, Grieves it thee, To impart my sad disaster? 1655 HEYWOOD & ROWLEY Lectures Londini II. Wks. 1874 VI. 328, I am likely to impart his losse.
†b intr. To share, take part, or partake in. 1477 Instr. Jrnls. Scotland II. Thus that wowdde utterly inparte with hym at hesell and worcke for hym self. 1615 HEYWOOD Iconic Prentices I. Wks. 1874 IV. 194 You desire nothing to impart in this my loue.
‡ See apart.
1530 PALSGR. 501/1, I impartte I judge not, I impute thynges, I take parte of one and parte of another je mes ensemble je prens part dung et dautre. [The reference to I judge is not been verified.]
Hence Impa rted ppl. a., Impa rting vbl. sb. and ppl. a.
1611 COTGR. Communication also a participation imparting or making comm on a thing with others. 1653 HOLE Vindiciæ Judæi Tally 15 Those whom God hath first made Saints, and then Apostles, should be sanctified by the imparting of them. 1848 R. I. WILBERFORCE Incarnat. our Lord xiv (1849) 386 That holiness which is perfect must be the imparted holiness of Christ.
Impartable (impā·rtăbl) a. rare [f. prec. + -ABLE.] Capable of being imparted, communicable. IMPARTIBLE 2.
1643 R. CH. Sacred Arcanamenta 15 Vnto it they lay His secret thoughts which he received not impartable into any.
Impartance (impā·rtăns) rare [f. IMPART v. + -ANCE.] Notion [analogy.]
1811 SHELLEY Let. to Miss Hitchener (1857) 18 The balance between two opposing impartances. 1812 WEBSTER Impartancia, communication of advice.
Impartation (impārtē·ʃən). [f. IMPART + -ATION. Cf. L. formation as impertitio 2.] The action of imparting, impartment, communication.
1828 WEBSTER cites CHALMERS. 1834 COLERIDGE Confess. (1849) 22 The miracle consisting in the impartation of a power to discourse. 1859 J. LILLIE Expos. Epist. Paul The Divine impartation of religious truth. 1885 J. BROWN Bunyan 256 The impartation of the new nature of sonship in Christ.
†Impra rtener Obs. [irreg. f. IMPART v. + partner.] One who imparts information, used by Puttenham as an equivalent of the rhetorical figure ANACOENOSIS.
1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie III. xix (Arb.) 235 Another we call impartener, because many times in pleading and persuading, we thinke it a very good policie to acquaint our iudge or hearer or very aduersarie with some point of our counsell and to take their opinion [marg. Anacoenosis or the Impartener.]
Impa rter (impā·rtəɹ) [f. IMPART v. + -ER1.] One who or that which imparts, a communicator, bestower.
1599 B. JONSON Every Man out of Hum. Dram. Pers., Wellt, a thread bare shark, lives upon lendings, making pays speaches for Imposters. 1600 HOLLAND Heliodorus 39 The Imparter of the gift. 1663 BOYLE Usefulness Exp. Nat. Philos. v. Wks. 1772 II. 61 They may often learn that in a few moments, which cost the imparters many a year's toil and study. 1875 H. C. WOOD Therap. (1879) 126 Alcohol is a short therapeutic value in acute disease is a sustenant, a temporary imparter of power to bridge over some period of weakness.
Impartial (impā·ʃăl), a. [f. IM-2 + PARTIAL. Cf. F. impartial (1732 Dict. de Trévoux).]
1 Not partial, not favouring one party or side more than another, unprejudiced, unbiased, fair, just, equitable. (Of persons, their conduct etc.)
1593 SHAKS. Rich. II, I. i. 115 Impartiall are our eyes and eares. 1601 CHAMBERLAIN Let. (1861) 130 The most innocent and impartiall of all men. 1663 BOYLE Occas. Reflect. III. 72 A clear and a right Judging Conscience must be alwayes Impartial . . it must judge . . by Evidence, and nothing by Inclination. 1769 Junius Lett. xxxv. 181 Their sovereign, if not favourable to their cause, at least was impartial. 1828 THIRLWALL Greece II. xxxi. 384 His cause was never submitted to an impartial tribunal.
†2 Not partial or fragmentary, entire, complete. Obs. rare.
1716 BEAUMAIS Hale (17.) I. 5 The Obedience which God requires is impartial and universal, the Obedience of the whole Man

¶ 3 Misused for partial Obs
1797 Shaks Lear v. Iyt Qo. 1, 1836 Cruel vnnus, an partiall destinues, Why to this day haue you preseru'd my life? 1600 Sea-fram the Roman State (N.), You are impar tiall, and we do appeal I rom you to judges more indifferent

Impartialist (impā ʃālist) rare [f prec + IST.] One who professes impartiality, one who has or claims the character of being impartial 1661 Boyle Style of Scripts (1675) 76, I am professedly enough an impartialist, not to stick to confess that I read the Bible and the learnedst expositors on it, with somewhat particular aims 1767 I. Cruikshank (title) The Impartialist, a Poem 1883 Women voting Pall Mall 4 A movement set on foot by Conservative impartialists

Impartiality (impāʃiʃæ·lĭti [f Impartial + -ity Cf f. impartialite 1572, in Hatz D.)]

1 The quality of character of being impartial, freedom from prejudice or bias, fairness

1611 Cotgr. Justice, vprightnesse, indifference, impartialitie 1612 15 Bp Hall Contempl., V. i. 11 In. There must needs be sinnes, as strange and impartiality 1709 Litt. Hist. Tom Jones v. 11 It is almost impossible for the best parent to observe an exact impartiality to his children 1802–12 Bp Watson Apol. f. Bible (1834) VI. 360 Where is the cause in which any the slightest departure from the rule of impartiality is anything less than criminal on the part of the judge? 1856 H. Rogers Ess., Thiers Prof (1863) 6 To maintain a tone of historic impartiality

†2 Completeness of Impartial 2 Obs rare
1716 Buckley Hist. 167–71 536 Whatever Commands those art pleased to bestow on a Agent that we might from them with such speed and Impartiality, as the holy Angels in Heaven do

Impartially (impā ʃāli), adv [f as prec. + -LY2.] In an impartial manner, without favour ing one more than another, without prejudice or bias, fairly, equitably

1611 Cotgr., Justement, iustly, indifferently, impartially 1615 Chapman Odyss. XIX. 244 (Rod.), Whose equall hand impartially doth temper Greatnesse and goodnesse 1721 Steele Spect No. 17 P 1 It is hard for a Man to judge of his own Actions impartially 1783 Hailes Ann. Scot. (1819) 70 They never weighed impartially the evidence 1835 Browning Luria act iii. 103 Another loved to hear impartially before he judged

Impartialness rare [f as prec + -NESS.] The quality of being impartial, impartiality

1643 W. Cotesworth Stear R. of 2 You see the severity of God in his impartialness to saints every one 1655 Trapp Tit. i. 1. 21 IV. 70 Wks. 1870 II 293 A Thing that would give him A surance of Your Majesty's Impartialness

Impartibility [f Impartible + -ity] The quality or condition of being impartible or not subject to partition

1646 Jeanes Pulm Christ 179 The impartibility or indivisibility of the Godhead 1750 Carte Hist. Eng. II. 125 The elder sister and her issue should be preferred as well on account of her primogeniture as the impartibility of the Kingdom 1764 J. Lettsom Nat. Hist. III. 121 Seagers The impartibility of them (military fief) is ascribed by some writers to a constitution made by the emperor Frederick Barbarossa 1788 I. Jones Preface I. 117 Those forms which on account of their simplicity and impartibility, hold a superior rank among principles

Impartible [f Imparti- + -ble] Capability of being imparted, communicability

1828 Webster Impartibility The quality of being capable of being communicated (Hence in later Dicts.)

Impartible (impā·ʇtibl) adj [ad late I impartibilis, f. im- (In- 2) + partibilis Partible.] Incapable of being parted or divided, not subject to partition or division into parts, indivisible Now chiefly in legal use, of an estate 1586 Bright Melancth 28 In a nature so simple and impartible 1640 B. Jonson Passions xxiii 94 The soule, being a spiritu al and impartible substance can have nothing severed from it 1767 Blackstone Comm II. xiv. 215 When the empress Irene, in order to reste honors from it was found necessary to make them impartible, or feoda indivisa, and in consequence descendible to the eldest son alone 1788 I. Taylor Preface I. 119 All of them are cased in intellect, but in an impartible manner 1890 Times 8 Mar. 4/6 The question whether the estate was partible or impartible

B as sb Something that is indivisible

1788 I. Taylor Preface I. 118 1789 Ibid II. 7 Impartibles are pure from corporeal mixture, and external motion

†Impartible, *a*2 Obs rare [f. impart v. + -ible (more correctly impertible)] to impart see -IBLE.] Capable of being imparted

1631 J. Powell Tom All Trades 142, I desired to know so much thereof as might be imparti ble to a friend of so small worth 1730–6 Bailey (folio), Impartible, that may be imparted

Impartibly (impā·ʇtibli), adv [f Impartible + -ly2.] So as to be incapable of partition, indivisibly a 1631 Donne Serm ii (1640) 28 The soul of man is, in divisibly impartibly, one entire 1677 Gale Crt Gentiles IV 255 The Deitie is multiplied in things partible impartibly tho is multiplied as to operations yet without the least multiplicitie in it self 1789 I. Taylor Proclus II 412 For the soul does not contain the things according to magnitude, and locally, but impartibly, and without distance

Impartibleness (impā·ʇtibl'nĕs) rare [f as prec + -NESS.] Incapable of being partici pated or shared 1789 I. Taylor Proclus II 335 All participated by postaces are reduced to impartibleness essences 1816 Proclus Hym Theol clxix II 409 Every multitude of unities which is participated by every impartibleness is superintended 1839 Bailey Festus (1852) 151 Each star reigns, In impartibleness supreme 1868 Cassells Bible xvi 191 The title being, impartibleness, it must necessarily remain in the elder

B as sb Something that is incapable of being shared 1789 I. Taylor Proclus II 190 Every impartibleness produces twofold orders of things participated

Impartible (impā·ʇtibl) adj [f Im-2 + partibilis divided, Partible.] Not divided into parts undivided

1862 F. Hall Ben tu Pfister 3511 248 The impartible in intellect stands in subjection to the objects of ignorance

Impartment (impā·ʇtmĕnt [f Impart v. + -ment Cf f. impartimento (Florio)] The fact of imparting, or that which is imparted, bestowal, communication, esp of knowledge or information (cf Impart v. 2), a communication

1600 Shaks Much Ado II. i. 8 It becomes you to go away with it, with some impartment did desire To you alone 1647 M. Hudson Div. Right Govt II. xix 156 God ordained Kings to be his instruments in the impartment of these outward blessings 1683 Petyt Habe Rom 1 Deal Not to publish it, lest the Common sort of People should take an ill use of its important 1824 Hone Scott 118, 81 I sat To ensure the grateful impartment of the sad news 1881 Westcott Comm Gospel John 2 The impartment of the Holy Spirit

†Impa·rture Obs rare [f as prec + -ure cf departure.] The action of imparting

1610 W. Bedingham Int. of Sacr 11 6 The impartiture of the same fruitfull Word v. 28 The same good increase, not so much through the impartiture of any fatherly, as the fruitfull, by fostering the wilde loose seed Impassability impassible bliti [f next sec. + -ity.] The quality or condition of being impassable, with pl an impassable place etc.

1772 Mrs Delany Life Ser II I 139 The impassability of the way between this and Whitehall 1865 Life in Norfolk I. 170 Owing to the wet and bad state of the cross holidays 1880 Mrs. Bird Japan I 358 Ignorant of the impassability of the road to Oshi

Impassable (impā·sabl), a [f Im-2 + Passable.] That cannot be passed

1 That cannot be passed along, through, or across, impossible to traverse or travel through

1568 North Gwara's Dial Pr (1582) 416 A bridge for world impassable 1611 Speed Theat Gt Brit 1 19 All the Country is full of impassable Woods 1705 Stanhope Paraphr III 150 The impassable Gulf fixed between us and them 1842 H. Wilson First Indian Exp I. 1 It were most impolitic to fix for ever impassable bounds to the public revenues 1860 Tyndall Glac I. xii 89 The ice, though badly split, is in no respect impassable

†2 That cannot pass (way or through) Obs

1780 M. Mayo Theophrath 24 II 219 But the priesthood of Christ himself is unassailable, impassable from Him to us 1832 J. Hamilton Mis I 1 United in such an impassable, though Heaven's gates as is a camel through the needle's eye

3 That cannot be 'passed over' or made to pass rare

1865 G. H. Phillips Emes Faber Carm II 28 To cut a road built thereby to render it impassable 1887 All Mall Gaz 21 June, 1 When half a million suspects in circulation the half sovereign practically impassable

Hence Impa·ssableness, Impa·ssably adv

1737 Bailey vol II, Impassableness 1801 Cruwell Tour Wales 1 Impassably Roads are ours used to come here by reason of the impassableness of the boggy soil 1828 Webster Impassable 1865 Miss Whitney Gayworthys I. 205 God knows what impassableness between their two suffering hearts

†Impasse (impā·s, impa·s; [f (Voltaire), f im- (In-2) + stem of passer to Pass.] A road or way leading nowhere, a blind alley, a cul-de-sac

Also fig A position from which there is no way of escape, a 'fix'

1852 H. Greville Tea en Pr Diary 361 He ought to have given battle before plunging the country into this impasse 1874 Helps Soc Pressure ix 203 A cul de sac and an impasse 1877 Mrs. Forrester Viola I. 18 Somewhere off Piccadilly, among the curious little impasse of the Mayfair maze

Impassibility (impăsibĭlĭti) Also 4 Impa- [f impassibilité 1381, in Hatz Darm.] ad l impassibilitās tr Gr ἀπαθεια, Jerome, f impassibilis (see next) The quality of being impassible

1 Incapability of, or exemption from, suffering, insusceptibility to injury

a 1340 Hampole Psalter lxxii 38 He sall gif vertu of in passibilite 1496 Dicts & Sayings (W. de W.) iii. 128 Men shall haue there impassybylyte & helth of bodyr without ii manner sekenesse 1579 Fulke Heskins Parl 320 Christ is God because of his impassibilitie, man for his passion 1678 Cudworth Intell Syst I iv. § 15 280 In corruptibility, Perfection, Impassibility a 1792 Horne Wks IV xxii (R) The perfect impassibility of heaven 1803 Fairbairn Christ in Mod Theol 481 Theology has no fairer title than that of the impassibility of God

2 Incapability of feeling or emotion, insensibility

1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor 74 They do terme those joyes, those promptitudes of the will by the name of Eupathies, the good affections and not of Apathies, that is to say, Impassibilities 1825 Southey in Q. Rev XIII 451 This impassability this Satanic indifference to the means which he used and the misery which he occasioned, Marshal Soult possessed 1840 Mill Diss & Disc, A de Vigny (1859) I. 309–10 Spartan and Stoical impassability 1876 Geo Eliot Dan Der v. xxxv, Well-cut impassability of face

Impassible (impa·sibl), a (Erron in 4bl, 7–9 -able) [in F impassible (13–14th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), or ad eccl L impassibilis, f im- (Im-2) + passibilis Passible.]

1 Incapable of suffering or pain, not subject to suffering (Chiefly Theol.)

a 1340 Hampole Psalter lxxi. 6 He is in generations in possibles, that is, of generations possible 1508 Dial Crastin Mun (W. de W.) vii. H iv (Stanf.), They shall be immortall and impassible 1534 More Comf Agst Trib III xxvi (1573) 1057 Tel him that his body shall be impassible, & neuer feele harme 1667 Decay Chr Piety Pref A v 3, That impassible state, where all tears shall be wiped from our eyes 1782 Priestley Corrupt Chr I. i. 26 Corinthius thought that the Christ was impassible 1871 Alabaster Wheel of Law 108 An impassible, insensible, immovable spirit

2 Incapable of suffering injury or detriment

1491 Caxton Vitas Patr II (W. de W. 1495) 220, b 2 The hauen of salua con Impassyble that is to saye to the hauen that cuer shall last without ende 1564 Gataker Transubst 27 Christs body if it were broken and divided, would bee spoiled but that it is impossible, because it is impassible 1658 Cudworth Intell Syst I. v 814 The Angelical Body, is so devoid of gross Matter, that it can pass through any Solid thing being more Impassible than the Sunbeams 1676–82 H. Brooke Fool of Quality (1809) II 32 Virtue that I deemed to be impassible, unassailable 1839 Bailey Festus v (1852) 60 Impassible as air, one grew it And indestructible as the sea

3 Incapable of feeling or emotion, impassive, insensible, unimpressible

1598 Bacon Conffer Pleas (1870) 5 If a man could make himself impassible of pleasure, he would make himself at one labour impassible of pain 1696 Norris Reflections (1704) I. 48 Some Men of Rocky Hearts, and impassible Tempers, that could stand by, and see the whole World in Flames without any Concern 1852 Thackeray Esmond II. iv. He was impassible before victory, before danger, before defeat 1878 Good Words Jan. 21/1 He was a wise old Wood's exterior from its former impassibleness

Impassibly (impa·sibli, adv [f as prec + -ly2.] In an impassible manner

1677 Gale Crt Gentiles III. 221 God is also the Son, who always, eternally, infinitely, impassibly is begotten of the Father 1872 Dod Peter Stedfastness iv 353 He walked to the window, and gazed out as impassibly as he had done at the beginning of the interview

†Impa·ssing, vbl sb Obs [f Im-1 + Passing vbl sb.] Passing or passage into 1545 St. John Mary (1834) 45 Of the inessensible Impassing of Jesu and George when he passed out of England

Impassion (impa·ʃən), v Also 6–9 em- [ad It impassionare, (Florio), f im- (Im-1) + passione Passion.] trans To fill or inflame with passion, to infuse passion into, to stir the passions or feelings of, to excite deeply or strongly Also absol

1597 Shenst Daphn v. My soule it deepely doth em passion 1593 Nashe (Christ's) (1613) 25 Sore am I impassioned for the sweete my humanitie is to child with 1647 H. More Song of Soul II. xxxiii, Doth not that sad sight empassion his good spright With deeper sorrow? a 1704 Lovers Impassion'd With outward forms 1804 W. Taylor in Ann. Rev II. 247 The whole narrative agitates and impassions like a novel 1817 Coleridge Biog Lit I 302 Those, almost alone, who can infuse passion the style of the recipient immediately preceding 1894 Stop Brooke Tennyson xii 186 Its subject im passioned its writer

Impassionable (impa·ʃənăbl), a [f Impassion v. + -able.] Easily roused to passion, excitable

1864 in Webster

Impassionate (impa·ʃənĕt, a 1 Now rare Also 6 em- [ad It impassionato, pa pple of impassionare, see Impassion v.] = Impassioned (in Spenser const as pass. pple of impassion)

1590 Marlowe 2nd Pt Tamburl little's Tamburlaine, with his impassionate fury 1596 Spenser F. Q. v. ix 46 With the neare touch whereof in tender hart The British Prince wox sore empassionate 1812 Coleridge in Morning Chronicle 2 The vehement and impassionate partizan of Mr Wilkes

Impassionate, *a*2 Now rare [f Im-2 + Passionate Cf med L impassionatus.] Free from, or not governed by, passion, calm, dispassionate

1621 Burton Anat Mel I. ii. 1 (1676) 117/2 It stirs up dull Symptoms and a kind of stupidity, or impassionate hurt 1644 Bp Hall Rem Wks (1660) 123 It being the doctrine of that (Stoick) sect, that a wise man should be impassionate 1664 Leighton Def Mod Popp. Wks (1868) 637 Upon the exactest of impartial and impassionate inquiry 1850 Tait's Mag XVII 106/1 Spirits whose dwelling is with simple impassionate truth

Impassionate (impa·ʃənĕt), v Also 7 em [f Impassionate *a.*1 see -ate3.]

1 trans. = IMPASSION

a 1641 Br Mountagu Acts & Mon (1642) 264 Alexandria was above all empassionated for his death 1668 H More Div Dial III iv 185 A very empassionating strain of Poetry 1669 Addr. Ingenl yng Lovers Eng. 61 The object possessing and impassionating you 1685 H More Paræ Prophet 11 With a moving and empassion ating Rhetorick 1837 Whipple Characteriv (1866) 97 Genius impassionates soaring imagination into settled purpose

+2 intr To be or become impassioned Obs

1639 G. Daniel Vertu. 234 Thus fired my Rage let it enflame thy verse, I empassionate For me 1646 – Poems Wks 1878 I 63 How shall wee speake of him? what Numbers being I empassionate, and worthy Organs sing?

Impassionated, ppl a [f as Impassionate v + -ed] = Impassioned

1596 R Ienchi Dialla (1877) 52 What rare impassionated fits he threw. a 1642 Br Montagu Acts & Mon (1642) 230 The Question was a long time canvassed up and downe with impassionated virulency 1887 F W Robinson In Hand Hands II 111 The young, impassionated, hand-some suitor

Impa·ssionately, adv [f Impassionate a 1 + -ly2] In an impassioned manner, passionately

1805 tr La Fontaines Hermann & L II 270 He beheld the Prince impassionately throw himself at her feet 1839 Fraser's Mag XIX 362 [He] begged for succour, impassionately, though silently 1869 Daily News 31 Aug., Their brethren in France impassionately and even reproachfully inviting them to return

Impassioned (impa··sond), ppl a Also 7 9 em [f Impassion v + -ed1, corresp to It impassionato] Filled or inflamed with passion, having the feelings deeply moved or excited; passionate, ardent (Of persons, or of feeling, speech, action, etc.)

1603 B Jonson Sejanus v Wks (Rildg.) 1756 Fortune varying her compassion'd moods 1667 Milton P L IX 598 The Tempter all impassioned thus began 1791 Mrs Radcliffe Rom Forest xi, Soft music sounded the most tender and impassioned airs 1838 Southey Doctor cxlvi V 128 Personification a common figure in all empassioned speech 1838 Dickens Nich Nick vi, The tears fell to the closed her impassioned appeal 1889 Mrs A Fraser Lady Cahnl I ii 36 He is impressed of her

Hence Impa ssionedly adv., Impa ssionedness

1844 Th Houghton Mem Many Scenes, Lisbon Im passionedly, The old Venetian was warming those words 1896 W Graham Mem J Macfarlane vi 301 He preached with plainness, directness impassionedness 1898 Nat Rev Jan 746 The impassionedly modern Archbishop

Impa ssionment, sb [f Impassion v + -ment] The action of impassioning or the fact of being impassioned

1837 C Lofft, Jun Self-formation II xiii 296 His spirit, vivid, flashing and burning, to the highest pitch of impassionment when once thoroughly excited Impassive (impa·siv), a [f Im-1 + Passive] 1 Having the quality of not feeling pain, not subject or liable to suffering = Impassible 1

1667 Milton P L VI 455 Indamaged with adamantine amplest armour adapt 1708 Rowe Royal Convert v 1, The fire impassive Soul mounts on the Wing, Wraps in the Rocks, and tort ring Flames a 1792 Wesley Serm xv, While he was innocent, he was impassive, incapable of suffering 1827 Shelley Hellas 1821 The fiery heart, the impassive soul, Scorn thy control!

2 Naturally without sensation, inanimate, not susceptible of physical impression or injury, insensible, unbreakable a 1687 Cotton On Snuff (R.), The lover meets the willing air, And fondly grasps impassive air 1711 Pope Temp Fame 96 On the impassive Ice the light mass, play 1780 Burke Sp Econ Reform Wks 1842 I 243 Death's lonneers over every thing, but the forms of the exchequer

They are impressive and immortal 1876 Beaugr Songs Kelly & Isles 18 Does like the thin impassive air, Deal heat the grasp of sublest thoughted sage

3 Deprived of feeling or sensation, insensible, unconscious

1848 Dickens Dombey i, The two medical attendants ceased to look on the impassive form with so much compassion and so little hope 1891 Alexander Wheel of Law 194 The impassive state is only transient

3 Deficient in, or void of, mental feeling or emotion, not susceptible to mental impressions, unimpressionable, apathetic, also, in good sense, not liable to be disturbed by passion, serene

1689 Garth Dispens v 6 to find How body acts upon impassive mind 1725 Pope Odyss II 313 Impassive and serene The man entrans d would view the deathful scene 1858 Froude Hist Eng (1858) I v 199 Clement had maintained an attitude of impassive reserve 1871 H Ainsworth Tower Hill I v, He looked hard at Sir Anthony, but could read nothing in the knight's impassive countenance 1874 Green Short Hist VIII v 727 Even the impassive Chesterfield cried in despair, 'We are no longer a nation'

4 Unendurable, intolerable = Impassible 4 rare

1828 W Irving Columbus (1828) I 38 A torrid zone separating the hemispheres by a region of impassive heat

Impassively (impa·sivli), adv [f prec + -ly2] In an impassive manner

1828 in Webster a 1849 Hood Kaunana Cologne viii, In vain I fond arms impassively he lies, Clay cold to her caresses, 1871 Daily News 16 Aug, The same croupiers will impassively rake up your money

Impassiveness (impa·sivnes) [f as prec + -ness] The quality or condition of being impassive, want of feeling or emotion, insensibility, apathy

1648 W Mountagu Devout Ess I vi 81 53 The power of remaining in a calme apathy and impassiveness e in all offensive emergencies 1657 Pierce Dev Delusion Ded 3 He hath communicable Attributes as well as Attributes incommunicable not only Impassiveness but patience 1817 Coleridge Biographia III 264 [sic] The impassiveness with which Hell sometimes glowers her volcanoes 1866 Geo Eliot F Holt I ii 66 A hand come impassiveness of face

Impassivity (impasi·viti [f as prec + -ity] = prec

1794 J Taylor tr Pausanias cited in Webster 1828 1822 — Apuleius 307 Whose hum an souls that descend into the regions of mortality with humanity and purity were called heroes 1837 Carlyle Fr Rev III iv vii, Cold severe rate, impassivity, fortified to itself even in Tartarous 1874 T Hardy Far fr Mad Crowd ix, Compressing her lips to a demure impassivity

Impastation (impast·ē·shn) [n of action f Impaste v + -ation] = impastation (1690 in Litre tire) The formation of a paste, also concr (see quot 1727)

1727 41 Chambers Cycl Impastation, the mixture of divers materials of different colours and consistences, baked or bound together with some cement, and hardened either by the air, or fire Impastation is sometimes a sort of mosaic work, made of smalts, or stone ground small, and wrought up again in manner of a paste 1852 Mayne Expos Lex, Impastatio, old term for the making of dry powders into a paste by means of some fluid impastation

Impaste (impē·st) v Also 7–8 em- [ad It impastare 'to empaste, to raise paste, to put into paste Also to leplaister' (Florio, 1611), f im (Im 1) + pasta Paste Cf F empâter, in Cotgr empastel]

1 trans To enclose in or encrust with or as with a paste

1598 T Thoma Dial Diet, Impastato, impasted or rued with diete a 1727 R Cumberland Mem (1806) I 53 The hide grows stiff and hard, scorched and impasted with the feverish heat 1814 Chr Dicks Manuf 90 Wood and silk may be viewed with most advantage impasted in Canada balsam slightly thinned with oil of turpentine

2 To make or form into a paste or crust

1576 Baker Jewell of Health 92 b Of these make a paste, letting it to stand impasted together for certaine dayes 1600 Surflet Countr Farme II xiii 486 With blood Feathers Mothers, Doughters, Sonnes, Stalk'd and impasted with the parching streets 1666 Merrett tr Neris Art of Glass xxxvii Mixed, tempered, and impasted with the whites of Eggs

3 Painting Originally having on colour thickly 1727–41 Chambers Cycl, Impasting, or Impasting, a term used in painting, for the laying on of colours, thick, and bold, on the canvas, several lays of colours, as they were upon it thick 1855 J Edwards Art Landscape Painti 106 30 In oil painting the shadows or dark portions of the picture are painted thinly, while the lights are laid on or impasted, with a full pencil and a stiff colour 1865 Fraser & Taylor tr J Reynolds II vi 146 Heavily impasted pictures.

b transf To spread thickly (on a surface)

1888 G Gissing Life's Morning I vii 290 [She] helped herself abundantly to marmalade, which she impasted solidly on half-a-dozen slices

Hence Impa·sting vbl sb spec in Painting (see 3), hence transf in Engraving (see quot 1864) Also attrib

1727–41 Chambers 1822 Hazlitt Table Talk I i 17 note, The rich impasting of Titian and Tintoret 1841 Hackbaw On Wks & Art 111 When you wish to represent a piece of old timber, this impasting method is very successful 1855 J Edwards Art Landscape Paint 106 30 In the lights of the foreground the impasting should be bold and free 1864 Webster Impasting 2 Engraving, In intermixture of lines and points to represent thickness or depth of coloring, &c The kind of work thus produced

‖ Impasto (impa·sto Painting [It, n of action f impastare to Impaste] The laying on of colour thickly, impasting, as a characteristic of style see prec 3 Also attrib

1784 J Barry in Lect Paint xi (Bohn 1848) 223 All that impasto, or embodying of colour, which may be necessary for certain lights 1838–9 Hallam Lit Hist III iii 91 § 93 341 A certain redundancy, in some may account it, gives fulness, or what the painters call impasto, to his style 1859 J Leslie & J Tadd Paint 6 In the works of the northern temples painters there are very marked differences observable in their impasto or body of colour 1880 Spectator 4 June 721 It is impossible to clean impasto work

+Impa sture, v Obs [f Im-1 + Pasture sb] 1 trans To place or confine in a pasture, 'to set to feed, to turn out to graze' (Davies)

1610 Hp Bk Chatsworth, N 3 Sheep not scarded nor impastured, but weaned and lost 1614 T Adams Latal Banket II Wks 1861 I 184 Adultery sets patches on his cheek, and impastures a scarf on his brest

2 To turn into pasture-land, enclose for pasture

1649 Bitton Unjust Impr (1653) 73 He will cast how he may Improve his Lands by Impasturing, and Inclosing of it

+Impa·tible, a Obs Also 6 erron -able [ad L. impatibil-is, patibilis, insufferable im passible, f im (Im 2) + patibilis, f pati to suffer]

1 Incapable of suffering, or of sustaining injury = Impassible 1, 2

1541 R Copland Guydons Quest Chirurge 2 F, The impatable and inalterable thynges to be the fyrste elementes, 1568 A King tr Camsins Catech. 76 b, It [the flesh of Christ] is insuisible, impatible, immortall 1655 Fuller Ch Hist II v § 15 The Devil is a spirit, and so impatible of materiall Fire

2 Intolerable = Impassible 4

1623 Cockeram Impatible intolerable 1659 D Pell Impr Sea 22 The brave, severe, and impatible wrath of God

Impatience (impē·shens, Forms 3–6 im pacience, 4 in-, 5 impacience, ympacience, 6 impacience), 6– impatience [Me & Of im pacience (12th c. patience, ad L impatientia, f im (Im-2) + patientia the quality of suffering Patience, f pati to suffer see -ence] The fact or quality of being impatient, want of patience

The quality was formerly more exactly expressed by Impatiency see -ency

1 Want of endurance, failure to bear suffering, discomfort, annoyance etc with equanimity irritability, irascibility a 1225 Ancr R 198 be rihtesche hweolp i Impacience Pe ne hweolp fet hwonne mis mon polemod mean alle wowe & in alle wuele 1340 Ayenb 53 Pe uber poynt is impacience, he me may iedye be pacience, ase bet nom te dat to him speke of his goods c 1374 Chaucer Troilus II pr 1 (Camb MS) [How] maiest fortune wroth and Aspere thy thinne impacience? c 1440 Hoccleve Regiment 1 Full ofte Cawse had of angre and ympacience 1597 Shaks 1 Hen IV, iv 81 Rough deeds of Rage, and sterne Impatience 1632 Lithgow Trav x 479 Men of more valour killed with the impatience they have in adversity, then adversity it selfe 1667 Milton P L x 1044 Reason and pride in patience and dispute 1845 Hewlett Mem Mrs xi 182 Sore is the trial must have been, we detect no signs of impatience on his part

b With of incapacity of enduring, intolerance of

1566 J Alday tr Boaistuau's Theat World M 3 Buried in ode of chaffe the which the poore were forced to eate by impatience and rage of hunger 1599 Jonson Every Man Out (1600) iii 506 Impatience of cold and wet 1741 Middleton Cicero I vi 495 An impatience of discipline 1830 D'Israeli Chas I (1851) I 74 His impatience of contradiction mutilated him for the council table 1896 Black Wolf xxii, The girl had an impatience of pretence of all kinds

†c With inf (to or ase) of Impatient 1c

1575 Lanham Cur (1871) 6 He hunt out in a great pang of impatiens to see such wrouth tradying, to and fro 1632 J Hayward tr Biondi's Eromena 1 72 Their impatience to be longer bridled 1683 Trial Spc 119 A tedious Impatience to see the horrible Actions of Nero forsed Sir Paul Neale to quit Rome

2 esp Intolerance of delay restlessness of desire or expectation, restless longing or eagerness

1581 Mulcaster Positions 6, Impatience which can abide no tarying 1632 J Hayward tr Biondi's Eromena 148 Hee with impatience long'd for the appearance of the newsby 1712 Lady M W Montag Lett (1718) I 71 Dec (1691) I 81 Dec (1691) I 81 with impatience to receive 1768 74 Hunter Br Un (1856) I 47 We find the impatience arising upon a delay of desire vulgarly styled impatience 1848 M A Brown Vades Mec 44, I asked in my impatience For such passing hour a question

+b With of Impatient desire of Obs

(The sense here is practically the opposite of that in 1 b)

1664 G M in Misc Aul Cur Wks (1872) 3 All I feel with an extreme impatience all day of removing from the e Wishes 1702 Eng Theophrast III Out of a foolish impatience of being seen at Court 17 Hist Jas II The longer I continued in this scene the greater was my impatience of returning from it

c With inf (to) of Impatient 2 b

1880 I Watts Dan Hurwitz iii A return of impatience to see Him who is ever in my thought

+Impatiency (impē·shensi) Obs (or rare) an hasism Also 6 -ience, -eyency, 7 tientie [ad L impatientia see prec and -ency] The quality of being impatient

1 prec 1 esp as a quality or disposition Also, with pl, an instance or exhibition of this quality

1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) b Testimone of impatyency, as is frayde & hasty dysposycyon or other ii customed & vsed vyces of ange 1558 Phaer tr Vire Faster Fraser vii 1566 45 He [the devil] goeth about to stirre us to impatiency and immoderate wrath, and 1658 Holy Duty Manual 276 57 Calmness and quietness of spirit, contrary to the fumes and impatiencies of anger 1728 Richardson Clarissa I v 35 His extraordinary prosperity adding to his impatiency

b With of cf prec 1 b

1557 Fraser Encid xi Aray, I bose that through impatience of lose haste shortneth your dayes 1697 Tourlet Country Justice (1698) 165 Their impatiency of cold 1681 H More Exp Dan 274 Their impatiency of that dark unpleasant condition

2 = prec 2 esp as a quality or disposition also, with pl an instance of this

1560 Bible Neh Calech Wks 1844 II 14, Nothing doth more display us and offend God than this ungodly impatiency to prescribe unto him the time when he shall help us 1654–66 Earl Orrery Parthenissa (1677) 764 In impatiencies above description [I] waited for the news of the Princes 1664 Marvell Corr Wks 1872 – II 120 Which [expectation] I do expect with the most vehement impatiency 1684 Lady R Russell Lett (1810) 61 I hope to wait without impatiency 1889 Stevenson Master of B 287 My lord waited with growing impatiency

b With inf cf prec 2 c

1647 Clarendon Hist Reb III § 230 His Majesty's impatiency to see both Armies disbanded 1748 Richardson Pamela IV 10, I had such an impatiency to see him, having expected him at Dinner

Impatient (impē·ʃent), a.[b] Forms 4–6 impacient, -cyent, inpacient, -cyent, 6– impatient [1. OF impacient, impatient, ad. L impatient-em, f. im- (IM-[2]) + patient-em suffering, prez. pple. of pati to suffer.]

1 Not patient, not bearing or enduring (pain, discomfort, opposition, etc.) with composure, wanting in endurance, irritable, irascible, easily provoked. Also transf. of action or speech. Indicating impatience or irritation.

1377 LANGL. P. Pl. B. XVII. 137 Pouȝh pat men make moche deal in her ages, And ben inpacient in here pou[gh]te. 1413 Pilgr. Sowle (Caxton 1483) III. xiii. 55 They wouȝht pe coutte suffren but were ȝeuful and inpacyent to al men aboute them. 1496 DAVENPORT Chron. (Camden) xxvii. 31 The Kynge was rhyme mas inpacient and blamed ye Kerlyon of his wyfe in mo[st] inpacyent maner. 1590 SHAKS. Mids. N. III. ii. 287 Will you know your Impacient in wers from my gentle tongue? 1666 PEPYS Diary 2 Aug., He[r] is much impatient by the few days taking. 1728 SWIFT Polite Conv. Dial. i. Wks. 1755 II. 240 You are of an impatient Spirit, and an impatient Spirit is ever out with it. 1851 LEIGHTON Lancelot Fair v. 102 And he saith ill-ayed to meek ones. Every such and such impatient.

b With of. Unable or unwilling to endure or put up with, intolerant of.

1513 MORE Rich. III (1883) 58 The vnbridled vnchastite and impacient of pacience. 1597 GUILLIM Heraldry I. iii. (1660) 81 Coins . . are impatient of the coldness of those seasons. 1601 SHAKS. Twel. N. III. iv. 15 Impatient of my absence, My full desire. 1713 SWIFT Cadenus 80 ȝe ȝet The most impatient to need an patient of Advice. 1893 LOCKHART Hours & Hoofs 71 [Ye] are extremely impatient of heat.

c With inf. verbs or adjs.[1] or dependent clause. (With inf. prob. by the opposite of 2 b.)

1565 EARL BEDFORD in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. II. III. 97 He was so impatient to see those thyngs he sawe, and were dayly brought to hys Eares. 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 145 The Jewes impatient that Iesus Christ should possess their country, caused a new commotion. 1630 J. HAYWARD tr. Biondi's Eromena 152 Impatient to stay till they would packe. 1877 MRS. OLIPHANT Makers Flor. VII. 233 Impatient to be thus kicked out of his high work.

d fig. Said of things.

1490 CAXTON Eneydos xviii. 96 The see waxed right sore impacyent and indygned. 1597 GERARD Herbal II. xxiii. (1633) 80 Impatient Holy Smocke. The nature of this plant is to be hairy, . . such that if you touch but the cods when the seed is ripe, they incontinently, yea with the seed flie all abroad with violence, disdaining to be touched. 1882 Garden 10 Mar. 169/1 Cherries are the most impatient tree we have to deal with under glass.

2 That does not willingly endure delay, unease or restless in desire or expectation. Const for, to.

1598 SHAKS. Rom. & Jul. II. iv. 201 Tedious As is the night before some Festivall, To an impatient child that hath new robes And may not wear them. 1599 — Hen. V II. ii. 1 Then entertain, bid Exigent Grace, Be in their flowing cups freshly remembred. Impatient for her depart. 1607 DEKKER Lond. Cuckold v. 7 Sir, the Desires th impatient Youth made. 1728 POPE Dunc. III. 23 Impatient for the day. 1878 MORLEY Voltaire 174 Hollinge and impatient only. 1899 Q. Rev. Jan. 191 He has no impatient desire for the hurry of modern improvement.

b With inf. Restlessly desirous (eagerly long (to do). In quot. 1680 with dependent clause.)

1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. I. i. 238 All impatient to speake and not see. 1680 BP. HALL Remains (1710) I. 3 All so restlessly to toil on, Impatient who should have the Honour to put out in Hunger first upon her. 1718 LADY M. W. MONTAGU Lett. to her Husband 28 Sept. (1893) I. 266 I am impatient to see the summer rides of Hyde-Park. 1774 SMOLLETT Trav. (1803) I. 180 Impatient to recover the lost ground.

c transf. and fig. Characterized by, or attended with, impatience or delay.

1703 ROWE Ulysses III. i. 324 This one impatient Minute. 1791 COWPER Iliad XIII. 364 Lower with stamping, his impatient bow. 1841 LANE Arab. Nights I. 8 Such is the fire or six impatient minutes before the dinner is quite ready.

†3 ? Intolerable, 'not to be borne' (J.). Obs. rare.

1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. i. 44 Ay me! deare Lady, which the syninge art Of inchaft pitty and impatient mone! 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. II. v. 104 What absurd conceits they will swallow in their liturgies an impatient example, were have in our owne profession?

B as sb. An impatient person (Sometimes with play on PATIENT sb.) 1598 Bad Cryer (Nott.) New (W. de W. 1506) 11. vi. 67 He poor symer ought not to dyspayre hym, how he it that the sensyblyte complayneth hym an impacyent. 1580 TIMOTHY Spirit 140 When the Surgeon is one before the Judge, and saw his poore Impatient thus. 1716 Seasonable Serm. 39 (T.) Some ignorant impatients who think they have found themselves to smart with Gospel-sorrow. 1893 Nation 14 Sept. 212 What the Unionist impatients want is to get on at once to Clause 9.

Impatient, v. rare. [f. prec. cf. F impatienter tr. impatienter to lose patience.] a trans. To await with impatience. b refl. To become impatient to lose patience. Hence †Impatiented ppl. a., awaited with impatience.

1654–66 EARL ORRERY Parthenissa (1676) 382 As soon as the impatiented hour came, I went. Ibid. 548 At length the so impatiented night and hour came. 1813 SIR R. WILSON Diary II. 54 Amiable hosts, who did not impatient themselves except at the weather.

Impatiently (impē·ʃentli), adv. [f. as prec. + -LY[2].] In an impatient manner.

1 Without endurance of suffering or discomfort, irritably. (In quot. 1691, Ardently, passionately.)

1490 CAXTON Eneydos lvi. 185 His wyf hure it moche in peyenth and sorowfully. 1593 NASHE Christ's T. (1613) 60 How they impatiently 1601 SHAKS. Twel. N. III. iv. 40 You too impatiently stamp with your foote. 1718 SWIFT Mod. Ne. 434 P. 6 Speaking impatiently to Servants. 1816 SHARP Master 173 As if her heart impatiently endured its bursting burthen.

2 With restless expectation or longing, with eager desire.

1632 J. HAYWARD tr. Biondi's Eromena 143 Impatiently expecting the Count of Bonn's returne. 1766 GOLDSM. Tr. H. XXX, His sister ran impatiently to meet him. 1830 D'ISRAELI Chas. I III. xiii. 1 The Queen impatiently babbled the secret to Lady Carlisle. 1833 HT. MARTINEAU Charmed Sea 3 Make haste! cried the Russian, shaking his fists impatiently.

†Impatientness Obs. rare [-NESS.] The quality of being impatient, impatience.

1550 COVERDALE Spir. Lett. xlv. Hyjh Whensoeuer my (affliction or aduersity) happen vnto hym, he is sore vexed with impatientnes. Ibid. xlv. Neyth. They passe out of mynde of impacientnes bytternes and spytefull poison against the righteousnes of god. 1737 in BAILEY Vol. II.

†Impatistic, a. Obs. rare. [f. IMPAT-I + PATRIOTIC.] Not patriotic, unpatriotic. So †Impatriotism, want of patriotism.

1805 W. TAYLOR in Ann. Rev. III. 281 Nothing, if an unjust, can be more unpatriotic. Ibid. 312 Every thing, which influences on our cosmopolitan duty is really an impatriotism.

Impatron, v. Obs. rare [= obs. F impatronner, patrouner (Godefroy, Cotgr.), f. IM patronus, impadronire to make master of, put in possession of, f. im- (IM-[1]) + patron, It padrone, L patrōnus PATRON, protector, master. Cf. IMPATRON.] trans. IMPATRONIZE 1, refl. to make oneself master, possess oneself (of). Const with 1494 FABYAN Chron. VII. 307 And so (D) He impatronized himselfe with three parts of ordinance.

†Impatronage, v. Obs. [f. prec. after PATRONAGE.] trans. To put under a person's patronage, to dedicate.

1652 J. CHANDLER Voyage Ep. ded. 5 His Matchless Poem seem'd providentially by him impatronag'd unto his Peerless Sister.

†Impatronize, v. Obs. [a. F impatroniser, f. IM- (IN-[2]) + patron (see IMPATRON) and -IZE.]

1 trans. To put in possession of, usually refl. to take possession, make oneself master (of, also upon).

1577 HANMER Gold. Epist. 204 To confume to him (Mars) him his promise, and to impatronize him of that religion for ouer the space of sixe hundred yeares. 1579 Canisius 547 To impatronize himselfe vpon Rome and the whole estate ecclesiastike. 1603 KNOLLES Hist. Turks (1638) 1. 1 Orcan . . made the conquest of Africk the Romanes and whole impatronized themselues of Pharane. 1681 H. HALL Short Use Late Lamb. Eng. 611 To impatronize themselves of many Cities and strong holds.

b transf. To take possession of.

1611 COTGR., Impatronnir, impatronized, mastered. 1654 TRAPP Comm. Matt. xxiii. 15 Who . . impatronized to themselues and lay hold on the church rents and ecclesiastic goods. 1799 Monthly Mag. in Sprat Lud (1808) 118 n. 381 We him receiving and impatronising in our Dijon Infantry.

2 To patronize favour.

1629 MANWELL tr. Heraclian 16, 5 I go To make him away and to substitute another that would impatronize then Lewise and licentious misdemeanours.

Hence †Impatronization (see quots.). Obs.

1611 COTGR., Impatronization, an impatronizing; the absolute Maistrie, Soueraintie or possession of. 1706 PHILLIPS, Impatronization, a putting into full possession of a Benefice. 1828 in WEBSTER (add.).

Impatshe SEE IMPEACH.

Impave (impē·v), v. rare [f. IM-[1] + PAVE v.] trans. To pave in, to set in a pavement.

1833 WORDSW. Sonn. upon Dunolly Castle There saw impaved with fretchy Oft art Moor in crossless fret Ay Eagle with stretched wings.

Impavid (impa·vid) a. rare [ad. L impavidus f. IM-[2] + pavidus fearful.] Fearless, undaunted.

1857 G. LAWRENCE Guy L. xxiii. He put the message into his pocket and won the rubber before he rose. Impavid as the Hottentot model man. 1862 S. LUCAS Secularian 154 A high spirit . . being imparted on its consciousness of right. 1867 Gleig. v. Jan. 1 The flames were quenched, and the impavid student fixed forth on his way.

Hence Impavidly adv. fearlessly.

1849 THACKERAY Pendennis lxvi. Caverley and Cold stream would have looked on impavidly.

Impavid dity, nonce [ad. L type impavidit-as,* f. impavidus see prec. and -ITY.] Fearlessness, in quot. used for 'foolhardiness.'

1604 PARSONS 3rd Pt. Three Conuers. Engl. 154 Not only Christian Dutyes but heathen Philosophers also do account impudicity or lacke of iust feare, as also audacity, presumption, for vices.

Impawn (impɔ·n), v. Also 6 impaune, 7 empawn, -paun [f. IM-[1] + PAWN v. or sb.]

1 trans. To put in pawn, to pledge as security, to pawn.

1596 SHAKS. 1 Hen. IV, II. iv. 18 Let there be impawned Some surety for a safe returne againe. 1625 S. PURCHAS Pilgrimage 1. 269 He said he had impawned his Beard for a great summe to certaine Creditors. 1681 COLVIL Whigs Supplic. (1751) 63 Some of them impawn'd their cloaks. 1814 MISS J. WEST Infan. de Lacy III. 42 She offered to impawn the finall jewels.

fig. 1838 PUGSLEY Il ar Wks 1884 VI. 196 A wise man will never impawn his future being and action, and decide beforehand what he shall do in a given extreme event.

b fig. To pledge, plight (faith, etc.)

a 1628 F. GREVILLE Sidney (1652) 32 My faith impawned to the Prince of Orange. a 1677 MANTON Serm. Ps. cxix. verse 92 Wks. 1872 VII. 426 God impawneth his truth with us to do us good. 1881 SWINBURNE Mary Stuart I. ii. 38 We held impawned the faith of Barnes.

2 fig. To risk the safety of, to put in hazard.

1613 SHELBURY Two Sermons 43 Hee wished me to haue regard (if not to my selfe) yet to so many, which he did imagine were impawned in that misfortune by my mariage.

†Impay, v. Obs. [f. IM-[1] + PAY v.] = IMPAIR. It impagare to pay home throughly (Florio).] trans. To 'pay home', pay to the full what has been expended, reimburse, recoup.

1594 CAREW Huarte's Exam. Wits xiii. (1596) 229 It is a thing vsuall to vse with vnto hath well imployed his trouble, when he is well paid.

‖ Impayable (impɛ·ăb'l, ɪm pæɪjəbl), a. [a. F impayable, f. im- (IM-[2]) + payer (see IT.) to appease, satisfy, (mod.) to pay.] Used in ME., in mod. use often treated as French.]

†1 Implacable, unappeasable. Obs.

a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter lxxxvii. 7 Impayable semes pu wrath.

2 That cannot be paid or discharged.

1799 S. PRATT in Monthly Rev. XXIII. 60 Impayable obligations. 1843 [D. HOUGHTON Let. in Wemyss Reid Life I. 200 I have mooted . . the subject of the payment of the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland (which D'Oisy says is impayable).

‖3 Beyond price, priceless, invaluable. colloq. (Going beyond ordinary limits, 'beyond anything'.)

1841 LADY MORGAN Dramatic (1859) 1. 3 I must send you some of her notes, for they are impayable. 1843 SOUTH Quentin D. Introd., The cheese, the fruits the salad . . and the delicious white wine, which their wary wives provide.

Impayl, Impayre, obs. ff. IMPALE, IMPAIR.

Impeach (impī·ʧ), v. Forms a 4–6 empeche, 5–7 empeach β 5 enpesshe, en pesche, empeshe, 5–6 empesshe, pesche -peashe γ 6– impeche, impeachs, -peach δ 6 impesche, impeshe, impeas, impese, he, 7 impeash ε 6 sc empash impash ε, impatshe, 6–7 em-, impasche, impass [ME. em-, empechen, later empeche, a. OF empechier empescher, empeschier mod.F empêcher (13th c. empetcer, rather (pple empetchad—Pr. empedegar) = late L impedicare to catch entangle (Ammianus), f. im- (IM-[1]) + pedica fetter for foot. In sense 4 and 5 treated as the representative of L. impedire. Cf. IMPEACHMENT.]

The forms empash impash may be due to F. empacher (cf. Pr. empaciar impatiar reflects It. impacciare as the origin of the radicals of these forms, see DIEZ s.v. Impactiare* in Eng. displaced AFFECH, q.v. Cf. PEACH v.]

A Illustration of Forms.

α c 1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks III. 204 Put wicked men here schulden dwelle in seyntlewe, and no man empeche hem in pees or of lawe. 1387 Trevisa II. 242–50 Impeche [see 4] 1494 FABYAN Chron. VII. xxxiii. 167 He was wont for yt tyme empeched and let. 1550 J. CRANE tr. Vives' Herod. (1887) 1. 33 You empeche the wrath of mannes mynde. 1552 J. SCOTT Cambridge Libel B iii, Who continually to empeche him. 1650 tr. Bacon's Hist. Life & Death 51 That they might be (the Intention not at all empeached) both safe and Honourable.

β c 1474 CAXTON Chesse II. 5 b Bodyly sight empesheth not letteth the knowleche of subtyll thynges. 1477 Paston 49 He bost him much . . that he schuld empesche him of the roȝame of Mirmidone. 1483 Polit. Serm. (Caxton) v. 4 b, If there is nothyng that may theroff empesche hym. 1530 PALSGR. 252/2 I empesche or let one of his purpose. 1549 Empesche [see B 1].

γ 1533–4 Act 25 Hen. VIII, c. 9 § 6 Any person who he shall be impeched to haue offended contrary to the forme and effecte of this estatute. 1536 Act 27 Hen. VIII, c. 4 Any suche ordynaunce as myght by anye meanes hynder thesalvacion of the . . Worde of God or impeache the kynges of suche good letters. 1577 87 HOLINSHED Chron. III. 963/1 Minded to impeach their passage. 1600, [see B 1.]

δ 1548–67 THOMAS Ital. Dict., Impedire, to let or impeshe. 1549 Compl. Scot. xv. 150 Many difficil impedimentis may impesche the . . Kingis Maiestie. 1553 T. WILSON Rhet. 84 He went about to impeshe his expedition. 1614 in Sir R. Gordon Hist. Earls Sutherland (1813) 381 We will forbear to impeash your mais' army with the Scots.

ε 1538 Impatshe [see B 1 b]. 1566 PAINTER Pal. Plea. 34 b, They were not able to impache his corps, in tombe, but loosed and buried. 1597 MONTGOMERY Cherrie & Slae 808 Thy folly Empached him to pow. 1597 LOWE Chirurg. (1634) 124 To anoint with the milke of a bitch which impeacth it to grow white. 1604 Q. of Q. Barrow of Corn (1820) 7 The Lard being impaschit throw their dalie corn plentis.

B Signification.

†1 trans. To impede, hinder, prevent. Obs.

c 1380 WYCLIF Sel. Wks III. 317 He schal dwelle alle his lif, and no man empeche hym. 1480 CAXTON Chron. Eng. celxi, They drad that he wold have empeshed that dyhyverance. 1533 BELLENDEN Livy IV. (1822) 290 The consulis, seand the tribunis impesche every thing that they desuirt afore the senate. 1549 Compl. Scot. vi. 56 The end empeschis the soume to gyf lycht to the mune. 1577–87

followed Scott Chron (1806) II 256 To impeach the judgment from setting on Trial any vittles there *a*1649 Bp Hall Hard Text Jas 4 Wks (1711) II 81 Hath seen your Saviour which he cried we empeached our cause and progress in France 1690 Temple Introd Hist 86 A Dutch, of authority for truth, and depth, to impeach the Accounts of an Enemy

†b refl = Ob Sempeches, It impacciarsi) To embarrass or trouble oneself Obs

1484 Caxton Cornhill 1 By this ample of me that impeseth my selue to to write in this Cronike By ill 1598 in Strype Ann (1720) I xl 323 Pole said he would do well not to impatche himself with reading of the story of Nicolo Machavello

†c To hinder acce s to, to blockade Obs

1586 In Bromley in Register Cov (Camden) 360 The gates are fitted to impeche those kind of heavens

†2 To hinder the action, progress, or well-being of; to affect detrimentally or prejudicially; to hurt, arm, injure, endamage, impair Obs

1563 Pr Parsons in Ellis Orig Lett Sec I II 195 To reserve my honestie from the deadly bite, my mind to my conscience 1568 Grafton Chron II 391 They did empeche the honour of the kinges person 1604 T White in Passions III 12 He violence of the water, with, and spe much impechith the vertue of his heate 1691 E Taylor Devotions Church Thebis xvii 25 Anything that might tend to impeach his perfection

3 To challenge, call in question, cast an imputation upon, attack; to discredit, disparage

1590 Shaks Mids N III 1 213 You doe impeach your modesty too much To leue the City, and commit your selfe into the hands of one that knows you not 1600 J Porter Two Angry Women 42 Neither am I ignorant, how much mine wne credit is impeached 1612 T Taylor Comm Titus 6 Be sure their name and praise no way impeached 1743 in Pring Conversation Wks 1784 IX 264 It would by no means impeach the general rule 1767 Blackstone Comm IV 444 A contract for any thing unlawful, as for smuggling, or marriage, for money, for work done, can never be impeached at law 1888 Miss Grove Heard Chapel Bells 3 My daughter's happiness was threatened and her character impeached

4 spec To bring a charge or accusation against, accuse of, charge with

1388 (see A 10) 1389 R I Wr Test Test I 71 (Skeat) 86 Who he thing, I am bolde to maynt ine, and namely distroying of a wronge, al shulde I therthrough empeche my owne fees, if he so were 1448 Mod Rolls Parl V 159/1 He was empached of fargeyng of fals comandis 1432 50 Hoccleve (Roll) VII 932 Godwyn was empeched It in Capitalal for he had y-slayn Alfred yeerte amoost 1590 Pl Somayne Life in Hist Misc (Malh) II 167 Nothing put might impeach me either with error or untruth 1648 Hist Peers I 318 in Misc Hist, That no Person be troubled, impeached, sued, impanneled or molested for any Crime compassed within the said Act 1794 Compare Cal Alliance 22 Go to the next justice of the peace and impeach me 1840 Dickens Old Shop xxiv Fearing, every moment to be at the mercy of his impeacher

b Sometimes in restricted sense Sec 4 quot 1617; to give accusatory evidence against, to 'peach' pon (In quot 1820 absol to 'peach')

1617 Minsheu Dict Ling, To Impeach, or accuse an adulte of the crime crime whereof he which impeacheth is cruied 1676 Wycherley Gent Dancing M 3 Like a Thief cause you know your self most guilty to impeach your fellow Criminal 1701 Collier Dict Pract (1727) 2 A person, lately accused for robbing, on the highway and quitted, has impeach'd 13 of his gang 1731 Fielding Letter writer iv, Would it not be you would way to impeach your companions? 1820 Scott Ivanhoe xl, The whole plot is laid open Mr Allcott is impeached

c To find fault with a thing? to censure

1813 Scott Trierm III xxxviii And so far the slumberer envy, That Dr. Vanx impeach his dreams 1872 Browning Ring Book I Do you suppose I can't forcibly impeach The Method? 1876 Geo Eliot Dan Der xxxvi, Grand musical compositions was not impeached with fastidiousness

5 spec To accuse of treason or other high crime or misdemeanour (usually against the state) before competent tribunal see Impeachment 5

1568 Grafton Chron II 353 Whether the Lordes and commons might without the kings will impeache the officers and justices upon their offenses in the parliament or it 1647 Clarendon Hist Reb II 8 To Mr Pym at the bar for the house of parliament, and in the name of all the commons of England, impeached Thomas earl of Strafford of high treason, and several other heinous crimes and odious misdemeanors 1769 Blackstone Comm IV 260 The representatives of the people or House of Commons must properly judge, because their constituents are the whole injured, and can therefore only impeach 1883 Cox Institt I x 249 Latimer was impeached and accused by the voice of the Commons. 1868 Trial Andrew Johnson On Monday February 24th 1868 the House of representatives of the Congress of the United States shall to impeach Andrew Johnson President of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors 1883 T Curtis Buchanan II xii 247 In regard to the President, it was their duty to make a specific charge, to investigate it openly, and to impeach him before the senate the evidence afforded reasonable ground to believe that the same could be substantiated

b Applied to analogous judicial processes, e g in prosecution of state officials by the tribunes of ancient Rome

1734 tr Rollin's Anc Hist (1827) I 353 Mago on his rival at Carthage was impeached 1838 Arnold Hist Rome (1840) I xxii 231 One of the tribunes impeached him fore the assembly of the tribes 1840 Thirlwall Greece III 329 At Athens after his departure he was formally impeached and condemned to death

Hence Impeached ppl a, Impeaching vbl sb c 1400 Maundev (Roxb) ix 34 He myght sodenly dwell in pat cite withouten empechinge of any man 1632 Lithgow Trav x 479 The chefe obstacle, and impeaching of so great an Army from taking it 1752 Fan Octavia Romance Neuff (1756) 60 The four impeached lords 1827 Hallam Const Hist (1876) III xvi 534 A charge against the impeached lords

Impeach (impi·ʧ), sb [f prec vb]

†1 Hindrance, impediment prevention Obs

1555 in Ryder Hist Sacr (1560) III 185 The Lord warn you all who persecuteth iustyce and accompanieth without empeachme 1605 P Woodnoose Thes (1727) 18 Without all interrupting or impeach 1612 Sheph Hist Ch Eccl VII 831 These with the command of military officers without impeach

†2 Injury damage detriment Obs

1575 Gascoigne Herbs Wks (1587) 249 So fare thou myself set out thy selfe without empeach or maime 1586 Bacon Malanch x 47 The soil recouereth no impeach or impayre of cunning 1625 in Bancroft's Dunne II 150 Without any impeach or blemish to his honor

3 Challenge, calling in question, accusation charge impeachment

1590 Shaks Com Err v 1 109 Why what an intricate impeach is this? 1592 Lamb Ladies A 3 b Is that I Whar kindship, lenitie, or Christian ruisne, Rules in th mon to leue this foul impeach? 1593 Shaks Rich III v iii 208 Warres prize, to take all vantages And harme to one, is no impeach of v lour 1885 Sat Rev 14 Feb 204/1 The delightful intricacy of this impeach is highly characteristic.

Impeachability (impi·ʧăbi·liti) [f next + -ity] The quality of being impeachable

1869 Pall Mall G 20 Jan 8 The inquiry instituted concerning the impeachability of President Johnson

Impeachable (impi·ʧăb'l), a Also 6 empechable [f Impeach v + -able] Capable of being impeached, called in question, or accused, liable to impeachment, chargeable

1503-4 Act 19 Hen VII, c 7 § 6 The said Mare [shall] be notwithstanding viewed implied and impechable 1533 Act 25 Hen VIII c 14 [He] standeth in danger and is impechable of the hinse 1678 Lucius Brut in 8 17 22 Which Statute was but the Recognition of the Ancient Right of this detestation of Scripture 1796 Morse Amer Geog I 57 All officers are impeachable 1885 Law Rep 12 Prob Div 292 Assuming the deed not to be impeachable on those grounds

Impeacher (impi·ʧă) [f as prec + -er²] One who impeaches

†1 One who prevents, hinders or impedes Obs

1641 Milton Ch Govt I ii Instead of finding Prelaty an impeacher of Schisme or faction

2 One who accuses or brings charges (of treason, etc.) see Impeachment 5

1558 Harrison Answer to empeachor, accusator 1656 Earl Monm Advice Parmass 178 The Prince appointed a tribunal to the impeachers 1788 Gentl's Reflections on his peachers and Impeachers, addressed to Warren Hastings, Esq 1877 Simmons Remarks Hastings Impeachment A modern impeacher and impugner of the living

Impeachment (impi·ʧmănt) Also 5–7 empechment 6 empeachment, -ement, -iment 7 Ob impechiment impeachement, mod impechment (whence mod impechmentum, impechmantum), empeche to Impeach see-ment In senses 4, 5, the word was treated as the repr of mod impetitio, from impetere to attack, accuse, with which however it had no etymological connexion] The action of impeaching

†1 Hindrance, prevention, obstruction, impediment, obstacle Obs

1432 Pastons Lett No 18 I 31 Thay ding that myste yeve empechement or let therto 1491 Caxton Vitas Patr (1495) The devyll was sayd by hym to haue come to hym empechement & lettynge in his contemplacions 1531 Elyot Gov I xiv, None shall I declared the shameful impechementes and sclaunders 1589 Speght Pref Blood Ne in Ch 72 Thus without empechment or stoppage passed Cassander through the countreys of Thessaly 1601 in Jessopp Visitations 1 Injunct about 11 Nov Whereby I vnderstand impeachment 1621 St Acts Trin Vl (1624) 690 2 To heed confusion and I mpeachement to be hadden of the Subiects of this Realme 1672 Marvell Rehearsal Transp I 61 Without any impeachment how to conduct the Enemy in Peace 1681 Dryden Abs & Achit 1 Without impeachment of vice 1685 Baxter Paraphr New Test Rom xiv 22 2 Thus without impechement or stoppage passed Cassander through the countreys of Thessaly 1691 in Jessopp Visitations 1 Injunct about 11 Nov Whereby I vnderstand impeachment 1621 St Acts Trin Vl (1624) 690 2 To heed confusion and I mpeachement to be hadden of the Subiects of this Realme 1672 Marvell Rehearsal Transp I 61 Without any impeachment how to conduct the Enemy in Peace 1681 Dryden Abs & Achit 1 Without impeachment of vice 1685 Baxter Paraphr New Test Rom xiv 22 2 Thus without impechement or stoppage passed Cassander through the countreys of Thessaly 1691 Jessopp Visitations 1 Injunct about 11 Nov Whereby I vnderstand impeachment 1621 St Acts Trin Vl (1624) 690 2 To heed confusion and I mpeachement to be hadden of the Subiects of this Realme 1672 Marvell Rehearsal Transp I 61 Without any impeachment how to conduct the Enemy in Peace 1681 Dryden Abs & Achit 1 Without impeachment of vice 1685 Baxter Paraphr New Test Rom xiv 22 2 Thus without impechement or stoppage passed Cassander through the countreys of Thessaly 1691

†2 Detriment impairment, injury damage Obs

1548 Udall Pat Mayne in Ch Douglas Æneis Apply 1 (1840) 146 Lest vnsatisfied empechementis betwixt Christes honoure and our selues ly vpon 1587 Hooker in England xxxii (1877) I 239 No man doth yet sustaine some manner of detriment thereby, the ordinance of the water 1592 Shaks Love's Lab L III 15 To let him spend his time no more at home Which would be great impeachment to his age 1648 Bacon Hen (1857) 111 A Victory can stir on the north without great impechment the game may yet be balanced to the purpose

3 A challenge, question or discrediting, disparagement, depreciation.

1568 Grafton Chron II 1281 Certaine names borne unto out of mindes, without challenge or empechement 1658 Sir W Dugdale Diary (1827) 211 Without an impeachment to their honour 1794 Godwin Cal Williams 13 The imputation of my courage is sufficiently established not to expose it to any impeachment 1830 Hallam Mid Age Hist III The extreme injustice of this impeachment of their character

4 Accusation, charge Obs exc in phr the writ of impeachment

1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) VII 165 If she passe on hurte bare foot upon wyne brennynge coltres or schares, let here eskape of his empechement [ad impetitionem istius]

1413 Pilgr Sowle (Caxton 1 xxx 17 b) Hemme with an hye voys here I one pele to my ful grete empechement 1504 Skelton Bk Phil 1 112 The King prouoke it to it by Quene Dames impechmentes to amayne him 1612 T Taylor Comm Titus 11 12 If it shall best meaner seeiumbles, that thou feuest no mans impeachment 1775 Sheridan Rivals III iv 82 Lydia. O Diggon—unlucky as you are—I own the soft impeachment—pardon my blushes, I am Delia 1865 Burnett Trans Nat Introd (1892) 14 A considerable impeachment of beauty 1892 Stevenson Across the Plains vi The City never denied the soft impeachment it

b Lord Without impeachment of waste = law I absque impetitione vasti . . a reservation frequently made to a tenant for life that he may still proceed against him for waste committed' Wharton Law Lex)

1415 P P Wills 288 I wolle that my wyf [have] it to terme of her lyue with oute empechement of wast 1503-4 Act 19 Hen VII c 33 § 1 Holde all the said Maners without impechement of Wast 1767 Blackstone Comm II xviii 283 Tenants for life may commit waste without impeachment of waste absque impetitione vasti that is with a provision or protection that they shall not be impeached or punished for so doing 1858 In re Hall's Estate Hall v Hall 2 Drew 534 Under your marriage settlement you are tenant for life, with an unimpeachment of waste

5 The intention and prosecution of a person for treason or other high crime or misdemeanour before a competent tribunal, in Great Britain 'the judicial process by which any man, from the rank of a peer downwards, may be tried before the House of Lords at the instance of the House of Commons' Dict Eng Hist, in U S a similar process in which the accusers are the House of Representatives and the court is the Senate

1640 4 in Rushw Hist Coll III 1162 I 356 The Lords set upon the Impeachment as one and the Indictment as two 1667 Marvell Corr Wks 1872 II 102 The morning several members of our House did move the House to proceed to an impeachment against the Earle of Clarendon 1754 6 in Hutch Hist Mass III 13, I suggest the first impeachment by the house of commons should have been carried up a most Lord Danmer in the latter end of Edw the third's reign 1789 Constit U S art 2 The President Vice President and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason bribery or other high crime and misdemeanors 1828 Webster Dict s v, The articles of Strafford's impeachment 1867 Nation (N Y) 14 Feb 121 Discussion of the power of the senate to sit on the President [Johnson] during his impeachment trial

Impearl impl vb ? Also 6 ypem- 7–8 in [ad F emperler (16th c in Littré) or It imperlare (Florio) see In-1 and Pearl.]

1 trans To deck with pearls or pearl like drops said of dew, rain, tears

1591 Sylvester Du Bartas II iii 1117 The flowry Mead Imperl'd with teares, the sweet Aurora sheeds 1598 Florio Imperlare to empearle to make with pearles to set with pearles 1600 Fairfax Tasso IV 10 Mistaking Heauenly dew, Nightly descending, shall imperl the trees 1799 Anna Seward Poems II 181 Love impearls each moment with a tear 1844 J Penn Old & Young 1 Tears will soon have check'd impearl 1876 Jas Gibbons Faith 60 An unbroken chain of miracles which adorn the dew 1818 Keats Endym IV 1070 Gold and impearl'd with lily shells

2 To make pearly or pearl like

1639 J Clavell Cheat Lady sig Hiij 5 Another shall impearle thy teeth 1794 Sidney Jan Ivy 4 Transcendent drops impearl her lustrous breath

3 To form into pearl like drops

1586 Chas Tutchin Davideis xxxvii (1857) The tears the mind doth shed, Which by its ground Imparled round 1667 Milton P L v 749 Dewdrops which the Sun Impearls on every leaf and every flour 1727 Dyer Fleece I 96 The crystal dews impearl upon the grass 1839 Bailey Festus (1852) 11 The spheres themselves are but as shining specks Upon the mantle of the night impearled

†Impe Impen ppl pple a

1598 Davison Hist Eliz xxv 226 A rich impearled Coronet 1881 Rossetti Poems 102 Let Time see its flowers, crest-impearled and quaint

Impeccability (impĕkăbi·liti) [ad med L impeccabilitas (impeccabilis (see next) Cf F impeccabilité 1609 in Hatz-Darm] The quality or character of being impeccable, Freedom from liability to sin, wrong doing, or error

1613 Sheldon Treat Angels 214 (L.) It doth cause an exclusion, impeccability 1697 [see Immeasurable] 1870 in Bk Prayer Amer Church 1 Great Volumes would declare the infallibility and impeccability of the Pope 1725 tr Dupin's Eccl Hist 17th C I 125 The Quakers of the South of Jesus Christ, acknowledge no Wisdom nor Impeccability 1879 C Merivale Lamed Hist VII 111 He must have never pretended to impeccability

Impeccable impĕkăb'l a (sb) [ad late L impeccabilis, f in- (In-3) + peccare to sin see Impair Cf F impeccable, 14th c in Godef compl]

1 Of persons Not capable of or liable to sin, exempt from the possibility of committing or doing wrong

1533 Tyndale Answ C Rom Bishop 335 No judges so deeply confirmed in grace, or so impeccable 1555 Dialogue 1 though she never sinned yet she was not so impeccable but she might have sinned 1670 G Hickes Controversies The Pope is not only infallible, but also impeccable 1736

Parliamentary Patriot (1740) 156 He knows that neither he nor his ministers are infallible, nor impeccable. 1849 Robertson Serm. Ser. I. v. 71 No soul is absolutely impeccable

2 Of things: Faultless, unerring

1660 B. Hall Hist. Van Cleve § 8. 43 If we honour the man most we hold his pen impeccable? 1864 Bowen Logic viii. 184 We need some more succinct mode than that of severally applying to each syllogism all the Rules before we can be satisfied that it is impeccable.

3 ab One who is impeccable.

1748 Richardson Clarissa (1811) IV. 7 A brace of impeccables, and please you. 1887 Ruskin Præterita II. xi. 211 W. Gladden Parish Problems 144 A row of these same impeccables

Hence Impe ccably adv., in an impeccable manner, without liability to sin

1874 R. Tyrwhitt Church Clubs 21 Painters cannot follow it [the Christian faith] impeccably †Impe ccance Obs. [ad. eccl. L. impeccantia see Impeccant and -ance] = next 1677 Gale Crt. Gentiles III. 160 The Schoolmen have been great Champions for this Philosophic Pelagian Impeccance or state of Perfection in this life

Impeccancy impe kănsi [ad. eccl. L. impeccantia (Tertullian) see next and -ancy] The quality of being impeccant, sinlessness, inerrance 1614 Br. Hall Apol. Ch. & Rome § 2 Nor is this boldness unlike Christ's certaine impeccancy of judgment (that we may borrow a word from Tertullian) 1627 Donne Serm. (1640) Wks. (Alford) VI. 408 A present Impeccancy, and a future Impeccability. 1721 Kay Poems 211 A Poet Wks. 1721 IV. 136 Life never is wholly free from sins, impeccancy's all Death begins

Impeccant (impe kănt), a. [f. L. 2 + peccans, peccant em, pres. pple. of peccare to sin] Not sinning, sinless, unerring a 1763 Byrom Ep. to G. Thyer (R.) Poor dogs of some sort, and impeccant half-men! 1813 Q. Rev. Jan. 118 The pledges is certainly not always impeccant. 1890 Standard 5 Apr. 6/1 The hero is neither impeccable nor impeccant Impectinate (impe ktinĕt, a. Latin [f. In 2 + Pectinate.] Not pectinate, not comb-toothed: said of the antennæ of insects, and other parts, which are in other cases pectinate.

In recent Dicts.

Impectoral (impe ktoral), a. [f. In 2 + 1 pectus, pector breast + -al, after pectoral.] Without a breast. [In quot. humorous.]

1860 Russell Poetry Intell. I. 5 The gentlemen who preside over favourite dishes such as an imperial turkey Impecunary (impĭkiū nări, a. [f. In- 7 + Pecuniary.]

1 = Impecunious

1814 Byron Wks. (1832) VII. 95 Mr. Claughton of impecuniary memory 1825 Lamb Elianæ, Illustr. Defunct (1867) 143 Many an impecuniary exposure has floated over his locked-up warrant for future wealth 1885 New Monthly Mag. XIII. 219 The impecuniary classes.

2 Not pecuniary, not having to do with money

1855 Bachelor Int. Mind (1859) I. 268 It is in vain that in this hemisphere we endeavour after impecuniary fancies

Impecunnosity (impĭkiŭnŏ siti) [f. Impecunious + -ity.] The quality or condition of being impecunious, lack of money

1818 Scott Let. to T. B. S. Morritt 7 Dec. in Lockhart, A certain degree of impecuniosity, a nice sity of saving three pairs and candle ends. 1850 W. Irving Goldsmith 222 Hitherto elevated the emptiness of his purse into the dignity of odious; which he termed impecuniosity. 1874 L. Stephen Hours in a Library (1892) II. 144 He [Messenger] like most of his brethren, suffered grievously from impecuniosity Impecunous impĭkiū nəs. a. [f. In- 7 + Pecunious. Cf. rare Fr. impécunieux.] (Little.) Having no money, penniless; in want of money

1596 Nashe Saffron Walden Q ij b A poore impecunious creature 1599 B. Jonson Cynthia's Rev. v. ii, Put him out, an impecunious creature 1859 Daily Tel. 14 Feb. 4/8 To this paradise of credit the simple and impecunious addressed their letters 1891 Mrs. Riddell Mad Love 69 A train of impecunious artists

Imped (impe d), sb. [f. In 2 + 1 ped, ped foot] A footless creature used by R. Owen to render Aristotle's ἄποδα 1861 Owen in Life (1894) II. 119 Aristotle had divided the group into bipeds, quadrupeds and imped.

Imped (impt, impe d), ppl. a. [f. Impe + -ed 1.] Grafted, engrafted, implanted, eked: see Impe v.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 259/2 Imped (Pynson or graffed) ingrafted. 1589 Hubberd Tale (1837) 10 With winged quilles so prowde a patch to flie. 1593 Drayton Past. I. vii. 98 Cupid Whose imped wings with speckled plumes be dight 1621 Fletcher Pilgrim I. i, None of your impt bravadoes

Impedance (impē dăns) Electr. [f. Impede v. + -ance.] lit. Hindrance, virtual resistance due to self induction in an electrified body

When an electric current supports a simply periodic current due to a simply periodic impressed voltage, the ratio of the amplitude of the voltage to that of the current is the place to the impedance of the circuit under the circumstances The circuit may be of any sort involving electric and magnetic energy as well as waste by resistance (O. Heaviside)

1886 Heaviside Electr. Pap. (1892) II. 64 Let us call the ratio of the impressed force to the current in a line when electrostatic induction is ignorable the Impedance of the line from the verb impede Ibid. 126 The impedance may be independent of the frequency, or a constant 1888 Tower in Rep. Brit. Assoc., Impedance of conductors to Leyden jar discharges and to Lightning.

Impede (impē d), v. Also 7 impeide [ad. L. impedire, lit. to shackle the feet, f. im- (In- 1) + pes, ped- foot.]

†1 trans. To retard in progress or action by putting obstacles in the way, to obstruct, to hinder, to stand in the way of 1605 Shaks. Mac. I. v. 29 All that impedes thee from the golden Round, Which Fate doth seeme to haue thee crown'd withall! 1658 Phyne Acc. Indians 87 But they would raise Objections on purpose to impede the Negotiation 1766 Smollett Adv. Launcelot Greaves 8 No tricks impede thy dimpling course 1807 J. Thomson Chron. Scot. 3) II. 346 Carlisle, too, made all of promoting, impedes the deposition 1895 Macaulay Hist. Eng. xx. IV. 514 Adverse winds had impelled his progress through the Straits of Dover 1860 Tindall Glac. I. xxiii. 155 My load, light as it is, impedes me.

†2 Match = Impedge v. 2

1819 (see Impediment 4).

Hence Impe ded ppl. a., also Impe der, a person or thing that impedes 1586 Hudson Judith I. xiv. 78 First an impeder of them winter marches 1796-7 Instr. to Arcs. Cadetships (1811) 190 The positions I, K, L, M show the passage of obstacles by the impeded parts thin, or marching ranks by threes round them †Impe de, sb. Obs. rare [f. prec. vb.] The act of impeding, hindrance, impediment 1599 Merry Wives III. iv. 4 Mrs. Page. Indeed is 'a? No impediment to make those wild luxurious sprays, Which give impede and grace this spreading vine †Impe dible, a. Obs. [f. Impede v. + -ible, f. L. type impedibilis* of It. impedibile (Florio).] That can be impeded obstructed, or hindered Hence †Impedibi lity, liability to be impeded

1655 Jer. Taylor Unum Necess. vi. v. 871 (R. Supp.) But the will is not impedible, it cannot be restrained at all, if there be any act of life 1677 Gale Crt. Gentiles III. 479 Nothing fully of this active faculty but from some external impediment 1679 Hickeringill Ministers Plea 182 To a mind so disposed externals become, first indifferent, then impedient

Impedient (impe dient), sb. Also 5 6 impedy- (5 in- enpedy-, impede, 6 ympedi ment) [ad. L. impedimentum hindrance, impediment, pl. -menta baggage, f. impedire to Impede.]

1 The fact of impeding or condition of being impeded, hindrance, obstruction, concr. some thing that impedes, hinders, or obstructs, a hindrance, an obstruction

1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xi. (1495) 156 To cleuse the eyes yssyhe and to putte of the impediment and lette of the syyssyte of syhe. a 1440 Hoccleve De Reg. Princ. 1807 To knowe whens is myne impediment 1450 Lyndewode Provinciale 288 b/2 Ne must know how many impedimaint[s] ben ben yn vngloss. 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 31 Lenuoll I trowe is better an impedyment or let, than I rehercunce 1549 Bk. Com. Prayer Matrimony, If either of you doe knowe any impedimente Yf no impedimente be alledged 1598 Shake. Rich. III. I. iv. 4 Thus farre Hue we march on without impediment 1645 Boate Irel. Nat. Hist. (1652) 67 These impediments are chiefly three in number Cattara's Wares, and Roads 1662 Bk. Com. Prayer Matrimony, If any of you know cause, or just impediment, why these two persons should not be joined together in holy Matrimony, ye are to declare it 1722 Speke. Hist. Quakers (1795) I. p. viii, Notwithstanding all these impediments I continually resumed this work 1873 Hawker Patrol. Tyrol I. 1875 14 Impediments to labour actively †2 Something that impedes the functions or health of the body, a (physical) defect, an affection or malady Obs.

1542 Boorde Dyetary xii. (1870) 264 They be not good for the colycke nor the Hyacke nor other inflatyue impedymentes or sykenesses 1579 Langham Gard. Health (1633) 438 Both mind and spirit, soules, and bodies impediments c 1585 Faire Em II. 472 What? is she deaf? a great impediment? 1657 R. Ligon Barbadoes (1673) 19 If we no decey or impediment in my sight that made me loose it

b esp. An organic obstruction to ready or distinct speech, a stammer or stutter 1598 Florio Worlde of Wordes 170 He had an impedyment in his tunge 1539 Bible (Great) Mark vii. 32 One that was deaffe and had an impedyment in hys spech. 1809 Watson Instit. Nat. & Acquir. Impediments (title p.) Hints for the Correction of Impediments in Speech

3 Chiefly pl. Baggage, esp. of an army, Impedimenta

c 1540 Pol. Love Poems Hen. VIII. (Camden Soc. 29) 219 All impedimentes being gathered into the middest of thamy. 1598 Barret Theor. Warres III. ii. 81 Then may the center cause the impedimentes and baggage of the armie 1658 Life Black Prince in Select Ir. Hist. Mss. (1793) 51 Placing his carriages there, and all his other impediments 1890 Bournemouth Coll. Reminder (1891) 264 As the progress of his party would necessarily partake of the nature of carts in movements, he decided to go ahead of his impediment

4 Astrol. The 'impedited' condition of a planet see Impedite v. 2

1819 J. Wilson Compl. Dict. Astrol. 4 v. Impeded, The ☽ is impeded when in ☌, □, or ☍ of ☉, ♄, or ♂. If in ☌ or ☍, the impediment lasts four days, viz two before and two after †Impe diment, v. Obs. [f. prec. sb.] trans. To put an impediment or obstruction in the way of, to obstruct 1610 Heaven's Ord. (1790) 337 Nolse, whereby either their own deuotions may be diuerted or that of others impedimented 1632 J. Powell Tom All Trades 162 Who impediment our Trade abroad 1652 J. Taylor (Water P.) Town Walks (1859) 27 A reasonable house is now much impediminted with shelves, sands, and other annoyances.

‖Impedimenta (impedime ntă), sb. pl. [L., plur. of impedimentum see prec. sb.] Things which impede or encumber progress, baggage, travelling equipment (of an army, etc.)

1600 Holland Livy Index II. Eeeeee 3/2 Enclosing the impedimenta or baggage in the midst for safetie and security 1644 Chillingw. Serm. 30 Jan. (1742) 81 Being so clogged and burdened with these impedimenta 1834 Myers Anglers in Wales I. 28 [He] brought with him baggage enough to load a camel. I have often had him to send on to that place his impedimenta 1885 Manch. Exam. 22 Jan. 5/1 Leaving the cutsels and all impedimenta in the place where the troops had encamped Impedimental (impedime ntăl), a. [f. Impediment sb. + -al.] Of the nature of or constituting an impediment, obstructive, impeditive 1654 W. Montagu Devout Ess. II. viii. § 2. 2 The impediment of sin, which interposes her fruitive love 1657 J. Goodwin Triers Tried In Rdr. 5 It is so impedimental or destructive to the keeping of Gods commandments 1732 North Lives (1826) I. 121 No impedimental forms of Civil shall stand against that equity 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr. IV. i A distressing, impedimental adjunct

No Impedimenta ntary a., in same sense 1888 Daily News 20 Dec. 2/1 High heels and pointed toes eschewed as impedimentary to swiftness in walking Impeding (impe ding), ppl. a. [f. Impede v. + -ing2.] That impedes or obstructs, hindering Hence Impe dingly adv.

1727 S. Clarke 4th Reply to Collins 345 The contrary or impeding Force, which arises from the Resistance of Fluids to Bodies moved in them 1805 Southey Madoc x. xvii, He drop't the impeding buckler 1886 M. K. Macmillan Dictionnaire des Dictes 154 The first drawings of the head bound round clung impedingly to our shoes

†Impedite, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. impedit us, pa. pple. of impedire to Impede.] Impeded, obstructed, hindered, having an impediment defective Astrol. see Impedite v. 2

1544 Phaer Regiment (1553) I. j b, You must consider whether he be impedite or no, and in the impedite, there shalbe many sicknesses 1635 Swan Spec. M. (1670) 191 If Saturn shall behold the Moon when she is impedite, with a quadrate or opposite aspect, then he foreshewith that there will be an Earthquake 1660 Gurnall Chr. in Arm. verse 19. iii. § 5 (1669) 491/2 Their impedite speech and hesitant delivery 1672 True Genealogy We know, the expressive Faculte, where the organs are not impedite to be sufficient enough to the mindes conception Impedite (impĭdəit), v. Obs. [f. L. impedit, ppl. stem of impedire to Impede.]

1 = Impede v.

c 1535 Suppress. Monast. (Camden) 23 To let, stoppe, impedite, and withstande your graces marriage 1612 Woodall Surg. Mate Wks. (1653) 88/1 If the substance of the brain be offended, the functions thereof are impedited 1650 Bulwer Anthropomet. 84 I do defend the Eye . . yet so as it may impedite vision 1658 J. Wallis in Royal Soc. Phil. Trans. (1732) VI. 457 Digestion seemed not to be much impedited

2 Astrol. In pass., said of a planet when its influence is hindered by the aspect of another 1647 Lilly Chr. Astrol. 222 If she [the Moon] be impedited of the ☉ in a Nativity a 1681 Wharton Dis. Soul of World Wks. (1683) 69 How the Power and Dominion of this Star, [the Sun] being long and Powerful would be thus Impedited 1821 Lytton Godolph. xxvii, For Jupiter in Cancer not impedited of any other star, be inclined me indeed some experience in science.

†Impedi tion. Obs. [ad. L. impeditiōn em, n. of action f. impedire to Impede.] The action of impeding or fact of being impeded, hindering 1563 Cockeram, Impeditions, a hindering 1676 R. Ghost Lord Conform Clergymen 8 If the brave man that speaks without the least impedition or hesitation 1684 Baxter Dw. Converg. 3 Not statedly, but only by some impedition or impediments

Impeditive (impe ditiv), a. [f. L. impedit-, ppl. stem of impedire to Impede + -ive.] Tending to impede or obstruct, of the nature of an impediment, obstructive 1621 Br. Hall Consecration xxii, Six legs to that unwieldy body had been cumbersome, and impeditive of motion a 1693 Urquhart Rabelais III. xvi. 133 The impeditive Interposition of many Rivers. 1881 G. Macdonald Hart & Heart I. iv. 88 A lovely fault but greatly impeditive to progress.

†Impe·vish, v. Obs. rare [In- 1 + vex.] trans. To render peevish Hence Impeevished ppl. a.

1664 H. More Myst. Iniq. Apol. 561 They may serve the turn of particular impeevished spirits

Impeian (pheasant) see Impeyan

Impeire, obs. form of Impair v.

Impel (impe l), v. Also 7 8 impell [ad. L. impell ĕre, in same senses, f. im- (In- 1) + pellĕre to drive, cf. also obs. F. impeller (16th c. in Godef.).]

1 trans To drive, force, or constrain (a person) to some action, or to do something, by acting upon his mind or feelings, to urge on, incite

1490 CAXTON Eneydos XXII 78 He was strongly impelled in his corage by y persuasions and baisde lamentacions 1577 tr. Bullinger's Decades (1592) 588 Will chooseth, for in it doth he both to will and to nill which are agame impeld by other powers and faculties 1659 PEARSON Creed (1839) 12 Not upon their own motion, but as moved, impelled, and acted by God 1732 POPE Ess. Man II 68 Active its task, it prompts, impels, inspires 1848 SCOTT J. M. Perth XXXII, I cannot tell what impels me to speak thus boldly 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) V 141 Human nature will impel him to seek pleasure instead of virtue

2 In literal sense To drive or cause to move onward, to impart motion to, to propel

1611 FLORIO, Impellere, to impell, to thrust violently, to drive forward 1646 SIR J. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. II IV 80 This effluvium attenuateth and impelleth the neighbour ayre 1697 DRYDEN Virg. Georg. III 316 O'er th Elean Plains, they well breath'd Horse Impels the flying Car 1793 RICHARDS Calculus 175 The heart impelling the blood through the arteries 1828 HOGG Sr. & Arr. I 11 A ship impelled by the wind and tide 1851 HAWTHORNE Wo. Gables XIX (1883) 138 Uncle Venner impelling a wheelbarrow along the street 1865 HUGHES Tom Brown at Ox. I XII 245 One or two skiffs were coming home, impelled by reading men, who took their constitutionals on the water

b To force (a thing) upon rare

1760–72 H. BROOKE Fool of Quat. (1809) IV 108 He cried, You must accept them as a token of our loves, and so he constrained and impelled them upon me

Hence Impe lled, Impe lling ppl. adjs

1685 BOYLE Eng. Notion Nat. VI 217 The generality of impelled bodies do move the same upwards, downwards (etc.) 1767 GOUGH Treat. Wounds I 71 The impelling force of the blood 1898 BUNDERLL Screw Vess. Life 305 Force which is cumulative, growing stronger and more impelling as it goes 1858 LARDNER Hand-bk. Nat. Phil., Hydrost., etc 142 The impelling force acting only on one side of the centre

Impellent (impe'lent), a. and sb. [ad. L. impellent-em, pres. pple. of impellĕre to IMPEL.]

A adj. That impels, or drives on, impelling 1620 GRANGER Div. Logike 167 note. The effect of the impellent cause 1716 Lond. Gaz. No. 5459/4 For raising Water by the impellent force of Fire 1893 VEITCH Lucretius 68 Where is the impellent power or virtuosity?

B sb. A thing which impels or urges, an impelling force, agent, body, etc

1644 DIGBY Two Treat. I (1645) 47 By reason of the violent motion of the impellent 1691 RAY Creation I (1692) 70 Here is no appearing Impellent but the external Air 1793 J. WILLIAMS Calm Enquiry (ed. 3) 11 Motion must have equally an impellant or governor, to enforce obedience 1836 CHALMERS Mor. Philos. Wks V 291 Curiosity is a great impellent to mental labour

Impeller (impe lər) [f. IMPEL v. + -ER1] One who or that which impels

1685 BOYLE Eng. Notion Nat. VI 215 By other portions of matter which are also encompassed as impellers acting on them 1709 S. CLARKE and Def. Immat. Soul (1715) 24 It is possible to be an Effect produced without a Cause? Is it impelled without any Impeller? 1727 Hist. Camera Lucis (1826) 17 The first Impeller of all motions 1880 FARRAR Lives Fathers I 13 Clement is a moderator, Ignatius an impeller

†Impe n, n.1 Obs [f. IM1 + PEN *sb.*1 or *v.*1] trans To shut in a pen or fold (See also IMPEN.)

1687 FLETHAM Resolves I (n.) lxvii (lx.) 218 Like a sheepe impend d in the fold 1661 Lingora XXVII, O you Celestial Powers! why did you thus incursed Man a Soule to impend d In womens Breasts?

†Impe·n, n.2 Obs Also em- [f. IM1 + PEN *sb.*2] trans To provide with pens or feathers

1624 SIR W. MURE Misbe. Absent 2 Thy Muse to climb Parnassus I aspyre, And by thy feathers to impen my fume 1628 – Spir. Hymne 214 On wings, with faith and hope empen d †Impe nd, *v.*1 Obs [ad. L. impend-ĕre to lay out, expend, devote, employ, f. im- (IM 1) + pendĕre to weigh, pay out] trans To pay to some one, to spend, expend, to apply (money), to bestow

c 1486 Hampton Corr. 67 Ye shall hand me to impend unto your sayd masters-ship prayer and service, according unto our duety 1494 FABYAN Chron. VII 254 For their fydelyte, whiche they to vs dayly impende 1612 STURTEVANT Metallica (1854) 60 Money to be impended and disbursed in Charges. 1659 BOYLE Contin. New Exp. II (1682) Pref. 9, I am almost ashamed to tell how much was impended on these Trials. c 1690 R. Lawe's Diary (1818) 142 May they not also forbidd all tennants and vassals to pay rents to them, because they know not how they will impend them?

Impend (impe nd), *v.*2 [ad. L. impend-ĕre, in same senses, f. im- (IM 1) + pendĕre to hang]

1 intr To hang or be suspended (over), to overhang (With indirect pass.)

1780 A. YOUNG Tour Ire. 300 Bulging rocks which seem to impend in horrid forms over the lake 1803 R. WHITE Clifton Grove 224 Mountful birches o'er the wave impend 1865 MRS. OLIPHANT Salem Ch. I. 5 Old Mr. Tuffon spiritual but homely, had been wont to impend over the desk and exhort his beloved brethren 1878 H. S. WILSON Alp Ascents 13 Impended over by great rock boulders.

2 transf and fig. Of evil or danger To hang threatenmgly or hover (over) as about to fall

1509 MASSINGER, etc Old Law V 1, Your father's curses which have brought Vengeance impending on you 1706 PHILLIPS, To Impend, to hang over one's Head, as Dangers or Judgments do, to be likely to happen 1725 POPE Odyss. II 191 Destruction sure o'er all your heads impends 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. IV I 523 Great dangers impended over the ecclesiastical and civil constitution

J. H. NEWMAN Hist. Sk. (1873) II 1 1 12 Barbarism is ever impending over the civilized world

3 Hence, generally, To be about to happen, to be imminent or near at hand

1654 Mortimeria's Ivy N. Countreyes 145 Giving them notice of any accident or distemper impending 1712 Pope Rape Lock I 109, I saw, alas! some dreadful event impend 1746 ANSTRUTHER Trial Young II 68 The same ghost took Impends 1840 THIRLWALL Greece VII 163 A war which was believed to be impending

4 trans To overhang, hover over, to be imminent over rare

1652 GAULE Magastrom 354 Thine own Art lets thee not foresee what impends thee on earth 1670 PENN Case Lamb. Conse. 6 The dreadfull Judgments that now impend the Nation 1810 SHELLEY Zastrozzi XII Pr. Wks. 1888 I 86 The alarming danger which impended her

Impendence (impe ndens) [f. IMPENDENT see -ENCE] The fact or condition of being imminent, menacing character, an impending circumstance

c 1632 I. TAYLOR God's Judgem. II IV (1642) 49 Sloath hath many virulent and bitter impendences c 1660 HAM. MOND Hard. (1847) 592 The great impendence of divine punishments 1848 LAFFOUND Final Mem. Lamb 305 The constant impendency of this giant sorrow saddened to the Lambs even their holidays

Impendent (impe ndĕnt), a. Now rare [ad. L. impendient-em, pres. pple. of impendere, IMPEND *v.*2 (cf. obs. F. impendent (Cotgr.)]

1 = IMPENDING 1

1611 COTGR., Impendent, impendent, hanging over, or vnto 1658 RAY Disput. World III V (1732) 147 A Rock of one of the impendent Cliffs c 1790 IMISON Sch. Art I 134 That part of the atmosphere impendent over England 1858 RUSKIN Mod. Painters III IV XVI 89 The sky, when arched into folds of motion, closely impendent upon earth Ibid. IV V XVI 61 Cliffs impendent above strong torrents

2 = IMPENDING 2

c 1592 GREENE Jas. IV Wks. (Rildg.) 306 Were I baser born, my mean estate Could warrant me from this impendent danger 1605 MONTAIGNE tr. I 137 H Impendent horrors, thre strong hideous fall One day upon our heads 1742 WARBURTON Dev. Legat V III 413 This impendent Desolation brings them to a Sense of their Folly 1884 Fortn. Rev. June 760 The greatest impendent national evil Impending (impe ndiŋ, ppl. a. [f. IMPEND *v.*2 + ING2.]

1 In literal sense Overhanging

1709 ADDISON Rape in Lull Tapper Brit III 38 A bower pleasantly shaded by the impending bushes 1784 COWPER Task III 193 Terribly arch'd and aquiline his nose, And overbuilt with most impending brows 1854 HAWTHORNE Eng. Note-bks (1883) I 381 The old house built by Philip English in Salem many gabled, and impending †Impe ndible, a. Obs. rare [f. IMPEND *v.*2 + pendĭbĭl-us (Plautus), f. impendi-um outlay, expense, f. impend-ĕre IMPEND *v.*1] Unwish, extravagant Hence †Impe ndiousness

1623 COCKERAM, Impendious, spending more than needes 1656 in BLOUNT Glossogr. 1707 BAILEY vol II, Impendiousness, liberality, extravagant spending

Impenetrability (impe nĕtrăbi liti) [f. next see -ITY] Cf. F. impénétrabilité.]

1 The quality or condition of being impenetrable, the acquisition of being pierced, entered, or pierced; imcurtability, unfathomableness, unsusceptibility of intellectual impression (J.)

1706 PHILLIPS, Impenetrability, a being impenetrable 1794 SULLIVAN View Nat. I 373 Their excessive impenetrability to the touch 1797 BURKE Regic. Peace II (ed 2) I 17 The firmness, hardness, and impenetrability of minerals 1848 C. BRONTË Professor I will put her to some test such impenetrability 1866 ROGERS Pol. Economy 1866 GEO ELIOT Felix Holt xxii, Jermyn's calculated slowness and conceit in his own impenetrability

2 = Solidity That property of matter in virtue of which two bodies cannot occupy the same place at the same time

1665 GRIMALDI Scopus Sci 44 That Quantity is Divisibility is presumed, but extension is before it in nature, and the conception and on the received notion, though perhaps Impenetrability is the truest 1678 CUDWORTH Intellect. Syst. I V 770 Impenetrability and Impenetrability were made by him the very essence of body 1794 tr. ADAMS Nat. & Exp. Philos. III XXV 67 The idea of impenetrability only supposes that two extended substances cannot be in the same place at the same time 1877 B. R. CORBET Anal. Faith V 222 Extension and impenetrability, long regarded as essential properties of matter, are now perceived to be properties not of atoms, but of masses of coherent molecules.

Impenetrable (impe nĕtrăb'l), a. Also 5 inp, 6–7 impenitrable [a. F. impénétrable (14th c., J de Vignay), ad. L. impenetrabilis, f. im- (IM 2) + penetrabilis PENETRABLE.] Not penetrable

1 That cannot be penetrated, pierced, or entered, impossible to get into or through Const. to, by

1460 CAPGRAVE Chron. (Rolls) 133 The haunt was strong and impenetrable 1585 T. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. III 115b Hee built on their heads bourgonets strong and impenetrable 1603 DRAYTON Barons' Wars VI. Wards Able to wound the impenetrable Tyres 1667 MILTON P. L. IX 1080 Woods impenetrable To Spear or Sun light 1697 Lond. Gaz. No. 3314 4 His Hull not being impenetrable to our great Shot 1798 S. WILTON Vermont 98 Impenetrable to the rain 1814 WORDSW. Excurs. II ad fin., The hills I by shrouded in impenetrable mist 1856 MACGILLIVRAY Humboldt's Trav. 383 A kind of clay impenetrable by the roots of herbaceous plants 1880 HALGHTON Phys. Geog. V 229 One impenetrable forest

2 transf. and fig. Whose nature, meaning, etc. cannot be penetrated or discerned, inscrutable, unfathomable. a Of things

1532 ELYOT Gov. I XXIII, Were the thing never so diffuse or as who saythe impenetrable 1692 DAVIDES St. Interest Eur. 185 Nothing is more impenetrable than the [the soul-] Nature, its Original and its Duration. a 1704 I. BROWN Praise Poverty Wks. 1730 I 93 The legerdemain must be clean and the Conveyance impenetrable to the eye of the people 1823 TYRRELL Hist. Eng. VI 297 That the intention of proceeding to judgment might be kept an impenetrable secret. 1866 R. W. DALE Hist. Disc. VI 188 I very little of it ends in impenetrable mystery

b Of persons, their appearance, actions, etc

1718 Freethinker I No 25 P 5 Such a long, impenetrable Simulation 1800 MRS. HERVEY Mountain Inn II 134 She watched his countenance whilst she spoke, but it was impenetrable 1820 MISS LEASOWNE Duke & Cousin I XV 127 He was impenetrable on this subject 1882 OUIDA Marremma I 50 She being a close and resolute woman was impenetrable to the curiosity of her neighbours absol. as sb. 1811 Henry & Isabella II 71 I hope you bring me some consolation from the fair impenetrable.

3 Impervious to intellectual or moral influences, impressions, or ideas

1596 SHAKS. Merch. I. III III 18 It is the most impenetrable cure I ever knew 1601 J. MARSTON Pasquil & Kath. III 385 Lookt, or felt, or heard Creeper? Or not impenetrable, be unseen Youth? 1784 COWPER Tirocinium 97 Dost dost thou dream, the impenetrable man Feel himself that use the lullabies of nurse I am thrist 1865 M. ARNOLD Ess. Crit. V (1875) 205 Aristocracies are, as such, naturally impenetrable by ideas

4 Nat. Philos. Possessing the quality of impenetrability (see prec., 2)

1666 BOYLE Orig. Forms & Qual. (1667) 2 Bodies by which I mean a Substance extended, divisible, and impenetrable 1719 D'URFEY Pills V 268 Impenetrable, some have fancied, that Air became solid, Opake, and Impenetrable by his Fall 1829 Nat. Philos. I Mechanics II § 7 (U. K. S.) Air is impenetrable

Impe netrableness [f. prec. + -NESS] The quality of being impenetrable, impenetrability

1685 BOYLE Eng. Notion Nat. VI 214 Since motion does not essentially belong to matter, as divisibility and impenetrableness are held to do 1748 RICHARDSON Clarissa (1811) I xl 301 This impenetrableness is to be put among the shades in his character 1866 GEO. ELIOT Felix Holt XXXI, The cold impenetrableness which he has proved under the ordinary annoyances of business

Impenetrably (impe nĕtrăbli), adv. [f. as prec. + -LY2.] In an impenetrable manner, inscrutably, unfathomably

1647 HAMMOND Power of Keys 56 Some man impenetrably obstinate 1667 MILTON P. L. XII 490 Involv'd she impenetrably arm'd 1750 ROBERTSON Hist. Scotl. (1818) VIII 43 The whole transaction is involved impenetrably dark to ever 1857 H. B. BRIEN Mod. Eng. Lit. 234 A poet impenetrably shrouded in mysticism

Impenetrate (impe nĕtrĕit), v. [f. IM1 + PENETRATE.] trans To penetrate intimately

1859 MISS MULOCK Romant. I 328 Love draws its light from its own essence, and pours it out in a calm lone flood surrounding and impenetrating the soul with its stillness. 1872 SMITH Christ. Life 158 Christianity was impenetrated with vice and profligacy 1892 Law & Gospel 111 MU 377 So deeply has it impregnated the daily life of the people

Impenetra tion [IM1] Intimate penetration, permeation

1861 DR. K. WILLIAMSON Lib. (1874) I 177 The indwelling of Deity in the Church is the impenetration of its whole being by a miraculous power

†Impe netrative, a. Obs. rare [f. IM2 + PENETRATIVE.] Not having a penetrating quality

1684 H. MORE Immort. 196 The mundy of most being slight, and impenetrative

Impenitence (impe nitens) [ad. late L. impænitentia (Jerome), f. impænit-us IMPENITENT see -ENCE Cf. F. impénitence (1650 in Hatz. Darm.).] The fact or condition of being impenitent, want of penitence or repentance, hardness of heart, obduracy

1624 BEDELL Lett. VII 112 Impenitence of the deadly crime 1667 MILTON P. L. XII 507 Demanding wrath to come On that impenitence 1704 HICKMAN Serm. Heb. XXIX (R.), Nor is one man's impenitence more damnable than another's. Charity and Reason will not allow us to make fault for continuing impenitent 1784 E. H. PITCAIRN Spirit of Christianity 255 (tr. Dr. Priestley) There is no predestination to damnation, only continued impenitence can be the cause of that

Impenitency (impe nitĕnsi) [f. as prec. see -ENCY.] The quality or state of being impenitent 1563 GRINDAL Serm. for Plague Wks (Parker Soc.) 59 As we through our impenitency do now most worthily feel thy justice punishing us. 1614 RALEIGH Hist. World II (1614) 647 That the sins which are not forsaken before the age of 30 years, shall be punished with finall impenitence. 1738 BOSSUET Serm. Prof. Gen. Wks III 245 A mind not hardened by impenitency. 1864 J. WALKER Faithful Ministry 143 Day by day hardening the soul in deeper impenitency.

Impenitent (impe·nitĕnt), a and sb Also 6 pœn [ad. L. impœnitent-em (Jerome), also erron. impæn- f. im- (Im- 5) + pœnitens PENITENT (cf. impœnitud (1570 in Hatz.-Darm.).]

A adj. Not penitent or repentant, having no contrition or sorrow for sin; unrepent ant, obdurate. 1532 MORE Confut. Tindale Wks 613/1 [They] will wepe and repent in hell this foolish fruitless fashion of their impenitent repentance. 1580 N. I. RIDLEY) Rome 11 5 After thy hardnesse and impenitent heart. 1597 HOOKER Eccl. Pol. v. lxxvi. § 8 Impenitent and notorious sinners. 1709 STEELE Tatler No. 33, ¶ 2 Impenitent Criminals and Malefactors. 1898 J. CAIRD Univ. Serm. vii. 142 With God, to forgive an impenitent man and to continue to punish impenitent are equally impossible.

B. sb. An impenitent or unrepentant person. 1532 MORE Confut. Tindale Wks. 525/1 In this kynde are there pœnitentes and impenitentes bothe. 1631 High Com. minist. Cases (Camden) 27 The body of the impenitent went not presently to hell but was condemned to hell when he died. 1734 WATTS Relig. Improv. xxiii. Distant Views &c., These dark clouds will soon cover the nations, and we just ready to be discharged on the head of impenitents.

Hence Impe nitentness, impenitency. 1727 BAILEY vol. II, Impenitentness, impenitence, an obstinateness.

Impenitently (impe·nitĕntli), adv. [f. prec. + -LY2.] In an impenitent manner, without penitence, repentance, or contrition.

1587 GOLDING Conf. Antichr. I. 30 b, 31 Sinnes impudently and impenitently committed. 1709 POPE Iliad Epist. Wise crowds of these, impenitently bold, In sounds and jingling syllables, grown old Still run on Poets, and in spite of cross Will scribble on. 1859 DICKENS Two Cities iv, Like some enchanted marquis of the impenitently wicked sort, in story.

† Impe nitible, a. Obs [f. Im- 2 + stem of L. pœnitēre to repent + -IBLE.] Incapable of repentance. Hence † Impe nitibleness.

a 1614 DONNE Biathanatos (1644) 27 That there is in this life an impenitibleness, and impossibilitie of returning to God. 1632 Sermon 162 Death concludes him and makes him Impenitible for ever. Ibid. 308 A small Impenitence in this life and an Infinite Impenitibleness in the next. 1637 JACKSON Creed VI. xxiv. Wks. IV. 151 Utterly cut off by God, or left in a state impenitible.

Impennate (impe·nĕit), a and sb. Ornith. [f. Im- 2 + PENNATE, after mod. I. Impennes.]

a. adj. Featherless, wingless, spec. applied to the Impennes, a name given by Illiger, 1811, to certain swimming birds which have small wings covered with scale-like feathers, as the penguins.

b. sb. A bird of this kind.

1842 BRANDE Dict. Sci. etc. Impennates, Impennes.

† Impe nnous, a. Obs. rare [f. Im- 2 + L. penna feather, pl. wings + -OUS.] Wingless.

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. iii. xxv. 175 An eare winge : I reckoned amongst impennous insects by many. 1658 PHILLIPS Impennous having no feathers.

† Impe nnes, pl. Obs. [L. impennes, ppl. stem of impendĕre IMPEND 2.] nute To weigh. nu 1797 1803 TOOKE in Life & Corr. (1846) I. 166 Make religious sentiments impend so powerfully on the mind.

† Impe nsely, adv. Obs. rare—0. [f. L. type impensibilis*, f. im- (Im- 5 + pensibilis*, f. pendĕre, pens- to weigh, pay.] Without reward, gratis. COCKERAM 1623.

† Impensively, adv. Obs. [f. impens, ppl. stem of impendĕre (IMPEND 2) + -IVE + -LY2.] = expensively. The only way impens- (see IMPENSELY.)] Exceedingly, greatly, immensely.

1620 VENNER Via Recta Introd. It is not to bind to be allowed, except to such as are impensively hot. Ibid. 38 It is impensively hurtfull to old constitutions.

† Impe nt, pa. pple. Obs. [f. Im- 1 + PENT pple of PEN 2, or pa. pple of IMPEN v.] Pent in, shut in a pen or fold : enclosed, confined.

1633 P. FLETCHER Purple Isl. III. xii. A they runne in narrow bankes impent. 1638 Sibyl. Disc. 63 DANIEL Dedic. 69 When winds impent, Make Pelion tremble to Astonishment. 1649 Irenarch, Hen. II, xxxiv. Neighbour Kings (Impent with Horror at the fact, in their owne Right) flee Courts by his Ambassadors.

Impeople (impi·p'l) v., var. of IMPEOPLE to fill with people, to people.

1583 1651 [see IMPEOPLE] 1598 J. PEDDIE Psych. xvi. xix. K.) Thou hast help to impeople hell. 1839 BAILEY Festus (1851) 173 With starry globes innumerable. Did He the void impeople.

† Imper Obs [f. IMPER v. + -ER1.] One who imps or grafts, a grafter.

c 1440 Promp. Parv. 259/2 Impare, or gryffere, insitor, inoculator.

† Imperance. Obs. [f. I. prec. ppl. stem im-perant- (see next) see -ANCE.] Commanding quality, commandingness.

1595 CHAPMAN Ovid's Banq. Sence (1639) 35 Since venture wants due impertince. 1598 — in Marlowe's Hero & Leander III. addit., If her soul found such impertance in her love's beauties.

† Imperant, a. Obs. [ad. L. imperant-em, prec. ppl. of imperare to command.] Commanding, ruling.

1617 COLTON Def. Bp. Ely II. xx. 259 Imperant only, not efficient, dominant not exequent, as your School men loue to speak. 1691 BAXTER Nat. Ch. x. 47 They might [in Imperant, Individual and Executive power Govern them.

† Imperate, ppl. a. Obs. [ad. L. imperāt-us, pa. pple. of imperāre to command, rule.]

A as pa. pple Commanded, ruled.

c 1470 HARDING Chron. cxiii. viii. [He] reigned had and imperate in Britayn. 1580 ROLLAND Cert. Tyme iii. 260 It sailbe set as I haif Imparit. 1677 HALE Prim. Orig. Man. I. i. 30 They were not acts that are imperate by the Will.

B as adj. Commanded : a. by the will, opp. to ELICIT a, q. v.

1644 I. WHITE Repl. Fisher 544 All the actions elicite or imperate, which a sinner must performe that God may be edified. 1652 J. SMITH Sel. Disc. iv. (1821) 124 All the imperate motions of our wills. 1677 HALE Prim. Orig. Man. I. i. 29 The Spirits shot through the Nerves are the Immediate Instruments of the Soul in the Production of the act. 1710 NORRIS Char. Pract. iii. 135 By the Will those Motions or Operations (Imperate Acts as they are call'd) which are produced by the mediation of the Body.

† Imperate, v. Obs. [f. I. imperat-, ppl. stem of imperāre (see prec.).] trans. To command, rule, govern.

1599 A. M. tr. Gabelhouer's Ist. Hunsdck. 109/2 He hath ordayned for him the Patronie thus pe:taining to the Conserue and imperated him without cessation to serue the same both day and night. 1633 ANDR. SIGIS Legat. Germ. 154 There he desired to be informed by reason. 1660 R. COKE Power & Subj. 13 My Will is that which imperates all my actions.

Imperation. rare [n. of action from I. imperāre (see above).] The action of commanding. 1786 J. BENTHAM Penal Internal Law in Wks. 1838–43 II. 540 What is dominion? It is either the power of contrivation, or the power of imperation. Under the head of the power of imperation is comprised all the power which the sovereign is accustomed to exercise.

Imperatival (impĕrāi·tăl), a. Gram. [f. next + -AL1.] Pertaining to the imperative mood.

1873 † HALL Mod. Eng. 318 Substantival and its congeners adjectival, adjtival, adnominal, imperatival, nominatival. 1875 WHITNEY Sansk. Gr. § 582 It is not that the participle itself has any imperatival force.

Imperative (impe·rătiv), a. and sb. [ad. late L. imperātīvus as of or proceeding from a command, commanded (Macrobius), 'modus imperativus' (Martianus Capella), f. imperāre, imperat- to command see -IVE. Cf. F. impératif.]

A adj.

1 Gram. Expressing command applied to the verbal mood (or any form belonging to it) which expresses a command, request, or exhortation.

1530 PALSGR. Introd. 31 Modes every partycle verbe hath as the optatyf, imperatyf, &c. 1581 R. GRANT in Cath. Conf. II. (1584) M 3 b, It is the Imperative mode, and therefore a commaundement. 1605 WITHER Lord's Prayer 195 It is used with the Prophets to expresse the Imperative Mood and by way of Prayer, those Benedictions which God hath decreed and promised to the Righteous. 1824 J. STUART-MACKENZIE Gr. Gram. 212 The Imperative Mood is used for commanding, exhorting, entreating, or permitting.

2 Having the quality or property of commanding, of the nature of, characterized by, or expressing a command, commanding; peremptory.

1598 FLORIO Imperativo, imperative, or commanding. 1612–15 HAKEWILL Contempl. Man IV. iv. 4 The suits of kings are imperative. 1709 CONG. MORRIS in Spurrier's Hist. (1852) II. 304 Subject to the imperative and too often the unpresented wishes of the Committee. 1852 MRS. HOUSTOUN Uncle Tom's Cab. xxxii. 293 A female voice said something in a quick imperative tone.

3 Demanding obedience, execution, action, etc.; that must be done or performed, urgent, of the nature of a duty, obligatory.

1823 BYRON Juan XI. cxiv, Put such precipitation may end ill, Even at your own imperative expense. 1843 LYTTON Last Bar. I. v, Seems was of more imperative necessity than even Hunger. 1856 KANE Arct. Expl. II. 191 The condition of our sick men made it imperative that I should proceed at once. 1891 Spectator 4 Apr., The work is quite imperative, and its result will be most beneficial.

B sb. 1 Gram. The imperative mood, or a verbal form belonging to it (see A. 1).

1530 PALSGR. Introd. 16 Ye pus wanteth the present in paratyve and his present optatyve. 1586 N. DE LARGE in Du Moulin's Def. 108 Imperatives Optatives, and Subjunctives enter not into in Pronunciation. 1797–41 CHAMBERS Cycl. Sup. Mood, There is a simple affirmation, love, in imperative. 1755 JOHNSON Eng. Gram., The Imperative proficiency is seldom applied to the second person without the word do, as Stop him, but do not hurt him. 1871 ROBY Lat. Gram. § 581 The imperative present appears to consist of shortened forms of the indicative present.

2 An imperative action, speech, condition, etc.; an action, etc. involving or expressing a command, a command.

1606 BIRNIE Kirk Instruct. xvi. The Lords lawes are either imperatives of good or inhibitores of ill. 1633 T. ADAMS Exp. 2 Peter iii. 16 1859 There be such mystical allusions, such majesticall imperatives. 1879 SIR W. HAMILTON Metaph. xlvi. (1870) II. 516 The unconditionall imperative of the moral law. 1888 BALLEY Mor. & Hor. (1887) 259 There is no act however trivial which cannot be raised to the position of a moral act, by the imperative of society.

b Categorical imperative see CATEGORICAL A. 1 c.

1817 COLERIDGE Biog. Lit. 70 The unconditional command, or (in the technical language of his school) the categorical imperative of the conscience. 1888 Pall Mall G. 20 Oct. 2/2 The practical importance of the doctrine of the Divinity of Christ has always seemed to me to lie in the fact that it invests His teaching with the authority of the Categorical Imperative.

Imperatively (impe·rătivli), adv. [f. prec. adj. + -LY2.] In an imperative manner, commandingly, f. Gram in or with the imperative mood.

a 1623 T. CARTWRIGHT Confut. Rhem. N. T. (1618) 647 Whether it be turned Imperatiuely or Indicatiuely, it hurteth not us. a 1710 BP. BULL Serm. I. i. (R.), The words, though they are delivered imperatively, are a plain promise. 1833 J. H. NEWMAN Arians I. ii. (1876) 32 A remedy, which the circumstances of the times imperatively required. 1866 LORD ELCHO Holl. Hall, I like said, imperatively, I have him there.

Imperativeness (impe·rătivnes) [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being imperative, commandingness, authoritativeness, obligatoriness.

1840 Fraser's Mag. XXII. 198 The official imperativeness often associated with long service and high command. 1879 H. SIDGWICK Data of Ethics II. § 68. 187 The acts by which each maintains his own life must precede in imperativeness all other acts of which he is capable.

‖ Imperator (impĕrā·tŏr) Also 6 emp [L., agent. n. from imperare to command.]

a In Roman History, a word originally meaning 'commander', under the Republic, conferred by salutation of the soldiers on a victorious general, afterwards, under the Empire, confined to the head of the state, in whose name all victories were won, and thus the equivalent of its English representative, EMPEROR, q. v.

From the ancient Roman Emperors, it was continued as the Latin title of the Emperors of the East and West, and so of all monarchs who claimed 'imperial' rank or position. In this sense it was commonly assumed in Latin documents by the Old English kings from Athelstan onward (see Freeman Norm. Conq. I. ii. and App. C), the OE. equivalent was cásere (cf. CÆSAR, KAISER, TSAR), the OE. verb was imperian, whence EMPEROR.

1579–80 NORTH Plutarch (1595) 679 Pompeyes soldiers saluted him by the name of Imperator. 1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. III. xiii. 174 Julius Cæsar, and Augustus with great humility or popularity refused the name of Imperator. 1823 H. Smith's Amaltis's Pict. Ch. v. Rom. Antiq. (1868) 211/1 After a victory it was usual for the soldiers to salute their comm under as imperator, but this salutation neither gave nor confirmed the title, since the title as a matter of course was given with the imperium. 1857 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. I. iii. 145 From the days of Athelstan onwards, our kings appear in their public acts as basileus, Cæsar, Imperator, Imperator Ingentius.

b gen. Absolute ruler, emperor, commander, ruler. (Cf. IMPEROR 3 b.)

1588 SHAKS. L. L. L. I. i. 185 [Cupid] King of Cod-peces, Sole Emperor and great generall Of trotting Paritanes. 1596 Edw. III, II. i. 26 She is as imperator over me, And I to her Am as a kneeling vassal. 1623 Hagæ ad Comitat. in Lord Mon. (Malh.) III. 223 Supreme head of the noble house of the Ottomans, and the imperator of all other rulers and lads in the world.

Hence Imperatorship, the office of imperator. 1848 Fraser's Mag. XXXVIII. 242 This new theorem of Imperatorship consolid ates itself. 1888–3 SCHAFF Encycl. Relig. Knowl. I. 497 His [Vespasian's] elevation to the imperatorship.

Imperatoral (impĕrā·tŏrăl), a. [f. I. imperātōr-ius, f. imperator (see prec.) + -AL1.]

1 Of, pertaining to, characteristic of, or befitting an imperator, emperor, or commander, imperial. Imperatoral province, a province governed by a Roman empire, of which the Cæsar was himself the proconsul the administration being by legatus with praetorian power.

1660 BURNEY Impl. Imper. (1661) 58 Peter attributes to his Majesty the Imperatoral Title of Supreme. 1806 MACARTNEY Hist. I. 153 (Jod.) It calls for an unusual term in our language, an imperatoral control. 1813 DR QUINCEY Lett. Edin. Ev. Wks. 1860 XIV. 77 A speech of imperatorial grandeur. 1832 4 — Cæsars (ibid. X. 278 note, In the imperatorial provinces where the governor bore the title of Imperator. 1878 SELLEY Stein II. 470 He was an imperatorial, a kingly man.

2 Of or pertaining to absolute command, imperative. Obs.

1690 NORRIS Beatitudes (1692) 241 Moses deliver'd his Law after an Imperatorial way saying, Thou shalt not do this.

Hence Imperato rially adv., in an imperatorial way; as an emperor.

1839 DE QUINCEY Casuistry Wks. VIII. 277 note, He provided ropes of purple and of gold intermixed, that he might hang himself imperatorially.

† Imperatorian, a. Obs. [f. as prec. + -AN.] = IMPERATORIAL.

1640 SOMNER Antiq. Canterb 365 That age as much affecting the Imperatorian Brevity, as ours abhorres it. a 1650 HACKET Abp. Williams I. (1692) 169 He [James I.] did so little bear up with an imperatorian resolution against the method of their ways.

Imperatorin (impĕrā·tŏrin) Chem. Also imperatrin [f. Bot. L. Imperatoria (see below)

+ -IN] A neutral substance discovered in the root of masterwort, Imperatoria Ostruthium, and afterwards proved to be the same as peucedanin.

1838 J F THOMSON Chem Org Bodies 800 Wackenrodér, who examined it particularly, distinguished it by the name of imperatorin 1866–70 WATTS Dict Chem IV 386 Pro cedanin, $C_{21}H_{22}O_6$

† Imperatorious, a Obs [f L imperatōrius + -OUS] = IMPERATORIAL

1625 SIR T COVENTRY in HACKET Abp Williams II (1692) 9 His Majesty's Speech (though short, yet Full and Princely, and rightly Imperatorious 1674 MILTON Declar. Elect. Kom. Poland Wks. (1851) 463 The only (under God) imperatorious Valour and Prudence of Sobieski

Hence † Imperato riously adv, as a commander, or general

1660 GRANGER Div Logicke 318 Hee did it Strategicon, that is, Imperatoriously, or Nestoriously

† Imperatory, a Obs [ad L imperātōrius, f IMPERATOR] Imperatorial, imperial

1626 CHAPMAN Homer's Hymns, Hymns 80 The mighty Imperatore Art Iliad 999 In awe of thy high Imperatory hand

† Imperatrice. Obs Also emp- [a F impératrice (16th c in Littré), ad L imperatrix, -tric-, fem of IMPERATOR] Empress

c 1460 J RUSSELL Bk Nurture 1196 As pope, emperoure, Imperatrice, and Cardynalle 1500–20 DUNBAR Poems lxvi 63 Empryce of pryces, imperatrix 1542 HALL VIII Declar 201 Dumd Kyng of Scottes did homage to Matilde the Emperatrice

So † Impera trix

1623 COCKERAM, Imperatrix, shee that commandeth 1823 J BUSBY Lucretius II Comment XXXII, The soul is but own imperatrix

Imperceable, -iable, var of IMPERCEIVABLE

Imperceivable (impərsī·văbl), a Now rare [f IM-2 + PERCEIVABLE] Imperceptible

a 1617 BAYNE On Ephe (1658) 137 The working of this is sweet and imperceivable 1719 DE FOE Crusoe II vi, In a manner to us imperceivable 1819 W LAWRENCE Nat Man x (1844) 337 There is no circumstance which does not press by imperceivable gradations into the opposite character

Hence Imperceivableness, imperceptibility, Imperceivably adv, imperceptibly

1617 COLLINS Def Bk Job 111 297 This came up secretly, closely, imperceivably a 1714 SHARP Serm III v 181 This imperceivableness of the impressions made upon our souls by the Holy Spirit, was that which our Saviour signified to Nicodemus

† Imperceived, a Obs rare [f IM-2 + perceived, pa pple of PERCEIVE v] Not perceived or discerned

1624 BP MOUNTAGU Immed Addresse 16 In a moment of time, in imperceived time, it passeth with speed from East to West a 1692 BOYLE Con Hist Air VI (1692) 23 Inhilin, the Bladder to be pump'd up, we would have tied up the contained Air, but could not do it by reason of an imperceiv'd Hole

† Imperceiverant, a Obs In 7 imperseverant [f IM-2 + PERCEIVERANT perceiving (c 1509)] Not perceiving, void of perception, undiscerning

1611 SHAKS Cymb II v 14 The Limes of my body lie as well drawne as his: yet this imperseverant thing loues him in my despight

Imperceptibility (impərsĕptibĭlĭti) [f next see -ITY]

1 The quality or condition of being imperceptible, incapability of being perceived

1677 GILLIN Damon (1867) 150 The wiles, depths, secrets, and devices of Satan in their own nature imply a studied or designed secrecy and imperceptibility 1794 Mrs PIOZZI Synon II 66 While metaphysicians expand their subtleties into imperceptibility

† 2 Incapability of perceiving. Obs rare

1786 ST Swedenborg's Chr Relig § 459 A total ignorance and imperceptibility of the delight of heavenly love

Imperceptible (impərse·ptĭbl), a (sb) Also 7 imp- [a F imperceptible (1425 in Hatz.-Darm.), ad med L imperceptibilis, f IM-1 + perceptibilis PERCEPTIBLE] Not perceptible, incapable of being perceived a That by its nature cannot be perceived or discerned, naturally incapable of affecting the perceptive faculties

1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) 201 b, Soleynly in tyme imperceptyble he fourmed thyt moost blessed body in her wombe 1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor 1019 As for the soule it is invisible yea and imperceptible to all the naturall senses 1768–74 TUCKER Lt Nat (1834) II 44 Some diseases proceeding from an imperceptible venom within us 1892 HOOD Aëronautics 63 Christening, He seem'd washing his hands with invisible soap In imperceptible water

b So slight, gradual, subtle, or indistinct as not to be perceptible

1635–56 COWLEY Davideis III 383 Strange Play of Fate! when might rest him me things Hang on such small, Imperceptible Strings 1737 [BERKELEY] Guardian I 78 Memory 78 An imperceptible Dew which tho' not so thick as a Fog, moistens the Surface of the Ground 1853 RUSKIN Stones Ven II vi, The three clauses pass into each other by imperceptible gradations 1880 GEIKIE Phys Geog iv 116 The solid earth is subject to movements either sudden and violent, or slow and imperceptible

B sb An imperceptible thing or creature, with the that which is imperceptible

1709 ADDISON Letter No 119 P 2, I should be wonder fully pleased to see a natural History of Imperceptibles, containing a true Account of such Vegetables and Animals as grow and live out of Sight 1866 H SPENCER First Princ II xii § 93 (1875) 278 An entire history of anything must include its appearance out of the imperceptible and its disappearance into the imperceptible

Hence Imperce ptibleness, imperceptibility

1677 HALE Prim Orig Man I 118 By reason of their subtility and imperceptibleness to us 1882 J PARKER Apost Life I 2 The spheres has evermore lifted itself up by imperceptibleness of degree

Imperceptibly (impərse·ptĭblĭ), adv [f IMPERCEPTIBLE + -LY] In an imperceptible manner or degree, so as not to be perceived

1663 BYROM Montague (1654) 117 So doth our minde cast her points diversly and imperceptibly 1734 BERKELEY Analyst Queries Wks. 1871 II 84 § Discourse, that in perceptibly glides from one subject to another 1844 J MURRAY Eng Gram (ed 5) I 213 The proposed variations are introduced and established almost imperceptibly 1875 Jowett Plato (ed 2) IV 276 The powers of sense and of reflection pass imperceptibly into one another

Imperception (impərse·pʃŏn) [f IM-2 + PERCEPTION] Absence or want of perception

1662 H MORE Philos Writ Pref Gen 16 Lay hold on that imperceptive part of the Soul, or on the Soul it self in that state of Ignorance or Imperception 1663 CHARLETON Chor Gigant 84 An imperception of the majesty of his person 1889 H J HARRISON Prog Anglesea 11 It is in this stone-dressing of distortion that the whole business of school boyishness lies

Imperceptive (impərse·ptĭv), a [f IM-2 + PERCEPTIVE]

1 Not perceptive or perceiving, lacking perception, imperceptient

1662 RUST Origen c Opin on Phenix (1720) 1 51 That Congruity is more deeply pitch'd in her imperceptive Powers 1708 J BEAL in Ir Soc (1870) 124 Not profitable by my combination with sovereign of imperceptive and inventive ingredients 1880 GRANT WHITE Every Day Eng 87 Rendering the voice slowly dull and imperceptive in regard to the utterance of the lips

2 In pass sense. Imperceptible rare (Cf unperceptive in Shaks and Milton

1856 MAYNE Expos Lex 293 Like some fragrant scent in the air, which comes and goes and rises and falls in imperceptive waves

Hence Imperce ptiveness, Imperceptivity, imperceptive quality or condition

1662 H MORE Philos Writ Pref Gen 16 Whose Imperceptiveness is no more Obstacle to her natural and plastick Operations, then Deafness to Musick 1681 GLANVILL Saul Sadducismus 165 The third objection touching the Imperceptivity of an Incorporeal Substance

† Imperceive, v Obs rare [f IM-1 + PERCEIVE v] To place on (something) as on a perch

1786 Europ Mag IX 293 Imperch'd on a post

Impercipient (impəsi·pĭĕnt) a (sb) [f IM-2 + PERCIPIENT] Not perceiving lacking perception 1813 C LOFFT in T H Barker Parisiana (1828) II 27 note, A quality of impercipient substance 1871 SIR H HOLLAND Recoll Past Life (1872) 201 A man with an impercipient of natural beauty or grandeur 1888 F W H MYERS Essays of Youth 96 And is the World's unmeaning truth An impercipient Sooth?

b sb One who lacks perception

1858 I HARDY Hunter's Inn 181 (Stiffe) His Impercipient

So Imperci pience, lack of perception

1894 J HARDY Test 1 Wks. (1912) 98 Dec. 66½, Less warm outpouring by awaiting him in a direct its ardour painfully wasting itself on the cold darkness and imperciption of a dead globe

† Impercu ssively, adv Obs rare [f IM-2 + PERCUSSIVE + -LY] Without percussion or striking

1708 MOTTEUX Rabelais V xv 137 (R) 90 This cures the Patient insensibly to the great Delight in Silence, unperceptibly, without any vociferous Sound

† Impe rdible, a Obs rare [f IM-1 + perd-ere to lose + -IBLE] That cannot be lost or destroyed Hence † Impe rdibly, the quality of being imperdible, indestructibility

1661 LEIGHAM Disc Lead 11 Wks. 377 As they [wisdom and knowledge] are harder in their acquisition, so are they more imperdibly and weekly in their stay 1723 DURHAM Phys Theol V iv 330 Neither are those precious Things of greater use to Us in the Affairs of Temporals by means of their Beauty, Imperdibility, and Ductility

† Impere. Sc Obs rare [a obs legal I impere (Godef.), ad I imperium see IMPERIUM] Command, order

1568 G WISHART in Vetus Confess Faith in Wodrow Soc Misc (1844) 4 We should be subject in holynes to the magestrate so longe as his commandements, statutes and impere be evidently agreeing not with God

Impere, obs form of IMPAIR v

Imperence (i mpərĕns) Also -ance, imperence A vulgar corruption of IMPUDENCE, perh associated with IMPERTINENCE

1766 COLMAN & GARRICK Cland Marriage V 78, I wonder at your impurence, Mr Brush 1821 EGAN Life Londonia II 292 She is blowing up the nasty fellow for his impurence 1837 DICKENS Pickw xiv, 'Let me alone, impurence,' said the young lady

So Imperent (i mpərĕnt) a, vulgar corruption of impudent

1838 JAS GRANT Al Forbes 57 He's verry imperent, to make any reflekshuns o the kind

Imperes, obs form of IMPERIOUS

Imperfect (impəɹfĭkt), a (sb) Forms a 4 imparfit, imperfit, 4– imparfit(e, -yt, 5 in perfyght, 5–7 imperfit, 5–6 -yt(e, 6 -fite, -fett b 6 imperfecte 6– imperfect [ME a F imparfait (1372 in Hatz Darm) = It imperfetto, Sp imperfecto, Pg imperfeito —L imperfectus, f im- (IM-) + perfectus PERFECT Subseq influenced by, and, in 16th c, nominated to the Latin form] Not perfect, the opposite of perfect

I Ordinary senses

1 Wanting some part or adjunct usually present, or necessary to the full form or development not fully formed, made, or done, unfinished, incomplete, of less than the full usual or proper extent

c 1390 CHAUCER Astrol 18 Som of hem semen perfit cercles, & somme semen imperfit c 1440 Gesta Rom 11 xxi 349 (Add MS.) The child is not able to serve God, in that he is imparfite 1496 CAXTON Dyctes xv 49 The werkes that were begonne be lefte without eny more werkyng, alle imperfyt 1570 BILLINGSLEY Euclid's Elem I def 12 A line is the imperfect kinde of quantitie 1607 DEKKER Lge Lond III 669 A snake leauing his Nest, and his imperfect Young 1782 PRIESTLEY Corrupt Ch Hist I Pref 30, I did not think it right to leave any of the pieces imperfect 1826 HORNE Introd Bible (1828) I II 6 The history of the times is too imperfect to admit a positive conclusion 1884 HOWER & SCOTT Dr Barry's Trainer 367 Those bundles which become imperfect by disappearance of the fraction

2 Wanting some quality or attribute necessary to full efficiency, normal condition, or ideal character, not coming up to the standard, not all that it should be defective faulty

c 1340 HAMPOLE Prose Treat 15 Other rules but ere in his lyfe imperfite and nocht be fulfilede of charite shill bone be knawe mede 1494 FABYAN Chron VII 305 To have eyen of more perfect light then a place of more mort parfyght 1502 ARCKINSON tr Pe Imitatione III xl 200, I am imperfite of vertu & feble in luue 1605 SHAKS Lear IV vi 74 You other Senses, grow imperfect By your eyes anguish 1666 J BROOKE tr Ft Blanc's Ltrs 176 He had written them in French and withall in an imperfect and bad hand 1734 tr Rollin's Anc Hist (ed 4) II 184 So imperfect a creature is man 1872 RUSKIN Lect Art § 88 Ignorance will produce what is imperfect, but not offensive

† 3 Positively faulty, vicious, evil Obs

1377 LANGL P Pl B XX 50 Panne arrow inpacte, quod he, "and one of pryues knyues Pat hatte Enuye, ful perfit and pure bounes ther where-inne 1393 Piers Pl C xiv 389 Alle reprouep such impafit pople 1611 COTGR, Incorrect, vncorrected, imperfect, vnamended 1630 R JOHNSON Kingd & Commw 266 Their imperfect customes of drinking

4 Of persons in respect of imperfect or defective action or accomplishment Not fully instructed or accomplished

1570 Levins Manip Vocab 121 Playne nothe the but thoght I be imparfyte [1470 imperfyt] 1605 SHAKS Mach I iii 70 Why you imperfect Speakers, tell me more 1650 NED PARKER Theol Disput II xi (1657) 98 A mans Reason why the Ancients were so imperfect in the Doctrine of Metalls was their ignorance of Gunpowder and Fire works 1676 HOBBES Iliad (1677) 1 Why of the Boys were not so imperfect, he was corrected by the next till the whole number of waxe was red 1863 KINGSLEY Common-place Philos I 193 Those who forgot him in their rock ing must have been imperfect in their notion of points of dynamics

II Technical senses

1 Gram Applied to a tense which denotes action going on but not completed, usually to the past tense of incomplete or progressive action more fully called past imperfect, formerly sometimes preter imperfect, as I was hearing, L audiebam, I fuisti audiens, Imp Angl

In the grammar of the Semitic languages now generally applied to the tense or verbal form with prefixed pronominal elements sometimes called future

In Slavonic Grammar, formerly sometimes used for IMPERFECTIVE

1530 PALSGR 84 The preter imperfit tens, le passé imparfaict 1678 PHILLIPS (ed 4) Imperfect or Preter Imperf Tense 1832 PENROSE Pantology Eng Gram viii § 6 129 The Imperfect Tense represents the action or event either as past and finished or as remaining unfinished at a certain time past 1866 MASON Eng Gram (ed 7) § 246 Note Primary Tenses. A. I. The Past Imperfect, showing that at a certain past time an action was going on, As I was reading, &c. II. The Past Imperfect As I was writing, &c. I. The Future Imperfect I shall be writing 1871 KOEHLER Eng Gram § 249 Three [tenses] denoting an unfinished action, the Present, Future, and Imperfect (sometimes called respectively present imperfect, future imperfect, past imperfect) 1892 DRUSIUS Heb Unmasked 41 It will be better to answer in the names now generally received, and to call them by the terms perfect and imperfect respectively. Ibid 11 The imperfect in Hebrew was in the other Semitic languages, and is even now as aoristus, as evolving itself actively from its subject, as developing

† 6 Arith a Applied to a number which is not equal to the sum of its aliquot parts opp to perfect (cf DEFICIENT A 11 c) b Applied to a power (square, cube etc.) whose root is an incommensurable quantity opposed to a perfect square cube, etc (Obs)

1557 RECORDE Whetst A iv b, Imperfecte numbers be suche, whose partes added togither, doo make either more or lesse then the whole number it self An 12, whose partes are 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6, which make 16 1674 JEAKE Arith

(1696) 5 Imperfect numbers are those whose even parts added together will not return the Primary Number 1706 W Jones Syn Palmar Mathesis 114 The Roots of Imperfect Powers are Incommensurable Quantities

7 Mus †a In mediæval music, applied to a note when reckoned as twice (instead of three times) the length of a note of the next lower denomination, and hence to those 'modes', etc characterized by such relative value of the notes b Applied to Plain Chant melodies which do not extend through the entire compass of the mode in which they are written (Grove Dict Mus v) c Sometimes applied to a diminished (as distinguished from a perfect) fourth, fifth, or triad SEE DIMINISHED 4 a

Imperfect cadence a cadence ending on some chord other than the direct chord of the tonic, usually that of the dominant, and having the effect of a partial close or stop like that of a comma or semicolon in punctuation; also called half-close. Imperfect concords or consonances a name given to the thirds and sixths, major and minor

1597 Morley Introd Mus 18 The Moode Imperfect of the more proportion is, when all go by two except the Minome which goeth by three Ibid 19 The Moode Imperfect of the lesse prolation is, when all go by two as two Longes to the Long, two Breeues to the Longe, two Semibreues to the Breefe, and two Minomes to the Semibreefe 1667 S. Simpson Comp mel 40 Concords are Perfect and Imperfect Perfects are Unison, 8th with all their Octaves Imperfects are a 3d, 6th and their Octaves.

1875 Ouseley Harmony xii 156 When it is wished to make a kind of rest or diversion in a piece of music it is usual to employ what is called the Imperfect Cadence, or half-close 1877 Stainer Harmony xii, The most common position of the imperfect triad is its first inversion 1880 C. H. H. Parry in Grove Dict Mus I 766 Medieval writers taught us to look upon the number Three—the Symbol of the Blessed Trinity—as the most perfect number, and to call Imperfect to all rhythmic proportions subject to the binary division Thus the Minim always equal to two Crotchets only was essentially Imperfect in comparison with all other notes shorter than the Semibreve The Large was also Imperfect whenever it was made equal to two Longs (etc) Ibid 768 An example of Imperfect Cadence is made by Clashes on a chord other than the Dominant 1886 F. Pratt Harmony (ed 10) § 69 The consonant intervals are sub divided into perfect and imperfect consonances

8 Bot Applied to flowers in which any normal part is wanting

Formerly esp to flowers having no corolla or perianth, now to those in which either stamens, or pistils, or both, are absent

1704 J. Harris Lex Techn, Imperfect Flowers of Plants are such as want the Petals, and therefore they are some time called Apetalous, and sometimes Inglorious 1845 Maund & Johnson Sci, Imperfect, applied to flowers which want the anther, or pistil, or both imperfect 1860 Lindley Sch bot 1 13 An amentum or catkin is a spike consisting of imperfect flowers

9 Law (See quots)

1832 Austin Jurispr (1879) I 1 101 An imperfect law (with the sense wherein the term is used by the Roman jurists) is a law which wants a sanction and which therefore is not binding 1848 Wharton Law Lexicon, Imperfect statutes In the case of articles of agreement, made in contemplation of marriage, and which are come quickly prepar tory to a settlement, the trusts declared by them are said to be executory or imperfect; the use they require an ulterior act to raise and perfect them (see Taylor Law 411) 1872 Holl (ed 3) Imperfect obligations, moral duties such as charity, gratitude, etc which cannot be enforced by law

B as sb

1 Gram The imperfect (or past imperfect) tense SEE 5

1871 Public Sch Lat Gram § 66 The Imperfect expresses (1) Action going on in time past along with other action (2) Action repeated or habitual in time past 1873 I Hall Mod Eng 194 Who, in the next place, devised our modern imperfects passive?

†2 Mus An imperfect concord SEE 7 (quot 1667)

†Impe rfect, v Obs [f prec adj] Hunt To render imperfect to destroy the perfection of 1555 J. Bradford Lett in Coverdale Lett Mart' (1564) 265 Deny it resolued into a contradiction the Mis-ma mistooke, christes supper peruerted, his sacrifice & rytes impaireted by priesthod destroyed a 1614 Dowsa Bathwicken (1904) 179 A. How the body of Christ could be imperfect 1688 Sir T. Browne Chr Mor 1 § 26 Time which perfects some Things, imperfects if not others

b Mus SEE prec 7 a 1 Also absol

1597 Morley Introd Mus Annot, This pricke standing, in this place doth imperfect 1609 Douland Ornith Microl 64 A perfect Treble can be imperfected not onely by a Semibreefe but also of two Minums Ibid 55 The imperfecting Note doth goe before the Note that is imperfected

†Impe rfected, a Obs [f Im 2 + perfected, pa pple of Perfect v] Not perfected, incomplete, imperfect 1552 Huloet, Imperfected, infectus, non factus aut non perfectus 1632 Donne in Select (1854) 100 Imperfected confessions (who perfects his confession? is he ill, ten goods stolen, upon thine heel 1809 10 Coleridge Lects (1818) I 158 The distinction between perfected and imperfected Oblig ations 1829 I. Disr Dod Nation Introd 7 The younger and imperfected creatures mine their way in the solid timber

†Impe rfectible, a 1 Mus Obs [f Imperfect + -ible] Capable of being made imperfect (see Imperfect a 7 a)

1609 Douland Ornith Microl 58 As oft as two alterable Notes are placed between two imperfectible Notes without a Pricke of Division, the second is always altered

Impe rfectible (impərfe·ktĭl), a [f Im- 2 + Perfectible] Incapable of being made perfect

1865 Farrar Fam Speech iv (1873) 115 Many of them apparently as imperfectible as the Ainos of Jesso or the Veddas of Ceylon

Hence Impe rfectibi lity, incapability of being made perfect 1836 Hraim. Rev Apr 241 The 'imperfectability' of men's nature is visible in their lives.

Impe rfection (impərfe·kʃən) [a F imperfection (12th c, Oxf Ps), or ad L imperfectiōn em, f imperfectus Imperfect a]

1 The condition or quality of being imperfect (usually in sense 2 of the adj), incompleteness, defectiveness, faultiness

c1380 Wyclif Sel Wks III 436 Seuler lordshup put clerkis hanne tou smachip imperfeccioun on many maner c1386 Chaucer Pars T 933 Thesa crist is entirely al good in hym; non imperfeccioun c1450 tr De Imitatione I iii 5 All maner perfeccioun in pis worlde hab a maner of imperfeccioun annexed perto 1545 Raynold Byrth Mankynde (1634) 18 Imperfection is, when that any per sonder creature doth lacke any propertie, instrument, or qualitie, which is commonly by nature is in all other, or the most parte of the kynd 1667 Milton P L VIII 415 Man by number is to manifest His single imperfection, and beget Like of his like 1772 Priestley Inst Relig (1780) II 65 (This) bears the marks of human imperfection 1875 Jowett Plato (ed 2) IV 44 The necessary imperfection of language seems to require that we should view the truth under more points of view

2 (with pl) An instance of this quality or condition, a detail or particular in which a thing is imperfect or faulty, a defect, fault, blemish

1398 Trevisa Barth De P xviii 580 Also Aisshes with this defawte and imperfeccion that though he be euery day mowsted yet he is alwaye brayn 1546 Lodge Prol W de Worde (1533) b, Where I might take, in it a lokyng glasse and perceyue myne owne imperfections 1600 Shaks Hamlet v 179 No reckoning made, but sent to my Account With all my imperfections on my head 1774 C. Phillips Op N Pole 87 I rest [to] be attributed to the imperfections in the manner of measuring, the sine 1802 Paley Nat Theol (ed 12) I 8 He has left imperfections, which would have been removed if he had lived a few years longer

†3 Mus The making of a note 'imperfect', or the condition of its being 'imperfect' SEE IMPERFECT a 7 a Obs

1597 Morley Introd Mus 24 Imperfection is the taking away of the third part of a perfect notes value 1614 T. Robinson Schoole of Mus Diuerse Kindes of Chaunt ing the Degrees by their Perfection, Imperfection and Diminution, in measur dhe Musicke, against the common Practise and Custome of the Times 1880 C. H. H. Parry in Grove Dict Mus I 767 Other ways in which the Perfection of certain notes may be changed to Imperfection

†Impe rfectious, a Obs rare [f prec, after Injurious.] Full of imperfection, faulty

1594 Taming of Shrew (1844) 24 Come hither thou Imperfectious slaue! 1608 Middleton Tom Lowe iii iv, They have many times and oftentimes found imperfectious and silly in your scholars new come from the university

Impe rfective (impərfe·ktiv), a sb) [f Imperfect a + -ive, cf Perfective]

†1 Characterized by imperfection, imperfect

1657 Tr Amyraldus Verum Principium 1 verses 6, Wks 1823 XIV 343 If we be imperfective, the fault is in ourselves 1684 N S Crit Eng Lat Bible xvi 156 Their Copies are often defective and imperfective

2 Slavonic Grammar Applied (after Miklosich) to a form or 'aspect' of the verb expressing action not completed (either continuous, or repeated) opp to perfective (Cf Imperfect a 5, and terms in -ive, referring to the vb, as active, passive, inchoative, desiderative, etc)

1887 Morfill Serbian Gram 32 The imperfective verbs express an action that is not completed but this may be continued either (1) merely continuing, or (2) repeated at various times 1889 — Russian Gram 37 The imperfective aspect has all the moods and tenses The perfective wants the present tense and present participle 1890 4th Acad 11 Oct 478/1 The studies of all these naturally ask how he is to distinguish the perfective from the imperfective aspect 1899 Morfill Comm Iohan Lang 30

†Impe rfectly adv Obs [f Imperfect a + -ly] 1 In an imperfect manner or degree, incompletely, defectively

1377 Langl P Pl B xv 564 Souteres and shepherdes passeth In to be blisse of ioyadys, for her pure byleue, but imparfitly here knowe and eke lyued 1563 W Fulke Meteors (1640) 11 Bodies perfectly and imperfectly mixed

Hers are called imperfectly mixed, because they are very soone changed into another thing as snow into water 1703 Norris Ideal World v 247 They imitate his [God's] perfection imperfectly 1797 Bewick Brit Birds (1847) I 214 Its minute history is imperfectly known 1845 Ford Handbk Spain I 66 When the traveller speaks the language imperfectly

†2 Gram (See Imperfect a 5) Obs rare

1530 Palsgr Introd 32 Thre dyuers tymes, imparfyctly past, indifferently past, and more than parfytly past

Impe rfectness (impə·fektnes) [f as prec + -ness] The quality or state of being imperfect, imperfection

1388 Wyclif Ecclus xxxvii 31 And his waking shal enourne the imparfitnesse c1400 Maundev (Roxb) xv 70 Me thoyt greie schame þat sarzenes a schuld pus reproue vs of oure imperfitenesse 1500 Greenwood Answ Def Head Prayers 9 If therbe allwaies spoties and imperfectnes in the true Church vpon earth 1746 J. Hill Lett Norris 1 (1757) 11 The integrity of the intention, will attone for the imperfectness of the performance 1853 Ruskin Stones Ven II vi, I have only dwelt upon the rudeness of Gothic, or any other kind of imperfectness, as admirable, where it was impossible to get design or thought without it

Impe rforable (impə·fŏrăb'l), a [f Im- 2 + Perforable] That cannot be perforated

1658 Phillips, Imperforable, not to be bored through Whence in Bailey, Johnson, etc. 1895 Columbus (Ohio) Dispt 19 July 7/3 Leather is not absolutely imperforable

Impe rforate (impə·fŏrĕt), a [f Im- 2 + Perforate] Not perforated, having no perforation, foramen, or opening Chiefly in scientific and technical use, in Anat said of parts of the body normally having an opening, when congenitally closed by malformation or in special cases, also of persons or animals so affected 1673 Ray Journ Low C 1 ence 200 One of these Glass bubbles was perforated with a little hole the other was imperforate 1739 S. Sharp Operat Surg (1761) 8 Sometimes children are born imperforate 1851-6 Woodward Molluscs 100 The shorels are closely coiled, leaving only a pillar of shell, or columella, in the centre. Such shells are said to be imperforate 1857 Hulme Exam Botanic Terms Sometimes the hymen forms a complete imperforate Membrane 1877 L. Jewitt Halfhours among Engl Antiq 180 The use of these large imperforate flints is unknown 1887 L. Heitzmann Tr C. Heitzmann's Anat IV 80 The clitoris has two Corpora cavernosa, a Glans which is imperforate

b Of a sheet of postage, revenue, or other stamps Not having the individual stamps separated by rows of perforations, hence of a stamp having the margin entire and not denticulated, as in 'perforated' specimens

1885 F B Evans Philatelic Handbk 118 [of stamp] Watermark a Small Crown, imperforate 1893 Daily News 28 July 5/2 Fine copies of the Canadian sixpenny (postage stamp) 'imperforate'

Impe rforated (impə·fŏrĕtĕd), a [f Im 2 + Perforated] = prec

1650 Sir T. Browne Pseud Ep iii xvi (1658) 153 As it happeneth sometimes in imperforated persons 1754-64 Smellie Midwif III 503 A case in which the Anus was imperforated 1851-6 Woodward Molluscs 83 A suggestion with respect to the naming of imperforate and perforated specimens of the males, imperforated shells, females 1895 Times 2 Feb 12/4 Ceylon —4d [postage stamp], rose, imperforated and unused, Z 1754-64

Impe rforation (impə·fŏrē·ʃən) [f Im- 2 + Perforation Cf F imperforation (Cotgr)] The condition of being imperforate, an instance or case of this 1656 Blount Glossogr, Imperforation, a closing or shut ting up for want of boring or piercing 1799 M Under wood Treat Dis Childr (ed 4) II 239 Imperforations of the vagina the anus and the urethra 1881-94 Goode's Study Med (ed 4) II 597 Where the canal [of the rectum] is an imperforation of either of the passages. Ibid IV 99 Temporary imperforation of the urethra.

Impe rforable (impə·fŏrăb'l), a rare [f Im- 2 + Perforable] That cannot be perforated

1693 Chauncy Eng Gosp Newo I ano 28 How illogical to conclude, that God will save the non elect upon an imperforable condition 1884 Notes Times 1 June 1/1 To give damages for the non performance of an imperforable agreement

Imperial (impī·rĭăl), a and sb Forms α 4 imperial, also 4, 7 -all, 4-5 imperyall, 5 imperiale, -ryal, -real, 5-6 -yall, 6 imperiall, 6 ymperiall, 6-7 emperial, -all, 5 ialle, eryal, irial [a OF emperial (12th c in Hatz Darm), ad L imperialis, f Imperium see below, and -al.]

A adj Pertaining to an empire or emperor

1 1 Of or pertaining to an empire, or to the empire in question, orig belonging to the ancient Roman imperium or Empire, hence, to the Holy Roman (or German) Empire, or to any so-called Empire of modern times

1390 Gower Conf III 61 A great cronique imperiall 1400 Rom Rose 6421 Here shulde no mas imperial Ne bishop, ne official, Done jugement on me 1469 tr Acts Jas III 20 Nov in Acts Parl Scotl (1814) II 95 Pe Imperiale nouncis 1545 Jas V Bryson in Pennycuik [1768] 68 He shewed certayne letters patentes apostolykes and imperyalles 1548 Hall Chron, Hen I (1550) 69b, The Duchie [Milan] is Imperiall, and ho our selfe as many other seigniories bee 1617 Moryson Itin I 285 The Coynes of other Princes and free Cities, are stamped with the Imperiall Eagle 1797-8 Cranmer Cycl, Imperial Chamber, is a sovereign court, established for the affairs of the immediate states of the empire 1851 D Wilson Preh Ann (1863) II iii 67 The Northern limits of Imperial sway 1861 M Pattison Ess (1889) I 45 High above, the Imperial double eagle figured in all its ugliness

2 Of or pertaining to a sovereign state, which in its independence and importance ranks with an empire a Said of England, from the 16th c, in assertion of its independence of and sovereign equality with the 'Holy Roman' Empire (see quot from Blackstone) b Said, in more recent times, of the parliament, legislation, government, taxation, etc, of Great Britain, as distinct from those formerly possessed by its constituent kingdoms, from those of local application, and from those of colonies and foreign dependences 1532–3 Act 24 Hen VIII, c 12 The realme of England is an Impire governed by one supreme head and kynge, hauynge the dignitie and royall estate of thimperiall crowne of the same. 1538 Wriothesley Chron (Camden) I 52 This realme is an emperiall ea of itself ? 1556 Parker (title) A Defence of priestes mariages, stablyshed by the imperiall lawes of the Realme of Englande 1660 Irish Rem. II What is an Imperial Crown? It is that, which, as to the Coercive part, is subject to no man under God 1795 J Anderson Lerd's Historical P say showing that the Crown and Kingdom of Scotland is imperial and independent 1724 Swift Drapier's Lett Wks 1755 V II 73 Ireland is, on the contrary, called in some statutes an imperial crown, as held only from God 1765 Blackstone Comm I vii 242 The meaning of the legislature, when it uses these terms of empire and imperial, and applies them to the realm and crown of England is only to assert that our king is equally sovereign and independent within those his dominions, as any emperor is in his empire, and owes no kind of subjection to any other potentate upon earth

b 1774 Burke Amer Tax Wks II 476 The parliament of Great Britain sits at the head of her extensive empire in two capacities one as the local legislature of this island

The other, and nobler capacity, is what I call her imperial character, in which she superintends all the several inferior legislatures 1802 Windham Speeches Parl 24 May (1812) I 341 The subject appeared more especially unworthy of being entertained by the imperial parliament. 1848 J R Morton Topics 149 All those things which are from their nature imperial, require some one central controlling authority a 1859 Macaulay Hist Eng xxii V 96 The only power which such men as Washington and Franklin deemed to the Imperial Legislature was the power of taxing 1865 Times 29 Apr, The improvement was traced by Mr Gladstone through every branch of the Imperial income 1888 Daily News 19 Sept 5/3 The United Kingdom is an 'Imperial' State—a State exercising 'imperium', or dominion over the colonies and other dependencies

3 Of or pertaining to (or an) emperor. Obs exp of the ancient Roman Emperors or the later Western and Eastern Emperors, spec belonging to the party of the (Romano-German) Emperor

c 1384 Chaucer H Fame III 271 But al on hye above vs dees Sit in a see imperyall V sangh perpetually i stalled A femynyne creature 1413 Pilgr Sowle (Caxton 1483) X 21 xii Vnto thyn estate Imperyall no presymbe is that maye be pergal 1509 Barclay Ship of Fools (1570) 19 And by his power imperiall, he gouernes all the world 1664 H More Myst Iniq 262 They both aspired to a Majesty and Power plainly Imperial 1726 Swift Gulliver I 2, A person of high rank from his Imperial Majesty's 1764 Churchill Candidate 670 Where is the glory of imperial sway, If subjects now but pay commands obey, 1828 G R Porter Porcelain & Gl 104 The honour of supplying the imperial [Chinese] court with porcelain 1867 Freeman Norm Conq II 162 The Imperial titles and Imperial pretensions of the English Kings in the tenth and eleventh centuries

b c 1450 Hanbing Chron LXXX vii, Maximus Kyng of greate Brytain By whole decre, and will of the senate, Was emperour of Roome, and ruled Almayne Wherfore we clayme the throne emperiall 1480 Caxton Chron Engl 11th (1482) 212 Frederyk duk of Ostery ke was crouned with impery al dyademe of pope nycholas the iij 1494 Fabyan Chron II lxvii 45 Whiche kynge Edwyn forsoth was reygned and gyuen ouer all Imperyall dygnytie, thus sayde Constantius vñ Calerius were made Emperours c 1533 Lo Berners Huon xxx 342 Thyther came them perour fyschely armed with y armes imperyall 1548 Hall Chron, Hen. VIII 178 the towne of Cappe became imperiall and turned to the Emperours part 1581 J Washington tr Nicholays Voy II xxi 59 A slaue vnto the Emperor (the Sultan) durst very well aduance him selfe to come too the estate imperiall 1588 Shakes 1H VI I 1 6 The Imperiall Diadem of Rome. 1658 Sir T Browne Hydriot (1890) 21 The faces of many imperial persons, Cæsar, Claudius, Nero 1712 Steele Spectator No 501 P 2 The pope will die and be succeeded by a cardinal of the imperial faction 1836 Nemes of Commerce 293 Robes of lynen dyed, constituted, among the Romans the imperial purple 1852 D Wilson Preh Ann (1863) II iii ii 62 A series of imperial coins from Augustus to Diocletian 1868 H Smith's Smaller Dict Gr & Rom Antiq xv Provincia, The senatorian provinces were distributed among consulares and those who had filled the office of praetor The imperial provinces were governed by legati Cæsaris, with praetorian power, the proconsular power being in the Cæsar himself, and the legati being his deputies and representatives

4 fig and transf Of the nature or rank of an emperor or supreme ruler, ruling, commanding, supreme in authority

1390 Gower Conf III 213 Thus the somne is over all the Chefe planet imperiall c 1460 in Ind Ant V Lewis (1866) 81 O Quene of hevyn imperyalle 1541–2 Act 33 Hen VIII in Bolton Stat Irel (1621) 184 Honours to the estate, and magestie of a king imperiall vppertayning or belonging, 1590 Shake Mids N II 1 163 And the imperiall Votresse passed on, In maiden meditation, fancy free 1696 Prior To the King 43 Imperial Britain on the sea looks down 1697 Dryden Virg Georg III 377 Every Creature, and of every Kind, Not only Man's Imperial Race

5 Having a commanding quality, demeanour, or aspect, majestic, august, lofty, exalted

c 1374 Chaucer Boeth I pr 1 3 (Camb MS), I ne myhte nat knowen what pat woman was of so Imperial auctorite c 1430 Lydg Min Poems (Percy Soc) 11 This tabernacle of most mangyfycence Whas of his byldyng verry imperialle 1508 Dunbar Gold Targe 254 O rudeand Chaunce, rose of rethoris all, As in our lang aue flour imperiall 1617 Morvson Itin I 49 Built by Pope Sixtus the fifth with Imperiall magnificence 1650 Bulwer Anthropomet 81 They would suffer none to reign over them, but Princes that had such imperial Noses 1781 Cowper Hope 8 And as I fly a height bespoke command, A fair imperial flower 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng I 230 In so splendid and an imperial a manner did the English people, properly so called first take place among the nations of the world

b Assuming or affecting a commanding character or manner, domineering, imperious

1581 Mulcaster Positions xxxiv (1887) 236 Scholers by reason of their conceit which he termeth inflamith become to imperiall to rest upon a title 1760–72 H Brooke Fool of Quality (1809) IV 134, I am under the positive necessity of an imperial thing called a husband 1830 Galt Lawrie T iv 1 (1849) 143 The squire he is mighty imperial

6 Befitting an emperor or supreme ruler, of special excellence, magnificent, exceedingly fine or grand (See also 8, 10)

In quot 1848 with humorous allusion to the 'imperial purple'

1732 Pope Ep Burlington 204 These are Imperial Works, and worthy Kings (cf Dryden Theocr 11777 To time the proud, the fettered slave to free, These are imperial arts, and worthy thee [Rome]). 1848 Jerdan Autobiog xx His imperial generosity was mainly referable to the facility to that circumstance 1872 E F Burr Ed Indoors v 79 The marrow, and flavour of this imperial dish

II In special connexions and phrases

7 Applied to those weights and measures appointed by statute to be used throughout the United Kingdom, instead of those various ones formerly in local use

1838 T Thomson Chem Org Bodies 726, 10 ounces avoirdupois, or 8 of the new imperial gallon of the empire 1843 Penny Cycl XXVII xxiv Imperial Measure —This measure supersedes the old corn wine, and beer measures 1844 Dickens Hard T I 8 Reduced to the imperial gallons of facts poured into them 1892 Cambridge Chron 27 Aug 2/3 At a cost of about £10 per imperial acre

8 In names of various products or commodities of special size or quality See also 10

1654 Evelyn Nat Hist 72 Plums, Imperial Blew, White Dates, Violet 1707 Mortimer Husb (1708) I 209 Imperial Lettuces, which are of an extraordinary Size 1747 Gent's Mag XVII 194 At morning store of cream, and tea, rather imperial 1788 Aspinall Voy. into East Lond China 186 That shrub which bears what is called the Imperial and gunpowder tea 1890 Walsh Tea Cultivat 174 The true Imperial tea known in China as the perfection of tea

b Name of a size of paper of printing-paper usually 22 by 32 inches, of writing-paper 22 by 30 1668 Stat 19 & 20 Chas II IV 82 Any Imperial paper, for two large bibles of imperial paper, 300 ibid 1692 Land Cat No 2819/4 The Brandt consisting of 4 Sheets of Imperial Paper 1720 Land Cat No 3280 The paper most generally used of what is called Imperial size 1864 Lownes Bell's Man 294 Wilson, Alexander American Ornithology Philadelphia, 1808–14 Imperial 4to 9 vols.

c Name of a particular make of roofing-slate, of large size (18 x 8 ft) cf II 5 c

1842 In Nicholas Pract Arnold 3 396 The Imperial Slating, for roofs, is particularly neat, and is known by having its lower edge cut down, whereas all the other slates, used for covering, are equally squared on three sides

9 Sporting slang Said of a fall on one's head or 'crown'

1861 White Melville Mat Hart 134 Four imperial crowners at one and the same instant 1889 R S Surtees Pownall Psychology 75 The fall that followed was an imperial

10 Phrases

Imperial bard = B 8 Imperial Hue an aniline blue dye, also called spirit-blue Imperial ink (a) acrid dye that is the seat of empire, or that is itself a sovereign or independent state; (b) one of those uses of the old Crown in Pure which owned allegiance to the Emperor alone 1 Cloth imperial a textile fabric in use in the Middle Ages, with figures woven in gold, and the Imperial Arms, made at Constantinople see also B 1 Imperial crown the flower now called Crown Imperial (Fritillaria imperialis) Imperial drachm an apothecaries' measure, = 3 fluid drachms Imperial drill a superior kind of drill, with a double section of which is an open or curve of contrary flexure Imperial drink (formerly water) a drink made of cream of tartar flavoured with lemon-peel and sugar Imperial yellow name of a kind of porcelain made in China, having a uniform yellow glaze, said to be reserved for the use of the imperial court, hence applied to other kinds imitating this in colour

1850 Johnson & Rohde Knitting 13 The other soldier, with a huge imperial beard 1883 Chambers's Edinburgh Journ (1640) 38 The Imperial Army Constantinople 1886 A Day Fine Needlework (1845) 25 We hasted thence to a Cap called Imperiall, being imperiall, state or in the high parts of Germany 1601 R Johnson Kingd & Commw (1603) 88 Geneva is an imperiall city in Savoy 1615 G Sandys Travailes 45 Taken from the Constantinopolitan the Imperiall Cittie 1617 Morvson Itin I 203 City of Erfurt is a free City, but not an imperiall City, and pares some tribute to the Elector of Mentz, and to the Saxon Duke of Wineberg [1778 in Twysden Hist Anglic Scriptor I 6c.] Pannos quos Constantinopolis civitas vocat Imperiales] c 1500 Lord Fabyn Addit Nutters 310 Two blue capes of clothe imperiall 1706 J Gardonius tr Rapin on ardens 117–8) 19 Then her gay gilded front th' Imperial Crown Excites thofe 1726–7 Heaven Medal (1818) 137 See the imperial crown, splendid and beautifully grand' 1886 Spectator, Imperial drink 1897 Allbutt Syst Med III 21 Plum and bullace water, lemonade or imperial drink may be allowed at will 1615 Markham Pl Al xv 11 (1676) 104 To make the Imperial Water 1769 Mrs Raffald Eng Housekpr (1778) 147 To make Imperial Water 1881 Jonathan Bowles, Worcester 45 The Persian turquoise Imperial yellow, mauve, Celeste, and other emulsions present an interesting series 1884 Chr World Pulpit (title) 4 New Zeal Amongst the favourite colours are imperial yellow Nile blue

B sb

1 A member of the Imperial's party, a soldier of the Imperial troops = Imperialist I

1594 Pl of Bath in Hall's Chron Hen VII 1 296 The Imperialles shall shortly receyve large sommes off money 1603 Knolles (title) The Historie of Turkish Affaires concerning the Warres betweene the Imperialles and the Turkes for the possession of Italy 1630 R Johnson Kingd & Comm 101 The Emperour and Germans, cry'd you plaine the Imperialls 1693 Mem Coll Teckely 10 All the Imperialls encamped a new thomas 30 miles thy could 1890 W Arthur Father's Book 329 It came to a fierce struggle between the Italians on the Lopez's side and the imperials

†b A decree or statute of the Imperial Obs

1614 Selden Titles Hon 41 The great Volum of Lawes comprehending a collection out of the Digests, Codes Nouells, and other Imperials, was tuhed ta Basilica

c An imperial personage (In 16–17th c used in = emperor)

1588 Shakes Tit A II iii 93 A matter of brawle betwixt my Vncle and one of the Imperials men 1597 Bacon Conf in M 5, I am going with Sir Prothous to the Imperialls Court 1628 Gallo Treat Thre (1629) Ao To quell it and subdue the Saxons and Rebellious in Germanie the Imperials Due, and manage his Force 1845 Motley Corr (1889) I iv 89 At twelve the Imperials [Emperor and Imperors of Russia] returned and dined at noon

2 †a A former Flemish coin of the value of 2½ rixdollars Obs

1674 R Cotgrave Imp & Ab Phrase 48 Dunker had received one hundred Imperiales before. Houd 1727–41 Chambers Cycl s v Coin Flemish Coins—Those of gold are imperials [etc] Imperial, 117 3d

b A Russian gold coin, formerly valued at 10 silver roubles, now at 15

1839 Penny Cy XV 124 Imperial, a Russian gold coin, of 10 rubles The English mint value of the imperial coined before 1761 has been given at £1 12 6d The present value is 32 4d 1897 Daily News 16 June 5/4 The ukase orders that imperials and half-imperials shall be minted with the inscriptions 15 roubles and 7½ roubles respectively

†3 Short for cloth imperial see A 10 Obs

1476 Household Acc 35 As for your cope I send you a piece of bawdkin and another of imperial, to see whether you will take of 1483 Harder Acc in Antiq Repy (1809) I 49 It cam nes, one made of imperial and the other of bladekyn 1876 Rock Text Fabrics 111 At the end of the twelfth century there was brought to England from Greece a sort of precious silk, named Imperial

4 A case or trunk for luggage fitted on, or adapted for, the roof of a coach or carriage Also the roof or top of a carriage itself Imperials :

1799 W Felton Carriages (1814) II Glass Imperial a feathered case, which is placed on or usually on the roof of the body of the carriage, for the purpose of carrying trunks, etc safe 1796 Nelson's Jane Austen's Dict (1849) VII p lxxxvi, In a few seldom taken by my Squirelets is an imperial the full of clothes belonging to the Colonel Officer 1825 J H Lister Granby xv (1826) 97 The carriage with its ponderous trunks and towering imperials, was actually at the door 1857 Household Words 15 Coaches and ladies' maids, imperials and travelling carriages, are an abomination to me 1875 J H Bennet Winter Medit II xi 392 I was on the imperial over the diligence for the view, sitting next to the conductor

5 A trade name for various articles of special size or quality cf A 8, 10

1858 Simmonds Dict Trade, Imperial, relating to royalty any thing large, as a large decanter

b A size of paper see A 8 b

1722 Act 10 Anne in Land Cas. No 5038 For all Paper called Imperial fine 16s per Ream 1790 Wyvill Cp Pamphl IV 69 Style Letter Paper 21 in. by 17 in. This undiscerning knowledge none doth Our Crown Imperial, Books royal and Demy. 1878 Instr Trades Prod No 5 16 The sheet is sometimes called the kingfisher imperial c A kind of roofing-slate see A 8 c

1842 P Nicholson Pract Build xx 395 The Welsh slates Imperials, 26 ft 6 in by 13 ibid 396 Flat slating, at the present time, is composed of the Imperials which are lighter, and much in use in suppose one.

d Short for imperial water or drink see A 10

1882 Ice Cr Mag XVI 849 Imperial, ginger pop, soda water, or lemonade

6 Short for imperial dome or roof see A 10

1826 Lewis Lollipop Dict Fine Arts Imperial a kind of roof or dome which viewed on its profile, is pointed towards the top, and widens itself more and more in descending towards its base 1842–76 Gwilt Archit Gloss

7 A game at cards ? Obs

1798 Sporting Mag XII 48 A general description of the game of Imperial 1847–78 Halliwell Imp Dict s v game 11 cards, marked as having been played by Henry VIII

8 A small part of the beard left growing between the lower lip and the chin

1855 Miss Bird English's Amer 16 I contributes of the present cut in the shape of beard and moustaches. 1859 O Holmes Lect Introd I 1 (1882) 4 A person with black whiskers and imperial

Imperial I, yal, obs ff Imperial

Imperialism (impi·rializ'm) [f Imperial + ism after imperialist]

1 An imperial system of government, the rule of an emperor, esp. when despotic or arbitrary 1858 Hearon Rome Oct 344 Its tendency to lower the intellectual vigour of the nation, to exhibit to the world how the way wardness of mind will yield beneath the compression of a stern resolution—these are the tasks set itself by Imperialism 1861 Pearson Early & Mid. Ages Eng xxxiii 483, Roman imperialism had divided the world into master and slave 1861 Goldw. Smith Irish Hist 18 There appears to be in the Keltic race a strong tendency to what is called Imperialism 1869 Times 15 Oct., Imperialism, or, indeed, any worse form of despotism 1870 Daily News 8 Sept. 3/1 In this meeting begs to express its delight at the downfall of Imperialism in France, and the proclamation in lieu thereof of the Republic.

2 The principle or spirit of empire, advocacy of what are held to be imperial interests
In recent British politics, the principle or policy (1) of seeking, or at least not refusing, an extension of the British Empire in directions where trade interests and investments require the protection of the flag; and (2) of so uniting the different parts of the Empire having separate governments, as to secure that for certain purposes, such as warlike defence, internal commerce, copyright, and postal communication they shall be practically a single state
In the United States, Expansionism is usually applied to the new policy of extending the rule of the American people over foreign countries, and of acquiring and holding distant dependencies in the way in which colonies and dependencies are held by European states a 1881 W. R. Greg Misc Ess Ser. I. iii. 39 Under the pretext of Imperialism and Empire, statesmanship, the habit of and hitherto much the fault of our Governments—especially of Tory Governments—has been to look too far ahead 1895 Westm Gaz 15 Jan 2/2 The Expansion of England and with its firm grasp on the great possibilities of the New Englands beyond the sea, and its vital realisation of the British Empire as a world-wide Venice, with the sea for streets—have a decisive impulse to what may be called, in the slang of the day, 'the new Imperialism' 1898 Daily News 28 May 4/2 But odious system of bluster and bounce and insult against right on which Lord Beaconsfield and his colleagues bestowed the tawdry nickname of Imperialism 1899 J. C. Watson in Contemp. Rev. Feb. 196 I define Imperialism as a principle or formula of statesmanship for interpreting the duties of government in relation to empire.
1899 Lo Bagehot in Nineteenth Cent. June 962 I mean the greater pride in Empire which is called Imperialism. Sane Imperialism, as distinguished from what I may call wild-cat Imperialism, is nothing but this—large patriotism

Imperialist (impi·riălist) [f IMPERIAL a + -IST or f imperialiste (16th c. in Littré).]
1 An adherent of the (or an) emperor (usually 1600–1800, of the German Emperor), one of the emperor's party 1603 Knolles Hist Turks (1), The imperialists imputed the cause of so shameful a flight unto the Venetians 1644 View Lord in Mount 2-3 Our Romish Malignants stiles the Imperialists, even the most bloody and idolatrous House of Austria 1696-9 H. Harris Funeral Ivon (ed. 2) 119 Favouring the factions of the Guelfs, against those of the Gibellins, or Imperialists.
1677 J. Mather Pre at Framingham 249 The Emperour Marcus Aurelius going to war against the Quads, Vandals, Sarmatians and Germans, the Imperialists were so cooped up by their numerous Enemies 1788 W. Thomson Historical Philip III, vi (1839) 47 Count Thorn having in vain endeavoured to bring the Imperialists to an action set out for Prague 1835 Alison Europe xxvii (1849) IV 42 Sprock succeeded in joining the main body of the Imperialists.

2 An advocate of imperial rule, or of an imperial form of government
Esp in France, an adherent of the Bonaparte family, under which the First and Second Empires were set up 1800 W. Taylor in Monthly Mag VIII 499 These impetuous imperialists are so effectually served as to beget at the same time a lawless and brutal submission to a tyrant allied 1817 J. Scott Paris Revis (ed 4) 115 People of all parties, to all ts, imperialists, and republicans, affected a true indignant surprise at the base suggestion
3 An advocate of 'imperialism' in British or American politics 1899 C. Wyndham in Daily News 23 Jan 7/5 An Imperialist is a man who does not quit the fact that his country is a part is indeed the head and heart of an Empire scattered the whole world over 1899 Westm Gaz 26 Jan 2/2 An Imperialist is one who does not hesitate to do what is necessary to provide for the defence and development of the Empire 1899 J. I. Watson in Contemp Rev Mar. 1 The Imperialist feels a profound pride in the magnificent heritage of empire won by the courage and energies of his ancestry, and loyally allied to him subject to the burden of its responsibilities 1899 Nation (N. Y.) 2 Apr 253/2 English settlers on of American Imperialists are just now loud in their cries that America must not 'retreat' They trust we have too much pride and resolution to turn tail in the Philippines

4 attrib or as adj Adhering or pertaining to imperialism, imperialistic 1868 Freeman Norm Conq II vii 79 In the first of the series of German or other Imperialist prelates 1879 Green Stead Eng Hist xii 393 The imperialist theories of the lawyers of his father's court 1898 Spectator 31 Dec. 910 The English people is neither Imperialist nor Jingo 1899 J. Pulitzer in Daily News 2 May 4/3 The new departure from our U. S. constitutional government which the present imperialist policy means

Imperial stic, a [f prec + -IC] Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of imperialists or imperialism 1879 Baron Brown in Daily News 30 Sept 2/2 That Imperialism rather than Imperial policy, whose tinsel glitter her keen and thrifty eye would at once have detected and despised 1893 Times 2 Jan 9/2 He denounced the imperialistic leanings of the richer classes and of the clergy of the Established Church 1894 Dublin Rev July 110 When, in an imperialistic age brutalism was sure along downwards

Hence Imperial stically adv, in an imperialistic way, after the manner of an imperialist 1881 World 11 May 11 2 The little chapel over which Monsignor Woodford has presided so imperialistically 1895 Johannesburg Standard 3 Aug 4 The Colonist [is] Imperialistically loyal as far as is consistent with Colonial interest.

Imperiality (impĭerĭæ·lĭti) Also 6 emperyalite, 7 imperialitie [f IMPERIAL a + -ITY.]
+1 Imperial rank, power, or authority. Obs
1534 Whitinton Iudges Offices iii (1540) 163 Manlius added more dayes to occupye the roume of his dictature or emperyalite than was due by the law
1611 Florio, Imperialità, Empiry, Imperiality 1629 tr. Herodian (1635) 182 They were deposed from their Imperialitie
2 As a humorous title for an emperor or imperial personage, also collectively = imperial personages (cf royalty)
1870 Dickens Edwin Drood iii 28 That the wind will pass over his head, and the sands of France I have not the slightest doubt 1878 Ouida Friendship II x 118 They should not educate Royalties and Imperialities they are much nicer as they can only say How do ¶ Erroneously An imperial right or privilege
In Webster 1828, with imprinted quot from Tooke, in which the correct word is Imperiality, q. v. Hence copied into later Dicts

Imperialize (impĭe·rĭălaiz), v Also 7 em
+1 intr To act imperially, act the part of an emperor or absolute ruler Obs 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav 157 They delight in tyranny and account Emperializing a qualitie proper for great Personages +2 trans To render imperial, to attach to the party of the Emperor (e. g. against the Papacy) 1639 Fuller Holy War III. xxiv (1647) 160 The Romanists cast away the witnesse of all Imperialized authours then living.
3 To render imperial, to cause to be, or belong to, an empire, or an imperial policy 1805 Times in Spirit Pub Jrnls (1806) IX 53 Whether their favourite luxury would be imperialized by the coronation to double their usual price 1849 Fraser's Mag XXXIX. 362 Those binding clauses who would respect almost any constituted authority, or imperialised gendarme 1870 Daily News 13/1 Nephew's scheme for imperializing Mexico 1880 L. Wallace Ben Hur 120 The expression of the cold, sharp, eagle features, imperialized in his countrymen [the Romans] by sway of the world through so many generations 1880 Academy 2 Times IV 444 It was all part of an imperialising policy

Hence Imperializa tion, the action of imperializing 1898 Amer Rev (XXVII 403 The Government have blundered fatally in their struggles after imperialization

Imperially (impĭe·răli), adv [f IMPERIAL a + -LY²]
1 In an imperial manner, as, or by, an emperor or supreme ruler, with commanding demeanour or style, majestically, autocratically, in relation to, or in the way of attachment to, empire 1550 Nicolas Thucyd 70 The prynces ofteny mes vnto that same custome imperially and by constraincte 1570 J. Nor North Antichr Antiet (1893) 196 God alone may every where worshipped imperially, and emperiallie 1661 Fuller Worthies (1662) 297 His Surname, [Sweyer] so contemptible in English, sounds Imperially and Episcopally when latinized [Severus] 1704 J. Brown Prairie Drunkenness Wks 1730 I 37 She reigns imperially in Germany and Denmark 1844 Mrs. Browning Lady Geraldine lxv, She writes them nobly, queenly, imperially 1881 Daily News 19 May 5 The project having been imperially approved, passed in the usual course by Council of State

2 (erron) = imperially minded
1890 Spectator 3 May, From the point of view of an imperially minded Englishman

2 Heraldry Imperially crowned said of charges represented with an imperial crown, as distinguished from a ducal or other coronet. (cf Ducally crowned) 1823 Crabb Technol Dict, Imperially crowned, an epithet for any charge, arms, etc; or supporters that are crowned with a regal crown 1864 Boutell Her Bk & Pedigr xix 393 A lion rampant guardant or, imperially crowned ppr

Impe rialness. rare [f as prec + -NESS] Imperial quality, dignity, or style, also (with possessive) as a humorous title 1701 Norris Ideal World (1702) 13 Let us Compute the Time, from Constantine's Celebrated Victorious Christian Imperialness. An. 312. to 1475
1890 Illustr Lond News 26 July 109/3 It was painful to see her imperialness strain and fret at the silken meshes of love

Imperialty (impĭe·rĭălti) rare [f IMPERIAL + TY, after royal ty] +1 Imperial state or government, empire Obs
1600 W. Watson Decacordon (1602) 173 The particular common wealths, and regall Maiesties of England, France, Ireland, Scotland ioyned together with the Imperialty of Caesar Iliad 331 Imperialtie, and absolute rule, and authoritie 1616 R. Sheldon Miracles Antichrist 165 (T) A short Roman imperialty or empire, which followed upon the destruction of the sixth

2 An imperial right or privilege, a tax levied by an emperor or empress (Cf royalty) 1799 W. Tooke View Russian Empr II 531 The late empress having relinquished her imperialties on the private mines Ibid 537 These deliveries ceased with the other imperialties which the empress relinquished

+Imperible, a Obs rare [f Im-² + perible, f L. perire to perish see -IBLE.] = IMPERISHABLE 1614 Sylvester Lat Bartas 762 O is there not another life imperible, sweet to the guiltless, to the guilty terrible?

Imperice, Impericke, obs ff IMPRESS, EMPIRIC

Imperil (impe·ril), v Also 6–9 em- [f. Em-¹, Im-¹ + PERIL sb.] trans To bring into or put in peril, to endanger, hazard, risk a 1598 Spenser F. Q. II. iv. 30 Braggadocchio never thought His person to emperill so in fight 1650 B. Dis coll tumnium 53 [It] will emperil the Common-Wealth 1856 Taylor Hist Eng (1858) II vi 95 By the scandal of their lives they emperilled the stability of their order 1862 Merivale Rom Emp xlii (1865) V 68 A professional emulation emperilled the tranquillity of the city
Ib 1872 B Jonson Magn Lady II Chorus, Will I emperill the innocence, and candor of the Author, by his calumnie?
1775 Ash, Imperil (not used), to endanger 1849 Grote Greece II xliii V 300 Sicily was already sufficiently imperilled by its formidable enemies in Africa 1856 Froude Hist Eng (1858) II vi 96 The life and property were imperilled by an insecure succession

Hence Imperilled, illed ppl a, also Impe ril-ment, the action of imperilling, or condition of being imperilled 1843 Carlyle Past & Pr I ii, Fearful imperilment of the victory 1846 Grote Greece I xvi I 551 The Dioscuri as the protectors of the imperilled manner 1868 Browning King & Bk I 1185 Cruelty Pride and unbridled lust 1870 Illustr Lond News 29 Oct 438 The means of saving or helping to save 19,687 imperilled lives

+Impe rillous, a Obs rare [f Im-¹ + PERILOUS, after prec.] ? Perilous, dangerous 1645 J. Bond Oaknam Occid 68 Both were taken away, by a kind of imperillous disease

+Imperio sity. Obs rare [f 1 imperiōs us IMPERIOUS + -ITY.] Imperiousness arrogance 1654 H. L'Estrange Chas I (1655) 138 These exorbitances of those sons of Pr created a very great disgust and many well enough affected to their Empire, did exceedingly blame their imperiosity

Imperious (impĭe·rĭəs), a Also 6–7 em [ad L. imperiōs-us possessed of command, commanding, imperious, f imperium command see -OUS Cf F impérieux (15th c. in Hatz Darm.)]
+1 Having the rank of, belonging to, befitting, an emperor or supreme ruler, IMPERIAL c 1586 Creen Pembroke Pr lxxxix IX, The orders Which his imperious hand for laws shall signe 1588 Shaks 1 Hen VI III v 81 King, be thy thoughts Imperious like thy name c 1592 Marlowe Massacre Paris II v, 'Tis more than kingly or emperious 1632 Heywood 2nd & 3rd Iron Age II 380 Wks 1874 III 81 An imperious goddesse of the sea 1650 Don Bellianis 118 Most mighty Sophy of Scyona and imperious Soldan of the great Persian Monarchy 1793 Pore Thebais 257 Can this imperious lord forget to reign?
+2 Exercising a commanding influence, ruling, sovereign, dominant, having a commanding position, aspect, demeanour, etc., majestic, stately. Obs (cf merged in 3 or 4) 1592 Daniel Compl Rosamond Wks (1717) 39, I joyed the happiest Warmth That ever yet imperious Beauty tasted 1596 Drayton Legends 474 Of his Imperious both or Love and Hate 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 366 Three Arches, that exercise most imperious power over the minds of men, Phy-lake, Religion, Mathematicall Sciences 1638 Sir T. Herbert Trav (ed 2) 127 A brave Castle mounted upon an imperious hill Ibid 182 The imperious Mountains 1649 Jer. Taylor Gt Exemp II viii 59 Faith and Repentance, those two potent and imperious faculties a 1680 Butler Remains (1759) I 264 For to construe is greater than to rule. And no Commander is so imperious as a School 1818-19 Crabbe Tales, Dumb Orat 54 In his experience and his native sense He join'd a bold imperious eloquence 3 Overbearing, domineering, dictatorial (The prevailing modern sense) 1555 [implied in Imperiously 2] 1574 White tr Def Gentry 3 Wks (Parker Soc.) 4 By the very word of kinde of domination is not signified, but that which is joined with a certain imperious cruelty 1579-80 North Plutarch (1676) 800 The over licentious and imperious tyranny of Dionysius 1613 Heywood Gold Age I. Wks 1874 III 74 Th' Emperious Queene. Doth tyranize ore captiue Her cubs
1653 R. Sanders Physiogn 76 An imperious commanding woman, that wears the Breeches 1719 D'Urfey Tutler No. 231 P 2 [She] had from her Infancy discovered so imperious a Temper (usually called a High Spirit) 1859 Jephson Servant & Land 190 A youthful face, Imperious and of haughtiest lineaments.
1879 Froude Cæsar VII 62 A proud, imperious aristocrat, contemptuous of popular rights.
4 Urgent, absolute, overmastering, imperative 1542 [implied in Imperiously 3] 1623 Bingham Xenophon 30 The day before he sent an Imperious commandement to deliuer vp our armes, and now this day he imploied messengers about a truce 1663 Cowley Verses & Fr. Ode Liberty 1 Now wild Ambition with imperious force Rides, rains, and spurs them like th' unruly Horse 1789 Bentham Princ Legisl xiii § 4 The laws of honour make it an imperious duty to succour the weak 1877 E. R. Conder Bas. Faith ii 47 The imperious necessity which urges us.
1894 H. Drummond Ascent Man 278 Hunger was early seen to be the first and most imperious appetite of all living things Imperiously (impɪ·rɪəslɪ), adv [f prec + -LY².] In an imperious manner.

†1 In the way of supreme or absolute rule, imperially, sovereignly, with a commanding aspect, majestically Obs

1596 Drayton Legends iv 487 Those which late imperiously contrould me 1603 Knolles Hist Turks (1638) 107 The proud Mamalukes imperiously commanded as great Lords ouer the rest of the people 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav 188 Imperiously enthroned upon a brazen Mount 1839 Fraser's Mag XIX 127 He lived with the convention, conventionally with the empire, imperiously]

2 In a domineering manner, overbearingly, arrogantly

1555 Eden Decades 62 Imperiously and with cruel coun tenaunce commaundinge the kynge to gyue them vytayles 1617 Moryson Itin III 149 That England is the Purgatory of Servants because they use their Servants imperiously 1699 Gentl Calling (1696) 33 To behave themselves dis dainfully and imperiously 1799 H. Walpole Mem Geo II (1847) III v 108 His natural temper was imperiously blunt, haughty and contemptuous 1871 H. Ainsworth Tower Hill I xv, 'See to it, or dread my resentment', cried Henry, imperiously

3. In the way of absolute command or de mand, by overmastering necessity urgently 1541 Barnes Wks (1573) 310/2 Who thynge I doe geue for a counsell, and doe not commaunde, it maye well be sayd and Pl Return Pr Parnass v 1 (Arb) 64 At what dore must we imperiously beg 1803 J. Johnson Wreck (1806) III 503 Where circumstances imperiously oblige us to a prompt decision 1855 Motley Dutch Rep v ii (1866) 585 So soon as his presence should no longer be imperiously required 1875 H. C. Wood Therap (1879) 604 Every known substance refuses more or less imperiously to allow the passage of electricity

Imperiousness (impɪ·rɪəsnĕs) [f as prec + -NESS] The quality of being imperious

†1 Imperial character or dignity, absolute rule or sovereignty, empire Obs

1574 Whitgift Def Answ 1 Wks (Parker Soc) I 151 Neither is this word 'emperors' of any such imperiousness, that Christ should forbid his disciples the name 1630 R. Johnson Kingd & Commw 508 Hee gave way to his some Bajacet to fill the chaire of imperiousnesse 1679 Narborough Jrnl in Acc Sev Voy I (1711) 103 Thus they do to shew their Greatness and Imperiousness

2 Overbearing character, disposition, or manner, domineering, arrogance a 1613 Overbury Wife Wks (1638) 139 His other Beast Imperiousnes, is yet more proudly louden 1673 Lady's Call II iv 134 The imperiousness of a woman do's often raise those storms, wherein her self is shipwrack'd. 1779–81 Johnson L. P. Sturgt Wks. III 409 He (Swift) apparently flattered his own arrogance by an assumed imperiousness, which he was ironical only to the resentful 1870 Spectator 19 Nov 1376 The imperiousness of which, when identified with Germany, Germans were in a degree proud

3 Overmastering or imperative quality, urgency

1667 Pepys Diary 29 Oct., Which Sir J. Duncomb answered with great imperiousness and earnestness. 1848 Lytton Harl Scot (1862) I 228 The imperiousness of his demands experienced an immediate relaxation 1894 Chicago Advance 4 Jan, Yielding to a sweet imperiousness which they could not resist, the tired mother and her laughters descended from the wagon

†Impere rish, v Obs [Another form of Im perish (app f OF empeser, empirer, perh associated with perish)] Trans To impair, injure, make worse

1494 Fabyan Chron VII 386 By reason of great plente of ayne whethe in that season fyll yᵉ bokes were greatly im pereshed 1545 Raynold Byrth Mankynde IV xi (1634) 197 Weedes among the good heabs, will deforme and im perish the good grace of them 1586 J. Hooker Gerald Irel in Holinshed II 143 His vertues were much impershed and blemished 1603 Dekker, etc Grastil III ii (1841) 47, I thought (by the syntheresie of my soul) I had not been impershed

Imperishability (impe rɪʃăbɪlĭtɪ) [f next see -ITY] The quality of being imperishable, imperishableness

1813 T. Busby Lucretius III Comment iii, He could not admit the imperishability of the invisible compound of the soul 1822 Shelley Ess & Lett, Put. State (Camelot) 81 In what manner can this concession be made to argument for its imperishability? 1855 Milman Lat Chr VIII xi (1864) IX 134 [Aquinas] repudiates the Eternity of matter, the imperishability of the universe

Imperishable (impe rɪʃăbl), a [f Im 2 + PERISHABLE cf F imperissable (Cotgr 1611)] That cannot perish, not subject to decay, inde structible, immortal, everlasting, enduring 1648 W. Mountague Devout Ess I v § 1 77 Immach ate and imperishable formes 1757 Burke Sublime & Beaut Wks 1842 II 309 That their gods should be repre sented under a human form, they thought derogatory to beings uncreated and imperishable 1842 Wordsw Gener Darling 15 But, verily, good deeds Do no imperishable record find Save in the rolls of heaven 1874 Symonds Sk Italy & Greece (1898) I xi 312 This they owe partly to he imperishable nature of baked clay

Imperishableness (impe rɪʃăbĭnes) [f prec + -NESS] The quality of being imperish able, indestructibility, immortality

1829–30 Coleridge Friend (1837) III 111 The imperish ableness of a spiritual nature 1847–8 De Quincey Theo estant Wks. VIII 155 The heavenly truths, by their own imperishableness, defeat the mortality of languages 1881 J. H. Gibbs Double Standard 44 Sarcenew shole is not a sufficient qualification, nor imperishableness nor portable ness

Imperishable (impe rɪʃăbl), adv [f as prec + -LY²] In an imperishable manner, in such a way as not to perish, indestructibly

1816 Byron Ch Har III lxvii, Like yonder Alpine snow, Imperishably pure beyond all things below 1855 Milman Lat Chr XIV ii (1864) IV 73 This was ere long to be im bodied in Poetry and more imperishably in Art 1878 Bayne Purit Rev iii 39 Shakespeare expressed it perfectly and imperishably

†Imperite, a (sb) Obs [ad L imperitus inexperienced, unskilled, f im- (Im- 5) + peritus experienced (cf ex peritī to make trial of.)] Un skilled, ignorant, as sb an unskilled or ignorant person Hence †Imperitely adv, ignorantly

1620 Calfe Ital Schoo (1647) 130 King Hen 8 incor porated the Physitians and gave them power by Charter to examine the Imperites 1657 Tomlinson Renou's Disp 503 Vulgar apothecaries call this Syrupe Diacalcitum, but imperitely 1708 Motteux Rabelais's XV, Rarely the Con comitants of the imperite Vulgar

†Imperium (impɪ·rĭŭm) [L, = command, supreme authority or power, sovereignty, dominion] Command, absolute power, supreme or imperial power, Empire

1652 J. Goodwin Hist (1862) IV 144 All the operations of all the powers in it are immediately and entirely at the arbi trary imperium and dominion of the said 1658 Cudworth Intell Syst I iii § 17 163 We have no voluntary imperium at all upon the systole and diastole of the heart 1838 42 Arnold Thucyd (ed 3) I 380 Sparta, as the constituted imperium, has absolute power of life and death 1870 L. Mottoni Nation x 166 (Stand) The sovereignty of the nation in wolves the right which is denied in its formal phrase, is the imperium or eminent domain

b Lat. phr Imperium in imperio, an empire within an empire, an independent or supreme authority exercised or claimed within the juris diction of another authority

1758 Chesterfield Lett to Son 6 Jan, If he will not admit their imperium in imperio it becomes meritorious to dispute it 1790 Burke Rev France (1841) IX 160 Our new government is an attempt to divide a sovereignty, a fresh essay at imperium in imperio 1886 Mrs. Lorne in Contemp Rev July 21 Is the idea of Federal Government would willingly constitute an imperium in imperio formed of one race unit

†Impe rmedged a Obs Pernicketed

1611 Cotgr, Empernaged, impen'nigged, that weares a Pernie

Impermanence (impɜ·mănĕns) [f Imper manent + -ENCE, or f Im 2 + Permanence] The fact or condition of being impermanent, want of permanence or continued duration

1796 Anna Seward Lett (1811) IV 264 Melancholy im permanence of human blessings! 1853 Heaven's Evolution & Ethics 4 The most obvious attribute of the Cosmos is its impermanence 1894 Crockett Lilac Sun bonnet 108 The lucid impermanence of earliest dawn

Impermanency (impɜ·mănĕnsɪ) [f as prec see -ENCY] The quality or state of being impermanent

1648 W. Mountague Devout Ess I vi § 2 38 Distilling out of the serious contemplation of the mutability of all worldly things, a remedy against the cauill of the folish ness and impermanency 1889 Howells Hazard New Fort 231 Marsh had a feeling of impermanency from what had happened

Impermanent (impɜ·mănĕnt), a [f Im 2 + Permanent] Not permanent or lasting, un enduring, transient

1653 H. More Conject Cabbal iii (1662) 98 That Adam in here state was to a mortal flitting and impermanent state till he reach his Æthereal or pure fiery Vehicle 1762 Anna Seward Lett Oct Wks. (1810) I 56 Why, the im permanent pleasures of the eye 1883 Howells Woman's Reason I 28 The sense of our impermanent relation to the parental roof comes to us very early in life

Impermeability (impɜ·mĭăbĭlĭtɪ) [f next + -ITY cf F imperméabilité] The quality or state of being impermeable

1755 Franklin Lett Wks 1840 V 340 It does not appear to me that Père Beccaria doubts of the absolute impermea bility of glass to the water contained 1889 Nature 19 Sept, Conclusive evidence of the impermeability of the struc 1897 Daily News 30 July 5/3 He considered that the im permeability of the balloon was unsatisfactory

Impermeable (impɜ·mĭăbl), a [= F imperméable (Rabelais), or ad late I impermeabil is f im (Im 2) + permeābilis Permeable] Not per meable

1. That cannot be passed through or traversed, impassable

1697 Potter Antiquus IV 160 Attempts to discover the Nor West and other hitherto impermeable Passages 1808 J. Barlow Columb IX 466 Between them stretch'd the im permeable main 1854 Baxtrovin Exp Iliad (1857) I 150 Strong Cross became absolutely impermeable

2 Physics That does not permit the passage of water or other fluid, liquid or gaseous

1756 Watson in Phil Trans XLVII 554 I odemonstrate, that glass is not absolutely impermeable to the electric fluid 1787 Stuart Planters G (1828) 205 A bed of hard and impermeable clay 1898 Hukley Voyage 21 Those [socks] which refuse to allow water to soak in are said to be impermeable

Hence Impe rmeableness, the quality of being impermeable, Impermeability, Impe rmeably adv, in an impermeable manner

1846 Worcester, Impermeably Dr Ellen 1847 Craig Impermeableness

Impermeated (impɜ·mĭĕtĕd), a [f Im + permeated, pa pple of Permeate 2] Not per meated, traversed, or penetrated, unpermeated

1848 J. Baxter Colonist iv 63 A fruitless dark impor meated mass 1847–9 Todhunter Anat IV 521 Within the of bone, impermeated by vessels

Impermeator (impɜ·mĭĕtŏɹ) [f Im + L permātor, agent n f permāre to Per meate] In a steam engine an appliance for forcing oil into the cylinder in order to lubricate uniformly the walls of the cylinder and the piston In recent Dicts

Impermissable (impəmɪ·săbl), a [f Im 2 + Permissible] Not permissible, not to be per mitted or allowed

1828 Sel Rev 1 (O.E.D.) Morality is not allowed to say that the strict is impermissable 1885 Liverpool Daily Courier 28 He should consider it impossible and impermissable to suppose him guilty of any laches here

†Impermixt, a Obs Also im- [ad L impermixtus, f im- (Im- 4) + permixtus, f per through thoroughly + mixtus mixed] Unmixed, unmingled Hence Impermi xtly adv un mixedly, without mixture

1629 Donne Serm cx IV 535 Goodness impermixt in tenerate and indeterminate goodness 1632 Hist Jesus Chr 248 Zeal clenses us, but it must be Zeale impermixt in the Sun not mingled with our smoaky sooty factious affections 1656 Trapp Clav Apost 136 Where Christ is, unless in a room contrary to enlighten the place the light of them re is much impermixt 1657 Gale Vind Gentiles 288 It belongs to the Deitie to diffuse it self through all things, im permixtly but nothing through it

†Impermutable, a Obs [f Im- 2 + Per mutable] Not permutable, unchangeable 1598 Rob Rich Nav Arch 1 6 Whose verite is impermu table 1555 Eden Decades 146 Wee see this to be im impermutable 1678 R. Russell Geberon II xix 251, In Bodies there is somewhat impermutable which cannot be taken away

Imperour, -owr, -ur, obs ff Emperor

†Impersc rptible, a [f Im- 2 + perscriptible, f perscribere to put anything to it in writing, write down, register] For which no written authority can be adduced, unrecorded

1832 Tait's Ed Mag IV 48 Pol Terms in 31 An imperscrip tible right is a right which was prior to the social compact 1843 Sortin's Doctor (1862) 60 Hence Hi frequently found cause to exercise the imperscriptible and inalien able right of altering and improving his own work

†Impersc rptible, a Obs [ad L imperscriptibilis, f im- (Im- 5) + perscribere to search through, examine into see Ber] Not to be searched out unsearchable, inscrutable

1526 Pilgr Perf (1531) 104 The dispensacyon of god is imperscriptable & furre beyonde mannes reason 1658 Rolle Magnalia 93 Are there not many natural things impen scrut able to humane curiosity? 1681 Glanvill Sadducismus 137 The Notion of a Spirit is so difficult and imperscrip tible

Hence †Impersc rutableness, unsearchable ness, inscrutableness

1664 H. More Myst Iniq 420 The Incomprehensibleness and Imperscrutableness of the Divinity of our Saviour

†Imperse verant, *a*1 Obs [f Im- + Per severant] Not persevering, wanting in perse verance

1594 Bp Andrewes Serm Ld Q Elis Hampton Court 21 The Sodomites are an example of impenitent wilful sinners and Lots wife of impersevernt and relapsing righteous persons

Impersevera nt, *a*2 see Imperceiverant

Impersistent (impəsɪ·stĕnt), a [f Im- + Persistent] Not persistent or enduring 1888 H. I. Brown in Jrnl Coll Sc (1889) XIV 177 An eroded and impersistent bed of hard, fine grained Coal measure sandst one.

Impersonal (impɜ·sŏnăl), a and sb Also 6 impersonall [ad late I impersonal is, f im- (Im- 5) + personalis Personal cf F impersonnel.]

A adj 1 Gram A term applied to verbs when used only in the third person singular as it rains, it freezes, me thinks, ME me hungreth, lest it ofthinke him

In Gr and L, an impersonal vb had no pronoun subject e g ver, pluit, it rains, here some have denied the name in English to verbs that have the subject it Others have applied the term unipersonal to all verbs used only in the third person singular, whether with or without a pronoun subject Impersonal verbs do not form a shurply defined class, since many ordinary verbs have impersonal construc tions, in English, also, many verbs were formerly used im personally which are now used in all the persons

1520 Whittinton Vulg (1527) 58 If it be a verb, imper sonal 1530 Palsgr 222 b Introd 56 Verbes impersonall have no more but the thyrde persone syngular 1553 Udall Flowers 21 (R.) Wher note that verbes impersonalles be oftentimes turned into personalles 1632 B. Jonson Eng Gram XVI, A verb is divided two manner of ways. First, in respect of persons, it is called personal, or impersonal 1844 J. Murray Eng Gram (ed 3) I 170 As the word imper sonal implies a total absence of persons, it is improperly applied to those verbs which have a person 1847 Latham Eng Lang xvi 193 Those three [impersonal, methinks, me

Intr. are the only true Impersonal Verbs in the English language … because no Pronoun accompanies them 1850 Hall Fr. xxxii 142 In the old language impersonal verbs, or rather the impersonal use of verbs was commoner than at present a 1622 J. Hume Rem. Longm. (1863) 52 A word impersonall is publik in all fourms of speach keepes one face, and this is adverb or conjunction 1658 Phillips, Impersonal, a term used in Grammar, and signifieth that word whether pronoun or verb which hath but one termination for all the three persons or at least which wanteth a termination for one of them 1880 Lewis & Short Lat. Dict., Impersonalis (w. modus), the impersonal mood, i. e. the infinitive.]

†b By extension, applied to other parts of speech which have no inflexions Obs

2 Not pertaining to or connected with any particular person or persons, having no personal reference or connexion and of things 1630 Brathwait Eng. Gentl. (1641) 72 This unbounded fury may seeme to have a two fold relation, either as it is proper and personall or popular and impersonall 1841 Lyman Eddr. Method of Nature Wks. (Bohn) II 241 What is genius but finer love, a love impersonal, a love of the … perfection of things? 1864 Sat. Rev. XVIII 455/1 The most purely impersonal considerations of public duty 1880 Daily Tel. 9 July, The jewels and other appointments of the harem are quite impersonal, belonging to the establishment and not to any of their successive wearers.

3 Not possessing or endowed with personality, not existing or manifested as a person

1842 Manning Serm., Most Am (1848) I 4 It is most necessary for us ever to bear in mind the personality of Satan … for we are often wont to speak of sin, as we do of sickness or plagues, as if it were an impersonal thing 1863 F. A. Neale Acts of the Apost. 94 Heraclitus seemed to have died up a rival impersonal Deity, who must swallow up the personal gods of the popular faith 1875 Poste Gaius I (ed. 2) 69 Slaves being regarded as impersonal men

B sb 1 Gram. An impersonal verb

1612 Brinsley Pot. Parts (1669) 40 How are Impersonals declined? They are … only formed in the third Person singular, through all Moods and Tenses 1845 Stormonth Eng. Mistrep (1847) 163/1 The impersonals are of two kinds, active and neuter

2 An impersonal thing or creature, an impersonality rare

1796 Burke Regic. Peace IV Wks IX 11 All those blessings on him who found out abstraction, personification and impersonals. In certain cases they are the first of all speeches

Impersonality (impəːsɒnaˈlɪtɪ) [f Impersonal + -ity.] The quality or condition of being impersonal, absence of personality 1769 Sir W. Dyer Junius Lett. IV 24 Junius is pleased to tell me, that he addresses himself to me personally. I shall be glad to see him. It is his impersonality that I complain of 1871 Daily News 26 Sept. The strangest thing, however, is the impersonality of the events … the uncontrollable character of the movement, the annihilation of individual influence in the general result 1882 Times 3 July, 7/1 We The absolutely of artistic form as contrasted with the fluctuating, changing impersonality of events. Fact 1888 Pall Mall G. 29 Sept. 5 2 I detect impersonality mu it give place to distinct and familiar personality

b An impersonal being or creation

1876 Hamerton Comb Coll Man xxii 210 Idealised impersonalities of the deities of the Greek mythology 1881 Daily Tel. 12 Feb., The monopoly of governing power in an impersonality called the State 1897 W. P. Ker Epic & Rom. 288 Kingdoms, Church and Empire … Of these great impersonalities there was little known in Iceland

Impersonalize (impəːsɒnəlaɪz), v. [f as prec. + -ize.] trans. To render impersonal or reference

Impersonalization, the action of rendering impersonal, an impersonalized condition or form

1880 A. B. Grosart Hillsb. p. vi, When you try to reduce it either or both you have the same mysterious and baffling, impersonalization of them

Impersonally (impəːsɒnəlɪ), adv. [f Impersonal + -ly.] In an impersonal manner

1 Gram As an impersonal verb

1580 Baret Alv. To fall A 1138, Idest methoh a word Adiective taken Impersonally. Impersonallie taken 1750 6 Bailey (folio) s.v., The Verb Rain is used impersonally 1870 R. C. Jebb Sophocles Electra (ed. 2) 15 Aegisthus used impersonally = he is dead

2 Without personal reference, connexion, or feeling, without reference to any particular person

1881 H. James Portr. Lady xxxiii, He wished to describe him impersonally, scientific ally 1882 H. Sweet Pract. Introd. 153 The laws which originate from personal authority, have inequality as their common essential principle while the laws which originate impersonally, in the consensus of individual interests, have equality as their essential principle

Impersonate (impəːsɒneɪt), v. [f type impersonatus*, f im (Im 1) + persona person cf. incorporate to Incorporate.]

†1 trans To invest with an actual personality, to embody Obs

1633 Lady Mancie Al Mondo (1636) 181 Thus spoke of mine imprisoned soule and so unanimating my body against

2 To invest with a supposed personality, to represent in a personal or bodily form to personify

1624 Bedell Lett. in 52 The rich man being in hell torments (in whose words I doubt not but our Saviour doth impersonate and represent the conceits of many men living in this world) 1755 Warburton Free Inquiry, broke's Philos. in Wks 1811 XII 203 That the Jews and Christians, as well as the Heathens impersonated Chance under the name of Fortune 1883 Contemp. Rev. Dec. 871 The conscience of the community is impersonated in its Government

b To manifest or embody in one's own person, to typify

1855 Milman Lat. Chr. III xi (1864) II 81 His age acknowledged Benedict as the perfect type of the highest religion, and Benedict impersonated his age 1863 Kingsley Cornwall II (ed. Aveland) impersonated with singular exactness the idea which our forefathers had in their minds when they spoke of what they called a 'Free human' 1874 Stubbs Const. Hist. I v 214 His position was dignified and important, as impersonating the unity of the race

3 To assume the person or character of, to play the part of, to act (a character), to personate

1715 M. Davies Athen. Brit. I 185 The Master and Doctor of the Dialogues often think fit … to impersonate other more surprizing Actors 1863 Mrs. C. Clarke Shakes. Char. 257 None, but persons of imagination and quick feeling should presume to impersonate any of his characters

Hence Impersonated ppl. a. = next a 1790 T. Warton (Mason), The impersonated vices and virtues 1878 Gladstone From Homer xiii 153 Of the impersonated Unseen no poet has made such effective employment

Impersonation (impəːsɒneɪʃən), ppl. a. [Short for impersonated, on analogy of other ppl. adjs in ate, ated see -ate 2.] Embodied in a person, invested with personality, impersonated

1820 Keats Isabella I, If love impersonate was ever dead 1821 J. Hogg Mem. Manuscript 1 Spartans at Thermopylæ (1844) 51 Heroic Dignity, impersonate In lofty phantoms a 1867 J. Hamilton Miracles (1870) 68 We expect that the Sacred Scribe has own volume impersonate and alive

Impersonation (impəːsɒneɪʃən) [f as prec. + -ion.]

1 The action of impersonating or fact of being impersonated, representation in personal or bodily form, personification

1800 Collins Lectures 128 note (Lod.), We include the Impersonation of Passions Affections, Virtues and Vices. 1851 Ruskin Nature (1874) I 8 Any thing in figurative expression that seems to always impersonation b concr. An instance of this, a person or thing impersonating or representing a principle, quality, etc.

1831 Mayhew Sort Res III vi, Man is the visible Manifestation and Impersonation of the Divinity 1840 Dickens Barn. Rudge, IV, The very impersonation of good humour and blessedness 1852 Miss Mulock Avillion Pop. (1865) II xxi 236 He proclaimed himself the supreme impersonation of the laws

2 The dramatic representation of a character

1825 Lond. Mag. XCV 332/2 Her [Mrs. Siddons] sudden impersonation of that heroic woman 1881 Athenæum No. 2811 I. 81/1 Miss Kendal's … impersonation of the leading rôle in words of praise could be too high

Impersonative (impəːsɒnətɪv), a. [f Impersonate v. see -ative.] Having the faculty of impersonating, of the nature of or relating to impersonation 1886 Pall Mall G. 9 Sept 4/2 When she has thoroughly assimilated her lessons then her impersonative talent will have unbridled way 1890 Ibid. 9 June 3/1 He cannot make the novel's characters live again. His talent is allusive, not impersonative.

Impersonator (impəːsɒneɪtə) [agent noun form f Impersonate v.] One who impersonates or plays a part, an actor of a dramatic character 1853 J. D. H. Darie Baldeschi's Cerem Rom Rite 180 He who represents Christ will have the imperson ator of the Evangelist on his right, and those of the ers on his left 1864 Reader 18 June, With one exception, all the characters are sustained by their former impersonators.

Impersoress (impəːsɒnəres) [f prec. + -ess.] A female impersonator

1881 Norris Matrimony III i 11 The imperonatress of Madame de Sancerre played her part here to such purpose

Impersonatrix. [fem. in f. form of impersonator see -trix.] = prec.

1847 De Quincey Protestantism Wks VIII 137 note, The old sulk at witch of England and Scotland was but an impersonatrix of the same superstition

Impersonee, variant of Impersonee

Impersonification (impəːsɒnɪfɪkeɪʃən) [f Im- 1 + Personification, after impersonation.] Personification, impersonation

1799 Mrs. J. West Tale of Times III 28 A striking instance of impersonification 1849 Lect. Mus. XVI 319/1 A myth is the ideal impersonification of a mighty impulse bestowed on the human mind 1865 Mozley Lect. Parson & Epic Poetry 14 In the first three Odalisques of the nineteenth century, those mysterious impersonific stations of Eastern loveliness

Impersonify (impəːsɒnɪfaɪ), v. [f Im- 1 + Personify, after impersonate.] trans To represent in personal form, to personify Hence Impersonifying, ppl. adjs

1804 Anna Seward Mem. Darwin 186 An impersonified individual 1884 Daily Tel. 13 Aug., It was not the lot of Robson, as it was of Rachel and of Kean to impersonify the loftier emotions 1883 Gosse 17th Cent. Stud. 64 Webster was only saved from strong impersonifying habit of mind from falling into the mere historic dullness of such plays as Perkin Warbeck or Sejanus Impersonize (impəːsɒnaɪz), v. rare [f Im- 1 + Personize, after impersonate.] trans To personify, impersonate Also absol.

1804 Anna Seward Mem. Darwin 188 She impersonizes too lavishly Ibid. 203 The impersonized elements received her 1820 Blackw. Mag. VIII 132 The various modifications and contentions of good and evil in this life, typified and impersonized by fairies, demons, &c

Hence Impersonizing, vbl. sb.

1798 Anna Seward Lett. (1811) IV 159 Those lines in the centre, which present … an impersonification of winter 1797 Ibid. 306 Dr. Darwin's impersonization of that death breathing gale, in the Botanic Garden

†Impersuadable, a. Obs. rare. In 7 in-[ad late 1 impersuabil is inscrutable, incomprehensible, f im (1 in 2) + persuabilis that may be clearly seen, Perspicable.] That cannot be seen or discerned, invisible

1665 Sir J. Herbert Jour. (1677) 233 It was so thick powdered with Oriental Pearl and glittering Gems, as made the ground of it imperspicable

Imperspicuity. [f Im- 2 + Perspicuity.] The reverse of perspicuity or clearness, obscurity 1659 O. Walker Instruct Oratory 98 [He] must in some things hazard the imperspicuity of his style Imperspicuous, a. rare [f L imperspicuus not clear, obscure, + ous, cf. Perspicuous.] Not perspicuous or clear, obscure

1721 Bailey, Imperspicuous, not clear, or evident

Imperspirable (impəːspaɪərəb'l), a. Now rare. [f Im- 2 + Perspirable.] Incapable of perspiration 1684 in Bonet's Merc Compit xxiii 663 The humors are condensed, the skin made imperspirable 1744 in Boerhaave's Inst III 299 A Cicatrix or imperspirable Crust is formed, instead of the Cuticle 1844 Sir G. Bird Urin Deposits (ed. 3) 321 False quick and sharp, skin dry and imperspirable Hence Imperspirably adv.

1744 Mitchell in Phil. Trans. XLIII 144 The Thickness and Density of the Skins of black and tawny People, or Imperspirability of their Bodies Impersuadable (impəswēɪdəb'l), a. [f Im- 1 + Persuadable.] Not persuadable, that cannot be persuaded Hence Impersuadableness.

a 1704 T. Brown Two Oxford Scholars Wks 1730 I 3 You break my heart … by your impersuadableness 1891 J. M. McNulty in Pall Mall G. 20 Sept. 2 There is a personal hinderer in the spiritual life of men He is mighty, malignant, spiritual, invisible, impersuadable Impersuasible, a. Obs [f as] prec. I impersuabilis, f. im (Im- 2) + persuabilis, Persuasible.] = prec.

1576 Fleming, Panopl. Epist 243 In this point he shall finde me impersuasable, and not to be exhorted 1627 Donne Serm. lxxi 667 The impersuasable Sinner does so 1667 Decay Chr. Piety II 137 If it be his fortune to have as impersuasable an auditory Hence †Impersuasibil ity, †Impersuasibleness, †Impersuasibly adv.

1549 Hooper Ten Commandm Pref, Wks (Parker Soc.) 261 An impersuasibility, dullidence, incredulity, contumacy, or unbelefance 1659 Walker Obedience 100 It signifies impersuasibility 1659 Hammond On Fer cxiii 70 Obstinately and impersuasibly bent upon their course 1675 J. Smith Chr. Relig. Appl III 14 The impersuasibleness of the Sceptick

Impert, obs. form of Impart

†Impertinacy. Obs [f next see -acy.] Impudence, Impertinency

1484 Fongf Alarum Addr. Inns Court A 3 b, Not according to the importunate of the inquest, but as equite might countenance mee a 1665 J. Goodwin Called to the Work (1867) 374 Which … detected the insufficiency and impertinacy of such other grounds and reasons for their practice †Impertinat, a. Obs Ironeous form for Impertinent a

c 1450 Holland Howlat 924 So pompous, impertinat [v. r. impertinas] and reprovable

Impertinence (impəːtɪnəns), sb [a F impertinence, f impertinent Impertinent see -ence.] The fact or quality of being impertinent, that which is impertinent

1 The fact or character of not pertaining to the matter in hand, want of pertinence, irrelevance

1626 Mabbe Rom. Liter III ii, Let cut off all tedious impertinence [I] have contracted the tragedy into one continued scene 1653 Milton Hirelings Wks (1851) 352 Of like impertinence is that Lie imple Canon, Gen 28 22 who of his free choice vow'd the Tenth of all that God should give him 1726 Dr. Bor Rect. Devil xii (1840) 78 The impertinence of this account would hardly have given it a place here 1828 Webster Am. Dict., Impertinence, introducing into a pleading or an interrogatory to a witness in Chancery, long recitals, or unnecessary digressions

b (with pl.) An irrelevant fact or matter, an irrelevance

1612 [see Impertinency 1 b] 1675 Baxter Cath Theol II 1 Let us spend no time on such Impertinences, but speak that to the Matter 1705 De Foe Serr. Last Wks 1840 V 342 By her going off from her discourse abruptly to some impertinence 1876 Lowell Among my Bks Ser II (ed. 2) 140 I get a pack of impertinences on its shoulders

2 The fact or character of being unsuitable, out of place, improper, or irrational, action or conduct of this character, inappropriateness, incongruity, triviality, trifling, folly, absurdity

1629 Massinger Picture IV iii, Still tormented With thy impertinence! 1664–93 South Serm (1697) II 122 A Petition, fraught with Nonsense and Incoherence, Confusion and Impertinence. 1678 Marvell Mr Smirke 28 I have done

otherwise would have been the greatest Impertinence and Folly 1706 PHILIPS, Impertinence, Extravagance, Silliness, Foolery, Nonsense 1797 SMITH To a very Young Lady, The hurry and impertinence of receiving and paying visits on account of your marriage being now over 1799 Jemmy Letts xxxv 8 Unacquainted with the vain impertinence of forms 1843 LANE Arab Ser II Pref, The impressions of infancy had burnt into him, and he resented the impertinence of manhood

b (with pl) Something unsuitable, out of place, trivial, or irrational, an incongruity, a trifle, absurdity, piece of folly

1603 HOLLAND Plutarch's Mor 54 Forced and foolish figures and such like impertinences or defects 1645 EARLE Mon 47 Feb, We were taken up next morning in seeing the impertinences of the Carnis al, when all the world are as mad at Rome as at other places 1734 MRS DELANY in Life & Corr 472 I was not able to find out moments to write from waked in the morning till bed-time I might meet with impertinences 1869 GOLDEN Fors Holmes xvii 158 Any secular pursuit becomes an impertinence as regards the great end of our being

3 Interference with what lies beyond one's province, unmannerly and offensive intrusion or taking of liberty, presumptuous or forward rudeness of behaviour or speech, a piece of impudence, insolence; (The chief current sense in colloq use)

1718 STEELE Spect No 440 P 1 Subjected to all the Impertinence she must meet with in that publick Place 1773 MRS CHAPONE Hester Mordaunt 172 If Mrs Masters and mistresses sometimes provoke impertinence from their servants 1810 Sporting Mag XXXVI 1 Impertinence is manifested by wilfully laying over the boundaries of good manners 1883 C J WHITE Wad Peerie 117 Being no archæologist, it would be impertinence were I to attempt a description

b (with pl) An instance of this, an impertinent act, a piece of impertinence, or rudeness

1822 HAZLITT Table T Ser II 11 (1869) 132 We resent wholesome counsel as an impertinence 1877 SWINBURNE Serm xxi 274 Social impertinences, involving more or less of disrespect

c An impertinent person

1754 J SHEBBEARE Matrimony (1760) I 112 That little self sufficient Impertinence her Father 1885 JAMESON Impertinence 3 An insolent person Idiot

Impertinence, v rare [f prec sb] trans To treat with impertinence

1756 H WALPOLE Lett to H Mann (1834) III 155 I do not wonder that you are impertinenced by Richcourt

Impertinency (impə·tinənsi) Now rare [f as IMPERTINENCE, with -ENCY, q v Cotgr 1611 has 'Impertinence, impertinencie, vnfitnesse, vnpropernesse'] The quality of being impertinent

1 The quality of being irrelevant, irrelevancy, = IMPERTINENCE 1

1605 SHAKS Lear III vi 176 O matter, and impertinency mixt, Reason in Madnesse 1610 CHILLAM Humfrey I vi (1660) 15 I do passe over [or impertinency thereof to this place 1699 BENTLEY Phal xiv 456 Twould be endless to shew all the silliness and impertinency in the Matter of the Epistles 1884 Law Times LXXVIII 115 2 Motion that several parts of the bill of costs might be examined for sense and impertinency

b An instance of this, = IMPERTINENCE 1 b

1600-12 BACON Ess Marriage (Arb) 463 Some wise men, who thus use their wits themselves and doe accompt future times impertinencyes [edd 1612, 16-5 impertinences] 1704 ADDISON Tatler (1710) III 58 Answers are looked upon as Impertinencies or Interruptions

2 The quality of being inappropriate or absurd, = IMPERTINENCE 2

1689 SIR R DUDLEY (title) A Proposition to bridle the Impertinency of Parliaments 1697 HAGUECHEF Victims 30 The Impertinency of worldly business is not yet be one's burden too heavy for the mind to bear 1727-41 CHAMBERS Cycl s v Interdict You boast much of the event of a few predictions, which, considering the multitude of those you have produced, plainly confess its impertinency

b An instance of this, = IMPERTINENCE 2 b

1589 PUTTENHAM Eng Poesie III xix (Arb) 224 A very foolish impertinency of speech, and not a figure 1656 HALES Gold Remn (1659) 201 Ye know Salomon writes a learned Impertinencies 1710 PALMER Proverbs 301 To neglect culture, and leave children too long under the impertinencies of the baby and hobby horse 1748 RICHARDSON Pamela IV 320 What Nursery Impertinencies are these, to trouble a Man with? 1793 COWPER Let 560 (L M) My good intentions too often are continually frustrated by mere impertinencies, such as calls of civility

3 Insolence, = IMPERTINENCE 3

1653 HOLCROFT Deuxpont, Coth Hors III 106 We are amazed at the impertinency of these Gospelers who come here to offer the basest scorne that can be a 1714 SWIFT Serm IV xviii (R) Wit and profaneness are infinitely different things, as likewise is wit and impertinency

b An instance of this, = IMPERTINENCE 3 b

1668 DIGBY Voy Medit (Camden) 58 For some impertinencies and arrogancies did putt my chiefe masters mate out of his place 1710 EARL OF WARWICK Lett to Burnet 20 July (1887) II 4 You have already forgiven me greater impertinencies 1848 DICKENS Dom Nipper (1858) 136/1 There they are not the custom, and would be impertinencies

Impertinent (impə·tinənt), a (sb) Also 4 inpertynent, 6 inpertynent, impertinant, ynente [a F impertinent (14th c in Hatz-Darm) or ad L impertinens, -ent-em not belonging, in med L 'ineptus, insulsus' (Du Cange), f im- (Im-2) + pertinens PERTINENT]

Vol. V.

†1 Not appertaining or belonging (to), unconnected, unrelated, inconsonant 1375

c 1380 WYCLIF Serm Sel Wks II 31 Many men in þis world ben impertinent to erþely lordis, for neiþer þei ben servauntis to hem, ne þei ben bore worldly lordis 1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W) 155ll 166 Thynges that be ferre or other impertynent & dyuerse 1666 Orrmonde V 353 in 10 Rep Hist MSS Comm App v 23 His private affaires and business impertinent to anything, relating to the said Lord Archbishop) 1809-10 COLERIDGE Friend (1837) III 158 The more distant and impertinent to each other and to any common purpose, will they appear

2 Not pertaining to the subject or matter in hand, irrelevant, inappropriate, out of place; inexact

Now rare exc in Law

1586 CAMDEN Brit Ireland Prol 54 Prowdly as to my Image men me thynketh it a thyng impertinent saue that he wolk common in his mind 1530 PALSGR 7 Actyon impertinent vsed in the law in long, thereto is impertinent I passe, as ouer a 1571 JEWEL Serm (1845) I 428 Amb Lucius in my thinke these things are impertinent or from the purpose 1612 SHAKS Temp I ii 138 His Iuno, then to the present businesse Which neues vpons without the which this Story Were most impertinent 1644 JER TAYLOR Polem (1674) 84 The allegation of Limenius, and Evagrius is absolutely impertinent, though it had been true 1768 BLACKSTONE Comm III xxvii 441 The master is to examine the witnesses of the full age of fourteen years and also of impertinent such matter must be sent 1812 MAR FIRTH North Tracts (1858) 57 He did not digress into impertinent episodes, but to the point 1878 WHARTON Law Lex (ed 5) 367/2 The Court may direct the costs occasioned by any impertinent matter to be taxed against the party improperly introducing it

3 Not suitable to the circumstances, incongruous, inappropriate, out of place not consonant with reason, absurd, idle, trivial, silly

1590 BARNFIELD Cynth Pleasure (1606) 53 Many impertinent questioners how and wherefore to cure this infirmity with many impertinent medicines 1631 WEEVER Anc Fun Mon 180 Then followeth the funerall obsequies, or impertinent ceremonies of funerall exposes 1664 J DAVIES tr Olearius Voy Ambass 80 The opinion the Muscovites have of themselves and their abilities, is such, that, without impertinent 1697 HALE Prim Orig Man I ii 73 In comparison of the all other Knowledge is vain, light and impertinent 1706 PHILLIPS (title) Impertinents, or, a Satyr upon the Times 1711 Lover I 4 For my part I think a Woman of Heart is the most impertinent part of the whole Body 1809 ROSCOE Nat Taunts I 121 The Princes was a more flagrant not impertinent folly than the smallest portion of ornament in anything concerned with a Hussar

†b Inappropriate, unsuited for (the)

1596 CAREW Huarte's Exam Wits (1616) 177 A power impertinent for curing Ibid 184 To make clothes pictures poppets and other childrens impertinent for man or mouse

†c Of persons, foolish, silly, ridiculous

1639 T BRUGIS Comm Mor Ecclus 9 No science a man hath, he is taken to be impertinent 1681 CHETHAM Angler's Vade M xxii 8 (1689) 84 I suspect myself to be Impertinent in saying, thus much of the Cobler, and Tinker 1711 STEELE Sp No 138 P 7 The Ladies whom I avoid, think I write Man the most Impertinent Creature living

4 Const to (unto) in senses 2 and 3

1532 MORE Confut Barnes 818 M Fayth Prove, as it is impertinent to the principall purpose 1598 Bird Dainty Cap, I thynke it not impertinent unto this matter 1656 HOBBES Elem Law II x (1889) 74

Imperturbation (impɔ̃tɜːbēi·ʃən) [ad L imperturbation-em (Jerome, c 420), f im- IM-[3] + perturbatio PERTURBATION.] Freedom from mental perturbation or agitation; calmness.

1648 W. MOUNTAGUE Devout Ess. I. xiii. § 2 In our copying of this equality and imperturbation, we must profess with the Apostle, We have not received the Spirit of the World, but the Spirit which is of God. 1892 M. LEONARD Camb. Freshman (1858) 16 Collectedness of faculties, and imperturbation of feature.

Imperturbed (impɔ̃tɜːbd), a [f IM-[2] + perturbed, pa. pple. of PERTURB v. cf L imperturbatus, in same sense.] Not perturbed or agitated, undisturbed, unmoved, unexcited.

1721 LEIBY, Imperturbed, undisturbed. Sense, clear, calm. 1816 SCOTT Old Mort. xxxvii, The imperturbed Cuddie who was one of those persons who do it easily take alarm at any thing. 1835 IRVING Tongues II. 40 Imperturbed rest.

Imperturbably, adv. rare. [f imperturbable* adj. (f IM-[2] + PERTURBABLE + -ITY[2]) + -LY[2].] Unexcitably.

1821 W. TAYLOR in Robberds Mem. I. 186, Proving that very smoothly polished and laboriously wrought Antigacobin poetry may be imperturbably dull.

† Imperverse, a. Obs. rare. [f IM-[1] + PERVERSE a.] Imperverse to, that persists.

1603 FLORIO Montaigne III. xiii. 532 Fiercest, relent no, fever imperverse to [Fr. ne rend pas].

Imperverse ritible, a. [f IM-[2] + PERVERTIBLE.] Incapable of being perverted.

1850 Q. Rev. June 2 He far seeing imperveritible adroitness of the venerated chief.

† Imperve stigable, a. Obs. rare. [f IM-[2] + persistigable* adj., f L. persistigare to search out thoroughly see -ABLE.] That cannot be thoroughly investigated or traced out.

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Imperestigable, that cannot be sought or found out. 1657-83 EVELYN Hort. Kalfe (1850) 121 His being . . . unsearchable and past finding out. 1699 Phil. Trans. XXI. 272 How imperverstigable is the depth of Wisdom.

Imperviable (impɜːvīəb'l), a. [f I impervi-us IMPERVIOUS + -ABLE.] Incapable of being penetrated or pass ed through, impervious, impermeable.

1816 SCOTT Antiq. xv, Strong thick paper, impervious by the curious system of the gossamer, or Arachnoidea Araneus. 1879 It renders [it] impermeable to water. 1867 H. CONSTABLE in Fortn. Rev. Nov. 608 An impervious coating of gold which every observer would restore.

Hence Impervia'bility, Impe'rviableness, sbs. imperviousness.

1828 Ind. Adm. XLVIII. 205 For imperviability and unhealthiness of climate, we may instance the vast forests of Ceylon. 1847 CRAIG, Imperviableness, imperviousness.

† Imperv'rial, a. Obs. rare. [f L imperi-um (see next + -AL.] = next, 1.

1618 CHAPMAN Biron II. 1. 161 But then the gusts so full, That doth the realm become imperial.

Impervious (impɜːvĭəs), a. [f L imperv-ius, f IM-[1] + pervius PERVIOUS.]

1 Through which there is no way; not affording passage (to), not to be pressed through or penetrated; impenetrable, impermeable, impassable.

1650 BULWER Anthropomet. 6 Any skin . . . which should make the Neck [of the womb] impervious. 1663 COWLEY Essays iii. Of Obs. Ode Horace iv. A wall impervious to Cannon Doubles the very Purchase. 1773-83 HOOLE Ord. Fur. XII. (R.) He wants no mail of proof whose skin was made Impervious to the javelin dart, or blade. 1774 PENNANT Tour Wales in 1772. 271 The western channel into it is impervious, by reason of rocks. 1807 J. THOMSON Chem. (ed. 3) II. 409 Brick and stone should be impervious to water. 1813 W. TAYLOR Eng. Synonyms (1856) 282 The river is impervious that cannot be fonded, and impassable which cannot be crossed. 1858 BUCKLE Civiliz. (1869) II. viii. 562 An impervious desert.

2 fig. That one cannot get through or penetrate, in mod. use chiefly of a person or his mind. Not affording passage or entrance (to argument, feeling, etc.), 'impenetrable'.

1650 R. STAFFTON Stradas Low C. Warres 137 What Councel chamber can be impervious or inaccessible to royal bountie? 1704 SELTHAM Dr. v. Nat. I. 30 It is under that evident and clear, which would have otherwise been impervious. 1849 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. V. 554 To reasons such as guide the conduct of statesmen and generals the minds of these zealots were absolutely impervious. 1857 BUCKLE Civiliz. I. xviii. 745 He had to deal with men impervious to argument.

Impe rviously, adv. [f prec. + -LY[2].] So as to be impervious, impenetrably.

1794 SELTHAM Hum. Nat. II. 293 Materials for an elucidation of a period almo t impervious ly involved in darkness. 1866 HOWITT Visit to Cuba (1838) I. viii. 111 The heavy wooden blinds [shut] imperviously.

Imperviousness (f as prec. + -NESS.) The quality of being impervious, impenetrability.

1797 in BAILEY vol. II. (Hooke in Johnson, etc.) 1869 PUNDALL Notes Past Light § 137 To a similar cause is due the whiteness and imperviousness of common salt, and of transparent bodies generally when crushed to powder. 1896 DR. ARGYLL Philos. Belief 77 A modification of the same substance supplies imperviousness to the passage of air.

† Impery, Obs. Also 4 imperi, 6 -ye, 6-7 -ie. Cf EMPERY [var. of EMPERY, a. OF empere (11th c.), assimilated to the original L imperi-um, supreme power, IMPERIUM, EMPIRE.]

1 Imperial or supreme rule or authority, command, dominion, sovereignty.

a1300 Cursor M. 22264 Alexin of pe Imperi [v.r. empire, empyre] of rome. 1535 Goodly Primer, Creed in Three Primers (1848) 41 The Devil with all his impery, subtelty, and malice. Hist. Ch. Confession 46 Honour, worship, impery, and rule be to thee, O Father. 1547 HOOPER Declar. Christ & Office vi. Wks. (Parker Soc.) 48 Him that hath the impery and dominion of death to say, the devil. 1604 LOOKER Ref. pope of Ch. 118 As for the Bishops they have superiority but no Impery. 1637 RUTHERFORD God's Plea 36 Hath God this impery over us?

2 An empire.

1598 FLORIO Ital. Dict. Impero, So should your Majestie have this your Worlde and Impery of England. c 1558 PHILPOT Exam. & Writ (Parker Soc.) 295 Ruled as these earthly kingdoms and imperies be.

3 A command, behest. rare.

1581 JASON HAUSWORTH Sermons Heresbach, At ease he doth my impery supplie fully!

Impesh, -e, obs. forms of IMPEACH.

Impest (impɛst), v. Also 7 em-. [ad F empêst-er Montaigne, 1588, f. en- IM-[1] + peste Pest, plague: with substitution of L im- for en-.] To infect with a plague or pestilence. Hence Impesta tion, the action of impesting.

a1618 SELDEN Honour's Ess. wellgo A Souldier vested of worldly Pomp . . . hath much the World impested. 1653 a 1738 Lord Clarend. 1808 I. Parson Colomb. 146 See the black Prison Ships expressly made Impested those undequick and Contagious. 1844 H. D. HOWDEN Hist. Epidemics Med. Facts 21, the same attempt at imprestion had been directly often made in earlier times. 1882 Med. Times 30 July 99 Bisopt then spared the Calcutta Medical College Hospital during Dr. Mouat's an imbency and impested it in mine.

† Impe ster, v. Obs. Also 7 em-. [a OF empestrer (now empêtrer) to pester, intricate, in tangle.—Cotgr.] f. late L. impastoriare* (L im pastojare), f. im- (IM-[1]) + late L. pastorium, a. It pastoia, pastora a shackle, or hopple for a horse.] trans. To hobble (a horse), to entangle, embarrass, encumber. Hence † Impe sterment, an entanglement, embarrassment, encumbrance.

1601 [see IMPASTURE]. 1611 FLORIO Montaigne, impestered 1646 SIR J. PETTUS Fleta Reliq. II. 3 Finding the City to grow daily more and more impastured with strangers. 1652 THOMAS MAY Hist. Parl. III. 1. 78 He would but intangle the noble youth in the impestrements. 1653 Rabelais II. xxv. The two cables . . . intangled and impestered the legs of the horses. 1658 W. SOMNER Antiq. (1824) 221 Such mean position of the foot, as might incontinently impester the legs of the Hoppingtois.

† Impet, Obs. rare In 5 ympet [ad* I impetus violent impulse.] = IMPETUS 1.

c1440 Gesta Rom. xxxvi. (Harl. MS.) He saws con [ship] drainge with a grete ympet Impeteous, obs. var. IMPETUOUS.

Impeticos, v. A burlesque word put into the mouth of a fool, app. as a person-noun of impocket, and perh. intended to suggest petticoat.

1601 SHAKS. Twel. N. II. iii. 97 I sent thee sixe pence for thy I emon [read old lemon], hadst it? Clo. I did impeticos thy gratillity.

Impetiginous (impɪtɪ·dʒĭnəs), a. [ad L impetiginos-us, f impetigo cf mod L impetigi·nea (Lattre.)] Pertaining to or of the nature of impetigo, 'scurfy, covered with small scabs' (J.).

1820 VENNER Via to Health (1860) 282 Itch tetters, and the like impetiginous affects in the flesh and skin. 1857 HUGHES in Phil. Trans. II. 80 Impetiginous disorders very common both in Maryland and Virginia. 1897 Allbutt's Syst. Med. II. 758 Of a strongly pediculous use to a considerable extent liable to impetiginous eczema

† Impetigo (impɪtəi·gō) Pl impetigines (-dʒĭnēz). [L impetigo, f. impetere to assail, attack: cf vertigo.]

A name given to various pustular diseases of the skin, and in pl. to such diseases in general.

Most of the diseases now so called are non-febrile and non-contagious, but impetigo contagiosa is an acute contagious disease with febrile symptoms.

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. R. VII. lxvii (1495) 278 Impetigo is a dyse scabbe that comyth of more fyry nge and fyry matere than Serpigo. 1597 ANDREW Boorde's Dyrrell Health (N.), The same water withdryeth impetigines. 1666 Adds hopeful yng Gentry Eng. 20 The scrofula and luxurious impetigines of foul humors. 1803 Med. Journ. IX. 565 The leprosy of the Romans before the time of Cicero was the impetigo. 1876 DUNGLISON Dis. Skin 78 Vesico pustules are seen in . . . contagious impetigo.

Impetious, obs. var. IMPETUOUS.

† Impeti tion Obs. [n of action from L. impetire (ppl. stem impetit-) to assail attack, f im- (IM-[1]) + petere to seek. (Used, app. from similarity of form, as noun of action to IMPEACH.)] = IMPEACHMENT 4.

1530 Act 22 Hen. VIII, c. 15 All acompters and all actions suites and impetitions for the same. 1605-6 Act 3 Jas. I, c. 7 § 10 All manner of Decrees and Offences all Impetitions and Extortions for the same. 1624 GEE Foot out of Snare App. 09 The most of their impetition is a general railing against my discourses. [1702 STRYPE Eccl. Mem II. xix. 402 (in 1559) To have the presence with impetition of waste during the life of the said Arch bishop.]

Impetuous, obs. var IMPETUOUS.

† Impetrable, a. Obs. [ad L impetrabilis, f impetrare see IMPETRATE v. and BLE cf F impétrable (1406 in Hatz.-Darm.)]

1 That may be impetrated or obtained

1616 BULLOKAR Impetrable, which may be obtained. 1628 HOMMES Hon. 3d (1824) 249 Hope of pardon either impetrable by words or purchasable by money.

2 Capable of obtaining or effecting something, successful

1599 NASHE Lenten Stuffe 21 How impetrable her wits in mollifying the ad mantiness tyranny of mankinde † Impetrant, a. Obs. [ad L impetrant-em prec. pple. of impetrāre see IMPETRATE v. and -ANT. Cf F impétrant (1468 in Godef. Compl.)]

That impetrates or obtains

1624 F. WHITE Repl. Fisher 572 In the state and order of causes impetrant, or dispositive conditions. Ibid. 577 They may be used as dispositions and causes impetrant and not as causes properly or contingently meritorious.

† Impetrate, pa. pple. Obs. Sc. -at. [ad L impetrat-us, pa. pple. of impetrāre, see next.] Obtained by request, esp. by application to an authority; impetrated. (Const. chiefly as pa. pple.)

1528 GARDINER in Pocock Rec. Ref. I. 103 The said Commissioners might be, by an inhibition impetrate on his behalf, frustrate and letted. 1605 SIR J. SKENE Reg. Maj. 69 If the breive is impetrat and raised . . . the issue sall proceid. 1609 Ir. Statutes 4 Conveyances made Concealments Personal protections to debtors were most abusively impetrate. 1721 A. WODROW Hist. Sufferings Ch. Scot. (1828) I. 11. 91 This was not the deed of Scotland but impetrate at London.

Impetrate (impɪtrēi·t), v. [f I impetrat- ppl. stem of impetrāre to obtain by request or exertion, to procure, effect, f im- (IM-[1]) + patrare to bring to pass, accomplish, achieve.]

1 trans. To obtain by request or entreaty, to procure. Now chiefly Theol. (also in Rom. Law).

1533-4 Act 25 Hen. VIII, c. 14 The clergy did impetrate and obteine by auctorite of parliament that it shulde be lefull [etc.] 1550 J. CHEKE Hurt of Sedition § 61 1577 76 To impetrate a sanifconduct for hym. 1651 C. CARTWRIGHT Cert. Relig. I. 214 Good workes, which I hee calle Merits because they doe impetrate or obtaine a reward. 1692 Cert. Grave Conditional 5 That the Price paid by Christ did fully impetrate, merit and purchase at the Fathers hands, the perfect and compleat Redemption of his Elect. 1869 GOULBURN Pers. Relig. v. ii. (1873) 85 Powerful to impetrate from Him the highest blessings. 1880 MUIRHEAD Rom. Digest 491 A convey ance by which land impetrated by fraudulent representations absol. a 1643 J. SMITH Judgem. & Mercy (1645) 19 Christ promises not to say that good works have the place of prayer with God, and impetrate

† b To bring to pass, procure, effect. Obs.

1650 WARD Simple Cobler (1867) 71 Me thinks it should impetrate a Royall Redemption

2 To entreat, request, beseech, ask for. Now rare.

c 1565 LINDESAY (PITSCOTTIE) Chron. Scot. (1778) 46 To come straight to the Queen Clemency to impetrate for my Offence. 1651 BIGGS Acta Dei 8 So it is to be impetrated of God alone that he would vouchsafe [etc.]. 1681-6 SCOTT Chr. Life (1747) III. 5 In fact on the Part of the Subject is impetrating, the Supreme Power and Protection. 1818 SCOTT Rob Roy ix, A slight testimonial at which I thought fit to impetrate from that worthy nobleman. MACAULAY More 1892 R. W. DIXON Hist. Ch. Eng. IV. 369 Application was made for a prolongation of his life which the land of Derby impetrated on his knees to the Queen

† b To entreat or beseech (a person, etc.)

1881 F. G. LEE R. Barentyne VII. 103 Then we impetrate Fate and abide our lot

Impetration (impɛtrēi·ʃən) [ad L impetrā-tion-em obtaining by request, achievement, n of action from impetrāre see prec. Perh. in early instances a AF impetracioun (1292 in Britton).]

The action of impetrating

1 The action of obtaining or procuring by request or entreaty. (Chiefly Theol.)

1528 Bp. Rochester to Cardinal in Dec (Jam. Suppl.) For the impetracioun of quhatsumeuir pruilege or fredomes thocht to thame profitable. 1546 Heir Lent (W. de W. 1556) 169 Impetracyon is ye optayninge of ye petycyon. 1681 PRAYER Meth. Grace To Rdr. 18 The former part contains the method of grace in the impetration thereof by Jesus Christ. 1894 JANE Cornwall & Its Holiness 287 No prayer has such a power of impetration as that which comes from a will conformed to the will of God

b Law The obtaining (of a writ) a 1648 LD. HERBERT Hen. VIII (1683) 392 The said Cardinal did not know the impetration of the said Bulls to have been to the Contempt and Prejudice of the King. 1798 in Knox Amer. Tracts I. 54 That more than three years had elapsed from rendering the judgment complained of, and the date and impetration of the plaintiff's writ

c 1 The pre-obtaining of such benefices in England from the court of Rome, which belonged to the gift and disposition of the king, and other lay-patrons of this realm' (Tomlins Law Dict.)

[1363 Act 38 Edw. III, Stat. II. Assai des impetracions & provisions, faites en mesme la Court de Rome, des benefices & offices desglise appertenantz a la donacion notre dit si le Roi.] 1484 St. Acts Jas. III (1814) 166 (Jam.) Anent impetracionis made in the Court of Rome in contrare our souuerane lordis priuilege. 1494 St. Acts Jas IV (1597) § 53 The impetration and purchasing at the court of Rome benefices elections. 1898 PROTHERO Hist. Eng. II. 7 That penalties should be attached to all impetration of benefices from Rome by purchase or otherwise

2 Petition, entreaty, supplication, request

1892 BRITTON I. xxxii. § 23 Par diligentes impetracionus

ed it esse. demaunde, transl. for that by continual claims he has been demanded] 1618 Gainsford Lyon in Hay Lyon in Mist Hist. Hib. (1793) 64 The king went thither (to Our Lady of Walsingham) for the impetration of prosperity in his affairs, and overthrow and dissipation of his enemies. 1650 Bedingfield Hythe 212 He should reap some fruit of his own successful impetration. 1798 W. Wilberforce Let. to Han. Moore 168 You, I have before expressed my earnest impetration that you would bear in mind [etc.] 1873 H. Cotton Hobart Coll. Ch. xvii. 196 Christ's own impetration. 'That they all may be one' must yet be answered. 1897 Maitland in Eng. Hist. Rev. Oct. 651 In the letter of impetration it may be [a litigant in the ecclesiastical courts] sent to Rome he named the persons whose appointment he desired.

Impetrative (i mpe·trătiv), a. rare [ad. L. impetrātīv-us, f. ppl. stem of impetrare see Impetrate v. and -ive.] = Impetratory.

1612–15 Br. Hall Contempt., V. Ch. vi. O Saviour thy prayers, which were most perfect and impetrative. 1698 Brambhall Replic. iv. 92 An imperative, Sweetheart or an impetration of the fruit and benefit of his Passion by way of peril? Prayer. 1884 R. S. Storrs Hom. Orthod. iv. 110 (Funk) [The mass] is to them a eucharistic and an impetrative sacrifice.

Impetrator (i mpetrē·tər), a. rare [ad. L. impetrātōr-em, agent-n. f. impetrare to Impetrate.] One who impetrates or entreats.

1605 A. Willet Hexapla in Genesis 138 A blessing may be asked of them [angels] as the impetrators and intercessors for the same.

Impetratory (i mpe·trători), a. [f. I impetrate, ppl. stem of impetrare + -ory. Cf. It. impetratorio.] Having the quality of obtaining by or as by request. (Chiefly Hist.) 1612–15 Br. Hall Contempt. iv. 6 In the level motion of a thought was that impetratory 1651 Jer. Taylor Holy Dying iv. § 3 Almsdeeds are preparatory to, and impetratory of the grace of Repentance. 1659 Jn. Brown Sermon (1674) 1 in 38 Such mentioned but an impetratory Motive. 1881 J. F. Bingham Hist. Holy Eucharist II. 139 Both as an impetratory or supplicatory, and as a propitiatory or satisfactory sacrifice.

†Impetre, v. Obs. Also 5 empetre empetor [MF., a. OF. empetrer (13th c.), impetrer (14th c.), and L. impetrare see Impetrate v.]

1. trans. = Impetrate v. 2.

1378 Carmac Booth in 123 (Camb. MS.) But mi3t nat ajrached no rather or but men be sekyn it and impetrent [of 1532 impetrent] it. a 1450 Ant. de la Tour (1868) 51 This impetrithe [1483 Caxton Dity. empetra] grace for them that be alyve. 1483 Caxton Cato D iij, empetra[te] grace of them that be alyve. 1483 Caxton Cato D iij, empetra[te] grace of them that be alyve. 1483 Caxton Cato D iij, empetra[te] grace of them that be alyve. 1483 Caxton Cato D iij, empetra[te] grace of them that be alyve.

impetred of our barde thy tribulation shalde be, to the behlie of the soule. 1494 Fabyan Chron. vii. (1533) II. 153 b [They] rode to the kynge to empetre grace for the vyle knyghtes.

2. = Imperate v. 1 b.

a 1450 Ant. de la Tour (1868) 14 I estinge humbilith the herte, and impertue[th] pardon and grace of God. 1483 Caxton Cato D iij, To lyue and impetre of them somme good after they dyede. 1500 Melusine 14 Ye shyl impetre that he hath impetred to oure moder by hys falshed.

Impetulant (impe·tiulant), a. rare—° [f. Im- + Petulant.] Not petulant or peevishly impatient; free from petulance.

Hence Impe·tulantly adv., without petulance.

1881 in T. G. Hammersley's Pat. Cases (1888) 197 To receive patiently and impetulantly Impetuosity (impe·tiuɔ·siti) [a. F. impétuosité (13th c. in Godefroy Compl.), ad. L. impetuositās, f. impetuōs-us see next and -ity.]

The quality or character of being impetuous, sudden or violent energy of movement, action etc.; vehemence. a of physical things, or actions 1585 J. Washington Nicholay's Voy. in xi. 46 The wynde and the rayne tooke vs vpon vs with such a furious and impetuosite. 1660 P. Brooke tr. Lubinus's Four Seas The tide runs with such fury and impetuousness, as it wins mountains rolled up in water. 1688 A. Lyttle tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 289 We entred the Town with so great Fury, and Impetuosity, that the besieged beguen (sic) to run. 1790 Burton Nat. & Mil. Mem. I. 244 They came down from the heights with the greatest impetuosity and lay in their attack on the west of Hadley. 1811 Pinkerton Petrol. II. 546 Flames issued forth with great impetuosity. 1839 Thirlwall Greece IV. 181 Their left wing was almost immediately broken by the superior impetuosity of his charge.

b of feelings, temper, disposition, etc.

1639 Du Verdier Canini Adonis Iwenty-t. Being not able any longer to brake the impetuosity of his appetites. 1749 Fielding Tom Jones VI. v. You know the impetuosity of my brother's temper. 1872 Black Adv. Phaeton viii. This amiable self-discipline struggling with her ordinary frank impetuosity.

c with pl. An instance of this quality, an impetuous movement, action, or feeling

1632 Litthgow Trav. x. 478 Ind angered by violent and extreme impetuosities of anger. 1744 Harris Hermes (ed. 3) (1765) 271 The Impulses of Appetite, the Impetuosities of Resentment may tempt us. 1815 Hist. Mr. J. Beaufain IV. 253 Sometimes, with all her impetuosities, has, we confess, alw ys been a favourite with us Impetuous (impe·tiuəs), a. Forms a 4 impetuious, 5 impetuouse, ympetuous, impytuous, 6 impytuous, (-petous), 6 petuous β 5 inpeteous, (6 impeteous, -piteous, -pyteous, (-pytous, -pietouse), 6–7 impetious, 7 -pitious [a. F. impétueux, -euse (13th c. in Littré) ad. L. impetuōs-us, f. impetu-s (see below and -ous).

The β forms suggest association with pit-eous.]

1. Of physical things or actions. Having much impetus, moving with great force or violence, or characterized by violent motion, very rapid, forcibly rushing, violent c 1489 Caxton Blanchardyn xxxi. 122 A right quick & impetuouse tempeste rose. 1541 R. Coplande Compyn's Introyt. 3 b, b) Of the diuyson & impetuous 1600 J. Walker (& Wadesalle 14 b, A whirl wind so strongly impetuous that it turned those that beheld it. 1692 Ray Diurnal World (ed. 3) 232 That great and impetuous River. 1794 S. Williams Vermont 98 Strength to resist the most impetuous winds, etc. 1832 Tennyson Lilian xv. The river is much swollen . its current more impetuous. Ib. xxxiii. To Bosworth Coll. Mr. Mr. I. 1526 Ch. Roring and impetuous sea. 1832 Bonnin Pic. Views (1837) 53 Great and impetuous fire impetuous Wyndes. 1547 Introit Homil. xxi. 176 Gre. of impetuous wyndes. 1602 Shaks. Ham. v. v. 30 The Ocean . Exceeds not the Hills with more impetuous haste. 1615 Crooke Body of Man 175 Kinde of humble violence and impetuous motion

2 Of feelings, etc., or of personal action or disposition, and hence of persons. Acting with or marked by great, sudden, or rash energy, vehement, violent, passionate, ardent 1398 Trevisa Barth. De P. R. xix. (Tollem MS.) Che the heuenly bodies be swyfter and more mobile and impetuous. 1405 impetuous, 1535 impetuous, Lat. inestibilis, impetuosi. 1425 Found. St. Bartholomew's 21 E. I. 5 [It is] wild and full of spreyl, impetuous hostylyte. 1548 Patten Expedicion Scotland (1819) 29 Amonthat it is a more impetuous spirit than nother. 1660 J. Brooke tr. Lubinus's Four Seas 298 His daughter had so impetuous a Love and passion for him. 1751 Johnson Rambler No. 197 P. 11 The impetuous wishes of youth. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. III. 170 After death was an impetuous lover. 1873 Jowett Plato ed. 2 II. 10 Unless the impetuous be ready to go at that which others are afraid to approach

Impe·tuously, adv. [f. prec. + -ly.] In an impetuous manner, with great impetus or force, violently, vehemently, with sudden or rash energy

1485 Caxton Chas. C. 104 The ryver runneth so impetuously as it ioyned out of an habytatyue. 1490 Eneydos xxxiii. A whirle wynde . came impetuously vpon the flote. 1590 Spenser F. Q. II. xii. 18 [They] round about him flocke impetuously. 1604 Towerson Expos. Decalogue 120 Motions of Spirits more impetuously drawn the nerues than ments. 1834 H. Newman Lat. Serm. (1847) I. 11. 141 That are impetuously led on by words, acts. 1871 H. Spencer Princ. Biol. I. 6 Heavy rushed impetuously into the room

Impe·tuousness. [f. as prec. + -ness.] The quality of being impetuous, impetuosity

1 = Impetus. 1597 Northumberland Ho. 140 Hastily he went whether the impetuousness of the inundous waued cues impelled him. 1630 Tom Ashe Magnet 8 Helpon, the ship's impetuousness. 1665 Sir T. Herbert Travels (ed. 2) 208 Sandesson Serm. (1681) II. 56 We shall soon run into all extremities of evil with the greatest impetuousness that can be. 1675 Int. Concerns 11 An impetuousness of our desires. 1711 W. King tr. Vanbrugh's Aesop 15 Those great rivers which flow with such impetuousness. 1875 Jowett Thucydides II. 9 Polemarchus has the fruitlessness and impetuousness of youth

Impetus (impītəs) [a. L. impetus assault, onset, violent impulse, violence force, vehemence, f. impet-ere to rush upon, attack, assail, f. in (Im-) + petere to seek.]

1 The force with which a body moves or maintains its velocity and overcomes resistance, energy of motion, impulse, momentum

1656 Hobbes Six Less. Wks. 1845 VII. 2 5 The quantity of the motion may be equal to the quantity of time. 1667 Phil. Trans. II. 440 The Ball being by the Impetus acquired in descending, carried downwards. 1717 J. Keill Anim. Oecon. (1738) 62 The blood was successively received into the arteries from the Ventricles contracting themselves. 1794 Sullivan View of Nat. II. 169 What is impetus or force in a body moving? 1858 Simon's Physiol. 124 Whether the stream retains sufficient impetus to carry it to our shores

b Gunnery The altitude due to the initial velocity of a projectile, i.e. the space through which it must fall to attain an equal velocity, the force of projection as measured by this

1807 Hutton Course Math. II. 274 Having given the Direction, and the Impetus, or Altitude due to the First Velocity of a Projectile, to determine the Greatest Height to which it will rise. 1828 J. M. Sherman Pract. Gunnery 249 The space due to the initial velocity is called the impetus

2 In reference to immaterial things as feelings, actions etc. Moving force, impulse, stimulus 1641 Smectymnuus Answ. Remonstr. 22 After that first heate and impetus of reformation the business went on no further. 1649 J. Hall Motion to Lord Fairfax 20 To pursuite the hints and impetus of the diuine motion thus. 1669 N. Salmon Estr. Hist. Mar. (London) 297 Such juvenile impetuses ought to be repressed. 1774 M. Sexby Hist. Mar. III. 122 Struggling with the violent impetus of a particular lust. 1830 Hazlitt in Table Talk 1. 173 What also gives an unusual impetus to the mind of men at this period was the discovery of the New World. 1870 Yeats Growth of Comm. 238 Fugitive Huguenots gave a fresh impetus to weaving.

Impeyan (impāiən), a. (sb.) Also Impeian [Named by Latham, 1787, after Sir Elijah and Lady Impey, who tried to bring living specimens of the bird to England.]

Impeyan pheasant a kind of Fast Indian pheasant (Lophophorus impeyanus) with crested head, the male has plumage of brilliant metallic hues

The name is sometimes extended to other species of Lophophorus. b Of or pertaining to this pheasant

c as sb. = Impeyan pheasant

1870 Peaise Dumb Fur Sports (ed. 3) 277 The Impeyan pheasant called by the Indians the bird of gold. 1889 Jall Mall Mag. June 1 A forest of Impeyan, Argus, and Japanese pheasants. 1896 Harper's Mag. Jan. 2 The hat has been trimmed with shimmering Impeyan feather

†Impheo (i mfiō). Also impho [imph- (native name in Natal)] A species of sugar cane, Andropogon saccharatus Roxb. (Holcus Imm., Sorghum Pers.), also called African or Chinese Sugar-cane, Broom Corn, Sorgho and Hunter's Tyfetel 1880 Veg. Kingdom Australia 27 The impheo (Hunter's Tyfetel is well adapted to the Queen land climate 1893 Watt Dict. Econ. Prod. India VI. iii. 279 The impheo has been extensively grown in Mysore and Assam, the plant of the former country having, I think, reached the latter the Sorgho which is mainly cultivated on account of sugar

†Imphy gate, v. Obs. rare [f. Im- + med Phrygiare to embroider, var. pingere, opere Phrygio ornare.] To embroider, work in cut roidery 1592 R. D. Hypnerotomachia 491 Little flying Pyde excellently imphygated of Mosaicall pointure.

‡Impi. [Zulu, = body of companies of people, esp of armed men.] A body of Caffre warriors, a force detachment, army 1879 Daily Tel. 11 May, A Zulu impi managed to cut off the chiefs cattle and to kill some of his followers. 1885 Harper's Mag. Mar. 623 Hlyssee drove down through the Undi Impi at Isandhlwana. 1888 Rider Haggard Montezuma's Daughter I. 3 The men looking like a flight shift of the spears of Umbezi impi coming rapidly down.

†Impiate, v. Obs. rare—° [f. L. impiat-, ppl. stem of impiare to render impious, defile with sin, f. impius Impious.] trans. To pollute, defile Hence †Impia·tion sb., defilement

1623 Cockeram Impiate to defile with dishonor te 1658 Phillips Impiation, a defiling

†Impicate, v. Obs. rare [f. L. impicat- ppl. stem of impicare, f. im (Im-) + pix, pic-em Pitch.] trans. = To cover with pitch. Cockeram 1623

Impicture (impi·ktiuə) v. Also 6 en-, 9 em [f. Im- + Picture.]

1 trans. To represent as in a picture; to portray 1520–30 [see Impictured] 1789 Mem. Mrs. Hutchinson 1. 7 She [i.e. the wife of John Hutchinson] had on pictures both in and out. 1796–7 Hutchinson Excurs. Cumberl. Spring 36 Like passing clouds impictured on thy breast. 1840 Chamb. Journ. 5 Dec. 1 Like to the smooth stucco surface of which the church and church tower were impictured in miniature

†2 To impress as with a picture. Obs.

1596 Spenser Hierarch. 163 His pallid face, impictured with death

Hence Impi·ctured ppl. a. portrayed depicted

1814 Guy Dent Vaudois 10 The shape return of an impictured lineaments

Impier, obs. form of Empire Umpire

Impire rce, var. of Imperce v.

†Impire rceable, a Obs. Also 4–6 perceable 6 per-, 7 -peare perceable [f. Im- + Pierceable Perh. representing an Or. imperceable*.] Not pierceable, that cannot be pierced 1387–8 I. Trev. Higden (Rolls) I. 45 Yearnen ȝyue sentraunce vnto alle debtes, with impeirceable herte. 1590 Spenser F. Q. I. xi. 37 Never felt his impierce able breast wondrous force to make of hearts, wight. 1647 Ward Simple Cobler 7 Your weapons and armour impierceable 1691 T. Taylor Ichnæa Thales Dubio 189 So impierceable are their Rocky Hearts

Impiety (impəiəti). Also 4 impite [a. F. impiété (12th c. in Littré), impietet-em f. quality f. impius see Impious and -ity.] Want of piety, that which is the opposite of piety a 1340 Hampole Psalter xxxvi. 1 Holde fayrnesse and ymage of fayre impite. All bewicchednesse and impite of their neighbour, is in impite, & unrest gode. 1548 Hall Chr. Edw. IV 20 The mother of this pernicious impiety was a wicked priest. 1600 J. Pory tr. Leo Africanus 70 The impiety of Arrius and other heretikes. 1776 Gibbon D. & F. I. 257 The titles of the Deputy were accepted by Boniface with impiety. Such extravagant emphimisms however, soon lose their impiety by losing their meaning. 1875 Jowett tr. Plato (ed. 2) I. 10 The impiety of those, who deny the existence of the gods.

1 Want of reverence for God or religion, irreligion, ungodliness, unrighteousness, wickedness

b With an and pl. An instance of this, an impious or wicked turn of ungodly action, practice etc.

1549 Compl. Scotland (1872) 11 Sen I ha, built it sene to euery man to se ye impiete not to saye the impiete. 1611 Bible 2 Tobias iii. 9 When I came thither and had seen impieties without number 1743 J. Morse Serm. 19 He did not immediately chastise for their impieties. 1897 P. Ward Sir Talks Old Knows 40 Such were by the most impious of impieties that he would be its enemy

2 Absence of natural piety or of child to parent, want of dutifulness, hence, want of reverence or respect in general

1588 Shaks. Tit. And. v. iii. 82 Barr him where you can he comes not here. 1600 My Lord this is impiety in you My Nephew Mumps deads the plaid for him 1674 tr. Sch. Arist. Upstand. It were impiety to believe the Tall since experience shews us the contrary 1734 Lex Servorum (Cant. MSS.) 244 Can you think it less impiety to contemn and vilify a brother? 1895 Daily News 2 Nov. 6/8 All this trivial chatter about the mere externals of De Quincey's life leaves up in our mind a disgust like impotence. It is impiety in its antique meaning. Mod. Agross instance of blind impiety.

†Impight, pa. ppl. Obs. Also in: see also IMPITCH [pa. pple. of impitch, f. IM- + PITCH v.] Pitched or planted in, implanted inserted

1598 LLOYD Archb. Bp. Ans. iii. (1599) 169 The house hath hollow and rounde, for the figure and wholly no shadow by the reedy or wyndie thrum 1633 P. FLETCHER Purple Isl. xi. xxxix, Yet in her side deep was the wound impight

†Impignorate, pa. ppl. Obs. [ad. med.L. impignorat-us pa. pple. of impignorare, f. IM- (IM-1) + pignus, pignor- pledge, pawn, mortgage: cf. F. impigner to pledge.] Pledged, pawned, mortgaged 1548 HALL Chron. Hen. VI 58 b, (Duke) borrowed money, and for the repayment of the same had mortgaged and impignorate their lande. 1683-4 H. ROSE Enemy of Anti-Christ (Appellate, 1.) Her payment he gave the lands of Kinsessan impignorate to him for 500 merks.

Impignorate (impi·gnŏrĕt), v. Chiefly Sc. Also -pigner- [f. med.L. ppl. stem impignorat- see prec.] trans. To place in pawn to pledge, pawn, mortgage a 1659 SPOTTISWOOD Hist. Ch. Scot. an. (1637) 219 The Lord had impignorated his estate 1656 BROOME Glossogr., Impignerate. 1732 F. LEWINS Scots Wks. 1791 II 7 In his wealth he impignorates his holiness 1754 ERSKINE Inst. Scots Law (1809) 217 A widow is a right by which lands, or other heritable subjects are impignorated to the proprietor in his creditor in security of his debt 1880 Harwood's Bell 17 Sept. 177 When Orkney and Shetland were impignorated to the Crown of Scotland

Impignoration, impi·gnŏrē·ʃən [ad. med.L. impignoration-em n. of action f. impignorare see prec.] The action or fact of impignorating, pledging, pawning, mortgage

1598 BARCLAY Sat. I. 151 All investments, reprisals, and impignorations of what ever goods and merchandises in England and Ireland are from henceforth quite, free, and released 1646 Christmas Day Bp. Hall in Rushw. Hist. Coll. (1659) I. 447 A full Impignoration whereby the Estates personal and real of the Accomptants are made liable to be sold for the discharge of their debts 1826 SCOTT Mal. Malthus 11 In the impignoration of mortgages

†Impi·grity Obs. rare [ad. L. impigritat-em, n. of quality f. impiger, impigr- I. IM- (IM-2) + piger slow, sluggish.] Sluggishness

1623 COCKERAM Impigritie quicknesse, diligence 1656 in BLOUNT Glossogr. 1658 in PHILLIPS 1721 in BAILEY

†Impigrous, a. Obs. rare [f. impiger see prec.] = next

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr. Impigrous, diligent quick, ready not slow

†Impi·le, v. Obs. rare [f. IM-1 + PILE sb.] trans. To surround or enclose with piles or stakes

1633 P. FLETCHER Purple Isl. II. xxx. These three [common fish] strand impile Hegement, and all the other sort

†Impi·llor, v. Obs. rare [f. IM-1 + PILLOR v.] = PILLORY 1 trans. To put in the pillory, to pillory

1645 W. HOOKE New England Sion's But these have been Imprisoned, Impillored, fined 1684 [T. TRYON] Way's Health (1857) I. 269, 3 to be transported and one to be impillored

†Impi·ng (impi·ŋ), sbl. sb. [IMP v. + -ING1.] The action of the verb IMP, grafting, engrafting, the repairing of a hawk's wing with adscititious feathers In quot 1340 contr. a shoot, scion, 'imp'

a 1340 HAMPOLE Psalter cviii. 13 Whos sunnys ne ben unpynnes in hare youthede 1440 Prompt. Parv. Impyngge, Pynsion or graffinge, inoculacio 1575 TURBERV. Falconrie 277 The best manner of pyping is, when a feather is not quite broken off but loosned 1616 SURFL. & MARKH. Country Farme 352 To the end that you may not fail of this worke of imping 1852 R. B. BORTON Falconry in Brit. & Ireland 30 When the cut or fracture is so accidentally broken the falconer performs the process of imping, by neatly sewing and binding to the shaft a similar one which exactly matches the lost part b attrib. as Imping needle.

1575 TURBERV. Falconrie 277 With an ymping needle layde in Vynegar and Salte, so shall them together is this may be thought to be one feather 1674 N. COX Gentl. Recreat. II. (1677) 213 If a Feather be broken or brussed he must have his Imping needles.

Impinge (impi·nj) v. [ad. I. impingĕre orig. trans. to push, strike, drive (at or into) thrust strike, or dash against), f. IM- (IM-1) + pangĕre to fix drive in.]

1 trans. To force or thrust (a thing) upon any one, to fasten or fix on forcibly rare.

1535 JOYE Apol. Tindale 1 This with other hys monstrous trymmes whiche he impingeth vnto me in his postle 1825 NOR. SMITH Sp. Wks. 1859 II. 198 If this method of appealing, to the absurdities of the laity, and impinging them upon the present age in fact and jest

2 To strike, dash, hurl a thing upon something else rare.

1666 G. HARVEY Stomma Suevum 5 Before they did impinge them elves and the Vessel, upon some new and worse dangers 1829 T. I. PEACOCK Misfort. Elphin xi. He impinged his foot with a force that overbalanced himself

3 To strike, to come into forcible contact with, collide with Now rare or Obs.

1777 Gentleman 17 On board, impinged by another ball it will spon for some little time on its own center 1794 ADAMS Nat. & Rev. Philos. II. xv. 139 Myriads (particles of light) can move all manner of ways without impinging one another 1816 I. PLAYFAIR Reading, Hull 10 The degree of force with which I have impinged the surface

4 inter. To strike or dash, to come into violent or energetic contact, to collide Const. on, upon, also against, with.

1605 T. PONET Relat. Life Jesuites Papist 38 The vessels impinged 1621 BURTON Anat. Mel. I. ii. (1676) 134 A ship that hath a good old Pilot must needs impinge upon the next rock or sands and suffer shipwrack 1727 J. KETT Hum. Reason (1728) 10 The Ventricles, when they contract impinge upon the Blood, and expel it 1774 GOLDSM. Nat. Hist. Birds (1776) I. 176 Provided we know the weights of the two bodies and their swiftness before they impinged 1796 ANSON in Phil. Trans. LXXXVI. 180 The inclination of the masts and sails and the direction in which the wind impinges on them 1881 Every Man his own Mechanic § 1530 A flame which by means of the blowpipe is caused to impinge upon the charcoal

b Soul of waves of light, sound and the like

1672 NEWTON in Phil. Trans. VII. 5087 Those, when they impinge on any Refracting or Reflecting superficies, must excite vibrations in the ambient 1872 HUXLEY Phys. viii. 209 Ether waves which enter the meatus all impinge upon the membrane of the drum 1878 FOSTER Phys. III. ii. 397 The lines according, to which rays of light impinging on the retina give rise to sensory impulses c fig.

1614 F. FORBES Def. Tavvfull Munsters § 19 'Tis they still reason, ab authoritate negativa, and so doe impinge, finally, in all the sottes above specified 1854 GLADSTONE Islam IV. xxiii. 158 Here we impinge upon a dilemma hard to withstand

5 To encroach or infringe on or upon

1758 WARBURTON Div. Legat. Pref., Wks. 1811 IV. 59 Nor did the heat of reformation carry him to impinge upon any established Rights 1816 Quarterly Rev. XV. 390 Here must be as many impinging particles in the one, as there are gravitating particles in the other 1844 RUSKIN Drama of Choice (1882) I. 7 The power of reflection in whatever varies with the angle of the impinging ray Impingement (impi·ndʒmĕnt) [f. IMPINGE + -MENT.] The action of impinging 2 Impact, collision rare—1 Obs.

1672 Hen. Nonnan, Contents, Prelatick exactions high impingements upon Christian Liberty 1837 Fraser's Mag. V. 71 The powers of reason have no similar incentives or impingements 1871 Macm. I. 270 Their impingement from the Deity 1889 DENNET Ogilvie II. iii. 118 His tide wave meets its modified in its turn by impingement against the Mexican continent 1879 H. GEORGE Progr. & Pov. X. iii. 358 1-4 The effect of the impingement of civilization upon barbarism

Impingent (impi·ndʒĕnt) a. rare [ad. L. impingent-em, pres. pple of impingĕre to IMPINGE.] Impinging

1759 PRIESTLEY in Phil. Trans. LI. 262 The immense velocity of the impingent body 1846 Sat. Mag. cited in WORCESTER

†Impi·gnuate, v. Obs. [f. ppl. stem of late L. impinguāre, f. IM- (IM-1) + pingu-is fat] trans. To make fat, to fatten

1620 VENNER Via Recta 85 It impinguateth and enableth the body to wax in grosse. 1666 C. HARVEY Mark Ingl. xvii. 214 Rhenish Wines do accidentally impinguate 1693 J. STEVEN De Quint Origg. Trees 10 That the Mass of Wine differing, and much the Purest [impinguated]

Hence Impi·gnuating ppl. a., also †Impingua·tion, fattening

1620 VENNER Via Recta vii. 117 They yeild a grosse, clammy, and impinguating nourishment 1690-1 WYTH Taxons Ad. Learn 11. ii. (R. Supp.) We receive into the body of medicine, the knowledge of the parts of man's body, of the forces of impinguation [impingua]tion and the like a 1688 SIR T. BROWNE Mis. Tracts (1684) 16 Physicians acknowledge a very nutritive and impinguating quality in Pulses †Impi·ngue, v. Obs. rare—1 [ad. late L. impingu-āre see prec.] = to make fat' (Cockeram, 1623

Impious (impi·əs), a. [f. I. impius without reverence (f. IM-2 + pius) + -OUS cf. OF. impieus, -eus (15–16th c. in Godef.), mod F. impie (in Cotgr. 1611), ad. L. impi-us.]

1 Not pious, without piety or reverence for God and his ordinances, presumptuously irreligious, wicked, or profane as of persons, or things personified 1596 1st Pt. Contention iii. Impious Yorke, and Bewford Have all hymde bushes to betraie thy wings 1624 GATAKER Transubst. 47 And who is so impious as to state thus that which he thinketh to be God? a 1704 J. BROWNE Dr. Ormond's Reconc. Wks. 1733 I. 50 Is'nt impious plow to wound the earth began 1865 M. ARNOLD Ess. Crit. vii. (1875) 266 The Sunna recognises Abu Bekr, Omar and Othman and regard the Shiahs as impious heretics 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed. 2) I. 319 The impious, whoever he may be, ought not to go unpunished

b of actions, sayings, and the like

1575-85 ANP SANDYS Serm. (Parker Soc.) 199 If magistrates should command that which is impious we have our answer well warranted 'It is better to obey God than men' 1658 SIR I. HERBERT Trav. (ed. 2) 338 To touch their mouths or meat with fingers is held absurd and impious 1667 MILTON P. L. V. 841 Canst thou with impious obloquie condemne The just Decree of God? 1728 PRIOR Pleasure 902 At Dagon's shrine I kindle impious flame 1845 MARTON Mor. Philos. in Gospel Mercy II. 638/1 An impious disregard of all the precepts of his education

2 Wanting in natural reverence and dutifulness, esp. to parents rare

1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 351 He cast-shut up their parents and there in respect of piete (which more could the impious do?) starve them to death 1783 MORELL Amsworth's Lat. Dict. s.v. Lallus, The impious daughter of Servius Tullius drove her chariot over the body of her aged father

Impiously (impi·əsli), adv. [f. IMPIOUS a. + -LY 2.] In an impious manner, with impiety, with presumptuous wickedness or profaneness 1597 DANIEL Civ. Wars V. (R.) Ungrateful times! that impiously neglect That worth, that never times again shall show 1693 CONGREVE in Dryden's Fresnoy (1695) 200 No Vitheleers impiously despise The sacred Oracles, in Mysteries 1769 F. BLANCHOT Guiana 340 Too many at the altar impiously enter into engagements, without intending to fulfil them 1864 SIR A. GRANT Ethical Prejudg. 34 My sacred vny thou hast dared profane, And impiously dost call thy self my priest!

Impiousness. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being impious, impiety 1599 SANDYS Europe Spec. (1632) 1-7 Who indeed doe blot out much impiousness and filth 1695 LD. PRESTON Boeth. iii. 113 notes, The Impiousness of which Fact he ordered Papinian to excuse Impire, impyre, etc., obs. ff. EMPIRE sb. and v.

The usual Sc. form in 16–17th c.

1513 DOUGLAS Prol. VII. xi. 14 To rewle the pepill vndir thyne impyre 1559 Cott. Lal. Coal B ix, Seeing ambition hath no impyre ouer them 1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. I. 3 Vnder the Impire of England

Impish (i·mpiʃ), a. [f. IMP sb. + -ISH.] Having the characteristics of an imp, pertaining to or characteristic of a little devil or mischievous urchin

1634 GAGE Magastrom 334 The news of the victory was carried to Rome by Castor and Pollux or as others say by the Impish divels themselves 1834 BLACKWOOD Mag. XXXV. 8 Stimulated by impish children 1876 T. HARDY Ethelberta (1890) 219 Teasing and worrying with impish laughter half suppressed 1884 LADY VERNEY in Contemp. Rev. Oct. 550 Spiteful, impish tricks

Hence Impishly adv., Impishness

1864 WEBSTER, Impishly. 1872 LYTTON Parisians IV. ii. I shall have the wretch at my mercy impishly 1876 T. HARDY Ethelberta (1890) 303 When scheming any plot of particular nefariousness, which had less emotion than impishness in it 1896 W. HALE WHITE Four Gospels 1. 274 A half witted fellow whom the boys impishly tormented

Impiteous (impi·tĭəs) a. [f. IM-2 + PITEOUS.] Ruthless, pitiless

1877 SYMONDS Renaiss. Italy Rom. Lucan 471 note, Exiled from home and father and by fate impitteous 1882 — Introd. Hymn 140 Sole death is not impitteous 1890 New Rev. II. June 231 Impitteous and hateful are the gods and void of ruth Impiteous, -tious, -tous, impittious, obs. var. IMPITEOUS.

Impritiably, adv. [f. IM-2 + PITIABLY.] Without pity, mercilessly

1835 Fraser's Mag. XII. 36 The antique barriers which impritiably and irrevocably divided mankind into castes have been swept away

Implacabi·lity. [ad. late L. implacabilitas see next and -ITY.] The quality or condition of being implacable

1532 PETOV Gest. Pr. vi. The implacability or wrath is sociable of those two capitaines 1673 Lady's Call I. iii. 55 So to regulate their passions, that they never come within the force of implacability a 1797 H. WALPOLE Mem. Geo. II (1847) I. 262 His implacability was confirmed by the implacability of their hatred to him 1855 MACAULAY Hist. Eng. xii. III. 167 To James unpopularity, obstinacy and implacability were the greatest accusations that a statesman could have Implacable (implæ·kăbl), plac. kā·bl) a. [f. F. implacable, ad. L. implācābil-is, f. IM- (IM-2) + placabilis PLACABLE.] (By Spenser and Long. fellow stressed on first (or third) syllable.)

1 That cannot be appeased, irreconcilable, inexorable of persons, feelings, etc.

1522 MORE De Quat. Noviss Wks. 84/1 Being implacable anger where they perceive themself not accepted 1611 BIBLE Rom. I. 31 Covenant breakers implacable, vnmercifull 1751 JOHNSON Rambler No. 165 P. 3 That we should be harassed by implacable persecution 1769 ROBERTSON Charles I (1813) V. iii. 340 He was, besides the implacable enemy of Bourbon 1807 LYTTON Pelham II. ii. or my of his friends, was injured or aggrieved, his anger was almost implacable 1875 STUBBS Const. Hist. II. xvi. 325 The earl of Warwick remained implacable

b CONST. to

1678 BUNYAN Pilgr. I. (ed. 2) 84 They thereby shew themselves to be implacable to good 1784 I. HALGUY Disc. 6 The greater part of these sectaries were implacable to those who differed from them

†2 That cannot be assuaged or mitigated Obs.

1590 SPENSER F. Q. II. xi. 44 O how I burne with implacable fire Ibid. III. xi. 35 1667 MILTON P. L. VI. 658 That or helped their harm which wrought them pain Imable 1886 Lonc Wayside Inn Prel. viii, The plunge ie implacable sea, The tumult of the winds at night as sb One who is implacable

3 Richardson Clarissa (1811) III. 7 As I have ordered he flight will appear to the implacables to be altogether i her own consent

mplacableness. [f. prec. + -NESS.] The lity of being implacable, implacability

31 Golde God's Revenge iii. § 82. 138 It is mens implacaesse which maketh God implacable. 1677 Gilpin ionah (1867) 466 Appeasing of wrath and unconsonate implacableness. 1748 Richardson Clarissa (1811) II. xxv. 193 The implacableness of my brother and r he sets forth in strong lights. 1824 Southey Bk. of (1842) 506 The implacableness of their politic hatred mplacably (implɑ·kăblĭ implæ·k-), adv. [f. prec. + -LY².] In an implacable manner, with nity or resentment that cannot be appeased

31 Goode God's Revenge ii. § 66. 109 Men may thanke Divine wrath to be implacably incensed. 1751-73 ton Jack Hall (R.), It is no wonder that much of that ser should have worried another so implacably for tortunum [etc.] 1876 Bancroft Hist. U. S. IV. xviii Burke pursued Chatham implacably, and refused to e to an understanding with him mplacacy. Obs. rare⁻¹. [f. implacat-us ppcated (cf. Implacable); see -acy.] Unappeased state or condition; implacableness

26 Wood Life (O. H. S.) I. 292 The smart of their ncacy mplacement, var. Emplacement, situation, ition, platform for a gun

38 W. Paxton in Ann. Reg. II. 689 The station or nement, would confer majesty even on an inferior edifice

Engineer's Vade-mec. 281 We understand that the heavy s are to be mounted in Montreuff single emplacements mplacental (implăse·ntăl, -ai·n), adj. [f. Zool. + -al¹.] = Placentalian, q.v.; of mod. Implacentalia neut. pl., name of the group

Lady Having no placenta: a term applied to group of mammals consisting of the mus-upalas monotremes (Implacentalia)

39-47 Todd Cycl. Anat. III. 1-374 The quadrupeds e defined, are implacental. 1865 Dreher Intell. Things xxiii. 362 Mammals, both placental and acental sb A mammal that has no placenta, a marsal or monotreme. 1864 in Webster mplacentate, a. Zool. [f. Im- 2 + Placental. (f. Placenta + -ate².)] = mod.l. Implacentalia = Implacentalia] Having no placenta: mod. Duct mplain, v. Obs. rare⁻¹. [f. Im-¹ + Plain in sense 'plane, flat, level.'] trans. To make oth with plaster, to plaster smooth

1580 Pollard on Heath 1. 479 Oil dregges must with thou must implain it, & mem-ry smyl on[e] th wooes ills] with mplaister, var. Emplaister v. Obs.

mplane, v. [ad. late L. (Vulgate) implanare ad astra.] 'To drive.' Cockeram, 1623 mpla ntitude. [f. Im- 2 + plantitude (see) Unevenness, unlevelness: in quot. attrib. 7 A. M. Guillemard's Chirurg. 46 b, 2 The un- and implantitude collocation inferreth pain and incon in the Joynte mpla nk, v. Obs. rare⁻⁰. [Im-¹.] trans. To ove with planks

1 Elyot, Imparare, to imboord or implanke mplant (implɑ·nt, -æ·nt), also implante [? implantes to insert engraft, etc. (also emplan o plant) + im (Im-¹) + plantes to Plant.] trans. To plant in insert, infix. Chiefly pass. be set, fixed, or embedded in something of crystal in a matrix of another kind. Also refl. 5 Raynold Perth Mad-ned 17 Before they implant self in the bodie of the stone

1 The Opticke Stones is implanted into the k of the eye. 1708 Kennett (J.) Another cattlesible of motion, by the help of some nerves that are nted in it. 1811 Pinkerton Petral. I. 129 Patrimite, sometimes in globular masses, implanted in other 1831 R. Knox Cloquet's Anat. 73 The teeth are bones implanted in the alveoli of both jaws

To fix or instal a principle, desire opinion mind. Chiefly pass. To be firmly fixed or rent in. (The ordinary use.)

41 Barnes Works (1573) 323/1 They are both inclina of nature implanted of God. 1605 Timme Quersit. I. the diuine vertue which God hath put and implanted creatures. 1794 Sullivan View Nat. Hist. I. 389 Gravity, tion repulsion are not powers implanted in matter sible to be made inherent in it. 1820 Scott Ivanhoe epts is the desire of offspring implanted in the female 1887 Bowen Virg. Æneid III. 249 Take these words prophet—implant them deep in your hearts.

b To engraft (a bud). Also fig. of Implanon 3 Obs. rare

3 Sharrock Hyg. adhis 71 Till such time as the buds implanted may be fast cemented. 1675 Baconn Colon. Wks. 1867 V. 50 Requiring men to be better Christians they come to Christ, than commonly they prove after are implanted into Christ

To set in the ground, to plant. Also fig.

3 W. Folkingham Art of Survey III. 6 It implies that r the ground is very fertile in generall, or that they are inted in Plots Sympathizing with their Natures 1633 P. Fletcher Purple Isl. xi. lxxx, Upon her cheek doth Beauties self implant The freshest garden of her choice t flowers. 1733 L. M. Dr. Bragg's Accompl. Woman I. 180 Those Herbs which they gardiner implanteth. 1845 Stirling Comm. Taxes Engl. (1874) II. 212 Trees, while still implanted in the ground, are parcel of the freehold. 1868 Heslop Land-marks (1879) 28 Had implanted the seeds of fatal disease

b With inverted construction. To plant (ground, etc., with something. Also fig.

1612 2 B. Rich Contempl. V. 15 b, Brek up the the fallowes of my nature implant me with all vertues, furnis me with meet corrections. 1670 Milton Hist. Eng. III. Wks. (1847) 503/2 Minds well implanted with solid and sober ds breeding. 1812 R. & J. Smith Beau Monde I. 1 Your beir May fill your graves, implant the Dean

Hence Impla nted ppl. a., inserted, introduced, mixed, Implanting vbl. sb. Implantation

1595 Shakespeare Love's Compl. 72 What change of Peare can change implanted paine? 1597 Morton on Pure's Pr. (1646) II. 256 Wisedomes harmest is with folks implanted. Her fruits all entered her implanting. 1611 Cotgr. in Dict. Purple, to the highest end of baptisme, is our implanting into the body of Christ. 1861 Miss Cobbe Alone 44 Whether by feeding to imitate or implantation

†Implanta ntate, a. Obs. rare [f. Im-² type + implantat-us, pa. ppl. of implantāre* to Implant] Implanted

1650 Charleton Paradoxes 64 There is a Magnetisme in every herb implanted in and proper to natural bodies Ibid. 56 Both the implanted and indelible Ideas depart hand in hand together. 1652 Brooke New Disp. p. 164 Those engrafted and implantate vigour

Implantated, ppl. a. rare. [As prec. + -ED¹.] 1855 Masse Expos. Text. Implantatives, applied to the set crystals which are attached by one of their ends to the walls a cavity, or to a rock itself implanted

Implantation implɑnte·ĭ-ən [f. implantation noun of action f. implantes to Implant.] The action or process of implanting, the fact or manner of being implanted

1 Anat. The insertion of an organ into, or, esp. as to its manner and place of Implant. 1578 Banister Hist. Man I. 4 The implantation of the teeth is not in one sort as in others. 1615 Crooke Body of Man 80 They [two muscles] have but one head in and one implantation. 1650 Trapp Interp. Jude 1 Finding in that part where in the outermost implantation of Temporal Muscle stands. 1854 Owen Skel. & Teeth in Cyc. Anat. & Physiol. IV. 472 The teeth of the Aphyomorphi are examples of the ordinary implantation in sockets. 1890 H. Lees Connect. in Org. 70 Implantation of the ears farther back than is normal

2 The action of planting or setting in the ground. Also fig. Cf Implant v. 3 a 1600 Hooker Eccl. Pol. (1611) v. 58 To make such proportion between implantation and the fruit. 1650 Trapp Disc. Last Hist. Enoch 25 by sowing of Seeds family to preserve a seed for the implantation of a new. 1727 41 Chambers Cycl. Implantation, one of the six kinds of transplantation, used by some for the sympathetic cure of certain diseases. [Process described.] 1817 J. Dallas Hist. (1870) I. 24 The vegetable shall from its first implantation in the soil to its full growth

†3 Engrafting. Obs. rare.

1652 Warren Unlikely (1654) 2 The Gothicks finding comma ment to be both needless and hurtfull to the implantation of it without the hand of the Author. 1660 Sharrock De Natura 166 Apostles and Publishers being second implantation of Seeds, all must implantation must needs be d †b fig. Ingrafting into Christ. Obs.

1640 Sir Kenelm Digby Sermon 93 How we can be sons of God by spiritual adoption into him effected by Faith a 1655 Vicars Parl. Chron. (1827) 214 Baptism is first for mation and implantation. 1702 C. Mather Magn. Chr. III. 1. App. 48 Their sinful names require their implantation in and adoption by the glorious Lord Jesus Christ

c Faith The engrafting of a method of making saint 1897 Outlook 31st Mar. III. The observations of Hansel have thrown much light on the implantation of cancer on the ulcer. Ibid. 7 This de [illegible] to be regarded as examples of successful implantation or graft the skin of the patient's remaining arm

4 The introduction and fixing of a principle idea etc. in the mind. Cf Implant v. 2

1653 H. More Antid. Ath. (1662) 6 The implantation in the Idea of God in the Soul. 1669 [see Implant v. 2 c]. 1 This design of Navigation found a kind of natural implantation in these Phœnicians. a 1708 Lucretius (Th. Thucydides) The natural seeds of Civil [illegible] ness in sanctification, taking away the implantation f Adams sin in us. 1875 Whitney Life on Globe xxvii. 318/2 [Of a moral judgment which is effected] by the Spirit of God to Christ in a correct rule of decision, because of divine implantation

5 The firm placing or planting of the foot

1870 Robertson Journ. Life 59 By the protrusion and implantation of which [the muscular foot] into the soft bottoms of the rivers and streams in which these creatures [fish water must subsist

Spec. (See quots.) Also attrib

1886 Natl. Soc. Rev., Implantation, the planting of a new wound tooth into the cavity from which a decayed one has been removed. Also the engrafting of pieces of epidermis on the surface of an ulcer to promote skin formation. Ibid., Implantation, medicamental the introduction of solid substances into the structures of the body, either to destroy a morbid growth or to produce a general their specific effect. Ibid., Implantation, metallic, an instrument invented by Bunnell for the practice of hypodermatic implantation

Implanter (implɑ·ntəɹ) [f. Implant v. + -er¹.] One who or that which implants 1653 H. More Antid. Ath. III. 8 2. 17 There is an active and natural knowledge in a man of which those outward objects are rather the re minders than the first begetters or implanters. 1733 L. M. Bragg's Accompl. Woman I. 180 The implanter of Trees in the Isle of men Implaster, obs. var. Implaister sb. and v.

Implastic (implɑ·stik a. rare [f. Im- + Plastic.] Not plastic, rigid. Hence Implasticity, implastic quality or condition

1822-34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) IV. 141 Labour delayed or impaired from implasticity of the soft parts. Ibid. 14 Cases of an implastic rigidity Implastration, var. Emplastration, Obs.

Implate (implɛ·t) v. rare. [f. Im-¹ + Plate sb.] trans. To put a plate upon as a covering to sheathe, as, to implate a ship with iron' (Webster 1864.)

†Implausibi lity Obs. rare. [f. next + -ity.] The quality or condition of being implausible, want of plausibility a 1659 Owen Exerc. in Ep. to Hebrews No doubt he had discovered a very important Office in this State, but for the implausibility of his Person 1776 G. Cumming Hulsean Lect. (1866) I. 175 Implausibility may be surmounted Implausible (implɔ·zĭbl a. [f. Im-² + Plausible.]

†1 Not worthy of applause, personally unacceptable. Obs.

1602 Warner 4th Pan. Pan After his death him sewer and successor became Hercules. He did all things worthy Father of them implausible and burdensome to the Inglish

2 Not having the appearance of truth, probability, or acceptability; not plausible a 1677 Barrow (J.) Wks. (1686) II. 100/1 Sophisms so implausible and improbable men. 1730 Swift Inst. Tit. Conf. to Wks. 1761 II. 265 N. Thing is better improve politic if such colours as that of making plausible or implausible harangues against the very point for which they resolve to declaim. 1788 I. Cumyns Dissertation (1807) II. 84 This though not implausible, is mere conjecture 1794 Burke Lett. Contractors Wks. 1842 II. 475 When they mingle a political system with their treasonable opinions time or false plausible or implausible

Hence Implau sibleness, implausibility. Implau sibly adv. not plausibly

1818 Jeff. Impeachm. 1846 Worcester Implausibleness, Dict. Suppl. 1894 Law Times LXXI. 1. This is still really fairly complete, it may be urged—urged implausibly Impleach implī·tʃ v. pat. tan. Also 6 em- [f. Im-¹ + Pleach.] trans. To entwine, interweave. Hence Implea ched ppl. a.

1595 Shakes. Love's Compl. 71 Bold thieves, to steale the beauties of their heart; Which twisted motto'es on a curly implea ched 1829 Jamieson Timbria 30 The fragrance of this implea ched bower. 1 Implea ched twigs. 1 Implea ched trees. Ibid. 2 Implea ched Pleasures 175 Where the green shadow thicklest implea ched. Soft fruit and sweet spring and full season

Implead implī·d, v. Forms: α 4 em-, 4-5 emplede, 5-6 emplete, 6-7 empleade, 6-8 implede -plete, 6 ymplead, 7 impleade, 6-implead [ad. Anglo-Fr. empledre = OF. emplaidier, -plaidier, plaidier etc., f. Em- (Im-¹) + plaidier (= plaidoier) to Plead.]

1 Law. To sue in a personal action in a court of justice, to prosecute an action against. Now only as in Obs. a 1290 Britton iii. § 6 Et les dames ne ou pruesan sunt a tenuz respondre a cesun qi les empledeount tanqu cum eus seiount en prisun. 1387 Trevisa Higden (Rolls) VII. 481 King Stephe was a wise [but the wolde empleded no man for his owne wordes. 1389 in Lex. Mercat. (1729) 84 No brother in store shall implead his brother in plee, nor for no dette in respite. a 1400 Piers Pl. (B) vi. 306 I forbeye em pleyd pe bifore. 1500 in Arnold Chron. (1811) 1 That none of 3 franchyse [shall] be impleted out of the same franchyse [etc.] 1559 in Strype Ann. I. App. viii. 2 The kinges tenants in chief shall not be compelled to the each other all causes β 1498 in Ld. Campbell Chancellors (1857) I. xxii. 6 Whether I charge Kobb[illegible] my sone that he never shall implede my grete Dedis [illegible] 1 Pat. Rec. 1492 H. 16, Per ones shall it plede and to be implated 1523 Fitzherb. Surv. 12 The manor tenements shall not plede nor be impladed of thens for any plee [illegible] Kynges write 1611 Speed Theat. xxv. 1 Demeanors and the ordinesmen [illegible] amatter against any man the laws upon her then impladed [illegible] 1755 Bp. Sherlock Serm. I. 1 Impladed before the Judges of the Land 1 Impladed Brethren who might be implede ding one another at law before the tribunal of the other. Pl

†b To plead or prosecute (a suit. Obs. rare.

1554 Acts v. 4 & 5 § 23. The Table of all Plaints in ye Courts only to be made and ordered tried and implead

†2 To arraign, accuse, impeach. Const. of. Obs.

a 1600 Hooker Eccl. Pol. VI. v. § 2 To implead the truth of this history. Cardinal Baronius alleageth that Socrates, Sozomen and Theodoret were all Novatianists. a 1642 Clevelland Gen. Epistle (1677) 14, I impleady our Highness as Necessary to my Guilt. 1681-6 [see Court Ord. 1] 1749 III. 72 They were accused and impleaded as sedate and insinuating Orators before the Tribunals of them [we rules. 1814 Mrs. J. West Infidel de Lacy II. 174 His life and fame of an innocent woman were impladed. 1846 Lennon Dunge Law Wks. II. 153 I can easily pardon a smile if thou emplaidest me of curiosity

3 In various modern uses belonging or related to Plead v. †a To allege. b To plead. †b To entreat. c To plead with. d To plead for 1648 T. Wall Gods Re. against Dammed Ch 20 Saul had never impleaded the intent of sacrifice . had it not yeilded him some hope to wipe off the guilt of his disobedience 1688 Vox Cleri to my Brethren Now he takes Hell and the Devil . And then implieds for to inspire his Muse 1839 Bailey Festus (1852) 61 Monarchs . remember they are, set on their thrones As representatives to implead it with God and man a 1850 Rossetti Dante & Circ. (1874) 237 How must thou be counselled to implead With God thine own misdeed, And with an there-?

Hence Implea dedness ppl. a., Implea ding vbl. sb.

1742 Francis Horace, Odes II. 1. 0 Pollio thou the great defence Of sad, impleaded innocence 1861 Pearson Early & Mid. Ages Engl. xxviii. Twelve others . who were, I shall else, upon oath with whom the impleaded property lay 1875 Stubbs Const. Hist III. xx. 197 Redress for the impleading of a member during the session †Impleadable impl·i·dəb·l a. [f. Implead v. + -able.]

1 That may be sued as a person or prosecuted (as a suit)

1670-6 Townsend Presnt. Aunc. (1680) 113 They be not pleadable in their own Courts also . and not elsewhere 1681 Trial Coll. &c. 5 I am a Freeman of London and I am not impleadable . in any where out of the Courts of the City 1784 R. Wilson Suit of the Parish 234 The rectorial bellmen and disloyal . are impleadable at a twofold bar 1818 Cruise Digest of Laws (ed. 2) V. 117 They would by that mode become frank fee, and not impleadable in his court

2 (spelled of being pleaded or made a plea)

1648 J. Lilly Medal of Reformation, Model (1659) 32 Those actions . shall be as impleadable by men 1701 Luttrell Ir. Stat. (1857) V. 56 That no pardon be impleadable to any impeachment in parliament †Implea dable, *a.*2 Obs. [f. Im- 2 + Plead-able.] Not to be pleaded against, or not by any plea

1607 Dudgeon Anti-Cowper (1845) 48 In what a damnable, confusion therefore, stands the withstanding presence, his indictment is impleadable, his evidence irrefutable, the fact unquestionable, the judge unpunishable 1614 Adams Devil Dispossessed Wks. (1630) 1. 196 To improve the judge in unpleadable indictment, an intolerable anguish shall seize upon them

†Implea der. Obs. [f. Implead v. + -er 1.] One that impleads, sues, or prosecutes another, a prosecutor accuser, or impeacher a 1577 Sir T. Smith Common. Eng. (1633) 109 In all judgements . being two parties, the first we call the impleader, after them order or demand or plaintife 1598 Barckley Felic. Single Life 111 Who is my adversary? (my impleader or he that entreats in his name) 1770 Hist. Duchess. 11 The Combettes how allowed the expedient of deluding those impleaders, whom the administered oath to oath-orders did not sufficiently satisfy †Implea sing, a. Obs. rare [f. Im- 2 + Pleasing.] Unpleasing, unpleasant

1602 Carew Corn. 68 a. Let me lead you from these unpleasing matters . and bring you to . Hurling (1811) 103 Implearing, to ill, as all to him

Impleat,e, var. Impleede v., filled

Impledge (impledʒ), v. Also 6-7 empledge, (6 Sc impladge; [f. Im- or Em- 1 + Pledge.] An Anglo-L. impleg(i)are occurs in the Laws of Henry I, suggesting that an Anglo Fr. emplegier may have been in use. Cf. Ob. plegare, 12th c.]

trans. To put in pledge, to pledge, pawn, to give as security, to engage. Also refl.

a 1548 Hall Chron. Edw. IV 29 The countye which kynge Charles had before sent, and impledged to duke Philip 1630 Brathwait Ivg. Gentlem. (1641) 147 Whosoever he be that marrieth a wife, empledging his faith unto her by a ring

B 1597 Montgomerie Cherrie & Slae 1453 Impladging and wadging Ilath to that lyes for my sue a 1656 Ussher Ann. Parliaments (1658) 1. 168 They have not only impledged themselves the one into the other upon Earth, but also to God in Heaven 1824 Scott Tal. of Tales I. 184 Sensations more, that bids the daughter of high Lorn impledge her spousal faith to wed the heir of mighty Somerled 1881 Swinburne Harry Stuart I. ii. 49 The great lifes hope of England, in whose name and our own it is impledged †Implefy, v. Obs. rare-0. In 7 impliefie [f. I implefie (see Impelle) + -y.] To fill (Cockeram, 1623)

Implement (impl/mənt), sb. Forms 6 ymple-, imple-, empell-, hympyll-, 6-8 impliment, 7 impell-, emploi-, imploye-, 5 implement [app. ad. L. implementum a filling up (f. implere to fill, see Implete) taken in the sense of 'that which serves to fill up or stock a house, etc.', in which sense implementa occurs in an Anglo-L. letter of 1441 (see sense 1 below) and may have been in conversation earlier: see Ob. OF. emplement, from emplir to fill, fill up, God-fridy cites only one example, in sense 'filling up, fulfilling, completing'. The word was evidently sometimes referred to Employ v., and so confused with employment, as if = 'thing employed or used.']

1 [f. implere] Things that serve as equipment or outfit, as household furniture, or utensils, ecclesiastical vessels or vestments, wearing apparel or ornaments, &c. In sing. An article of furniture, dress, etc.

[Cf. Letter of 1441, Rymer, XIV. 723 Cum omnibus et omnimodis vasibus, jocalibus, ornamentis, bonis, et aliis et Implementis.]

1454 Lit. Willis (1888-1) 12 Reparacions and implementis dive to the Cathedral Churche of seynt powle 1496-7 Act 12 Hen. VII, c. 23 § 12 All other goodes and implements of Houshold to be used in their Houses 1505 in Eng. Gilds (1870) 227 Here followyth the ymplementes of the Lyverey halle 1532 Hawes Conforton. Househ. (1706) 0. Considered how great abundance of impliments was in that smalle vessele 1586 in Peacock Lincs. Ch. Furniture (1866) 72 Item one paxe one cruitt one vaile with all other empellmentes of superstition 1610 F. Godwin Bps. of Eng., 238 He left for an implement of his house at Ely a 20 unlearned sumptuous and costly table 1641 Marquis Fair Inhabit. in Hearne Mag. XIII. 196 A note of such goods and implements as are belonging to the parsonage house . Item 3 yr. Engine in the Isle of Ely a 1656 Ussher Ann. VI. (1658) 502 To defray this, they were forced to . make their women club their stuffing imple ments to make up the sum 1687 A. Lovell tr. Thevenot's Trav. I. 110 All the Summ have Capots, and it seems to me to be so necessity an Implement not only for Sea men, but for all that travel by Sea a 1779 Washington Dis. Light in Wks. 1798 I. 283 A golden bough, we see, was an impart ant implement, and of very compile ated intention in the shew of the Mysteries 1848 Mrs. Jameson Sacr. & Leg. Art (1850) 36 They wear the stole and alby as the rems and bear the implements of the martyrdom 1850 Mrs. Sw. Hall Pilgr. to Engl. II. iv. 465 The use of the consecrated bell is one of the most essential ecclesiastical implements Ibid. 1861 Pearson Early & Mid. Ages Engl. xxviii. 1 Despoiled of our bodies and souls, and all the implements of them both b In more general use. Requisites Obs.

1611 R. Johnson Nov. & Comment (1620) 38 Most implements than a question so a cause are incident to this be in . he must have plenty of timber and cordage, he must be . furnished with people and with all other implements 1752 Fielding Amelia Wks. 1775 V. 232 Wicket, candles, and all necessary implements being brought, Miss Bath was introduced and placed in her chair

In sense A local instrument

2 pl. The apparatus, or set of utensils, instruments, etc. employed in any trade or in executing any piece of work, now chiefly in agricultural implements or as a synonym of 'tools', frequent as a generic term for the tools, weapons, etc. used by savage or primitive men, as flint implements. In sense A local instrument

1538 Elyot Dict. III. 114 King Henry the vij erected xxiiij great Houses with the implementes to serve his shippes. 1540 Ordinances & Wills (Surtees) 240 In this same carnier xij saddles of yron. Other implements in the same carnier 1612 Chapman Widdowes Teares Wks. 1873 III. 76 My sole labour is producing the implements and tools for these emplonments [crowbar and ladder] 1616 Surfl. & Markh. Country Farm. 543 Thus you see the dimensions of plowes, now it is meet to know the implements belonging to their draught 1641 Termes de la Ley, Implements, is vsed in things of necessity as in an ire to dem stery, which are absolutely in the practice of the mystery to vse 1794 Sullivan Degrees Lett. Wks. 1795 VI. ii. 49 Wood hath his tools and implements prepared to com sion times as much in re 1767 A. Young Farmer's Tour Ireland 206 She should make drawings of every machine and implement of husbandry that differs from those of his own country 1875 Jowett Plato tr. (ed. 2) I. 400 Let us who had all the implements necessary for his work 1879 Tuppock Sec. Lect. v. 152 It is a great mistake to suppose that implements of stone were abandoned when the metal was discovered

Sc. 1645 Milton Tetrach. Wks. (1847) 287 I. Those spiritual rules which are the implements of instruction 1804 Scott Minstrelsy Border (1833) I. 58 Their implements of war, and their manner of using them

Phr. 1645 Milton Tetrach. Wks. (1847) 287 I. Those spiritual rules which are the implements of instruction 1804 Scott Minstrelsy Border (1833) I. 58 Their implements of war, and their manner of using them

†Implete, obs. var. Impleat v.

Impletion (impl/ʃən) [ad. late L. impletion-em, noun of action from implere see Implete v.]

1 The action of filling, the condition of being filled, fullness

1583 Stubbes Anat. Abus. I. (1877) 104 Doath not the impletion and varietie of meates and drinkes provoke lust? 1646 Sir T. Browne Pseud. Ep. III. xxi. 145 Upon a plentifull impletion there may perhaps arise such a dispution of the matter 1650 Culpeper Barbett's Epidem. 7 Impletion-when the Spirit . fills the heart of any with Divine graces and influences 1822-34 Good's Study Med. (ed. 4) I. 192 The stomach and bowels have been accustomed to the stimulus of food, and a certain degree of impletion 1863 H. James Subst. & Shadow xv. 340 The depletion of his [man's] natural pride and self seeking in order to his subsequent spiritual impletion with all Divine gentleness peace and innocence

†2 Fulfilment, accomplishment of prophecy

1615 J. Adams Barren Tree 100 The impletion of scriptures 1618 had so prescribed of him 1681 H. More Exp. Dan. Apoc. 191 The impletion of all these Prophecies and Types . a 1716 South Serm. (1744) X. 197 The very literal impletion of the prophecy

3 Bot. The filling up of the disk or cup of a flower with petals, by the conversion of stamens, nectaries, etc. into petals, the 'doubling' of a single flower, whereby it becomes plus ve pleno

1798 J. Ives Introd. Bot. I. xx. (ed. 4) 61 The Impletion of simple Flowers is by the Increase either of the Petals or of the Nectarium Hence Impletionist, one who advocates impletion or filling up. See quot.

1883 Nat. Rev. II. 14 Apr. 264 Two general views on that question [Scotch crofters] may be summarized by the two words impletionists and 'depletionists'. Ibid. The impletionist requirements . are . a tenure . a system of pasturage privileges, 'rooting in the soil', and all the rest of it †Imple tive, a. Obs. rare [f. implet, ppl. stem of implere (see Implete a.) + -ive.] Having the quality of filling 1647 Lilly Chr. Astrol. xliv. 270 Such [medicaments] as are calefactive, warme and impletive 1677 Gale Crt. Gentiles iv. 14 The Divine Bonitie, saith Proclus, is impletive of all things and conversive of all things into itself †Imple tory, a. Obs. rare-1. [f. as prec. + -ory.] Characterized by fulfilment

647 Irap Comm Hebr x 18 An Impletory remission, now in the new Testament, not a promissory, as under old

Implex, a Obs rare [ad I implex us, pple of implectere to entwine, f im- (Im-) + -plectere to twist, plait (cf Perplexe, 17th c.)] volved, having a complicated plot

1710 Addison Spect No 297 ¶ 2 The Fable is, according Aristotle a Division, either Simple or Implex It is called nple when there is no change of Fortune in it Implex, en the Fortune of the chief Actor changes from Bad to od, or from Good to Bad 1779-81 Johnson L P, Cowley vs II 60 The fable is plainly implex, formed rather from Odyssey than the Iliad

Implex, v Obs rare [f I implex, ppl m of implectere see prec] trans To entwine 1551 A Stapylton Bern tr Abrey 118 These forme thy (shy d Wherof Myrtle green is so unpleved, and bud in, ween

Implexed, ppl a Obs [f prec or I implex-us Implex a + -ed] Entwined, also fig volved, complicated, = Implex a

1619 Fotherby Atheom II III § 3 (1622) 219 The often ation, and implexed application of the termes, of One, I Many, and Being 1898 Dowden Intell Life Pref 2 oncatenation or implexed series of causes

Implex ion. Obs rare [ad late I implexion-em, noun of action from implectere see Plex] Complication intertwining

1578 Cleworth Intell Life I II § 2 97 The mutual ursions and rencounters of atoms, their cohesions lexions, and entanglements mple xous, a Bot [f I implex see Implex + -ous] Entangled, interlaced (Treas 1866)

Imple xure. Obs rare [f I. implex- (see Plex a) + -ure] An infolding, a fold

78 Banister Hist Man VIII 200 Nature hath engraven se corrected implexures that in them the thinne Mem is might insnare it selfe mpliable (implɑ·ăbl), *a*1 rare [f Im- 2 + iable, cf Implicable] Not pliable, in-mbile 1734 North Exam I II § 2 (1740) 32 All Matters ged and implicable to the Design must be suppressed or upted 1832 Fraser's Mag IV 320 The implicable ind ounted stuff they are obliged to render into tolerable ish mpli·able, *a*2 [f Imply v + -able] Capable of being implied

1865 Isaac Taylor Ult Hdb [In mod Dicts]

mplial (implɑ·ăl) a rare [f Imply v + -al 5 after denial] An act of implying, implication

46 G S Faber Lett Tractar Secess Popery 116 I let est the amount of thus mere implial

Impli ance. Obs rare [f Imply v + -ance] e action of implying, implication

77 R Cary Chronol II II III 237 Then Magistrate Chief, at least 8 Years before this Convention, which t he the Apostle's implyance

Impli cament Obs rare [ad late I implāment-um entanglement, f implicāre see Implicate and -ment] Entanglement

1590 tr De Imitatione I viii 40 Be pure and fre whose e without implacment or incumbrance of any creature

Implicancy Obs rare [ad I. type implicāntia*, f implicāre see Implicate v and -ancy] = implicanse (17th c.) Entanglement, con-n, contradiction of terms

38 Chillingw Relig Prot I vi § 60 276 He gives such ent reason of them, (which can hardly be done to prove licancy true) that whereas you say, he will never be able sh e them from contradiction (etc) Ibid vi § 32 315 Hist hce and knowledge are Synonimous termes, and that a wledge of a thing absolutely unknown is a plain implic y, I think are things so plain, that you will not require proofe of them mplicate (implikăt), ppl a and sb Also mpliqat. plycate [ad I implicat-us, pa e of implicāre, see Implicate v]

A adj 1 Intertwined, twisted together, also, pped up with, entangled or involved in Now r

36 Brlenden Cron Scot (1822) I p lxii, The history cotland is so implicat with the history of England th t § 1555 Eden Decades 159 As the fly getteth are unto in the tayles of the vipers 1583 Stubbes Anat Abus 1771 190 The poore man is so implicate and wrapped in uerie side 1672 Phil Trans VII 5136 The Veins ear to be strangely intangled and implicate 1846 a Zoopk (1848) 273 Folia aggregated, and crowdedly icate

2 Involved, intricate Obs

15 Fden Decades 98 What this implicate Hyperbole, or incident meaneth 1588 Pealse Lusuries Eng II 11 f you resolve such implicate propositions thus (etc) R. Humphrey tr St Ambrose II 6 Wee see so many so implicate, so confused questions of philosophie

B sb †1 Entanglement, confusion of Impancy Obs

38 Sanderson Serm (1854) I 181 It seemeth then to be ere implicat, a contradiccion in adjecto, to say that a g is sold, and yet for nothing

That which is implied or involved

1a A B Bruce Chief End Revel vi 266 But even with onsulting the Scriptures we can determine for ourselves the speculative implicates of revelation 1885 Macleay Body & Will vi 95 The implicate of the moral imperative is not liberty but constraint 1884 Fairbairn in Contemp Rev. 360 The doctrine and its implicates must simply be stated

Hence †Implicately adv, by implication

1555 Harpsfield Divorce Hen VIII 152 It is in no other translation expressedly, but it is there implicately

Implicate (implikĕt), v [f I. implicāt-, ppl stem of implicāre to entangle, involve, connect closely, etc, f im (Im-1) + plicāre to fold, twist]

1 trans To intertwine, to wreathe, twist, or knit together, to entwine, to entangle

1610 Holland Camden's Brit I 550 The boughes and armes of trees twisted one within another, so implicated the woods together that (etc) 1666 Boyle Orig Formes & Qual 400 (Jhey) implicate, and intangle themselves together by, as to make, as it were, little knots 1802 Paley Nat Theol iv § 3 (1819) 113 Owing to the muscles employed in the act of deglutition being so implicated with the muscles of the lower jaw 1833 J Holland Manuf Metal II 153 The various descriptions of wirework in which the open spaces are of fanciful forms, require to be carefully implicated by the hand

fig 1885 R L Stevenson in Contemp Rev Apr 551 The artist takes up two or more views of the subject in mind, combines, implicates, and contrasts them

†b fig To entangle mentally, to confuse Obs

1625 Smith Pers Trade III 9 Good men of the jury I will not implicate you with ambages and circumstances

2 To intertwine (things, non material) in or with (other things)

1826 F Irving Indirect I Introd 15 The church is a polity whereunto he is to implicate all his hopes, desires, and prayers 1848 H Coleridge Lives Northern Worthies (1852) 70 The intercests of individuals are so implicated in those of the community, that (etc) 1873 H Rogers Orig Bible iii 61 Divinity was not designed to be implicated with the fortunes of my earthly polity

2 To involve in a nature or meaning, or as consequence or inference, to imply, to comprise

1600 W Watson Decachordon vii xii (1602) 105 Other wise it implicates a contradiction 1797 Mrs A M Bennett Beggar Girl II 103 Old Fraser ... filled the office of Cooker to Castle Gerrard—a phrase that implicates the combined duties of steward and bailiff 1802 Mrs L Parsons Myst it will II 223 So much reserve and mystery assuredly implicated some dreadful wrong 1829 J Lavior Authent v (1867) 109 If these doubtful opinions implicate inquiries which the unlearned can never prosecute 1858 Hawthorne Fr & It Jrnls (1872) I 39 There was never any idea of domestic comfort implicated in such structures 1896 Howells Impressions & Exp 284 Their first lesson of civilization will by words implicate

b To involve (a person) in a charge, crime, etc, to bring into actual connexion with, to show to be concerned (Also without construction)

1797 Mrs Radcliffe Italian xvi, These ruffians, who have dared to implicate that innocent victim in their crimes 1808 Pike Sources Mississ III App 78 Duplicity, in some degree, always implicates the character of a military man 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng II 302 The persons concerned against the government had a Quaker been implicated 1855 Milman Lat Chr VI iii (1864) III 442 Each party strove to implicate the other in the crime of an idolatrous sacrifice 1870 Freeman Norm Conq (ed 2) I App 721 The Ealdormans does not say a word implicating Eadric

c To involve or include in the operation of something, to affect or cause to be affected in the action of something

1798 T Jefferson Writ (1859) IV 242 Your feelings have no doubt been much implicated by it 1859 Mill Liberty v (1865) 60 This question prevents no difficulty, so long as the will of all the persons implicated remains unalticred 1880 M Mackenzie Dis Throat & Nose I 144 It is much more rare for the muscles of the larynx and trunk to be implicated (in diphtheria) 1887 Allen & Neurol VIII 613 The brain is pathologically implicated in insanity

Hence Implicated ppl a, involved, involved, intertwisted, entwined, etc lit and fig, Implicating ppl a, intertwining a 1693 Urquhart Rabelais III xxxvii 308 The implicating Involutions and Perplexing of Guts. 1798 Parke Distr Mary (R.) The painted birds their cunning fabrics made, Or on the oak, or implicated thorn 1821 Shelley Prometh Unb iv 87 The implicated orbits woven Of the wide wandering stars 1823 Austin Jurispr (1879) I xx 374 Where the performance of either of the promises is made by either to depend on the performance of the other the several conventions are cross or implicated

†Implicateness. Obs rare [f Implicate a + -ness] The quality of being implicate, intricacy

1685 H More Paralip Prophet 103 [Arguments] with out any implicateness or operosity from Authentic Testimonies

Implication (implikē·ʃən) [ad L implicatiōn-em entwining or entangling, noun of action f implicāre to Implicate] Cf F implication (16th c.) complicity, contradiction]

1 The action of involving, entwining, or entangling, the condition of being involved, entangled, twisted together, intimately connected or combined Also fig

c1430 Pilgr Lyf Manhode IV xii (1869) 182 Seculere implicacion and worldliche occupacions 1598 Barckley Hist Man VIII iii Comparable to the implications of the sinewes of the arme 1625 Cockeram, Implication, a wrapping in, or intangling a 1635 Naunton Fragm Reg (Arb) 43 Sir Thomas Perrot married a Lady of great honour, of the Kings familiarity, which are presumptions of some implication 1699 Stanley Hist Philos XIII (1701) 600/1 By implication of some Atoms cohering mutually to one another

1708 Farrery tr Burnet's St Dead I 27 Distinguishes from the corporeal machines and the implications of matter 1832 Austin Jurispr (1879) II xx 235 A convention bilateral is formed by the implication of several unilateral conventions 1843 J Martineau Chr Life (1867) 14 The mystic implication of his nature with ours

2 The action of implying, the fact of being implied or involved, without being plainly expressed, that which is involved or implied in something else

1581 W Charke in Confer iv 1584) B b iij, Inferred in the scripture by good proofes of consequence and implication 1657 Cromwell Sp 21 Apr in Carlyle, It is but an implication, it is not determined 1701 Norris Ideal World I iii 35 Here is a plain implication of an intelligible humane nature 1790 Paley Hore Paul Wks 1825 III 121 It does not say this in different from ordinary usage this is left to implication 1836 J Garbett Serm Honour in 18 63 Facts, of which the clear implications can by no means be denied 1870 H Sidgwick Data Ethics § 67 50 These implications of the Evolution Hypothesis we shall now see to announce with the leading moral ideas men have otherwise reached

b by implication by what is implied though not formally expressed, by natural inference c1555 Harpsfield Divorce Hen VIII (Camden) 33 Though not by express words yet by implication and meaning 1615 J Stephens Satyr Ess 54 It follows by implication that amongst posterity, some one must have precedence 1793 T Jefferson Writ (1860) IV 56 It does not say so in France, either expressly or by implication 1829 Mrs Austin Nouv Conj (ed 2) I App 659 The Chronicles seem to call him Ealdorman by implication

3 The process of involving or fact of being involved in some condition etc

1873 H Green Introd Pathol (ed 2) 173 This implication of the lymphatics is much more marked than in the sarcomata (etc) 1892 Allbutt Syst Med III 17 The younger the sufferers [from acute rheumatism] the greater the liability to cardiac implications

Implicative (implikătiv), a and sb [f Implicate v + -ive]

A adj Having the quality of implying, tending to imply or implicate

1602 Fulbecke 2nd Pt Parall 17 The recent of such goodes into the house is an implicative promise that the goodes shall be safe 1818 Colebrooke Treat Oblig Contracts I 15 Implied or implicative contracts are such as reason and justice dictate 1827 Hare Mist Develop (1856) I 94 That existence and knowledge were identical and mutually implicative 1872 F W Robinson Bridget Elias I ix 124 He was no more to pity for the man in all implicative of any thought for himself

+B sb That which implies, a statement or writing implying something more than it expressly states Obs rare

1585 Puttenham Eng Poesie III v (Arb) 163 This Eglogue was misliked as an implicative, nothing decent nor proportionable to Pollio his fortunes and calling.

Hence Implicatively adv Obs by implication

1579 J Stubbs Gaping Gulf F v b, Which, as a former fayth is implicatively excepted in any truce with an infidel 1600 Fulbecke Pandect 182 Such things as are not verie bodie forbidden are implicatiuelie permitted 1611 Holy Heat Plant (ed 2) 18 (Nilson) Virtually and implicatively, and by necessary consequence, it takes away clergy in all those cases

+Implicatory, a Obs rare [f as prec, +-ory] Of entangling nature or character

1642 Jesus Christ Bl int Observat 3 A labourish of implicatory and inexplicable Frenzies 1706 Phillips Chapter (1853) 38 To suppose that the brief does not contain a sense implicatory and destructive to itself

Implicit (implĭsit), a Also 7 implicite [a F implicite or ad. I implicit-us, later form for implicāt us Implicate ppl a]

†1 Entangled, entwined, folded or twisted together, involved Obs

1608 Topsell Serpents (1658) 767 Epithets given to snakes as green infolded or implicit, horrible 1667 Milton P L VII 327 The humble Shrub And bush with frizl'd hair implicit a 1803 Beattie Hermit 20 No hand had more implicit locks

fig 1614 Lodge Seneca, Epist 239 How pleasant and expedite the life of those must be is that follow them, how bitter and implicate those is that have betooke themselves then truth 1620 Cranich De Logike 117 Manner of handling, which is double, viz infolded, or unfolded, im plicate, or explicite

+b Involved in each other, overlapping Obs

1662 Stillingfl Orig Sacr II v § 8 The uncertainty of heathen chronology when implicite years are given out for solid 1704 Hearne Duct Hist 284 They took implicit years for solid, and placed those kings in a succession which were contemporary with one another

2 Implied though not plainly expressed, inherently or necessarily involved in, or capable of being inferred from, something else Implicit faith (see quot 1892)

1599 in Harington Nugæ Ant (1779) 351 because it is but implicit, I send again to know more clearly 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 566 Maiske which is by explicite or implicite compact with Divels 1665 Manley Grotius Low C Warres 133 And the Kins. of France, had with his promises, and some implicite threats, commended his Brother berem 1720 Waterland Fight Serm 237 The Scripture proofs of the Eternity of God the Son, are either implicite and indirect, or explicite and direct 1816 tr Lacroix' Diff & Int Calculus 160 Treating the subordinate variables as implicit functions of the independent ones 1876 Geo Eliot Dan Der I ii, Might she not be going in to buy something which had struck her fancy? This implicit falsehood passed through her mind 1892 I

I am sincere Disc. Contr. 4 b. ed. If the function be not expressed directly in terms of the independent variable the function is said to be implicit.

† b Of persons having some implied quality. Virtual, though not professed or avowed. Obs.

1610 Donne Pseudo-Martyr 155 One may be an implicate martyre, though he know not why he died. 1633 Earl Manch. Al Mondo (1636) 114 Deferring as well as presuming makes many men implicate Atheists. 1660 Bovey Rem. Answer (1661) 140 All the kings of the Earth joyn their mutual forces for the Crown when they design Justice they are implicate confederates.

c Of ideas or feelings. Contained in the mind without being clearly formulated. vague, indefinite. Now rare.

1659 Gentl. Calling (1696) 17 Men talk up general and implicate prejudices. 1664 Butler Hud. II. i. 547 In no implicate or Arbitrary Power Conversation Mirror or Person. 1698 Locke Educ. (1706) 111 Having a clear standing Idea in my mind of the exact Principles but not an explicit. 1738 Hist. Hum. Nat. I. 83 Vices and weaknesses we mistake and shame that they often are implicate sin, not less strict attention. 1863 Cox Hulsean Lect. iii. 80 In so implicate desires were waking, themselves out now in every sight thought.

d Virtually or potentially contained in.

1657 Tracts on Liberty I. 171 All these things were implicit in my eye to the truth. 1848 Kingsley Saints' Tragedy ii. 110 Lo! the lies and simplicities of the dawn lie implicate in the noon. 1874 Smith Conjug. Christ. iii. 35 The undeveloped conceptions that lay implicit in it have been carefully marked off from its other elements.

3 Implicit faith.

(1) Of faith in false implicita (with its spiritual matters not independently arrived at by the individual but involved in or subordinate to the general belief of the Church, hence, resting on the authority of another without doubt or inquiry, unquestioning, unreserved, absolute. Now in pleast belief confidence, obedience, submission etc.

1601 In W. Barlow Def. Doct. Relig. 7 I saw no implicatum, a faith involved and folded within the Church beleefe. 1605 J. Weston Jos. Exp. Tetrast. 20 Fides implicita, their Colliers faith which teaches them to beleeve as the Church doth, but never restores them to all the severall matters of beleefe. 1612 Donne Pseud. Martyr Pref. Cap. 1. The implicite faith and blinde credit which you were used to give heretofore to the pretended supremacy. Ibid. 196 The implicite obedience implied in bee vowed to the Church in baptisme. 1640 Quarles Enchirid. iv. Lxxxix. Her chief bulwark with an implicit faith, is a meere Implicit love of Religion. 1647 Cleiveland Hist. Kirk 21 § 188 An implicit Reverence for the Court. 1786 J. Jefferson Hist. (1874) 17 An implicit respect paid to the law of the land. 1820 W. Irving Sketch-Bk. I. 98, I would place implicit confidence in an Englishman's description of the regions beyond the deserts of the Nile. 1849 M. Pattison Ess. (1889) I. 16 The link between implicit belief in the faith from the mouth of the Roman priest. 1859 Jeffrey Amer. Comm. III. 144 These glaring contrasts [were not quite enough to hinder us from putting implicit faith in a single uncorroborated detail.

† b Hence, erroneously. Absolute, unqualified, but unmitigated. In implicit ignorance. Obs.

1625 Bacon Ess. Unpleasing, Arts 4 When the Prince is grounded but upon an implicite ignorance. 1645 Howell Lett. (1650) I. ii. 22 Prince Maurice hath a limited discretion, not left to any implicit command when he goes to the field. 1651 Jer. Taylor Disp. ¶ 266 An ample ignorance, clear and adequate reason.

c transf. Of persons. Characterized by implicit faith, credulity or obedience. Obs.

1604 R. Francis Nor. & Mans (1882) 93 This curious Dish Implicit Wilton calls the Swallow Fish. 1699 Bentley Boyle Lect. (1724) 57 Too implicite in adhering to our Education or in submitting to the Dictate of others. a 1734 North Lives III. 208 (D.) 1774 150 Many are implicits under what is called Authority. 1798 St. Andrews Clarissa 1811 III. 102 Be implicit. Am I not your General? 1806 Lamb Flist. Sat. & Popular Humours, Men are not such implicit sheep as mistakes.

• ? Confused with or a mistake for explicit.

1727 Philip Quarll 29 Pray be implicite with King, have we not? 1752 Fielding Amelia Wks. 1775 X. 42 I am very implicit you see, but we are all among friends.

Implicitly imph sitli, adv. [I prec. + -LY2.]

1 By implication, impliedly, inferentially.

1610 Donne Pseudo-martyr 107 . . . All circumstances, by which they labour to undermine the whole, of one sole thing, are then directly or implicitly. 1651 Hobbes Lev. I. xxv. 140 If they could [so bind a people] unwarranted by other authority, or implicitly. 1691 Wood Ath. Oxon. I. 116 He did confess that, doth implicitly deny his Baptism. 1775 Johnson Taxation no Tyr. 89 Not virtually and implicitly, like the institutions. 1862 H. Spencer First Princ. II. v. § 54 (1875) 114 A certain conclusion is implicitly contained in certain premises explicitly stated.

† b Not explicitly or intentionally. Obs.

1625 Donne Serm. 3 Apr. 4 Here that does good ignorantly, stupidly, unconsciously, implicitly, does good, but hee does not a good act.

† 2 In an involved or confused manner. Obs.

1635 Mede Ep. to Lector 15 July Wks. (1672) II. 888 We have not (or but very implicitly and obscurely) reduced that ancient Common-native Doctrine of Christians . . .

3 With implicit faith, confidence, submission, etc., unquestioningly.

1650 Hobbes De Corp. Pol. II. 11. There may be more Obedience required in him that doth the Fundamental Points explicated unto him, than in him that hath received the same but implicitly. 1662 J. Davies Mandeville's Fable 96 The young Prince implicitly crediting what was told him by his Favourite. 1711 Steele Spect. No. 497 ¶ 1 They would be by their animosities implicitly if he bid them be friend. 1788 Reid Ess. Powers III. iii. (1803) 549 They believe implicitly whatever they are told. 1860 Maury Phys. Geog. Sea (Low) § 111, The slightest impulse is immediately felt and implicitly obeyed.

Implicitness. [f. as prec. + -NESS.] The quality of being implicit, implicit belief or obedience, unquestioning character.

1679 Johnson Popish Plot 19 Let us wholly resign our belief to blind implicitness. 1696 Bp. of London Charge (Test. by two more) Implicitness we suffer from others upon us. 1732 J. Berkeley Alciphron v. 8 Such implicitness of conduct is the great engine of Popery. Intended the destruction of civil and religious liberty. 1824 Miss Mitford Our Village I. 287 The Church of England knows to every sentence with the implicitness of Faith.

†Impli city. Obs. rare [In 1 implicit + -CITY, irreg. f. implicite, implicitus + -ciscor, -plicit.] Complexity; entanglement, complication, involution.

1602 Warner Alb. Eng. Epit. (1612) 390 Fortune that had so long, time favoured this noble Familie, now wrought a more long, lasting implicitie. 1611 Cotgr. Implicité, an implicitie or implicitnesse.

Implied implai·d, ppl. a. [f. Imply v. + -ED1.] Contained or stated by implication, involved in what is expressed, necessarily intended though not expressed; see Imply v. 6. Often in legal phrases as implied contract see quot. 1767; trust, warranty etc. see the words.

1589 Marr. Court-sheet Arb. 1 Wks. (1841) Under a certaine unknowne, and vnspoke of, implied [1605 Camden Rem. 309 Implyed] condition. 1767 Blackstone Comm. II. i. 157 Implied contracts are such as reason and justice dictate, and which therefore the law presumes that every man undertakes to perform. 1818 Mass. Reps. Judges II. 8 A warrant to search the premises will not be considered as such that he would supply what had been omitted. 1875 Jowett Plato ed. II. 321 He has entered into an implied contract that he will do as we command him.

Impliedly (implai·dli) adv. [f. as prec. + -LY2.] By implication, implicitly.

1400 Apol. Lollt. 17 Pes sentence is cleer, and pubblished openly & impliedly. 1490 Peacock Repr. II. v. 364 It is then yn implied in Holi Scripture leeful. a 1603 T. Cartwright Confut. Rhem. N. T. (1618) 664 Although not expressly, yet impliedly, sufficient and binding. 1769 Blackstone Comm. IV. iv. 63 This statute does not prohibit but rather impliedly allows any innocent recreation or amusement. 1882 Nicholson & Rowson Chan. Cases Introd. I. 217 The Act itself does not say so in words, but it says so impliedly.

Implying implai·ing, vbl. sb. [f. Imply v. + -ING1.] Implication.

1780 J. Courtney Bolton Hall 206 There have been ring implings, boast their nonsons birth. 1835 Blackwood Mag. XXXVII. 889 Wicked lies and malicious implings.

†Implo d, v. Obs. rare. [f. Implode + -ED1.] trans. To cause to plod, to involve in toilsome labour.

1609 I. and J. Doves in Damon, Pithias Sig. H (1887) I. 8, I am not implo'd in communicth business with you. 1642 Rogers Naaman 19 The more implodding, and saddling thy thoughts. Ibid. 24 An heart overmuch implodded in the earth.

Implode implō·d, v. [f. In- + plode = plaudere to clap, after Explode, + -ED1.]

1 intr. To burst inwards (cf. Implosion 1.

1881 Nature XXV. 92 The bulb implodes, then the pressure is applied to the interior of the protected bulb, which, in its turn, explodes.

2 trans. To utter or pronounce by implosion. Hence Implo·ded, an implosive sound (Sunk).

Implorable, a. rare—1. [f. as next + -ABLE.] pitiabilis Lamentable. = Deplorable Obs.

1538 Stewart Cron. Scot. II. 444 The gret ourthraw and thrising of his rute . . . to him all tyme wes unsupportabill & implorable.

2 That can or may be implored.

Imploration (implōr.·ʃən). [= obs. F. imploration (16th c.), or ad. L. implōrātion em, noun of action from implorāre to Implore.]

1 The action of imploring; fearful supplication, earnest beseeching.

1535 Coverdale Lett. Jon. 109 Dismd sayd no other soluacio[n] for the remouing of Gods wrathe, then the imploracion of a penitent heart. 1613 tr. Daniel Coll. Hist. Eng. (1626) 160 Their implorations prouailed not. 1628 Coryat Crudities I. 12 Ad Mahum 1892 Pt. The fluent Sinner would by imploration for Aide grow old. 1842 Cattin N. Amer. Ind. (1844) II. 241 Their earnest implorations for divine forgiveness and mercy. 1889 Dawson Advent in Chr. Union (N. York) Jan. 4/1 With the outcry of despairing imploration.

† 2 Deploring, lamentation. Obs. rare

1607 Topsell Four-f. Beasts (1658) 163 In token of their impotency and imploration of their own weakness.

†Implora tor. Obs. rare—1. [Agent noun in Latin form, f. implōrāre to Implore, cf. obs. F. implorateur 16th c.] One who implores or supplicates.

1608 Shake. Ham. I. iii. 129 Meere implorators of vnholy Suites, Breathing like sanctified and pious bonds, The better to beguile.

Implo ratory (implō·rătări), a. rare [f. as prec., see -ORY.] Of imploring or beseeching nature.

1832 Fraser's Magazine 244/1 The tone of Lord Grey's speech is deprecated and implore[illegible] 1837 Carlyle Hist. Fr. Revol. II. (1872) V. 164 On the 21st of March [1661] . . . [illegible] offs at him, exculpatory implore[illegible] letter.

Implore implōr·), v. Also 6 Sc. imploir [ad. L. implōrāre to invoke or entreat with tears, f. im- (In-1) + plōrāre to weep, lament. Cf. F. implorer.]

1 trans. a To beg or pray for (aid, favour, pardon, etc.) with tearful or touching entreaties, to ask for in supplication, to beseech. † Formerly sometimes with two objects.

c 1540 in Pol. Relig. Ref. Hist. (Camden) I. 67 He himselfe implaunge the assistaunce and faithe of Carthamandua. 1563 Winjet Two Scor. Thre Quest. Wks. 1888 I. 131 Half we mocht iust cause to implor the grace of God. 1632 J. Hausted tr. Rondella's Bromius 151 Her might pl[illegible]ely the erne her dolorous gesture in the act of implorings his succour. 1654–86 In Stoics Contin. Cressman (1656) 640 Permit me to implore you the promise that I shall receive no worse mark from you. 1687 Dryden Hind & P. III. 617 My daily bet is duely implor'd. 1791 Mrs. Radcliffe Rom. Forest viii. He threw himself at her feet to implore forgiveness. 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. vii. II. 74 He was perpetually surrounded by suitors imploring his interest.

b To beseech, entreat, petition (a person with deep emotion to do something).

1603 Shaks. Meas. for M. I. iii. 156 Implore her that she make friends To the strict deputie. 1707 Lady M. W. Montagu Lett. to Hon. Wortley 3 May (1887) I. 57 I have already told you I love you, and implored you not to for get me. 1838 Tytler Hist. Eng. I. ii. 1 Talk not thus I implore you Lyly. 1867 Smiles Huguenots, Eng. xii. (1880) 19 The leaders of the household implored him, with tears in their eyes, not to leave them.

c To utter as a supplication. rare

1853 C. Bronte Villette xxii. I do not let me think of them too often, lest, unbidden, not fondly, I implored

2 intr. To utter touching supplications.

1500–20 Dunbar Lam. Mother xv. Implore, adore, thou mediatrix, To mak amends our oddis expyre. 1711 Sir Holding up my hand, and imploring for our lives. Hence Implo red ppl. a.

1659 Milton Eikonokl. (1851) 412/2, I despise not thoughtfull and implored assistance, to make [it] plain by these following arguments.

† Implore, sb. Obs. rare. [f. prec. vb.] An act of imploring, imploration, entreaty.

1599 Sir Symon Ward Q. in v. 17 He urged sore With percas, wordes and pittifull implore. How lowly to arise 1607 Barley Breake (1877) 20 Whose sudden sight her Fathers life strikes cruelly, And filling downe her eyes with fearfull implorers, to enable them to obey and please him.

Implo ring, vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ING1.] Supplication, beseeching.

1611 Cotgr. Implorations an imploring, beseeching. 1654–66 In Osborn Posthumous (1656) 518 I made many pressing implorings to suspend a little longer my return. 1696 in Phillips Note 27 May 4/4 We kneel at the throne of the King of Kings with humble and earnest imploring.

Implo ring, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ING2.] That implores or supplicates.

1654–66 In Osborn Posthumous (1656) 197 The fair Sex pleaded not as a Sympathant Mistris but an imploring Prisoner. 1771 Goldsm. Hist. Eng. I. 297 He threw him self in the most imploring manner upon his knees before his uncle. 1849 Sir Th. Martin Horace iv. xxxix. His imploring eye Beseechs compassion. 1866 G. Macdonald Dom. Origin xxxi. (1878) 455 She gave him one imploring look.

Hence Implo ringly adv., in an imploring manner, or supplicating way, Implo ringness, imploring quality.

1810 Southey Kehama v. ix, She stretch'd her hands implooringly. 1865 Miss Whitney Faith Gartney xxxvi. 334 Then she lay very still, with a silent imploringness among the things. 1876 Geo. Eliot Dan. Der. lix. His voice took an affection in the imploringness. 1881 H. James Port. Lady xxxvii. What on earth has he done to her? he asked as an implo ringly.

Implosion (implō·ʒən) [f. action from Implode, cf. Explosion.]

1 The bursting inward of a vessel from external pressure.

1880 W. B. Carpenter in 19th Cent. Apr. 615 A sealed glass tube containing air, having been lowered within a copper vessel to a depth of 2,000 fathoms, is reduced to a fine powder almost like snow, by what Sir Wyville Thomson ingeniously characterised as an implosion.

2 Phonetics (see quot.).

1877 Sweet Handbk Phonetics § 224 The implosion consists in closing the glottis simultaneously with the stop position, and then compressing the air between the glottis stoppage and the mouth one

Implosive (implō·siv), a. and sb. Phonetics [f. as prec after Explosive.] a. adj. Formed by implosion. b. sb. A sound formed by implosion.

1877 Sweet Handbk Phonetics § 224 Implosive Stops. 1880 Sayce Introd. Sc. Lang. iv. 285 Of the same nature as the clicks are the implosives peculiar to Saxon German, where no distinction is made between d and t, or b and p o SWEET Primer Phonetics § 90 Some sounds are pro ed without either out or in breathing, but solely with the in the throat or mouth : The implosives are formed he former, the suction stops or ' clicks ' in the latter way [ence Implo sively adv

877 SWEET Handbk. Phonetics § 224 In Saxon German re is no distinction between t and d, etc, both being f voiced, with the stop formed implosively

mploy, -er, -ing, obs forms of EMPLOY, etc

1480 FORTESCUE Lds. & Lime Mon viii (1885) 126 The ages owne money, wich he mey than imployen to oper vse

—1777 [see EMPLOY v.] mploy, var of IMPLY see EMPLOY 5

Implorable, a Obs rare [a obs F implorable, f im- (IM- 2) + plorer, pleur- to bond, PLY] lexable

1603 FLORIO Montaigne III 2 The effect of a courageous l implorable mynde Ibid 408 Perswasion of the Fatall l implorable prescription of their dayes doth embolien m in dangers

Imploy-ment. Obs rare—1 [f employ IM -MENT] Implication, entanglement

1598 FLORIO, Impaglo, an employment [1611 an infoulding, implayment] mployment, obs form of EMPLOYMENT, o, by confusion, of IMPLEMENT

Implume, a Obs rare [ad L implumis, im- (IM- 2) + plūma feather, PLUME] Unfeathered, unfledged

1636 BELLENDEN Cron Scot (1821) I p cvi I hocht thow furth, as laird implume, to licht 1658 PHILLIPS Im ure, bare, without feathers

Implu me, v! Obs rare—0 [? f prec, or source, cf IMPLUMED] (See quot)

1706 CAWDREY Table Alph, Implume, to pull off the hers mplume (implū·m), v.² rare = EMPLUME v to plume, to feather

1818 W PARKES Curtaine Dr (1876) 28 I hat like to Ins l of the implumd His curled branches 1868 SWIN ssin in 19th Cent XXIII 118 Swan soft feathers of snow h whose luminous burden the branches implumed Hung wily

mplu·med, a rare [f IM 2 + PLUMED, cf PLUME a and v.¹] Unfeathered, unfledged, rrived of feathers

1604 DRAYTON Owl (R), The poor implumed birds Can nd to pursue, This feather once was of the earth 1629 napla in Genesim Ded, I have brought forth my m ised and unfeathered birds 1784 R BAGE Barham ow I 146 The implumed biped, had of the earth 1829 HOOK Feasts and 367 Plum d or implum d the luped you pon

Implu mous, a Obs rare—0 [f IM- 2 + PLUMOUS,] plūmosus, f plūma cf I implumis PLUME a] -PHEC

1656 JONSON, Unfeathered, implumous, naked of feathers 8 in LOOD, hence in mod DICTS mplunge (implŭ·nj), v. Also 6 emplonge, mplunge [f IM 1 + PLUNGE v.²] trans To nge in or into also + to) Now rare

590 SPENSER F Q III x 17 Mildeco Into huge waves grefe and gealosy Full deepe emplonged was 1602 ST Pathu Heaven 324 The most dangerous gulfe of orance, wherein multitudes are implunged 1639 TON Holy Warr VI 22 He implunged himself in ch just hatred for his unjust dealing and treachery 1855 LEY Mystic 130 As since, In mountain tarn volcanic, one and crown, The imperial pagan of the west im nged

Implu·vious, a rare—0 [f IM- 1 + PLUVIOUS] ' Wet with rain ' (Blount Glossogr 1656) nce † Implu viousness (Bailey vol II 1727)

Impluvium (implū·viŏm), [f impluere, implūtre to rain into] In ancient Roman uses, the square basin situated in the middle of atrium or hall, which received the rain water m the COMPLUVIUM or open space in the roof at sometimes also used in the same sense as splunium) b See quot 1811

1811 HOOPER Med Dict, Impluvium, the shower bath embrocation 1823 CRABB Technol Dict s v, The fluvium differs from the compluvium, according to tus in this, that the rain falls down into the Impluvium, collects from different parts of the roof into the Com vium 1832 GELL Pompeiana I viii 146 The atrium h its impluvium near the centre, under which was a ern 1834 LYTTON Pompeii I iii, A square, shallow rvoir for rain water, classically termed impluvium 0 BLACKMORE Notes Eden (1881) 21 Trouble overflowed impluvium mply (implə·i), v Forms a 4 anplige, 6 iplie, -plye β 5 inplige, 5 ymplie, 4 7 implie, -plye, 6- imply γ 6-7 imploy, 6 employ see EMPLOY v (sense 5) [a OF emplie-r — implicare to infold, involve, f im- (IM-1) + plicare to fold, with subseq substitution of the L form the prefix The OF vb was orig inflected, ording to position of the stress ім emplie r, s and emplie-t, emplee-s, emplei-et, emplio-ns, plie-z, emplie-nt, imperative emplie-s, emplie-z, ence, by levelling, arose the two variant forms emplier, and (2) empleer, later employer, employer Of these, mod F retains only the latter, ile Eng has imply from OF , and EMPLOY from er 15th c F Imply retained the classical L sense of implicare, from which sense a appears to be a strictly English development, but instances of exchange between imply and employ are not infrequent in 16–17th c (See sense 4 below, and EMPLOY v 5)]

† 1 trans To enfold, enwrap, entangle, involve in it and fig senses Obs

1376 CHAUCER Boeth V met 1 117 (Camb MS) The wateres I medlyd wrappith or impleth many fortunel happes e 1380 WYCLIF Serm Sel Wks I 370 If a prelate imples him wip seculer medes c 1440 Alph Tale 1 Hatful pe to be enplied wip seculer baundes c 1450 tr De Imitatione III xxvii 97 Wherto wrappest pou & ymplest piself? Hist xxiii 98 Implie be not wip lowes pat are not committed to pe 1590 SPENSER F Q I iv 31 An hatefull Snake, the which his tuile ingyres In many folds, and mortall sting implyes Ibid VI 6 Phoebus His blushing face in foggy cloud implyes c 1611 CHAPMAN Iliad XI 315 Lovely Iris into took the veil, and with it she implies The great Pallidum 1853 J H Etna Ser II Pref If he be ingenious to imply and twine with his own identity the griefs and affections of another [etc]

2 To involve or comprise as a necessary logical consequence, to involve the truth or existence of (something not expressly asserted or maintained)

1529 MORE Dyalog I Wks 177/2 Two such thinges as imply contradiction 1557 MRS BASSO tr More in Cassiod Ded 1853/1 Vy thing, as y principal point of briefly emplyeth all the re t 1581 J SANDFORD Trem II ii (1588) 135 His Assault doth not always necessarily emplie a hitting 1600 GERARDE Herb Ingels 344 That assume as false which is inconsistent or agreeth not with it selfe but implieth a contradiction in it 1653 WALTON Angler 171 In Job mention is made of fish hooks, which must imply Anglers in those times 1765 BURKE Corr (1844) III 127 There are situations in which despair does not imply inactivity 1861 HAMILTON Tente Ch I xvi, Often when no commendation is expressly given, it is distinctly implied

b With substantive clause as object

1681–6 J SERGEANT Solid Philos (1697) III 224 The Resurrection of the same Body doth not necessarily imply that all the same Matter shall be raised 1876 GLADSTONE Homeric Synchr 162 The text of the Poems implies that Sidon was the great and leading city

c Of a word or name To involve by signification or import, to signify, import, mean

1589 PUTTENHAM Eliz Poesie (1810) 85 Villa impleth a court house, or chief place in the lord a manor 1660 WILKINSON Scales Comm 21 His trading is called Barter, derived from Baratta signifying an exchange of commodities 1737 [S BURRITON] Gr & Lucca's Mean 126 Luke a true Father of his People, which the Name implies

† 3 To involve as a condition, to be dependent to 1634 SIR T HERBERT Trav 151 The horses feed usually of barley and chopt straw put into a bag, and fastned about their heads, which implies their manger

† 4 To mean or intend for Obs

1663 COWLEY Verses and Occas, Ode Hartrey to From all the Souls that living Building rear, Whether imply'd for Earth, or Sea, or Air, A sure Account to him is hourly brought

5 To express indirectly, to insinuate, hint at 1581 J BELL Haddons Answ Osor 36 He that forsyght doth a thyng to be done in afore, doubtles not covertly emplye that the same was done before? 1593 DRAYTON Legend 1748 Which emblazon unto thy Lessons due imply 1641 MILTON Ch Govt Pref, The reasons therefor are not formally set downe because to him that heeds attentively, they easily imply themselves 1774 GOLDSM Nat Hist (1862) II iv 49 His figure implies the stupidity of his disposition 1849 I TAYLOR Certon iii, Dimly implying, some such thing, which he kept still to himself 1870 FREEMAN Norm Conq (ed 2) I App 636 It is not directly asserted, but it seems to be implied Mod What do you mean to imply?

† 4 = EMPLOY v Obs

a 1533 LD BERNERS Gold Bk Marcus Aurel (1546) Fcvjb To leaue theyr riches to theyr vnkinde children yl implied 1588–9 DEPOSITIONS Star Chamber (Camden) 17 A much which your Mother has implied a friend about for you

¶ 5 † a = APPLY v 6 Obs

a 1600 BOSWELL (1650) 364 That tenant deserues to be thrust out of house and home that implieth all the best roomes vnto the basest offices † b To ascribe, attribute. = APPLY v 11 Obs a 1659 WARD Simp & Sophist for Cuckold 13, Whence might this distaste arise? Is it your perverse and peevish will, to whom I most imply it?

Impl ment, obs f EMPLOYMENT

Impne, obs form of HYMN

Impocket (impŏ·ket), v Also em- [IM-1] trans To put into one's pocket, to pocket

1728 [? DE FOE] Carleton's Mem 57 The vulgar Sort stood staring, and with their Hands impocketed 1796 Mod Gallatteer's Tour 68 As soon as I had impocketed the gifts he waved me to sit by him 1884 [see EMPOCKET] 1887 M B EDWARDS Next of Kin II ii 17 There he sat hands impocketed

† Impoignant, a Obs rare—1. [f IM- 2 + POIGNANT] Not sharp or piquant

1723 CHEYNE Reg Medendi II v § 6 to (1734) 168 Such unprovoking and impoignant Vitals

Impoison, -ing, etc, obs var EMPOISON, etc

1494 FABYAN Chron I clvii By the impoysonynge of his own wyfe 1530 PALSGR 590/1, I impoyson 1557–1733 [see EMPOISON v.] 1595 BARNFIELD Hist Clergy during French Reu 55 Impoisoned by these pestilent men.

† Impoke, v Obs. In 7 impoake [f IM-1 + Poke 2b after F empocher] = IMPOUCH

1611 COTGR, Empoché, impoaked, impounched Hist Lunatiks, unsatchelled, imposked

† Impo larxly, adv Obs rare—1 [f IM- 2 + POLARLY + -LY 2] Not according to polarity

1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep II iii 68 Being impolarily adjoyned unto a more vigorous Loadstone, it will in a short time exchange it poles

Impo larizable, a [f IM- 2 + POLARIZABLE] Not capable of having polarized

1882 MAURICE Hospitaller's Elect II ii 240 The same may be said of Guns Bauder s so called implantable battery

Impolicy (impŏ·lisi) [f IM- 2 + POLICY, after impolitic cf F impolice] The quality of being impolitic, bad policy, incapdency

1747 MALLET Amyntor & Theod Pref 11 Those who governed Scotland under him with no less cruelty than impolicy, made the people of that country despise the 1798 MRS WHITNEY in Owen Diss 1877 45 An act of such flagrant impolicy and injustice 1887 HAITAM Const Hist (1876) II viii 92 He was itself was suppressed in the King s impolicy 1856 FROUDE Hist Eng (1858) II iv 370] they) expressed themselves in no measured terms at the impolicy of this most foolish action

† Impo lished, a Obs [f IM- 2 + POLISHED] Unpolished, devoid of polish, rude, unrefined

1583 STUBBES Anat Abus I Ep Ded (1877) 6 So rude and impolished a worke 1625 MASSINGER Renegado III ii 68 At Const antinople the houses are commonly of impolished stone and flint 1668 LADY Morrison, Memt Mary (Arb) 55 A blunt Man is none whose wit hath polished the bis behaviour, and that course, and Impolisht 1684 N S Cent Eng Lett Table xxx 506 His impolish'd and erron cous translation

Impolite (impəla·t), a [ad L impolitus ad, f. im (IM- 2 + polit us polished, POLITE Cf F impoli (16th c) It impolito FLORIO]

† 1 Not polished, wanting polish or smoothness of surface Obs

1621 BURTON Anat Mel II iii 1 ii m (1651) 423 Withered old men very harsh and impolite to the eye 1657 TOM HEAKE Arcana Disp 459 Outwardly scabre and impolite

† 2 Wanting polish or refinement, unpolished, rude, rough Obs

1618 DRAYTON Poly-olb x Notes 169 Lest some more im polite hand hath sow'd many patches of base cloth into the more rich web 1669 POPE Lorrain Jrnl II (1888) 9 A Book so impolite as this is 1699 EVELYN Mem (1857) III 378 All those windings and meanders which rendered the situation so delicate and impolite

3 Wanting polite or courteous manners, un civil, discourteous rude

1739 G OGLE Gualtherus & Grizelda 43 Polite or Im polite, I weigh not what is thought, but what is Right 1836 JEFFREY Lett in Ld Cockburn Life II xxxviii I am afraid I must have appeared very impolite in not having previously answered your letter of the 21th 1870 MRS BROUGHTON Red as Rose I 62 About the impolitest remark she could make † Impoli ted, a Obs [f I impolit us (see prec) + -ED] = prec 2

1597 A M tr Gallimard's Fr Charg 76b Beblede and polluted with my unpolisheds stile

Impolitely (impəla·tli), adv [f IMPOLITE a + -LY 2] In an impolite manner, incivilly, discourteously, rudely

1730–6 in BAILEY (folio) 1772 in ASH 1855 MACAULAY Hist Eng xiv III 468 I shall not be impolitely dismissed as being neither good English nor good sense 1865 Athenæum 28 Jan 122 I They have, however, the virtue, they rarely lose their temper or speak impolitely

Impoliteness (impəla·tnės) [f as prec + -NESS] The quality of being impolite, want of politeness, incivility, discourteous rudeness

a 1773 CHESTERF Charac, Walpole (1777 20 The impolite ness of his manners seemed to stand in need of apology 1827 Lett fr Madras (1843) 114 One has to dismiss one s own visitor as they generally think it an impoliteness to go away of their own accord 1830 HERSCHEL Voyage Galapagos 11, It would have been the height of impoliteness.

Impolitic (impŏ·litik), a [f IM- 2 + POLITIC Cf F impolitique (1750 in Hatz Darm)] Not politic, not according to good policy, unsuitable for the end proposed or desired, incapdient a 1600 HOOKER (J) He that exhorteth to beware of an enemy s policy, doth not give counsel to be impolitick 1679 PURCH Infall Navig Pref 6 Also to Solve that vain im politique Murder 1783 V HAMILTON in Sparks Corr Amer Rev (1853) IV 173 I often feel a mortification, which it would be impolitic to express 1797 BURKE Regic Peace in Wks VIII 151 The most unjust and impolitick of all things, unequal taxation 1884 Manch Exam 21 May 5/3 It is impolitic to adopt an attitude of hostility to what is inevitable

† Impolitic, v Obs In 7 -ique [f IM-1 + POLITIC a] trans To incorporate or engraft into the body politic

1613 CHAPMAN Isocrates D Imbous Plays 1873 II 149 Wee my impolitique our selues (as it were) into the kingdomes body politique

† Impoli tical, a Obs [f IM- 2 + POLITICAL] = IMPOLITIC a

1758 RICHARDSON Clarissa IV (1811) VIII 261 Out upon me for an impolitical wretch! 1775 W CRAIG Serm (1848) II 18 Instead of being a prudent or human Contrivance the Sabbath would become a very impolitical and hurtful one 1791–1823 D ISRAELI Cur Liter Amenames, The impolitical prosecution of Sacheverell 1843 J H NEWMAN Lett (1891) II 414 A very impolitical step

Impoli tically, adv [f prec + -LY 2] = IMPOLITICLY

Impoliticalness. [f as prec + -NESS] = IMPOLITICNESS, IMPOLITY

1695 J. SAGE Article Wks. 1844 I 275 The impoliticalness, the uncatholicalness of most, if not all, of these propositions

Impoliticly (impǝ·litikli), adv [f IMPOLITIC a. + -LY 2] In an impolitic manner, not in accordance with good policy, inexpedently

1608 BACON Rep. in the Comm. in Reconciliation (1656) 20 In the pursuites of their own Remedies they do it so impolitiquely 1652-62 HEYLIN Cosmogr. II (1682) 66 Impolitickly dismembred from the chief of that Horde 1791 JOHNSON Rambler No. 97 P 33 Even fine faces, often seen here less regarded than new faces, the proper punishment of shows, girls, for rendering themselves so impolitickly cheap 1854 H. ROGERS Ess. (1860) II 81 Those who have most impolitickly styled themselves the advocates of 'moral necessity'

Impolitickness. [f as prec + -NESS] The quality of being impolitic, impolicy

1680 R. MANSELL Narr Lopez's Inst Addr. cij, The same excellent Impolitickness of Expression used in these other Writings 1745 Lond. Mag. Index xv Hungary, Queen of, The Impoliticknes of joining with her in an offensive War

† Impolin to, v Obs [f IM-2 + polline POLLUTE (cf. impollu, as in 1506 impolut (Godef.)) next

1382 WYCLIF Heb. VII 26 It bycam that such a man were bisy bup to vs, holy, innocent, impolute [Lat. or ful clene] 1563-87 FOXE A. & M. (1596) 279 I A true bishop innocent, impolute

† Impollu ted, a Obs [f as prec + -ED1, or f IM-2 + POLLUTED] Unpolluted undefiled

1598 UDALL, etc. Froem. Table xvii 1010 Kept then these Ilewe and impolluted from all contagious infections of the worlde. 1585 J. WASHINGTON tr. Nicholay's Voy. to Jer. 86 b, Ioo be impollluted of body and obseruers of vnspotte 1668 H. MORE Philos. Writ. Pref. Gen. 9 The natural cohesion of Truth with an impolluted Soul

So † Impollution Obs. rare —1

1611 FLORIO Impolutione impollution undefiledness

Imponderability (impǝ·nderabi·liti) [f next + -ITY] The quality of being imponderable

1794 G. ADAMS Nat. & Exp. Philos. I 221 The imponderability of this principle (phlogiston) may be considered as a kind of axiom 1847 in CRAIG

Imponderable (impǝ·nderabl), a and sb [f IM-2 + PONDERABLE (Cf. F impondérable Dict. Acad. 1835)]

A. adj. Not ponderable

a (Chiefly in Physics.) Having no weight, destitute of weight applied formerly to light, heat, electricity, etc., regarded as material substances, and still to the luminiferous 'ether'

1794 G. ADAMS Nat. & Exp. Philos. I 221 Phlogiston, a substance as imponderable as fire 1822 IMISON Sci. & Art II 33 Light is reckoned among the imponderable bodies 1852 H. MAYO Infid. Superst. (ed. 2) 70 Mind, like electricity is an imponderable force 1852 Pantheism Tract & Soc. Poetry & Imag. Wks. (Bohn) III 146 The invisible and imponderable is the sole Real

fig. 1814 SOUTHEY Roderick xxiii, Creeds like colours, being, by accident or therefore in the sole imponderable

b Having no appreciable weight, of extremely small weight or amount

1846 G. E. DAY tr. Liebig's Anim. Chem. II 23 The bile pigment in healthy bile is imponderable

B sb. An imponderable substance or agent

1842-3 GROVE Corr. Phys. Forces 110 If it be admitted that one of the so-called imponderables is a mode of motion 1858 O. W. HOLMES Int. Breakf. T. xi 53 It is the imponderables that move the world. Just electricity, for instance. 1866 DE MORGAN Budget of Paradoxes (ed. 2) 150 Nothing, which our scales can measure is lost when the vital force is gone. It is the Great Imponderable

Hence Impo nderableness, Impo nderably adv., without any weight

1847 CRAIG, Imponderableness, the state of being imponderable 1890 Lippincott's Mag. M 673 He saw her in that shiny light imponder ably poised

† Impo nderate, v Obs [f IM-1 + ponderare, ponderat to weigh, f pondus, ponder weight] trans. To place a weight upon to weight, load

1667 WATERHOUSE Fire Found 41 (H.) imponderates the judgement with a weighter note of Gods displeasure

Imponderous (impǝ·ndǝrǝs), a. rare [f IM-2 + PONDEROUS] Without weight, imponderable

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. II v 86 They posture visible and reall effects by imponderous and invisible emissions 1798 Monthly Ir. XXVI 360 1827 CARLYLE Germ. Lit. in Misc. Ess. (1857) I 71 Motion in vacuo is well known to be speedier and surer than through a resisting medium, especially to imponderous bodies 1892 Leisure Hour Feb. 234/2 Those moral sentices which belong to the category of imponderous but important duties

b loosely Having no appreciable weight, 'weightless', extremely light

1851 CARLYLE Sterling III v 206 Deluges of sorrow, ashes and imponderous pumice stones. 1858 – Frederick II xiv (1872) I 227 I like an imponderous rag of conspicuous colour

Hence Impo nderousness (Craig, 1847)

† Impo ne, v Obs [ad L. impōn-ĕre to put, place, or lay on, f im (IM-1) + pōnĕre to place]

1 trans To place or set upon something, to impose

1509 St. Papers Hen VIII. II 150 The proffyttes of suche impositions, that is to say, of bestes, or other thyng, that at an entire or exployte shalbe imponed or had 1533 Hall's Chron. 364 I beseche you so to impone your fauour, as that the vygor and seuerytie of the lawe be not executed vpon this thyng 1709-39 W. MANDEY Syst. Math., Arith. 70 Impone points, from the right hand, always intermitting two places.

† 2 To 'lay', stake, wager Of doubtful standing Cf IMPAWN)

1616 SHAKS. Ham. v. ii 155 (1623) The King sir ha's wag'd with him six Barbary Horses, against the which he imponed (as I take it) six French Rapiers and Poniards [Qos 2-5 (1604-11) impaund, Qo 6 (1637) impawn'd] Ibid 171 Why is this impon'd as you call it? [Not in Qos]

2 intr To impose upon

1620 SIR T. DENNY Proper Sacrif (1644) 32 You will impone upon the ignorant

Imponent (impǝ·nent), a and sb [ad L. imponent em, pres. pple of impōnĕre, see prec.]

A. adj. That imposes a 1888 J. H. GURNEY Prof. to 1 Thes. ii 323 Were there no Church Moral duties would still be associated with the imagination of an imponent authority, whose injunctions they would be supposed to be

B sb. One who imposes

1842 PUSEY Certain Resp. (ed. 4) 45 While the Bishop regards the framers of the Synod at Sardis as the imponents of ours, he sanctions the Catholic interpretation as much as ourselves 1850 C. WORDSWORTH Occas. Serm. Ser. I 132 The Articles are the Articles of the Church. She is the imponent 1863 J. G. MURPHY Comm. Exod. xxii 9-11 The parent is the voluntary imponent, and the child merely the passive recipient of the sign of the covenant

† Impo rt, v Obs [f IM-1 + PORT cf emrich] trans. To make poor, to impoverish

1613 W. BROWNE Sheph. Pipe iii 72 Neither wastes, nor theeues, nor fire, Nor haue ours impour'd this sure † Impo rtune, a Obs [f IM-2 + PORTUNE cf. mod F impopulaire (1835 Dict. Acad.)] Unpopular Hence † Impo pularly adv.

1721 Swift Lett. to Pope 8 It was 1706 VIII 24 The cause has been very odious and impopular 1736 Hist. Inc. brock Patriot (1749) 240 They dipped the house of Hanover in our party quarrels unreasonably — and impopularly

† Impo rtune, v Obs. rare. [f IM-2 + PORTUNE] Not porous, having no pores

1656 SIR T. BROWNE Vulg. Err. II v 85 His body as left impooren'd 1658 ROWLAND Moufet's Theat. 1090 Solid and imporous wood 1691 RAY Creation (1692) 26 Those Atomes are perfectly solid and imporous

Impori (impōr·ai), v Also 5 impr, 6 emport e, ymporte, 6–7 importe [ad F importer to carry or bring in, f im- (IM-1) + portare to carry Also, in part, ad F emporter, OI enporter, L. inde portare* to carry away]

I From literal senses of L. importare

1 trans To bring in, to introduce from a foreign or external source, or from one use, connexion, or rel tion into another

1508 SKELTON Ir Sparrow 216 That To me it myght importe Some pleasure and comforte 1623 COCKERAM, Importune, import the Some of a thing 1646 CRASHAW Steps to Temple 82 Good fortunes without pain imported be. 1651-3 JER. TAYLOR Serm. for Year (1678) 284 He that carries the name but not the indeared nature of his Brother notices of faith, and incomes of spiritual propositions 1774 WARTON Hist. Eng. Poetry I lxxx 136 They imported with them into England the old Runic Tongue, and other northern customs 1798 Monthly Mirror II 1 31 The human element was gradually more and more imported into the divine 1872 HARDY Poor Relig. 3 30 You have the lie and your hatred imports free into your constitution 1879 MEANY Elem. Anat xii 401 The function of importing oxygen into the blood

2 spec To bring in or cause to be brought in (goods or merchandise) from a foreign country in international commerce Opposed to export

1548 HALL Chron., Hen. IV 169 b, That the said estreating should not be transported into and out of this realme all suche marchandises 1670 HEYLIN Lex Tal. Herbley Wks. 1731 II 217 Iiel and runs every Year an eighth Part in Debt by importing so much beyond its Exportation 1797 BURKE Corr IV 413 We import things of great value, and, in return, export little or nothing 1841 W. SPALDING Italy & It. Isl. I 91 There were collected duties ad valorem on men, handise imported and exported 1851 GOSCHEN For. & Exch. 17 A country which has large sums of interest to pay annually abroad must import so much less or export so much more

3 To convey to another, communicate (information, etc) Obs exc as merged in 1 or 5 c

1565 Q. ELIZ. in Ellis Orig. Lett. Ser. II III 304 Your letters of the xxiiith of January directed to our Secretary, and by him imported to us and our Council 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng. Poesie I xxi (Arb.) 59 The profitable sciences were meete to be imported to the greater number of chiefe men for instruction of the people 1726 CAVALIER Mem. IV 303, I was not able to import the variety of torment that were used, and if I knew it, I would save his Majesty the pain of hearing the rehearsal of them [1847 EMERSON Poems (1857) 77 Hearts to hearts their meaning show, Sum their long experience, And import intelligence.]

† 4 To bring about, cause, occasion, to carry with it or involve as a consequence or result Obs

1550 CROWLEY Way to Wealth Prol., Certenlye the greatnes of your sinnes importeth as great destruction to you as if ye were the same Ninnites. c 1555 HARPSFIELD Hen. VIII (Camden) 59 It must needs then be a matter of marvellous moment, that should indeed and import a divorce between two such excellent personages 1581 J. BELL Haddon's Answ. Osor 219 b, If these dealynges emporte not a generall ouerthrow of all lawfull and publicke gouernementes, let the accuser hym selfe deny it 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 87 Searched for concealed Slaves, and goods contraband: which (if found) import the losse of both 1706 of ship and liberty 1708 STANHOPE Paraphr I 24 The Salvation will import that Bliss which the Faithful expect

5 a To carry with it, as involved in its nature, to involve, to imply, betoken, indicate 1529 MORE Suppl. Souls Wks. 326/1 It importeth also pitie and open blasphemy 1548 Gest. Pr. Maske Hvb Honoure and prayer importe the presence of the personall maiestye where they be exhibited to him 1600 SHAKS. Sonn. cxxvii, To keepe an adiunct to remember thee, Were to import forgerie 1612 Lond. Custom. Merch. in Monum. Records Ireland 59 Their Lordships giving Warrant to print any Paper comming from his Majestie did not import that approbation of the contents thereof 1667 SMITH Myst Khet 11 Admitted to sacrifice to Him, which was a dignity importing honour 1884 Law Rep 26 Ch. Div 331 Release by deed under seal imports valuable consideration and creates an estoppel

b To convey in its meaning, to bear the meaning of, to imply, signify, denote, mean

1533 MORE Def. Value Wks. 956/1 If he sayth, im porteth alwaye a doubte 1574 WHITGIFT Def. Answ 1 Wks (Parker Soc.) I 162 The words of Christ rather import the contrary 1577 Holinshed's Chron. III 1000/2 Expy Decule containeth (as the word importeth) ten 1581 MULCASTER Positions xxxvii (1887) 163 The publike acknowledging of him to be such a one, as the sentence porteth 1615 G. SANDYS Trav. 129 Sabbath imports as much as a theefe 1703 MAUNDRELL Journ Jerus (1721) 115 Heliopolis, or City of the Sun, for that the word imports a 1716 SOUTH Serm (1717) VI 427 Having thus seen, what it imported in a Man's trusting his Heart 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng III 1 366 The knee was exactly what the word imports

c To bear as its purport, to convey as information, to express, state, make known

c 1440 LYDG Min Poems (1800) 117 At goode leyser dothe the matter see, Which importithe grete intelligence 1576 FLEMING Panopl Epist 342 Hee beganneth his letter with a kinde of speache importing his inwarde gladnesse 1595 I. P. Guiscard & Sismond Bianchamfyn 1, Amongst many antient Chronicles importing the haughtie exploites of sundry nations 1647 SIR L. NICHOLAS in J. Papers (Camden) 81, I cannot get ready so soon as your letter imports 1777 HOWARD Prisons Eng (1780) 93 Over the gate is an inscription importing that it was erected by Pope Pius V in the year 1569 1849 MACAULAY Hist Eng I 478 His Privy passed a resolution importing that they relied with entire confidence on His Majesty's gracious promise d To signify (something) to (a person) reported

1591 SHAKS. 1 Hen. VI, I 1 2 Comets importing change of Times and States 1728 DE FOE Plague (1840) 21 But those two comets passed directly over the city, and over it we plain they imported something peculiar to the city alone 1727 – Syst. Magic I vi (1840) 159 Comets import great changes and troubles among men

II From med L, lit. importare, F importer

6 intr To involve a considerable or weighty result (actual or possible), to be of consequence or significance, to be important, 'signify', matter (Only in 3rd person, with various constructions, as IT 7 arch

1588 R. PARKE tr Mendoza's Hist China 223 They did certifie him, that it was a thing that did import verie much 1617 MORYSON Itin I 242 Neither imported it where we lodged 1625 BACON Ess., Empire (Arb.) 507 The true Placing of them, importeth exceedingly 1675 EVELYN Terra (1729) 35 So little does it import to have it profound 1765 H. WALPOLE Otranto i (1798) 26 What imported it to me whether I was seized a moment sooner, or a minute later? 1846 TRENCH Mirac. xxvii (1862) 87 For them it greatly imports that they should understand this

7 trans To be of consequence or importance to, to relate to, have to do with, to concern (Only in third person) a with simple subject (a) with personal object (? orig dative)

1588 SHAKS. 1 & 2 Hen VI iii 1 99 They mistooke it importeth none here. It is writ to Jaquenetta 1591 UPTON Corr (Roxb.) 164, I humbly acknowledge her Majesties favor in lyuetwenge my returne, which dothe very much importe me 1649 BP. HALL Cases Conscr IV vi (1654) 349 So great a work and so highly importing us as matrimony 1700 BP. PATRICK Comm. Deut xxxii 1 I do admonish their posterity of such things, as they thought most imported them 1860 MILL Repr. Govt (1861) 303 There is nothing which more vitally imports the America people, than to guard [etc.] 1865 Q. Rev CXVII 480 It is a question that imports us nearly

(b) with impersonal object

1586 A. DAY Eng. Secretary I (1625) 9 [Letters] bearing in them a resolute purpose importing the present affaires. 1653 H. COGAN tr Pinto's Trav VI 14 Affairs very much importing the surety of the Fortress 1703 ROWE Ulyss

iv 1, It may Import the Safety of my Royal Parents a 1718 Penn Innocency Wks 1726 I 266 Religion which doth more essentially import the immortal Happiness of Men 1819 Mackintosh Sp. Ho. Commons 29 Apr., Wks 1846 III 315 The King's Ministers, whose character it does most deeply import b with infin phrase as subject, usually placed after the object, the verb being introduced by it, also (poet) with impersonal construction, it being omitted Here the sense often amounts to 'behove, be incumbent on, be the duty of'

1561 Norton & Sackv Gorboduc I ii 5 Nowe more importeth me the rest to vse Your fauth and wo wishe 1579 Bp North Plutarch (1656) 86 Showing how much it importeth a nobleman and magistrate, taking weighte causes, to have his ears open to heare 1632 J Haward tr Bondt's Fromond 1 (Though a child) he knew already what it imported him to be Just borne and what it was to bee a younger Brother 1663 Butler Hud I Append 41 It more importeth us to proceed 1726-8 Hume Hist Eng. Ixvii (1806) V 72 It imports us to get all the aid and assistance we can 1820 Scott Ivanhoe xxxvi Let me say what it imports thee to know 1868 Farrar Seien & Fr I ix (1870) 157, I know nothing which it more solemnly imports us to realize

c with subordinate clause as subject, the verb introduced by it as in b

1588 Orders for Span Fleet in Hart Misc (Park) I 117 It importeth that all the armes do go close together 1695 Dryden Lysan Love v 1 Wks 1883 III 449 It much imports me that this truth I know 1726 tr Du Bos's Lutrin (1908) 41 What matter is it you how I am employ'd 1819 Shelley Cenci iv 77 It much imports your house That all should be made clear

III. From Fr importer

†8 a. To carry, lead, or induce (a person to do something) b To influence in feeling, 'carry away', 'transport' Obs rare

1589 Pvenets Eng Poesie III ii Sweet iv Muse Wrt 1869 18 The small imitation which their pennes had to the sciences imported them to despise and neglect men of vile parts not emplo'yable 1652 – Nat. France ibid 47 Women and children, who are commonly more imported with wonder and romance, than that solid and real emolument which is to be conveyed to us

†9 To obtain, gain, win (victory) b trans To gain the victory over, to conquer, overcome (Cf Carry v 16) Obs

1598 Barret Theor Warres III ii 75 The most valiantest and skilfullest therin do commonly import the victorie 1600 Holland Livy xxii 12 40 In the end, Romane constancie imported a hd the upper hand Ibid liv Epit 1243 But Supio imployed and prevailed in the end 1624 Brief Inform Of Palatinate 50 The enemies had enterprised to import and to conquer all the low Palatinate

Import (import, formerly impō·rt), sb [f Import v]

I 1 The fact of importing or signifying something, that which a thing (esp a document, phrase, word, etc) involves, implies, betokens, or indicates, purport, significance, meaning

1611 Shaks Wint T II i 39 What's the import? 1685 Sir Norm (1692) I 445 Of all the Spiritual tracks and legerdemain, there is none so common, and of so fatal an import as these I wo 1729 Butler Sermons II i (1737) 37 Husband and King Are names of no mean import 1781 Cowper Expostulation 398 Stiff in the letter, lax in the design And import of their oracles divine 1817 Byron Manfred II ii 190 She replied In words of dubious import 1887 Gladstone Gleanings VI 41 In such a construction follows the natural import of the words

2 The quality or condition of having great or weighty significance, consequence, importance

1598 Shaks 2 H. IV v 106 Importunate and most serious designes, and of great import indeed too 1647 Hall Hard Texts iii 31 39 Bristoll, a place of great import 1703 Rowe Ulysses v 3 I have some Matters Of great and high Import 1860 Lindau Gila II xiv 198, I never supposed that passages of such cardinal import, could have been overlooked 1872 Brad Phaeton xxvii, Something of mighty import had just occurred

II 3 That which is imported or brought in, a commodity imported from abroad (Usually in pl) Opposed to export 1690 Child Disc Trade (1698) 167 The Imports exceed the Exports. 1746 Lockman To 1st Promoter Cambrick & Tea Bills 24 Whence no supplies their imports could create 1769 Burke Sc. of Nat Wks II 73 Your import is your own food, as much your own, as that you raise out of your own soil 1845 M'Culloch Taxation II x (1852) 151 Every increase of imports is attended, sooner, directly or indirectly, in equal increase of exports.

b attrib

1789 Bisset Late St. Nat Wks II 71 A merely luxurious consumption is the idea too generally and loosely annexed to our import article 1796 Colquhoun Police, Metrop (1797) 107 It can generally be uttered at its full import value 1817 F Robinson Port Duty 56 In the first import duty on coals was nearly equal to our export duty. 1897 Mary Kingsley W Africa 613 They are mainly carriers of import goods

4 The action of importing, importation

1797-8 Wellington in Owen Mary Wollstn's Dispt (1927) 285 The import of Bengal articles ought to be as free for private traders as for the Company 1861 Goschen Inv Exch II It is an error to look on the balance of trade as a mere question of import and export

Importabl ility. [f Importable a 2 see -ity] Capability of being imported or introduced 1865 Morning Star 20 Apr, As regards the importability of the nervous disease, our danger is apparently nothing, or next to nothing

†Importable, a 1 Obs Also 5-6 inp- [a F importable (1328 in Godef) = It importabile (Florio), ad L importabil-is unbearable, insupportable, f im- (Im-1) portabilis bearable, Portable] That cannot be carried or borne, rarely fig too heavy to be carried, usually fig too grievous or painful to be borne, unbearable, intolerable.

c1386 Chaucer Monk's T 324 (612) His pepres were in portable c 1400 Rom Rose 6010 They wicke wordes folkawes Burdens that ben importable 1440 J Shirley Dethe K James (1818) 26 With the vnportable pyne of turment he ended hym pitously 1475 Ratcliffe Arch II 488 Many grete and importable charges and expenses a 1533 Ld Berners Huon cxli 544 In all my lyfe I haue had but sorow and heuynes, and dolours importable 1587 Hevwood Contn Holinshed III 1412/2 Vnder the import able yoke of the detestable inquisition of Spaine 1632 Sander Sow Scrm (1681) I 291 We lay upon our own shoulders heavy and importable burdens 1651 Cat Howard Hist Abus (Woolrow Soc.) III 662 The poorer sort could not bear the importable wafers intended

Hence †Impor rtableness, the quality of being unsupportable, unbearableness †Impor rtably adv, unbearably, intolerably

a 1540 Hocleve De Reg Princ 356 It shalle us greeve Importable 1596 Anr Parsons Cons (Parker 1604) 59 That we be not hereafter importably charged with the setting forth of men of war 1677 Hale Contempt II 109 Though they be the same, yet it finds no such severity and importableness in it

Importable (impōə·rtăb l, a 2 [f Import v + -able] Capable of being brought in or introduced b That may be imported from abroad

1533 Moes Detell Sadoun Arb. Hanan is not the losse and the damage vnto the spyrytuelle alone, but hurme is importable vnto the whole realme 1755 Hoskyns Journ (1962) II xix 441 It is importable only under oath of losing for private use 1812 J Smith Pract of Customs I 181 Tea is only importable in Casks of not less than 60 gallons 1814 Cobbett in Smiles J Murray (1891) I 295 An attempt to import whatever is importable of other sort both into our own language

Importance (impō·rtăns, -pō··t) [a F importance (1539 in R Estienne), or ad med L importantia (1496 in Du Cange) = It importanza, Sp importancia, f importans, tant ens Important see -ance]

I 1 The fact or quality of being important, the fact of importing or signifying much (or, with qualifying word, of having some degree of import), moment, significance, gravity, weight, consequence

1508 Wotney in J Gairdner Lett Rich III & Hen VII, Rolls) I 439 I have herryd no thyng of importance to be lernyd to your grace 1513 More in Grafton Chron II (1568) 781 Hee shewed his seruauntes that he had tidinges of no great importance, that [etc] 1531 Elyot Gov II xvii, Euery treasur .. is nat to be esteamed worthy to be in thynges inconuenient, and of small importaunce. 1586 Leycester Corr (Camden) 201 A towne of greatest importance 1611 Bacon Ess (Arb) 161 There is a question to be answered of much importance 1773 Observ State Ireland 85 His preservation of health is of not more importance than the preservation of morals 1844 H H Wilson Brit India II 521 A consideration of secondary importance 1886 C R Markham Peru Bark xii 209 Here was the birth of a man of importance

b Per omni consequence, consideration, or dignity (In first quot humorously as a title)

1678 Dryden Limberham v, Pleas You hind, sweet master? Lim And kept too my contributary importance 1712 14 Pope Rape Lock i 35 Fairest of mortals thy own importance know, Nor bound thy narrow views to things below 1748 Anson's Voy (1776) 231 Many of them look upon themselves born to reign and others to obey soon grow to think their minds are only poisoned by import ance 1874 Green Short Hist v § 1 24 His family, though not noble, seems to have been of some importance

c Dignity of style or manner, an air of consequence, pomposity

1607 Hieron Jacobs (1877) 14 The sacred trume with Musicke take the way, Where, with importance euery rite is done

†2 An important matter, an affair of consequence (in quot 1611, with qualifying context, of slight consequence) Obs

1570 Levins Manip 21/15 Importance, magnu res 1611 Shaks Cymb I iv 45 It had been pitty you should haue been cast together with so mortall a purpose vpon import ance of so slight and trifull a nature 1664 Butler Hud II iii 1 To whom all people, far and near, On deep importances repair a 1670 Hacket Abp Williams I (1692) 14 He searched into the notable particularities of all kingdoms, republics and their churches, with all the important es that hung upon them

†3 Urgency, importunity, solicitude Obs

1653-87 Pepys Diary I 63 (1684) III 190 The shortness of time, and the sad hungers importance is only the let 1595 Shaks John II i 17 At our importance hither is he come, To spread his colours boy, in thy behalfe 1624 Heywood Gunaik 43 [Notorious] solicited him, and that with great importance to select some beautifull ladie whom he best fancied 1779-81 Johnson Lives, Drake Wks IV 389 A minister had prayed by with sails and oars, and all the appearance of expedition and importance

II †4 = Import sb 1, signification, meaning purport Obs

1552 Huloet, Importance, or meanynge, or signification of wordes 1563 Fovxe A & M 706/1 Many more wordes of like importance 1611 Shaks Wint T v ii 20 The wrest beholder could not say if th' importance were lost, or Sorow 1626 Jackson Creed viii xix § 2 The multiplicity or variety of importances or significations of some one single word 1709 Strvpe Ecclesiast Memorials IV 504 They made change it in common Speech, for another [word], of like Importance but different Character

†5 Betting, consequence Obs

1691 T Hale Acc New Inv 19 This wyne [= waste] of Iron work by Rust, and the ill importance of it, in its consequences

III 5 ? 'Means of support' (Jam) Obs

1505 Seal of Cause in Pennecuik Itin Braidstane (17-6) 42 It is weall knaane that we uphald an alt r situate within the Colledge Kirk of St Gyles and his nae imp rtance to uphauld the same, but our sober oukleye Penny and quarts

†Impo rtancy Obs [f med L importantia see prec and -ancy]

1 The quality of being important, = prec 1

1540 Act 32 Hen VIII c 48 If the importancy or urgency of the cause so require 1604 Shaks Oth I iii 20 When we consider Th importance of Cyprus to the Turke 1693 Bentley Diss Mod Comp Truth 13 According to the great Importancy of the word Answering in Scripture

b An important matter, = prec 2

1623 Cockeram, Importancie, importance, a matter of much value 1625 Jackson Creed V xi 8 3 The great dissention in such importancies enforceth such as thinke they have attained to some certainty in their point to recle and stagger 1803 Southey in Life (1850) II v 241 Materials for a volume that should contain more real importances than all travellers have yet brought home

2 Urgency, importunity, = prec 3

1598-9 E Forde Parismus II (1661) 141 In the end his suit grew to that importancy, that he would not be denied 1624 Heywood Gunaik 204 Their importunate so far pre vailed that the first decree was quite disanul'led 1673 O Walker Educ. (1677) 48 Perswading all things great and small with the same vigour and importancy

Important (impō·rtant, pōə·), a [a F important (16th c. Montaigne) It, Sp importante, ad med L importans, -antem f importare in its med L sense 'to be of consequence, weight, or force' see Import v II]

1 Having much import or significance, carrying with it great or serious consequences, weighty, momentous, grave, significant

1586 A Day Eng Secretary (1625) 53 How much availeable then and important is it to every man to be furnished with learning 1651 Hobbes Leviath iii xl 249 Were it my observe three points of important consequence 1665 Boyle Occas Refl v 45 (1848) 311 This Book will impart tantest of humane Actions 1713 Addison Cato I i, The great, the important day, big with the fate Of Cato and of Rome 1843 Macaulay Ess Sir J Mackintosh Pol (1866) 6 Hume has overlooked one very important circumstance 1845 M Pattison tr Casaubon 113 Events most important to the intellectual doings of his times

2 Having an air of importance or consequence, consequential pompous grandiose, pretentious

1713 Swift Cadenus & Vanessa 376 Discoursing, with important face, On ribbons, fans, and gloves and lace a 1738 Gay Fables II iii Fools of all ranks surround his hall, To worship his important strut 1876 J Weiss Wit & Hum v 74 Parodying the important airs, the phrases and unpertinent exploits of the suburban count ish

†3 Urgent, pressing, importunate Obs

1590 Shaks Com Err v 1 12 Antipholis, my husband, Whom I made lord of me, and all I had, At your important letters 1599 – Much Ado II i 74 If the Prince bee too important, tell him there is measure in every thing 1630 Leonard tr Charron's Wisd III xii § 8 (1670) 410 Not to be important to his friends, as they that are always coming

Importantly (impō·rtantli), adv [1 + -ly]

1 In an important manner or degree, weightily, momentously

1611 Shaks Cymb II iv 19 When thus hue both their eyes And eares so cloyd importantly as now 1630 Halon Prin Gov't Eng I ix (1733) 128 The publick was so importantly concerned 1796 A Hamilton in Hamilton's Writ (1850) XIII 222 note To render them not importantly and lastingly useful 1861 Wilson & Gillie Wm L Forbes xiv 498 Nothing, not a little that bore importantly upon questions which required thought, attention 1878 J C Collins Introd Tourneur's Plays 2 Fifteen popular ballads some of which importantly illustrate Shakespeare

2 With an air of importance, consequentially

1827-30 Sir J Barrington Pers Mem Once Ireland II 147, I will proceed at once to the little narrative thus importantly prefaced

Importation (impōrtē·ʃən) [n of action f Import v (Hence in Fr)]

1 The action of importing or bringing in a Commerce The bringing in of goods or merchandise from a foreign country opp to exportation

1601 R Johnson Kingd & Commw (1603) 79 Greate rivers, by which they may have cheap importation or exportation of wares 1776 Adam Smith W N v i (1869) II 23 Restraints upon the importation of such foreign goods for home consumption as could be produced at home 1833 Hr Martineau Loom & Lugger i 3 To authorize a restricted importation of foreign silks.

fig 1644 Milton Areop (Arb) 67 [Licensing] hinders and retards the importation of our richest Merchandize, Truth attrib 1808 J Adams Wks 1854) IX 604 If I could lay an embargo, or pass a new importation law against corruption and foreign influence

b gen Bringing in, introduction

1666 J Smith Old Age 230 The Instruments which serve for importation, and reception of the blood and spirits

1807 Med Jrnl XVII 112 For more than fifty years no important ction of the disease into this city was suspected

1874 Parker Gothic Archit i ix 141 The usual test of the importation of a new style

2 concr That which is imported or introduced, ✝imports collectively (obs), an imported article, an import

1664-5 Pepys Diary 27 Jan., If the expectations exacted the importations 1727 Pope Thoughts Var Subj in Swift's Lit &c (1755) II i 230 Solomon's importation, Gold and apes 1893 Westm Gaz 30 Mar 7/2 Their elections is entirely representative, and possesses no Scotch or Welsh importations Mod She is a recent import indeed, I fancy

Imported (impōˑ·ted), ppl a [f Import v + -ed¹] Brought in from a foreign country, as merchandize, gen brought in, introduced

1660 Willesford Wales Comm 208 Whether imported or exported Goods 1856 Olmsted Va & Slave 97 The original stock of slaves, the imported Africans probably required to be governed with much greater severity

Importer (impōˑ·tər [f Import v + -er¹] One who or that which imports or introduces, esp a merchant who brings in or receives goods from abroad

1700 S Sewall Diary II 324 June (1899) II 16 There is a Motion to get a Law that all Importers of Negros shall pay 40s per head 1845 M'Culloch Taxation II iv (1852) 197 It would then, like the generality of customs duties, fall wholly on the importers, or on the consumers here 1866 Laurie Banking 233 The Bank of England has for years been the only importer of bullion into the Mint 1888 Pulsford in 19th Cent Sept 397 Up to the present moment New South Wales has been a large importer of wheat

Importing (impōˑ·tiŋ, vbl sb [f Import v + -ing¹] The action of the verb Import, esp in senses 1, 2, Importation Also attrib

1640-4 in Rushw Hist Coll III (1692) I 51 The Patent for the sole Trade to Guiney, and the sole Importing of Red wood 1895 Sir H H Howorth in Athenæum 4 Mar 284/1 some of his [Caxton's] words were French exotics of his own importing

Importing, ppl a [f as prec + -ing²]

✝1 That 'imports' or signifies (see Import v 6), of much import, important Obs

1579 Fenton Guicciard (1618) 14 The Admiral with other graue others appointed by the gouernment and graue of Prouinces most importing 1609 E Grimstone Hist Siege Ostend 109 To vnride the strongest places and most importing 1654 H T Fairfax Chas I (1656) 184 An Assembly so importing to the kings and kingdomes welfare

2 That imports or brings in merchandise, engaged in importation

1812 J Smith Panor of Customs (1821) 415 Register of Importing Ships 1861 Goschen Lor Lech 40 To sell the bills at a time when a premium may be given for them by the importing branch of the establishment

✝Importrelless, a Obs rare [f Import sb + -less] Without import or significance, trivial, unimportant

1606 Shake Tr & Cr I iii 71 That matter needless of importless burthen Diuide thy lips

✝Importrment. Obs [f Import v + -ment] a Signification, meaning, purport Import sb 1 b Importance, consequence = Import sb 2

a 1624 Br M Smith Serm (1632) Certaine things uttered vpon one special occasion, loose yet a great fall drift or importment 1658 W Burton Itin Anton 115 A latine word for a Post, who speedily conveys news of importment

Importrature (impōˑ·trətiur) rare [f Im- 1 + Portraiture] The action of portraying in or upon something, concr that which is portrayed (lit or in writing, a portrait or description

1826 Fraser's Mag XIV 9 Importratures of voyages in the external world, and in human life. 1842 Blackw Mag LII 455 Here is an admirable importrature for you 1882 Paul Robinson Noah's Ark 28 Afternoons from the received importratures of the beasts

✝Importray, v Obs [f Im- 1 + Portray v] trans To portray or depict in or upon something

1580 Lyly Euphues (Arb) 321 Whome Philautus is now with all colours importraying in ye Table of his hart ✝Importunable, a Obs Also 5 im- [f Importune a (or v) + -able]

1 Burdensome, onerous, grievous, heavy

1458 Paston Lett No 867 III 297 [They] wold have taryd hym there and his councell to his gret importunable charges 1512 Act 4 Hen VIII c 18 Preamble, To thes ye gret importunable losse trouble hurte and damnys ye 1534 More Dyalogue 23/b Forbyddyng them to bunde and lay vpon other pore mennys bakkes importunable burdeyns 1611 Speed Hist Gt Brit ix § 3 (1632) 1000/1 The weake of their done wrongs, too importunable for them any longer to beare

2 Troublesome, = Importunate a 2 b

1566 Drant Horace, Sat I ix argt, In generall he con troweth people inquisitiue, and importunable tatlers

✝Importunably, adv Obs [f prec + -ly²] Persistently, pertinaciously, importunately

1502 Ateynson tr De Imitatione I xiii 161 The deuyl with a thousande snares and subtilties importunably assayl ynge vs

Importunacy (impōˑ·tiuːnăsi) [f Importune + -acy] Pertinacity, pressing solicitation, = Importunity 4

1548 Udall etc Erasm Par Mark vi (R), He late hym not out of the way, nor commaunded them to departe for theyr importunacy 1606 J Carpenter Solomon's Solace xxix 120 The golden Calfe, which himselfe (Aaron) had made at the importunacie of our Fathers in the wilder nes 1655 Diodati Compl Ambass 228 Overcome with the importunacy of their reasons we did yeild to take some further consideration 1720 Palmer Proverbs 187 He, who made least to do, has often succeeded, when a rash busie, importunacy has made an enemy of a friend 1893 [J Pulsford] Loyalty to Christ II 243 She is lauded by Jesus her importunacy is triumphant

Importunance. [f Importune v + -ance] Grievousness, gravity, seriousness

1568 St Papers Hen I III, XI 91 The Kinges Majestie shulde be disapointed of his enterpryse, which I knowght Her to consider, and the greate importunance therof

Importunate (impōˑ·tiunăt), a, (adv) [f L importūn-us + -ate²] The use of the suffix is peculiar, perh after obstinate, fortunate, temperate, or other adjs expressing personal qualities

✝1 Inopportune, unseasonable, untimely, = Importune a 1 Obs

1500 [implied in Importunately 1] 1552 Huloet, Importunate, or out of season, importunus 1656-9 B Harris Parival's Iron Age (ed 2) 101 The inexorable executor of thes importunate and unseasonable Command, was first chased away with stone

✝2 Burdensome, grievous, grave Obs

c 1540 tr Lo Vives Eng Hist (Camden) I 102 An impor tunate tribute of the barbarous people Legantone to molestе the Romane impere 1548 Hall Chron, Hen V f 152 b, When money was scante and importunate charges were dayly required 1577 Hanmer Hist Ireland (1633) 162 To suffre the importunate heate, they cast in 43 the shetes and all the clothes 1577 Frampton Joyfull Newes I (1596) 13 b, It is also good for other dignitaries and importunat diseases 1663 Cowley Verses & Pss, Solitude, When they are in love with a Mistress, all other persons are importunate and burdensome to them 1824 Lord Byron Blakemoor in H— shire, The pride of ancestry may be had on cheaper terms than to be obliged to in importunate race of ancestors

✝3 Troublesome, persistently troublesome Obs

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 722 This New World hath to these importunate chapmen sold her freedome 1660 H More Myst Godl III ii 80 [The Sun] cannot be free his own face of those importunate spots that ever and anon he upon it like hith 1693 Ray Creation II (1692) 100, I see, I hear, and other moreover and importunate Insects

3 Pressing, urgent, busy Obs or arch

1548-3 Acts 14 & 15 Hen VIII, c 2 § 2 If the sayde collectours can not be thereunto satisfied, by reason of importunate business c 1674 Clarendon Hist Reb vii § 336 The Earl remain'd in London whilst the enquiry was warm and importunate 1877 Bryant Homer Iliad xxiii 1, His mare of dusky tresses, Forever shaken by the importunate par Of commerce

4 Persistent or pressing in solicitation, pertinacious

1477 [implied in Importunatly 4] 1589 Supplic to King & E I 51 b They will make importunate suite and labourre to be in acquaint with youre Magestye a 1633 Ld Herbert Life Ld M Aforet x (1826) 87 b, I am importune on you, that ye be not importunate on me I pray you that you prue not me 1766 Painter Pal Plat I 87 Declaring how importunate his mother was to know 1660 Trial Regic 44 The king was importunate to know what they intended to do with Him 1746 Col Rec Pennsylv VI 311 Some of the Persons who supplied me with Provisions have importunate for their money 1863 Miss Bradon Aurora Flo I 47 For the avoidance of importunate questions 1876 Geo Eliot Dan Der II ii, Now came an importune knock at the door, breakfast was ready

B as sb An importunate person

1886 Pall Mall G 7 July 2/1 The wealth have granted the fair importunates the examination without restriction

Importunate (impɹˑ·tiunăt), v [f importuner see Importune v and -ate³] trans To solicit persistently, = Importune v 3 a 1598 Bp Hall Medit & Vows II (1606) 163 The widow who importunated the unrighteous Judge 1600 F Walker Sp Vandelvik 85 b, Telling him that she was importunated and importuning him with weeping, with full words 1653 Gloria Parisiana I 117 Orestes began freshly to importunate his brother to the accomplish ment of her request

b To obtain by importunity

1891 Pall Mall G 7 July 2/1 The degree of departure which outside bodies had been able to importunate from a somewhat plastic Senate

Importunately (impɹˑ·tiunătli), adv [f Importunate a + -ly²] In an importunate manner

✝1 Inopportunely, untimely, unseasonably Obs

1500 Spec Sinfully Wks 288/2 We do not yet importunatlye bereue you of your rest with cryinge at youre eares at vnseasonable tyme 1658-9 Burton's Diary (1828) III 141 I shall not say the Petition and Advice was unduly, but unseasonably and importunately obtruned

✝2 In a burdensome or grievous way, grievously, troublesomely Obs

1564 Golding Justin xlii (1570) 169 (Hymerus) through his tyrannous crueltie, vexed importunatlie both Babilon and manye other cyties. 1577 Frampton Joyfull Newes II (1596) 56 Dresse well with the tertian agewes, so importunatlie 1638 Baker in Sedan & Jer (vol III) 4 Least I should be importunately complemental

✝3 Gravely, exceedingly Obs

1560 tr Ampraldus Treat conc Relig Pref 2 An Excpedient so importunately beneficial to Mankind, that scarce any Elogiums could be excogitated equal to their praise. 1690 Locke Hum Und II x (1695) 286 Men will not be so importunately dull as not to understand what others say

3. With pressing or persistent action or purpose; pressingly

1588 Grafton Chron II 792 He woulde importunatly [1513] More 'importunely' pursue his appetite and have her 1614 Bp Hall Recoll Treat 531 What do we now thus importunately catching at shadows? 1876 Geo Eliot Dan Der IV xxix, His possible judgment of her actions was telling on her as importunately as Klesmer's judgment of her powers

4 With persistent or pressing solicitation; with importunity

1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes 137 He that axid importunatly after he is ones denied & refused his asking 1589 [? Bp] Sophist. Beggers Decl (Pr D 3 S) 3 [They] haue begged so importunatly that they haue gotten yoto theyre hondes more then the therd part of all youre Realme 1692 Bp of Chester Charge 2 Hags 30 We need not doubt of God's help, if we sincerely and importunately pray for it 1719 Dr Fox Crusoe II iv, They insisted importunately upon their demand 1874 Motley Barneveld II xiv 113 He instructed his envoy importunately and dictatorially to plead the cause

Importunateness (impɹˑ·tiunătnĕs) [f as prec + -ness] The quality of being importunate, importunity

c 1530 L Cox Rhet (1899) 67 Our lybertie is ouercome by the importunatenes of our wyues 1549 Latimer 3rd Serm bef Edw VI (Arb) 92 He ouercame your importunatenes, he will not be angrye at your crynge and calling 1635 R Carew in Remains Papers Ser II (1888) III 217, I am bestowed with the importunateness of my Masters 1812 Dr Quincey in H A Page (1877) I viii 169 Her sweet importunateness of action and voice

Importunator (impɹˑ·tiunēˑtər [agent-n in L form from Importune v 3] One who importunes, or solicits importunately

1604 Sandys Relat St Relig West Pts 11/b, Tyrannous importunators, and exactors of their own men 1885 New Monthly Mag XIV 428 Rooms and boarding of petitioners, claimants, and importunators of every kind

Importune (impɹtiūˑn, impɹˑtiun), a (adv) Also 5 ym-, in-, 6 ym- [ME. a f importun-us, -one (13th c in Hale Durham) = Fr importun, all f importūnus unfit, unsuitable, inconvenient, troublesome, grievous, f im- (Im-²) cl Portūnus the protecting god of harbours, f portus harbour, Port The same stem is found in opportūn-us Opportune]

✝1 Inopportune, untimely, unseasonable, unfit c 1425 [implied in Importunely 1] 1589 Marc Arbre Apol Treb 1 Wks 1/62 1, I haue thys daye done you muche to bulaion with my importune obiections, of very litle substaunce 1597 A M tr Guillemeau's Birthe 3/b, Such fructes are never importune, nether at anye time out of season 1634 Rainow Labour (1635) 17 Both Importunate, and Importune Labour. The first is labour too earnest, too solicitous, the second is labour out of its due time, unseasonable 1650 Bulwer Anthropomet 190 These actions are somewhat importune to entertain guests at Feasts 1704 Swift Batt Bks in Misc (1711) 264 A Wild Ass, with Brayings importune, affronts his Fear

✝2 Troublesome, burdensome, vexatious, grievous, heavy, severe, exacting Obs

c 1400 Rom Rose 5632 And for he nyl be importune Unto no wight, ne boneous 1412-20 Lydg Chron Troy I, The Troyens were ful importune, so dredeful ate and ful of rage 1494 Fabyan Chron vii 486 By they importune charges, the comynalte was greatly empouerysshed 1540 Ayenb Inwyt (Arb) 14 Which is to perfull and to importune and intolerable and importune, for any man to susteine and abyde 1590 Spenser F Q I xii 16 They did often blame the too importune fate, That heapt such wrathfull wreakes 1604 N D 3rd Pt Three Lawes Eng 263 A detestable, cruell, horrible and importune monster 1683 D A Art Contrary 19 They cannot be but importune to us by their long and langushing narratives 1864 Carlyle Fredk Gt xv vi IV 90 Treaties, vaporous Foreshadows of Events are importune to human nature, longing for the Events themselves

✝3 Pressing, urgent, busy Obs

c 1450 tr De Imitatione III Contents xliv 67 That man be not importune in worldly erendis c 1475 Plumpton Corr (Camden) 33 The labor is so importune, that I cannot attend it without I shold do nothing ells 1596 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) 120 b, Good people ought to take heed they be not importune or to busy, they cryc not 1596 Fleming Panopl Epist 76 Although my occasions be so weighte and importune, that I can obteine but little leasure 1876 Man Samp Cobbe 62 The importune Affaires of your Kingdome [are] perplexedly suspended

4 Persistent or pressing in solicitation, pertinacious, irksome through persistency of request

1447 Bokenham Seyntys Introd (Roxb) 6 The importune and besy prayere Of oon whom I love 1460 Fortescue Abs 3 Lim Mon xx (1885) 136 Importune suites to gape vpon suche reuersions 1535 Coverdale Jude xviii 5 Yet seyngs this weldowe is so importune vpon me I will delyuer her 1541 J Jackson True Exam 111 129 Perswasions made as though hee would have gone farther, th it they might grow the more importune with him to stay 1734 North Exam II v § 83 (1740) 367 He was so importune in the Matter, that one of the Chiefs was provoked to say he spoke with a Cadence, but Nothing to the Purpose. 1890 F Johnson Rise Christendom 106 Vices are importune spirits sent forth from Tartarus' caves

✝B sb [= F importun] One who is importune or importunate in soliciting Obs

1589 Puttenham Eng Poesie III xxiv (Arb) 302 In Spaine it is thought very vndecent for a Courtier to craue, supposing that it is the part of an importune a 1734 North Exam (1740) 644 (D) If Justice must stay till such impor tunes are satisfied, there was no plus ultra of all law

Importune (impɹtiūˑn, impɹˑtiun), v [a F importuner (1512 in Godef Compl) = It importunare (Florio), Sp importunar (Percivall), med L importūnāri, -are, f importūnus see prec]

†1 trans To burden, to be troublesome or wearisome to, to trouble, worry, pester, annoy 1578 T N tr Conq W Indies 140 Did so importune him and assure him of his going, he commaunded his fardage to be laden 1598 Yong Diuersa 17 It was my ill hap, that one of them sat next vnto me, to make me infortunate as long as her memorie did importune me 1661 Lucian Hem (1859) III 136, I shall, whenever it may least importune his privacy, make the inventory of particulars. 1781 Fletcher Lett Wks 1795 VII 332 If bodies could move as quick as thought they would be importuned frequently with my company 1788 Johnson Decl & P lxx VI 609 Of his two immediate successors Nicholas the fifth, [was] the last who was importuned by the presence of a Roman emperor

†2 To press, urge, impel Also absol Obs
1603 Shake Meas for M I i 57 We shi will write to you As time, and our concernings shall importune. 1615 Chapman Odyss VI 270 O queen my design pity then, since first to you My fate importunes my distress to vow

3 To solicit pressingly and persistently, to ply or beset with requests or petitions 1530 Palsgr 590/1, I importune one, I weye hym by importunate sute making to him for a mater 1588 Pasq Im III 609 A man that you do not little esteem, hath long importuned me of love 1590 Shake Com Err I i 147 My yongest boy importun'd me That his attendant Might leare him company on the quest of him 1604 Milton Arcop (Arb) 41 Ye were importun'd the passing it 1676 Hobbes Iliad (1677) 298 'My friends, said he, 'importune me no more to eat or drink before we go to fight' 1719 Young Revenge II, He importunes the skies for swift perdition 1734 tr Rollin's Ancn Hist (1827) III vi The Kings themselves importuned him to that purpose 1817 Byron Beppo lii, Meantime the goddess I'll no more importune 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng III I 300 Some officers after vainly importuning the government during many years, had died for want of a reward of bread Jig 1586 A Day Eng Secretary I (1625) 27 Being importuned by the dispatch of some present affaires to have some conference with her Majestie, he sent Mr Wolfer Mer Mast C vij, No day which would not move to woes importune 1794 I Bronn Private Poverty Wks 1795 I 58 Has that man its importun'd with the craving pains of a hunger 1800-24 Campbell Song of Colonists ii, A land, where beauties importune The Briton to its bowers

4 To ask for (a thing) urgently and persistently, to crave or beg for 1588 Shake 1 H IV II i 32 The daughter of the King of France Importunes persu'all soldiers with his grace 1596 Spenser F Q V ix 44 Then can the Peoples cry and Commons sute Importune care of their owne publicke cause 1674 Clarendon Hist Reb V § 54 It was very strange that any Men should importune the putting such a Question 1695 Kennett Par Antiq iv 228 The nobles greatly importun'd his stay 1870 Bryant Iliad II vii 113 A little girl that by her mother's side Runs, importuning to be taken up 5 intr To make urgent solicitation, to be importunate.

1548 Q Katheryn in Ellis Orig Lett Ser 1 II 251, I wold not wysshe you importune for hys good will, yf yt cum not frankely at the first 1661 Pepys Diary II xvii 13, I will neither importune too much upon unwilling minds 1761 Gray Sketch anon t hist Too poor for a bribe, and too proud to importune. He had not the mean skill of making a fortune 1871 R Ellis Catullus viii 13 He will not ask for pity, will not importune

¶ 6 To import, portend (A Spenserian misuse.)
1590 Spenser F Q III i 16 But the sage wizard tells us he has redd, That it importunes death and doleful dreri heed 1598 Marston Pygmal xxv 129 Thus having said, he riseth from the floore, As if his wits distumed him good fortune For all his thoughts did all good luck importune

Hence Importuned ppl a, Importuning vbl sb and ppl a 1611 Chapman Iliad xv arg†, The rest, all shunning their importun'd fates Achilles beats even to the Ilian gates 1660 Milton Free Commw Wks (1851) 427 Out once importuning Parliaments the Tyranny which we then groan'd under 1660 Gauden Gods creat Demonstr 40 His many forewarnings, importunings, and beseechings of men to flye from the wrath to come 1790 Cowper Iliad in Poems II 434 No Cleanthes interrupt my woe With importuning love 1890 Athenæum 23 Aug 254/2 The result of three years' constant importuning

Importunely, adv Now rare Also 6 in[f Importune, a + -ly 2] †1 Inopportunely, unseasonably Obs
1548 Found St Bartholomew's (E L T S) 25 He mervel hym with goode and honeste wordes importunely and importunely 1609 Birch (Douai) Inf Pain Counsr, Gods preachers must crie, and not cease to crie importunely, importunely, with al patience 1716 M Davies Athen Brit II 260 How often has that Fraudful Arian Astrologer been told, and admonish'd Opportunely and Importunely

†2 Grievously, troublesomely Obs a 1656 Usher Ann (1658) 758 He shewed them how proudly and importunely Antonius had answered to all his mild and just demands

†3 Pressingly, persistently, pertinaciously Obs 1502 Atkynson tr De Imitatione i ix 159 It is a sygne of perfytnaste & people any persone importunly to offre their counsell and specially where they can lytle profyte 1513 More Rich III Wks 63/1 Without any fear of God he would importunely 1568 Grafton importunately) pursue hys appetite, and haue her 1669 J Goodwin Pulled to the Spirit (1867) 293 It is to be importunely troublesome unto the world, to quarrel almost with every man that comes in our way

4 With urgent and persistent solicitation; importunately.
1464 Plumpton Corr (Camden) 13 Thomas Eyr clamoreth upon mee importunly for money, so that gif I had any of my own, I wold have stopped him 1596 Pilg Perf (W de W 1531) 248 b, It wyll cause importunely for sustenaunce, rest, & other recreacyon 1890 Spenser F Q II viii 4, He heard a voyce that called lowd and cleare The Palmer him his eare vnto the voyce, To weet who called so importunely 1672 J Worthington Gen Pref Medes & Pers 9, Flattery and Covetous Ambition do importunely solicite men to make a false judgment 1850 J S B Monsell Parish Musings (1874) 32 The very things we most desire Most importunely crave

†Importunement. Obs [f Importune v + -ment.] The action or fact of importuning, earnest solicitation, an instance of this 1638 Swan Spec M (1670) 474 Satan knoweth that there be many sundry pressing importunements to read it, than can be shewed for the reading of any book beside

Importuner (impɔ·tiuə nəi, impɔ·tiunəi) [f as prec + -er 1] One who importunes 1653 Waterhouse Apol Lenton 189 Preclude your ears against all rash, rude, irrational, innovating importuners 1878 Bancroft Hist U S V xlii 21 Washington was annoyed by shouts of selfish importuners

Importunity (impɔtiu·niti) [a F importunité (14th c in Littré), ad L importunitas, f importunus see Importune a and -ity.] The quality or condition of being importune †1 The condition of being unseasonable or inopportune, unseasonableness, unsuitable time Obs
1489 Caxton Faytes of A II iii 172 The Importunyte of myn ignorance in referryng of dyuerse arguimentes 1535 Coverdale Ecclus xxxii 6 Pour not forth wysdome out of season, & powre not thy swete sauce vpon importunyte 1599 T Nashe Christ's Cross Row (1783) 11 To snatch the crowne from hir heade by opportunity or importunity, which so euer come first 1589 Puttenham Eng Poesie III xxvii (Arb) 274 Euery thing hath his season which is called Opportunite, and the vnfit season or vndecency of the time is called Importunite
†2 Burdensomeness, trouble Obs
1475 Bk Noblesse (Roxb) 81 Lat it be set in money to the remedie and socoure of this grett importunyte and necessite. 1666 J Davies tr Olearius Voy Ambass 10 The Wagoners are so farre off to take the use of the grievous importunity of those Insects [Gnats] 1739 J Hubbard Lett Friends (1750) 223 Very often the Importunity and violence of the Creditors was to be appeased by Liberal Asthm tic um

†3 Pertinacity or constancy of action Obs 1663 J Spencer Prodigies (1665) 215 Many of them continue for so many days of the importunity of Histories in this matter that any considerable

4 Troublesome pertinacity in solicitation c 1460 Towneley Mys Lazarus Mon xii (2885) 136 Through importunite of my wyfe, to hym I spede 1611 Lodge tr Josephus Wks 1196/1 Burdensome pestering 1598 Yong Diana 412 Being now free from the importunous trouble of thy restous husband

†Importunous, a Obs rare ° [ad L importunos-us, f importunus see Importune a and -ous.] Without port or haven (Blount Glossogr 1656)

†Importurait, -ate, pa ppl & sb Obs [for importrait, importrate, pa ppl of Importray] Portrayed in or upon something 1501 Douglas Pal Hon iii Iwym, Palace and towrys Importurait with sindre sweit flouris 1553 Thersites' Rusis viii x 79 For Vulcanus Thane hatellis all Had thare importurate [MS portrait] properly and graue

Importune see Importune

Importable (impɔ·təbl), a rare [f Impose v + -able.] 1 That may be imposed or laid on a 1666 Hammond (J), They were not simply impossible on any particular man, further than he was a member of some church

2 Capable of being imposed upon or cheated, gullible, duplable a 1734 North Examen iii iv (1740) 306 Much more must strong and subtle Designers set themselves upon to result it upon my one's true Relation — Lives (1826) I 197 If he had been a weak impossible wretch they had liked him much better

Hence Impo·sableness, the state or quality of being imposable' 1847 in Craig

†Impo·sal. Obs rare [f Impose v + -al 5 cf disposal, proposal] The action of imposing, imposition 1641 R Brooke Eng Epis I ii 17 They have had Authority above their owne (though I confesse, some for such right imposall) 1651 P Sterry Fun Th Cross (1652) 14 Being sworn in the imposall of superstitious Rites

†Impo·sant Obs rare [a F imposant, pre pple of imposer to Impose, formerly to impute.] One who imputes or charges 1500 Ord Crysten Men (W de W 1506) II xxi 371 In beseching the heres that they be not euyll dysposed or euyll content of the imposaunt, for he ymageneth to haue power to proue cryme that he imposeth

Impose (impōz), v Also empose [a F impose r (1302 in Godef.), earlier en-, emposer (11th c in Littré), f en-, im (In-3) + poser, taken as repr of L imp(o)nere, see Compose, Pose. Introduced first in special senses, c g 3, 2 b, the general sense being expressed by native words]
I trans
1 To lay on or set on, to place or set in a position, to put, place, or deposit arch 1507 A M tr Guillermus de Cherne 106 The Chirurgiane [shall] impose the foresayd lattes against the other places imposing or layyng the hande one the wounde 1599 — tr Gabelhouer's Bk Physicke 37, Impose therto linnen clothes 1615 Chapman Odyss VII 7 She impos'd a stone Close to the casements mouth 1781 Gibbon Decl & Fall II 7 It was here likewise that Nerva imposed a stupendous bridge of boats 1867 J Rose tr Virgil's Æneid 318 The mourners on the tepid ground imposed more earth

b Eccl To lay on hands in blessing, or in ordination, confirmation, etc 1582 N L (Rheims) Mark x 16 And imposing hands upon them, he blessed them 1597 Hooker Eccl Pol v lxvi § 6 Which Israel blessed Joseph's sons, by imposing their hands upon their heads and prayed 1642 Jer Taylor Epis xxxii 175 Bishops had a power of imposing hands, for collating of Orders, which Presbyters have not 1662 Book Common Serv Ep vii 177 What Priests did impose hands upon me

c To place in command or office, to appoint or set up authoritatively Now rare or Obs exc as associated with 4 1617 Moryson Itin II 57 And would be ready, after putting off the person which now was imposed on him, with much contentment to be commanded by his Lordship 1632 Litheow Trav IX 384 They have power to create, depose, or imposeth Magistrates 1682 Imp Elect Merc 20 So ungrateful a thing hath it always been to the People of England, to have Sheriffs imposed upon 'em set over them, otherwise than according to the course and direction of the Law

d Printing To lay pages of type or stereotype plates on the imposing stone or the bed of a press, and secure them in a chase, in such order that the printed pages shall follow each other in proper order when the sheet is folded 1652 Urquhart Jewel Wks (1834) 182, His [the satirical phrasing of the style and manner of] Lucian is imposed [Imposition] 1688 R Holme Armoury III xx 2 Imposing, is the placing of the Pages that belong to a Sheet, within the Chase in order, when the Sheet is wrought off: for all the Pages may be folded into an orderly succession 1824 J Johnson Typogr II xiv 405 The compositor who imposes a sheet must consult the Workmen's proof of that sheet 1875 Knight Pict Mech 1172/1, 18, 24, 32 and 48mo may be imposed in a similar manner, or may be so imposed as to be cut before folding.

2 fig & In general sense: to put place, to place authoritatively b To apply authoritatively or bestow (a name or title upon, on + to (In quots 1500, 1566 with inverted construction.) Now associated with 4 c To put authoritatively an end, conclusion etc.) to Obs 1681 R Knox Hist Ceylon 50 In whose service he imposeth greater confidence 1818 Jas Mill Brit India II iv 334 Lally had now imposed upon the English so much respect, as obtained from them the same
b 1500 Melusine xix 302 He was soone baptised and imposed to name Idaue 1566 J Alday tr Hospytaum Chat Iherusalem A vij, If they will impose this worke reposale, collation or gathering thou shalt doe it no wrong. 1596 Nashe Have (1904) 40 To prove her surname true that she imposed her 1605 Camden Rem (1637) 3 Rome also have imposed names to some men 1669 Gale Gentiles I viii 36 The names, which the Phœnicians imposed on those places 1774 J Bryant Anc Hist I 294 To it one was imposed ante edent to his birth 1862 Stanley Jew Ch (1877) I ix 284 The native names were altered and new titles imposed by the Israelites
c 1541 R Copland Galens Terapeut — H, We wyll shew ye reason & maner to heale them as we shall impose the ende of this fourthe boke 1598 Barckley Felic Conf 107 To fifty yeeres trauailes let this day impose a glorious conclusion 1612 Brinsley Ludus xxx 308 Before they had imposed the crown of Victorie

†3 To lay (a crime, etc to the account of, to impute, charge Obs The earliest recorded use)
1484 Caxton Fables of Esop 2 b, How he excused him of that was imposed to him 1502 [see Imposing] 1596 Drayton Legends iii 447 On him the King Impos'd my Death 1599 Shake Hen V II ii 137 The imputation of his wicked oaths, Admitted, would consign him headlong sent him 1663 Gerbier Counsel (1664), It were a matter to impose as a charge upon the Author of such a Treatise

4 To lay on, as something to be borne, endured, or submitted to, to inflict, command, or arbitrarily to levy or enforce authoritatively or arbitrarily 1581 N Riding Rec I 250 And further that the said Impropriation at an Admyrall Court dyd sett and impose greate and excessyve fynes 1588 Shake L L L v 2 Impose some seruice on me for my loue 1593 1 H IV II iii 58 What I utes impose, that men must needs abide 1601 R Johnson Kingd & Commw (1603) 74 They impose upon the people al kinde of impiets. 1688 Holman Jerusalem Sinners (1886) 57 These bloody letters were not imposed upon me. I went to the high priest and desired them of him 1703 Post Theban 76 On impious realms impose the plagues. 1741 Watts Improv Mind I xii 1 To impose on a child to get by heart a long scroll of unknown phrases or words 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng VI 159 Pretending to abhor tests, he had himself imposed a test 1854 J S C Abbott Napoleon (1855) IIi 471/1 [Alexander said] We have no wish to impose the Bourbons on the French people 1875 Jowett Plato (ed 2) V 58 Minos imposed upon the Athenians a cruel tribute

b with double object (orig d itive of person and accusative of the thing)

1613 HEYWOOD Silver Age III 1 Wks 1874 III 126 for your sake I will impose him dangers, Such and so great 1619 BRENT tr Sarpi's Counc. Trent (1676) 499 Cardinal Crementius was wont to impose them silence 1810 IRVING Mad. de Staël Holstein's Tiberius Hush I 52 Her sal mirer, Dorville, was imposed silence 1873 BROWNING Red Cott Nt-cap 1 Before the servant had imposed a mask

c To put or levy (a tax, price, etc) on or upon goods, etc) 1600 L. BLOUNT tr Conestaggio 18 They imposed a new custome upon the salt 1606 P. HOLLAND tr Sueton. Titus 28 [He] petitioned him he would bestow upon him the captive Princesse, or vouchsafe to impose a ransom on her 1670 R. COKE Disc. Trade 13 To impose what wages they please upon their labours 1863 H. COX Institutes III 60 That the Crown had the right to impose duties on foreign goods, etc)

d. To put or subject (a person, etc) to a penalty, observance, etc 1568 NORTH tr Guevara's Dial. Pr. (1619) 610 It is as necessary for the Counsell to impose tongue to silence 1592 CONSTABLE Sonn xii vi, Thus long impos'd to cruel lasting pleasure, 1599 SHAKS Much Ado I 282 Impose me to what penance your invention Can lay upon my sin e University or school slang. To punish (a person) by an imposition see IMPOSITION 5 c

1887 J. R. MAGRATH in Trin. Very lately a man was imposed for leaving missed chapel

f To obtrude or 'put' (a thing) upon a person) by false representations, to palm or pass off

1650 FULLER Mem 14 Dec, An impostor had like to have imposed upon us a pretended secret of multiplication 1681-6 J. SMITH Wks (1749) III 618 The Seed of Truth would never have empowered them to impose such a Cheat upon the World 1712 tr Tournefort's Hist. Drugs I 2 Like care that Southernwood seed be not imposed upon you for this 1736 BOTTS BROOKS Patriot (1749) 142 A silly fellow can never impose himself for a man of sense 1738 BISHOP Milton's Mary App 13 Impositions of Falsehood and then imposing it to the World 1835 MACKINTOSH, etc Hist Eng V 1 1 Thus early was he familiar with the art of imposing decision for morality

II intr (Often with indirect passive)

6 To put oneself upon in various senses a To impose itself forcibly, authoritatively, or strikingly, to exert an influence on, to be of imposing character or appearance b To encroach upon, to 'put' upon Obs c To intrude, presume upon, to take advantage of a 1625 BACON Ess., Truth (Arb) 499 When it [Truth] is found, it imposeth upon mens Thoughts 1660 PEPYS Diary 30 Mar, They do think that I know too much, and shall impose upon whomever shall come next, and therefore must be removed 1751 CHESTERF. Lett (1792) III cxxiv 126 If you engage his heart, you have a fair chance for imposing upon his understanding, and determining his will 1847 THOROK Addr Brit. Assoc. in Nature No 618 411 Mechanism that imposes through its accurate simplicity 1883 LESLIE COL. STEPHEN in Pall Mall G. 23 Nov 1/1 The troops, if not very formidable in quality still impose through their number b 1667 PEPYS Diary 1 Jan, There is no danger in the passing this Bill, of imposing on his (the King's) prerogative 1694 WOOD Life June 16 (O.H.S.) III 458 note Hopes, in imposing upon a generous person and making him a redditus to the company because of his then growing infirmity 1718 POPE tr. Iliad (1736) I 448 No Man is so accountable to his fellow Creatures, is to be imposed upon, restrained, or persecuted for any Matter of Conscience whatever c 1670 COTTON Espernon Dedi, I should not otherwise have presum'd to impose upon your Protection 1883 C. J. WHITE Mod. Persia 46 An idle, vagrant man, who lives by imposing on the credulity of others 1800 Mrs. HERVEY Marriage Vow II 58 She wished her son to impose upon her when it came to his taking any serious step in life.

7 To put a tax, to levy an impost upon) t Obs a 1618 RALEIGH Prerog Parl (1628) 51 To Impose upon all things brought into the Kingdome is very ancient 1642 Orel Parl Iomagge & Pl 3 To restrayne the Crowne from imposing upon the people without their consent 1642 in Clarendon Hist Rel V § 21 Desire a bill, the only old way of imposing, on our estates 1871 BROWNING Ivan Ivanovitch 4 Who scores a septch true for strings and wind Mulcted must be—else how should I impose Property?

8 To practise imposition, with upon, on, to cheat or deceive by false representations 1864 SHILLITO Orig Nat I ii § 9 The great reason the world hath been so long time imposed upon with varieties of books going under the name of Hermes Trismegistus 1712 SWIFT Spect No 300 P 3 There are some so weak as to be imposed upon by fine things and false, Addresses 1792 PAINE Rights Man. It can be of no real service to a Nation, to impose upon itself, or to permit itself to be imposed upon 1873 H. ROGERS Orig Bible (1874) 4 The counterfeit must have some resemblance to the genuine, else it would impose on nobody

Hence Impo sed ppl a, in the various senses of the vb, also imposed upon see sense 8 above

1630 R. Johnson's Kingd. & Commw 114 The imposed buildings [on London bridge], being so many, and so beautifull 1642 JER. TAYLOR Episc (1647) 130 To transplant them [weeds] to unfruitfull, and imposed sense 1706 DE FOE Jure Div Prof 27 They obtained so much upon the subjected Minds of the Poor imposed upon Multitude 1827-9 HUGHAN Celtic Druids 217 It generally consists of four stones, three upright and one imposed 1847 CRAIG Gesner (ed. 1856) III 202 Of the nineteen silver paying satrapies, the most heavily imposed was Babylonia

† Impo se, sb Obs rare [f IMPOSE v.] The imposition or laying on of a charge, duty, or task

1591 SHAKS. Two Gent II iii 8 According to your Ladyships impose, I am thus early come 1605 Tryall Chev II iii Bullen O Pl III 203 But this impose is nothing, honour'd King

Impo sement (impo·zmĕnt) rare. [f IMPOSE v. + -MENT.] The action of imposing, imposition 1664 H. MORE Myst Iniq xiii 45 This imposement upon my self is a great ease and pleasure to the chaft thinness of my nature 1898 Athenæum (Ohio) Disp 18 July 6/5 The residents who are opposed to the impoisement are fighting it

Impo ser (impō·zəɹ) [f IMPOSE v. + -ER 1.] One who imposes in various senses of the vb

1597 HOOKER Eccl Pol v lxxviii § 2 According to the mind of the first imposer of that name. 1641 MILTON Animadv ix Civil politie, say you came from arbitrary imposers 1659 PEARSON Creed (1741) 289 The coronary thorns did not only express the scorn of the imposers, but did also pierce his temples and sacred temples 1681 H. MORE in Glanvill's Saducismus Preface, Pleasant stator an Imposer on the sight 1702 DE FOE Occas Conform on Vow 215 An Oath is to be taken in the Sense of the Imposer, and a Sacrament, which is a Recognition of the most Sacred of Oaths, must be also taken in the Sense of the Imposer 1860 IRVING Norm Heights xiv 68 As they might have cursed the imposers of those tasks 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) I 36 What that is to which the imposer of names gives the name of temperance or wisdom

Impo sing (impō·zĭŋ), vbl sb [f IMPOSE v. + -ING 1.]

1 The action of putting, placing, or laying on, imposition spec †a The imposition of taxes, taxing Obs

1610 W. CARLETON Funiad 169 This imposing of the Pope Iurisdiction vpon other nations 1618 RALEIGH Instruct Shipping 41 Certainly the imposing upon Coales could be no hinderance to the New-ordained 1668 I. TAYLOR Hist Thus Ultra (1688) 148 [This] prevents all imperious Duties and Imposings

b Used for the arrangement of pages of type in a 'forme' attrib Imposing stone, table a slab of stone or metal on which pages of type or stereotype plates are imposed

1727-41 CHAMBERS Cycl. s.v. Printing, The compositor carries them to the imposing or composing stone there to range them in order, in a chase 1824 J. JOHNSON Typogr II 711 146 Imposing in quires may be carried on to any extent, by adopting the following rule 1841 Mech Mag XXXV 401 The moment a sheet is composed and made up, he should order it to be imposed provided there be room on the imposing stone 1842 Penny Cyclopædia for Bookbinders 43 The imposing, the pages of type for this purpose is called imposition, and this term also includes the placing of the furniture between the pages 1883 Harper's Mag LXVII 198 Imposing Stone

2 with upon Deception, imposition

1658-9 Burton's Diary (1828) IV 180 This is an imposing upon us

Imposing (impō·zĭŋ), ppl a [f IMPOSE v. + -ING 2.] That imposes, in various senses of the vb

1 That peremptorily enjoins, exacting

1651 HOBBES Out Rel (1676) II xv 179 A piece of Vanity, which, according to Custom is wont to be, it has not yet dar'd to enjoyn 1679 PEN Addr Prot II 144 An Imposing Church will be both Party and Judge it requires Assent without Evidence, and Faith without Proof 1777 PRIESTLEY Early Differ (1889) I 149 He felt the utter impossibility of arguing, with a man so imposing and so very ignorant 1883 J. H. NEWMAN Gram Assent I § 7 By our habits of thought we are imposed upon by many Testimonies 1884 MAY II 7 A number of Imposing Tables

2 with upon Deception, imposition

1658-9 Burton's Diary (1828) IV 180 This is an imposing upon us

Imposing (impō·zĭŋ), ppl a [f IMPOSE v. + -ING 2.] That imposes, in various senses of the vb

1 That peremptorily enjoins, exacting

1651 HOBBES Out Rel (1676) II xv 179 A piece of Vanity, which, according to Custom is wont to be, it has not yet dar'd to enjoyn 1679 PEN Addr Prot II 144 An Imposing Church will be both Party and Judge it requires Assent without Evidence, and Faith without Proof 1777 PRIESTLEY Early Differ (1889) I 149 He felt the utter impossibility of arguing, with a man so imposing and so very ignorant 1883 J. H. NEWMAN Gram Assent I § 7 By our habits of thought we are imposed upon by many Testimonies 1884 MAY II 7 A number of Imposing Tables

2 With upon Deception, imposition

1658-9 Burton's Diary (1828) IV 180 This is an imposing upon us

Imposing (impō·zĭŋ), ppl a [f IMPOSE v. + -ING 2.] That imposes, in various senses of the vb

1 That peremptorily enjoins, exacting

1651 HOBBES Out Rel (1676) II xv 179 A piece of Vanity, which, according to Custom is wont to be, it has not yet dar'd to enjoyn 1679 PEN Addr Prot II 144 An Imposing Church will be both Party and Judge it requires Assent without Evidence, and Faith without Proof 1777 PRIESTLEY Early Differ (1889) I 149 He felt the utter impossibility of arguing, with a man so imposing and so very ignorant 1883 J. H. NEWMAN Gram Assent I § 7 By our habits of thought we are imposed upon by many Testimonies 1884 MAY II 7 A number of Imposing Tables

2 with

Impositive (impɔ·zitiv), a rare [f IMPOSITE + -IVE] Not positive

c 1856 De Morgan Budget Paradoxes (1872) 275 He [the psychological speculator] requires it to be granted that his system is positive and that your is impositive.

†Impositor (impɔ·zitəɹ) Obs rare [a. 1 impositor, agent-noun from imponere to IMPOSE] One who imposes, = IMPOSER. †a One who imposes a name b Printing One who imposes the pages of type in a forme c The inflicter of a task or imposition 1493 Festivall (W. de W. 1515) 124 b, Yf the impositoure and gyuer of the name hath perfyte sycyence and knowledge 1617 Minsheu Ductor Lingg., Impositor, in schooles he that put the names into a Rolle 1898 Blomfield Glossogr., Impositor, the Imposer or Monitor in a School, also he that imposes the pages into a Form for the Press.

Impossibilitation nonce-wd [f IMPOSSIBLE see FICATION] A rendering impossible

1818 Coleridge in Aeon (1836) I 88 Sovereigns and their courtiers were flattered by the degradation of nature and the impossibilitation of a pretended virtue

Impossibilitate, v rare [f IMPOSSIBILITY + -ATE 3, cf Sp imposibilitar, It impossibilitare.] trans To render impossible 1633 P. Adams Exp 2 Peter iii 14 It (covetousnes] impossibilitates the entrance into heaven 1646 Sir T. Browne in Carte Ormonde (1735) III 459, I would do nothing to impossibilitate ayde [printed aid] e[from thence 1834 Southey Doctor II 116 How many serious misfortunes might [sic] have impossibilitated the existence of this incomparable work!

Impossibility (impɔsibiliti) [a F impossibilité (14th c) or ad L impossibilitat-em, f impossibilis IMPOSSIBLE see -ITY.]

1 The quality of being impossible

1387 8 I Use Trev Higden in an Skewl 1 14 Shewe me the absence of that impossibilite 1526 Pilgr Perf (W. de W. 1531) 215 No lesse impossibilite it is, but rather more 1548 Hall Chron., Hen V 41 b, I shall declare the impossibilite of this demaunde. 1647 Clarendon Hist Rebell I § 55 The impossibility that his Intelligence could be true 1707 Curios in Husb & Gard 182 The Impossibility they lie under of restoring them to their first State 1754 Edwards Freed Will i iii 10 Impossibility is the same as negative Necessity, or a Necessity that a Thing should not be. 1865 Morley Univ Serm xi (1877) 241 Where is the impossibility of a glorious and endless existence?

b With an and pl An instance of this, an impossible thing, that which cannot be

c 1500 Three Kings Sons 112, I am not bounde to moon ymposybilite 1570 Billingsley Euclid 1 19 A demonstration leading to an impossibilite is that argument whose conclusion is impossible 1691-8 Norris Pract Disc (1711) III 73 The Impossibilities are of two sorts, Impossible Truths, and Impossible Events 1772 Priestley Inst Relig (1782) I 38 Even divine power cannot produce impossibilities 1828 Carlyle Misc Essays (1872) II 14 Is not every genius an impossibility till he appear?

†2 Impotence, inability (So med L impossibilitas) Obs

c 1450 Tr Imitatione III vi 51 Loue [beyng] mynere of impossibilite, for it demeb itself mytty to all longes 1533 Lathom's Sum Lord Cobham (1842) 22 b, He wolde haue vs to know our owne impossibilitye and vnableuesse to do any thyng Ibid vii 45 b, When we say, lede vs not into temptation, we learne to know our own impossibilitie and infirmitie. 1654 66 Fr Ordery Pantheon 534 Names of his impossibility of doing, it 1796 Jane Austr III 167 The utter impossibility of her father to afford any effectual assistance.

3 Math The quality of being 'impossible' of imaginary rare

1697 Wallis in Rigaud Corr Sci Men (1841) II 557 Not withstanding the impossibility of the square root of a negative quantity]

Impossible (impɔ·sibl), a and sb Forms 3 impossible, 4 in-, ympossible, impossibel, 4-6 impossyble, 5 impossybyll, impossybyll, 4- impossibly, 4- impossible [a F impossible (14th c.) It impossibile, or ad (post cl.) L impossibilis, f im- (IM- 2) + possibilis POSSIBLE]

A. adj 1 Not possible, that cannot be done or effected, that cannot exist or come into being, that cannot be, in existing or specified circumstances Const to or for

The exact sphere in which the thing is declared to be impossible is sometimes expressed by the adve logically, mathematically, morally, physically (see these words) a 1250 Cursor M 14781 It es bot foli til þi rikines To sla an impossible (Gött impossibil) thing 1340 Hampole Pr Conc 6281 Swa witty and mykhis es he þat na thyng til hym impossibel may be 1480 Jeromy's Myst 211 371 Nothyng is impossybyll sothly to þat god will 1484 Caxton Fables of Aesop v 1, None ought not to entremete hym to doo that that Impossyble is to hym 1599 Mom Dyalogs 1 Wks 126/2 They laughed them as at an impossible lye 1697 Dampier Voy 1 274 We see that sometimes, designs have been given over as impossible, and at another time have been accomplished 1752 Sir J. Hill Review New Species (1780) 66 It becomes a wise Man not to think any Thing impossible 1860 Tyndall Glac 1 xi 74 We reached a place where further advance was impossible

b with infinitive complement (now usually according, sometimes passive)

c 1400 Maundev (1839) xxvi 265 Summe of hem trowed, it were an Impossible thing to be 1476 J Paston in P Lett No 777 III 164 It is no more impossyll to bryng a bowght 1484 Caxton Fables of Aesop i xxii None ought to entre mete hym self for to doo a thynge, whiche as for hym impossyble is to be done 1561 T Norton Calvin's Inst 1 5 b, His power impossible to be auoided, hingeth ouer them

1656 Walter Lo thy Ld Protector's, What may be thought impossible to do thy Ld 1667 Milton P L IV 548 The rest was craggie cliff impossible to climbe

c Often qualifying an infinitive phrase, or subjunctive clause commonly introduced by it

1340-70 Alex & Dind 1108 To oure puruede pople in possible hit semeb, Pat 3e oure mancrus multe mekelike crime 1377 Langl P Pl B x 336 Poule preueth it impossible þat men haue [same MSS than] heauene 1382 Wyclif Heb xi 6 It is impossible ony man for to plese God without feith 1390 Gower Conf II 153 It is hard a-wonde impossible 1400-50 Alexander 2707 Impossible it seme A heuy As to be houyn [Dublin MS to heff] on hye to be sterne 1526 Pilgr Perf (W. de W. 1531) 171 It is impossyble for them to wynne the sayd lande 1596 Shaks Tam Shr II 1 285 It were impossible I should speed 1600 Fayre Em M Ward Merm Lett (1887) II 1 I believed it impossible you should forget me 1852 H Rogers Fel Faith (1853) 275 It is impossible that we should ever see lovers perfectly inflexible 1864 Daily Tel 9 Sept, To keep anything like a correct amount of the loss would be impossible 1890 Law Times Rep LXIII 766/1 It was impossible for a funding bertth to be found

2 Math Having no possible or real value, imaginary

1673 Kersey Algebra I 269 Impossible Roots are such whose values cannot be conceived or comprehended either Arithmetically or Geometrically as in Binomium $a + \sqrt{-b}$, for no Number can be imagined, which being multiplied by itself according to my Rule of Multiplication will produce it 1730 Chambers Cycl Suppl (1751) 226 Coming like impossible roots, by pure 1874 Todhunter Alg xx § 373 (1882) 216 If n be even, the last term is possible and the last term but one is impossible

3 In recent use, with ellipsis of some qualification suggested by the context, as, impossible to deal with, to carry into practice, to do anything with, to get on with, to tolerate, to recognize, utterly unsuitable or unpracticable, out of the question'

1858 Greg Enfield Speech 19 Never was a more impossible young fellow placed in more impossible position 1865 M Arnold Lect Conf Prof 19 Oxford's adorable dreamers, those of them who are impossible for all practical purposes, and impossible to direct 1876 Bosanq & Rice Coll Constitutn II 173 to fill the world except Jack and Agatha 1880 Besant Children I 4 The scheme was that no other girl would have 1884 Harper's Mag May 962/2 The ghosts made the place doubtfully impossible 1886 G. Allen Tents of Shem xxiv 278 I'm impossible! I'm the dear old ugly lady in the speckly dress and impossible bonnet

B sb =IMPOSSIBILITY 1 rare in sing

c 1374 Chaucer Troilus III 476 (525) That wyst he wel an impossible were 1387-8 I Usk Test Love II iii (Skeat I 93) If I shulde graunte you, I shoulde graunte you impossible c 1440 Capgrave St Kath iv 664 Your secte May not stande. Right for be impossibles whiche þer inne Je hepe 1472 Paston Lett III 2 Ther is many a fayr desyre was an impossyll to be brought abowght 1678 Cudworth Intell Syst I iii § 53 A bundle of impossibles heretofore, and impossibles, now 1789 Trial Warren Hastings II 6 The nature of an impossible becomes known from the seventh (theorem) 1866 Miss Mulock Chris Kemp & Children 10 Heaven sometimes converts our impossibles and inevitables into the very best blessings we have

C Comb, as impossible-looking

1871 Cassell's Inv Carlisle's Visit I 13 Certainly the most impossible looking lottery problem I ever had 1898 Westm Gaz 31 Mar, This impossible looking constituency

Impossibleness, rare [f prec + -NESS] = IMPOSSIBILITY

1447 Bokenham Seyntis Rome 89 Wher-fro Austyn seyth the gret mesch[ef] And the impossybylnesse it to relet 1624 Rogers Naaman 111 The needlessenesse, difficultie, &c, impossibleness of prevailing 1727 in Bailey vol II

Impossibly, adv [f as prec + -LY 2] Not possibly, in an impossible fashion Now chiefly in not impossibly = (just) possibly, perhaps 1579-80 North Plutarch (1656) 116 Rome which had impossibly attained unto so high glory and power without the special favour of the Gods 1604 Dekker Honest Wh I 2 S. impossibly I love you 1667 Milton P L IX 561 Eve soon not impossibly may meet Some speedie occasion 1716 M Davies Athen Brit I 31 Not impossibly 1731 His enemy took a rising ground, by which means he might not impossibly stand higher 1825 Blomfield Second Letter to B. T. Let us forget what else is possible, I hope impossibly! 1885 Manch Exam 28 May 5/3 The ceremony may not impossibly be marred

Impost (impɔst), sb 1 [a OF impost (1429 in Hatz-Darm.), now impôt = Sp impuesto, Pg imposto, ad med L impositus or impostum (1272 in Du Cange) from L impositus, impositum, pa pple of imponere to IMPOSE The corresponding It imposta represents the fem of the same pple (cf milit. equi de imposita, an 1302 in Du Cange)]

1 A tax, duty, imposition, tribute, spec a customs-duty levied on merchandise Now chiefly Hist

The distinction suggested by Cowell, that impost properly denotes a duty on imported goods, and custom one on goods exported, is repeated by later lawyers, but there is no evidence that it was ever in accepted use

1588 Grafton Chron., Hen II, II 81 He neuer put any tollage impost or taxe vpon his subiectes 1590 Act 11 Hen c 4 § 2 Customs, Subsidies, Imposts or other Duties within any Port of the Realm 1601 R. Johnson Kingd & Commw (1603) 194 Keeping garrison there to receive the impostes, and customes of the arriving vessels a 1618 Raleigh Prerog Parl (1628) 51 The great taxe vpon wine is still called Impost, because it was imposed after the ordinary rate of payment had lasted many yeare 1726 Cavalier Mem II 274 That the Inhabitants of the Cevennes, whose Houses have been burned in the Wars, shall pay no Imposts for the Term of seven Years. 1789 Const U S I § 8 To the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States 1885 Goschen Sp Exch 20 Import duties, or transit dues, and the whole range of Government imposts. 1874 Green Short Hist viii § 5, 533 A bench of Judges declared the new impost [ship money] to be legal

fig. 1702 Ames Theophania 9 Confidence is not the favour but the impost of a crime.

b attrib, as impost fine, law, also impost taker (see quot a 1700

1588 Rec Bk H. B. Jas in Inv Jours XXXII 54 Payd vp vnto sir Jo. Imposed Jame in the Queen Majesties name of wyne duis Lande a 1700 B E Dict Cant Crew Impost taker one that standeth and Lands Wares in the Custom-house at very high Interest 1894 Statham Sabbath 155 Ye who set dissiving impost laws

2 Racing slang The weight which a horse has to carry in a handicap race

1883 Daily News 29 June 2/4 The horse has such a leaden impost that it will be easy to make him first favourite 1887 Ibid 7 Feb 5/6 His light impost might enable him to win

Impost (impost), sb 2 Arch [a F imposte, (1545 in Hatz-Darm.), ad It imposta, of same derivation as prec.]

1 The upper course of a pillar or abutment frequently projecting in the form of an ornamental moulding or capital on which the foot of an arch rests

Where there is no proper moulding the impost is said to be continuous

1664 Latton tr Scamozzi's Archit 190 Imposts are nothing but their Capitels or mouldings that run about and upon which rest the ends of the Arches 1712 J James tr Le Blond's Gardening 74 An Arch adorned with Imposts 1845 Penny Cycl Archit Arts 178 Round pilasters, or semi columns, with flat imposts or capitals

†2 The hanging stile of a door or gate, hence, the leaf of a door or gate Obs rare

1730 A Gordon Maffei's Amphith 296 Of these the Cones, the first have no Marks of ever having had Imposts the other have two round Holes in the Stone of the Threshold in them the Hinges of two parts of the Gates turned round, causing the Imposts to play [Lasciando su le sue imposte] Pa this we discover the manner of the ancient Imposts, called Limites by the Latins

3 A horizontal block supported by upright stones, as at Stonehenge Also attrib

1768 G. White Selborne xxi (1874) 74 These birds [daw] deposit their nests in the interstices between the upright and the impost stones of the amazing work of antiquity 1769 Phil Trans Lowr Ct Jour I 296 The entire Circle of Stonehenge in its Perfection consisted of 60 Stones, 30 Uprights, and 30 Imposts 1771 Ibid LXI 134 The most Ancient Nation 59 Thirty upright stones sustaining as many others placed horizontally, so as to form continuous Imposts

†Impost, v ? Obs rare [app ad It impostare, 'to set on the impost or case to a door or window']

1 trans To set or base on imposts

1730 A Gordon Maffei's Amphith 17 The Wall has no Thickness sufficient to impost an Arch Roof of the Width of new Hist 407 There being no Marks of Vaults on the Wall, in which they may have been inland on imposted

2 intr To begin to curve inward, to spring, as an arch

1730 A Gordon Maffei's Amphith 285 The Roofs do impost, or draw in above the thickness of the Arches

Impost, v [f S's Customs [f IMPOST sb 1] trans To classify (imported goods etc) according to their tariff designations and the rate of duties paid on them Hence Imposting ppl a 1884 Harper's Mag June 57/2 (New York Custom House), The entry papers are sent to an official who imposts them or, in other words, classifies the articles described in separate columns according to the rate of duty that each is liable to pay Ibid, From the imposter the entries pass to other hands Again they pass into the hands of the imposting and statistical clerks.

Imposteme, obs form of IMPOSTURE

Imposter, obs f IMPOSTOR, sec IMPOST 2

†Impoſte rious, a Obs rare [f IMPOSTURE + -OUS, cf IMPOSTUROUS] = NEXT

1633 Hart Dict Diuinacd iii xxx 373 As for the signe of life and death by the blood sweaty drops, I hold it either impostorious or impious and superstitious

†Impo steross, a Obs [f imposter, IMPOSTOR, or perh (from the date) IMPOSTURE + -OUS, cf IMPOSTOROUS, -TROUS, TEROUS]

1 Of the nature of an imposture, false

1562 Bullein bk Simples 44 a, Nothing, but the impostorous subtelties of wicked people 1697 Beach A Fr Woman Hates in 11, To hold thy strictness false and impostorous 1665 J Spencer Prodigies 4 So impostorous and iniquitous an Argument as this is a 1626 Middleton Mayor Quenborough iii iv 235 When thou it known to be a whore impostorous a 1640 Day Law Tricks (1881) 56 This Sybil is the Character Of an impostorous Quacksalver 1652 Gaule Magastrom 170 I so united for an impostorous traitor

2 Having the character of an impostor

Hence † Impo steronsly adv

1657 W. Morice Coron anim xxxix Def xi 123 They would not dare to argue so impostorously

†Impo stery Obs rare$^{-1}$ [cf prec] Imposture = IMPOSTORY, TRY, -TURY

1656 Burton's Diary (1828) I 72 His riding into Exeter very a horrid piece of pugenotry and impostery, but how to call that blasphemy in him I know not.

Imposthume, etc. see IMPOSTUME

Impostor (impɔ·stəɹ) Forms a 6–7 impostour, (6 -ur) β 7–9 impostor γ 7 imposture, 7– impostor [α F imposteur (16th c.) < Sp., Pg impostor, It impostore, ad late L impostor, agent-noun f impōnĕre to IMPOSE (ppl stem impost-, impost). At its first adoption into English, the word was app confused with the older IMPOSITION, the termination being subsequently altered to -er and -or, the latter of which, agreeing with the original L form, has survived.]

One who imposes on others, a deceiver, swindler, cheat, now chiefly, one who assumes a false character, or passes himself off as some one other than he really is a 1586 JAS VI in Ellis Orig Lett Ser I III 93 I do think it unmeit to be in the mouth of impostoris and theiffis 1591 HORNEY Trav (Hakluyt Soc 1761) Their matt him an impostur or magician, which they held to be their oracle 1624 SIR T HERBERT Trav 145 Mahomet the great Imposture β 1607 TOPSELL Four-f beasts 301 This thing haue the impostors of the World used for a Phylire. 1687 T PHOPS Nantis in Ogotsur Wics 179, I fit They are seven in all mat impostors as ever deluded the credulous world 1844 Jour Hanoffl Sharp 113 The fanatics and impostors, if they only were

γ 1624 CAPT SMITH Virginia III xii 94 Being found a meere Impostor, he dyed most miserably 1658 SIR T BROWNE Hydriot (1686) 13 The Impostour Bacchus hebes 1721 ADDISON Spect No 38 P 4 there is an Impostor abroad, who takes upon him the Name of this young Gentleman 1825 LYTTON Pelham I, It is very clear that this Greek is some impostor

fig. 1605 SHAKS Mac I III iv 64 Those flawes and starts (Impostors to true feare)

attrib. 1660 I BROOKE tr Le Blanc's Trav 14 The Impostor Mahomet 1698 WARD Simple Hondl Lat World IV ii § 10 453/8 He commanded all those Impostor Priests to be crucified 1738 WARBURTON Div Legat I Ded 40 What says our Impostor Jesus to this? 1827 H MARTINEAU Soc Times III 70 An unworthy bondage of mean fear to some imposter opinion

†Impostor rious, a Obs rare [f IMPOSTORY + -OUS, cf IMPOSTEROUS, -TEROUS] Having the character of an impostor or impostors

1623 HART Anatomie Ur II ii 43 An impostorious empericke. Ibid 44 Nothing else but impostorious conjecture 1670 JOHN WEBB Hist Stonehenge I 4 So famously acquainted with the impostorious Numps of Loudune in France

†Impo storism Obs rare—1 [f IMPOSTOR + -ISM, cf IMPOSTURISM.] = IMPOSTURE

1652 Mercurius Democritus 18 28 Aug 262 Hocus Pocus Juglings, forgeries, and damn'd Impostorisms

Impostorous (impɔ·stərəs) a [f IMPOSTOR, or perh (from the date) ong f IMPOSTUR + -OUS; cf IMPOSTEROUS, -TEROUS, -TORIOUS.]

†1 Of the nature of an impostor Obs

1548 HOOPER Ten Commandm vii, That nomen after there deathe should decease the people with false and impostorous doctrine 1549 LATIMER Misc Sermons 224 Rites and ceremonies impostorous prophane and unpious

2 Having the character of an impostor, practising imposture

1611 SPEED Hist Gt Brit IX xv § 13 944 Richard Simon, an ambitious and impostorous wretch 1648 FORD Lovers Melt 11, Thou art indeed an impostorous orpate. 1652 WOOD Coron Ignis Sanct 207 xxvi 271 His impostorous Physician ceased him, that he could not live one day without his Medicines 1882 CREIGHTON Hist Papacy II 428 xxxv, Impostorous Emissaries from the East

Impo storship [f IMPOSTOR + -SHIP.] The office or character of an impostor

1620 SHELTON Quix III vi 68 This Vale of Feares where there is scarce any thing without Matter of Mischief, Impostorship or Villany 1642 MILTON Lycid Apol 23 An examiner, and discoverer of this impostorship 1823 BENTHAM Not Paroch Pan 18 Should he find himself stigmatized as an impostor,—find himself encountered by a certificate of impostorship 1836 Fraser's Mag XIII 334 In the annals of literary, as well as political and impostorship

†Impo story. Obs rare [? as prec + -Y, cf IMPOSTERY, -TRY.] = IMPOSTURE

1653 A WILSON Jas I 107 It could not be imagined that any thing, of Imposture could result to him 1655 FULLER Ch Hist V iv § 26 The Disease of the Mother being the best Foundation to build such Impostorie thereon

†Impo strate, ppl a Obs rare [f IMPOSTOR or IMPOSTUR + -ATE2.] = IMPOSTROUS

1632 LITHGOW Trav I 14 The impostrate quaintness of this abortive age

Impostress (impɔ·strəs) [f imposter, IMPOSTOR + -ESS, perh after OF imposteresse (Godefroy), but cf actor, -tress, hunter, -tress] A female impostor Now rare

1614 BACON Let to Sir T 21 Feb, The impostress Elizabeth Barton 1665 WITHER Lot's Prance 132 Reason is cryed down as an Impostress 1778 Trial Lord Geo Gordon 47 No wonder if the impostress had deceived 1839 PUSEY Script & Creed 179 It was an impostress under the name of philosophy

†Impo strix. Obs rare [a med L impostrix, fem of impostor] = prec

1655 FULLER Ch Hist V iii § 47, I am heartily sorry that the memory of John Fisher should be so light, and the sharp sight of Sr Thomas More so blinde, as to give credit to so notorious an Impostrix 1700 HICKES in Pepys Diary 29 June, Some suspected her for an impostrix

Impostrous (impɔ·strəs). a Also 7 imposterous [Abbreviation of IMPOSTEROUS or -OROUS (f. impostor, -tress.)]

1 Having the character of an impostor

1618 DRAYTON Poly-ol xxiii 286 He that took th' impostrous Captain king. 1850 GROTE Greece II lxvii VIII 454 Aristotle gave to the word sophist a definition subtle and ably the same as that which it bears in the modern languages—an impostrous pretender to knowledge, a man who simply sells what he knows to be fallacy, for the purpose of discovering and getting money.

2 Of the nature of an impostor

1654 HOWELL Londinop 289 Further to speak of his impostrous lies 1668 H MORE Div Dial V v (1713) 412 The Idolatrous and Impostrous Church of Rome 1810 SOUTHEY Chron of Cid II 96 As of the true and original jury so of this impostrous modern substitute, the origin has buried in obscurity 1818 JAS MILL Brit India II V iv 69, I cannot by any means discover the grounds of this impostrous assertion

Impost-tax = IMPOSITORY, -ORY, -URY

1585 I WASHINGTON tr Nicholay's Voy III xxiii 105 They resume to their houses triumphing of their imposture

† Impo stumate, ppl a Obs Also 8-thumate [Altered form of apostumate, APOSTUMATE pp a, after IMPOSTURE.] Affected with impostumes, of the nature of an impostume Also fig

1601 HOLLAND Pliny xxxii iv II 273 The kidneys are small or good to be had upon impostumat swellings 1653 J HALL Paraclesis Nectar for Lame (1878) 18 Of these his lungs done and hard and his liver like that was impostumate 1725 Pope Odyss xx 58 His hard Lungs obey'd And thus found out his impostumate, with pride 1764-64 SMITH Webster I 132 The ovaria are sometimes inflamed, impostumate [etc.]

† Impo stumate, v Obs Also 7–8 thumate [Altered form of apostumat, APOSTEMATE v, after IMPOSTUME, cf prec]

1 trans To affect with an impostume, to cause an impostume in Also fig

1596 NASHE 4 Lett Confut Unto To corrupt the aire and impostumate the lungs with the smoke 1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Epid III xxvii 164 Much impostumated by adding Salt 1646 BUCK Rich III, 53 So much our vices impostumate our sins. 1708 J Le Brun's Observ Samy (1771) 220 Some, fewer Stone having impostumated the Kidneys

2 intr To swell into an impostume, to form an ulcerous tumour, to fester, 'gather' Also fig

1607 MARKHAM Cavel I (1617) 68 Grosse and impostumating humors 1611 SPEED Hist Gt Brit IX xv § 13 944 Such impostum'de outward 1712 ARBUTHNOT John Bull I vii, The bruise impostumated, and afterwards turned to a sinking ulcer 1741 MIDDLETON Life Cicero I vi, The Lump soon afterwards impostumated

† Impo stumated, ppl a Also 7–8 -thumated [f as prec ppl adj and vb + -ED.] Affected with, swollen into, of the nature of, an impostume, ulcerated Also fig

1576 BARET Tr. ull of Health 131 b Against the Palsie of the tongue or other members if they be impostumated or inflamed Ibid 132 Against Wormes Ibid 134 Arts (1597) 471 Like the pain the impostumated patient suffers in the launcing his sore 1712 Perpetuity Mercy 20 Infants tied with Bonds and impostumated with Ambition 1771 SMOLLETT Humph Cl 8 My, Putrid gums, impostumated lungs

Impostuma tion, -thumation (impɔstiuˌmē·ʃĭn) Now rare [Altered form of apostuma tion, APOSTEMATION, after IMPOSTURE.]

1 The formation of an impostume, festering, suppuration

1552 HULOET, Imposthumation or runnynge of a sore suppuratio, suppuratio (etc.) 1643 J SPENCER Vulg Rites III iii 581 Thereby commeth inflammation, impostumation, and divers times Gangrene 1674 JOSSELYN Two Voy New Eng 184 They are troubled with a disease in the mouth or throat (I guess) and impostumations of the Almonds 1886 Sat Rev 5 Jan 19 Inflammation, the formation of an impostumation

2 = IMPOSTUME sb 1, 2

1534 M Papers Hen I III IV 28, I have beene sore vexed with an impostumation risen within my mouthe 1607-12 BACON Sens & Sens Wisdoms (Arb) 408 Mighne vlcers and perilous impostumations a 1788 POET Chirurg II ix II 448 An abscess or impostumation which may be relieved or cured by an opening. 1807 Mc Pract Surgeon three small impostumations appeared forming on the legs

Impostume, -thume (impɔ·stiuːm), sb Now rare Forms 5 6 em-, en-, im-, -postem(e, -tym(e, -tome, -tume, 6 8 imposteme, 7 imposthume, -postume, -thume [? OF empostume (also in 16th c.), ad. altered form of apostuma apostema, see ATOSTEM

A word which has undergone unusual corruption both in prefix and subsidiary. Originally Or apostuma abscess, apostuma ulcerare In OE the ending was corrupted to -stume (whence ME ATOSTUME), in late OE the initial a of the prefix apo- was like a prefix, sometimes confused with em-, making empostum. The I am form of emboing im-, the word was modified in ng as impostume. The earlier ME apostum was meanwhile affected by POPE use, and this app associated with the derivatives of L postumus, which those were erroneously spelt postume, posthumous, the common o passed also into apostume, impostume, the spelling imposthume is occasional from c 1550, and prevalent (though not universal) from c 1700]

1 A purulent swelling or cyst in any part of the body, an abscess

c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg 4 Contents, Cap iiij of empostume undre be rote of be ere Ibid 38 As it schal be teld in be chapitle of an empostume [MY B aposteme] Ibid 2. An empostym Ibid 54 Empostemes Ibid 214 heading, Of empostyms of be heed 1483 Cath Angl 105/1 An Impostume, apostuma. 1525 LD BERNERS Froiss II lv [c] 207 By gambolding of the horse the impostume brake in his body 1548 HALL Hen V f 58(1809) 209 Although he had died of a Palsey or Impostume 1552 HULOET, Impostume, or botche, or course of euil humours 1578 LYTE Dodoens I lxiii 93 Impostemes, wennes, or harde swellings about the eares and throte 1642 ROGERS Naaman 440 When the disease was ripe, he lets out the impostume 1659 SOUTH Sermon (1697) I 103 An Error in the judgment, is like an impostem in the He ad 1665 BOYLE Occ Reflect xxi 228 Producing sometimes inward Impostumes 1758 SMART Hist Jonah 1 Introd 1 Mental Impostems or Tumors 1748 tr Renatus Desiderius Hortes 238 A Suppuration, which they call an Impostume 1842 BREWSTER Newton II xi 181 Such an impostume, in his brain, occasioned by too much study)

2 fig a With reference to moral corruption in the individual, or insurrection in the state A moral or political 'festering sore', the 'swelling' of pride, etc.

1565 CALFHILL Answ Treat Crosse (1846) 93 It openeth the festered sores, the pestilent impostumes of our old desires 1622 MALYNES Anc Lex Merch 234 The three Impostumes of the world, namely, Warres, Famine, and Pestilence 1685 R YOUNG in Sprat 2nd Pt Relat late Ill Mischief contrived 1693/9 Several Impostumes thy blue wase hast sent abroad, which I can prove 1709 Mag Theophrast 177 To hinder the impostumation of bad humour from breaking 1839 JAMES Louis XIV, I 196 His most absurd and abusive impostume upon an absurd and abusive system was called the Paulette 1876 BROWNING Pacchiar xxii, the impostume I prick to relieve thee of, Vanity

b Applied to anything looking cloud or its contents

1603 DRAYTON Bar Wars II xvi From the swolne fulsure of the Clouds, doth shake A ranke Impostume upon every Lake

†c Applied to a person swollen with pride or insolence Obs

1621 FLETCHER Lit Prince I iii, Dost thou know me, Boulder, thou insolent impostume?

†Impo stume, -thume, v Obs Forms see prec [f prec sb, cf apostume, APOSTEMER v]

1 intr To gather into an impostume or abscess, = IMPOSTUMATE v 2 c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg 64 Wheanne bat hot ars vlcer bis be empostemynge [MS B empostemynge] 1527 ANDREW Brunswyke's Distyll Waters (1871) b, Good for impostumyng and peyne in the gummes 1580 HOLLYBAND Treat Fr Tongue, Apotomes 2 Apotome is when the humor doeth impostume 1607 TOPSELL Four-f Beasts (1658) 3.6 The knots will increase daily and inflame, impostume, and break 1648 LILBURN Leaders Examin 3 Should not Witchcraft be taken in that is distastfull, and continues there un-vayded, does daily impostume, and rather till at last it kills

2 fig = IMPOSTUMATE v 2

1645 G DANIEL Poems Wks 1878 II 92 They are free Of that rankе venome which impostumes Mee

† Impo stumed, -thumed, ppl a Obs [f IMPOSTUME + -ED.] = IMPOSTUMATED. Of and fig.

c 1400 Lanfranc's Cirurg 1 III § 6 heading, Of wondes Impostemede Ibid 58 Penke nought to heele be wounde as longe as it is empostemed [MS B apostomyde] a 1586 SIDNEY Arcadia III (1622) 384 How can an impostumed hurt but yeld forth euill matter by his mouth? 1628 SIR W MORE Funerals Earlow in 3 Impostumde sorres the patient most torment 1651 DAVENANT Gondibert II iii Impostum'd bubble of a wave 1663 Gerbier Counsel 65 To launce our impostum'd Ulcers

† Impo sturage. Obs. rare [f IMPOSTURE + AGE.] The action of an impostor, imposture

1654 GAYTON Pleas Notes IV viii 230 Pardon my imposturage 1656 Strife Heathens 127 To employ the devils invention or to count them any hurtfull engines

†Impo stural, a Obs rare [f as prec + -AL.] = IMPOSTUROUS

1588 J HARVEY Disc Probl 72 The vnruly and presumptuous insolence of such impostural prophets. 1612 JAMES Jesuits Downf 2 A most impostural corporation, that have cleane forsaken and forfeited the spirit of the Catholicke Church

Imposture (impɔ·stiuɹ), sb [α F imposture (earlier empostue), ad late L impostūra, abstract sb f impost-, ppl stem of impōnĕre to IMPOSE]

1 The action or practice of imposing upon others, wilful and fraudulent deception

1537 tr Latimer's 2nd Serm bef Convoc Cvij, Great imposture commeth, when they that the common people take for the light, go about to take the sonne and the light out of the worlde 1645 BACON Vitæ § 241, I see no great use of it, but for Imposture 1750 JOHNSON Rambler No 79 P 13 He that suffers by imposture has too often his virtue more impaired than his fortune 1800 JOHN TAYLOR tr CXXVIII, You'd best begin with truth, and when you've lost your Labour, there's a sure market for imposture 1878 MOBERLY Cent Mac Ser I Carlyle 198 Imposture must come to an end

†b. The deception of unreal or feigned appearances, illusion Obs

1623 SIR T BROWNE Relig Med II § 5 The counterfeit griefes of those knowne and professed impostures [at a Play] 1698 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I i § 38 47 There is something in us superiour to Sense, which judges of it, detects its Phantastry, and condemns its Imposture 1704 SULLIVAN New Nat II 231 Nothing can secure the mind from error and imposture, but the precision arising from a candid philosophical spirit

2 An act of fraudulent deception, a cheat, a fraud

1598 HALL Chron, Hen V f 153 By this pretye cautele and slyghe imposture 1603 FLORIO Montaigne's XXX (1632) 103 A punishable imposture 1759 ROBERTSON Hist V of (1813) I 115 The vigilance of the reformers detected these impostures 1838 Lytton Calderon I, He had submitted to an imposture

b A thing (or person) which is pretended to be what it is not 1699 Bonnet 3d Art xxii (1700) 245 Many of the Bones which were carried about by Monks, were none of their Bones but Impostures 1781 J. Moore View Soc. It (1790) I. 18 We were a gang of impostures

†3 An obs form of Imposter, q.v

Hence Impo sturedom = Impostorship

1608 I. Morton Preamb Encounter 39 A sportfull or rather execrable Impostur-ship of P. R.

†Impo sture, v. Obs [f. prec. sb.] a intr. To practise imposture b trans. To impose upon, deceive c To declare or prove to be an imposture 1622 H. Sydenham Sermon Sal Oct (1637) 92 Labouring to nullifie his acts, blemish his descent, imposture all his miracles 1624 J. Scott Reply Sondiser 32 Spunne assemblies, mines, the Iesuites counsell, the Priests imposture a 1650 Lady Alimony iv. vii, The Devil's a Witch, and lives imposture d them

Hence Impo sturing vbl. sb. and ppl. a.

1648 Lassebird P. Hardeck in Select Acad Misc (1793) 50 Where the imposturing of priests hath got the upper hand of all religion and piety 1624 Gage for Pope 71 Her abominable lies and imposturing deceit a 1641 Br. Montagu Acts & Mon (1642) 224 Imposturing lewd Libels, counterfeited under the names of the Apostles

†Impo sture, pl. Obs [f. Impostume (n.) + -ure.] Falsified, adulterated, impostrous

1619 Pasquil's Palinod (1877) 149 False imposture'd wines do hurt the eyes 1648-09 J. Beaumont Psyche II. cxxvii (1702) 13 That face which I Wantonly scorn'd, and cast my love away Upon imposture d Lust's foul Mystery

†Impostu rious, a. Obs rare—1 [f. Imposture + -ous, cf. Impsterious, -orious] = Impostrous

1610 Speed Hystorie of Hamblet iv, There are some impostu rious companions that impute so much devinitie to the devell

†Impo sturism. Obs. rare. [f. Imposture + -ism.] The practice of imposture a 1640 Day Peace, Schol (1881) 48 For she knew her true impostorisme would be discovered 1656 Earl Monm Advt Parnass 179 The cunning and imposturism which he princes of the world have used †Impo sturize, v. [f. imposture, or impostor + -ize.] intr. To practise imposture Hence Impo sturising ppl. a.

1603 Harsnet Pop Impost Pref., Impostursing Renega does that come fresh from the Popes Lying House Ibid ch. 24 Impostursing Sooth-sayers 1624 Gee Foot and of Snare 44 Duers other observations have our impostursing, Rengvdon

†Impo sturize, v. 2 non-e wd [f. Im- + Posturize.] trans. To mimic the postures of 1772 W. Huddesford in J. Cranger's Lett (1805) 149 Your attempt to imposturize Tony will be vain, futile, useless no one can tell but I how he looked, how he walked, how he scowled Imposturous (impɒ stiūrəs), a. [f. Imposture + -ous, cf. Impostrous, -torous, -trous.]

1 Of the nature of imposture, deceptive, fraudulent Now rare

1608 T. Morton Preamb Encounter 15 So suspitious and impostorous a Title 1687 S. Hill Cath Balance Pref. Methods of prescribing Tradition against impostorous Doctrines 1852 Grote Greece II. lxii VIII. 50 They (the five thousand) did not even exist as individual names on paper, but simply as an impostorous nominal aggregate

†2 Given to practising imposture, having the character of an impostor Obs

1621 Sedd Hist Gt Brit IX. xxiv (1632) 1175/2 The banefull wrath of those impostorous liers 1668 H. More Div Dial III. xxix (1713) 220 An impostorous and bloody Priesthood! 1697 Cotton Dunmor Stage II. 78 The English Oedipus makes the Priest hood an impostorous Profession

†Impo stury. Obs. rare. [f. Imposture + -y, cf. Impostry, -tory, -trie.] Imposture

1619 G. Sandys Trav 107 Not long after the impostury of Mahomet Ibid 173 That Impostury of fetching fire from the Sepulcher upon Easter Eve Impoture (impōu ʧiū) rare. [f. Impose v. + -ure, cf. Composture.] An imposing, a laying on 1658-3 Case Indiff. Things 49 It must issue in things in expedient to Christians, or an unlawfulness in the Imposure

1879 Browning Aristoph Apol 5463 At next quick imposure of decree

Impot a schoolboy's abbreviation of Imposition

Impotable (impōu tăbl), a. [f. Im- 2 + Potable.] Undrinkable 1608 A. Willet Hexapla in 1 and 2 Pet 224 Bitter waters impotable and unpleasant 1885 Pop Sci Monthly XXVI 182 Distilled water is made impotable and unhealthy by any traces of that (hydrocholoric) acid †Impo te, v. Obs rare—1 [f. Im-1 + potare o drink.] intr. To drink heavily

1721 Berkeley Let to R. Nelson 6 Oct. in Fraser Life iv (1871) 93, I have lain at many tables and civilly used in a sober way without imposting

Impotence (i mpŏtĕns) Also 5 in-, ym a + impotencia (13th c.) = Sp impotencia, It impotenza, ad L. impotentia (see next)

1 Want of strength or power to perform anything, utter inability or weakness, helplessness a 1440 Hoccleve De Reg Prince 4654 His [=their] impotence Streschip naght so fer as his influence 1614 Bp Hall Recoll Treat 1056 Ready to cast imputations of levity, or impotence upon God 1656 Hobbes Ath, Nicaea & Chance (1840) 368 A sick or lame man is liberty to go for his impotence, and not a power or a liberty 1671 Milton Samson 52 O impotence of mind, in body strong! 1788 Gibbon Decl & F. xlii (1869) II. 612 Every accident betrayed the impotence of the government 1854 Jeboult M. Gabet xiv 143 The old man . . wrung his hands in the very impotence of sorrow 1870 Swinburne Bothwell (1875) 207 Alike by his power and his impotence, by his capacity and his defect, Coleridge was inapt for dramatic poetry

2 Want of physical power, feebleness of body, as through illness or old age

1406 Hoccleve La male regle 443 As I saide reewe on myn impotence, Pat liklyam to sterue yit or eeue . . 1445 Lydg. Test in Mem Poems (Percy Soc.) 246 He unto most difference, Than eeldyd age, with sorwe most impotence 1483 Caxton Gold Leg. 99 b/1 It happed that two of them a brother and a suster cam to yimpotence 1602 Shakes. Hamlet II. ii. 98 Grieved, I hate it, his weakness, and impotence Was falsely borne in hand a 1674 Milton Hist Moscv. i, Any rich man who through age or other impotence is unable to serve the Public 1838 H. Coleridge North Worthies (1852) I. 21 Which [chronic diseases] slowly but surely reduce the body politic to a condition of impotence and decay

b Path Complete absence of sexual power usually said of the male 1865 Fuller Ch Hist II. xi. § 17 Whilest Papists rise up thus in their Confidency others . . sadly surrender the same, by imputing it partly to his Impotence afflicted with an Infirmity 1798 Martius Essay II. ii. (1806) II. 121 I set out from the consideration of Persons which were like the men with impotence and the women with barrenness? 1833-58 Copland Dict Pract Med II. 329 A impotence may exist in either sex, but most commonly in the male

†3 Lack of self restraint, violent passion Obs

1634 Massinger Very Woman I. ii, The heats, your sister would know whether Cardinals with much impotence feed upon her 1667 Milton P. L. II. 156 Will he, so wise, let loose at once his ire, Belike through impotence, or unaware, 1715-20 Pope Iliad xxii. 13 But the dire Achilles . . Is not a man, who slaughters wide In strength of rage and impotence of pride Impotency (impōtĕnsi) [ad. L. impotentia want of power, want of self restraint, abstract. of impotens Impotent Cf. Fr. impotence and see -ency.]

1 = Impotence 1

In the 17th c. freq. used to denote moral weakness, inability to follow virtuous courses or to resist temptation

c 1480 Lydg. Hor, Shep & Lyon Mon xix (1881) 155 Ffor all such thynges come off impotencie, as doyth power to be vyde or wex olde 1552 Latimer Serm & Rem (Parker Soc.) 194 Impotency which is ingendered by the pestilency of the devil 1640 Jer. Taylor Gt Exemp II. viii. 70 An impotency or disability to do good 1675 Baxter Gild Acc Wks. 1868 I. 87 The covenant of works is . . a lasting, monument of man's impotency and unrighteousness 1727 De Foe Spec Magic i. (1840) 68 The first [magician] gradually deposed themselves 1868 Pusey Lect. Daniel 1817 Chalmers Sermon Deut i (1853) 28 The mind feels its own impotency in attempting to grasp them 1871 Morley Crit Misc. Intellectual poverty and impotency

2 = Impotence 2

1440 J. Shirley Deth A. Tames (1818) 5 The greet ache of the Eye, the impotency of his hymmes and membres, the feblenesse of his persone 1594 J. B. La Primaud Fr. Acad II. 365 They are taken with palsies, lamenesse, and impotency in all their members 1668 Pepys Diary 1 Dec. unpus to let any starve, when we limit the wages of the poor, so as they can lay up nothing against the time of their impotency and want of work 1727 Bond Epist. Watch 180 Swelling in the Hands and Feet, impotency of Walking 1828-34 Cook's Study Med (ed. 4) IV. 90 When the impotency results from paresis or paralysis of the local nerves the case is usually hopeless

b = Impotence 2 b

1594 Nashe Unfort Traveller (1616) 283 If these two . . sepit at each from other, upon pretence of impotency, and so hee take another wife and shee another husband 1644 Milton Tetrac Wks (1851) 320 She who hath made her self unfit by open misdemeanours or through incurable impotencies cannot be able, is not to be esteem'd a wife 1706 E. Ward Terræ-filius I. 7 An evidence of weakness impotency, and want of manhood

†3 = Impotence 3 Obs

1542 N. Udall in Lett Ear Man (Camden) 5 When his hardened stomack [sic] is replenished with voluptuous superfluitie 1635 N. R. Camdens Hist Eliz II. an. 27. 269 Letters were secretly sent whereby her womanish impotency might be thrust on to her most destruction 1799 Burke Regicide Peace Wks. 1874 II. 64 Persons . . the most free from the impotencies of envy and resentment Impotent (i mpŏtĕnt), a. (sb.) Also 5 in- [a. F. impotent (14th c.) = It., Sp. impotente, ad. L. impotent-em powerless, usually, lacking self-restraint, f. im- (Im-2) + potens, potent- Potent.]

1 Having no power or ability to accomplish anything, powerless, helpless, ineffective

1444 Pol Poems (Rolls) II. 220, I saith always, with his klawes hinge, Purvewe a snayl, poore and impotent 1535 Coverdale Neh iv. 2 Sanchallit . . saide: What do the impotent Jewes? 1568 in H. Campbell Love Lett Mary Q Scots App. (1824) 11 When any of the persons of the said crown ell shall depart, or become impotent to serve 1671 Milton P. R. II. 433 Yet Wealth without these three is impotent To gain dominion or to keep it gain'd 1788 Gibbon Decl & F. xlii. (1869) II. 610 The works of man are impotent against the assaults of nature 1860 Mattieu Northerl (1868) I. 25 The impotent monarch who occupied the French throne 1896 Dr Argyll Philos Belief 39 The finest microscopes are impotent to detect the molecular and atomic constitution of any form of matter

2 Physically weak, without bodily strength, unable to use one's limbs, helpless, decrepit

1390 Gower Conf III. 283 And also for my dedis olde That I am feble and impotent c 1450 I. Vic. Sir Tryst 48 He was feble and old And impotent 1538 Starkey Engl I. 4 He is by sykenes or age impotent and void of power to helpe hym selfe 1601 R. John on Kingd & Commw (1605) 184 Those onely who are impotent in their limbes 1709 Steele Tatler No. 27 ¶ 2 The Fellow with broken Limbs justly deserve your Alms for his impotent Condition 1853 C. Bronte Villette iv, A rheumatic cripple, impotent hand and foot

fig. 1604 Shaks. Oth II. i. 162 Oh no more Lame and impotent conclusion 1871 Freeman Hist Sic (1892) 20 But he stops short in a most lame and impotent way

b Wholly lacking in sexual power incapable of reproduction

1615 G. Sandys Trav 7 Here it is a common practise to bewitch them made thereby impotent with their wives, untill the charme be breat 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav 148 Fight or ten lustfull women, by the law sal jected to one (and he perhap impotent) no more 1876 Darwin Descent Dedi 248, I the Impotent Person of Petersmus 1859 Darwin Orig Spec ix (18 .). 260 Whole groups of animals and plants are rendered impotent by the same unnatural conditions

†3 Not master of oneself, unable to restrain one-self, unrestrained headlong, passionate Also with of Obs [No 1 impotens]

1596 Shakes. Tam Shr I. ii. 30 Sowred husband, so tumultuous minds, And impotent desire of many things 1639 Massinger Cannot Combat III. ii, An impotent lover Of women for a flash, but his fires quenched Hatung satisfy 1650 Davies in Ld Herbert Autobiog (1886) 1. 60 Be not impotent you, and impotent of Will, Love Chance no time to turn, but urge her still 1715-20 Pope Iliad IX. 33 But Jove, impotent of passion, spoke Her calm silence

B sb An impotent person

1513 Bradshaw St Werburgh 2068 And brought to the hyre the wretched impotent 1596 Dial Pol. in. iii Whom should they follow, aged impotent But he that is their true born sovereign? 1662 Pepys Diary 4 Jan. in terrance of impotents of all sorts 1885 Pall Mall Gaz 25 As for impotents by the hand of God, the publick ought to mantain them 1833 Colebrook Lett 1859 368 A similar institution might exist for a higher class of well managed impotents

†Impote ntial, a. Obs rare [f. Im-2 + Potential.] Impotent

1640 G. Daniel Trinarch., Rich II lxxxv, It will adore An Onion And tremble to its impotential Power c 1700 Lord Ormskill in Evans O. B. 1784 III. ii. 303 Want, or secret dread, Or impotential age

Impotently (i mpŏtĕntli), adv. [f. Impotent a. + -ly 2.]

1 Powerlessly, helplessly, ineffectively

1611 Cotgr. Impotentement, impotently, unpowerfully 1662 J. Smith Sel Pract Mil 182 To imagine him so impotently mutable, that his favour may be won again with their uncouth devotions 1748 Young Nt Th v. 553 Some weep in secret, and impotently kind, Or court the blind passion impotently pours Tears that deserve more tears 1868 Kingsley Cornm (1877) III. i. 64 He impotently watched the progress of Antenor's hanging.

†2 Without self-restraint, ungovernably, unrestrainedly Obs

1622 Burton Anat Mel III. iv. 1. i. (1651) 525 He lives her most impotently, she loves not him 1630 R. Johnson New Inn I. Wks. (1816) I. 421 I have loved this lady long, And impotently with desire enough 1633 H. More Conject Cabbal 203 (L.) The things I do impotently passionate

†Impotentness. Obs rare—0 [f. as prec. + -ness.] Impotence

1530 Palsgr. 244/1 Impotentnesse for age, decrepitude 1727 Bailey vol. II, Impotentness, want of Power or Strength, Weakness †Impo tionate, ppl. a. Obs rare [ad. med L. impotionat-us, pa. pple. of impotionare to poison f. im- (Im-1) + potio-nem drought, the poisoned draught] Poisoned

1583 Stubbes Anat Abus I. (1877) 31 You people that hath drunke so deep of this impotionate Cup Ibid 115 Curs'us cookes and impotionate broths

†Impo tionate, v. Obs rare—1 [f. ppl. stem of L. impotionāre see prec.] trans. To poison

1563-87 Foxe A. & M. (1596) 564/2 Certaine Lepers conspiring with the Turke and Iewes to want and to impotionate, and infect all Christendome, by enchanting their fountaines & pits [

†Impou nd, v. Obs rare—1 [f. Im-1 + Pound, after Impocher.] trans. To put into a pouch, bag, or pocket

1611 Cotgr., Impoché impoakt, impounched. Ibid., Empocher, to impoake, to impounch, to put into a poake, bagge, or pocket

Impound (impau nd), v. Also 6 ? empound, impownd [f. Pound + In-1 + Pound *sb.*²]

1 trans. To shut up in a pound or pinfold (cattle legally seized)

1554 [see Impounding below] 1556 in W. H. Turner Cal Rec Oxford (1880) 127 To impownde . . xx head of their cattell put in ye howse thereunto 1641 Termes de la Ley, Pana Pacabo a Writ that lies against him that breakes any pound and takes out the beasts which are there impounded 1688 Land Gaz. No. 2369/4 A Boy More having strayed and been impounded neer Hogsden 1697 Vanbrugh Aesop Dram (1713) 146 To exempt them from all liability of having their hogs impounded or taken up as estrays 1851 Hr Martineau Hist Peace IV. (1877) III. 24 Some cattle had been impounded for tithe payment

fig. 1584 Bishop D. Mowat 81 (1587) 16 The other questions because they are drawn in over the hedge we will nowe impounde them

b gen. To shut up (cattle) in an enclosure

1877 J. A. ALLEN Ibid. Inter. Jrnl. 535 The Indians in the habit of hunting the buffalo by impounding them, or by driving them into an artificial enclosure 1878 A. AYLWARD Transvaal 19 If he was being set, and the cattle and stock impounded in their kraals and places of safety

2 To shut in, enclose, confine (a person or thing) as in a pound

1562 PHAER Æneid IX Cciv, king Latyne wyfe gets here no ease, Nor she thy fathers walls this time empounds in rage 1566 DRANT Horace, Sat. VI H v b, A fountayne by,shut, with stones impounded rounde 1622 BACON Hen. VII 189 How to impound the Seas, that none of them might escape 1838 G. DOWNES Lett. Cont. Countries I. 60 On landing, we were impounded for about ten minutes within an enclosure of ropes and chains, before we were admitted into the Custom house 1861 W. FAIRBAIRN Life Brief Assoc. xiv, By this means forty million gallons of water per day are conveyed into the Muddock basin, where the water is impounded for distribution

fig. 1570 R. SCOT Hop-Gart. To Rdr., The Lemming-seeking to impound us in the ignorance of our commoth tres a 1630 WOTTON in Relig. (1685) 240 As for Cæsar (to it were to impound his spirit) a 1848 R. W. HAMILTON Acre & Dunsholm xii (1853) 291 What right have they to impound the truth?

3 To seize or secure by legal right, to take legal or formal possession of (a document or the like to be held in custody of the law

1651 N. BACON Disc. Govt. Engl. II xii (1739) 40 Because then, found them impounded in the Temple, they set all at liberty to buy and sell the same as they pleased 1768 BLACKSTONE Comm. III i 12 The things distrained must in the first place be carried to some pound, and there impounded by the taker 1851 DICKENS Pict. from Italy (1872) 30 Officers came down from Seville impounded his goods his plate, his jewels 1882 Times No. 29111. 9/1 He felt interest can be impounded for the benefit of the disappointed parties

fig. 1788 Hist. Fur in Ann. Reg. 141/2 To impound Lycurgus of the public money for the sole and exclusive service of the navy

Hence Impoun'ded ppl. a., Impoun'ding vbl. sb. and ppl. a. Also Impoun'ndable a., liable to be impounded, †Impoun'ndage, Impoun'ndment, the act of impounding, Impoun'nder, one who impounds or puts cattle, etc. into pound

1554 Act 1 & 2 Phil. & M. c. 12 Preamb. Disorder in taking of Distresses and impounding of Cattle 1611 COTGR., Fourchage, impoundage, or an impounding 1664-5 Act 16-17 Chas. II, c. 11 § 9 Present sale thereof to make after the fourth day of Impoundment 1676 MARVELL Mr. Smirke 49 When-soever a Christian transgresses these bounds one hee hits impoundable, or like a wife and stray whom Christ has won not, falls to the Lord of the Mannor 1828 WEBSTER, Impounder 1888 J. DAVIS Land Left, Ireland 132 The hitching of an impounded kid 1889 Pall Mall G. 28 June 1/2 A warning note is to be sent to of the impounding reservoirs in this country 1892 Daily News 6 Apr. 2/6 He could subpœna the officer of the Court to pro duce the impounded documents at Bow-street

†Impo ver, v. Obs rare [Later form of EMPOVER, with IM-1.] trans. To impoverish

1535 Goodly Primer, Song of Hannah The Lord impoverish & he maketh rich 1587 N. LICHFIELD Tas. I (1614) 238 The Realme is vtterlie impouerist he euill coyne 1634 BARRETON Trav. 31 Chiefest houses one for impovered and impotent persons another for fatherless children

Impoverish (impp'verĭʃ), v. Forms 5 empoverish, -poverys(e)h, inpoverysh, 6 impovery(s)h, -yshe, -ishe, 6–9 empoverish, 7 ym-, 6– impoverish [ad. OF empoveriss-, lengthened stem of empov(e)rir pauperize to make, poor, f. em- = IM-1 + povre POOR.]

1 trans. To make poor, to reduce to poverty

1440 J. SHIRLEY Dethe A. James (1818) 8 Also of the greds covaine that he oppressed and empoverised his comonalte 1494 FABYAN Chron. I xxxix. 28 He exacted hym self and inpouerysshed his subiectes 1555 FARR Decades (Arb.) 54 England is in fewe yeres decayed and impoueryshed 1642 TAYLOR Holy Dying iv. § 2 He that impoverisheth his children to enrich his widow, destroyes a quick hedge to make a dead one 1771 Junius Lett. lii. 293 Corruption impoverishes and enslaves the country 1866 ROGERS Agric. & Prices I. xxix 692 The trader was impoverished by high poor rates

†b To reduce or diminish (wealth or a stock of anything) Obs

1611 SPED Hist. Gt. Brit VIII. vii. § 25. 405 A former warre against the French had empouerished much of their wealth 1661 BOYLE Style of Scripture (1675) 207 The dayes consecrated to God's service rather improve than impoverish our stock of time

†c To make bare, to strip of (some form of wealth) Obs

1611 SPED Theat. Gt. Brit V. 1614 9/2 Iron and glasse impoverish the country of woods 1726 G. ROBERTS Lives Icen. 391 They impoverished the Island of its Cattle

2 To make weak or poor in quality or productiveness, to exhaust the strength or native quality of a 1631 DONNE In Select (1840) 108 But when God shall depict, and impoverish and exhaust that spirit 1767 A. YOUNG Farmer's Lett. People 290 The unprofitable practice of plowing up pastures tends perpetually to impoverish them 1784 J. MARSHALL Diseases 29 Many People may think Water will hurt the Milk or impoverish the Cheese experience shews it will not 1876 MOZLEY Univ. Sermons 109 Such theories . . impoverish the minds which they absorb 1897 ALLBUTT Syst. Med. III 81 Other depressing forces may have come into play impoverishing the blood Impo verished, -ʃt, ppl. a. [f. prec. + -ED1.] Reduced to poverty, made poor, weak, etc.

a 1631 DONNE In Select (1840) 16 Records of impoverished and forgotten, and obliterate families 1753 N. TORRIANO Ganges' New Thread p. xii An impoverished and consequently an unnoble Nation of Blood 1772 BURN Dormant Claims Ch. Wks. 1842 II 498 An impoverished and degraded clergy 1882 J. H. BURTON Scot. Ch. Eng. II 486 He found an impoverished exchequer

Impo verisher. [f. as prec. + -ER1.] One who, or that which, impoverishes 1628 BRITHAM Assalem 1 Ixxi 191 They are mighty louers of their Palaces, and thinke knowne an impouerisher good Wine and Victuals 1677 Nat. Hist. in Ann. Reg. 90/1 Rape and hemp are impoverishers of the soil 1829 Hone's Every-day Bk. II 12 I think it the impoverisher of their property 1831 F. P. CROWE Hist. Drama III x 306 The rapid impoverisher of his own subjects

Impo verishing, vbl. sb. [f. as prec. + -ING1.] The action of the vb. IMPOVERISH

1450 Rolls of Parli. V 206/2 Grauntes made to the dilapidacion and fyrell empoverysshing of the seid Monasterie 1694 Part. Hist. Europe 11 The impoverishing and ruining of the French 1881 HENRY Conflict of Hosts xvii (1888) 176 The impoverishing of the nobles

Impo verishing, ppl. a. [f. as prec. + -ING2.] That impoverishes 1611 SPED Chron. Saxons Greene in Conc. (1858) 120 Boul ting up with your bags their impourishing braueries 1876 J. HARDY Old Bailey Sessions (1894) 2 Country book-selling is a miserable impoverishing occupation in these days

Impo verishly, adv. rare —[irreg. f. IMPOVERISH + -LY 2.] So as to impoverish

1847 in CRAIG Hence in mod. Dicts

Impo verishment. [ad. AF. empoverissement, f. empoverir to IMPOVERISH: see IM-2.]

1 The fact or process of impoverishing or making poor, the condition of being impoverished, loss of wealth or means, that which has this effect

1560 BECON New Catech Wks. 1564 I. 367b, To the empouerishment and losse of his goodes 1633 G. SANDYS Trav. 67 To abstaine from almes for feare of impoverishment 1747 SWIFT Irish Tract Wks. 1765 III 169 All appeals for justice to another country, are so many impoverishments 1880 GEORGE Progress & Pov. VII. 236 The ruin and impoverishment inflicted by the Peruvian invasion of Attica 1897 Westm. Gaz. 20 Dec. 1/2 It has His fondness for little dinners and other sweet impoverishments

2 The process of making or becoming poor in quality, deterioration

1678 [J. ASHMOLE] Theatrum Chymicum (1659) 23 And on this impoverishment attendeth many other infirmities 1699 W. SIMSON Hydr. Chym. 161 A further impoverishment of spirits 1796 Encycl. Britannica Pneumatics VII. 136 The natural tendency of languages towards disintegration and impoverishment 1875 H. C. WOOD Therap. (1879) 489 Impoverishment of the blood . . is called dyscrasia of the blood

Impower, obs. var. IMPOWER

Impracticability (impræ:ktikăbi·liti) [f. IMPRACTICABLE: see -ITY.]

1 The quality or condition of being impracticable a Incapability of being done or carried out, practical impossibility 1740 GOV. OGLETHORPE in Ann. Reg. XVII 324 Because of the impracticability of a march over the precipices. 1831 BRANDE Nat. Magn. in (1833) 293 The impracticability of foreseeing all the possible combinations of the parts 1843 SYDNEY SMITH Mor. (1850) I 222 The impracticability of the attempt

b Incapability of being put to its purposed use, or of being dealt with, unsuitableness, unmanageableness, intractability, stubbornness

1760 J. PITTEUTION Hen. II (1769) II iii 396 These great regular armies could not pursue them from the impracticability of the country 1796 SMOLLETT Trav. xxxix II 183 Expressed a variety of disagreeable adventures from the impracticability of the road 1864 Realm 30 Mar. 4 A trade which, for steepness and apparent impracticability, must resemble the bed of a mountain torrent

2 with an and pl. Something impracticable, a practical impossibility a 1797 H. WALPOLE Mem. Geo. II (1847) III ii 40 Lord Hervey . . had long dreaded it with impracticabilities, absurdities, and hardships 1881 Black. Mag. 459 He was equally an impracticability while amour was employed Impracticable (impræ·ktikăb'l), a. (ob.) Also 7 IMPRACTICABLE [f. IM-2 + PRACTICABLE a.] = impracticable (16th c.)

1 Not practicable, that cannot be carried out, effected, accomplished, or done, practically impossible a 1677 BARROW Serm. (1810) I 252 To attempt things impossible or impracticable 1698 Lond. Gaz. No. 3240/2 Finding that'd sign impracticable 1765 BLACKSTONE Comm. I 244 Such district would render the exercise of that power precarious and impracticable 1860 Annual Reg. I xxv 182 Belmat pronounced the passage impracticable

2 That cannot be put to use or practically dealt with, unmanageable, intractable, unscriveable

a Of things, materials

1717 S. CLARKE Leibnit.-Sth Paper 181 The Fiction of a material finite Universe moving forward in an infinite empty space, cannot be admitted. It is altogether unreasonable and impracticable 1821 HALL Nat. Hist. II 113 The colours become stiff and impracticable soon after they are applied 1838 W. IRVING in Life & Lett. (1866) III 121 Millions of acres which might have remained idle and impracticable wastes

b Of roads, districts, etc. Incapable of being used for passage, impossible to pass along, over, through, or to, impassable or inaccessible

1633 CROMWELL Sp. 4 July in Carlyle, The way that's were going in would be impracticable 1711 ADDISON Spect. No. 165 ¶ 5 They took Post behind a great Morass which they thought impracticable 1849 GROTE Greece II. xl. 180 III 415 The pass appeared impracticable 1871 L. STEPHEN Play. Europe iii (1894) 78 Cliffs so steep as to be perfectly impracticable

c Of persons, or their dispositions, etc. Incapable of being 'managed', influenced, or persuaded, impossible to deal with or get on with, intractable, stubborn

1713 ROWE Tamer Shrew I. i, And yet, this rough impracticable Heart Is govern'd by a dainty fingered Girl 1768 COLMAN Coach Making I, A poor impracticable creature! 1809 MALKIN Gil Blas x. xi. (Rtldg.) 177 Supposing no one of those impracticable beings, on whom good example, good advice, and a good horsewhip, are equally thrown away 1856 FROUDE Hist. Eng. (1858) II vii 304 Fisher must have been a hopelessly impracticable person

B as sb. An impracticable person see 2 c

1829 Blackw. Mag. XXV. 1 I was looked upon as an utter impracticable 1870 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. V. xxiv. 1 Then the heady men, the egotists, the sterile, and the impracticables

Impracticableness (impræ·ktikăb'lnes) [f. prec. + -NESS.] The quality or condition of being impracticable a = IMPRACTICABILITY 1 a

1653 CROMWELL Sp. 4 July in Carlyle, Having thus this course concerning the impracticableness of the thing 1754 CHAS. HITCHIN Pract. Law III 445 The impracticableness of keeping her alive in prison 1853 CHAS. DICKENS Bleak Hse. (1858) I. iv. 52 The impracticableness of passing this desert

b IMPRACTICABILITY 1 b

a 1715 BURNET Own Time, Q. Anne. (T. Suppl.), The greatest difficulty in these steps was from the impracticableness of the ground 1876 GEO. ELIOT Dan. Der. I iii, No learned magistrate had less of mischievous impracticableness in relation to worldly affairs

Impracticably (impræ·ktikăbli), adv. [f. as prec. + -LY 2.] In an impracticable manner or degree, impossibly, unmanageably

1772-81 JOHNSON L. P. Addison Wks III 110 His morality is neither ungenerously lax, nor impracticably rigid

Impractical (impra·ktikal), a. rare [f. IM-2 + PRACTICAL.] Not practical, unpractical

1865 J. S. MILL in Morn. Star 6 July 'How impudicious!' said one.' How impractical!' said another 1879 Saturday Rev. Hist. Kenna xl 18777/294 A rigid and impractical declaimer 1887 G. GISSING Thyrza I xi. 128 He is I'm afraid, so very impractical

†Impra vable, a. Obs In 6 inp-. [f. IM-2 + prav to crooked, wrong, bad + -ABLE.] Incorrigible

1542 BECON Potat. Lent Wks. 1564 I. 44 b, He that fasteth must set before his eyes always the eye of the euerlasting iudge and the inpauable iudging place

Impray (impre·i), v. rare —1 [f. IM-1 + PRAY, after L. imprecāri.] trans. To pray to, invoke

1894 BALDWIN Spir. & Manners 72 Can we thank Dan, Or Po, by Goths imprayed with murderous rites Impresse see EMBRISE, IMPRESS sb.

Imprecate (i·mprikeit), v. [f. L. imprecāt-, ppl. stem of imprecārī in senses 1 and 2, f. IM-(IN 3) + precārī to pray.]

1 trans. To pray for, invoke (some thing, usually from a deity) a. To invoke or call down (evil or calamity) upon a person

1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage (1614) 216 The falling sickenesse they vse to imprecate it to each other as a curse: as they also doe the plague 1672 CAVE Prim. Chr. III i (1673) 220 Imprecating upon himself that he might be burnt 1681-6 J. SCOTT Chr. Life (1747) III 221 Who importunately soever our past Guilts may imprecate the divine Vengeance upon us 1753 SMOLLETT Ct. Fathom (1784) 45 She imprecated a thousand curses upon her head 1852 HAWTHORNE Grandf. Chair III. ix, There is scarcely a tongue that does not imprecate curses on his name

b. To pray for, to beg for, entreat (something good) rare

1636 PRYNNE Unhish. Lim. (1661) 63 Priests and Presbyters who gave Baptism and imprecate the Lords Advent to the Eucharist 1664 LD. CHESTERFIELD in Spectator (1892-5) II 110 I wish and imprecate to your Imperial Majesty the all Happiness 1861 TOWNSEND Inglow! Ser. II Introd., He would only imprecate patience till he shall again have 'got the hang' (to be calls it) of an employment long dissevered

2 To pray (a deity), invoke, supplicate Now rare or Obs

1643 PRYNNE Sov. Power Parl. II 30 b, Which I shall daily imprecate unto the God of Peace speedily to accomplish. 1843 CARLYLE Past. & Pr. II viii, Imprecating the Lord

†3 absol. or intr. To pray, to invoke evil Obs

1650 W. BROUGHTON in Somerville & Ross-andrew IV 204 Polexander not knowing whom to accuse but his destinie, imprecated against himselfe 1669 GALE Vind. Gentiles II iv. 140 After they had consented on the head of the sacrifice, they cut it off 1673 Lady's Call I 23 Aristides was so far from acting, or imprecating against them, that [etc.]

4 trans. To invoke evil upon (a person), to curse Now rare or Obs

1618 BULLOKAR, Imprecate, to curse and wish euill 1641 J. JACKSON True Treasure I i 66 The Jewes imprecated them elsewish' His blood lee on us, and on our children' 1760 DERRICK Lett. (1767) I 90 View this baseness and ingratitude of the Starts, and imprecate the name, ye infatuated friends of that family 1879 MINTO Defoe 33 His ex religionists were imprecating him as the man who had brought this persecution upon them

Hence I mprecating ppl. a., that imprecates, invoking a curse; whence I mprecatingly adv., in the way of a curse

1652 Gauls Magastrom 280 Picus Mirandula was envy ously and imprecatingly told that [ete] 1686 Burnet Trav 1 (1750) 40 He swore to them in a most imprecating Style, that he would never discover the Secret

Imprecation (imprikē·ʃən) [ad. L. imprecātiōn-em, n. of action from imprecārī to Imprecate cf. F. imprécation. Ob. acion (14th c. in Littré.)] The action, or an act, of imprecating

1 a The action of invoking evil, calamity, or divine vengeance upon another, or upon oneself, in an oath or adjuration, cursing

1589 Puttenham Eng. Poesie III xix (Arb.) 221 By way of exclamation or crying out imprecation or curuing, obiestation or taking God and the world to witnes 1659 Milton Eikon xx, The bare denyall of one man, though with imprecation, cannot in any reason countervaile 1774 Penrose Tour Scotl. in 1772, 184 A curse on your head, is a token of imprecation 1855 Milman Lat. Chr. v xii (1864) III 335 Arnulf's oath of fidelity couched in terms of more than its usual severity of imprecation

b (with pl.) An invocation of evil a curse

1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor. 489 When he had powred out grievous imprecations against those unthankfull Xan thens 1639 Habington Castara II (Arb.) 88 Why lives the gamester, who doth blacke the night With cheats and imprecations? 1737 [B. Church] Hist. Philip's War New England 177 He uttered himself with the most dreadful imprecations, and bitterest curses [etc.] 1849 Macaulay Hist. Eng. VI II 141 He drove them from him with imprecations 1883 Froude Short Stud. IV i v 114 At each fierce imprecation he quenched a light, and dashed down a candle

†2 A prayer, invocation, petition, entreaty Obs 1585 T. Washington in Lodge's Eng. II 175 After some imprecations made, [he] entreated their sacrifice with oyle, milk and honey 1631 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 374 Hence made his imprecation to the Goddesse to this effect

Imprecator (i·mprĭkē·ĭtəɹ) [Agent-noun in L. form from Imprecate see -or.] One who imprecates or invokes evil

1845 Ford Handbk. Spain I 36 Bad luck seldom deserts the house of the imprecator

Imprecatory (i·mprĭkē·ĭtŏri, -kĕi·tŏri, impri·kĕitŏri, a. [f. imprecāt-, ppl. stem of imprecārī + -ory.]

1 Expressing or involving imprecation, invoking evil or divine vengeance, cursing, maledictory

1587 Fleming Contn. Holinshed III 400/2 An epitaph imprecatorie is here placed as a conclusion of this his memorial, and applied to the whole race of the Neuilles and thabole ill successors 1608 Sir S. D'ewes Jrnl (1783) 46 This Breach of a like imprecatorie nature as the former 1798 G. Hodges in Archbp's Reg. II 175 After some imprecations made, [he] entreated their sacrifice with oyle, milk and hony 1631 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 374 Hence made his imprecation to the Goddesse to this effect

Imprecator (i·mprĭkē·ĭtəɹ) [Agent-noun in L. form from Imprecate see -or.] One who imprecates or invokes evil

1845 Ford Handbk. Spain I 36 Bad luck seldom deserts the house of the imprecator

Imprecatory (i·mprĭkē·ĭtŏri, -kĕi·tŏri, impri·kĕitŏri, a. [f. imprecāt-, ppl. stem of imprecārī + -ory.]

1 Expressing or involving imprecation, invoking evil or divine vengeance, cursing, maledictory

1587 Fleming Contn. Holinshed III 400/2 An epitaph imprecatorie is here placed as a conclusion of this his memorial, and applied to the whole race of the Neuilles and thabole ill successors 1608 Sir S. D'ewes Jrnl (1783) 46 This Breach of a like imprecatorie nature as the former 1798 G. Hodges in Archbp's Reg. II 175 After some imprecations made, [he] entreated their sacrifice with oyle, milk and hony 1631 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 374 Hence made his imprecation to the Goddesse to this effect

Imprecator (i·mprĭkē·ĭtəɹ) [Agent-noun in L. form from Imprecate see -or.] One who imprecates or invokes evil

1845 Ford Handbk. Spain I 36 Bad luck seldom deserts the house of the imprecator

Impricatory (i·mprĭkē·ĭtŏri, -kĕi·tŏri, impri·kĕitŏri, a. [f. imprecāt-, ppl. stem of imprecārī + -ory.]

1 Expressing or involving imprecation, invoking evil or divine vengeance, cursing, maledictory

1587 Fleming Contn. Holinshed III 400/2 An epitaph imprecatorie is here placed as a conclusion of this his memorial, and applied to the whole race of the Neuilles and thabole ill successors 1608 Sir S. D'ewes Jrnl (1783) 46 This Breach of a like imprecatorie nature as the former 1798 G. Hodges in Archbp's Reg. II 175 After some imprecations made, [he] entreated their sacrifice with oyle, milk and hony 1631 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 374 Hence made his imprecation to the Goddesse to this effect

Imprecator (i·mprĭkē·ĭtəɹ) [Agent-noun in L. form from Imprecate see -or.] One who imprecates or invokes evil

1845 Ford Handbk. Spain I 36 Bad luck seldom deserts the house of the imprecator

Impricatory (i·mprĭkē·ĭtŏri, -kĕi·tŏri, impri·kĕitŏri, a. [f. imprecāt-, ppl. stem of imprecārī + -ory.]

1 Expressing or involving imprecation, invoking evil or divine vengeance, cursing, maledictory

1587 Fleming Contn. Holinshed III 400/2 An epitaph imprecatorie is here placed as a conclusion of this his memorial, and applied to the whole race of the Neuilles and thabole ill successors 1608 Sir S. D'ewes Jrnl (1783) 46 This Breach of a like imprecatorie nature as the former 1798 G. Hodges in Archbp's Reg. II 175 After some imprecations made, [he] entreated their sacrifice with oyle, milk and hony 1631 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 374 Hence made his imprecation to the Goddesse to this effect

Imprecator (i·mprĭkē·ĭtəɹ) [Agent-noun in L. form from Imprecate see -or.] One who imprecates or invokes evil

1845 Ford Handbk. Spain I 36 Bad luck seldom deserts the house of the imprecator

Impricatory (i·mprĭkē·ĭtŏri, -kĕi·tŏri, impri·kĕitŏri, a. [f. imprecāt-, ppl. stem of imprecārī + -ory.]

1 Expressing or involving imprecation, invoking evil or divine vengeance, cursing, maledictory

1587 Fleming Contn. Holinshed III 400/2 An epitaph imprecatorie is here placed as a conclusion of this his memorial, and applied to the whole race of the Neuilles and thabole ill successors 1608 Sir S. D'ewes Jrnl (1783) 46 This Breach of a like imprecatorie nature as the former 1798 G. Hodges in Archbp's Reg. II 175 After some imprecations made, [he] entreated their sacrifice with oyle, milk and hony 1631 Weever Anc. Fun. Mon. 374 Hence made his imprecation to the Goddesse to this effect

Impregnable (impre·gnăbl, a. Forms 5 impregnable, (6 inprenable, 6 impremable, 6 impreignable, impreignable, 6 impregnable, 6 imprenable, 6- impregnable [Compounded from impregnable, impremable + impregnable, imprenable, (Im-2) + prenable (ME. to be taken, prēn, stem of prendre to take. The g was evidently in imitation of the g mute in reign, design, and the like, though it appears to have sometimes led in 16th c. to the pronunciation).]

1 Of a fortress or stronghold That cannot be taken by arms, incapable of being reduced by force, capable of holding out against all attacks

1430 40 Lydg. Bochas VIII iv (MS. Bodl.) If 36.b Dred ing non enmy for it was Impremable 1477 Lord Rivers Dicts. & Sayings Philosophers (Caxton) 109 Impregnable 1530 Palsgr. 756/2 The castell maugre them wente had ben impregnable 1548 Hall Chron. 202 b, Impregnable 1. xxxvii, A few impregnable arches. Thus. Also women impregnable cities and strong holdes. a 1533 Tp. Berners Huon lxxi. 254 Strongly set in the sea and impregnable 1548 Hall Chron. Edw. IV, 208 What a folye was this in duke Charles to besiege a towne impregnable 1553 Brende Q. Curtius (1570) 85 b, They send they knewe it to be impremable 1556 J. Heywood Spider & F. lxv 134 So thempremable fort in euery boder 1593 Nashe, Christ's T. (1613) 68 Let vs be stock't with coyne, and with the Seas Which be hath guirt for fence impregnable 1620 Fuller Holy & Prof. St. II xx 120 Such Cumin soul as an impregn able Rock 1796 [Jones] Hist. Brecknock I 189 Rendering his Camp impregnable to the valleys of the be seeged multitude 1885 Ruskin Fors Clavigera I 10 The Romans set themselves to build impregnable military walls

2 fig. That cannot be overcome or vanquished, invincible unconquerable, proof against attack

1588 N. Breton Pilgr. to Catadupa Country B 2nd n ch Vertue is impregnable 1602 Marston Ant. & Mel. III Wks. 1856 I 27 I find them wondrous chaste Impregnable 1661 Lucas Heraclius (1717) 109 He wrote an excellent book con cerning impregnable truth 1710 Steele Tatler No. 101 P 1 This Impiety is committed by a most impregnable Set of Mortals, Men of no Arts, Bravers within the Law 1856 Kane Arct. Expl. I xxxii 448, I do not think the cold we are impregnable in our furs 1862 Carlyle Fredk. the Gt. VIII viii 111 p 8 A man politely impregnable to the intrusion of human curiosity

B as sb. That which is impregnable rare

1803 Gentl. Mag. in Spirit Pub. Journ. (1804) VII 43 Despairing of attacking our impregnables

Impregnableness rare [f. prec. + -ness] = Impregnability

1603 Knolles Hist. Turks (1621) 1170 Discouraged with the impregnableness of the place 1647 Clarendon Contn. temple Hs. in Tracts (1727) 419 The strength and impreg nableness of his castles and forts

Impregnably (impre·gnăbli), adv. [f. as prec. + -ly 2.] In an impregnable manner, so as to be impregnable, invincibly, unconquerably

1600 Marston Ant. & Mel. Induct., Wks. 1856 I 5 So impregnably fortrest with his own conceits 1661 J. Stephens Precautions 26 They make that Custome impregn ably strong 1721 Kel Academies Post Wks. 1721 III 445 Patient, resigned, and humble Wills, Impreg nably resist all Ills 1822 Shelley Hellas 1064 If Cross must be A wreck, yet shall its fragments re assemble, And build the re selves again impregnably In vader time

Impregnate (impregnāt) a. [obs.] Now rare [In sense 1, f. Im-1 + Pregnant, in sense 2, ad. L. impregnāt-em, pres. ppl. of impregnāre see Impregn and -ate.]

†1 Impregnated, pregnant Caused to con ceive, fig. rendered fruitful or productive In fused, saturated with Obs

1641 French Distill. v (1651) 163 Vapours of Nitre bodying, and impregnant with Spirits of Nitre 1643 Sir T. Browne Relig. Med. I § 16 [In the chaos] there was no deformity because no forme, nor was it yet impregnant by the voice of God 1670 J. Rorison Lithom. Spare 5 The Water dies it with a ruddy, nay colour, one Argument of what it is impregnant with 1712 Addison Spect. No. 393 ¶ 4 The Division of Hell into Seas of Fire, and into firm Ground impregnated with Brimstone, famous Element

2 Impregnating Also as sb. That which im pregnates cf. ppl. 1664 + v Impregnate (v. 4)

1661 Glanvill Van. Dogm. xx 131 [Interests in the Pole, to which we turn, and our sympathies, Judgements seldom decline from the dire tion of this Impregnant 1825 Coulson Lect. Arm (1856) II 340 In which case the sterd will, acting as the impregnate, dissolve and volumetrant power,—enabled to become a world 1868 Ure's Dict. of Chem. 313 As the impregnant sap Of yew successive fruits the full branch bear †Impregnant, a.[1] Obs. rare [f. Im-1 + Pregnant a.] Not pregnant, sterile a 1659 Osborn Misc. Queries (1673) 620 That all things were not Created for their Own sakes, but the more Interest of Nature which abhors to be Idle, or to Lack an im pregnant Condition Impregnate impregnāt), ppl. a. [ad. late or med. L. impregnāt-us, pa. ppl. of impregnare see Impregn, v., of which this was also used as the pa. ppl.] = Impregnated 1 fig. arch.

1 Caused to conceive, pregnant, rendered fruit ful or prolific Also fig.

1548 Raynold Birth Mankind III xi (1634) 133 All such women which be impregnate or conceaued 1651 Jer. P. Sheppen Salmacis 7 The tumed Earth (As if impreg nate with a fruitfull Birth) Swells eenly up into an easie Hill 1663 Flagellum, or O. Cromwell (ed. 2) 2 Nor were there any presa ges dreams or fearful divinations of his Mother when she was impregnate with him 1664 Evelyn Sylva (1679) 4 How more impregnate with the Sun Trees and he avenly Influences 1849 Fraser's Mag. XL 539 The loding impregnate thoughts, the ideas, or laws laid down for a perfect composition 1853 Sperling Poems I 161 And oft without embraces my, by the wind Impregnate

2 Imbued, saturated, filled, permeated with (some active principle) †In quot 1661, Magnetized cf. Impregnate v. 4, quot 1664

1648 Sir J. Berkenhead Jovial Crew III xi 161 If the inhabit ants be impregnate with subtile inflamabilities 1661 Glanvill Van. Dogm. xxi 203 Let one move his impregnate needle to any letter in the Alphabet and even the Devil will presently respect the same 1688 Henry Diff. Dis. M. Hats 144 The Meadow is impregnate with Salt, Iron, Nitre and Sulphur 1733 Mod. Gard. (1768) 168 Impregnate with celestial dew 1818 Byron Ch. Har. IV lix, Thy dews Is still impregnate with divinity, Which gilds it with reviving ray 1851 Wilson Chas. Lect. Hist. Mank. II Light and air of Palestine Impregnate with His life divine

†Impregnately Impregnate

1632 Lithgow Trav. V 202 Impregnate forts, dwellings, Hoods and more Earth, long height 1721 Dudley Queens Interdict 11 Tying me the Gould here before my Face, like Hasty Impregnately as Bullies wou

Impregnate (impre·gnēit, v. [I prec. or its source see -ate 3 & 5.]

1 trans. To make a female pregnant, to cause to conceive, to get with young, in Biol. also, to fecundate the female reproductive cell or ovum

1548 Nic. Udall Erasm. Apoph. 140 b, Hermaphrodites although they include the parts of both sexes cannot impregnate themselves 1707 Norris Treat. Humility viii 290 She was to be impregnated by the overshadowings of the Holy Ghost 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) VIII 31 Mr. Adanson has seen vast numbers of sea snails united together in which impregnating each other 1841 Penny Cycl. XVII 228/1 By these the ova are developed impregnated, and adapted and this provision is made for continuing the species in safety

b Bot. Of the pollen or male reproductive cell in plants To fertilize †In quot 1671, To cause to grow or develop (in the embryo plant)

1671 Grew Anat. Plants I § 44 The lobes did at first bend and impregnate the Radicle into a lesser Rose 1769 J. Bancroft Guiana 28 Their pistils are covered with finny Enamel, which when mature fall into and impregnates the salubrious nectar 1776 Withering Brit. Plants (1796) II 402 Produced by the Pollen of the P secundis impregnating the germen of the P. rotundifolia

c intr. for pass. To become pregnant, to conceive rare

1721 Addison Spect. No. 277 ¶ 2 Were they like Spanish Jennets, to impregnate by the Wind, they could not have thought on a more proper place

2 fig. trans. To render fruitful or productive, to fertilize Also absol.

1667 Boyle Orig. Forms I Christianity is so apt to impregnate the hearts and lives of proselytes, that it is hard to imagine that any branch should want a due fertility 1720 Welton Suffer. Son of God II xviii 490 He left His Holy Spirit there to Impregnate the Divine Seed that He had sown 1860 Symonds in Fraser's Mag. LXI 345 Joy impreg nates sorrow bring forth

3 To fill (a substance or portion of matter) with some active principle, element or ingredient, diffused though it or mixed intimately with it, to imbue, saturate In earlier use sometimes simply (with more direct allusion to 1 to fill (Most commonly in passive.)

1604 Dekker Owl's Almanack 1 iv 15 The elements returne to their parents full and impregnated with celestiall forms 1671 J. Webster Metallogr. iv 74 Sulphur, with which Aqua fortis is impregnated 1730 Anonymous Notes upon Dod 299 Water impregnated with some penetrating Salt 1789 Mrs. Piozzi Journ. France I 40 Savoy is impregnated with many minerals 1808 Med Jrnl XIX 110, I determined to impregnate his system with mercury by external inunction 1827 SWAYNE Builder's Man 62 Attempts to prevent the destruction of wood by impregnating it with some substance capable of restraining its ravages b fig. To imbue or fill with (active thoughts, feelings, principles, influences, moral qualities, etc.

1652] HALL Height Elog p xiv, We ought to nurture our souls to greatness, and impregnate them to thoughts high and extraordinary 1784 JOHNSON in Boswell's Life May. She has a constant stream of conversation, and it is always impregnated, it has always meaning 1824 LATTON Anat I iv, He had sought to impregnate his colleagues with the same fulness of principle 1878 H IRVING The Man 4 Producing plays, the whole structure of which is impregnated with moral and human ideas.

4 Said of the active principle or influence to be diffused through (something), to permeate, interpenetrate, fill, saturate

1664 POWER Exp Philos III 118, The Magnetical Effluviums proceed ab extrinseco & therefore do impregnate the Stone as in, upon their re-admission 1744 BERKELEY Siris § 45 Light impregnates air or impregnates vapour 1748-7 HERVEY Medit (1818) 89 This magnificent luminary [the sun] tries and impregnates unnumbered natures 1816 SMITH Panorama Sc & Art II 322 He suspended the birds by the feet for the salt to impregnate the body

Hence Impre gnating vbl sb and ppl a

1705 STANHOPE Paraphr II 71 The impregnating warmth of the Sun 1846 J BAXTER Saints' Rest (ed 4) I 111 Then insects become in their journeyings of pleasure from flower to flower, the porters who bear the impregnating pollen

Impregnation (impreg nē·ʃən) [n of action from IMPREGNATE v + -ION] It took the place of the earlier ppl adj impregnate]

1 Made pregnant, caused to conceive, fertilized 1789 BAILEY in Phil Trans LXXIX 58 In the impregnated uterus 1881 MIVART Cat 317 The impregnated ovum becomes an embryo 1885 GOODALE Phys Bot (1892) 246 The fertilized or impregnated oosphere is termed an oospore

2 Imbued or saturated with something, having some active ingredient diffused through it

1605 [re IMPREGNATE v 3] 1709 ? Mem Acad Roy Sci 206 Vessel of impregnated Wood 1710 KEIR in Phil Trans LXXX 17, Adding water to the impregnated acid 1877 RAYMOND Statist Mines & Mining, 280 An impregnated solution of quinine

Impregnation (impregnē·ʃən) [n of action from IMPREGNATE v Cf F impregnation (14th c. in Godef), and in Cotgr 1611], which may be the source]

1 The action or process of making pregnant, fecundation, fertilization a in animals

1605 TIMME Quæsit I iv 15 Which impregnation commeth from no other than from those seuall seedes 1633 Dr HALE Hard Texts (1673) 3 Upon their impregnation the burden of her wombe shall force her to rest 1799 Med Jrnl I 3 It has been in opinion that when an animal of a perfect order is brought forth an hermaphrodite, that it must have been the consequence of a double impregnation 1878 BELL in Cassell's Comp Instr 79 The egg cell undergoes changes which ordinarily commence after impregnation 1880 GUNTHER Fishes 147 Circumstance which render artificial impregnation more practicable (in fishes) than in any other class of animals

b in plants

1735 J LOCKE in Phil Trans Abr VIII 57 (Readers) I apprehend on reading the Impregnation of the seeds of Plants 1776 WITHERING Brit Plants (1796) II 62 In no plant may the process of impregnation be so distinctly seen 1875 BENNETT & DYER Sachs' Bot 285 Of pollen tubes only one usually grows to an extent sufficient to effect impregnation

2 The action of imbuing or fact of being imbued with something, diffusion of an active element through a substance, saturation Also fig

1641 FRENCH Distill 1 (1651) 11 Impregnation, is when any dry body hath drunk in so much moisture that it will admit of no more 1691 RAY Creation (1692) 165 The Impregnation of the Blood with Air 1700 KEIR in Phil Trans LXXX 373 note Colour communicated to oil of vitriol by impregnation with nitrous gas or vapour 1827 SWAYNE Builder's Man 60 The impregnation of timber with corrosive sublimate 1865 KANE Arct Expl I XXIX 390 The impregnation of ice of sea through the cellular tissue to such a well fed bear nearly one stubb.

3 comer That with which something is impregnated, an impregnating element, influence, etc

1713 DESAGULIERS Phil Exp I 3, What could implant in the body such peculiar impregnations, as should have such power? 1756 C LUCAS Ess Waters II 52 These several saline impregnations seemed nearly equally colourless and bright 1838 T THOMSON Chem Org Bodies 397 The least period that this impregnation is allowed to remain

b Geol A mineral deposit consisting of a rock impregnated with ore, not forming a true vein

1881 RAYMOND Mining Gloss, Impregnation, an ore deposit consisting of the country rock impregnated with ore, usually without definite boundaries

Hence Impregna tional a, of or relating to impregnation

1888] T GULICK in Linn Soc Jrnl XX 218 Impregnational Segregation is due to the different relations in which the members of a species stand to each other in regard to the possibility of their producing fertile offspring when they consort together

Impregnative, a rare [f IMPREGNATE v, or its source + -IVE] Having the quality of impregnating with something, tending to impregnate

1686 GOAD Celest Bodies III 1 377 An Aspect that is not so impregnative with Moisture, nor so potent

Impregnator (impreg nēɪtəɹ) [agent-n in L form from IMPREGNATE v] One who impregnates

1722 POPE Let to Gay 13 July, Lett 1733 I 321 An Impregnator of the Barren 1863 SIR M MONIER WILLIAMS Relig Th India xiii 355 Let Prajâ pati be the Impregnator, let the Creator give the Embryo

Impregnatory (impreg nētəri), a [f L impregnat-, ppl stem + -ORY] Having the function of impregnating

1857 BERKELEY Introd Cryptog Bot § 178 200 The spermatozoids vary a little in shape [There can, however, be little doubt that they are truly impregnatory organs

†Imprehe nd, v Obs rare—1 [f IM-1 + L prehendere see next] trans To take in, comprise

1590 C St Knight Kelig 22 This that Christ saith impriſoneth no other thing of Peter, but that which Peter himſelf ſpeaketh

So †Imprehe nsion, undertaking Obs rare—0 1610 HOLLAND, Imprasinone, an imprehension

† Imprehe nsible, a Obs rare—1 [a OF imprehensible (Godefroy), ad late L imprehens(ibi)lis, 1 IM- (IM-4) + prehendere, prehens- to take, seize of COMPREHENSIBLE] Not to be grasped or seized, not to be apprehended

1620 Babington's Conf Notes Numb XXIII VII 114 The impreſſion of God 1623, 1637 incomprehenſible] wherenesse of our blessed Saviour

Impreignable, obs form of IMPREGNABLE

Impresa, dpted a Obs [f IM-2 + PREDICABLE ppl a] Unpredicated

1648 R BAILIE Canterb Self Contract Pref 7 To the full mindes of the whole world of free and unprejudicat mindes 1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Ep I vii 26 The solid reason of one man with unprejudicate apprehensions 1677 BARROW Works (1686) III xli 473 Well meaning, unprejudicate and uncorrupted persons

Hence † Impreju dicately adv, without prejudice Obs

1654 VILVAIN Theorem Theol VI 172 The previous Comment impartially perused, and impredicatly pondered

† Impre judice. Obs [I IM-2 + PREJUDICE.] Absence of prejudice, unprejudiced opinion

1806 W TAYLOR in Monthly Mag XXI 401 Its bearing favours the cause of toleration and impreiudice

† Impremedita te, ppl a Obs rare [f IM-2 + PREMEDITATE ppl a] = impremeditate (Cotgr), It impremeditato (Florio)] Unpremeditated

1647 SALTMARSH Spark Glory 166 Speakings to God in this impremeditate or extemporary way

So † Impremedita tion, want of premeditation

1611 FLORIO, Impremeditan.a, impremeditation

Imprenǃable, -prennable, obs ll IMPREGNABLE

Imprent, obs form of IMPRINT

† Impreparа tion. Obs [f IM-2 + PREPARATION] Want of preparation, unpreparedness

1597 HOOKER Eccl Pol V ii 8 2 Impreparation and unreadinesse a 1656 Br HALL Rem Works (1660) 24 I strongly pleaded my impossibility of study and my impreparation by such work 1778 LADY CAROLINE Lett I 180 (1808) II 159 The awful stroke that hurried poor Lord Littelton from such a dreadful state of impreparation

Impress ring, vbl sb Obs rare—1 [f IM-2 + PREPARING vbl sb] prec

1530 PALSGR 224/1 Impreparyng, impreparation

† Impre sa. Obs Forms 6-7 impresa, 80, 7 impreza, presza [= It impresa (impre·a, undertaking, attempt, device, etc —late L imprisa ppl sb fem), and cf EMPRESS sb 2, IMPRESE, IMPRESSE sb 1, IMPRESSA !]

1 An emblem or device, usually accompanied by an appropriate motto (cf epot 1649)

1589 GREENE Menaphon (Arb) 45 There was handing of such knacks, such curious inuented impreſa's 1598 YONGE Diana 192 Making verſes, impreſas, and Anagrammes of her loue and name 1608 MARSTON Ant & Mel I Wks (1856) 17 Let vs find for you to drawe me a deuise, an Impreza, by smeckdoue a Moth 1637 HEY WOOD Loves Mist Wks 1874 IV 325 Every one of them expreſſed their deſires in Anagrams and in impreſas of their shields a 1649 DRUMM OF HAWTH Pom Impr 144 Wks (1711) 28 Those emblems and impreſas ſometimes seem like others, the words of the emblem are only placed to declare the figures of the emblem, whereas, in an impreſa, the figures express and illustrate the one part of the author's intention, and the word the other 1653 UGO BALDI Lusitania 1 18, His devic or impresa of my Lord Admiral

2 The sentence accompanying an emblem, hence, a motto, maxim, proverb

1582 MULCASTER Pos I xxv Merch 230 The Impresa, Sceptra fouent Artes, may better be attributed to common weales or popular gouernments, than vnto Monarchies or Kingdomes 1614 T ADAMS Temple Eng Gentlem (1638) 278 The Comicke Impresa If wise, seeme not to know that which thou knowest 1641 R BROOKE Eng Epis I 18 For a Motto, and impreso, the Poets words, —Et quæ non Jacimus ipsi [etc]

‖ Impresario (impreza·rio) Also erroneously impressario [It impresario the undertaker of any business, contractor, etc , f impresa see prec] One who organizes public entertainments, esp the manager of an operatic or concert company

1746 H WALPOLE Lett to Sir H Mann 5 Dec, We have operas the Prince and Lord Middlesex Impresarios 1751 Ibid 18 June, Impresario Holderness 1821 BYRON Juan II lxxx, A troop going to act in Sicily—all singers sold by the impresario 1878 MORLEY in Fortn Rev Apr 596 The Editor, the impresario of men of letters 1887 EDNA LYALL Knight Errant XIX (1889) 172 A man could be in himself impresario, singer, and business agent all at once

Imprescience (impri ʃĕnɛ) [f IM-4 + PRESCIENCE] Want of prescience or foreknowledge

1859 DE QUINCEY Death Wks (1891) I 235 note, Acquaintance in total ventrine improvidence, incuriousness, and selfish ease

Imprescriptible (imprĭskɹɪ·pt ĭbl'), a [f IM-2 + PRESCRIBABLE] Imprescriptible

1887 Illustr Lond News Sept 688 The ownership of land was by the law of the island (Orkney) reserved to the descendants of the original occupant, by an inalienable and imprescriptible entail

Imprescriptibi lity, rare [f next + -ITY Cf F imprescriptibilité (1732 in Hatz -Darm)] The quality of being imprescriptible

1797 tr Watts's Law of Nations (Webster 1828) 1806 W TAYLOR in Ann Rev IV 163 The imprescriptibility of royal titles form[s] no part of the law of nations

Imprescriptible (imprĭskɹɪ·pt ĭbl), a Also 6 imprе-, 7 impre [= F imprescriptible (1616c), i im (IM-2) + prescriptible PRESCRIPTIBLE] Not subject to prescription, that cannot in any circumstances be legally taken away or abandoned, esp in imprescriptible right

1563-87 FOXE & M (1596) 230/1 The said lawes recalled imprescriptible, for that it is Ius Fasti 1671 Pamphlet Acct Nevers 305 Those things which were pawned were given in signe of subjection are imprescriptible 1792 PAINE Rights of Man (ed 4) 117 The natural and imprescriptible rights of man are liberty, property, security, and resistance of oppression 1884 W J COURTHOPE Addison I 4 The author of my ideal creation has an imprescriptible property in the fame of his work

Hence Imprescri ptibly adv

1807 CONS Institutes (ed) Imprescriptibly vested in the church

† Impre se, i mprese Obs Also 6 ym-preze, 6-7 impresse, 7 imprese [= obs F imprese (1562 in Godefroy), ad It impresa IMPRESA]

1 A device, emblem = IMPRESA 1

1588 FRAUNCE Lawiers Log 7 b, Hieroglyphikes, and Hieraticke Impreſes 1589 Pappe with a hatchet 20 Scutchions, Emblems, Impreſes, strange tokens, and deuises 1590 R W Three Lords London (N), That for his ympiere vses queene Iuno's bird 1602 T HOWSON Obsequy Earle Comm (1878) II 80 An Impreſe with a circle, and a hand with a sharpe stile pointing towards the center with this motto Ita labor, hoc opus 1656 MILTON P L IX 35 Emblazon'd Shields, Impreses quaint

2 A motto = IMPRESA 2

1614 R WILKINSON Purpose Seven 38 Ich de n the word of impreſe of the English Prince 1635 PRITHARET Arcad Pr II 44 But whence the cause? eyes the impreſe, and it will informe thee 1811 LAMB Mr Munden Farces Wks 1818 II 186 Do I beautiful motto to formed the modest impreſe of the shield

Ib 1659 Lady Alimony II iii, Your choice hes crowned it, Nor shall truth of time Raze out the Impreſe which your free assent Has here ingraven

Hence † Impre sed ppl a, furnished with an impreſe

1590 R W Three Lords London (N) Their shields impreſed with gilt coppiements

Impreso, variant of IMPRESA

Impress (impre·s), sb 1 also 6 impresse, (6 empresse) [f IMPRESS v] Formerly also stressed impre·ss see quot 1627 and Johnson]

1 The act of impressing or stamping, the 'stamp' (of anything), concr a mark or indentation made by pressure, esp one produced by a seal or stamp

1592 Nobody & Somebo in Simpson Sch Shaks (1878) I 154 Abasing of thy Soveraines Coyne, And traytrous impresse of our Kingly seale 1627 MAY Lucan VI (1631) 74 Stamp'd his comes impresse In gold 1706 WATTS Horæ Lyr, Father, how wide thy Glories shine, The Impreſs of thy Hands Or Impreſs of thy Feet 1834 MEDWIN Angler in Wales I 62 Blunt marks of the teeth, and the impreſs of the fingers 1876 HUXLEY Phys Con Coll Man iv 77 The reverse is incused with the impress of an amphora

† b A cast, mould Obs rare

1693 WOODWARD Nat Hist Earth iv (1723) 204 Having taken the Impreſses of the Insides of these Shells.

c = IMPRINT, impression

1877 W BOYD Decor Model Newsp 21 'In a sheet not stood, handy Fat pig paper impress, clear 1886 SYMONDS Renaiss It, Cath React (1898) VII ix 59 Seven of his most important works bore the impress of Paris and Venice

2 fig a Characteristic or distinctive mark, special character or quality stamped upon anything

1590 GREENE Mourn Garm (1616) 58, I counted expence the empresse of a Gentleman 1599 BEN JONSON Every Man Out I ii Had Dudley V 261 The fiery Spaniard, bearing in his face The impress of a noble warrior 1676 I PEAILY Clavis Myst xviii 218 Holiness to God is the impresse of the regenerate 1691 RAY Creation II (1692) 148 They therefore who through the contrary Vices do deface and blot out this natural Character and Impress 1832 DOWNES Lect Cont Countries I 134 Of all the Swiss towns I have yet seen, Lucerne bears most strongly the impress of the middle ages 1875 J WELL Prim Geol I I xii 235 The physical sciences always bear the impress of the places where they began to be cultivated

b An impression upon the mind or senses Now rare

1591 SHAKS Two Gent III ii 6 His weake impresse of Loue, is as a figure Trenched in ice 1651 Jer Taylor Serm for Year I Ep Ded, Hearing is so effective an instrument of conveying impresses and images 1691 Ray Creation (1692) 119 Only passive to the Insuects and Impresses thereof upon them 1892 Kane Arct Expl I xxvi 191 Some painful impress of solitary danger kept them closing up continually

† c An expression of Obs

1642 Hinde Y Brook xxiii 71 He writ it with his owne hand, to set it forth as an impresse of his chief desire.

3 Comb., as impress copy, a copy of writing, taken by pressure, a press copy

1885 Pall Mall G 5 May 6/1 We use the Remington Type writer, by which several legible copies can be printed by the aid of carbon paper, and also water impress copies

Impress (impre·s), sb.[2] Now rare [f Impress v.[2] Formerly stressed impre·ss so in Bailey, Johnson, Ash] Impressment, enforced service in the army or navy 1602 Shaks Ham I i 75 Is no impresse of Ship wrights, whose sore Taske Does not diuide the Sunday from the weeke 1626 — Ant & C III xi 37 Your Mariners are Muleters (mule-teers) Reapers, people Ingrost by swift Impresse 1758 Johnson Idler No 8 ¶ 9 Our regiments would soon be filled without the reproach or cruelty of an impress 1803 Naval Chron IX 420 We are all much alarmed with a military impress 1832 Marryat N Forester xiii, He could not prevail upon himself to accept a birth which was not protected from the impress.

b attrib., as impress-officer, service, impress-gang = Press gang (Craig 1847)

1780 Gentl Mag I 442 An impress officer thought it a fine opportunity to pick up some useful hands to serve his Majesty Ibid 443 He (the captain and lieutenant of the impress service, or an action for illegally impressing, and imprisoning the plaintiff 1830 H Crow Mem 97 I have always considered the impress service as a thousand times worse than any negro trade whatever

Impress (impre·s), sb.[3] Obs exc Hist [var of Impress, through association with Impress sb.[1], of Impress as expressing var of Impress In 16–17th c also impress ss]

1 An emblem, device = Impresa 1

1613 Shakes Keth Ii iii 1–5 From mine owne Win dowes tome my Household Coat, Rear'd on my Impresse, (Not impriest) 1694 Hist Europe XVIII 48 These assumed the Name of Inuisitanti, with an Hound for their Impress, and Fatigati Intrepi, for their Motto 1790 Burke Fr Rev Wks V 398 Their heralds have their impresses defaced 1868 Cussans Her ix 133 The Impress belonged exclusively to the Knight-person

† 2 A motto, sentence = Impresa 2 Obs

1611 Cotgr Crudities 303 This impresse is written ouer the dore in great letters. 1688 R Holme Armoury III v 253 b Sentences are of three sorts termed a Poesie, Text, Aphorism, Axiome, Impress, Motto

† Impress, sb.[4] Obs [Variant of Imprest sb.[1]] Money advanced pro in advance = Imprest sb.[1]

1600 b Rodint tr Canstagnon 28 He gaue them impresse, and they remained for his seruice 1632 J Mayne Fa. Hel III xii (1810) 597 Hee had received eight hundred duckets impresse

b attrib., as impress money, earnest money

1617 Morysin Itin II 273 (They) had taken impresse money from the King of Spaine 1706 Stoughton Fair warning to all (1707) 38 Endeauouring to force them from their seruants, before they had received their riuer pay, and impress money

2 A charge made upon the pay of a naval officer who has not satisfactorily accounted for public money advanced to him (cf Impress v.[2] 2)

1803 Nelson 14 July in Nicolas Disp (1845) V 112 That the simple receipt from the Captain of the Ship will be a sufficient Voucher for the disbursement of such money, and a full discharge from any impress against me

† Impress, a. Obs rare [ad L impress-us, pa. pple of imprimere to Impress] Impressed Impress species (Schol L impressæ speciei) cf Impressed ppl a.[1] 1 and 2 1704

1704 Norris Ideal World II viii 335 These species we grose and material by way of distinction from those express species which are spiritualized. Those impress species of bodies must then be little bodies

Impress (impre·s), v.[1] Also 4–6 in-, 4–7 im-presse, 5–6 impreise [f L impress-, ppl stem of imprimere, f im (In-[1]) + premere to press (whence also Obs F impresser) Partly answering in sense to OF empresser to press, press or crowd upon, crush, print cf Emprese v.[1]

I trans To impress a thing on, upon, in, into something else

1 To apply with pressure, to press (a thing upon another) so as to leave a mark, to produce by pressure (a mark on, in some substance), to imprint, stamp

c 1374 Chaucer Boeth V met iv 130 (Lamb MS) The notes and the figures Impressed in manere of matere 14 circumscripcion in Tundale 1 (1843) 99 In oure forhede whenn we Jesus impresse. 1590 Nashe I Q III 22 Albe the wound were nothing deepe imprest 1607 Shaks Cor V vi 108 This Curre Who weares my stripes imprest vpon him 1667 Milton P L IV 150 Fairest fruit On which the Sun more glad impress'd his beams. 1700 Dryden Meleager & Atalanta 219 The conquering chief his foot impress'd On the strong neck of that destructive beast 1784 Cowper Task I 280 Not all its pride secures The grand retreat from injuries impress'd By rural carvers, who with knives deface The pannels. 1816 Shelley Alastor 315 He did impress On the green moss his tremulous step 1856 Stanley Sinai & Pal I (1858) 54 His foot mark on the rock pointed out as impressed by his dromedary or mule 1898 Times 25 Aug 2/6 A signature impressed with a rubber stamp

fig 1649 J Eliotson tr Behmen's Epist I § 19 Faith receiveth Christ into it selfe, it doth impress him into its hunger, with his heavenly flesh and blood

2 a fig With immaterial object esp (in modern use) To 'stamp' (a character or quality) upon anything Also refl

1433 Lydg Assembly (Caxton 1483) ii xxiv 70 The image that first is impressed in to the sowle is most likely to duden 1586 A Day Eng Secretary I (1625) 66 He is set very greene pitable to whatsoeuer may be impressed in him 1667 Milton P L III 182 Nature first gave signs, impress On Bird, Beast, Aire 1791 Mrs Radcliffe Rom Forest I The image of virtue, which Nature had impressed upon his heart 1867 H Macmillan Bible Teach xiii (1870) 254 A beautiful charm to impresses itself upon the very features of the child 1868 M Pattison Academ Org v 121 The superstition that a use and direction, once impressed upon property by a founder, must be obeyed for ever

b transf To produce or communicate motion, exert (force), etc by pressure Const on, upon

1597 J Hall Instr Ocean (1878) 75 That Motion, which was impressed on the Coats of the Arteries by the Systole of the Heart 1765 A Dickson Treat Agric (ed 2) 69 The heavy wheel upon a slop by the end 1892 Nature 11 Feb 316 Movements impressed on a wide expanse of ocean 1899 Thomson & Tait Nat Phil I § 292 A force, being a blast on a vane, is thought of back wards by a force equal to that which he impresses on the towing rope forwards

3 fig To imprint (an idea, etc) on (= in, to) the mind, to cause to take firm mental hold, to enforce, urge (a rule of conduct, etc) on another

c 1374 Chaucer Troylus II (1932–1937) 'In good herte it mot som routhe impresse, Lo here, and se.' Se gilteles in dis tresse' 1400 Maundev (1839) xxii 295 Thou schalle thinke and impresse it in thy mynde that nothing is immortall 1500–20 Dunbar Poems xl 30 Sadlye in thy hart impres Quod is in omnem tempestatem 1590 Shakes 3 H VI III iii 53 So fowle and rugly that exceeding feare Ihen vesages impress't, when they approached neare Ibid III iv 49 So deepe rooted, so deadly feare of that foule swaine 1611 — Cymb III iii 107 Let a worthy Param earst impressed in her gentle spright 1649 J Ellistone tr Behmen's Epist I § 39 That a man impressed on his spirit should resemble to himselfe, that Christ is dead for his sinnes 1721 Ken Divine Love Wks (1838) 38 Impress on my heart such sentiments of thy suffering. 1726 Gibbon Pract Law (1880) I 225 A few such examples impressed a salutary consternation 1838 Dickens Nich Nick v I im-press you well impress upon your children the necessity of attributing themselves to it early in life 1863 Geo Eliot Romola II xxi, This man had a power of impressing his sentiments on others

† 4 To print make a typographical impression of Obs (Complemental adjunct usually absent) 1580 Fisher Faun Pr Prol, I haue put the said sermons in way to be imprest. 1533 St Papers, Hen VIII, I 645 This same Acte may be prepared & drawen in paper and set up on every churche dore in Englonde 1658 J Pellot tr Comp in New Eng (1659) 4 Let him work vnder the Colledg Printer in impressing the Bibles in the Indian Tongue. 1779–81 Johnson L P, Pope Wks IV 72 I must impressed the same pages upon a small folio

II trans To impress a thing with, by some instrument, or as an instrument does

5 To exert pressure upon, to press, to mark (a thing) by means of pressure, esp with a stamp, seal, etc Const with

With quot 1667 cf Impression 3 c

1588 Shaks L L L II i 246 His hurt like an Asse with your print impressed 1605 — Macb V viii 10 As easie may it thee the interchaunt Aire With thy keene Sword impresse as make Bruise P F 1598 II 558 b Shooting Starr In autumn thwarts the night when vapors fir'd Impresse the Aire 1725 Bradley Fam Dict s v Shepherd, In impressing the Back near the Hips, if the Sheep does not bend he judges em to be Sound and Strong 1791 Mrs Radcliffe Rom Forest viii, The Marquis seizing her hand impressed, as he kissed it, a ring 1815 Steuart Planter's Library (1892) I vi 200 The ring was impressed with the seal of the Prophet

b To stamp imprint, invest with a character, quality etc

1824 Carr Dutch Painters viii 75 That mortal, who was at his birth impress so strongly from this star 1838 Thirlwall Greece II xxxiii 4 He is impressed with a wild and melancholy depth of feeling 1868 Gladstone Juv Mundi ii (1869) 43 The people of Attica had long been impressed with a marked religious character 1884 Encycl Brit XX 324/1 Real property . . impressed with an implied trust for sale

† c To subject to pains forted dure see Press v.[2] Obs

1631 W G tr Cowell's Inst 273 In cases of Felony, he shall be impressed, viz he shall be committed to the Prison . . where being stripped naked, he shall be laid upon the bare ground and his Arms and Legs pulled out by four ropes hee shall be streit tied out upon his back Then hee shall have as great a weight of Iron or Stone laid upon his Breast as hee is able to beare

6 To produce a deep effect or impression on the mind or feelings of, to affect or influence strongly Usually said of the instrument

1736 Butler Anal Nat Virtue Wks 1874 I 298 Brute creatures are impressed and actuated by various instincts and propensions. 1772 Mackenzie Man Worlds I 1 (1823) 220 He had come to that period of life when men are most apt to be impressed with appearances 1846 Dickens Let to Wife 4 Mar, The letter does not impress me favourably 1851 Ruskin Stones Ven I, I could not but be solemnly impressed by the appearance of a circular temple 1886 Gurney etc Phantasms of Liv I 568 A man is left pathetically unprepared to conjure up his father's image absol 1823 Byron Juan XII lxix, Novelties please less than they impress

b To affect (a person) strongly with an idea

1706 Burt Hastings Wks 1842 II 131 To impress all the neighbouring princes with an ill opinion of the forth honour and candour of the British nation 1804 Nelson 2 Feb in Nicolas Disp (1845) V 400 Impressed with the important use of this service I felt justified in ordering the Frigates to proceed immediately 1838 Thirlwall Greece xiv V 349 Some pains had been taken to impress the Athenian ambassadors with the same belief 1878 J W Dunsford Introd Braithwait's Scrappado 10 Men impressed with an indignant storm against the tyranny of Mead He tried to impress him with his importance

†III intr 7 To press in, to press or throng about Obs

c 1386 Chaucer Knt's T 334 Heigh fast was eek anoon hym prese Fro day to day, som in the soule manere. Of lame ne absente his in rage 1422 in Pyle Chron Ires 114 The people ne wolde cesse Awaite them to gather and impresse 1480–1 Cert of Leet, More and more impressen on the dent Of Loves dart while I behold her face

Hence Impre·ssing vbl sb.[1] and ppl a. Impressing cylinder in a printing machine see quot

1839 Parker 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ Impressing and printing of a book impression 1848 E Jenkins Lyra Nov 1871 III 352 His eye is an impressing organ, what we see with our own features in common upon our own minds 1880 Spectator No 4090 A pledge with . . applying the ink to the form of types, plates or blocks, partly on one side of the impressing or printing cylinder, and partly on the other side Impress (impre·s), v.[2] [f Im-[1] + Press v.[2], in same sense.

The latter, before the end of the 16th c, was evidently felt as the same word as Prest v to subject to pressure or force which easily led to a use of impress as if to press in, 'press into service'] trans To levy or furnish a force) for military or naval service, to enlist, (pre to compel men) to serve in the army or navy (in modern use only the latter), to force authoritatively into service

1596 Shaks 1 Hen IV I iii 71 Vnder whose Conduct of Knee We are impressed and inuited to fight 1605 — Macb II i 18 What are these, So wither'd and so wilde in their attire, That look not like th' inhabitants of the Earth 1625 Bacon Ess xxxvii (Cambridge) To Capt John Pyne hire for money by him disbursed for impressing, 108 seamen 1 in his said Majesties seruice 1706 Phillips (ed Kersey) World of Words s v To compel them to enter into the Publick Service 1803 Naval Chron IX 345 Yesterday sailed the Diamond . . to impress men 1835 Marryat N Forester xxiii, Many men were impressed by force, the soldiers are entrapped by other means even more discreditable

b To take or seize by authority for royal or public service

1749 J Fry Bill to raise 51 Commissioners to provide Stone, Timber, Lead, Iron and all other Materials for the Work and to impress Carriages for them conveyed to Windsor 1755 Wesson to Lee Wks 1886 I 134 I impressed his Waggons and compelled him by force to a seat in the work 1803 Naval Chron IX 420 Instructions authorizing different officers to impress both men and ships for the Royal service. 1875 Stubbs Const Hist II xv 98 The Chancellor was empowered to impress workmen, vessels, victuals, and arms, paying however reasonable prices

c In various fig and transf senses To enlist force, or take into some service, press, a thing into service in argument, etc

1657 W Birkhead Quaint gnats knacq Dedic 2 Ere long I can get, and impresse their pens against the enemie (Com common Foth) 1680 Butler Ram (1759) II 94 He is sworn a Privilege to impress that Sort of Nature he pleases for his own Use. 1779 Mackenzie Man of World I, The toy-man's little family of plaything, brutes, whom he had impressed into the service 1825 J Brewster Infidelity, Wks 1864 I 108, I then meant to withdraw from political life, into which I had been impressed by the circumstances of the times. 1842 H Martineau Deerbrook II 44 Dan proceeded to impress into his temporary service a boy, which he used in the neighbourhood 1860 Dickens Uncomm Trav vi, I had impressed . . a second Cab to transport me to the performances. 1869 Lassar Anne Speech II 4 Hypotheses into the service of which Philology was impressed

Hence Impre·ssing vbl sb.[2]

1641 in Rushw Hist Coll III (1692) I 438 A Bill for Impressing of Soulders 1705 Actual Insolam in Lond Gaz No 4183/1 Officers Employed in Impressing.

attrib 1863 Mem Star 17 Dec 4/6 The impressing agent has come around

†Impre·ss, sb.[2] Obs rare [Humorously for Imprest sb.[1] cf Impress sb.[4]]

1 trans To advance money Imprest sb.[1] 1

1665 Evelyn Diary 19 Mar, £5000 impressed for the service of the sick and wounded prisoners 1819 Reis Cyclop Auditor, All monies impressed to any man for the king's service.

2 To charge with a deduction (the pay of an officer) in respect to public monies or stores not accounted for by him see Impress sb.[2] 2

1803 Nelson 12 July in Nicolas Disp (1845) I beg that their Lordships will exonerate them from the charge, and direct the Victualling Board not to impress their Accounts

†Impre·ssa, sb. Obs [Erroneous form of Impresa (cf Impress sb.[3])]

a 1586 Sidney Arcadia (1622) 17 The Impresa in the shield, was a heauen full of starres with a speech 1656

Earl Monm Adict fr Lacunas 410 The Impressa which he bore in his chief Standard, which was a writing Pen

¶ Impressa ... I ironcous [IMPRESSO ...]

1628 Hieron Recantation 60 So surely the Seale hath the reliqued Impressa of drums Vertue still left within her 1647 Cave Kinged 6, I observe now an Impressa of drums, clays and swallows in many of their Pictures

Impressable, a rare [f IMPRESS *v.*² + -ABLE.] Liable to be impressed into service

1865-6 H Phillips Amer Paper Curr II 83 Wagons [were] made impressable for the use of the army

Impressed (impre·st), *ppl a.*¹ [f IMPRESS *v.*¹ + -ED¹.] That is pressed or forced in, stamped upon something, stamped, marked by pressure or with impressions, in Zool and Bot having an appearance of being stamped in, sunk in depressed

1440 Hoccleve De Reg. Princ 644, I bethe was as thanne he my impressede dede 1704 Swift Mech Operat of Spirit 11 an 340 Which species become they are imprinted by the objects they come from upon the outward senses, are therefore in their best state called images, species, passages, or phantoms 1826 Kirby & Sp Entomol IV 79 Enantiate when strix or other impressed parts have a metallic splendour 1845 Lyndley Nat Syst Bot (1853) 61 with beech angular, impressed brown speckled 1854 Wooton Mod Invent 210 Shell smooth or plaited, dorsal valve frequently impressed 1856 Farr Ch Epid 87 Fig 16 Change of motion is proportioned to the impressed force

Hence Impre·ssedly (-edli), adv., in an impressed manner

1640 F Waters Bowmans Interpr Learn 11 18 Supply Medicamentous, Penetrating and immuting, remedie contrary more easily and impressedly the nature thereof

Impressed (impre·st), *ppl a.*² [f IMPRESS v. + -ED¹.] United compelled to serve

1605 Shaks Lear v iii 51 To name our imprest Armes in our ears Which do command them 1768-74 Tucker Lt Nat (1834) I 523 You volunteers, who have been raised with all her tenderness and all her impressability 1875 Bayon Money & its Impressibility the quantity of substance to receive such an impression as shall establish its character as current money

b A specimen or example of the impressible

1820 Lacanora No 240/1 [They] are all in that fanny I and can do for us They are for your impressibles

Impressible (impre·sibl), a [f IMPRESS *v.*¹ or *v.*² impress ppl stem) + -IBLE.] Capable of being impressed a Sensitive to impressions, susceptible, impressionable, b That can be impressed on something

1626 Bacon Sylva § 846 The Differences of Impressible and Not Impressible, Tractable and Not Tractable, are Phenomena Nature 1681 Glanvill Sadducismus triumphatus 61 Brain hardened and obdurate Fancy hath a great influence upon more subtle Spirits 1780 Cowper Progr Err 355 The mind impressible and soft with ease Imbibes and copies what she hears and sees 1856 Kane Arct Expl II App xx 404 The instruments became very impressible to ambient electricity from change of temperature 1874 Morell Interpret Hist xvii 494 Impressible, emotional, and susceptive, he had been accused of inhumanity of purpose

Hence Impre·ssibleness, impressibility, Impre·ssibly adv., in an impressible manner (In recent Dicts.)

Impressing see under IMPRESS *v.*¹ and ².

Impression (impre·ʃn), sb Also 4–5 ension [a. F impression (13th c.), ad L impression-em (in classical L common only in the sense of 'irruption, onset,' but used by Varro for 'emphasis' and 'mental impression'), and in Later L. for 'action of impressing or stamping'), n of action from imprimere (ppl stem impress-). See IMPRESS *v.*¹]

1 The action or process of impressing, in various senses a The action involved in the pressure of one thing upon or into the surface of another; also, the effect of this 1444 Pol Poems Rolls II 118 Stable in the eyr is noon impression 1483 Caxton Gold Leg 54/1 We ought to bere the crosse of Iheu crysten in the mouth by confession and in the vysage by outy and impression 1590 Spenser F Q III vi 8 The fruitfull seales Of all things hunn, through impression Of fitting formes 1598 Barckley Felic Man 1 xxiii 206 Whose wits are so frozen but dissolues with tempering. And yields at last to every light impression 1626 Bacon Phil Remains (1648) 595 Negatives of Natures owne impression 1793 Burgess Calculus 175 The heart does not contract as if immediately upon the first impression of the blood 1829 Lockhart Reg Jul 83 In any given perception there is a something which has been communicated to it [the mind] by an impact or an impression ab extra 1855 Jowett Plato (ed 2) III 506 The creation of the world is the impression of order on a previously existing chaos

b A charge, onset, attack, assault Obs

1402 Hoccleve Lett Cupid 514 Suche is the force of myn impression That sodenly I felle can hir bost 1577-87 Holinshed Chron I 29/1 They were not able to sustaine the violent impression of the armed men, and so fled

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 630 The Duke of Avero, with his Portugals, made a great impression into the Moors host 1750 Johnson Rambler No 22 ¶ 5 Elephants by the violence of their impression often throw down the whole order of their march 1774 Goldsm Nat Hist (1776) II 414 note, The Enemy have no intention of attempting an impression on the Island of Sicily

c The impact or shock of any atmospheric or physical force ? Obs

1604 Jas I Sec Lect to Parl Introd (1711) 22 To line them with the skins of Beasts, thereby to keep out the sharp impressions of the air 1728 Woolaston Relig Nat iv 168 He is in danger from falls, and all impressions of violence 1799 Kirwan Geol Ess 69 The traces of a violent shock or impression from the south are to be perceptible in many countries 1820 Scoresby Arctic Reg I 330 [When cold wind rises] the most freely cannot conceal their sun-sickness under its first impressions

b In elocution or metre A stress, emphasis

1613 Milton Defensio 11 m, To you he wrote this precept which (to your mind) he read with an impression 1824 Mudie Feather (ed 3) I 383 The mountainous of Pindus and Pyrenees, with much less impressions in the ear, look down upon the one to an out of one, in the other

2 A mark produced upon any surface by pressure, esp by the application of a stamp, seal, etc. Hence, any depression, indentation, etc such as would result from pressure, also, the figure produced by stamping or sealing, a cast, mould copy

1398 Trevisa Barth De P R xix xxxiv (Bodl MS), He finde[th] the impression of a Key (Bodl MS), He finde[th] the impression able and obedient to his wax hinge he must nobly impression he pretende[th] 1430 Lydg Min Poems (Percy Soc) 58 Of rose in pale there is no relisse, Pyne nor impression in all thy seint warye 1598 Dallam Instrument Sound Sill in, When a Seal in Wax Impression make 1607 Topsell Four Footed Beasts 108/1 The horne like a rasp with beaten notches or impressions 1699 Dampier Voy II II 101 The Impression in the Sand, seemed much like the Track of a Cow 1731 Bobart in Hyltra Phil in Wks 1771 I 346 As a seal (is said) to make an impression upon wax 1756 C Lucas Ess Waters III 111 Impressions of Leaves, and sometimes of Fish, are often found 1851-8 Woodw Mollusca 276 Shell with a long and prominent lip-mint, and two adductor impressions 1861 Pettigrew Man Hand I 252 Applied his seal, and press it firmly against the paper Every cake of impression is thus produced

c 1386 Chaucer Sq T 37 Ignorantus, in which him unmeete meth'll for the impressions of vertue c 1600 Shaks Sonn xxii, Your tone and putrie doth th impression fill Which vulgar scandal stampt upon my brow 1713 Rowth Tamb II 983 If it bear the stamp and clear impression of good sense 1847 Prescott Peru (1850) II 357 The Spaniards, under the impression that the impression of those into whose society he was thrown

†b (See quot and cf sense 1, quot 1483) Obs

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 530 The impression or sight of Snakes, which they carry with them in their hands over the face

†c A mark, trace, indication Obs

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 691 For the Ethiopian monuments are uncertaine, the last by impression 1615 G Sandys Trav 81 Time hath left now no impressions of his barbarous labour 1658 Sir T Browne Hydriotaph (1736) 58 Beyond all these Impressions of the Calendar

†d. fig Stamp, creation, hence, rank Obs

A French usage, with quot 1639 cf D Aubigné un mas sans de la nouvelle impression (1616)

1639 Howell Lett (1650) II 1 Of Princes of Counts so A gentle man of the new impression 1677 Gentl Calling 5 Every day to be seen in Venice, Noblemen of the last impression in shabby Cloaks and Breeches

3 The process of printing Now rare

1509 Barclay Ship Fools Prol (Percy Soc) 2 So to little boke I prays God the wyse from mysse metryng, by reson, impressed 1577 Harrison Eng Chron in Holinshed I 1 Ye shall find at Much time as I first attempted to commit this booke to the impression 1604 E Pitchenseer Def Prof 2 b, I his Apology being written and made ready for the press it seemed good to stay the impression of it, until [etc] a 1704 Gibbon Misc Wks 1814 I 260 The impression of the fourth volume had consumed three months 1837 Hallam Hist Lit I 1 m 573 103 The number of scholars was still not sufficient to repay the expenses of impression

b The result of printing, a print taken from type or from an engraving or the like, a printed copy

1559 Primer in Eng Prayers (1851) 114 Neither to sel nor buy of any other impressions than such as shal be Printed by the said Richard 1589 Nashe Def Censure Martphon Aduc to Eutic preface Schuller ha[ve] come to vnnt their smattering of Latine in English Impressions 1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 538 Typis, is the Print of Letters being therein set backeward, that in the impression they may appeare forward 1698 Bayer Ac I Indian & Ch Bundles Of Characters tied together to Ape Printing What they make their Impression on, I cannot inform you 1821 Cary Dante Purgatory vii 38 He rubs the plate over with printing ink, so that impression were about to be taken 1832 Babbage Econ Manuf xi (ed 3) 79 Coloured impressions sometimes have been given by the use of a single colour printing, 1865 Mrs Heaton Dinner at Mid 288 Very early impressions of Durer's engravings are seldom now to be met with c The printing of that number of copies (of a book, etc) which forms one issue of it, 'one course of printing' (J), hence, the aggregate of copies thus printed see EDITION 3 b

Sometimes distinguished from 'edition', as an unaltered reprint from standing type or plates, 'but often used as a more general term including both edition and 'reprint' (cf quot 1891

1570 B Taxes I 4 V (1624) III 324 The Copy of which impression is exemplified in our first Impression 1598 Nashe P Penilesse (ed 2) 2 You write to me my booke is hasting to the second impression 1652 Cottington Cursal Or Papal (1656) A 4 ub, Some of his books being sold, it was to be allowed to an Impression 1774 Warton Hist Eng Poetry xx II 19 Of this translation there were six impressions before the year 1802 Ann Bibliog Cat Macmillan's Publications Pref 5 After careful consideration the Publishers decided to describe as an Edition an impression from type set up afresh either with or without alteration and read for press by a proof reader An impression from standing type or from Stereotype or Electrotype plates is described as a Reprint

4 The effective action of one thing upon another, influence, the effect of such action, a change produced in some passive subject by the operation of an external cause

1390 Gower Conf III 94 After thilke intermission, In which they take impression 1471 Ripley Comp Alch IX xi in Ashm (1652) 176 The Body of the Spagyk taketh impression 1576 Baker Jewell of Health 168a, Such oyles are made onely by impression as when simple medy[ines] boyled, steeped, in common oyle, doe leave their vertues in it 1648 Boyle Seraph Love (1700) 38 The Lord Jesus doth never rightly touch the amorous Steel without leaving an Impression 1686 W Harris Lemery's Chym (ed 3) 14 It is better to use the Seeds of Earth or Clay, than those of Metals, but since there is less fear of an Impression from those than from these 1797 Encyc in Heads & Gard 330 In five Salt cannot deserve all of the Impression that is said received from Nature, continuing the qualities essentially with the same Qualities as the Plant from which it is extracted 1800 Acad Inst Reg Cabinet 9/1 The Cowdung, being unable to make any impression on the pagoda 1822 Imison Sc & Art II 120 One of the hardest of the metals, a file can scarcely make any impression on it 1862 Mayne Brown In Pursuit of Shadows v 78 The late rains seemed to have made but little impression on the streets of Moscow

†5 spec An atmospheric influence, condition, or phenomenon Fiery impression, a comet, meteor, or the like Obs

1426 Lydg Dr. Coal Pilgr 3439 Off elementis I am maystresse, Lady also & pryncesse Off wyndys and impressyons 1530 Palsgr 242/1 These impressyons of the eyre, thote, colde, fayre, foule [etc] 1563 W Fulke Meteors (1640) 2 Divided into moist and drie impressions, consisting either of Vapors, or exhalations 1657 S Purchas Pol Flying-Ins 1 iv 30 Some leaving the hot impressions in the aire, attribute it to the dimness of the Curth 1684 I Bunyan Ch Lambs 11 61 Hot fumes and sulphurious clouds, which will sometimes flow in streams and terrify impressions through the air

6 The effect produced by external force or influence on the senses or mind a An effect produced on the senses, a sensation, or sense-perception, in its purely receptive aspect

1632 J Hayward tr Biondi's Eromena 207 The eye is more inclined to preserve the impression of the outward shell than of the other [white] 1651 Hobbes Leviath II xxvii 156 The impressions our Senses had formerly received 1736 Butler Anal I v Wks 1874 I 89 Previous impressions grow weaker by being repeated upon us 1807 I Thomson Chron (ed 3) II 202 It has a south taste at first, then makes a hideous cooling impression, and last leaves an agreeable sweetness 1855 Bain Senses & Int I iii 3 (1864) 62 An impression of sound a musical note, for example, is carried to the brain 1875 Jowett Plato (ed 2) IV 278 It is hard to say how much our impressions of hearing may be affected by those of sight

b An effect, especially a strong effect, produced on the intellect, conscience, or heart

c 1374 Chaucer Boethius v 37 Ek oftetyme we ben put borugh Impressiouns [v.r. expressiouns] As yf I might hath fixe i-bun, in myngle cometh swich anysons c 1386 — Sqr T 363 In litte speche hidde he impression, For litte wit in womman he hadde Axiom 1576 Fleming Panopl Epist 17 Madnesse kindleth diuerse in the minde, because that it worketh in them diuerse and sundrie impressions 1611 Cotgr Ch Hist III 809 Being ouer rigid and severe, his Sermons made no Impression on his English Auditory 1750 Frog Ins & Wks 1840 III 409 While he was under the first impressions given him by the governor to our disadvantage 1772 Junius Lett Alex 256 If they had made no impression upon his heart 1776 Adam Smith Wealth Nat I vii 108 deeply felt the impression of her charms 1847 Hugh Miller Testim First Impressions of England and its people 1870 Freeman Norm Conq (ed 2) III App 560 A deep impression had been made on the minds of Englishmen

c In the philosophy of Hume (see quots)

1739 Hume Hum Nat I i Wks 1874 I 317 Those perceptions, which enter with most force and violence, we may name impressions 1748 — Ess Hum Und, Orig Ideas (1817) II 19 By the term impression, I mean all our more lively perceptions, when we hear, or see, or feel, or love, or hate, or desire, or will Impressions are distinguished from ideas, which are the less lively perceptions, of which we are conscious, when we reflect on any of those sensations or movements above mentioned

7 A notion, remembrance, or belief, impressed upon the mind, esp in modern use, a somewhat vague or indistinct notion remaining in the mind as a survival from more distinct knowledge.

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 2 That there is a God, That is a common notion, and impression, sealed up in the minde of every man 1699 Burnet Hist Ref I i 170 They seemed to have strip t themselves of those impressions of pity and compassion, which are natural to mankind 1837 Gladstone Rel (1879) III 130, I am of the impression it may be both safely and conveniently used 1869 E A Parkes Pract Hygiene (ed 3) 64 That most fallacious of all evidence, a general impression, without a careful collection of facts Mod I have an impression that I have some where met with it before But it is a mere impression, and I may easily be mistaken

8 Painting a 'The ground colour, or that which is first laid on to receive the other colours' b ' A stratum of a single colour laid upon a wall ur surface for ornament, upon outside work, or upon metals to protect from humidity' (Webster 1864)

9 Comb Impression cup, tray (Dentistry), a up or holder for the material used in obtaining t cast of the mouth, impression cylinder, in a printing-machine (see quots.)

1830 Specif. Patent No 5988 Applegath & A is the cast iron frame B the impression cylinder, upon which the piece of material receives the impression 1867 C A Harris Dict Med Facsimile 354/1 The plaster [of Paris] is poured into an impression cup, with high walls fitting loosely over he alveolar border 1884 Westm Gaz Daily Paper 16 Sept 3/6 Around the large cylinder were grouped from two to ten small impression cylinders 1890 W J Gordon Foundry 86 The plates was impossible Why not try Nicholson's impression cylinder?

Impre ssion, v. rare [f prec. sb. + f. impressionner, to which the current use sense 2) may be due]

†1 To stamp, make an impression on. Obs rare—1

1612 Sturtevant Metallica (1854) 94 Peculiar flat-lined instruments, which worke by pressing, impressing, impressioning or moulding

2 trans To make an impression on, to affect with an impression. In pass. To be affected 1865 Reader 9 Sept 291/1 Its busy roar of life is such that it is to all appearance but little impressioned by that sudden wavering fetch. 1892 Temple Bar Nov 404 Impressioned as she had been by the mysterious music

Impressionabi lity. [f next see -ITY. Cf. mod F. impressionnabilité.] The quality of being impressionable, susceptibility to impressions

1835 Blackw. Mag. XXVIII 23 The joyous exuberance, and prompt impressionability, of that beautiful and healthful period of expansion and of growth 1862 Lytton Strange II 228 Extreme impressionability to changes in temperature

Impressionable (impre ʃənăb'l), a [a F. impressionnable, f. impressionner see -ABLE.]

1 Of persons or their feelings: liable to be easily impressed or influenced, susceptible of impressions 1835 New Monthly Mag. XLIV 426 A nature which must be what the French so happily term impressionable. 1838 J. Hogg Gurney (L.), She had a pretty face and an impressionable disposition 1848 Lowe in Life (1850) II 33 He has real merit and quick, impressionable feelings. 1873 Black Pr. Thule (1874) 49 Attentions . . such as must have driven a more impressionable person out of the sense.

2 Of things: a. Capable of being impressed

3 Sensitive to physical or chemical influences

1878 Maxwell in Life (1882) 455 Limpid thin enough to be impressionable by the metal style 1889 Athenæum 7 Sept 316/1 Sensitive or impressionable substances which receive and retain the actinic energy

Hence Impre ssionableness, impressionability

1858 Chamb. Jrnl IV 161 A nervous organisation of great delicacy, impressionableness, and excitability 1881 J. Macdonald Diary Theatre 71 To a certain degree the impressionableness of surface which made him seem and believe himself sympathetic.

Impre ssional, a. rare [f. Impression sb. + -al] Of or pertaining to impressions, of the nature of an impression in quot. 1860 = Impressionable 1860 Emerson Cond. Life, Culture (1865) 78 He must be musical, tremulous, impressional a 1886 J. Quincy Figures of Past (1883) 279 The resemblance . . could scarcely be called physical, and I am loath to borrow the word 'impressional' from the vocabulary of spirit mediums

Hence Impre ssionalist = Impressionist, Impressiona lity, impressional quality

1876 Nation (N. Y.) 14 Sept 164/2 There is no end to the descriptive efforts of the impressionalists 1884 Ir. Builder's Int. Annual 196 The drawing shows the thermal course according to the impressionality of the patient

Impre ssionary, a [f as prec. + -ary] = Impressionistic

1889 A. Meynell The Newlyn School in Art Jrnl No. 53 40 The beautiful lucid surface capable of reflections which are in themselves an intricate yet distinctively impressionary study 1891 Athenæum 27 June 831/2 An impressionary rawing of 'A Reception at Archbishop's House'

Pall Mall G. 11 Oct. 4/2 The most impressionary and modern of narrative descriptions—even whole sentences without any verb which in your real impressionary style, is generally understood

Impressionism (impre ʃənizm) [f Impression sb. + -ism see next] †1 Applied to the philosophy of Hume of Impression sb. 6*c. nonce-use* 1839 J. Rogers Antipoppe VI II 202 All had to Berkeley who would have no matter, and to Hume who would have no mind, to the Idealism of the former, and to the Impressionism of the latter!

2 The theory or practice of the impressionist choo l in art, the method of painting (or describing) things so as to give their general tone and effect, or the broad impression which they produce at first sight, without elaboration of detail

1882 Athenæum 10 June 737/3 M. Duez, one of the fathers of Impressionism, seems to have modified and refined his practice 1884 Contemp. Rev. July 141 The influence of impressionism is on the whole decreasing 1888 Ch. Times 9 June 575/4 Impressionism is an excellent thing in its proper place, which is the artist's own sketch book, not the completed canvas 1899 Q. Rev. Apr 336 In the case of Velasquez, Mr R. A. M. Stevenson claims this ultimate development as distinct 'Impressionism.'

3 The literary presentation of some scene or emotion in its salient features, done in a few strokes

1883 Symons in Academy 29 Dec. 426 Complete negation of all the elements most common in modern writing,—namely realism and, if I may use an artist's word, impressionism in execution 1892 Pall Mall G. 24 Mar. 6/1 A delightful freshness and vividness—a touch of unconscious literary impressionism, if the phrase may stand

Impressionist (impre ʃənist) [ad recent f. impressionner: see Impression 7 and -ist.]

A painter who endeavours to express the general impression produced by a scene or object, to the exclusion of minute details or elaborate finish, also, a writer who practises a similar method

1881 Times Standard 1 Feb. 4/5 To create this misty sentiments is the aim of the modern impressionist 1883 Times 2 Mar. 8 This artist . . is something of an impressionist though he does condescend to put into one point of his picture a vast amount of elaborate work 1891 Pall Mall G. 30 Jun. 4/3 Velasquez and Frans Hals, the Great Twin Brethren of the Impressionists worship

1882 Athenæum 1 July 14/1 Mr. Whistler is one of the foremost school 1887 Ill. w. mun 23 July 123 The great increase of so-called Impressionist pictures 1892 Miss H. Ward Robert Elsmere II 317, I should think one of the poetic Impressionist painters who saw by the pale light

Impressionis'tic, a [f prec. + -ic] Of or pertaining to impressionism, in the style of the impressionists

1886 Nat. Rev. II Dec. 787 In what is called impressionistic painting, you paint something to suggest the temporary mood in which you looked at a certain scene or effect 1891 Athenæum 14 Mar. 348/2 A term which is applied to the painting of short impressionistic lyrics 1894 Fortn. Jrnl. Theol. I 1 Suppl. 4 The baleful place of impressionistic studies

Impre ssionless, a. rare [f Impression + -less] Without impression, void of impressions, unimpressible

1862 A. Smith Midlothian 289 Eng. Illustr. Mag. Apr. 508/1 A face as impressionless and vacant as the white door post against which he lounged Impressive (impre siv, a [f Impress v. + -ive]

†1 Capable of being easily impressed, susceptible (to, impressible Obs

1593 Nash Christ's T. (1613) 50 She hath steeled my soft impressive heart 1603 Drayton Barons Wars III (1605) These words, and tears, ruptures from her gentle eyes, Were unading his impressive breast 1663 J. Spencer Prodigies (1665) 52 The multitude remind but be greatly impressive to very great and religious Persuasions concerning Prodigies 1665 Duke Lerma 70 Men of strong Fancies, impressive tempers, and weak intellectuals

†2 Conveying an impression of. Obs rare—1

1791 J. Hamilton Wesley III 167 A freshness of complexion impressive of the most perfect health

3 Characterized by making a deep impression on the mind or senses, able to excite deep feeling. Said usually of language or scenes, rarely of persons

1775 Ash, Impressive, suited to make impression, making impression 1797 Hewit Tour Eng. & Scot. 189 That animated and impressive eloquence which instantly dissolves the inventors and projectors 1825 J. Ivimey Eliz. Barlow 8 Such, indeed, was their impressive address has been handing over her in some heart-rending calloquy 1860 Lytton Colton I viii 59 The scene was exceedingly impressive

Impre ssively, adv. [f prec. + -ly] In an impressive manner, in a way fitted to impress

1818 in Lond. 1820 D'Israeli Chas. I, III vi 110 The King impressively assured him that he considered him the happiest man in England 1841 Otterson Cruel xvii 209 His funeral service was impressively performed 1860 J. M. Paul Gla. I viii 115 My guide, repeating the warning more impressively before I attended to it

Impre ssiveness [f as prec. + -ness] †1 The quality of being impressible, susceptibility to impressions Obs

1665 J. Spencer Prodigies (1665) 57 That impressiveness of spirits which times of action and change are generally attended with 2 The character or quality of being impressive, or of making a deep impression on the mind, etc.

1805 Edin. Rev. Sept. 30 (Jeffrey) Wordsworth's impressiveness of style 1815 Monthly Mag. XL 61/2 We think a great deal more frequently about and our things, but of it have much more of vivacity and impressiveness 1831 A. Knox in Remin. (1844) I 37 (H.) makes them have the impressiveness of present fact 1861 D. W. Ramsay Lect. Mid. Secur. I viii 174 He spoke with great impressiveness and eloquence

Impre sument[1], rare [f Impress v.[1] + -ment In sense 2 for ? empressement.]

1 The action of impressing, exertion of pressure.

1865 Burnell Tucar Nacr 111, Carried by mighty impressment on board of fly some unseen hydrostatic pressure

2 Earnestness, ardour

1854 'Marion Harland' Alone IX, Several young men dashed to the side of the carriage, with as much impressment as if on a ball 1882 S. Wallace Ben Hur 484, Simonides gave his farewell and the peace of the Lord with the impressment of a father

Impressment[2] (impresmənt) [f Impress v.[2] + -ment] The act or practice of impressing or forcibly taking for the public service

1796 Morse Amer. Geog. I 689 The loss to the citizens directly by the British army, and indirectly by American impressments 1809 Marryat P. Mildmay XXI, America looked upon our system of impressment as the sheet anchor of her navy 1866 Rogers Agric. & Prices I. 15 The right of the impressment of beasts for carriage was part of the ancient purveyance

Ib. 1874 H. Miller Scenes & Leg. xii (1857) 239 There is no irregular impressment of the young and vigorous in the way of seaboat 1876 J. Melior Truth App. D 412 On three conditions only can such impressment of natives be justified

†Impre ssor[1] Obs. rare. [Agent noun in I from Impress v.[1] to Impress[1] (= prendre possession).] One who, or that which, makes impressions

1631 Brathwait Whimzies, Time-seeker 2 And now he hath had his evening lecture and trenching home upported by his friendly impressor, makes every room in his denture 1661 Gunnell Van Dunum 1 Their custom is to overcome by the strokes of stronger impressors 1663 J. Beale in Boyle Hist. (1772) VI 341 Time is the nearest and impressor

†Impre ssor[2], Obs. rare [f Impress + -or, after prec.] One who impresses or takes by force for the public service

1781 R. Hell in Sparks Corr. Amer Rev (1853) III 409 Let his mill and wagons have protection from the destructive labours of impressors

Impressure [impre ʃur] Now rare [f Impress[1] + -ure, after pressure]

1 The action of impressing or exerting pressure upon 1649 J. Ellistone in Johnson's Epist. 1 § 37 The magnetick impressive hinges and sparks Love Amer Rev (1853) III 409 Let his mill and wagons have protection from the destructive labours of impressors

2 A mark made by pressure, an impression, an indentation 1600 Shaks. 1 Hen. IV, III i 23 Leme upon a rush The cicatrice and capable impressure Thy puissy some monument keepes 1601 — Twel. N. III v 141 Her impressure her I write, with which she vses to seale 1631 Brathwait Whimzies Pp. Dedi 7 What else was characters but stampe or impressure nothing, such as especiall place persons or office 1848 Johnston in Proc. Berw. Nat. Club II No. 8 Behind it a short metal line . . and a deep impressure still further back and

3 A mental or sensuous impression

1607 Middleton Michaelm. Term II i, I knew not what fur impressure I received at first, but I began to affect your society very speedily 1609 [B. Jonson] Staple of N. II i The impressure of those ample favours I have received Would bind my faith 1870 Swinburne Poems & Ballads (1878) 182 One birth As impressure leaves upon the air Its impressure of simple, of earnest, of weary melody

†Impre ssure[2] Obs. rare—1 [f Impress[2] + -ure, after prec.] = Impressment[2]

1680 Nations Interest in Behaviour Pk. Lond. 31 Their Bulwark against High Payments, and Impressures demanded by the King.

Imprest (impre st), a and sb.[1] [Appears in the 16th c. for the earlier Prest a and sb. The prefix im- occurs in It (and med. L) imprestare to lend, impresto, impresitto advanced, lent (cf. Of emprest a loan) impresitanza (Of imprestance) a loan, advance, but in English may have been partly due to a misunderstanding of the common phrase in prest (money) see Prest a. and sb.]

†A adj. Of money: Lent, or paid in advance, advanced, esp. to soldiers, sailors, and public officials Obs

1570 Levins Manip. 4 b/1 Receyver of my sums of Monys imprest, or otherwise, for the Use of the Queenes Majesty 1634 Sir T. Herbert Trav. Ded. A iijb Such imprest money I doe not like, but protest against it and the passenger 1658 Phillips, Imprest Money, is money paid to Souldiers before hand 1690 Lond. Gaz. No. 2565/4 Some Seamen having received Imprest Money or Wages have Absconded 1727 Hist. Lond. Officers 29 Chandelain's Ct. Ld. Prest II 87 Accompt and for Imprest Money for paying of Incidents 1755 Mayhew Insurances II 257 To insure the imprest Money advanced to Seamen

B sb.

1 An advance (of money) made to one who is charged with some business by the state, to enable him to proceed with the discharge of the same † Formerly, also, advance pay of soldiers or sailors.

1568 North in Camerarius's Dealt Pr. (1636) 658/1 I did accept in way of imprest, and not of gift 1588 Copy Let. to Mendoza 20 For the Navy of England . . haue ones already made and Imprest of money deliuered, and certaine sent into the Estlands, for great store of maritime prouisions 1600 Dekker Castle Cruell Wks. 1873 I 11 They [the soldiers] have their imprest, coates, and conduct 1617 Morison Itin. II 242 Upon every Contract we make we give the Victuelers an imprest beforehand 1633 I. Stvyn Lond. Pur. Hdb. (1810) 68a He had lately received a great imprest of Spanish money 1703 Lond. Gaz. No. 3941/2 Navy Office, Feb. 23, 1702. All Persons who have any Imprest standing out against them . . are advised to bring in their Bills 1748 Anson's Voy. I v 79 The Government agreed to advance them 10,000 £ upon imprest 1863 H. Cox Instit. III vii 595 The moneys drawn from the Exchequer are applied partly to final payments, and partly to advances or 'imprests'

†b In general sense An advance, a loan (in quots. said of the borrower) Obs

1686 W. of Britaine Hum. Prud. § 37 122 There is nothing which doth more impoverish a Prince, than Imprests of Money at great Usance 1704 Translation Pufen-

8 Nov in Hone Every Day Bk I 1096 I would not cumber my estate with imprests or securitys

c Auditor of the Imprest (see quot 1670) Bill of Imprest an order authorizing a person to draw money in advance of imprest bill

1665 Pepys Diary (1879) III 332, I did get a bill of imprest to Captain Cocke to pay myselfe in part 1668 Lond Gaz No 277/4 All such Accounts as pass by the Auditors of Imprests 1670 Rutland Fam Mem I 1 Auditor of the Receits or Imprests Are Officers in the Exchequer who take and make up the great Accompts of Ireland Berwick, the Mint and of my Money imprested to any Man for His Majesties service 1741 Betterton Eng State II 7 After he had so profitable a Post, to Auditor of the Imprest 1782 Stat Geo III, c 56 § 10 The Receipt of the Vice Chamberlain shall be allowed by the Auditor and Auditors of the Imprest

2 attrib and comb, as imprest account, accountant (see quot 1864), + imprest bill bill of imprest, + imprest office, formerly, a department of the Admiralty which attended to the advances made to paymasters and other officials

1613 Sir R Boyle in Examen. Papers (1886) I 62 For the debt I have his imprest bills 1666 Pepys Diary (1879) IV 123 The clearing of all my imprest bills 1865 Times 17 Aug, The person to whom the advance is made is called the imprest account 1893 Daily News 27 Aug 7/1 The imprest account related to sums advanced to officers for the purpose of making inquiries

+ Imprest, sb Obs Also 7 empreast [f Imprest v] cf Impressment sb

1610 Donne Pseudo Martyr xi § 7 326 To disobey the Kings empreast when hee leuies an Armie 1627 J Carter Iohn Sermon Mount 31 I bee compelled, by impresst from authority, to go a mile, a league, or more, at the officers pleasure 1651 N Bacon Disc Govt Eng II xxii (1739) 103 None were then compelled to enter into Service by Impress, or absolute Command

+ Impress st, v Obs [ad It (and med L) impressitare to lend see Imprest sb], and the earlier Prest v]

1 trans To advance, lend (money)

1565 Q Eliz Let to Bedford in Robertson Hist Scot (1759) II App 28 The other 2000*l* to impresst some part thereof to the new numbers of the 600 footmen and 100 horsemen 1566 Sir J Wolf Irish Rebell in 3 Both of them had money impressed, Sir Thomas Lucas to compleat his Troope, Captaine Arm trung to raise a new Troop 1780 Burke Corr (1844) II 321 The sum that shall be impressed by the exchequer to the bank, to answer these drafts 1880 Ann Reg 243 I have left myself ready at counts do not exhaust the money impressed to the conductor, or the balance due from him

b With inverted construction To furnish (a person) with an advance of money

1612 Davies If thy Ireland, etc (1747) 58 He should have four thousand Marks for the first year, whereof he should be impressed 1000 before hand 1613 Sir R Boyle in Examen. Papers (1886) I 23 this day I impressed [= impressed] my mother in law with 50*li* ster to sett the work in hande

2 To draw (a bill or money by a bill)

1617 Morrison Itin II 207 Bills imprested upon accounts here 1661 Pepys Diary 13 June, So to the Wardrobe and got my Lord to order Mr Creed to impresst so much upon me to be paid by Alderman Hawkwell

Hence Impre sting vbl sb, advancing (of money), loan

1565 Q Eliz Let to Bedford in Robertson Hist Scot (1759) II App 28 The impresting to them of 1000*l* shall stand him in neid for the help to defend himself 1591 Union Corr (Roxb) 3 Gre ste sommes of money by wise of impresstinge yealded to the said Kinge since he came to the crowne

+ Impre st, v[2] Obs [f imprest, prested, participle of Impress v[2], perh confused with Imprest v[1] trans To impress for the army or navy

1645 Mastins Whelp in Peyne Irish Masse Analyz Wand Blessing Stave 44 You have your Husbands, your Sons and Seruants, Imprested from you 1651 N Bacon Disc Govt Eng II xxiii (1739) 104 Englishmen were vnlawfully used to be imprested for the Wars in France 1680 Butler Rem (1759) II 174 He will join as many Shields together to fortify the Nobility of a new made Lord, that is to be imprested by the Company of them and allow him Coat and Conduct Money 1706 Legat Proclam 14 Dec in Lond Gaz No 4285/2 Captains Employed in Impressing Men for Our Fleet 1708 Ibid No 4415/3 No Men shall be Imprested from any Ship but Ships

+ Impre st, v[3] Obs rare Pronouns for Impress v[1] Due to the confusion of impress and imprest in the two preceding vbs) Hence Impre sting vbl sb 1652 Gaule Vngastrom 93 Either the stars doe inflow and imprest you, portend, and signifie perpetually, or not 1659 (cent Calling, 1696) 111 It is the duty of those who are possest of this aduantage, to use it to the impresting not of Vice, but Vertue.

+Impre stable, a Obs rare [f Im-[2] + Prestable] That cannot be performed or rendered

1683 Last Speech T Wilson in Choice Hitherto unknown (1810) 225 Counting the cost and seeing the cost of themselves impreastable 1721 Wodrow Hist Suff Ch Scotl II 60 (Jam) Sending against us an armed host of barbarous savages for inforcing of a most unnatural bond, wholly illegal in itself, and impreastable by us

+Impre tiable, a Obs rare[−1] [f Im-[2] + Pretiable] Invaluable, priceless

1638 O Sedgwick Sermon (1639) 69 They[divine Truthes] are impretiable +Impre valence. Obs rare[−0] [see next and Excl] next 1828 in Webster, whence in later Dicts, with erroneous attribution to Bp Hall of next +Impre valency. Obs rare[−1] [f Im-[2] + Prevalency] Unprevailing character, want of prevailing power a 1656 Bp Hall Rem Wks (1660) 976 He triumphes in the impatience, and imprevalency of them all +Impre varicable, a Obs rare[−1] [f Im-[2] + Prevaricable] That cannot be deviated from, invariable.

1644 Digby Two Treat II viii 422 If then it be an impreuaricable law with all bodies, that none whatsoeuer can moue, vnlesse it be moued by an other [etc.]

Impreve, +prieve, v Sc Obs Also 6 ymprefe, imprywe, impriue, impreue Pa ppple improven (-in) [ad I improbare to prove bad, to reject, blame, disprove, cf F improuver to disapprove, blame The form of the radical follows that of Prove, preeve, repr O F preeve, preeue, tonic form of prover, now prouver (= Arsenal)]

1 trans To disallow, to disprove

1488 Ja Parl Com 90 (Jam) Ane instrument appre uand and ratifiand James Bonare of Rossy hir assigna, and improvand James Bonare hir seruand 1564 Aberd Sederunt 12 June (Jam) Quhair ony person takis on hand to improve the execution of the precept 1575 Lyon Chamb (1872) 58 Improvisioun of writs in instruments or evidentis be ane offerit, he that offeris him to improve the same, sould find the samyn day and time continuis to the vther partie 1583 Acts Sp Sr Andrew 19 Wha swair that he had nane vther writ, & tuke in hand for to improve it [same mis-beat] 1609 Skene Reg Maj 44 The first maner of impudition be the witnes insert in the writ quhilk is taken to be improven 1617 Sc Acts Jas VI (1814) 546 (Jam) In all cases except where the writtis so suspected & offered to be improvin

2 To rebuke, reprove

1552 Abp Hamilton Catech (1884) 61 Vnpreif, repreif, exhort, with all suffering, and doctrine

Improvable, a Obs rare[−0] [f Im-[2] + Provable] That cannot be prevented (Webster 1864) Hence Improventa bi lity, the state or quality of being improventable

Improvisible (imprai zibl), a rare [f Im-[2] + Previsible q v] That cannot be foreseen Hence Improvisibly adv

1887 Mind XII 622 The notion of 'improvisibility is to be asserted without qualification as part of its meaning [reprint of Prec Will] 1888 Whittaker Ibid XIII 119 The whole conception of which these strictly 'improvisible' acts form part

Improvi sion. rare [f Im-[2] + Prevision] Want of foresight, improvidence

1883 St Mirehouse in Eng Illustr Mag Oct 895/2 The whole system of begging and impression will make a hitch forward

+Impri de, v Obs rare In 5 ynp- [f Im-[1] + Pride sb (cf encourage, inheart, ME forms of encourage, enheart)] trans To imbue with pride, make proud

1545 Consol St Bartholomews (E E I S) 52 In prosperite nat ynpuided In aduersite patiente

Improve. see Imbreve

Improvisatur (imprīmā·tŭi) [Lat improvisātor, 3rd sing pres subj pass of improvīsāre to improvise] A improviser in mod L, to print

1 The formula (= 'let it be printed'), signed by an official licenser of the press, authorizing the printing of a book, hence as sb an official license to print

Now in Great Britain and U S) only in works officially sanctioned by the Roman Catholic Church

1640 Sir I Dorne Sp on Relig 23 Nov in (1642) 7 In this I parallell our late Imprimatur's, Licences for the Presse 1641 Milton Animadv 1 Your proud Imprimatures not to be obtained without the shallow surview, but not shallow hand of some mercenary, narrow Soul'd, and illiterate Chaplain 1660 Trial Regic [on p facing title p] Imprimatur J Terkenshead 1712 Arbuthnot Speci No 445 P 1 A Sheet of blank Paper that must have this new Imprimatur clapt upon it 1779 St Johnston Reply Young Wks IV 209 I have the chancellor's imprimatur, for it was first printed at Oxford, is dated May the 19th 1713 1855 Macaulay Hist Eng xxi IV 697 But Edwards's Vindication of the Church obtained the Imprimatur without difficulty 1870 Bayne Brown's Last Days 249 These titles were circulated with the imprimatur of the church 1883 Catholic Dict s v, Imprimatur Henricus Edwardus Card Archiep Westmonast Die 18 Dec 1883 1884 Ibid (ed 9), It has not been thought necessary to secure a fresh Imprimatur for the additional matter in this edition, but it is submitted to the authority of the Church

2 fig Commendatory license, sanction

1672 Marvell Rch Transp 1 46 As things of Buffoonery do commonly, they carry with them their own Imprimatur 1742 Young Nt Th VII 1104 Thus shrill my title pass'd, assured seal Reader the imprimatur from Above 1893 Patmore Kelly Fields 121 Lord Rosebery affirmed that the test of popular literature was only justifiable Imprimatur is the thumb-mark of the artizan

+ Impri mature Obs [app f imprimer to print + -ate[3] + -ure, after such forms as abbreviature, etc, but prob influenced by prec] Printing, print, impression

1798 A Calcott Deluge (1768) 407 Things that had not an existence when the imprimatures of the antediluvian animal and vegetable bodies were formed in the solid rock

1813 J Thomson Lect Inflam Introd 32 The right of imprimature was denied by the faculty to a small work of Ambrose Parey

¶ Also erroneous form of Imprimatur

1813 J Thomson Lect Inflam Introd 32 A decree prohibiting the publication of any medical books which had not previously obtained their imprim stuye

+Imprime, v Obs Also 6-7 em- [f Im-[1] + Prime a or sb, or I. prim us first The history of the hunting sense is obscure, and it may be a word of different origin]

1 trans Hunting (see quots)

1575 Turberville Bk Venerie 243 When he is hunted and doth trust leave the herde we say that he is syngled or emprymed 1590 Cokaine Treat Hunting Civb, Put your hounds softly vpon, for he will fall oft at the beginning which although the Huntsman see, yet must he giue liberte to the young hounds to imprime him themselues 1656 Blount Glossogr, Emprimed, a term used by Hunters when a Hart first forsakes the Herd 1706 Phillips, To improme (in Hunting), to undermine, or dislodge a Wild Beast, A Deer is also said to be impromed when she is forc'd to forsake the Heid 1775 in Ash

2 To begin, commence, institute, enter upon

1637 Wotton in Relig (1651) 441 To trouble you about the yet imperfected, though well improved, Business of New Windsor

Hence Impri ming vbl sb, beginning, commencement, entering upon matter

c 1633 Wotton in Relig (1651) 455 After their imprimings in France I could wish them to mount the Pirenies into Spaine a 1639 Ibid 6 Hence were both their springings and Imprimings, as I may call them

+Impri me, sb Hunting Obs [I prec vb] The act of 'impriming' a deer

1590 Cokaine Treat Hunting Civb, And being sure it his owne Deere, he may giue one gibbet, at euery imprime, and no more 1709 Acles Castilyle 116 If you be a hunting the Buck (with a noble person), suffer him to come in first to the death or imprime 1741 Compl Fam Piece II 293 If he be sunk, and the Hounds thrust him up, 'tis cull'd an Imprime and the Company all sound Auchent 1742 Young Nt Th VII 1104 Thus shrill my title pass'd, assured seal Reader the imprimatur from Above 1893 Patmore Kelly Fields 121 Lord Rosebery affirmed that the test of popular literature was only justifiable Imprimatur is the thumb-mark of the artizan

+ Impri mature Obs [app f imprimer to print + -ate[3] + -ure, after such forms as abbreviature, etc, but prob influenced by prec] Printing, print, impression

1798 A Calcott Deluge (1768) 407 Things that had not an existence when the imprimatures of the antediluvian animal and vegetable bodies were formed in the solid rock

1813 J Thomson Lect Inflam Introd 32 The right of IMPRINT.

imprimature was denied by the faculty to a small work of Ambrose Parey

¶ Also erroneous form of Imprimatur

1813 J Thomson Lect Inflam Introd 32 A decree prohibiting the publication of any medical books which had not previously obtained their imprim stuye

+Imprime, v Obs Also 6-7 em- [f Im-[1] + Prime a or sb, or I. prim us first The history of the hunting sense is obscure, and it may be a word of different origin]

1 trans Hunting (see quots)

1575 Turberville Bk Venerie 243 When he is hunted and doth trust leave the herde we say that he is syngled or emprymed 1590 Cokaine Treat Hunting Civb, Put your hounds softly vpon, for he will fall oft at the beginning which although the Huntsman see, yet must he giue liberte to the young hounds to imprime him themselues 1656 Blount Glossogr, Emprimed, a term used by Hunters when a Hart first forsakes the Herd 1706 Phillips, To improme (in Hunting), to undermine, or dislodge a Wild Beast, A Deer is also said to be impromed when she is forc'd to forsake the Heid 1775 in Ash

2 To begin, commence, institute, enter upon

1637 Wotton in Relig (1651) 441 To trouble you about the yet imperfected, though well improved, Business of New Windsor

Hence Impri ming vbl sb, beginning, commencement, entering upon matter

c 1633 Wotton in Relig (1651) 455 After their imprimings in France I could wish them to mount the Pirenies into Spaine a 1639 Ibid 6 Hence were both their springings and Imprimings, as I may call them

+Impri me, sb Hunting Obs [I prec vb] The act of 'impriming' a deer

1590 Cokaine Treat Hunting Civb, And being sure it his owne Deere, he may giue one gibbet, at euery imprime, and no more 1709 Acles Castilyle 116 If you be a hunting the Buck (with a noble person), suffer him to come in first to the death or imprime 1741 Compl Fam Piece II 293 If he be sunk, and the Hounds thrust him up, 'tis cull'd an Imprime and the Company all sound Auchent

+Impriment. Obs rare [ad L imprimentum, pres ppple of imprimere to Impress] Something that impresses or imprints

1562 Stanyh Tr Vlussey V xl, It is inherent in the seeds of all animals, and may be preserved by consubstantials, imprints, and excludents [cf Imprinter, quot 1638]

+Impri mery. Obs Also -ie [a F imprimerie printing, printing house] A imprimer to print, imprimeur printer see -ery]

1 A printing office or printing house

1663 Signet Office Docquet bk Aug (P R O), A new erected office for the surveying of the Imprimery and printing presses and to grant the same to Roger L'Estrange Esq, together with the sole lycencing of all ballads [etc] 1679 in Gutch Coll Cur I 273 Several persons furnisht an Imprimery, with all the necessaries thereof 1688 Lo Arlington To Lo Oxford Curr (T), You have those conveniences for a free & ingenious, which other universities cannot boast of 1696 Phillips (ed 5), Imprimery, a Printing House.

2 Printing

1681 Wood Life 15 Mar (O H S) II 529 Afterward he surveyed the places of imprimerie

3 A print or impression

1674 in Blount (Lounger (ed 4) 1706 Phillips, Imprimery an Impression, or Print

¶ Imprimis (imprai mis), adv or adv phr Also 5-6 in primis, in primis, 7 in-primis [L assimilated form of in primis, lit 'among the first things', 'in the first place'] In the first place, first Orig used to introduce the first of a number of items, as in an inventory or will, thence in more general use Now usually humorous 1465 Marc Paston in P Lett No 503 VI 189 Inprimis, a pesy brygandyrs, a sulet [etc] 1548 Hall Chron, Hen VI 147 b, In primis, the Frenche king sware to kepe peace 1616 Bullokar, Imprimis, first of all 1699 Farquhar Const Coup I ii Wks 1892 I 41 In a months space I have I gained—let me see, imprimis Colonel Standard 1700 Congreve, Way of the World v Wks (Rtldge) 278 Imprimis then, I covenant, that your acquaintance be General 1774 Goldsm New Simile 15 Imprimis, pray observe his hat, What's upon either side—mark that 1842 F Pitt-Kethley Lett (1882) I 89 What made you write the verses if you were not moved by the picture imprimis? 1860 All Year Round No 63 304 Imprimis, then, who can make a will?

+Imprimitive (imprimitiv), a Obs rare [f Im-[2] + Primitive] Not primitive, not following primitive usage or tradition a 1726 W Reeves Serm (1729) 259 That scandalous contempt and ridicule which some imprimitive Divines of late have put upon it

+Impriminate, a Obs rare[−1] [f Im-[2] + primin us um beginning + -ate[2]] Without a beginning or origin

1683 Cave Ecclesiastici, Eusebius 31 God has a proper, unbegotten, imprincipiate Deity

Imprint (imprĭ·nt) Forms 5 em, enpraynt/e, enprinte, enprynte, 6 imprynte, Sc imprent, 7- imprint [ME type empreynte, printe, a F empreinte a stampe, a violent assault' (Cotgr), ppl sb from empreind-re (pa pple empreint), the prefix subseq conformed to L see next Empraynte was a formation of the same class as armée, assaut, vendange, etc.]

I. 1. A figure impressed or imprinted upon something, a mark produced by pressure on a surface, an impression, stamp 1483 Caxton Gold Leg. 109/2 Thy seal wherein is thimprynte of the crowne 1526 Pilgr. Perf. (W. de W. 1531) 104 The vernacle, which is the very saminude & imprynte of thy blessed & glorious visage 1585 Jas I Fair Counsel (Arb.) 31 As into the wax the seale imprent is lykewise 1835 J. Bevan in Comm. Hist. Ass. World (1850) I. 471, I requested the chief . . to give the imprint of his mark 1851 Lond. Gold Leg. v. Brod. Bridge, I showed . . a bowdler M inked with the imprint of his shilling

b fig. A character impressed upon something, an attribute communicated by, and constituting evidence of, some agency, 'stamp', 'impression'

c 1600 Shakes. Sonn. lxxiii, The very minute bids me his imprint will be nye 1894 J. S. Watson Reef & Palm xxxii 490 He has left upon the Continent an imprint of scientific work which time can not efface 1874 Stevens & Norton's Hist. Geneva (1880) II. 213 The form have so stamped its thought . . and has made it the important person among c A representation or type of something

1859 Sussex Advert. 20 Aug. 1/1 Mr. Lord having, from these pictures . . is the most perfect imprints of the Lord and his . . .

2 †a. The condition of being printed, printed form, 'print' in phr. in imprint. Obs. b The printing of a book, etc. c Something printed, an impression, copy of a writing

1480 Caxton Dicts & Sayd. 57, I have sette them in imprynte, according to the tenour of the first copye . . 1483 Cato 1 I late had fynyssshed in emprynte this book of the noble . . cyvyl counsayllyng Arthur 1884 N. & Q. 6th ser. V. 30 1 in imprint of a work published by Longmans, Green, and Co. b Notes and Queries (Review) In Mr. Muntmeau's opinion which is the most probable place of imprint

3 The name of the publisher, place of publication, and date, printed in a book, usually at the foot of the title page formerly often at the end of the book), also, the name of printer and place of printing, printed at the end of the book or on the back of the title page these are distinguished as the publisher's imprint and printer's imprint

1750 Brit. Critic Feb. 118 The imprint as it is called in technical language, the Typographus Circumdanus', or At the Circulum Press' 1860 Sala Lady's Mile iv. Prof Many professional crimes consist in . . then altering the title and imprint of a book 1893 F. G. Duff Early printed Bks 138 From the time of Caxton's death, in 1491, the time when his own name appears in an imprint, Wynkyn de Worde printed five books

b Extended use see quot

1876 C. A. Cutter Rules Dict. Catal. § 176 The important points of place of publication, publisher's name, date, number of volumes, typographic form, number of pages, and number of maps, engravings, and the like c1489 Caxton Blanchardyn xv. 62 So moche he made vte the first emprayntes, that ne euere his spere was broken ne threwe doune ded ayen hym 1513 Douglas Æneis xii. 13 Symon xx 453 Lathe of them overthrew vii knyghtes at that sprynt.

†4 An onset, assault, charge Cf. Impression 1 b. Obs.

Imprint (imprint), v. Forms 4–6 em-, en-, print, -prynt, -prent, e-, enprynt, -ente, -prende, -prend. 8 5 inprent, impraynt, inprend 5 (6 Sc.) imprent, 6 imprynt, 5– imprint [ME. empreynte n., -prent-, print-, partly OF. empreinte r., pointe-r, a secondary vb through empreinte sb.) from empreind-re (pa. pple. -preint) 'to print, also to assail(e or set on with violence' (Cotgr.) — empreinthere —late pop. L. inpremere, for cl. L. imprimere to impress, imprint, partly (in form empreinde) immediately from entreind-re, the eventual form being largely due to the F. pa. pple empreint 'imprinted', and the prefix conformed to L. as in Imprint sb. of Print v.]

1 trans. To mark by pressure, to impress, stamp a figure, etc on something), to delineate by pressure. In first quot. to take an impression of (a shild body) a c1386 Chaucer Merch. T. 893 His fresshe May In arm wex hath empreinted (Harl. emprynted) the clyket nd Damyan The cliket counterfeted prively. c1400 Vpo. Thebes 901 The Careeres of his woundes olde Upon e fete emprented wonder depe 1502 Ord. Crysten Man W de W 1506) 1 m 20 Unto whome we haue emprynted the foluche the ymage of the crosse

8 c1440 Promp. Parv. 362/1 Inprentyn (MSS. K & V. nprentyn), inprimo 1483 Bk. to lr Constalg. 26 eaving with them a Seale which did imprint with inke this ord REH a 1632 Drayton Quest Cynthia viii, Seen oking on the ground, the shape of her most dainty foot nprinted there I found 1670-98 Lassels Voy. Italy II. 1 The Volto Santo or print of our Saviour's face, which he sprinted in the handkerchief of St Veronica. 1870 Dickens Drood iii, Each sometimes stops and slowly imprints deeper footstep in the fallen leaves.

+b To portray (by some printing process) 1598 Nobody & Somebi in Simpson Sch. Shaks. (1878) I. 90 Let him be straight imprinted to the life, His picture all be set on every stall

†2 To impress (letters or characters) on paper r the like by means of type, to Print (a book r writing) Obs

a 1474 Caxton Chesse Pref., By cause thys sayd book is l of boisom wysedom . . I have purposed to enprynte it 77 — in Earl Rivers' Dictes 145 Here endeth the book ymed the dictes or sayengus of the philosophres enprynted by me William Caxton at Westmestre the yere of our lord M CCC lxxvij 1603 Peterm. Hist. Jas I, Emprynt'd by Richard Pynson 1486 Bk. St. Albans, Fishing 41 Whit wex shall not be enprynted by itself & put in a fayr stylle plumlet 1538 Bale Three Lawes 1971 Emprent them dedi'cas yon β c1500 Lowe & Compl. Marr. & Frauns (Colophon), Hys enprynyd allone by hym self Imprisonment (impri zonment) Forms see IMPRISON [MI en emprisonement, ? AF en prisonnement (Britton, OF emprisonnement (13th c.), F emprisonner to IMPRISON + -MENT.]

The action of imprisoning, or fact or condition of being imprisoned, detention in a prison or place of confinement, close or irksome confinement, forcible restraint with bounds', incarceration.

a 1290 BRITTON I ii § 11 Sur peyne de emprisonnement et de greef raunsoun] 13 E. Edw. I St. 46 Grief peyne of emprysonment & puttyng in stokker 1389 in Eng. Gilds (1870) 5 He shal haue xxiij d during his emprisonement, euery wyk c 1440 Jacob's Well (E. E. T. S.) 19 In fals emprisonement, or fals swest, or false dome 1590 H. BARROW in Greenwood Collect. Separat. Ant. Brownist since bene kept in most straight emprisonment

b 1425 Proclam. in York Mist. Introd. 34 Of payne of forfaiture of yaire wapen and imprisonment of yairs bodys 1467 in Eng. Gilds (1870) 88 Imprisonment of hur bodyes at the kynges wylle 1523 MORE Rich. III, Wks. 52/1 For they would remember their imprisonment 1655 HOBBES Leviath. II xxviii. 164 Imprisonment, is when a man is by publique Authority deprived of liberty 1780 BURKE Sp. Bristol previous to Election Wks. III 389 It is but six or seven years since a clergyman of the name of Malony was condemned to perpetual imprisonment for exercising the functions of his Religion 1817 W. SELWYN Laws Assize Prompt (ed. 4) II 852 An action for false imprisonment is brought by a native and inhabitant of Minorca against the governor of the island

b trans. and fig. See IMPRISON v. 2 a

1576 FLEMING Panopl. Epist. 226 Into the ylyssche imprisonment of vices most detestable 1592 in that bondage & hungreth them c 1612 SIR W. MORE Diary in Roxb. Misc. 211 At such impresonement they oft repining, Lowd bellowing all breek out 1670 CLARENDON Contempl. Ps. in Tracts (1727) 611 No imprisonment so unworthy, as to be in hell by our servants, by our own narrow and sordid affections 1846 KANE Arct. Expl. II xxvii 187 The mainly fortitude with which they bore up during the painful imprisonment

†Imprivacy, v. Obs. rare [f. IM-[1] + PRIVACY] trans. To place in privacy, to secrete a 1670 HACKET Cant. Serm. (1675) 600 To what purpose doth Saul imprivacy himself in a cave?

Improve see IMPROVE

†Improachable, a. Obs. In 6 improchable. [f. IM-[2] + PROCHE ? to approach + -ABLE] Unapproachable

1577 DUDLEY Fantome I. xi. D ij b. With the syde of two places to search out improchable heights

Improbability (improbăbĭlĭti) [f. IMPROBABLE see -ITY. Cf. F improbabilité (1776).] The quality of being improbable, unlikelihood 1598 FLORIO, Improbabilità, improbability, unpossibleness Ital. in voce 245 The improbabilitie of their comming 1600 LODGE Rom. Gud. IV xv 732 But these [are] the very improbabilities of certainty and I believe quite down to Improbability and Unlikeliness even to the Confines of Impossibility 1749 J. SMITH Log. Disc. II 132 The sending a Person out of London, carries not the least Air of Improbability with it 1862 HERTZKA in Appl. to Int. & Ec. 144 There is no longer any antecedent improbability to be overcome

b with an and pl. An instance of this, an improbable circumstance, something unlikely

1611 COTGR. Crudités 97 It is a meere improbability, yea and an impossibility, that this should be the true Church 1618 15 D. HALL Contempt. Of. Ep. I. ii. It is the praise of omnipotence to worke by impossibilities 1699 BENTLEY Lett. 76 Which is to add another improbability to all that have gone before 1876 MOZLEY Univ. Sermons III. Ascension easier in a physical improbability

Improbableness, rare [f. IMPROBABLE + -NESS] trans. To render improbable

1820–27 BENTHAM Fragm. Judic. Evidence Prel. Wks. 1838–43 II. 452 The fear of seeing real improvement obstructed and even improbableized by the creation of new offices, with enormous salaries attached to them Improbable (improbăb'l, a [ad. L. improbābil-is, f. IM- (IM-[2]) + probabilis probable, likely cf. F. improbable (1611 in Cotgr.)]

1 Not probable, not likely to be true, not easy to believe, unlikely

1598 FLORIO, Improbabile, that cannot be prooued, improbable 1600 E. BOUNDE Sanctuary 90 They pleaded against the most Christian Queene, that her pretention was improbable 1602 SHAKS. Troil. V. iii. iv. 141 If this were plaid vpon a stage now, I could condemne it as improbable fiction 1730 SETTLE & ADDISON Ladies' Nat. 9 P. 2 Were they not so well attested, [they] would appear altogether improbable 1770 Jenius Lett. xxxix. 193, I think it was highly improbable 1861 LYNDALL Gilar. II. xxx. 407, I agree in regarding the explanation as improbable

b Qualifying a clause, usually introduced by it 1617 MORYSON Itin. I. 30 Though it bee improbable that there should be any want of waters 1674 tr. Schefferi Lapland 24 It is very improbable that no many Christian Kings should take no care of propagating their Religion 1790 PALEY Hor. Paul. Rom. i. 11 It is in the highest degree improbable that it should have been the effect of contrivance and design 1836 MACAULAY Ess., Temple. (1887) 448 When two names fight, it is not improbable that one of them will be very soundly beaten Mod. That he will succeed is highly improbable

c With complement that clause

1647 CLARENDON Hist. Reb. VIII § 179 Nor was the design improbable to succeed 1654–66 J. D. ORRERY Parthenissa (1676) 241 His love could not be more improbable of success than Perolla had been

2 In pregnant sense Unlikely to 'do', suit, etc.

1659 HAMMOND On Ps. cxx. 16–18 And that in the most improbable sort

Hence Impro bableness, improbability

1727 in BAILEY vol. II

Improbably (improbăbli), adv. [f. prec. + -LY[2]] In an improbable manner, without likelihood (Usually qualifying the statement as a whole, and denoting that it is not likely to be true, now chiefly in not improbably, an expression for 'with more or less probability.')

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. II. xiii. 229 That he lived and writ in these parts, is not improbably collected from the Epistles that passed betwixt him and Artaxerxes 1670 MILTON Hist. Eng. III. Wks. (1847) 504/2 Dionetis, an imaginary king of Britain or duke of Cornwal, who not probably sided with them against his own country a 1691 BOYLE (J.) He speaks very improbably 1708 HORD Proph. Isa. (K.) A Saying more, may, not improbably, have him without one admirer Mod. He is coming to Oxford soon, and may not improbably call on me †Improbate, v. Obs. rare[1] In 6 (Sc.) -at. [f. improbat-us blamed, condemned, or L. improbāt-us wicked see -ATE[2].] Wicked

1596 DALRYMPLE tr. Leslie's Hist. Scot. IX. 220 Throch his awne exemple the improbat he teached

†Improbate, v. Obs. rare[2] [f. L. improbāt- ppl. stem of improbāre to disapprove, blame, condemn, reject, make void, + im- (IM-[2]) + probāre to make good, pronounce good, approve.] trans. To disapprove, disallow

1696 BLOUNT Glossogr., Improbate to disallow, to disprove, to slander

Improbation (improbā'ʃən) [ad. L. improbātion-em, n. of action from improbāre see IMPROBATE v. Cf. F. improbation (1504 in Hatz.-Darm.).]

†1 Disapprobation, disapproval Obs.

1596 STANLEY Hist. Philos. V. (1701) 225/2 He with holds from answering, either in approbation or improbation of something a 1657 MARVEL Serm. (J.) CAIX verse 24 Wks. 1872 IX. 80 Answered his reprobation and reprobation then more by temporal mercies and temporal judgments 1789 BENTHAM Penal. Legal. Wks. 1843 I. 1. These, if they call it honour, will prefix an epithet of improbation to it, and call it false honour

†2 Disproof, confutation Obs. rare (in general sense of IMPROVE).

1551 ROBINSON Crt. Knowl. (1556) 118 As the first in probation doth reproue the flatnes of the earth betweene Exete and Calice, so this second confutatt in impr toth the opinion of plainnesse betweene both and Exete 1597 JOHNSON Kenon's Disp. 275 The conjecture is not worth the improbation 1657 Physic. Hist., Improbation, disproving

‡ Improbe Law Disproof of a writ, an action brought to prove a document to be false or forged c 1575 PATTEN Practicke (1754) 381 Anent improbation 1609 SKENE Acts Mary 122 The first is called the direct maner of improbation, be witnes insert in the writt, quhilk is taken to be improven 1637 RICHARDSON Lett. (1865) I. 422 Summons of improbation to prove our charters of Orkney to be counterfeit, we raised 24 supple poor souls 1752 J. LOUDOUN Form of Process (ed. 2) 15 Indicting, the Pursuer in the Terms of the DECREET of Improbation 1861 W. BELL DUNLOP in Scot. Improbation is the dispursuing and setting aside of writs ex facie probative on the grounds of falsehood or forgery The form of process by which this is generally done is an action of reduction improbation

Improbative (impro bătiv), a. [f. L. improbāt-, ppl. stem of improbāre IMPROBATE v. + -IVE.]

1 Liable to improbation or disproof, not proved to be true or genuine 1758 J. LOUDOUN Pract. Sc. Tutors (1809) 517 Where witnesses attest a deed without knowing the granter, and seeing him subscribe the deed is not only improbative, but such witnesses are declared guilty of forgery 1880 Scots Law Times, Elgin Cathedral IV. 226 Some re-pect ought to be paid to universal tradition however improbative

2 = IMPROBATORY

1876 LOWELL Among my Bks Ser. II. 44 The form or mode of treatment, he [Dante] says, 'is definitive, divisive, probative, improbative, and positive of examples

Improbatory (impro bători), a. [f. as prec. + -ORY] Having the function of disproving, in St Law, made in improbation or disproof of a writ

1828 in W. Bell Dict. Law Scot. (1861) 76 (When the writing has been shaded the party accused is made up) by ordering a condescendence of articles improbatory, and answers containing articles approbatory which shall be revised and accompanied with notes of pleas, in law 1861 Ibid. These articles improbatory and approbatory consist of articulate averments and answers setting forth the facts and circumstances relied on by the one party, as instructing the alleged forgery or falsehood, and by the other, as showing the writing to be genuine and fairly come by †Improbe Obs. rare [? OF improbe (15th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), ad. L. improbus bad, wicked, f. im- (IM-[2]) + probus good.] A wicked person

1484 CAXTON Fables of Alyan (1889) I. The malyce off the euyl people and the argument off the Improbes

Improbity (impro bĭti) [ad. L. improbitas, f. improbus wicked, persistent cf. OF improbité (14th c. in Godef. Compl.)]

†1 Persistency, perseverance Obs. or nonce-use a 1580 WILLET Serm. Sel. Wks. III. 154 Pertinacy knocking is nothing of mine but holy hatred vnfeined this improbity is his purpose is just fayring of foul 1883 Athenæum 29 May 695 The reader who has had the improbity (in the untranslatable Latin sense of improbitas) to follow M. Renan carefully

2 Wickedness, want of principle or integrity

1594 HOOKER Eccl. Pol. III. i. § 7 Persons extraordinarily, yea and cast out for notorious improbity 1695 J. PRESTON Breth. IV. 198 That the exuberant Improbity of ill Men may be repell'd and abated 1731 MEDLEY Kolben's Cape G. Hope I. 27 His countrymen, among whom all Improbity is abhorred 1848 MILL Pol. Econ. I. vii. § 4 The waste of wealth occasioned to Society by human improbity †Improbous, a. Obs. rare [f. L. improb-us or F. improbe + -OUS.] Wicked, unprincipled. Hence †Improbously adv., wickedly, violently 1587 HOLINSHED Rom's Disp. 295 Our [battle] whose leaues are improbously mordacious Ibid. 506 Alas! the improbous do so impose upon us.

†Improbration. Obs. rare [f. IM-[1] + L. probr-um reproach + -ATION cf. L. exprobrātio reproach, med. L. improbrātus disgraceful, and OF improperer to reproach as shameful, address reproaches to (whence perh. an OF impoperation?) Reproach, reviling

1540 Dyetz Lent (W. de W. 1532) 30 They dyd leade the bounden with all improbracyons, sclaunders, false contumelyes

†Improce·rous, a. Obs. rare[-0] [f. L. im pricēr-us not tall + -OUS.] So + Improce·rity

1656 BLOUNT Glossogr., Improcerous, low, not tall 1658 PHILLIPS, Improcerity, a lowness, want of tallnesse

†Improcreable, a. Obs. rare[-0] [ad. L. improcreābilis that cannot be procreated] = †Improcreant Inf. (See quots.)

1623 COCKERAM, Improcreable, not begotten 1658 PHILLIPS, Improcreability, a barrennesse, or unaptnesse to procreate

Improcurabl ility. rare [f. improcurable* (f. IM-[2] + PROCURABLE) see -ITY.] The condition of being unprocurable

1876 MRS. WHITNEY Sights & Ins. II xxxiii 619 Absolute novelty and improcurability elsewhere or forever

†Improdu·ced, a. [f. IM-[2] + PRODUCED.] Not produced from anything else, unproduced

1662 STILLINGFL. Orig. Sacr. III. ii. § 10 There will bee three real improduced things 1692 RAY Dissol World (1732) 4 They make no mention of the Creation of this Chaos, but seem to look upon it as self existent and im produced

Improdu·cible, a. rare [f. IM-[2] + PRODUCIBLE.] Incapable of being produced, unproducible, unfit to be produced, unpresentable

1704 NORRIS Ideal World II viii. 381 We cannot produce them, and that because they are improducible 1820 COLTON Lacon I. 93 Dr. Johnson was pronounced to be in improducible man by a Courtier

†Improdu·ction. Obs. rare [f. IM-[2] + PRODUCTION.] The condition of not having been produced from anything else

1662 STILLINGFL. Orig. Sacr. III. ii. § 10 The eternity and improduction of matter as the passive principle of things, from the very beginning 1678 Ibid. I. v. 197 Hermogenes and other[s] assert the self existence and improduction of the Matter

†Improficience. Obs. rare[-1] [f. IM-[2] + PROFICIENCE.] = next 1605 BACON Adv. Learn. II. vii. § 7 This misplacing hath caused a deficience, or at least a great improficience in the Sciences.

Improficiency. Now rare Also 7 in- [f. IM-[2] + PROFICIENCY.] Lack of proficiency, unskilfulness, backwardness 1647 BOYLE Lett. 20 Feb. in H. &c (1772) I. Life 35 The excellency of the Instrument, since waited on by such an improficiency, increases my presaging fears 1661 FELTHAM Resolves II. xli. 271 The least neglect does steal us into improficiency and offence 1673 WARD Simp. Coxeter. Parophr. Heb. 21 Gently taxing their negligence and improficiency 1897 Outing (U. S.) XXX. 354/1 Knowing my own improficiency, I almost feared to tempt the game to pose

†Improficuous, a. Obs. rare[-1] [f. IM-[2] + PROFICUOUS.] Unprofitable

1650 BULWER Anthropomet. 53 We need not doubt to take away and freely to cut off that improficuous excrement of hair

†Improfitable, a. Obs. Also 4–5 in- [f. IM-[2] + PROFITABLE.] Not profitable, unprofitable a 1325 Prose Psalter lxi(i) 4 Hy ben made improfitable 1434 MISYN Mending of Life 224 Quatever he do, improfitably & unto[e]rably it semys 1558 KENNEDY Compend. Tractate in Wodr. Soc. Misc. (1844) 195 Improffitable for our purpose 1660 SHARROCK Hyp-tidos 87 Weeds, fern, heath, broom and other improfitable vegetables 1725 BRADLEY Fam. Dict. s.v. Milk, The only Way to make it Low dry and consequently fit for Cheese Hence † Improfitableness, unprofitableness.

a 1643 J. SHUTE Judgem. & Mercy (1644) 176 Cause to wish that they had never seene your faces, because of your improfitableness

Improgressive (improgre·siv), a. [IM-[2] + PROGRESSIVE.] Not progressive, unprogressive

1809–10 COLERIDGE Friend (1818) III. 179 Improgressive arrangement is not method 1857 in Bogg Lect. 1890 xii. The immense empire of China improgressive for thirty centuries 1877 DE QUINCEY Ir. (1890) IV. 399 Cathedral cities in England impress tourists without manufactures in Germany, are all in an improgressive condition

Hence Improgre·sively adv., without making progress or advance, Improgre·siveness, the quality of being unprogressive, stationary character

1807–48 HARE Gu. Love Ser. II. (1859) 210 The stormbeaten Atlantic, over which men had for ages been sailing to and fro almost improgressively Ibid. 312 The other great scandal of philosophy, its improgressiveness, may easily be accounted for 1879 Fraser's Mag. XIX. 105 It is this alleged improgressiveness of China that startles the imagination

†Improli fic, a Obs [f Im-[2] + Prolific] Not prolific, unprolific

a 1661 Fuller Worthies, Hertfordsh II (1662) 22 Many Worthies, who are either improlifick, or have Children in quo uno stupet totus mundus 1686 Plot Staffordsh 324 Imperfect, improlific eggs, which will never produce Chicken

†Improli fical, a Obs [f Im-[2] + Prolifical] = prec

1646 Sir T Browne Pseud Ep II i 50 That which is not watery and improlifical will not conglaciate 1656 Blount Glossogr, Improlifical, not apt to have issue

†Improli ficate, v Obs [f Im- I[4] + Prolificate v] trans To render prolific, to fertilize

1646 Sir T Browne Pseud Ep IV xvi 371 The inordinate longitude of the organ may be a meanes to improlificate the seed 1690 Phil Trans XVI 541 A greater difficulty is, how the sperm of the Cock improlificates and makes the ovall compition fruitfull

†Impromi nences, a Obs rare [f I impromi-nc-nt-s + -ous] Unmixed, unmingled 1656 in Blount Glossogr 1790 I Taylor Product Pastoril p lxxvii. The first is simple and impromiscuous

†Impro mpt, a Obs [ad L impromptu-s, im- (Im-[2]) + promptus ready, Prompt] Not ready or prepared, unready

1759 Sterne Tr Shandy II ix. So impromptu so ill prepared to stand the shock of it as Dr Slop was

Impromptitude (impɒ·mptitiud) [f Impromptitude + -ude] The quality of, or want of promptitude, or quickness in action, unreadiness

1887 Story of a Kiss III xv 267 His uncle's reproach of his "impromptitude" was a different thing

Impromptu (impɒ·mptiū), adv, sb, adj [ad L in promptū in readiness, at hand (promptus readiness), written as one word and with the n changed to m before p, as in F impromptu (Molière, 1669), whence also the adj and sb uses]

A adv Without preparation or premeditation, off-hand, on the spur of the moment, extempore

1669 Lady Chaworth in 12th Rep Hist MSS Comm, App v 11 Mr Elliot desired Mr Titus to make some verses which he did thus, impromptu [etc] 1788 Burns Let to Mrs Dunlop 16 Aug, She sometimes hits on a couplet or two impromptu 1791 Boswell Johnson (1816) I 31 note, This was made almost impromptu 1882 Farrar Early Chr II 275 note, The two who often wards improved into the story that he [John] wrote the whole Gospel impromptu

B sb Something composed or uttered without preparation or premeditation, an extemporaneous composition or performance, an improvisation

Also, a musical composition having the character of an improvisation

1683 D. A. Tom Coxeter 44 We must deal plainly and seriously with such men, waving all in promptu's and subtilities 1693 Dryden Juvenal Dedic (1697) 37 they were made ex tempore, and were, as the French call them, Impromptus 1778 Johnson Piozziana (1786) To Mrs Thrale, on her completing her thirty fifth year, in impromptu 1849 Disraeli Tancred II ix, Lady Constance had a variety of conclusions on all social topics, which she threw forth with the well arranged air of an impromptu 1880 Grove Dict Mus I 768/2 The two sets of pieces by Schubert known as Impromptus were not so entitled by him

C adj 1 Composed or uttered without preparation or premeditation, improvised, invented, produced, etc on the spur of the moment and without previous thought

1789 Mrs. Piozzi Journ France I 240 Who would require the making impromptu poems at Paris? 1830 D'Israeli Chas I, III Pref 4, I am not fortunate in impromptu replies 1849 Thackeray Pen April, I daresay I shall have to make an impromptu speech

2 Made or done on the spur of the moment, hastily made for the occasion, or converted to use in an emergency, extemporized, makeshift

1764 Mrs Harris in Pen Lett Ld Malmesbury I 118 I and North took an impromptu dinner with us yesterday 1800 Mrs Hervey Mariamne Lane I 65 they had a little impromptu ball 1856 Miss Mulock Y Husband xxii (1865) 215 My daughter encouraged me to pay them a visit 1872 Baker Nile Tributt viii 128 We prepared an impromptu raft

Hence Impro mptuist, one who composes offhand, an improvisor

1802 H Smithson in Courts Parnassus (1842) II 334 The oddities sung in the evening to endless chorus in song, and the sallies impromptus in Dutch 1802 in Brydges Autocar Judic L vii (1847) II 2 Answers impromptuary 1824 Medwin Conv with Byron I 48 In a pelting rain an impromptu'd the following epigram 1848 Athenæum 5 Aug 773 Ballad waggons impromptued and filled up with seats 1882 Church Treas 342/2 Theodore Hook was a most prolific impromptuist 1897 F Hall in Nation (N Y) LXIV 435/1 His impromptuary deliverances

†Impro f. Obs rare [f Impro v [1], after prove, proof]

1. Disproof, refutation

1541 J. Jackson True Enemy F ii 145 Now secondly for the Elench, and use of improofe

2. Reproof, rebuke, censure

1592 Greenwood Answ Def Read Penaltes 30 the whole Scripture is inspired of God, & profitable vnto doctrine, vnto improof, vnto correction 1594 Southwell M Magd Teares To Rdr, That the reader may learn to love without improof of purity

Improper (impɒ·pəɹ), a [f Im-[2] + Proper, after L impropriæ (1372 in Hatz-Darm), I impropriæ] Not proper, the opposite of proper

1 Not truly or strictly belonging to the thing under consideration, not in accordance with truth, fact, reason, or rule, abnormal, irregular, incorrect, inaccurate, erroneous, wrong

Formerly sometimes without implication of blame or censure, e g. said of a meaning given to a word which is not the proper or literal one but metaphorical

1535 Stewart (title) Cronykil vi xxxiii 29 Which to have said in the time of Joshua had been improper 1701 tr Le Clerc's Prim Fathers (1702) 87 Of which one can only speak in metaphorical and improper Language 1782 Burke Sp Bristol previous to Elect Wks III 362 It is not less you should censure me improperly, but lest you should form improper opinions on matters of some moment to you, that I trouble you at all upon the subject 1870 Lyndall Text Theatr & Music 14 The condition were called improper, because they could not be performed. The division is improper, because if a conductor be insulated it can readily be electrified

b Said properly so called, Improper fraction a fraction whose numerator is greater than or (equal to) its denominator, and whose value is therefore greater than (or equal to) unity (formerly applied to analogous fractions in Algebra) Improper diphthong see quot 1826

1542 Recorde Gr Artes (1575) 340 An Improper fraction is that is sayd, a fraction in forme, which in deede is eyther the vnite 1610 Fletcher Faithf Sheph prol To Rdr, I beg [shepherds and shepherdesses in a Pastoral] are not to be admired with art, but such as their rude nature is said to bestow, in singing and poetry 1674 Jeake Arith (1696) 44 Improper Fractions have always the Numerator greater than the Denominator 1726 Leoni Counse Math I 187 To Reduce an Improper Fraction to a Whole or Mix'd Quantity 1826 J Mitchell Dr Greene (ed 3) I 36 An improper diphthong, has but one of the vowels sounded as, as in eagle, or in boat

2 Not in accordance with the nature of the case or the purpose in view, unsuitable, unfit, inappropriate, ill-adapted

1570 Dee Math Pref 33 Rather, then either to want a name, or to haue to base and improper a name, 1601 R Jones Nosegay Nouelties (1609) 30 The Ruff, which by nature are not improper for war, being cute spoons, strong, 1650 Baxter Christ Epit iv xiii (1848) 548 Y I am being a very improper Judge 1705 Hearne Collect 19 Sept, Some Brut Medals in Mus. Wks 1726 III 52 [The quotation] not improper to the occasion 1774 C J. Phipps Voy N Pole 50 It appears to be unfortunately as a rocky ice shore 1800 tr Lagrange's Chem I 56 Hydrogen gas is improper for respiration

3 Not in accordance with good manners, modesty, or decorum, unbecoming, unseemly, indecorous, indecent Also transf of a person

1739 Chesterfield Lett (1792) I xxxi 108 It would be very improper and indecent if you were to fly your kite or play at one o'cat with anyone you are with for Mistress 1776 Trial of Mundcomar 206/2 It would be highly improper that their books should be wantonly subjected to curious and impertinent eyes 1790 (see Improbate 1) 1849 Jane Woodman II, It never occurred to her that there was any thing improper in having them there 1854 Mrs Carlyle Lett II 3 I was so ugly, I wanted to dress myself as Venus—not improper—governesses, and the like

†4 ? Not proper or peculiar to an individual, general, common Obs rare

(Quot 1 may be taken in this sense in recent Diets)

1 Improper, v.1 Obs Forms 4–5 emprop-, -per, 6 emproprpe, -per, 6–7 improprpe, 4–7 improper Sc. also Imprope [Me en-, emprop-, appropr an AF emproprier*, a variant with change of prefix) of OF approprier, ad L appropriare to Appropriate, q v In quot 1 the sense is not clear, is recorded, and the med or mod L impropriare is cited by Du Cange only from English documents, and is presumably a latinization of the AFr or Eng word, though, in form, immediately f I in (In-[2]) into + propri-us own, private) In Eng apropr-, Appropr-, was in earlier use, app with the same sense. The variant Improve corresponds to apropry]

1 trans To assign as a proper or private possession, to appropriate, Impropriate v 1

1380 Wyclif Wks (1880) 81 But he þat þes ben vnproprid to god 1486 Bk Seint Albans, Hawk Hy þat is to seyn an proprid in lawe of armys 1494 Fabyan Chron vii 443 He also had emproyed vnto hym dyuerse wardys belong vnge to the Kynge 1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W 1531) 54 Persones whos lyfe is abone other improyed to contem placyon 1552 Huloet Comutrea Dialle Pr 82 a, He that emproyeth to him selfe that, whiche ought to be comnion to all is to be blamed of god, and hated of men 1565 Jewel Repl Harding (1611) 383 If he would in like maner an proper, and inclose the Sun bemnes, to comfort the rich 1642 [? Br Hall] Mod Confut Iniquit in 6, I have alway as resolved that neither person nor cause shall improper me, further than they are good [Cf Milton Apol Sm II] 2 Eccl Law = Impropriate v 2

1598 Lett Suppress Monast (Camden) To unite annexes and improper the same unto the church of Saint Peters in Ipswich 1599 More Suppl Soules Wks 333/1 Many an abbey haue the great parte thereof in benefices geuen and vnproprid vnto them 1645 Bramhall Consecr 485 Persons, rectories, vicarages, which were improprid vnto them 1661 T Comyn Tyr of Eng 3 4 He improprieted vnto our church the parsonage of Burkland Abbatis

†Improper, v - Obs nonce-wd [f Improper a] intr To behave improperly

1792 H Watson Corr (1850) III 418, I am too old to be improper and you are too much in to be improved to †Impro perate, v.2 Obs rare = [f ppl stem of Improper v.1] To improve, upbraid (Vulgate and Petronius), It improperare 'to upbraid, to twit' (Florio), OF improperer, cf late L improperium opprobrium reproach (Heb xi 26, in Vulg.) Improve 2 In reproach upbraid

1623 Cockeram, Improperate, to reproch 1656 in Blount

†Impro perate, v.2 Obs rare = [f ppl stem of I impropriare intr To hasten in 1656 Blount Glossogr, Improperate, due to make haste to begin

†Impropera tion [1] Obs [n of action (prob in Ok) from late L impropera-re, OF improperer see Improperate v.1] The action of upbraiding or reviling, a reproach, taunt

1502 Ord Crystian Man (W de W 1506) IV xxii 120 How other members that is debates & improperations 1526 Pilg Perf (W de W 1531) 34 b False contumelies, blasphemes, & improperations 1603 Holland Plutarch's Mor 1235 That improbation and slander that went of him 1643 Sir T Browne Relig Med I 6 Ouuations, the Improperations and Taunts of Assembly hereof 1658 Osborn Advice Son (1673) 5 Ouuations, the Improperations and Taunts of Assembly hereof

†Impropera tion [2] Obs Improcous form for Improbation, after Improbate v.1

1535 in Strype Eccl Mem (1721) I App xxxv 187 At the time of the impropcration 1550 [? Crowley] Pol's Creed I 65 Nothinge is so pappy stuffe as improperations of bunches be. 1624 Donne Serm viii 166 This is an Improperation without Sacrifice to take God more owne †Impropera tion [3] Obs rare = [n of action from Improperate v.2] A hastening in 1658 Phillips Improperation, a making haste

Improperly (impɒ·pəɹli), adv [f Improper a + -ly 2]

The instance from Gower stands alone in date, the word like its adj Improper coming into general use in the 16th But properly is sometimes found as a surrept f adv improprement occurs in Orc me (1481 c)

In an improper manner, wrongly, incorrectly, unsuitably, unbecomingly 1390 Gower Conf I 70 The world as of his proper kynde Was euen vnresone and so be blynde Improprelich he demeb time 1532 Elyot Gov I xxi Modestie which is not improperly knowen in Greke, whiche name is improperly turned this vertue descretion 1577 tr Bullinger's Decades (1592) 47 Justification is properly attributed to the receiuing of righteousnes through Christ Iesus, and is not properly ascribed to the obeying righteousnes, or righteousnes of obedience 1661–98 Sir T Skin III 6 Merit which we may not improperly define 1. A Right to receive one good upon the score of some good done 1776 Trial of Mundcomar 93 The wife of Baillaky Dossy was improperly made use of 1879 Cassell's Techn Educ IV 329 A Frenchwoman Jeanne Dare (commonly but improperly written Darc 1885 Law Rep 29 Ch Div 454 The lease has been by mistake improperly drawn

Impro perness. rare [f as prec + -ness] The quality of being improper impropriety

1612 Brinsley Lud Lit viii (1627) 113 For the improper use of the phrase in our speech. 1658 Phillips Words Gentle 113 Fame to vnfit for the seeming improperness of a word 1695 Lond Lit Dr Barter 11 The Improperness of Calling God Creditor, and Sin Debts otherwise than Metaphorically

†Impro·perty. Obs rare [f Improper a + -ty cf property] = Impropriety

1555 Shelbey Treat Tig Gram 3 Schol 6 b, Improperty when a worde is brought into the talke hauing nothing at all his owne proper signification 1663 Gerbier Counsel 49 b, Ordering each part thereof, proper to its particular use shunning all improperty

†Impro pery. Obs [ad I improperia sc Improbrate v.1] Reproach, upbraiding

1542 Becon Parkes of Prayer 1 Thyne heart deseruyng to be delyuered from the improperys & vnbraydyng of a certayne defaut

†Impropriations, a Obs rare [f Im-[2] + Propriation + -ous] = Improper 1 & 2 in Letter] Not propitious, unfavourable, improprious

1638 Wotton in Ld Hyde (1672) 93, I am sorry to hear that your dreams were improprious

†Impropriation. Obs Also 4 in [Im-] Want of proportion, disproportion

1450 Lydg & Burg Secrees 1675 Of this evil humour Of qualitees gendre by improporcion In the bed 1604 Wright Passions iii 30 Some of them be but one eye out of square the first thing almost we marke is the improportion or disquaring of that part 1635 Heywood Canna Dei 12 The seeming improportion of Infinite and Eternal Punishments to Finite Transgressions

†Impropriortionable, a Obs [f Im-[2] Not proportionable, = Improportionate

1599 B Jonson Cynthia's R v iii, If shee could have dasht so improportionable and absurde a digression 1681 Samuson Serm I 10 Profits improportionable to the pains and dangers men must undergo in them 1682 Grand Debate 117 Forms, the Habits, and Ceremonies, and that by improportionable politics †Impropriational, a Obs [f IN 2+PROPRIATION a] = next.

1625 J CAMDEN Brit Lond 1808 I 399 A number unproportional to the number of students, which in many years exceeded 16 score 1784 98 in Pol Panor I 1 xxiii 1 The apparent dips in pictures should appear in their unproportional not deformed on account of the distances and heights of the objects painted

†Improportionable, a Obs [f IN- + PROPORTIONATE a] Not proportionate, out of proportion disproportionable

1581 MULCASTER Positions xxxvii (1887) 146 To distribute their multitude to the best and most proportion of their own state which otherwise unproportionable would breede an upstome 1652 GAULE Magastro. 37 Acting, and effecting at an unproportionable distance 1666 J SWAN Spt Jack (ed 2) 59 The Cavity is unproportionable to the head of the humerus

†Improportioned, ppl a [f IN- + PROPORTIONED ppl a] Disproportioned = prec 1598 JEANES Mirr Schol Pr 43 Dangerous inventions that can never reach spiritual substance for they are improportioned unto it

Improportionate improportionate a [f ppl stem of med or mod L improportiō- see IMPROPER a 1 and cf ALTROPRIATE a 1]

†1 trans To make proper or peculiar to some person or thing to make one's (or some one's) own, to appropriate Obs

1567 DEANE Homaeus (To Rdr *) To improportiate to me it were neither honestye, nor wyseliom 1612 J TAYLOR Comm Ephes 3 In that period of time which the wisdome of God hath improportiated unto them 1651 HOBBES Leviath II xxiv 126 That improportiate the Preaching of the Gospell to one certain Order of men 1672 MARVELL Reh Transp I 279 In this impudent and unseasonable course, you have all along improportiated the impropriated all the Loyalty from the Nobility, the Gentry and the Commonalty, and dedicated it to the Church 1703 MAS. CHANDLER Solem Hatred 11 Which is miserable in no whom this goodly mansion is improportiated

†b With inverted construction To instil (person) as proprietor Const into Obs rare

1627-77 FELTHAM Resolves II xix 64 To improportiate my self into that which is not mine

2 spec To annex (an ecclesiastical benefice to a corporation or person, as their corporate or private property, esp (in later use) to place tithes or ecclesiastical property in lay hands

Improportiat. was in early use applied to the annexation of the tithes of a benefice to a religious house, at the Reformation most of these improportiations passed into lay hands so that the word came to be frequently associated with the lay possession of tithes, the synonym appropriate being subsequently taken to denote the original sense, with a covert allusion to the appropriate and impropri- see IMPROPRIATION 1

1538 LELAND Itin I 41 at Robert Sun to Hilbert Fuxy improportiate both this Hospital and S Clementes yn the Castelle to the new Priorie 1587 HOLINSHED Conq Holin Ireland III 140/2 The patronage and Deanship of Wellesbourne he gave and improportiated unto the vicars choiall of his church

b 1613 PURCHAS Pilgrimage II 113 Of nine thousand two hundred eighty and fiue parishes in England three thousand eight hundred forte, five were (as it is properly termed) improportiated 1657 J TAYLOR Worth Communicant 265 I mount on the Seventh sense Improportions which the Pope had made of the Tythes of the Secular Clergy to endow their Monasteries with Tythes MP instead of Sessions, did yet make Sacrilegiously Improportiate to the Laity 1827, 1850 [see IMPROPRIATE]

Improprate improprāt, ppl a [ad med or mod L improprātūs, pa pple of improprare see prec, vb]

1 Appropriated to some particular person or persons t Obs

a 1600 HOOKER Serm Jude 17 21 § 1 Look upon Israel, to whom the promises of Christ were made improprate. 1612 J TAYLOR Comm Titus 1 1 A grace improprate to the elect 1706 DE LAU Jure Di v 88 If we dislike in Law, We must from his improprate Lands withdraw

2 spec Of a benefice or its revenues = IMPROPRIATED 2 (See IMPROPRIATE v 2

1538 LELAND Itin IV 71 The Personage of Aukeseter is improprat to Aukester Priory 1555 Ed 6 Ch I Mary 1 & 2 § 7 Rectories Personages and Benefices improprate 1631 Ver Chamb Case (Camden) 66 The plaintiff Sr Edward Coke had both the tythes of the parsonage improprate of Cley with the Chapell which belongeth to the same and claymed such by an ancient composition 1707 J CHAMBERLAYNE St I Italy I 23 Hereof 1845 [parishes] are Church-range prebends and 59 Hamlets, which [do] not receive the Tythes or Appropriate to annexed to Church Dignities 1850 H MERIVALE Hist Romans IV II 121 There were different kind of tithes the vicarial, rectorial, and impropriate 1889 Law Times Rep LXI 327, I pay the impropriate tithe as well

Impropriated, ppl a [f prec vb + -ED1] 1 Appropriated to some person or thing t Obs

1632 THOMAS Trin 1 1 Both was called as of Italus a King in Sicily The more impropriated names were Hesperia because it is situate under the setting starre Hesperus Latium and Ausonia in regard of [etc]

2 Of a benefice or tithes Annexed to a corporation or held by a lay impropriator see IMPROPRIATE 2 2 IMPROPRIATION 1

1651 BAXTER Inst Unit III 37 Why did they not let the impropriated, or, as we call them truely, improprieted tythe to the Incumbents and lawful owners? 1827 H COTTON Hist 1876 II xiii 66 A project of restoring all improprieted hereditaments to the church 1860 PROCTOR Hist Eng V 155 The estates of the bishopric of Winchester were transferred to the crown in exchange for a few impropriated rectories

b Of a person Provided with an impropriation from Obs rare

1535 LYDGATE Treat Improp Benefices Bvj, None my mete ben impropriated or improp r misters hatte nat you ministeryal of the holy mat ... By improp yours made for the mayntenance of goddes holy word

Impropriate improprĭāt adj In appropriation 1847 W HAMILTON Disc Soc Sciences (1848) 64 Every thing that can be made into the category of Christianity is improprietarily his

Impropriation improprĭā'ʃən [n of action from IMPROPRIATE v see -ATION]

1 The action of impropriating, the annexation of a benefice or its revenues to a corporation office, or individual, esp (in later use) to a lay corporation or a lay proprietor

By 17 both law writers distinguished from appropriation (see s v 2 3) and Appropriation 2 Although the distinction has no etymological or historical basis of etymology or use the assignment of a benefice to a monastic body, and to a layman, being alike called impropriation in the 16th c the latter usage has been to restrict impropriate and the lay proprietorship of tithes or other revenues

†1535 LYDGATE Tithes A treatys concerning impropriations of benefices 1549 LATIMER 6th Serm before Edw VI (Arb) 130 Impropriations now be the Devil hath turned purchasings into private Masses 1575-85 ABP SANDYS Serm (Parker Soc) 14 Rome hath robbed Christ of his honour and his impropriations gave to his patrimony to sell but not to feed upon 1660 R COKE Power & Subj 215 If the Pope did give Abbots and Priors power, being Lords of such great revenues to dispose of Impropriations to their Bastard the King, will take a power to take them all away to and convert them into Lay fees, and impropriate them into particular persons as he pleased 1672 MARVELL Reh Transp II 51

b 1681 BURTON Acct Mrd Demesne to Rd (1858) 89 No impropriation, nor lay patrons of church fees 1708 Letters to Ld Treas 29 The impropriations of Tithes called when the Advowsons is in the Hands of a Layman and Appropriation, when in the Hands of a Bishop Colledge &c 1741 HARTLEY Comm Prayer (1828) 48 Impropriate Will Free tenths to it [the church] all that it had lost by impropriations and other secularizations 1868 I HUNT Acct Ch Eng I 79 note, Impropriations are the alienation of tithes to laymen

b The proprietorship conveyed by this action

1632 WILLET Sion Flow Mon 256 The Churches were impropriated to the Deane by divers Bishops, the Impropriations whereof were theirs at that time 1849 MOORE Irel Church 1 xxxvii 118 The impression that by appealing to the benevolence of individuals the impropriations of church livings might be purchased and put in trust for the use of the parishioners, is thus might appear

c An impropriated benefice a living, tithes etc, held by a religious house or (in later use) by a layman or lay corporation

1578 in Yeal Rut Durh 1272, 1 167 Besides the major portions on our shoar, 1580 COOPER Admon 75 Ile allowes whereby Impropriations and Patronages stande in mans handes possessed and bought 1605 I KING Trans Hist Jacob 38 The pretences was heretofore granted to the Monkes in pios usus from whence they have their name of Impropriations a 1661 FULLER Worthies 1184 VII Impropriation that is Tithes unjustly and Wilton restored to the Church 1761-2 HUME Hist Eng 1806 IV In 1605 certain Scabs had erected themselves into a sect for buying of impropriations and tithes and selling them to the church 1778 Eng Gentleman (ed 2) 200 Northbrook, A free grammar school, endowed with the impropriation of Holdworth, worth 80 or 90 l per ann 1861 PETTIGREW Eng Parish I 12 It required that impropriations annexed to bishoprics and colleges be converted into regular pastoral livings.

†2 gen The action of making proper or peculiar to some person or thing; appropriation, in quot 1614 'exclusive possession' (Todd) Obs

1614 JOB Rites of Sir Bounty (1914) 5 All The conclusions of all, are but to one end, to the impropriation of human knowledge. 1654 WHITLOCK Zootomia 160 The Impropriation of some rich Beauty thy Despair 1708 SIR I BROWNE Letter to Dr Grew (1712) 38 When either in man I true stature, or the grand Impropriation of Things reduced my to Worm, they bend themselves out to Flour

†3 by something appropriated to a private owner, a property Obs

1651 HOBBES Govt & Soc I 13 Did Wild Nature direct land forth in common, men did diverse and distribute into several Impropriations 1654 GAULE Pr mo 7, I will never be upon Impropriation

3 The action of taking in the 'proper' or literal sense nonce use

1845 CARLYLE Lett Repl (1892) I 247 The impropriation of the metaphor—that is, the taking it literally

Impropriator improprĭā'tər [agent in n 1 form, from med or mod L impropriāre as IMPROPRIATE v 2]

1 One to whom a benefice is impropriated, esp = lay impropriator, a layman in possession of a living or its revenues

1622 J SMITH Pref Examen 7 The irreligious Impropriators, who pay upon Church and State 1635 PAGITT Christianogr 259 The example of the Kings, Colledges, Bishops, Deans and Chapters (such impropriators no allow since it at 1695 KENNET Eccl Inday IX 80 Upon this pretence depended the custom of the Rector or Impropriator maintaining the Chancel 1704 GODWIN Cal H Williams IX 43 Mr Tyrrel, by the tenure of his manor, was impropriator of the great tithes 1868 MILMAN St Paul's XI 273 A large portion of the tithes had been alienated to the Crown or to lay impropriators

†2 gen One to whom anything is appropriated, a proprietor, owner, one who appropriates or arrogates something to himself Obs rare

1631 BRATHWAIT Eng Gentlew (1641) 81 Art not thou a Robber, who hast received goods as a steward or dispenser, and entitled thy self the impropriator or owner? 1660 L MARTIN Hist Optatus (1907) 23, I should condemn any man for a most unconscionable Incloser and Impropriator, that should take upon himself to give another leave to speak, or write this or the like, which is as common for every one as the Air which we breathe

Impropriatrix improprĭā'triks [fem of n 1 form of prec see -TRIX] A female impropriator, a woman who holds a benefice

1774 Gordon Tailor 4 1 5 She said Jane Cooke, Impropriatrix of the said rectory 1801 H GWILLIM Coll Rep Tithes 1800 Upon a second trial a verdict was found for the impropriatrix

†Impropri etary. Obs rare [A modification of the earlier APPROPRIETARY, conformed in the prefix to IMPROPRIATE, ATOR, etc] = IMPROPRIATOR 1

1637 HEARNE Hist St Ambrose Ep ded, Your endevours to induce some impropriataries to an enlargement of my poore maintenance

Impropriety (improprĭə'ti) [ad F impropriété (Alvin, 1560), or its source L impropriētas, f impropri-us IMPROPER a cf PROPRIETY]

1 The quality of being improper a Want of accordance with the nature of the thing, or with reason or rule, incorrectness, erroneousness, inaccuracy

1611 FLORIO, Improprieta, improprietie 1618 DRAYTON Poly xth n, The plaine truth (as wordes may certifie your eyes, saying all impropriety of object) is that in the Poole are resident nine Isles 1643 J BROWNE Pseud Ep III iv 114 Then which words there can be none plainer, nor more evidently do convict the improprietie of this appellation 1776 ADAM SMITH W N (1869) II 30 The following observations may serve to show the impropriety of this representation 1843 MILL Logic I II § 4 We may there see, without impropriety, that the quality forms part of its signification

b Want of accordance with the purpose in view, unsuitableness, unfitness, improprietiness

1697 J DUNTON Dyed Lect (1832) 87 Nothing appeared near so of the college of physicians to shew the impropriety of the medicine 1778 C J PHIPPS Voy N Pole 212 The impropriety of the common process 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) I 424 The impropriety of holding a public discussion with such men

c Want of accordance with good manners or decorum, unbecomingness, unseemliness, indecency, morally improper conduct

1751 JOHNSON Rambler No 174 P 13, I was convinced of the impropriety of my conduct 1848 SCOTT P M Perth iv The license and impropriety of the manners of Rothsay's conduct was the more reprehensible in the public view, that he was a married person 1884 Law Times Rep LI 247, 2 The defendants obtained the property by misconduct, fraud, and improprietv

2 with an and pl An instance of improper language, conduct etc, a breach of propriety

a 1674 CLARENDON Hist Reb XIII 8 60 Her had made themselves merry with some improprieties in the French 1685 STILLINGFL Orig Sacr 283 We are not bound to follow my modern Writers in these Improprieties 1755 JOHNSON Dict Pref P 6 Every language has likewise its improprieties and absurdities, which it is the duty of the lexicographer to correct or prescribe 1831 CARLYLE in Fraser's Mag (1866) II 229 How often do we find a conduct defined by many a cunning impropriety' 1888 J INGLIS Land Life Scotland 185 Guilty of some terrible impropriety

[Impropriety a, in Shrope by a misreading of improprietate, app after property]

1721 SHELV Law Dict III xxxiv 268 Richard Perkes, parson of Benthes, impropriety of Bentley 1831 CARLYLE in Fraser's Mag (1866) II 229 How often do we find a conduct defined by many a cunning impropriety' 1888 J INGLIS Land Life Scotland 185 Guilty of some terrible impropriety

[Improprietary, a Shrope by a misreading of improprietate, app after property]

1721 SHELV Law Dict III xxxiv 268 Richard Perkes, parson of Benthes, impropriety of Bentley 1831 CARLYLE in Fraser's Mag (1866) II 229 How often do we find a conduct defined by many a cunning impropriety' 1888 J INGLIS Land Life Scotland 185 Guilty of some terrible impropriety

†Impropri ty, n Shrope by a misreading of improprietate, app after property]

1721 SHELV Law Dict III xxxiv 268 Richard Perkes, parson of Benthes, impropriety of Bentley 1831 CARLYLE in Fraser's Mag (1866) II 229 How often do we find a conduct defined by many a cunning impropriety' 1888 J INGLIS Land Life Scotland 185 Guilty of some terrible impropriety

†Impropri ty, *v

The prosperity or improsperity of a man does not much depend upon his own prudence or imprudence

†Impro sperous, a Obs [L improsperus unfortunate (? im- (IM -) + prosper favourable, prosperous) + -OUS]

1 Not prosperous or thriving, unfortunate, unlucky, unsuccessful (of persons, undertakings, etc.)

1602 WARNER Alb. Eng. VI. lxxiv. Ah falsed Matches, finished in the wrong of Others, might, By improsperous Presidents, deterre from wronging Right. 1634 W. TOWNSEND Badnes of Fortune (ed. 2) 108 That he no longer imploy those improsperous persons 1727 BRADLEY Fam. Dict. s. v. Pomona, The improsperous Condition of good land and Plant-rooms 1829 J. PLACOR Herbert Lisbon viii 109 The household of Pilphin was sufficiently improsperous during the absence of its chief

2 Of fortune, etc. Adverse to prosperity, unpropitious 1598 GRENEWEY Tacitus, Ann. (1603) 70 As fortune was favourable to Augustus in government of state so on home solid matters unlucke and improsperous. 1603 SIR C. HEYDON Jud. Astrol. II. 101 The action of the starres be unlucke and improsperous. a 1656 HALES Gold. Rem. (1673) 62 Bring upon them some improsperous Disease.

Hence †Impro sperously adv.; †Impro sperousness

1504 DRAYTON Matilda 598 Thus like a rose The weather-ing leaves impros perously doth case. 1647 HAMMOND Love of Acts iii 39 The improsperousnesse of the cause of late in this kingdome hath imved some of them 1658 Holl. Duty Man xx § 9. 58 The strange improsperousness of ill gotten estates a 1691 BOYLE (J.), This experiment has been but very improsperously attempted

Improvability (improvăbi·liti) Also -improveability [f. IMPROVABLE + -ITY] = IMPROVABLE-NESS

1791 NEWTE Tour Eng. & Scot 180 Since Great Britain has not yet come near to the ultimatum of its improvability 1813 J. JEFFERSON Hist. Medicine 194 One of the questions was on the improvability of the human mind 1874 CARLETON Water Lilys (1879) 205 The extraordinary improvability of the Peruvian faculty †Improvable, a[1] Obs. rare Also improveable [f. IMPROVE v.[1] + -ABLE] Capable of being disproved or refuted, to be censured or condemned

1604 N. D. 3rd Pt. Hero Conceit Bks. 411 They were ashamed to bring forth so improueable a testimony 1623 WARNER True Imatons 17 His Brain hath brought forth these improuable Mockatoes into the World

Improvable (impro·văbl), a[2] Also -improveable [f. IMPROVE v.[2] + -ABLE.] Capable of being improved, susceptible of improvement

1 Capable of being turned to profit or account, that may be taken advantage of, or used profitably; serviceable. Now rare

1646 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud. Ep. VII. iii. 328 The assayes of wicker heads affords other estimate improveable many times better 1665 BOYLE Occas. Reflt. V. v. (1848) 314, I think it a less improvable Heritage, to be able to coyn any Metal into money, or call it in all places 1692 W. SHERLOCK Past Judgem. 316 Every thing that is improveable to the service and glory of God, is a talent 1734 NORTH Lives. (1826) II. 8 Finding this project of a portable post-van not so well, and appears only improvable 1799 SOUTHEY Lett. (1856) I. 74 When I go over the houses I shall see how improveable they are

2. Of land (orig. a specific use of 1, passing into sense 3) Capable of being profitably cultivated, adapted for cultivation, capable of being made better or more productive by cultivation

1659 Gentl. Calling 1856 (J.) Though a rude yet still such an improvable Soil, as will encourage and reward his Husbandry 1677 W. HUBAND Narrat. (1865) II. 72 All the Land improvable for salt-works, being alike high, 1701 Lond. Gaz. No. 3704/4 The Premisses (which are very Improvable by Limestone on the Place) 1712 ADDISON Spect. No. 599 ¶ 2, I have got a fine spot of improveable lands 1799 ROBERTSON Agric. Perth 245 After all, improveable is an indefinite term, and the last generation thought many spots unworthy of culture which we now see converted into good arable land 1813 G. EDWARDS West. Inst. Pol. 25 The improveable land of the whole Kingdom

3 Capable of being made better, that may be brought into a higher or more desirable condition

1677 HALE Prim. Or. & Man. I. ii. 68 With Moral principles inherent in his Nature, and improvable by the exercise of his Faculties. 1712 W. ROBINS (J.) App. 56 Maps and Sea Draughts are always improvable a 1716 SOUTH Serm. (1717) IV. 81 Here is indeed something improvable into a bright and a noble Perfection 1870 BLACK Adv. Phaeton xxvi. 284 I should not offer you the advice if I did not think you were improvable Hence Impro vably a, in a manner that admits of improvement.

1755 in JOHNSON 1818 in TODD, and in mod. Dicts.

Improvableness (impro·văblnes) [f. prec. + -NESS] The quality of being improvable; capacity or susceptibility of improvement 1652 BAXTER Infid. The English Improver Improved discovering the Improveableness of all Lands 1660 HAMMOND Works I. 479 (R.) The Romish doctrines of the improvableness of attrition into contrition, by the priest's and 1838 MORLEY Diderot I. 8 Active faith in the improvableness of institutions.

Improvatory, a nonce-wd [irreg f IMPROVE v.[2], after confirmatory, etc.] Of improving nature or tendency 1835 New Monthly Mag XLV. 298 Three or four hundred letters hortatory, dehortatory, expostulatory, improvatory, and exclamatory!

†Improve, v.[1] Obs Also (6 emprove), 6–7 improve [a. OF emprover, F emprouver (Oresme, 14th c.), ad. I improbare to condemn, reject, disapprove f. improbus bad + probare to make good, f. probus good]

1 trans To prove to be wrong, to disprove, refute, confute (a statement, etc., or a person)

1526 TINDALE Acts xxiv. 13 Nor can he improue and prove the sid thinge opinion 1531 TINDALE Dial. Wks. 1573/2 Yes how we haue manifestly improued the 32 artes in an hundreth textes 1554 BRADFORD Serm. etc. (Parker Soc.) 91 Thus which I have here brought forth to improve it in idolatrie 1581 J. BELL Haddons Answ. Osor. 87 Whose doctrine when hee could by no meanes improue, he rushed upon him like a lyon, sycophantes with slaunders and iniuries 1606 tr. Tilen Disc. Ath. 168 B., 19 Thus wisely and well in this place improues the error of the man 1620 SPRAGUE Disc. Antichr. 330 A false Antome is improved two wayes

2 To disapprove as bad; to disallow, to reprove, reject, find fault with, censure, condemn 1526 TINDALE 2 Tim. iii. 16 All scripture geven by inspiracion of god is profitable to teache, to improve, to informe 1546 BALE Pron. Votaries I. B. they haue improued that doctrine, and taught the contrarye 1551 ROBINSON tr. More's Utop. (Arb.) 51 When they had improued and disalowed many sundries 1560 ABP. PARKER Corr. Parker Soc.) 11 We haue not yet learned to allow such persons as will not improue our doings 1615 BEDWELL Moham. Impt. 18 Yea, this the Astronomers do name, yea all Philosophers do improue this opinion 1624 Cath. Apology 111 Part 1. Which subjects doe improue wicked decrees

Improve (impru·v), v.[2] Forms 5–6 emprow-e, improwe, emprow, emprou, 6–7 emprove, improue, (6 empruove, 7 improoue, 8–9 pa. pple. improven). [f. IMPROW, IMPROVE (in 16th c. em-, empro've, a APF en-, empro'wer en-prouver, empro'ver (1292 in Britton), a parallel form with prep. en instead of a) of aprower, in med. Anglo-L approvare, approare, [1 OF. en into + pro, prou, preu, oblique case of prou profit, advantage: see ALTHOU v.[2]

This English name is descendant of the OF. verb would be emprover improver (cf allowe as in 16th c. but, as in ALTHOU v.[2], through confusion of a and en in Anglo-French words in which pro stood for prov-, improver improve, has passed into improve.]

1 refl. To improve (improve oneself of) to make one's profit (of), to avail oneself (of) by using to one's profit Obs

Especially of the lord's making and bringing into cultivation of waste land: cf ASSART v., and for the constr. Lath. Intel. 'To approve, approuer, soy mettre à profit'; Cotgr., etc. lords approve or improve themselves of wastes 1523 LITTLETON Tenures § 165 To be inquered what of those wastes the lorde may approue to his profite and how many acres Ibid. If the lorde graunt a man common with his cattell within certayne meres. A bounder the lorde shall not approue nor improue any thing in the ground by bounder. 1555 EDEN Hist. Camb. 6 The Townsmen immediately improving themselves on the Scholar mens wives estates and unreasonable rents from them

2 trans To turn (a thing) to profit or good account, to employ to advantage, to make profitable use of, take advantage of, avail oneself of, utilize, to make use of, use, employ a To lay out, invest, or employ money to profit, to put out to interest Obs

1390 LANGLAND P. Pl. Crede 1 I tolde pe pi first pat pi marriage sat restore is annis et as parcely is femme pat emprouer sil ses be. Same (let all the profit be to me) 1470 HARDING Chron. cxxxvi. 1 Many frends to improue the profit of the wonthil 1546 Lancs. Wills (Camden) 19 Item I gyve vnto Frances Browne, my grandchilde fifty pounds to be payd vnto her father when she is maryed, to be improued by him for her vse, and to be paid to her at her age of sixteene yeares 1598 Wadc Duty Executor § 7. 140 To put his money in some such land, where he may be sure it will be ever in store if at his need 1680 BUTLER Rem. (1759) I. 228 Which I dare but seem to put up in Untruths, and how he would have Husbands to improve and lay out 1850 Trial Mr. Ridley 168, I will improve the money I have obtained, in some way of merchandize

†b To let out land to profit, to lease and cultivate (waste land), hence to make land more valuable or better by such means, and so, in later use, merged in sense 5. (Cf also sense 3.) Obs

The ancient sense or something akin to it, was retained in 19th-c. use in the American colonies.

1502 BARTON in N. & Q. Village est tenement de dimenes de chescun seignur, balle a tenir an volunté par vilens services de temporalte et des a seignur le Roy solang et a lords demesne lands. to emprove to the profit of the lord] 1632 Mass. Col. Rec. (1861) I. 94 If the said John Sibsbey shall improue the said island to her best, and not improue the same, then this present demise to be voyd. 1642 Mass. Colony Laws 21 § 7 (Pickering) Where lands lye in common and are not improued, or will not improue his land by fencing in several, and another shall not, he who will so improue shall secure his lands against other men's cattle 1653 Early Rec. Lancaster, Mass. (1884) 7 The Plantation or Selled men shall determine the time, how long every man shall hold and Improue the said Lands for the profit thereof 1664 Atkins's Case in Year Books (1735) VII. 574/2 All this piece of ground, of twenty acres, is built upon and improved 1687 PETTY Pol. Arith. (1690) 56 Langer and Bumbas have been improved from a Desart condition to abound with People 1700 EVELYN Diary 13 July, The land was thus improved for pleasure and retirement by the vast charge and industry of this opulent citizen 1740 W. DOUGLASS Disc. Coin. Brit. Plant. Amer. 21 A good Farmer improves his Lands not by working them in out of Heart but by manuring them, that they may yield the better Crop

c To make profit (by or advantageous use of employ to advantage: to avail oneself of, utilize use, employ as an instrument or means (a thing, also in American use, a person) as an agent) Obs or dial a 1599 SPENSER Virg. Gnat 179 His (Character's) malice is detestable His Engish well showed So is it by ensample proued For is it not employed There is no Englysh hound 1639 DUTTON Holl's Hawking 20 Now the Falconers standing on the plaine ground, were thereby enabled to improue and inforce them fast to the lure 1650 CROMWELL Lett. Scotsmen 28 Oct. in Carlyle Improving the Covenant against the Godly and Saints in England 1677 W. HUBAND Narrative (1865) II. 25 Near some River which supplies an impossibility improved for the driving of Saw mills Ibid. 201 Such of the Women as were gifted in knitting and sewing, were improved to make Hats, Caps and Stockings 1694 in Wills & Clark Compilation (1896) II. 460 Materials that may be usefull for y College, to be improved for that use or to be sold 1704 in H. Clark Hist. Alban. (1869) II. 147 All the Forces that shall be improved in the Service in the Island of Cape Bay 1720 CELIA FIENNES Diary (1888) 150 Lately Colonel Hunt is Governor, and improves it very much 1724 in Early Rec. Gloucester Mass. (1894) I. 169 Ordered to Improve the men constantly to the most advantage 1728 Early Rec. Providence VI. 172 The witness is improved in the former trust were admitted

d (In American use.) To make use of or occupy a place

1677 W. HUBAND Narrative (1865) II. 71 Other Places adjoyning, were soon after seized, and improved for Trading and Fishing 1782 Rhode Island Colonial Rec. (1864) IX. 511 That Josiah Bridge, have the liberty of improving the cellars under the State house in Providence, as occasion for the public stores 1803 M. CUTLER in Life, Journ. & Corr. (1888) II. 9 We found that the old settlement seemed to be improved as a fever room, a large company 1828 WEBSTER, Improve 6 To lease, to occupy to call rate 'The house or farm is now improved by an industrious tenant.' This application is perhaps peculiar to some parts of the United States 1863 HAWTHORNE Old Home (1883) I. 96 It has come to have uses in these latter days, being improved, in Yankee phrase, as a brewery and washhouse

c To make good use of, turn to good account (an action, occurrence, event, season, time, now usually with occasion opportunity, or the like

1530 PALSGR. 611/2 Improve, I make good use of 1539 BIBLE tr. Matt. xxv. 16 [We] made so diligent enquirye and serche, that with vigilante labour, we muche improvede the same 1617 MORYSON Itin. II. 234 So he did not improve our time but within two dues we made this Fort gardable 1677 W. HUBAND Narrative (1865) I. 145 An Opportunity was let slip, and not improved. Ibid. 146 Their Labour well improved, and followed with good success 1780 WHITE Divine Songs xx, How doth the little busy bee Improve each shining hour 1798 ROSCOE Lorenzo (1811) VIII. 267 Then for improving a hint, thou wert always a true Englishman 1774 J. WARTON Essay Lett. (1870) 17 The reader will hope it has been carefully improved to get in my hay 1844 LINGARD Anglo-Sax. Ch. (1858) I. 28 He improved the opportunity 1869 FREEMAN Norm. Conq. III. 159 His next thought was how to improve the occasion 1878 BOSW. SMITH Carthage 57 The Roman army improved the victory of their fleet by at once marching to Tagus

f To turn to account for spiritual profit or edification, esp to preach or speak on, with a view to edification, now chiefly in to improve the occasion which is felt as a contextual use of 6c]

1624 SANDERSON Lect. Serm. (1637) 267, I should also have desired to have been improved in my Text. little further by a fourth Inference 1650 W. BROOKE Sacr. Trans. 26, 29 I teach me to improve my poverty. 1676 I. MATHER A Disbelief of Wars 182 As the News of this Victory came to us in the midst of the Sermon, the Scripture then improved being that Luke 21. 24 1677 W. HUBAND Narrative (1865) II. 249 Such Events should rather be improved to our own Instruction than the condemning of others. 1705 STANHOPE Paraphr. I. Pref. 12 The Disposition, and improving the Parts and Sentences of Scripture 1816 SCOTT Old Mort. viii. To improve the providential success which they had obtained by a good use of it 1823 SOUTHEY Bank. Lives (1826) I. 257, I thought it my duty to address them, with the particular view of improving the serious impression evidently made upon them by the awful death 1857 LONGFELLOW Goethe's Faust I. 17 Improve the occasion for improving the occasion is the Nonconformists's motto. it

†3 To enhance in monetary value, to raise the price of amount of Obs

As valid funds and rents, app connected with enhancing but that was empowered or inclosed and cultivated being enhanced in value or in rent

1548 Hall's Chron. Mv. 238, 31 Noble men and gentlemen that thus it enpowered nor enhanced their rentes Ibid. If a Noble and gentlemen which had not improved nor enhanced their rentes 1616 BULLOKAR, Improue, to raise its price. 1617 MORYSON Itin. II. 265 They improve their custom dues to a treble price Ibid. II. 148 At this price all was built so fast, that Gentlemen to improve their revenues, as many of these grounds are by them disposed and enhanced to treble Cattell 1626 in Cal. S. Papers Dom. I. 248 I. 14 It will soon obtain credit by the altering of this exchange, improve upon a bullion, enhance the price of all things 1750 Highlands of Scotland in 17 o 1098 40 They have screwed their Rents to an extravagant Height which they virtually term improving their Estates

†4 To make greater in amount or degree, to increase, augment, magnify, enlarge, intensify; to advance Obs (Now merged in 5.)

1509 HAWES Past. Pleas. (Percy Soc.) 124 Such a one is thou For thou thy selfe doost so much enprou Above the h[e]avens by exaltation 1676 Lister in Ray's Corr (1848) 225, I have much improved my Catalogue of Snails, having added five species thereto. 1685 Wood tr. Pufendorf's Present of Honour 8 You have advanced to wonder their renown, And no less virtuously improv'd your own 1690 Child Prin. Trade (1694) 8 Some more particulars might be added, and those afore-said further improved 1737 Philip Quarll (1816) 56 He found seven peas, and thinking they might be improved to a quantity large enough to serve for a meal, he laid them by 1772 Goldsm. Hist. Eng. I 501 His sum only served to improve their desire for fresh exactions

+ b To increase or augment (what is evil; to aggravate, make worse. Obs

1615 Hieron Works I 615 His tyranny began to be improued, and the burdens were heauier then before. 1628 tr. Camden's Hist. Eliz. (1629) II 380 Defect of health and strength, which the indisposition of the aire, being a filthy, windy, and rainy day, much improuoked 1647 Cowley Mistress, Incurable 10 Love, whose onely Medicines the Disease improve. Where where they work not well 1718 Penn Maxims Wks. 1726 I 834 Does Men improve their own Miseries for want of an Equal and just Measure of Liberty to enjoy or love 1800 Br. Portteus Lett. Matt. viii (1802) I 138 We all have by our own personal and voluntary transgressions, not a little improved the wretched inheritance we received from our ancestors

5 To advance or raise to a better quality or condition, to bring into a more profitable or desirable state, to increase the value or excellence of, to make better, to heighten, to refine. Now the prevailing modern sense, in which 2 b is now merged

1617 Moryson Itin. II 2 19 To himselfe, whose endeauours in that Kingdome had much improued her opinion of him 1698 Fryer Acc. E. India & P. 282 The Mugs, which they have improved in all its kinds to the utmost Perfection 1706 Phillips, To Impower, to better or improve or advance, to bring to greater Perfection 1707 Curios. Husbandry Scot. 267 The Reeds Haimes, Shuttles, and Temples, lately given to the Weavers have improved the Cloth in its Goodness much more 1760 Jortin's Serm. Dis. Wom (1767) II xiii 34 [She] had from her youth improved herself by reading 1805 Foss's Beauties's ed. (1806) III 134 A large natural cave, which has been greatly improved by art. 1862 Sir B. Brodie Psychol. Inq. II ii 50 The habit of attention may be improved by exercise 1888 Ingelow Lent Lily, England 284 The tall cocks would have had not improved his appearance and he looked bad enough

6 With into a. (in sense 2). To make into or represent as, for the sake of turning to account, + b (in sense 4). To turn into or represent as something greater, to magnify into (obs.), c (in sense 5). To convert into something better 1647 Clarendon Hist. Reb. iv § 38 Taking all opportunities to hurt them, to improve Mistakes into Crimes. 1687 T. Brown Saints in a Uproar Wks. 1730 I 32 Improve this mole hil into a mountain 1700—tr. Fresny's Innocent Sin 6 Sometimes, that a Wife's Vertuous Woman will improve a Dull Heavy Country Booby, into a Man of Sence 1688 Soutr Serm. (1727) V iv 391 Did God vouch safe such transcendent Blessings only to be improved into the Load and Fewel of Intemperance? 1746 Wesley Prim. Methodist 66 This very Thing, you improve into a fresh Objection 1758 Johnson Idler No. 41 II 11 It might have been the interest of Aymatas, to improve this accident of the birth of his son into a pledge of future happiness 1818 Jas. Mill Brit. India II iv 161 Preparations for improving the blockade into more expeditious methods of reduction 1846 J. W. Croker in C. Papers (1884) III xxv 59 [to Potatoe] failure to improve us into the Methodists, was improved into an unanswerable excuse for the measure [Corn Law repeal] [Cf. sense 1 f]

7 With away or a phr. of similar meaning To remove, get rid of, lose, spend, or cause to disappear, by making improvements

1780 Cran Mirror No 65 P 5 My crops never paid for the expense of raising them: and I found that I had improved away every shilling of my fortune 1887 Jessopp Arcady viii 229 All the pasture-land gone—improved off the face of the earth 1887 J. Bell Nat. in Smoke 13 It is a question whether, like most native trees . . they will ultimately be improved out of existence

8 absol To make improvements. To improve on or upon to make or produce something better or more perfect than, to advance beyond See Improvement 6 b

1693 Bentley Phal. 272 By long use and experience he might improve upon his own Invention 1748 J. Gibbon's Compos. Instincts 362 Longinus here seems to have improved on the orator 1772 Junius Lett. lxvii. 340 The son has regularly improved upon the vices of his father 1802 Mitford Hist. Greece (1805) VI xlvii 64 note, It was not beyond their means to improve on this political architecture 1867 H. Macmillan Fifth Reader xiii (1870) 253 We cannot improve upon nature Mod. A tenant who improves ought to have the value of his improvements secured to him

+ 9 intr. To increase, augment, become greater, advance, develop Obs (exc. as merged in 10)

1650 Greenhill Ezek. 77 Iniquity improves in the going 1681 Allestree Serm. (1684) I 290 (T.) That fool ever long improves into a wit 1697 Collier Ess. Vitue iii (1709) 59 Admiration improves into Love. 1748 Anson's Voy. II viii 251 The relish improving upon them by degrees 1778 Johnson Lett. to H. Lamb 3 June, The lameness has improved to a very serious and troublesome fit of the gout 1809 W. Irving Knickb. I iii (1849) 48 Intimacy improves with time

10 intr. To increase in value or excellence, to advance or rise to a more excellent condition, to become better

1727 Swift To a Young Lady, It is a shame for an english lady not to tell such decorums, not to improve by them 1737 [S. Berington] G. de Limoges Hist. 171 A Wine mellowing and improving as it is kept 1748 Anson's Voy. II i 111 His diversified landskip still improved upon us 1800 Monthly Mag. IX 246 Jane Austen Prid. & Prej. xii 235 But afterwards she seemed to improve on you 1805 Pike Sources Mississ. App (1810) 6 Their situation improves by a communication with the whites 1834 Medwin Angler in Wales I 49 The scenery improves, and becomes wilder in its character 1866 Carlyle Young Idole 174 In the best of all possible conditions to improve by that book. 1885 Manch. Exam. 14 May 5/3 Our trade in the south is improved

+ Improve, v.[1] Obs [A variant of approve. Apparently with change of prefix pro- in- influenced by the corresp. change in Improver n.[2]]

1 trans. To prove, establish, demonstrate, show to be true or real

Improved in Hearne's R. Glouc. p 466, is an error for approved of Rolls ed. (1724)

1613 in Cal. State Papers Jas. I (1849) I 446 I will hope to improve my industry and diligence such as you shall find it fault to complain that [etc.] 1633 In Hall Hard Texts, N. T. 137 Doe thou shew and improve this love of thine to me in this one point 1650 Bulwer Anthropomet. 183 These Amazons doe improve the tenderne ss of their Sexe, and determ, to improve themselves Virago's 1670 P. Russell Fatherm. Spurs 8 More I am persuaded that Mr Hooke in his Book intended to demonstration

b intr. To prove or turn out to be true

1612 Davies Why Ireland etc 95 Meanes for some great action, which (if less ill used, would) rather have improved (as I doe hope) to a journy into Fraunce then into Ireland

2 trans. To approve, sanction, countenance

1708 [Mather] Magn. Chr. VII 32 They that shall have too tenderly improved those Men, will be Partakers of their Sins.

Improved (imprūvd), ppl. a. [f. Improve v.[2] + -ed[1].]

1 Under cultivation, cultivated, cultured

1611 Speed Theatre x. Kentish Countrie in Dog The most improude yong souldiot of seuen Kingdoms 1644 in J. Merrill Hist. Amesbury, Mass (1880) 29 The improved land lately purchased of Mr. Thomas Macy 1736 Bp. Butler Analogy I iii 82 Two or three men of the best and most improved understanding 1775 J. Burgoyne Lord. A. Lines 78 The Lands in their natural state, are more improved than if art much the same as of Rhode Island 1818 Jas. Mill Brit. India I ii 3 At that time the most improved and commercial part of Europe

2 Turned to good account

1641 J. Smith Sarah & Hagar (1649) 109 What a fruitful harvest to be made of our well improved affections!

+ 3 More greater, increased, enhanced, aggravated Obs

1690 Locke Hum. Und. II xi § 1 The natural and unimproved Imperfections of Language

4 Made more serviceable, brought to a higher or more desirable condition

1773 Sheffield Guardian No. 2 P 1 He left behind him an improved patrimonial estate of six thousand pounds a year 1799 H. Hunter Sacr. Nat. Poet's Vind. Nat. Pref 2 This new and improved Translation 1800 Mrs. Hervey Mourning Bride I 22 In consequence of her improved circumstances 1817 J. Mason Self-Knowl. (1823) 163 Improved implements and methods 1849 K. V. Dixon Heart I 147 An improved air-pump of his own construction Improvement (imprūvmĕnt) Forms see Improve v.[2] [f. An empĕrement, empĕnement, f. empĕrer Improve v.[2] + -ment.]

+ 1 The turning of a thing to profit or good account, profitable management or use, making the most of a thing for one's own profit, realization of the profits of anything, conc. profit Obs in lit. sense

In early use, Anglo-Fr. and Eng., applied to the profitable cultivation of land by the owner, and to the collection of the proceeds of customs or imposts by the king's officers, as distinguished from the letting of land or taxes to a farmer, who managed them for his profit

[c 1300 Tarlokes 307 Of Burf 24 If car be pas est geste se ne soit ascun maint An tens de sa seignurie son enpruement a 1400 Lib. Custumæ II 175 (Rolls) 220 Quil nit une commune huche de la compaignie en la quele les tunemblances et les enpreuemens de la compaignie soient mis en sauve garde Ibid. 222 Sott le surplus mis en commune huche a lenpreuement de la compaignie 1404 Ibid. II ii 24 Come a nous appent lordeigne de la compaignie, de deuiser ne seroit mye a feme, a qe grant damage de nostre seur le Roy annuelment, ordeignez est qe le dit aumage purra estre mys a feme ou en enpreuement 1414 Rolls of Parl. III 608/1 (in aprovement), solonc ladveys de Tresorer Dengleterre pur le temps estant] 1453 Rolls of Parl. V 268/1 In the Statute of Winchester, for the Amendment of the fourth that the sumpse of Cloth withinne this Realme may be committed to ferme or in enpreuement, after the advys of the Tresorer of England for the tyme beyng. 1498 J. Paston in Paston Lett. No 811 III 217 Master Cotton shal desyre me to se th' enpreument of sych the profytes as ar apendant to the Erldom of Sussex, wych he gave hym in 1543 Fitzherb. Surveie The Duke of Surreyeing and Impruuements Ibid 9 Running waters . . shalbe let stored with fysshe, so of other profyttes, as to the lorde, whether they go by way of improvement or set to ferme wherof the bayly shall make accompte Ibid 10 And of myll-es there shall more be spoken of in the chapter of Impruuements and Improvementes.

+ b The profitable employment or investment of money, also (in religious use) of a 'talent' Obs

1655 Stanley Hist. Philos. III (1701) 75/1 His Father left him four score Marks which being entrusted with a Friend for Improvement they miscarried 1708 Chamb. Intl. Hist (1710) 255 One who had made such good emprovement of his small portion of grace

2. gen. + The turning of land to better account, the reclamation of waste or unoccupied land by inclosing and bringing it into cultivation (obs.), hence, in later use, cultivation and occupation of land, merged at length in sense 5, Betterment, amelioration

[1300 Tarlokes 302 Lete I (Rolls) 19 Le leu ou les avers furent pris est une Waste, a lenpruement du Wast spend a nous] 1540-50 Act 34 & 35 Hen. VI, c. 3 (title) An Acte concernige the improvement of Comons and Waste Grounde 1625 Bacon Ess. Anchors (Arb.) 535 The Improvement of the Ground, is the most Naturall Obtayning of Riches, But it is slow 1697 Yarranton Eng. Improv. 115 In these delight ful Countries, there is no waste Lands, but all under improvement 1767 A. Young Farmer's Lett. Lonpe 250 All improvement ceases to be such when more money is spent in it than the advantages will repay 1888 J. Smith Fent Life Yueland 301 The 'grants' were held under certain conditions of improvement clearly laid down and defined in the Waste Land Regulations

b concr. A piece of land improved or rendered more profitable by inclosure, cultivation, the erection of buildings, etc (Now associated with senses 5, 6) Obs exc. in U. S. dial.

1640 in Mass Hist. Coll. Rec. 1618-49 (1857) 43 If they remove, to sell nothing but improvements. 1666 Plymouth Col. Rec. (1855) IV 119 1773 Goldsm. Stoops to Conq. I i, My aunt's bell rings for our afternoon's walk round the improvements 1776 Lewis Lour Tour I 66 The gardens termed improvements in Ireland, and policies in Scotland are not extensive 1820 Audubon Amer. Game Birds 249 Bought for a trifle a small improvement, to wit some trees deadened 1827 J. Bradbury Trav. Amer. 291 To purchase from the Brickwood-man what he calls his improvement. The improvement consists in a log house, a peach, and perhaps an apple orchard, together with from ten to thirty or forty acres of land, inclosed, and partially cleared

+ c fig. Bodily or mental cultivation or culture, also an item of such personal culture, an accomplishment Obs exc as merged in 5, 6

[Spectator No 41 P 5, I am a mere Man of the Town, and have scarce any little Improvements that I have got from Plays 1716 South (J.), I look upon your city as the best place of improvement from the school we go to the university: but that the university for the gentleman 1734 tr. Rollin's Anc. Hist. VI ii 435 (1827) VI 231 The fifth is of soldiers whose only improvement is war 1738 Birch Milton M's Wks. 1738 I 3 A will is an arbitrary improvements, as in the perfecting of his school exercises

3 The making good use or turning to account of any person or thing (now obs or U. S. dial.), or of any event or season, profitable use or employment

1611 Chapman Iliad I 484 Yet to no purpose, no advantage pass Without thereof [Goddess's Patronage] his Agents or Successors 1697 Dampier Voy. I 227, I have not heard of any improvement made of this commodity by our Countrymen as yet 1818 Mod. His prompt improvement of the opportunity was admirable

b The turning of anything to good account for spiritual or moral edification, spec. the profitable spiritual application of a text or incident

1655 J. Cleiu Faithfull Steward 9 A sober use and faithfull improvement of these his mercies 1677 I. Mather Funeral Prayer (1684) 108 That is the special Improvement which should be made of Mercies 1748 R. L. Edgeworth Serm. at Mar. (1770) 519 A great part of the End of them is lost, without such an Improvement 1705 Stanhope Paraphr. II 18 The improvement I design to make of this passage 1818 Jas. Mill Brit. India II v 442 Such is the doctrine, the practical improvement is obvious 1842 R. M. Milnes in Mem. (1867) I 269 Seek a right improvement of this bereavement

+ c In more general sense. Use, practice Obs rare

1686 South Serm. (1737) V i 12 The Corruption of Men's Manners by the habitual Improvement of this vicious Prin ciple 1784 Edwards Freed. Will iv xi (1762) 115 The good or bad State of the moral World depends on the Improvement they make of their moral Agency

d In American use. Employment, occupation (Cf. Improve v.[2] 2 c, d) Obs

1793 S. Sewall Lett. to Belknap 141 Very few gray hairs are to be found in the Colony in civil or sacred improvement 1795 Ibid. 6 June 312, I have a good right to a third part of the sand reserved for the actual improvement of it 1796 in New-Eng. Hist. Reg. (1850) IV 21

+ 4 The action or process of enhancing, making or becoming greater or more complete, or an instance of this a Enhancement (of rent), b Increase, enlargement, growth, development, advancement c Intensification or aggravation of evil (See Improve v.[2] 3, 4, 4 b) Obs

1548 Mem. Innocence 28, If 117 These great fines for landes and improvement of rentes shall abate 1607 Hieron Wks. I 486 Thus the enlargement of Gods mercy, and the great improvement of our sinne 1617 Ibid. II 70 This was nothing but an addition to his vexation, and an improvement of his grefe 1648 Sir J. Berkenhead Assizes 141 And 149 The multiplication of Hares, which is by superfetation or an improvement of a second fruit before the first be excluded 1674 tr. Gabelle d'Angleterre 34 A further cause of the little improvement of Christianity, is the vastness of the Country 1727 Philip Quarll (1816) 59 He went to see the improvement of his peas and beans, which he found increased to admiration 1772 Priestley Inst. Relig. (1782) I 19 The earth itself is in a state of improvement 1788 V. Knox Winter Even. I iv 219 Not entirely intelligible to children under twelve or fourteen, unless in rare cases of premature improvement and sagacity

+ d quasi-concr. An advanced stage, developed form development (of something) Obs

1692 SMITH Sean (1697) II 60 Friendship is the Noblest and most Refined Improvement of Love a 1716 Ibid (1744) IX iv 105 A sin against this is the highest pitch, the utmost improvement, and the supplicium of provocation

†8 concr Increase, produce Obs

1705 STANHOPE Paraphr III 29 The greatest part of the Wealth and Improvement there consisted in Sheep 1729 DE FOE Cruson I xix, The improvements, or annual production, being distributed to charitable uses.

5 The action or process of making or becoming better, advance or increase in value or excellence, betterment, amelioration.

(Only gradually separable from the earlier senses of bene ficial cultivation (4), and advancement or development (4))

1647 CLARENDON Hist Reb I § 52 For the improvement of his Education, and giving an ornament to his hopefull Person 1668 J DAVIES tr Mandelslo's Trav 284 The quiet of the City, the welfare of its Inhabitants, and the improvement of Trade 1736 BUTLER Anal I v Wks 1874 I 98 This moral principle is capable of improvement, by proper discipline and exercise 1783 BLAIR Rhet I xi 19 Exercise is the chief source of improvement in all our faculties 1859 MILL Liberty 228 We are eager for improvement in politics, education, even in morals 1875 JOWETT Plato (ed 2) V 56 A good education tends to the improvement of body and mind

6 With an and pl a An act of making or becoming better, a process, change, or addition, by which the value or excellence of a thing is increased, that in which such addition consists or by which anything is made better

(In early use chiefly in reference to land, cf 2 and 2 b)

1697 DRYDEN Virg Georg I 122 Long Practice has a sure Improvement found, With kindled Fires to burn the barren Ground 1705 STANHOPE Paraphr II 168 Religion is the highest Improvement of Humanity and Good nature 1730 CHESTERF Lett (1792) I 1 281 You cannot imagine what alterations and improvements I expect to find every day, now that you are more than Octavius 1774 C J PHIPPS Voy N Pole 11 With the new steam pumps according to Captain Bentinck's improvements. 1776 ADAM SMITH Wl N I x (1869) I 111 Many improvements have been made by the ingenuity of the makers of the machines. 1798 MRS GLASSE Cookery xxi 330 It is a great improvement to add the juice of two Seville oranges. 1870 Echo 16 Feb, Mr Gladstone caused a general laugh by asking, "What is an improvement?" the definition he gave seemed to meet with general approval—that it shall add to the lasting value of the land, and must be suitable to the holding 1888 J INGLIS Tigerland 264 If the tan is occasionally rubbed into the pores of the skin it will be an improvement b With on or upon The production of something better or more perfect than (something previous), an advance upon, hence, the result of this, a thing that is better than (the former thing)

1712 ADDISON Spect No 273 P 4 (ed 2) The Parts of Simon, Camilla, and some few others, which are fine Improvements on the Greek Poet 1782 PRIESTLEY Corrupt Chr I iii 201 An improvement was made upon this doctrine 1898 SWINBURNE Jerat Dun Pc viii 7 We few Persons are no great improvement upon the wits 1866 News agents Chron 3 Oct 3/3 The Magazine for October is a decided improvement on its predecessors

Improven, obs (erron) Sc pa pple of IMPROVE v 2

Improven, -in, pa pple of IMPREEVE v

Improver[1] (impru·vəɹ) [f IMPROVE v 2 + -ER[1]] One who or that which improves

†1 One who turns something to good account, or makes profitable use of it in quot 1647, one who cultivates or practises Obs

1647 CLARENDON Hist R I § 122 The greatest improvers of that Breeding, and those Qualifications with which Courts used to be adorned 1654 WHITLOCK Zootomia 434 The ablest Improvers of time and parts 1824 STELLFOX Orig Sacr III x § 18 This great improver and discoverer of the Mechanicall power of matter

2 One who makes better, a person that increases the value or excellence of a thing, or brings it into a more desirable state In early use, One who advances, develops, or makes more perfect (a branch of knowledge, etc)

a 1661 FULLER Worthies XII (1662) 41 Eminent Improvers of any art may be allowed for the Co inventers thereof 1713 Guardian No 149 P 28, I would counsel all our improvers of fashion always to take the hint from France 1809 G CHALMERS Caledonia I II 370 The monks were the improvers of themselves, and the instructers of others, in the most useful arts 1842 MRS BROWNING Grk Chr Poets (1863) 129 An improver of the language 1886–9 in Schaff Encycl Relig Knowl 2132 An improver of other men's verses.

b spec One who applies himself to making land more productive or profitable (Cf IMPROVABLE 2, IMPROVEMENT 2) Now merged in 2 1649 BLITHE Improv (title) Improver, or a new Survey of Husbandry 1765 A DICKSON Treat Agric II (ed 2) 274 May I be allowed to say, without giving offence to Improvers (etc.)? 1846 MCCULLOCH Acc Brit Empire (1854) I 585 In 1723, a Society of Improvers was established at Edinburgh 1883 Contemp Rev Dec 861 Many landlords are great improvers. Many spend annually a third or half of their rent in improvements.

2 A thing that improves or makes better spec Short for dress improver see DRESS sb 4

1669 STRLLINGFL. Serm IX (1673) 167 Cold and nakedness, stripes and imprisonments, racks and torments? Are these the improvers of an excellent constitution? 1669 WORLIDGE Syst Agric v § 2 61 [Chalk] after it is burned into Lime, becomes a very excellent Improver of Lands 1777 LICHFOOT Flora Scot II 658 Fern cut while green, and left to rot upon the ground, is a good improver of land 1884 Pall Mall G 6 Sept 7/2 She was searched, and after improver was found to be so arranged as to hold 6 lb of smuggled tobacco 1889 Daily News 22 June 5/2 The hideous "improver," which is one of the idiots upon the picturesqueness of modern costume

3 A person who works at a trade under an employer for the purpose of improving his or her knowledge or skill, and accepts the opportunity of such improvement wholly or in part instead of wages

1858 SIMMONDS Dict Trade, Improver, a learner 1883 Daily Tel 28 Dec 3/6 (title) Milliners' Seamstresses and improvers 1884 Bham Daily Post 24 Jan 3/5 (title) Telegraph Clerks—Wanted, Young Lady as Improver 1895 Westm Gaz 18 Sept 3/1 His favourite plan is to take a situation as 'improver' to a working jeweller in a small way of business

†4 = APPROVER[2] Obs rare

1670 BROME Late Dut IV Appro'a, You may see what kinde of Approvers or Improvers were formerly in the Marches of Wales, authorized by the Prince thereof

Hence Improveress, a female improver, Improvership, the position of an improver sense 3

1744 J PATERSON Comm Milton's P 305 Ceres was an inventress or improveress of husbandry 1884 Daily News 3 Sept 2/6 (Advert) To Printers—Improvership Wanted

†Improver[2] Obs rare[—0] [f IMPROVE v 1 + -ER[1]] One who disproves = confuter

1611 FLORIO Improuatore, an improuer

†Improvident, a Obs [f IM-[2] + PROVIDENT]

1 Unprepared, unprepared

1548 HALL Chron Hen VI 47 b, He was in jeopardye of his life, and all improuided for dread of death, coueted to saue his bodie 1620 BACON Hen VII (1629) 81 He was not to hope for any aide from Maximilian, for that he was altogether improuided

2 Unforeseen, unlooked for

1590 SHAKS Mids N v 1 311 To worke new woe and improvided death

Improvidence (impr υ vidĕns) [ad L improvidentia, f im- (IM-[2]) + providentia PROVIDENCE] = next; cf also obs F improvidence (16th c in Godef), It improvidenza]

The fact or quality of being improvident, want of providence or foresight, thriftlessness

1598 FLORIO Improuidenza, improuidence, rashness 1602 MARSTON Antonio's Revenge I Wks 1856 I 18 Loue is blind, and improuidence, And breake thy neck from steepe securitie a 1631 DONNE in Select (1840) 88 Malice in other men or improvidence in ourselves 1646 SIR T BROWNE Pseud Epid I North Worthies (1892) I 40 Improvidence or treachery had left our shores defenceless a 1862 BUCKLE Misc Wks (1872) I 247 The only pecuniary blame I have found common to all barbarous nations is improvidence—indifference to the future

Improvident (impr υ vidĕnt), a [f IM-[2] + PROVIDENT cf prec, and L improvidus not foreseeing, improvident]

1 Of persons, their actions, etc Unforeseeing that does not foresee or forecast the future

1514 BARCLAY Cyt & Ufpondfyfun (Percy Soc) 6 We finde young people be moche improvydent 1597 HOOKER Eccl Pol V lxxix, When men well have fed, the blood being warme, I then are they most improvident of harme 1657 R LEIGH Barefoot (1675) 31 I would not have you be so improvident, as not to foresee the main inconveniences that must ensue 1795 J AUCKLAND Corr (1862) III 306 The improvident, undignified, and unwise conduct of the German powers

2 = next consequence, heedless, unwary

1592 SHAKS 1 Hen VI III 1 58 Improuident Souldiors, had your Watch been good, This sudden Mischiefe neuer could haue falne 1625 J GRANVILLE Fam Cadiz (Camden) 58 I they cutt of some few of our improvident and straglinge men 1650 BULWER Anthropomet 162 Behold what the improvident curiosity of men hath thought on 1765 BLACKSTONE Comm I 50 There is imminent danger of his employing that strength in improvident or oppressive purposes 1849 GROTE Greece II lv (1862) V 10 Amphipolis had been once lost by the improvident watch of Thucydides and Eukles it was now again lost by the improvident concessions of Nikias.

3 That fails to provide for future needs thriftless

1624 CAPT SMITH Virginia IV 110 So improuident as not to put Corne in the ground for their bread, but trusted to the store 1788 PRIESTLEY Lect Hist v xxxiii Sp Govt numbers will be improvident, spending every thing they have in the most extravagant manner 1809 W COLLINS Penrod (1817) II 109 He who lives from hand to mouth, will most frequently become improvident 1873 H SPENCER Stud Social xv 366 The English people are complained of as improvident We few of them lay by in anticipation of times when work is slack

Hence Improvidentness (Bailey Vol II, 1727)

†Improvidential, a Obs rare = prec [IM-[2]]

1 Not providential, ungoverned by Providence a 1684 LEIGHTON Serm Wks (1868) 358 Though trouble be the general lot of mankind, yet it doth not come on him in an improvidential fashion

2 Improvident see next

†Improvidently, adv Obs [f prec + -LY-] = next

1797 HOLCROFT Stolberg's Tour (ed 2) III lxxxiii 330 Chesnuts, which the mother, not improvidently, had put in her pocket. 1819 CRABBE T of Hall 32 The younger had rather improvidentially but happily married

Improvidently, adv [f IMPROVIDENT a + -LY-]

1 In an improvident manner, without foresight, without providing for the future

1607 DONNE Lett (1651) 209, I went unprofitably and improvidently, to the utmost end of Truth 1688 BOYLE Final Causes Nat Things iv 203 It must be causally or improvidently framed or placed 1780 BURKE Sp Econ Reform Wks III 333 To commit all its business to the council from whence it is very improvidently taken 1888 ROGERS Pol Econ VIII 187§ 70 Agricultural labourers marry early and improvidently

2 In an unforeseen or unanticipated manner rare

1885 E F BENSON Entangled I x viii 139 Nature may treacherously and improvidently back water, and be dreaded to be landed incontinently in the stagnation of safety

†Improving, vbl sb [f IMPROVE v 1 + ING[1]] The action of IMPROVE v 1, disproving, refutation

c 1440 PROMPT Parv 251 Improuynge, or makynge nede, or vnrouste and ouertume tho thre trowynges before the improuyng of others c 1530 L Cox Art (1899) 49 Argumentes for the prouinge or improuinge of compounde themes 1574 WHITGIFT Def Answ I 20 You shoulde haue kept you to the improuing of this generall proposition 1611 FLORIO, Improuatione, an improuing

Improving (impru·vĭng), vbl sb [f IMPROVE v 2 + -ING[1]] The action of IMPROVE v 2, q v improvement

1602 FULBECKE 2nd Pt Parall 54 The improouing of ground from worse to better, is chiefely seene in Inclosing 1785 J PHILLIPS Treat Inland Nav 49 Were it for nothing else but the improving of land the expence would be amply repaid

b Improving lease (Sc Law) A lease granted to a tenant for a longer period than the usual one, with the object of encouraging him to make permanent improvements on the holding by ensuring to him a longer enjoyment of their benefits

1861 W WIPLE Decis Law Scot V 1 A lease of ordinary endurance is a lease for nineteen or twenty one years, and an improving lease is usually for thirty-eight or forty two years

Improving, ppl a [f as prec + ING[2]] That improves

1 That makes better, spec that improves the mind, understanding, or character, that makes agricultural improvements

1695 BOYLE Occas Reff Introd (1848) 24 The Sun, by his piercing and improving Operations, can not only make Diamonds sparkle, and Rubies flame, but (etc) 1736 BUTLER Anal II xi Wks 1874 I 240 Temptations render our state a more improving state of discipline, than it would be otherwise. 1792 MARIA RIDDELL Voy Madeira Died 6 After it has once undergone a few corrections from your improving hand 1881 Daily Chronicle 15 Sept 5/5 Should the improving farmer wish to leave for a finer opening in agriculture 1884 G ALLEN Philistia II 11 Read a few verses of some improving volume every night

2 Becoming better, advancing or increasing in excellence

1604 T PRAGUE Disc Parables viii 298 A soul so filled with grace as the improving soul will be 1791 WASHINGTON Lett Writ 1892 XII 49 The country appears to be in a very improving state 1891 Anthony Hobyer Bull IV 88 Improving powers of criticism

Hence Improvingly adv, in an improving manner, in the way of improvement

1844 Fraser's Mag XXVI 520 Were he to disturb, however improvingly, the earlier songs 1852 Hunters' Mag I XXI 461 How are we to amuse them?—Re-pectably of course, improvingly by all means

Improvisate (impro·vizĕt), v [f improvisate [f improvisare see IMPROVISE and -ATE[3]] = IMPROVISE v 2 trans

1832 J H NEWMAN Lett (1891) I 284, I was obliged to improvisate a padlock 1837 Tait's Mag IV 493 It was easy to improvisate a provision of toys and rapiers 1847 Fraser's Mag XVI 413 He had improvisated the verses

b intr To speak extempore

1838 JAS GRANT Random Recoll Lds 5 Com Ser II VII 89 Few men in the house can improvisate better (than Mr Gladstone)

Improvisate, ppl a rare [ad It improvisato, pa pple of improvisare to improvise] = IMPROVISED, impromptu, unpremeditated impromptu 1847 in CRAIG Hence in mod Dicts.

Improvisation (impr υ vizā·ʃən) [n of action from IMPROVISE, IMPROVISATE cf mod F improvisation]

1 The action of improvising or composing extempore, also concr verse, music, etc so improvised

1786 COLMAN Prose Sev Occas (1787) III 166 Poor Tom in his improvisation 1811 SCOTT Don Roderick Introd ix note, The flexibility of the Italian and Spanish language renders these countries distinguished for the talent of improvisation 1834 GREVILLE Mem II Aug (1874) III xxiv 119 After dinner he [Theodore Hook] displayed his extraordinary talent of improvisation 1878 GEO ELIOT Middlem xx, This speech was not indeed entirely an improvisation, but had taken shape in inward colloquy 1896 J LOWELL Among my Bks Ser II 214 We can not expect in a modern poet the thrush like improvisation that charm[s] us in our Elizabethan drama

2 The production or execution of anything offhand, any work or structure produced on the spur of the moment

1874 SIMMONDS N Italy & Greece (1898) I xi 214 The terza rima decorations have all the spontaneity of impro

vi tion 1884 S L Dawson Handb. Canada 231 The Crystal Palace Opera House, an improvisation on Dominion Square [Montre al]

Improvisatize impr vīzətəiz v. rare [irreg f Improvisator + -ize.] = Improvisate, Improvise 1847 in Craig 1860 A J Wilson Chiron 382 Unlike Chatham, Mirabeau did not improvisatize

Improvisator (impr vīzə t ə) [agent n in L. form from Improvisa, Improvisate, after It improvvisatore, F. improvisateur.] One who improvises or composes extempore an improviser 1795 W Taylor in Monthly Rev XVIII 115 The Italian improvisator never attempts a ballad without striking his tu mbolino 1829 Carlyle Misc. (1872) II 183 The old guild of literary Improvisators 1870 Emerson Soc. & Solit., Eloq Wks (Bohn III 8 The world knows pretty well the style of these improvisators [Interlocutory teller.]

‖ Improvisatore, -provvisatore improvvisatōre] Pl -ori -ōrē also -ores [It improvvisatore, formerly improvisatore = improvisore, -ore] = Improvisator, Improviser

(The non etymological doubling of the v is a matter of mod Italian phonetic spelling not generally followed in Eng.)

An improvisator (Italian or of the Italian type 1765 Sir Lucius Tracy (1766) II xxxiii 50 One of the greatest curiosities you meet with in Italy, is the improvisatore such is the ease and fluency of their imitation, that it is a surprising talent of reciting verses extempore, on any subject you propose 1785 Europ. Mag. VII 180 Metastasio was at his outset an improvvisatore or extempore poet 1817 Byron Beppo xxxiii, He patronised the Improvisatori Wrote hymns sung songs could also tell a story 1824 — Juan XI xx Just such is all the 'Improvisatore.' 1841 W Spalding Italy & It. Lit. I 320 The examples of Petronius fills up the only link required to complete the analogy between the classical and the modern improvisatori 1888 J Inglis Our Life in Scotland 324 The musicians improvisatore recaters of ancient legends attrib 1820 Southey Poet. Wks (1850) 248/2 I do not wish the improvisatore tune 1851 H Newman Cath. in Eng xii 302 The extempore and improvisatore mode of fabricating and falsifying against us

Improvisatorial (impr vīzətōrĭăl), a [f as Improvisatory + -al.] Of pertaining to, or of the nature of an improvisator, relating to or having the power of extempore composition or oratory

1820 New Monthly Mag. IV 467 Singing some old Castilian air, to which he often adapts some impromptu stanzas words 1860 J Wolff Trav. & Life I 81 His improvisatorial powers have been already mentioned 1886 Athenæum 4 Aug 197 1 Hence, in the modern and literary sense, Scott, often called the most improvisatorial, is the least improvisational of writers

Hence Improvisatorially adv, after the manner of an improvisator

1886 Tuttiett My Life as Author 385 Those who speak off hand in prose or verse, impromptu-ally as they call it but as the outer world prefer to believe, improvisatorially

Improvisatorise (impr vīzə t ə rəiz) v. rare [f Improvisator + -ize.] a intr To play or act the improvisator b trans To improvise

1828 Harrow-on 43 Mr — is a novel, and I — impro visatorized in heroics 1835 Tait's Mag. XII 541 Might not the morbid poet of 'Dear Bonny' have improvisatorised the following ditty? 1837 Ibid XV 286 In lively and comedy were cogently improvisatorised

Improvisatory (impr vīzə tərĭ), a [f Improvisator (or Improvisate) + -ory.] = Improvisatorial 1806 W Taylor in Robberds Mem II 138 Write with or without time, as happens to accommodate best some improvisatory method of composition 1886 Symonds Animi Ut Cath Essays (1898) VII xi 158 Marino had the important contemporaneous advantage of his birthplace.

‖ Improvisatrice, -provvisa- improvvisatrīce] Pl -trici -trītʃi [It improvvisatrice (formerly improvisa-), fem of improvvisatore see -trix.] A woman who improvises

1804 Matilda Betham Biog Dict Women 290 An honorary name given to the poetess Improvisatrice D Maria Maddalena Morelli Fernandez 1838 Fraser's Mag XII 452/2 Several ladies have distinguished themselves in the same art thus we styled improvisatrice 1844 Mont Hollow Wom. 19th C. (1860) 8 We will not speak of the enthusiasm excited by actresses improvisatrici female singers 1886 W J. Tucker Lifework 318 The improvisatrice, the bewitching, supple siren stepped forward into the midst of the vivacious space

Improvise (impro vəi z, v [a F improviser-r (1642 in Hatz-Darm.), id It improvvisare now improvv 'to sing or say extempore' (Florio), f improvviso 3 sg Improviso.]

1 trans To compose verse, music, etc) on the spur of the moment, to utter or perform extempore

1826 Disraeli Viv Grey III 1, He possessed also the singular faculty of being able to improvise quotations Ibid x ii, You must not improvise parliamentary papers 1858 Doran Lives Mad. Queens 251 His happy faculty of improvising rhymes 1874 Symonds Sk. Study Greece (1878) I xi 115 The funeral chant improvised by women at funerals over the bodies of the dead

2 To bring about or get up on the spur of the moment, to provide for the occasion a 1854 E Forbes Life Papers VII (1865) 206 If a number of both sexes happen to assemble at the same house a dance is improvised 1859 Dickens Lett to Miss D 13 June (1880) II 95 A tent improvised this morning

3 intr. To compose, utter, or perform verse or music impromptu, to speak extemporaneously, hence, to do anything on the spur of the moment

1830 H N Coleridge Grk Poets 1834 42 A noted Englishman of the present day can improvise in rhyme even in our language 1844 E. How Wand. of Poet 24 He sang, played, and composed extempore, played and transposed at sight improvised on a given base 1880 Vern Lee Hauntings I 147 He had the honour of improvising before cardinals and princes es

Hence Improvi sing vbl sb, also attrib

1832 W Irving Alhambra, Journey (1896) 10 Thus talent of singing and improvising is frequent in Spain and is said to have been inherited from the Moors 1853 Jerdan Autobiog III 11 20 [He] was in superb trim to answer the calls for various improvising interludes

Improvi se, sb. rare [f prec vb] An improvised composition, an improvisation

1820 Mrs Shelley in Dowden Shelley (1887) II 366 Go to the theatre and hear the Improvisa de Signora [Rizzi] 1870 Eliot Romola II xxvi, He'll let you have the credit of the improvised welcome 1873 Smith Sequences &c I x (1881) 214 By crossing that hand over the other during the improvisa tion you improvised charm 1876 Geo Eliot Dan Der viii Ins, His improvised words had incredibly some drolleq

Improvisedly (impro vəi zedlĭ) adv [f prec vb + -ly.] In sense 2 for I improvised It improvisamente]

1 In an improvised or unpremeditated manner, impromptu, extempore

1882 J. C. Marshall Haunt of B I 11 91 He could discuss high Republic, improvisedly, in sympathetic and attractive English of his own manufacture

†2 (Sc improvisathe) Without forethought, imprudently, precipitately Obs

1568 Complaynt Lord Arbr Mary & Scots App (1824) 20 Humbler requiring that pretendit and unbuch full marriage quhanin sho was improvisithe entent to be absolut

Improvi ser. [f Improvise v. + -er1.] One who improvises an improvisator Also attrib

1829 Hacker Mag XXVIII 134 Earth holds no improviser like Theodore 1851 Carlyle Sterling II xi (1872) 13 Doubtless an unpraised genius as his Father too was 1880 Nat. Rev. 06 June 830/2 There was a certain Mario Maddalena Morelli known as poet and improviser and much in request for her powers of social entertainment

†Improvi sion Obs [f Im- 2 + Provision.] Want of provision or forethought

1646 Sir T Browne Pseud Ep III ii 108 When imprudence is but a mere election and her improvision justly accusable, if [etc.] 1649 Jer Taylor Gt Exemp III § 14 41 The deadly stings of ignorance or improvision

†Improvisive (impro vəi siv) Obs [It, improviso now spelt improvviso 'unprouided, extempore' (Florio), f improvisus unforeseen, unexpected, f im- (Im- 2) + provisus, pa pple of providere to foresee (The word may also be taken as an adjectival use of the Ital improviso (also di improviso, ex improviso) 'on a sudden, unexpectedly') Improvised, extempore

1786 Mrs Piozzi Anecdotes Johnson (title of poem) Impromptu translation of the following distich on the Duke of Devonshire running away from the comet in 1744 or 1745 1789 — Journ. France II 201 Our position required improvisive verses on his sweetness 1839 Standard 1 29 Mar in Spirit Metrop Comic Press 1840 I 14 An improvisived and extemporaneous survey]

Hence Improvi sively adv, to an improvisive degree

1835 Blackw Mag XXXVII 318 He had improvisived a joyous song

Improvvisatore, -trice see Improvis

Impru dence impru dĕns [ad L imprūdentia, n of quality f imprūdens Imprudent see -ence Cf F imprudence (Oresme, 14th c.), which may have been the immediate source] The quality or fact of being imprudent, want of prudence, circumspection, or discretion, indiscretion, rashness

(In Chaucer's Tales 11 Tale 317 'imprudence' is the reading in MSS Hatl 7334 Petw 615, Selden, but this is evidently an error all MSS have 'impudent' in the correlative 2 254 see quot 1386 in Impudence)

1541 R Copland Galens Terapheut 2 Bvjb, The Greke speke more liquidly and to imprudently, yf it be imprudence to offerme thynge impossyble 1564 Howell Lett (1650) I xi 25, To this day the Spanish council is taxed of improvidence and imprudence, that there was no use made of the hone tunes at the expedition 1731 Chas Stanhope in Spirit Pulpit (1760) II 145 There is an epitaph in St Patrick's cathedral, that will be a lasting monument of your imprudence 1832 Sir J Sinclair Corr II 8, Not taking those precautions against the weather I soon suffered for my imprudence

b with an and pl An instance of this, an imprudent act

1569 J Jer Taylor Apol Liturgy § 95 It were a strange imprudence, choosingly, to entertain those inconveniences 1768-74 Tucker Lt Nat (1852) II 361 If Eve had been deceived before by the serpent into some imprudences not criminal, she might have been weak of his wiles 1889

IMPUDENCE.

Tribock Pleas Life II iv 64 Love at first sight sounds like an imprudence, and yet is almost a revelation

†Impru dency. Obs [ad L imprūdentia see prec. and -ency.] = Imprudence

1576 Baron Jewell of Health 122 b, Through the hastinesse and imprudencie of the worker 1620 Verner Jnl Recta xiii 166 The fault is rather to be attributed to our imprudency, and intemperance 1698 Norris Pract Discourses IV Pref., Men have a liberation for their Imprudencies 1702 A Young Pract Advance 118 Some imprudencies in the manner of forcing the King's system 1820 Lamb Let to Wordsworth 10 Oct It tickles one, with the image of an imprudency, without the penalty usually annexed

Impru dent (impru dĕnt), a [ad L imprūdens, imprūdent-em, f im- (Im- 4) + prūdens, contracted from prōvidens, pres pple of prōvidēre to see before one, provide see Prudent Cf F imprudent (15–16th c. in Hatz-Darm.)] Not prudent, wanting in prudence or discretion, the reverse of prudent, rash, heedless, indiscreet, incautious Of persons

1586 Cogan Haven Health (1636) 111 Imprudent Emperour of Rome alias Was ther no philosophne in al thy tount? 1542 R Copland Galyen's Terapeut 2 Dj, O foole and imprudent Thesaulus 1548 Hall Chron Lanc & York 46 He and his imprudent counsayll were fully resolved on this poincte 1570 Norris Cur Pend n 71 Imprudent men are called fools. 1893 Tanner Myst Berne Apocal 91 61 We are not so imprudent as to destroy the bees that work for us

b Of conduct, actions, etc

1599 Hakluyt Voy II 35 R) Thus by the imprudent and foolish handlings of the French earle, the Frenchmen were discomfited 1660 R Coke Power & Subj 15 Loss for the folly of imprudent actions 1727 Hist Long Parliament (1744) I 211 Nothing can be more imprudent and impudent, as it regards himself and his family 1827 D Johnson Ind Lectrl Sports 80 no note, When the rivers are rising, it would be imprudent to venture into them

c fatchy with of 1750 Arbuthnot Odes iv, Not imprudent of my loss to come

†B sb An imprudent person Obs

1753 I Mr Du Bocage's Accompt Inds 2 59 (It) is ever in the mouth of these imprudents 1765 Woman of Fashion I 244 The little Impudent—How could I expect a Miracle!

Hence Impru dentness, imprudence (Bailey vol II, 1727)

†Impru dential, a Obs rare [f Im- 2 + Prudential cf Imprudence] Not prudential, not marked by prudence, imprudent, improvident

1649 Milton Eikon xxvii, The most unwise and imprudential Act as to call Parliaments

Impru dently impru dentli, adv [f Im prudent a + -ly 2] In an imprudent manner, with imprudence, indiscretely, undavisedly

1541 [see Imprudence] 1548 Hall Chron., Hen VI 187 b, He so imprudently demeaned hymselfe, that he came into the handes of his mortall enemies 1585 Baxter Paraphr N T Matt vi 28 Christ here neither blameth meet labour, nor would have it done imprudently and carelesly 1782 Gibbon Decl & F xxix III 111 The new magistrates imprudently departed from the maxims of the court and of the times 1885 Macaulay Hist Eng xx IV 403 William, with the ardour of a very young commander, had most imprudently offered battle

Impryve see Improve

Impship. rare [f Im sb + -ship.] The condition or station of an imp in quot as a mock title

1624 Ormay Atheist in, I hope your little Impship will be civil to me

Imp-tree see Imp sb 8

Impuberal (impiū bĕăl), a rare [f L impūbes, impūber em (f im- (Im- 2) + pūbes, pūber-em of ripe age, of the age of puberty) + -al.] Not come to puberty or maturity, immature

1836-7 Sir W Hamilton Metaph (1870) I App 409 In impuberal animals the cerebellum is in proportion to the brain proper greatly less than in adults

Impu berate, a rare [f as prec + -ate2] = prec. Also absol as sb

1880 Mivart Cranes II § 179 To our impuberate descendants in potestate we may make a substitution in the manner already described — Ulpian xvi § 1 The death of any of those impuberates secures for them the right of taking in full

Impuberty (impiū bătĭ) [f L impūber-em (see Impuberal) + -ty, after puberty] The condition of not having reached the state or age of puberty

1785 Paley Mor Philos III vii (1830) 290 Sentences of the ecclesiastical courts, which relieve the parties à vinculo matrimonii by reason of impuberty (etc.) are not dissolutions of the marriage contract, but judicial declarations that there never was any marriage

Impubic (impiū bĭk), a rare [irreg f L impūbes, -is (see Impuberal) + -ic cf Public] = Impuberal

1876 Gross Dis Bladder etc 140 In only six were the subjects impubic, the average age being the 20th year

†Impu blic, v Obs rare [f Im- 1 + Public] trans To make public, to publish

1628 Feltham Resolves II xci 265 It hath made them slighted, ever since his passions so impublik'd [read 1709 pro claimed] them

Impudence (i mpiŭdĕns) Also 4–5 in- [ad L impudentia shamelessness, n of quality f im- pudéns IMPUDENT see ENCE. Impud ence has the form of suffix derived through OF., while impud ency has that formed directly from L., but F impudence is recorded only from 1539 (Hatz Darm.)] The quality or fact of being impudent.

†1 Shamelessness, immodesty, indelicacy Obs c1386 CHAUCER Pars T 9317 [Twigs of Pride] There is Arrogance Impudence [v.r. Impudency] Insolence and many another twig 1406 HOCCLEVE La Male regle 62 My lustes blynde han causid thee to varie From me thurgh my folie and impudence 1601 SHAKS. All's Well II i 173 King Upon thy certainty and confidence, What dar'st thou venter? Hell Lane of impudence, A strumpets boldnesse, a bruzèd shame 1628 Hereford Diocese Reg. 9 Oct., His deponent, blushing to see soe much impudence betwixt the said persons, immediately went out of the same Chamber 1712 J. DUNTON Epicurus Mor. 37 'Tis very well known, that Crates and Diogenes have made profession of Beastly Impudence even in publick places

2 Shameless effrontery; insolent disrespect, insolence, unabashed presumption

1612 SHAKS. Wint T III ii 57, I never heard yet, That any of these bolder Vices wanted Lesse Impudence to gainesay what they did, Then to performe it first 1656 J. H. HARRIS Parryal's Pron Age (ed 2) 126 The impudence of a certain Monk called Peter, exceeded all Carre, as to presume to sell the Indulgences 1697 WINTON Ling Conf. 11 Let some with Impudence invade the Court 1715 DE FOE Fam Instruct I vi 73 Who will have the impudence to hinder us? 1838 DICKENS Nich. Nick xiii, 'Con found his impudence!' muttered Squeers 1884 PAU Nature 69 He gave me a deal of impudence just now

b with an and pl A piece of impudence

1885 T. MOZLEY Reminn Towns etc I 413 Any kind of head covering was a weakness, or an impudence c Applied to an impudent person.

1671 DRYDEN Liven Love II 20 Peace, impudence, and see my face no more

3 In a good or neutral sense. Freedom from shamefastness, cool confidence

1619 FLETCHER, etc False One IV iii, Off, my dejected looks, and welcome impudence! My daring shall be duly to save me 1688 SHADWELL Sqr Alsatia II i, Learned lawyer of little practice, for want of impudence 1692 DRYDEN St Eurremont's Ep 133 I will tell you with the utmost impudence, that I esteem much more his Poesies than his Works 1824 W. IRVING Tour I 259, I had not enterprise nor impudence enough to venture from my own retirement

Impudency (ɪmpi·dĕnsi) Now rare [ad L impudentia see prec. and -ENCY.]

1 Shamelessness, immodesty, = IMPUDENCE 1

1548 UDALL, etc Erasm Par Matt XXVI 117 Insomuche that he soyned impudency and unshamefastnesse 1577 BULL Luther's Comm. Pt Gradd 237 The impudencie of the monkes was so great that I am ashamed to speak it. 1590 T. B. La Primaud Fr Acad I 329 Although too much shamefastnesse, when it is causelesse, is woorthy of blame yet is it more prease worothy then impudency 1648 Pikes Bar XXI (1824) 218 Nor did his [Noah's] open infirmity justifie Chams impudency 1864 Fraser's Mag Oct 508 Were she as naked as Diana, there should be no impudency on the figure of Imogen 1890 Harper's Mag Sept 494 In his earlier tales he seemed to seek pleasure with the impudency of a splendidly healthy young faun

b with an and pl

1628 WITHER Brit Remembr II 255 For those impudencies, Those riots, and those other foule offences 1845 Blackw Mag LVIII 369 The whole dialogue is pollute with similar impudencies.

2 Shameless effrontery, = IMPUDENCE 2

1589 FAITH Antithesis IXXVIII in Puttle Ch. Rule 115 What impudencye is this? I thinke he wold saye who that an Asse were a man yf he thought to gette eny vantage thorow it 1615 CROOKE Body of Man 258 Some hunt grownte to that impudencie, that they haue denied a woman to haue a soule as man hath 1655 H. MORE App Animad (1662) 162 That will argue rash boldness and blind impudency in him that shall return so irrational an Answer 1871 BROWNING Balaust 1604 Alas and yet again! How full is age of impudency!

b with an and pl

1604 CAPT SMITH Virginia v 194 It had beene a high impudency and presumption to haue meelled with them 1644 HAMMOND Loyal Convert to How, for their encourgement, are Lyes and brasse d Impudencies invented

†3 = IMPUDENCE 3 Obs

c1610 Women Saints 167 All humane helpe being despayred of in fine, of holie and notable impudencie, she imitated the woman, that pressed to touch the hemme of Christs garment.

Impudent (ɪmpi·dĕnt), a (sb) Also 4-5 impud I. impudens, impudent-em shameless, f. im- (Im-2) + pudens ashamed, modest, orig. pres. pple. of pudére to make or feel ashamed Cf. F impudent (16th c. in Hatz.-Darm. and Godef.) compl but the latter has the adv impudemment of 1461.]

†1. Wanting in shame or modesty, shameless, unblushing, immodest, indelicate (In quot 1628, 'without the means of decency') Obs

c1386 CHAUCER Pars T 9393 Impudent is he that for his pride hath no shame of hise synnes 1533 UDALL Flowres 90 Canus (sayth Donate) is a worde that meane vse to obiect vnto suche as be impudent shameles felowes 1579 G. HARVEY Letter bk (Camden) 61 Setting the best and impudentiest face of it that I can borrowe 1611 BIBLE Ecclus xlv 4 He that cleaueth to harlots will become impudent 1628 HOBBES Thucyd (1822) 101 Many for want of things necessary were forced to become impudent in the funerals of their friends. 1632 LITHGOW Trav I 28 Their impudent Curtezans, the most lascivious harlots in the world 1699 D. PELL Impr Sea 76 With impudent fore heads, and with brows rubbed on brass pots 1732 GAY Achilles III, I hen her bosom too is so preposterously impudent!

2 Possessed of unblushing presumption effrontery, or assurance, shamelessly forward insolently disrespectful

1563-87 FOXE A & M (1684) III 493 Thou art as impudent a Fellow as I have communed withal 1583 FULKE Defence 144 This was the most impudent adiouncher, I think, that ever became a writer 1638 BAKER tr Balzac's Lett (vol III) 123 Sufficient defence against the audacious sense of the most impudent 1709-10 HEARNE in Relig (1857) I 181 Some persons were so impudent (to speak in the canting phrase) as to huzza him 1710-11 SWIFT Lett (1767) III 125 Oh faith, you are an impudent saucy couple of slutteikins for presuming to write so soon 1829 I. TYTLER Dewerell II iv, I hou art an impudent thing to jest at us 1848 DICKENS Dombey viii, Wickam is a wicked, impudent, bold faced hussy

b Of conduct, actions, etc.

1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen IV II i 135 You call honorable Boldnes, impudent Sawcinesse 1639 J. BRUTUS tr Camus Nov Relat 246 [she] disclosed [his] impudent attempt against the reverence of his marriage 1755 YOUNG Centaur in Wks 1757 IV 134 Our impudent folly puts nature out of countenance 1861 MARSH Eng Lang 710 An impudent fabrication of the fourteenth century. 1873 HALE In His Name vi 64 This was the impudent reply of the largest boy of the group.

†3 sb A person of unblushing effrontery or insolence Obs

1586 J. B. tr La Primaud Fr Acad (1589) 404 No least (as they say) is so shamelesse as an impudent Ibid 563 1589 PUTTENHAM Eng Poesie I xxvii (Arb.) 69 Be frauded of the reward, that an impudent had gotten by abuse of his merit 1632 LITHGOW Trav x 434 Many dissembling impudents entertaining themselves in this high calling of lust

Impudently (ɪmpi·dĕntli), adv [f prec + -LY 2] In an impudent manner, with effrontery, shamelessly, insolently 1561 T. NORTON Calvin's Inst I 25 Whomsoever deny it, hath thus done in time past, yea within our owne remembrance, they impudently lie 1604-5 PEYTO Diary in Mar., Castlenowne lay impudently upon her back in her bed 1779 Travels 211 207 A boy, who impudently thrust over their heads 1856 MACAULAY Hist Eng xiv (1871) V 72 An impudently false assertion

Impudentness, rare [f as prec + -NESS] The quality of being impudent, impudence

1599 SANDYS Europæ Spec (1632) 89 Governours and Subjectes striving as it were with other in an impudent newe theame 1727 in BAILEY vol II

Impudicity (ɪmpidi·sĭti) [a F impudicité, f L. type impudicitas*, for cl. impudicitia, f impudicus shameless.] Shamelessness, immodesty

1533 BELLENDEN Livy (1822) I 70 With their provocative Impudicitie, Bot to mony men mot in Infelicitie 1577 HOLLINSHED Guevara's Chron 416, I bred thee chaste, and thou arte withered with impudicitie 1674 tr Du Bosc's Papal Tyranny 78 The luxury, the impudicity, the gluttony that reigned in the Papal Court 1824 LANDOR Imag Conv Gabrielle, I his impudicity you have always been a characteristic of the Italian race 1883 BEECHER in Chr World Pulpit XXIII 323/3 Knowledge with women is Grecian Gift, and is taken of impudicity

b with an and pl

1582 N. I. (Rhem.) Mark VII 22 Theftes, murthes, wicked neese, guile, impudicities †Impudicous, a Obs rare [f I impudicus + OUS] Immodest, indelicate, indecent 1659 W. MONICE Coena quasi Koinè Def xii 1-7 It may be a wanton and impudicous act in another to kiss a woman

Impugn (ɪmpiū·n), v Forms 4 impn-, 4-6 impu-, (5 empu-), 5-6 ym-, 5 impugne, 4-6 im-, impugne, 6 impunge (?), 8 impung, 6- impugn [a F impugner (1363 in Godefroy, = Pr im-, empugnar, Sp impugnar, It impugnare, ad L. impugnāre to attack, assail f im (Im-1) + pugnāre to fight]

†1 trans To fight against; to attack, assail, assault (a person, city, etc.) Obs

1382 WYCLIF 1 Macc XI 41 They impugneden Ysrael 1388 — Judyth IX 44 He foon and enpugnyde [1582 assayliyde] and bisegide the cetee 1450 tr. De Imitatione III xi 110 Pou dwellist in myddis of enemyes, pou art impugned on pe riht honde & on pe lifte honde 1553 BRCON Reliques of Rome (1563) 61 We are set in a slipperye place, and are impugned of deuils. 1603 KNOLLES Hist Turks (1621) 15 He laid siege unto Damascus which he so notably impugned, that [etc.]

fig. 1651 HOBBES Leviath. Ded., The Outworks of the Enemy, from whence they impugne the Civill Power

†b To fight in resistance against, to withstand, resist, oppose Obs

1577 HANMER Eccl Hist (1619) 43 Josephus which himselfe also at the first impugned the Romanes 1591 Troub Raigne K. John II (1611) 107 Only the heart in payne to faile resist The fierce assaile I am the[n] conquers Kings. 1611 SPEED Hist Gt Brit IX v § 25 God will not leaue vs succourlesse, whiles in a just cause, we impugne a most vniust Inuader 1666 J. HAGGOSE tr De Blanc's Trut 223 To impugn with all his power the Moores, Jews, and Idolaters transf. 1648 SIR T. BROWNE Pseud Ep VI v 291 The defect of alternation would utterly impugne the generation of all things.

2 To assail (an opinion, statement, document, action, etc.) by word or argument, to call in question, to dispute the truth, validity, or correctness of, to oppose as false or erroneous

1561 LANGL. P Pl A. VIII 155 Al pis makep me to pen ken On Piers pe ploughman and whuch a pardoun he bredde And how he preest impugnede hit 1580 WYCLIF Sel Wks III 350 Pes sectis impugnen pe gospel, and also pe olde lawe 1585 HOLLYBUSH Sp Serv T. Oldcastell 172 No man wold be Impugne hir right 1604 FABYAN Chron II xlvii 29 This sayinge contrarieth and enpugnyth myne Auctor Gaufride 1549 Compl Scot To Rdr 12 Detractionne reddily to suppedit & tyll impugne ane verteous verk 1614 DONNE Biathanatos (1644) 124 No man hath as yet, to my knowledge, impugned this cautne of ours. 1658 CUDWORTH Intell Syst I v 649 It cannot be accounted less than extreme sottishness and stupidity of mind thus to impugn a Deity 1777 WATSON Philip II (1839) I 181 An opinion which in France had always been impugned and rejected 1847 DISRAELI Tancred I v, The saint was so justly canonised, before his claims to beatitude were impugned

b To assail the actions, question the statements, etc. (of a person), to find fault with, accuse Now rare

1377 LANGL. P Pl B XIII 123 One Pieres pe ploughman hath impugned ys alle, And sette alle sciences at a soppe saue loue one 1491 CAXTON Vitas Patr (W. de W. 1495) III 311 3/8 b/5 Many hated hym & impugned hym falsely for he cessed not to enpugne & repreef theym 1530 PALSGR. Lesclarc 1 I appuge 13 Quho dar presume thir Poetis till impung, Quhose sweit sentence throw Albione hes sone sung, 1596 SHAKS. Merch I iv 170 Yet in such rule, that the Venetian Law Cannot impugne you as you do proceed 1899 FARRAR Early Days Chr. I 44 The Law, for the supposed apostasy from which he was impugned

Hence Impu·gned ppl a, Impu·gning vbl sb and ppl a

1400 Apol Lollt 78 Impugning of pe law of God. c1450 Jacob's Well (E. E. T. S.) 276 It techyth pe to defende pi feyth wyth resons fro impugnyng of heretykes. 1599 SANDYS Europæ Spec (1632) 2 In spite of all impugned truth 1802 in BENTHAM Anc Judic Evid (1827) III 204 It should be allowable to call upon the impugning witnes to do last jets. 1890 Nat. Ref. IX 145/1 The impugned department will send down a cohort of witnesses

Impugnable (ɪmpiū·năbl), a [f as prec + -ABLE] Liable to be impugned

1893 New Monthly Mag VIII 462 If any chance to be impugnable on the score of principles 1847 DISRAELI Tancred IV viii, Her reason though not easily impugnable was not as satisfactory to his understanding as to his ear

Impugnable (ɪmpugnăbl) a ? Obs [f IM-2 + I pugn-āre to fight + -ABLE, cf EXPUGNABLE] That cannot be assailed or overcome

1570 LYONS Manip 3/27 Impugnable, impugnabilis 1611 SPED Hist Gt Brit VIII v 219 To withstand so puissant and impugnable an enemy Ibid X i (1632) 1242 If the Tower were impugnable

Hence Impugnabi·lity ? Obs

1837 U. FARRER From Docts Trustf IV 167 So long as the canon of Tertullian shall flourish in its absolute impugnability

†Impu·gnance Obs rare—1 In 6 in [f I impugnare to IMPUGN see -ANCE] = IMPUGNATION

1600 W. WATSON Decacordon IX v (1602) 308 Therefore doe we call treason rebellion, when they rise by resistance or impugnance of their Princes authority

†Impu·gnant, ppl a Obs rare—1 [ad L impugnans, impugnant-em, or corresponding It impugnante, pres. pple of impugnāre to oppose, IMPUGN.] Repugnant, opposed

1579 FENTON Guicciard I 17 (1599) 9 Whether you ought to be the personage so impugnant and contrary to your proper resolution

Impugnation (ɪmpugnē·ʃən) ? Obs [ad L impugnātion-em, noun of action f impugnāre to IMPUGN cf obs F impugnation]

†1 The action of attacking or assaulting (a person), esp. spiritual assault, temptation. Obs

1398 TREVISA Barth. De P. A. IX xxx (MS. Bodl.) Apers herse so many impugnaciones & wrastlynges and mocyuers with spyrytual armoure 1450 Mirour Saluacioun 3170 Oure lord has ordeyned yt a man shalle hat here impugnacionne 1600 T. FITZHERBERT Remed 9 a, He ventured such a violent impugnation and persecution of all the bad priests in the cittie of Rome] that he was forced to depart thence 1645 Br Hall Remedy Discont 108 The life is a perpetuall impugnation and self conflict

2 The action of impugning (an opinion, etc.), calling in question, disputing, impugnment

1508 Orol Occupy Man (W. de W. 1526) II vii 107 Impugnacyon of trouth the whiche is whan the persone of certayne malice wyll sayth unto the trouth of the fayth 1580 MORE Supply Soules (1843) 253/1 The impugnation of this vncharitable heresye 1692 NORRIS Corr Refl 1 Pro Hum Und 21 Having considered our Author's impugnation of Innate Principles 1847 WEBSTER Conflict Evil Rom I II 95 It begins with a lengthy impugnation of the mythical opinions caused by the poets

†Impugna·tor. Obs rare—1 [ad late L impugnator, agent n. f impugnare to IMPUGN, cf F (obs) impugnateur] = next

1678 GALE Crt Gentiles III 123 The Jesuites themselves, who are his most pleasant Impugnators, give him a more candid and favorable treatment

Impugner (ɪmpiū·nəɹ) [f IMPUGN- + -ER1] One who impugns or assails

1539 TONSTALL Serm Palm Sund (1823) 51 Redye to defende the faith agaynst the impugners of it 1688 CUDWORTH Immut Mor (1731) 223 Some of these Strenuous Impugners of Immaterial and Incorporeal Substances. 1712 BERKELEY Passive Obed § 38 A prejudice which influenceth the impugners of non resistance 1818 HAZLITT Eng Poets iii (1870) 80 The way to defend Milton against all impugners is to take down the book and read it. 1890 Spectator 6 Sept., The impugners of the story have failed to support their scepticism with anything that can properly be called evidence

Impugnment (impu·nmĕnt) [f as prec + -MENT] The action or fact of impugning 1840 E. Howard Tack ashore xiv. (Stratn.), It must not be an impugnment to his manhood that he cried like a child 1862 Burton Ink Hunter (1863) 63 The theses on which aspirants after university honours held their disputations or impugnments.

Impuissance (impu·isăns). [a F impuissance (1361 in Littré) see IM-2 and PUISSANCE (By the Brownings stressed impui,ssance)]

1. Impotence powerlessness, weakness

1483 Caxton Gold Leg 5/1 Ne suppl I dy me whan man was vanquysshed of ignorance and impuissance

1602 Patericke tr. Gentilleti 26 An impuissance to conserue himself

1645 City Alarum 9 When it always hoodwinkt our selves with conceits of the kings impuissance till it came to tryal 1762 Sterne Tr. Shandy V. xxii. He lay under an impuissance of advancing above a line and a half in the compass of a whole summer's day 1855 Browning Sordello, Why is it I dare think but lightly of such impuissance?

1856 Mrs. Browning Aur. Leigh iv. 499 I felt myself So sole in impuissance and despair I could not hurt you 1884 Bp. Boyd-Carpenter, Cheerios, Never too much of faith In impuissance man

†2. Want of self-control, cf. INFIDENCE. Obs

1667 Waterhouse Fire Lond 95 When the light of reason is under a Bushel of passion, and impuis nce is regent in the soul

So † Impuissancy [see -ANCY] Obs rare—1

1701 Beaumont & Fl. Queen 39 An Image of Supremacy and yet Impuissancy

Impuissant (impu·isănt), a [a F impuissant (15th c.) see IM-2 and PUISSANT] Impotent, powerless, weak

1609 Markham tr. Herodian (1635) 127 How impuissant and dejected they are 1652-62 Heylin Cosmogr VI. (1682) 58 The Country made a prey to impuissant Enemies.

1853 Grote Greece II. lxxxiv. XI. 133 An impuissant embryo of philosophy on the part of so great a potentate

1853 Lytton Ring Amasis I. 188 Vain, and impuissant are the piety and commiseration of a feeble fellow creature

Impulsatile, a. rare—0 [f IM-2 + PULSATILE a.] Not characterized by pulsation

1859 Todd & Bird Anat V. 986/1 In these vessels its [the blood] motion is impulsatile or undulatory

Impulse (impuls), sb. and ppl. [a F impulse a push (great), f ppl stem of impellire to IMPEL]

1 An act of impelling, an application of sudden force causing motion, a thrust a push 1650 Ashmole Chym. Collect. (ed. 3) 229 The Second lurketh in the bowels of the Earth, by the Impulse and motion whereof the Subterraneous vapours are driven upwards through Pores and Pipes 1690 Locke Hum. Und. II. x. § 19 We cannot conceive how any thing but impulse of body can move body

1752 Hume Ess. & Treat. (1777) II. 68 The impulse of one billiard ball is attended with motion in the second

1798 Fourcroy's Lect. No. 2 ¶ 1 He will wish to advance rather by the impulse of the wind, than the strokes of the oar

1860 Tyndall Glac. II. 228 To produce the impression of violet light a still greater number of impulses is necessary

1872 Huxley Physiol. VIII. 210 The chief agents in transmitting the impulses of the aerial waves

1885 Darwin Power of Mov. 290 When a limb is first excited the motor impulse is discharged within a few seconds

fig. 1692 Bentley Boyle Lect. I. 12 Driven on by the blind impulses of Fatality and Fortune

1818 Jas. Mill Brit. India II. v. 698 The total exemption of the intelligencers in parliament from the impulse of the people will 1877 Mrs. Oliphant Valerie Fate vi. 160 The main impulse of the Renaissance (was) just then beginning to influence the world

b Path. The shock felt on the chest wall when the heart beats, or over an aneurysm during the cardiac systole. Cardiac impulse, the apex beat of the heart. (Syd. Soc. Lex. 1886)

1879 St. George's Hosp. Rep. IX. 283 Of the Heart. No sensible impulse, sounds hardly audible Ibid., Area ill defined, impulse diffused, sounds muffled

2 Dynamics a An indefinitely large force enduring for an inappreciably short time but producing a finite momentum, such as the blow of a hammer, the drive of a bat, the impact of colliding balls, etc. b The product of the average value of any force multiplied by the time during which it acts. (This extended use was introduced by Clerk Maxwell Matter & Motion 43.)

1876 Britton Math. Dict., Impulse, the single or momentary action or force by which a body in impelled

1886 Encyc. Math. II. 134 The Momentum or Quantity of Motion, generated by a Single Impulse or any Momentary Force is as the Generating Force

1859 Tait Dynamics of Motion 87

1868 Routh Rigid Dynamics (ed. 2) 269 We may regard an impulse as the limit of a large finite force acting for a very short time

1875 Maxwell Theory of Heat (ed. 4) 88 The impulse of a force is equal to the momentum produced by it

1868 W. K. Clifford Lect. 76 A shuttlecock, which has its entire state of motion suddenly changed by the impulse of the battledore

3 a Force or influence exerted upon the mind by some external stimulus, suggestion, incitement, instigation: = Form 6, esp. A strong suggestion supposed to come from a good or evil spirit.

1660 R. Coke Power & Subj. 177 If he by chance offend by the impulse of the Devil, let him make amends therefore

1674 Owen Holy Spirit (1693) 184 An immediate Revelation or Divine Impulse and Impression

1701 G. Hammond Cases (In course of Angels also something touching, Devils, Apparitions, and Impulses

1798 Wordsw. Tables turned vi, One impulse from a vernal wood May teach you more Than all the sages can

1833 Cruse Ruthless II. i. 49 Thomas, under divine impulse, sent Thaddeus as herald and evangelist 1840 Prescott Ferd. (1850) II. 138 He was not a man to yield timidly to the impulses of others

b Incitement or stimulus to action arising from some state of mind or feeling 1647 Clarendon Hist. Reb. I. 196 His purpose proceeded only from himself and the impulse of his own Conscience 1769 Robertson Chas. V (1813) III. xi. 281 No motive to direct him but the impulse of unprofitable passions

1833 Ht. Martineau Clar. Harriet Vane I. 220 Some ran, under an impulse of curiosity 1853 J. H. Newman Hist. Sk. (1876) I. 1. iii. 107 The inward impulse of gigantic energy and brutal audacity urged them forward

c Sudden or involuntary inclination or tendency to act, without premeditation or reflection

1763 Burke Corr. (1844) I. 50, I act almost always from my present impulse, and with little scheme or design

1861 Lord Teign. Sidus H. II. 12 He seemed to weave, like the spider, from pure impulse, without reflection

1869 Phyne van Vorst Cony III. xiii. 218 Ready to be guided by impulse rather than by judgement

1876 J. Harris Theiretus (1806) 271 It was mere impulse

4 The effect produced by impulsion; motion caused by the sudden application of force, momentum, impetus

1715 Desaguliers Lines Impulse 8 A Ray goes on by a compound Motion made up of its Impulse and its conatent tendency towards the earth

1721 Kersey, Vanpercussion (1734) 5 The motion of such a Vortex ought to give them some horizontal Impul e, and hurry them along in its own direction

1895 Nature Arct Lapl. I. xii. 133 My team began to jump them and the impulse of the sledge carrying it across

1878 Huxley Physiogr 188 The impulse may be transmitted through the earth to an enormous distance

fig. 1872 Yeats Growth Comm 97 Orsedo gave a new impulse to navigation

1874 Green Short Hist viii. § 7. 618 Greenhithe . . were giving a poetic impulse to the newly-aroused intelligence of men

b Path. The wave of change which travels through nerve and muscle in passing from rest into action (Syd. Soc. Lex. 1886)

5 attrib. and Comb. in various technical terms relating to the driving mechanism of a clock, as impulse teeth, etc.; impulse-wheel, a form of turbine water-wheel driven by the impact of a jet upon it (Cent. Dict.)

1825 J. Nicholson Operat. Mechanic 520 The impulse teeth consist of very well tempered steel pins, inserted on the surface of the rim of the wheel on one side only 1879 Cassell's Techn. Educ. IV. 369/2 The impulse arc of the balance is determined by the radii of Ibid. and Ibid.

1884 F. J. Britten Watch & Clockm 55 The escape wheel . . overtakes the impulse pallet and draws it on Ibid., the impulse roller Ibid. 97 The impulse teeth the impulse finger Impulse, v. Now rare [f the sb or f I impuls, ppl stem of impellire to IMPEL, cf. obs. F impulser.] trans. To give an impulse to, to impel, to urge forward 1611 Florio, Impulsare, to impulse, to perwade often.

1614 Raleigh Hist World I. (1634) 14 With that force so impulsed by the Earth

1658 Rowland Moufet's Theatre 1102 The Man being impulsed by some invisible spirit 1689 J. Plunket Char. God (1691) 4 The Earth is fill'd with fraud and violence, Impulsed by the Jesuits influence

1721 Ken Hymns Poster. Poet Wks. 1721 I. 307 Love to the Cross impulsed me

1765 Tucker Light Nat. II. (1768) 226 Let the Holy Ghost Angel or Spirit . . very often impuls d or moved him to preach to the People

1757 Eliz. Griffith Lett. Henry & Frances I. 167 The Centrifugal [power] is a force impulsed upon all the planets, at their creation, that directs them forward, in a right line

Hence Impulsed ppl. a.

1885 J. Hunan Symphumnasia xii. 207 They may trace the evident current through the human story of the Divine impulsings

Impulsion (impu·lshn). Also 5 6 ym- [a F impulsion (1315 in Godefroy Compl.), ad L. impulsion em influence, instigation, f impuls-, ppl stem of impellire to IMPEL, cf. IMPULSE sb.]

1 The action of impelling or forcing onward, also of striking upon, thrusting, pushing, or pressing against without producing motion, the condition of being thrust or pushed

1432-50 tr. Higden (Rolls) IV. 109 The body of Tholo moves from us to the londe by the impulsion of the see

1483 Caxton Gold Leg. 245/2 The deken fyll with the impulsion and thrustyng of the ayenne

1581 W. Stafford Exam. Compl. iii (1876) 78 Thus one thyng hanges vpon another, and sets forwarde one another, but not by vtt of all is the fyrste cause of all this cruell motion and impulsion 1655 Stanley Hist. Philos. II. (1701) 72/2 The Wind that comes next presseth the first, and being . . it by frequent impulsion 1774 Goldsm. Nat. Hist. (1776) I. 4 That of attraction, which draws them towards the sun . . and impulsion which drives them straight forward into the great void of space

1794 Sullivan View Nat. I. 54 The centrifugal force or force of impulsion, is still unknown 1835-6 Todd & Bird Anat. I. 621/2 The impulsion of the water takes place on the surface of the tentacula.

1863 Tyndall Heat vii (1870) 209 The needle of the galvanometer is instantly deflected, and the limit of the first impulsion is noted transf. and fig. 1610 R. Niccols Wint Nts Vis., R. Curthose in Mirr. Mag. 653 To see How gustles impulsions in my breast did beate a 1626 Bacon Max. & Uses Com. Law 1 To judge the cause of causes, and their impulsions one of another 1844 Mrs. Browning Lady Geraldine lxiii, A vibration and impulsion to an end beyond its own

†b An impulse or allusion Obs

1603 Bacon Adv. Learn. II. x. § 3. 41 Medicine consisteth causes of Diseases, with the occasions or impulsions

c Attack, assault Obs

1632 Webver Anc. Fun. Mon. 146 The citie of Ierusalem being recouered against the impulsions of the Infidels

2 a External influence excited upon mind or conduct, instigation, incitement

1566 Drant tr. Horace's Sat. I. 73 If the French kynge conquere it may be that the Byshoppe of Rome throughe his impulsion will vndo quite Election

1648 Gerbier Princ. (1821) 6 Alexis and Hyssen . . at the impulsion of their mother slew this Chrysippus

1676 Marvell Gen. Councells Wks. 1875 IV. 237 It is meant that it was free from all external impulsion

1899 J. Taylor Ruthless vii. 168 In few who might have done the same without impulsion

1859 Holland Gold Lect. xv. 251, I do not believe any man ever has one thoroughly industrious, save under the impulsion of motives outside of labor

b Determination to action resulting from natural tendency or temporary excitement: impulse 1590 L. Cox Rhet. (1899) 77 Natural impulsion is anger, hatred, couetyse, loue, or such other affections.

1586 Bright Melanch. xii. 60 The other not only not directing but impulsion also from an inward vertue

1872 Eachard Gobbo's State Nat. 1705) 108 This he did by a certain impulsion of nature

1703 Objects to the War Examined 44 It can only be upon the like impulsion from which a drowning man catches at a twig

1875 Lowell Under old Elm 4 With sure impulsion to keep honor clear

3 Tendency to onward motion imparted by some force or influence; impetus 1795 Craufurd in Id. Auckland's Corr. (1862) III. 290 Whether the impulsion be given by the people to their representatives, or by the representatives to the people [etc.]

1836 J. Sir W. Hamilton Metaph. xli. (1870) II. 417 The impulsion which Kant had given to philosophy

1881 Munch. Lond. 3 Not a few genial specimens of late years been given to stem navigation in the Levant

Impulsive (impu·lsiv), a. (sb.) [ad. med L. impulsiv-us or a F impulsif, -ive (14th c.), f L. impuls-, ppl stem of impellere to IMPEL + -IVE.]

1 Having the property of impelling or producing impulsion, characterized by impulsion or impetus 1604 Drayton Moses II. The goodly horse Lies where but late disdainfully he trod, [And] stirs not when prick'd with the impulsive goad

c 1621 Chapman Iliad V. 232 The force Of the impulsive chariot

1621 G. Sandys Ovid's Met. XI. (1626) 113 A shaft, which from th impulsive bow string flew

1750 Stillman Fast Nat. II. 38 The impulsive motion of the planets . . gives rise to numberless phænomena

b Dynamics (See quot and Impulse 2b.)

1803 J. Wood Princ. Mech. 15 When a force produces its effect instantaneously it is said to be impulsive

1827 Hutton Course Math. II. 237 If the forces be impulsive or momentary, the motions will be the same

1879 Johnson & Tait Nat. Phil. I. § 298 The shot is fired into the cable in a horizontal direction . . the impulsive penetration is nearly instantaneous

2 Impelling or determining to action Impulsive cause (freq. in 17th c., now rare), originating or primary cause

c 1555 Harpsfield Divorce Hen. VIII (Camden) 214 The cause impulsiue moueing the prince to promote this edict was[etc.]

1621 Sanderson Serm. I. 180 There is a kind of cause . . which the learned call the impulsive cause: and it is such a cause as moueth and inducth the voluntary agent, to do that which it doth 1686 Horneck Crucif. Jesus xii. 234 The love of God was the impulsive cause, but our sins were the meritorious cause, that brought him to the Cross.

1788 Reid Active Powers III. II. x. (1803) 159 Some cool principle of action, which has authority without any impulsive force

1865 Ruskin Sesame II. 82 (Law for applause) is on the whole, the strongest impulsive influence of average humanity

1894 Month. Mar. 392 The impulsive cause of the granting of a dispensation is that which . . moves the superior

3 Of persons, their character, actions, etc. Actuated or characterized by impulse, apt to be moved by sudden impulse or swayed by emotion

1847 L. Hunt Your Hundred Yrs. (1848) 58 He would have shown a more genial and impulsive spirit in their songs and dances than the English 1850 W. Irving Goldsmith xxviii. 276 Who was very impulsive, and prone to commit indiscreet generosity

1854 H. Miller Sch. & Schm. xix. (1860) 208 One of those impulsive acts of which men repent at their leisure

1867 Freeman Norm. Conq. II. 558 Such conduct would not be that of a sentimental and impulsive hero

1897 Allbutt Syst. Med. II. 851 Impulsive drunkenness or dipsomania is the revolt of an hereditary taint

†B sb. An impelling agent or cause Obs

a 1628 Preston Breastpl. Love (1631) 29 Where love is, it is such a strong impulsive in the heart, it carries one on to serve and please the Lord in all things 1659 H. Scudder Allsaints Day Serm. 31 Wks. 1718 The genuine and true impulsive to Calvin, to write that letter

Impulsively (impu·lsivli), adv. [f prec + -LY 2] In an impulsive fashion, with, or by means of, impulse, by sudden impulse

1768 Sterne Sent. Journ., Act of Charity, The two ladies seemed much affected, and impulsively at the same time they both put their hands into their pocket

1825 Blackw. Mag. XVIII. 205 Causes, which bear impulsively, or hin dcringly, upon every action

1865 Miss Muloch Christian's Mistake 2 He looked like a man who was not in the habit of acting hastily or impulsively

1879 Thomson & Tait Nat. Phil. I. § 317 A uniform velocity in a stated direction is communicated impulsively to each end of a flexible inextensible cord

Impulsiveness (impu·lsivnes) [f as prec + -NESS.] The quality of being impulsive in feeling or action

1859 D Peel Impr Sea 10 Rdr, A strong, and an unwithstanding impulsiveness that lay upon my heart and spirit, till I went about it 1863 Geo Eliot Romola Proem, Crude passions acted out with childish impulsiveness 1884 W J Courthope Addison V 97 That impulsiveness of feeling made him [Steele] the most powerful and persuasive advocate of Virtue in fiction

†Impu'lsor Obs [x L. impulsor, agent-n from impellere to Impel, cf F (obs) impulseur] One who, or that which, impels

1653 H More Antid Ath (1662) 151 Nor [can] Motion be communicated but by Impulse, nor Impulse without Impenetrability in the Impulsor 1658 Sir T Browne Gard Cyrus II 43 The mutiency and stresse being made upon the hypomochlion or fulciment in the decussation, the greater compression is made by the union of two impulsors. 1678 Gale Cyt Gentiles III 136 So that God be the motor and impulsor of the action and worke 1700 S Parker Tr Philos Ass 106 Independent of any foreign Impulsor

Impulsory (impu'lsŏri), a rare [f. L. impuls-us, ppl stem of impellĕre see Impulse v and -ory] That tends to impel or force onward

1659 D Pell Impr Sea 498 Have given some or other amongst you secret, and impulsory hints and warnings 1845 G Oliver Coll Biog Sac Jesuits 171 Whatever he said was dictated by the impulsory law of his conscience

†Impu'lverable, a Obs rare$^{-1}$ [f Im-2 + Pulverable] Incapable of being pulverized

a 1691 Boyle Hist Air (1692) 169 Some good fine dried jalap he found by the head of the air to be melted, and by consequence to be impulverable

Impunctate (impu'nktăt), ppl a [f Im-2 + Punctate.] Not punctate, not marked with points or dots

1819 G Samouelle Entomol Compend 157 Hyphydrus ovatus Obscure, ferruginous, impunctate 1846 Hardy in Trans Berw Nat Club II No 14 196 Forest impunctate 1854 Woodward Mollusca II 214 The loop, or brachial processes, are always impunctate

†Impu'nction. Obs rare$^{-1}$ [ad L type impunctiōn-em*, f im (Im-1) + punct-ĕre to prick, pierre, cf Punction] Pricking or piercing

1712 Sir G Wheler Liturgy of Cabadilas hath nothing of chopping the bread but impunction, and cutting, as by a Lance

Impunctual (impu'nktuăl), a [f Im-2 + Punctual] Not punctual, behind time (Webster, 1864). So Impunctua'lity, want of punctuality

1790 Observer No 139 P 2 Unable to account for his impunctuality, some of his intimates were dispatched in quest of him 1804 Alex Hamilton Corr (1818) I 300 Wolcott

Impunctured (impu'nktiurd), ppl a [f Im-2 + Punctured] Unpunctured impunctate

†Impune (impiu'n), a Obs [ad L impun-is unpunished, f im (Im-2) + pana penalty, punish ment, pūnīre to punish] Unpunished, enjoying impunity

1614 T Adams Fatal Banquet in Wks 1861 I 235 The breach of our national statutes can not go impune by the plea of ignorance 1618—White Devil 14 (Not a thing that] can prvilede, or keep impune the injuries [etc.]

†Impu'nely, adv Obs [f prec + -ly 2] With impunity, without punishment

1614 T Adams Fatal Banquet in Wks 1861 I 184 The blood of his enemies shall not be impunely shed a 1721 Ken Hymns Euvng Poet Wks 1721 I 128 Shall he, impunely sacred Law defy 1725 D Jones Hist Mem Brunswick 380 A certain Militia Captain (and that impunely) order'd the Musick on his March to play, 'The King shall enjoy his Own'

Impung-,punge, obs forms of Impugn v

Impunible (impiu'nibl), a rare [f Im-2 + L. punire to punish + -ible] Not punishable, unpunishable

1660 R Coke Justice Vind 47 But Mr Hobbs outruns the Constable, and makes the King or Civitas impunible for whatsoever he shall do

Hence Impu nibly adv, without punishment with impunity

1723 J Ellis Knavel Div Pt II 65 Xenophon represents the Opinion of Socrates, that no Man impunibly violates a Law established by the Gods 1865 Mrs Whitney Gayworthys xxiii (1879) 230 She never fled, or stole, or slew, impunibly

Impunity (impiu'niti) [ad F impunitās, f impūnis (see Impune and -ty, or ad F impunité (14th c. in Littré)] Exemption from punishment or penalty

1532 More Confut Tindal Wks 716/2 For the safegard of heretikes, and impunitie of all mischieuous people 1598 Barckley Felic Man (1631) 648 Wicked acts and misdemeanours are allured by impunity, as it were by reward. 1600 R Coke Power & Subj 41 Thus unlimited power of doing anything with impunity, will only beget a confidence in kings of doing what they list 1736 Butler Anal I II Wks 1874 I 41 Delay of punishment is no sort nor degree of presumption of final impunity 1872 Black Adv Phaeton xxv, You can't commit murder in this country with impunity

b In weaker sense Exemption from injury or loss as a consequence of any action, security

1800 Med Jrnl III 50 Men of strong constitutions began to stimulate in excess very early in life, and continued in the practice for several years with impunity 1806 Ibid XV 443 Mr Fewster had the small pox in his youth, and was exposed to the infection with impunity for forty years. 1834 Pringle Afr Sk viii 285 The venom of the most deadly snakes may be swallowed with impunity 1856 Kane Arct Expl II xix 149 Its runners seem to bear with impunity the fierce shocks of the ice

†Impunʻtion. Obs rare [f L impūnis Impure + -ation cf L pūrāre to purify] The action of making impure, pollution lit and fig

1614 Br Hall Recoll Treat 833 The imputation or corruption of the Roman Church a 1656—Serm Christ & Cæsar Wks 1863 V 396 For these happy regions may it please you to forbid their imputation by the noysome fogges and mists of those mis opinions

Impure (impiu'r), a (adv) [ad L impūr-is, f im (Im-2) + pūrus pure (cf F impur, e (13th c. in Hatz.-Darm.)]

I 1 Containing some defiling or offensive matter, dirty, unclean

1597 A M tr Guillemeau's Fr Chyrurg 46 b/2 We then wowe a cleane white Compresse on the impaired compresse, and then we draw away the impure compresse from vnder the Fracture 1647 Cowley Motives, Bathing in Acr v, Thou hast priviledge dost know Above th' impurest streams that thither flow 1774 Goldsm Nat Hist (1776) I 170 The impurest fresh water that we know, is that of stagnating pools and lakes 1802 Med Jrnl XVII 103 Want of due discrimination between the effects of an impure atmosphere and of contagion

b Not sexually continently, unhallowed, unclean 1618–25 Br Hall Contempl, O T xviii vi, His (Saul's) only command sanctifies those creatures, which, by a general charge, were legally impure 1662 J Davies tr Olearius's Voy Ambass 204 Their meat if it happen that any one should blow or breath upon it, they cast it away as impure 1864 W Collins Armadale 2nd Ed I 111 A married man, by touching impure food, will be degraded 1840 Hirelmark Greece Iv VII 49 The invader, who had touched the hallowed soil with impure feet 1841 Lane Arab Nts (Bridg) I 52 Dogs, which, according to the tenets of the Mussulman religion, are impure animals

2 Not pure morally, defiled by sin, unclean, unchaste, filthy; a of persons

a 1536 Lindsay Depl Watt v 6 18 Impure and unclean herted then ar they th't study to breake God's commandements 1550 Crowley Epitaph Master 1 The wretched vses of world impure 1620 Granger Dec Logicke 140 It is then more intolerable to serue an impure fellow 1784 Cowper Task II 550 Jockeys, brothellers impure, Spend thrifts, and hooted sportsmen 1818 Shelley Julian & Maddalo vi, Those slaves impure, Each one the other thus from ill to ill dure b of actions or things.

1623 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 66 Astrologie which he defiled with impure Magicke 1667 Milton P L IV 746 Defaming as impure what God declares Pure 1780 Cowper Progr Err 584 The temple of impure delight 1864 J Walker Faithf Ministry 103 We fill the hearts of others with impure desires

II 3 Mixed with or containing some extraneous or foreign matter, esp of an inferior or baser kind, contaminated, adulterated a Of things physical

1562 Jas Sext Sydni § 58 The Ody, Conde, Pure Impure Fine, Grosse Parts of Bodies, and the like 1799 G Smith Laboratory I 134 In this manner ore extracted from roses the three impure parts, phlegm, water, and earthy residuum 1818 Hunter Operations of Surg I 317 Another cow which affords a glycyth impure steatites, potted with black 1818 J Pereira Materia Medica II 1 370 Impure mercury also soils white paper and the presence of lead may be detected by agitating the metal with water 1838 J How Vegetable Life 111 The catechine, not obtained in this way was still impure

b Of things immaterial

1704 Norris Ideal World II iii 179 That [so of the will] may be said to be impure or mixt partly voluntary, partly involuntary Ibid 180, I call that an impure thought whose object is material or corporeal 1844 D R Hay Orig Geom Proport Beauty I 3 Many of the kinds of ornaments called styles being themselves impure, in so far as they are destitute of the first principles of beauty 1894 Daily News 8 Feb 5/4 The Socialist creed is impure and complex because personal property, the pure personality amounting to zero, and the impure to 1 000 1895 Holman Hunt Pre-Raph I 62 The latter has adopted the impure entanglements of the Art of previous races

c Of a language, style etc Containing foreign idioms or grammatical blemishes

1613 Purchas Pilgrimage (1614) 41 By reason of their ruffique it [the language] proued impure there also 1814 [implied in Impurely]

d Of a colour Containing an admixture of some other colour or colours, also said of a spectrum when the colours overlap

1800 Tindal Color II 1 227 The rainbow is an imperfect or impure spectrum 1809—Irregon Sc (1870) I 115 The yellow is gradually rendered impure by the growth of its particles 1882 P G Tait in Encycl Brit XIV 593 1 The spectrum produced in this way is very impure, i e, the images occupied by the various homogeneous rays overlap one another 1892 Nature 22 Sept 48 /1 Impure may be an objectionable term to apply to a colour when mixed with white, but it may be used in that sense

B sb An unchaste or lewd person, a harlot

1784 New Spectator No 3 4/2 Billboon hats now adorn the heads of the paving stone impures 1824 C M Westcott Eng Spy II 24 Your fashionable impures 1830 H Ingelo Reminisc II 282 The destiny of those unfortunate impures.

†Impure, v Obs [f Impure a]

1 trans To render impure, to defile

1597 [see Imitate a 3] 1612–15 Br Hall Contempl, O T xv iv, One drop of that wicked blood was enough to impure and spill all the rest 1641 Answ Lord Smectym xxxiii 59 To take up gold mislaid in a channell, which could not impure it 1673 Carve Nat & Prim. Love 46 Sin did impure his whole inner Man

2. intr To become impure a 1618 Sylvester Men Mortal lxv, Pure in she (the soul) came, there living she impures And suffers there a thousand woes the while Impurely (impiu'rli), adv [f. Impure a + -ly 2] In an impure manner, with impurity, corruptly

1612 J Taylor Comm Fitue 1 15 In generall, men impurely eye them two wayes 1647 Ward Simp Cobler 43 A Church impurely Reformed 1813 W Taylor Eng Synonyme (1856) 52 Inadmissible is impurely formed, and ought to mean able to be fashioned 1814–Monthly Mag XXXVII 118 the translators of the Bible use the word customhe impurely, instead of advise

Impureness (impiu'r-nės) [f as prec + -ness] The quality of being impure impurity

1547–64 Bauldewin Moor Philos (Palfr) III ii The people by the impureness thereof [a palace] are with sundry sores corrupted 1623 Middleton More Dissemblers I 1 A void of all impureness as an alter 1803 Med Jrnl X 554 No doubt as to the badness or impureness of the plant, as it was gathered in the beginning of July 1861 G Moberly Serm Boarding sch 107 He becomes familiarised to all his life with the realities of impureness

†Impure rify, v Obs rare [f Impure a after Purify] trans To render impure

1693 W Penn Sel Ess xxix 166 Let no Temptation impurify thy Will

Impuritan. [f Impure a + after Puritan] a One who practises impurity b A hostile term for one not a Puritan or opposed to Puritanism

1617 Dalrymple Serm Hamilton (1618) 11 There are a third sort, and those are impure puritans or rather the impuritans of our time 1647 Carter Upon 19 Not Impuritanes in any degree whether wilkers in the counsell of the ungodly, or [etc] 1647 Ward Simp Cobler 42 Those who use to be termed Rattle heads and impuritans would take up a resolution to begin in moderation of haire, to the just reproach of those that are called Puritans and Round heads, I would honour their manlinesse 1818 Bentham Ch Enq Introd 71 It may moreover be not unacceptable to behold the difference between Puritanism and Impuritanism

Hence Impu ritanism, the principles of an Impuritan as opposed to those of a Puritan, also, impure life or principles generally

1818 Bentham Ch Enq Introd 23 The difference between Church of Scotlandism and Church of Englandism—between Puritanism (use that must be the name and Impuritanism between Presbyterianism and Episcopacy 1892 Chicago Advance 25 Feb, The protest of the Puritan against the impuritanism of his time

Impurity (impiu'riti) [a OF impurité (15th c. in Hatz.-Darm.), impuretē see Impure and -ity] 1 The quality or condition of being impure or of containing something foul or unclean concr foul or offensive matter dirt

1597 A M tr Guillemeau's Fr Chyrurg 11 b/2 The matter and all impurityes might thereout have free passage 1660 F Brooke tr Le Blanc's Trav 14 By reason of the impurity of the ayr, there is scarce any more than these two townes in the whole country 1799 Hutton Phil Trans (1847) I 156 Its entrails are shaken out, it being only the body thus cleansed from all its impurities 1806 Jrnl Nat V 547 Wipe out the little subsequent drop of pus, in order to guard against impurity 1860 Ruskin Mod Painters I 87 (1897) V 87 Twelve years of annual decay, we can hardly arrive at a more absolute type of impurity than the mould or slime of a dump over trodden path in the outskirts of a manufacturing town

2 The state, act or condition of being morally impure, uncleanness, unchastity, defilement by sin

1548 Udall etc Erasm Par John xiii 74 I accepte the affections of his mynde be often purged from all impurite of this worlde 1620 Helps Means & Motives (1631) 41 Impurity or bestialnesse is not hard to be defined a 1721 Ken Dr Lect Wks (1838) 29, I et thy love, who art purity itself, create in me a perfect Palsalenness of all impurity 1874 Sanger Compar Theol viii 305 Sin and moral impurity are words which he would not understand

b With an and pl That which is or makes impure morally, moral uncleanness or corruption a 1450 tr De Imitatione iii 59 Who come heavenly wet nes, & make he fro [a visage all] more impurite 1593 Shakes Lucr 854 But this foul, grievous, and damned deed Some impurite doth not pollute. 1630 Dr Vericel tr Camus Admir Events 80 Rife with Novels full of impurities impieties 1790 Burke Rev Fr II 40 147 Let no visible or audible impurity enter the apartment of a child

3 The quality of containing some extraneous or foreign admixture, esp of an inferior or baser kind, concr foreign matter which detracts from the purity of any substance

1605 Timme Quersit I ix 37 Sailes haue their copoll impurities 1704 Norris Ideal World II iii 182 The mere physical impurity of thought is the materiality of its object 1750 tr Lemurius Virt Stones 25 These virtues are varied by reason of the purity or impurity of the matter 1799 G Smith Laboratory I 142 Next the copper to prevent ashes or other impurities getting, to it 1842 Parnell Chem Anal (ed) 3 The [chemical] acid of commerce is always contaminated with impurities which render it quite unfit for general use as a re agent

Impurple, obs form of Imperpetuate v

†Impurpure, v Obs Also 7 em- [f Im-1 + Purpure, earlier form of Purple] trans To make purple, to empurple

1558 Lyndesay Monarche Prol 146 Quhose donke impur purit vestiment nocturnall, With his inhoneuoit mantyll mutatyve 1628 Sir W Mure Spir Hymne 114 Empur pling thy vnstained face

Impuŕ, var of Input v, to put in Imputability (impiʊtăbˈiliti) [f IMPUTABLE -ITY. So med F imputabilité] The quality or condition of being imputable 1772 R WATSON Chem Ess (1787) V 175 There ariseth a proportionable imputability of conduct 1831 BLAKEY Free will 32 The entire absence of restraint confers upon all human actions the character of moral imputability 1857 I. E. WEBB Intellectualism Locke vii 141 That which declares and measures the Moral Imputability of Actions. 1875 POSTE Gaius iii (ed 2) 432 They imply imputability, or responsibility for dolus and culpa.

Imputable (impiʊtăbl), a [ad med L imputabilis, f imputare to IMPUTE see -BLE Cf F imputable (Oresme, 14th c.)]

1 That may be imputed to or assigned to the account of, chargeable, attributable.

1626 JACKSON Creed VIII xxvii § 5 The errour is imputable onely to the Translator or Interpreter, not to the author 1665 BOYLE Occas Reft Introd (1848) 29 Apologies for the Imperfections imputable to this Treatise 1680 I. JESSOP Serm Cure Wks 1693 I 271 I fear being exposed to a sin out of covering, would be imputable to themselves only 1845 J. G. CAMPBELL Chancellors xxii (1857) V 217 No blame is imputable to him 1880 MERIVALE Rome IV. § 163 xxiv Damages, the amount of the pursuer's loss imputable to the defender

†2 Liable to imputation, open to accusation or censure, blameworthy, reprehensible, culpable Cf IMPUTE v 3 Obs

1600 JER. TAYLOR Duct Dubit I ii There being nothing that can render an action culpable or imputable [etc.] 1710 SHAFTESB Charact II ii (1737) I 168 Is not justly blameable and imputable Act 1728 ALLEINE Parents on 58 He knew seems her to be a dutiful wife in no wise imputable. 1784 J. BARRY in Lect Pantol (1848) 162 His fault is hardly imputable, as it was not committed through ignorance but by election

Hence Imputableness, the quality of being imputable, Imputably adv, in a way that is imputable or chargeable with fault

1678 NORRIS Coll Mis. (1699) 298 'Tis necessary to imputableness of an Action, that it be avoidable 1710 Pref Pref vii 337 A man may sin by following his conscience and that too imputably, if it was mistaken for want of care to inform it better

†Imputa rian. Obs rare⁻¹ [f IMPUTE v + -arian, as in Unitarian, Trinitarian, etc.] One who holds the theological doctrine of imputed righteousness

1668 PENN Sandy foundation 28 Some of the same spirit with the Satisfactionists and Imputarians of our time.

Imputation (impiʊtēˈʃən) [ad late L imputātiōn-em, n of action from imputāre to IMPUTE Cf F imputation (15th c. in Godef Compl.)]

1 The action of imputing or attributing some thing, usually a fault, crime, etc., to a person, the fact of being charged with a crime, fault, etc., (with pl.) an instance of this, accusation, charge

1581 SIDNEY Apol Poetrie (Arb.) 51 Nowe then goe wee to the most important imputations laid to the poore Poets. 1597 SHAKS. 2 Hen IV, V i 81, I would humour his men, with the imputation of being neere their Master 1611 BIBLE Transl Pref 20 The imputation of Sixtus that our people had bene fed with draffe, Dragons in stead of wine 1693 DRYDEN Tr Juvenal Ded 7 Heaven be prais'd, our common Libellers are as free from the imputation of Wit, as of Morality 1798 Ld Auckland Corr Wks 1842 II 202 The imputation of a new violation of faith 1802-12 BENTHAM Rationale Evidence Wks 1843 VII 36 Individuals, really innocent, have sunk under a load of imputations heaped upon them by fallacious circumstantial evidence. 1871 MARRIOTT Adam Lapse § 258 Rashness or heedlessness may be a ground of criminal imputation

2 Theol The attributing to believers of the righteousness of Christ, and to Christ of human sin, by vicarious substitution, also, the imputing of the guilt of Adam's sin to all his descendants

1545 JOYE Exp Dan xi, 43b In the remission of synnes and in the imputation of rightwysnes and lyfe eternall 1597 HOOKER Eccl Pol V lvi. § 11 We participate Christ partly by imputation, as when those things which he did and suffered for us are imputed unto us for righteousnesse 1656 COWLEY Misc. Pref, No body can be justified by the imputation of another's Merit 1798 S. HAYWARD Serm IX 270 Of this kind is the imputation of Christ's righteousness, the imputation of our sins to him, and the imputation of Adam's sin to us 1834 HOOK Ch. Dict (1871) 381 Imputation is the attributing of a character to a person which he does not really possess

b concretely

1642 ROGERS Naaman 13 Christ was no such large imputation of all grace, as Adam was of sin

†3 Attribution of merit to oneself), the making a merit of a thing (So L. imputātio) Obs

1628 EARLE Microcosm, Meere Gull (Arb.) 93 A man that will spend his wise pence with a great deale of imputation, and no man makes more of a pinte of wine then he

Imputative (impiʊtătiv), a [ad late L imputātīv-us (c 200 Tertullian), f ppl stem of imputāre to IMPUTE see -IVE]

1 Characterized by being imputed, existing or arising by imputation esp in reference to the theological doctrine of imputed righteousness

1579 FULKE Refut Rastel 704 All the iustice and holynesse of good men is but an imputatiue iustice 1600 E. BLUNT Hospit Incur Bodies A ij, Poets still traduce your Ladyships with the imputative slanders of Niggardise and instability 1691 SHADWELL Scowrers II, A man would think we need no imputative wickedness. 1733 NELSON Life Bp Bull 3 The imputative Righteousness of Christ 1882-3 SCRIVN Fasciol Relig Knownl II 1668 He fought for supralapsarian predestination, imputative justification, etc

2 Given to making imputations

1824 Examiner 736/1 Never being smart, ironical, or what is will venture to call imputative

Hence Impu tatively adv, in an imputative manner; by imputation Impu tativeness, imputative character or quality

c 1621 S WARD Life of Faith (1627) 61 A lust man, not onely imputatiuely, but inherently in part. a 1708 BEVERIDGE Priv Thoughts VII (1816) 65 The righteousness of God, radically his but imputatively ours 1837 G. S FABER Prim Doctr Justif II 186 note, Of the Church of old it is said, on the same principle of imputativeness [etc.] 1879 in Meyer's Ep Corinth II v 296 The γενοῦται δικαιοσύνη θεοῦ is a mere phrase for mere imputatively

Impute (impiūtˈ), v Also 4 input, 6 inpute [a F imputer (Oresme, 14th c.), earlier OF emputer, ad L imputāre to bring into the reckoning enter into the account, charge, f im- (IM-1) + putāre to clear up, settle, reckon]

1 trans. To bring (a fault or the like) into the reckoning against, to lay to the charge of, to attribute or assign as due or owing to (†into, unto) c 1375 Sc Leg Saints, Margaret 701 Thesu, for þi pitte þu input nocht þe ded to me! 1526 TINDALE Corinthyans xii 19 A lyar thu dredeth not — to Impute to theym [the goddes] that they ben cause of thyn vntrouth 1535 JOYE Apol Tindale (Arb.) 10 Here he imputeth vnto me certain crymes 1674 N. COX Gentl Recreat II (1677) 173, I rather impute that fault to the ignorance, or negligence and harshness of the translator. 1708 Johnson's Vun Dict Wks. I. 8/2 We usually ascribe good, but impute evil 1814 D ISRAELI Quarrels Auth (1867) 263 He had frequently imputed to the poet meanings which never entered his thoughts 1869 MR. J. P. CORNISH Mem Keble 153 No one could impute that he took them up lightly 1875 SCRIVENER Lect Text N. Test 7 Variations such as we must once impute to the fault of the scribe

b Less usually in a good sense To set to the credit of, to ascribe or reckon to

1524 tr Marlorat's Apocalips 16 Imputing all things to God's goodnesse 1611 BIBLE Rom IV 22 It was imputed to him for righteousnesse 1767 JOHNSON Let to W Drummond 2 Apr., I hope you do not flatter me by imputing to me merit 1821 BIBLE Douay Rom IV 22 Which also GENTILIS Eng, Ivanties, Annotations Wks (Bohn) II 89, I imputed to these English an advantage in their secure and polished manners

2 Theol To attribute or ascribe (righteousness, guilt, etc.) to a person by VICARIOUS substitution See IMPUTATION 2

†1539 BIBLE (Great) Rom IX 6 Daniel descrybeth the blessednesse of that man, vnto whom God imputeth righteousnesse, without dedes] 1583 FOLK Defence Eng, Ivanes, Annotations Wks (Bohn) II 89, I imputed to these English an advantage in their secure and polished manners

2 Theol To attribute or ascribe (righteousness, guilt, etc.) to a person by VICARIOUS substitution See IMPUTATION 2

†1539 BIBLE (Great) Rom IX 6 Daniel descrybeth the blessednesse of that man, vnto whom God imputeth righteousnesse without dedes] 1583 FOLK Defence Eng, Ivanes, Annotations Wks (Bohn) II 89, I imputed to these English an advantage in their secure and polished manners

The justice of Christ which is imputed unto us by faith 1667 MILTON P. L. III 291 Thy merit Imputed shall absolve them who renounce Their own both righteousness and unrighteous deeds 1771 WESLEY Wks (1872) V 237 To all believers the righteousness of Christ is imputed 1876 J. P NORRIS Bampton Lect 118 Luther's theory of imputation —man's sin was imputed to Christ, and Christ's righteousness was imputed to man

3 To charge, arraign, or tax with fault, to accuse

1596 MUNDAY tr Silvayn's Orator 29 You will impute me for favoring more the Plebeian then Patrician fraction 1625 BACON Ess (Arb.) 541 If you find, Do not impute me with it, I am clear 1639 GENTILIS Servitus Impius (1656) 886 They ought not to proceed but against the person impeached 1859 JENNINGS Vernon Rites They must not impute a crime Are prompt to it, and impute themselves

†b loosely To condemn, sentence Obs rare

c 1540 Pilgr Tale 455 In thynne Ammaude (1865) App 1 90 O wyched worme by god imputed to crepe apon thy brest

†4. To reckon or take into account, to reckon, regard, consider Obs

1531 TINDALE Expost (Parker Soc 1849) 89 God promiseth to forgiu vs our sins, and to impute us for full righteous 1548 UDALL etc. Erasm Par John XVIII 111 They yet impute themselues none vnrighteous man under 1550 Pilgr Perfection 48 Nowe may impute this to occupie the place of the tenthe 1611 SPEED Theat. Gt. Brit VI 16/41 111/1 (K Henry VI) Who holy Church imputed for a Saint 1618 MARVELL Rich Transp II 15 They impute it for a great obligation 1727 SWIFT Proper for Mrs Johnson II, Accept and impute all her good deeds 1794 JOHNSON (Webster 1864) If we impute this first humiliation as the cause of his death

†5 To impart Obs

1594 J DICKENSON Arisbas (1878) 63 I trust me, employ me, impute to me thy desires 1633 (? HERBERT Temple, Faith ix, Thou didst make the sunne, Impute a lustre, and allow them bright 1675 TRAHERNE Chr Ethics 57 The Value of the objects imputes a lustre and higher value to the light wherein they are enjoyed

Hence Impu ting vbl sb, also Impu ter, one who imputes or charges

1611 COTGR., Imputateur, an imputer, a putter of thing vpon others. 1630 Pen't Conf XII (1657) 316 For the not imputing, the remitting, and covering of sin appertain to the righteousness of faith a 1641 BP MOUNTAGU Acts & Mon (1642) 169, I wonder it is not vouched by the Imputers, that he was counterfaited by the Apostles themselves

†Impute, sb Obs rare⁻¹ [f IMPUTE v cf repute] Imputation, charge

1649 G DANIEL Trinarch, Rich II, XXV, Hee might be worthy blame, (If Royalty may fall under Impute)

Imputer, VAT of IMPUTE v, to put in

Imputed (impiūtĕd), ppl a [f IMPUTE v + ED]

1 Charged (as a fault), attributed or ascribed

1598 HOLOBT, Imputed, obiectus 1599 SPENSER F Q II i 20 He shortly shall againe be tryde, And fairely quit him of th' imputed blame 1690 LOCKE Hum Und II ix § 20 To distinguish the primary, and real Qualities of Bodies, which are always in them from those secondary and imputed Qualities, which are but the Powers of several Combinations of those primary ones. 1794 SULLIVAN View Nat II 299 Their imputed names were titles 1851 CHURCH Oxford Sermon x. 169 The party soon had the faults of a party, real and imputed

2 Ascribed by vicarious substitution

1620 GRANGER Div Logicke 60 Imputed justice by which we are justified before God, is inherent in Christ 1799 SWIFT Libel on Delany, Steel, who own'd what others writ, And flourish'd by imputed wit 1849 ROBERTSON Serm I ix 141 By imputed guilt is not meant, in theological language, that a person is treated as if he were guilty 1871 MACLOSKY New Patmos XIII 173 The pure white garment of Christ's imputed righteousness.

Hence Impu tedly adv, by imputation

1648 P BULKELEY Gospel Conf II 173 When he hath made us imputedly righteous, he will have us inherently righteous also

Imputrescence (impiʊtrēˈsĕns) [f IM-2 + PUTRESCENCE] Absence of putrescence or decomposition 1658 PHILLIPS, Imputrescence a keeping from putrefaction, or rotting, an uncorruptiblenesse 1823 New Monthly Mag VII 144 The mummies found his body with all the usual characteristics of animation and imputrescence.

Imputrescibi lity. [f next + -TY] The quality of being imputrescible or incorruptible

1727 in BAILEY vol II 1797 PEARSON in Phil Trans LXXXVIII 28 Peculiar distinguishing properties are, imputrescibility, facility of crystallization [etc.]

Imputrescible (impiʊtrēˈsibl), a [f IM-2 + PUTRESCIBLE] Not subject to putrefaction or decomposition, incorruptible

1756 in BRIGHT Clavigo 1802 HATCHETT in Phil Trans XCV 211 Tannin renders the skins of animals insoluble in water, and imputrescible 1832 MURPHY Tanning & Currying (1834) 47 It thus forms insoluble and imputrescible compounds

†Impu trible, a Obs Also 5 in- [ad late L imputribil-is (c 400 Augustine, Jerome), f im- (IM-2) + putribilis corruptible, f putrēre to be rotten see -IBLE] Imputrescible, not subject to decomposition, not liable to rot or decay

1430-40 LYDG Bochas IV i (MS Bodl 263) lf 212/1 Mirris braunchis, which been Imputrible Enduring euere and corupte nouht c 1450 Myrour Saluacionis 4 He is examinacion arke of Sathun a tree imputrible was made 1607 TOPSELL Fourf Beasts (1658) 15 It was afterward supposed he was buried therein, and was lively to be seen imputrible

†Imputrid (impiʊˈtrid), a Obs [f IM-2 + PUTRID] Not putrid applied to a fever

1684 tr Bonet's Merc Compital VI 188 Whether drinking of cold Water be proper in an imputrid continued fever 1822-34 Good's Study Med (ed 4) I 676 The species has been distinguished by a variety of names imputrid synocha, which is that of Galen, imputrid continued fever that of Boerhaave, imputrid continent that of Lommius.

Imputt, Imputter see INPUT, etc

I mpy, a rare [f. IMP sb + -Y] Impish

1845 Blackwood's XXXVI 744 A swarm of impy changelings.

†I mpy rio, a Obs var of EMPYRE, empyrean

1552 LYNDESAY Monarche 6034 Frome erth, vp to the Heuin Impyre, All beis renewit be that fyre 1567 Gude & Godlie B (S.T.S.) 39 Thai say all cum To glor and joy, and heuin Impyre a 1605 MONTGOMERIE Misc Poems XIII 10 That ferrest fyre Of burning love impyre

Impyre, obs form of EMPIRE

Impyteous, -pytous, -pytuous, obs var IMPITEOUS

Imunction, variant of EMUNCTION, Obs

1601 HOLLAND Pliny XXX v, The imunction of the eies, with the juice thereof [ie green onions], is thought to cleare their cleatrises or cloudinesse of the eies

I-munde see YMUNDE

†I-mune, I-myne, v Obs [OE gemunan, gemynan, f munan to remember] trans To bear in mind, remember

971 Blickl Hom 81 Ond gemunde heortan ȝemunan and ȝeþencan c 1000 Ags Gosp Luke I 72 Memuan (Vindisf ȝemyndzan) þes halezan cy̆þnesse c 1000 St Juliana 721 in Exeter Bk, Þæt he mec in monan minum ȝemyne c 1205 LAY 16309 Wel ȝe hit maȝen imunen Þat ich wulle maenen

I-munt, pa pple of MINT v, to intend.

†I-munte, v Obs [OE ȝemyntan, f myntan to think, intend] trans. To intend, determine c 1000 Ælfric Hom II 126 Gregorius ȝemunde hwæt he Angelcynne ȝemynte c 1205 LAY 898 For ȝeure more he mai imunten þet he him her imunten[r ȝ imunte]

I-mur6red, ME pa pple of MURDER v

I-mylded, ME. pa pple of MILD v

In (in), prep. Forms a 1- in, also 3 Orm. inn, 5 yn(e, ynne B. 2-6 I, 1-, 3-4 y, 6- i' [Common Teut — OFris., OS., OHG., Goth in, ON. í (Sw., Da. i), cognate with L in, Gr ἐν]

In OE, in all those texts in which the word occurs, the full form in is used, but in early ME the apocopated i became common in certain dialects.

In the Ormulum, inn (inn) is employed before vowels and h, and i before all consonants except h. Early southern texts, such as the Lamb and Cott Homilies, Juliana, St Kath, St Marher, Ancr R, shew a similar tendency, but with more or less irregularity, the MSS. often differing in this respect, on the whole, i is preferred when the prep precedes the definite article or the demonstrative pronouns, as i þe, i þis, i þat In some of these texts (Ancr R, Lamb. Hom.) the relations of the two forms are further complicated by the use of in, which also appears (e.g. in Ayenb, Owl & Night, Shoreham) where I is rare or altogether wanting. The prevalence of I in these southern texts suggests that Ormin's use of this form was not due to Scandinavian influence, especially as northern writers (including Scottish down to 1600) always employed in, though i is common in the modern dialects. In standard English from the time of Chaucer in has been the normal form, but former colloquial usage is sometimes retained in verse in the combination i' th', or as an archaism in i' faith.

c1275 Lamb. Hom 73 Þa þinges þe wetere and fueles þe lufte c1200 Ormin Ded 5 Hrobert min i Godeshus Ibid. 506 Ic seruenn i þe temmple c1205 Lay. 1231 Bigende Frannc i þet west a1240 Sawles Warde in Cott Hom 248, I þis hus is be huse lauerd 1610 Shaks. Temp i. ii. 84 All hearts i th' state Ibid. 130 Ith' dead of darkenesse. Ibid ii. i. 147 I'th Commonwealth a 1734 (see 2g). 1786 Burns Vision i. 11, When the day had clos'd his e'e, Far i' the west 1895 Browning * Up Boanerges* 1 Cool i faith! We ought to have our Abbey back you see.]

General Sense —The preposition expressing the relation of inclusion, situation, position, existence, or action, within limits of space, time, condition, circumstances, etc. In ancient times, expressing also (like L. in) motion or direction from a point outside to one within limits, the two senses being determined by the case of the word expressing the limits, the former taking the dative (originally locative), the latter the accusative or case of direction. These cases being subsequently levelled, this distinction ceased to be practicable, and the latter relation is now ordinarily expressed by the compound in-to, Into, but there are various locutions in which (either because the accompanying verb conveys the sense of motion, or through the preservation of an ancient phrase without analysis) in still expresses motion from without to within

In OE. (as in OS. and the same extent in OFris.) the prep in was displaced by the prep on (Wger an, Goth ana), so that in classical and late Wsaxon, and to some extent in other OE dialects. on was used for both on and in, an emphatic or distinctive sense of 'in' being however expressed by innan (See full details in Dr J. Miller, O.E. Version of Bede, Introd. pp. xxxvii–xl.) Anglian, esp in the north and west, in remained (though, under WSax influence, often displaced by on in documents), and in ME the distinction of in and on was gradually restored, though many traces of their former blending still remain (See sense 2.)

The formal coincidence of in with the L prep in (with which it is originally cognate) led to its being employed, in translating from L, in senses or uses which were idiomatic in L, but not originally English These also have affected the current contextual use of the preposition

I Of position or location

Primarily in (of position) is opposed to out of anything which in is a given space is not out of it, and vice versa The compound with in, is mainly an equivalent of in emphasizing the relation to limits. The simple relation words nearest in use to in are at and on, with which in sometimes has common ground, e.g. I'm or at Oxford, I'm or on a street', I'm or on behalf of a man. In may also have common ground with with, as 'to travel in or with a caravan, a railway train, etc.'

1 Of place or position in space or anything having material extension Within the limits or bounds of, within (any place or thing)

May relate to a space of any size, however large or small: e.g. in the universe, in the world, in heaven, in hell, in the earth, in the sea (otherwise on the earth, on the sea, at sea), in a field, wood, forest, desert, wilderness (but on a heath, moor, or common), in (U.S on) a street, in a house, garden, carriage, box, drawer, nut shell, drop of water, etc.

a 900 Epinal Gloss 542 Pro in, in maethlae c 825 Vesp Psalter viii. 2 Hu wundurlic is noma ðin in alre eorðan c 1275 Lamb Hom 7 Þa children plezeden in þere strete Ibid 23 Þa men þe beoð þe cauel i þeos live 1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 2 Engelond iset in þe on ende of þe worlde as al in þe weste c 1330 R Brunne Chron Wace (Rolls) 853 Þey nou saylynge in þe se. a 1361 Lanel P. Pl A i. 114 Summe in þe Est, and summe in þe Weste, and summe in helle deope 1426 E. Wills (1882) 73 My bukkes in Wodestrete. 1470–85 Malory Arthur x. 8, In euery place he asked after sir Launcelot, but in no place he coude nere of hym 1551 Recorde Pathw Knowl 1 xxvii, The same is not named to be drawen in a triangle, because it doth not touche the sides of the triangle 1608 Topsell Serpents (1658) 741 Dryed in a furnace 1653–1758 In the open air (see Air 2 b). 1660 Wood Life 4 Dec (O H S) I 350 His chamber in Merton Coll a 1700 Br Patrick Ambolog (1839) 105, I never saw greater devotion in any congregation 1711 Addison Spect No 10 P♣ Spectators, who live in the World without having anything to do in it 1818 Shelley Rev Islam x xv, The fish were possessed in the streams, the birds In the green woods perished 1828 Scott F. M. Perth ii, Adjacent to Couvrefew Street in which they lived 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng I i. 150 The restored wanderer reposed safe in the palace of his ancestors. 1852 Dickens Bleak Ho vi, The wind's in the East 1855 Kingsley Heroes, Perseus I 4 They are in the open sea. 1875 Birsham Mosaics viii 137 An orderly in the doorway 1898 Flo Montgomery Tony 9 In a somewhat crowded train

b. After in, the article is often omitted esp when the function of the place is the prominent notion, as in bed, in chancery, in chapel, in church, in court, in hall, in prison, in school, in town see the sbs.

In earth, in sea, follow in heaven, in hell, which are treated like geographical proper names see c c 1175 Lamb Hom 13 Þe eorðe, in heuene is his maðle c 1300 Cursor M 11793 (Gött.) Alle þat drouned in see 1380 in Eng Gilds (1870) 3 He he in toun oþer out of toun 1398 Trevisa Barth De P. R. xii. 1 (1495) 296, I suffre not a woman to teche in chyrche 1593 Shaks 3 Hen VI, iii. ii. 70, I had rather lye in Prison 1675 Ir Machiavilli's Prince (Biddle) 1907 Strahorn Hunt 120, I saw a number of florins in bank 1744 Berkeley Siris § 77 A large glass every hour taken in bed 1852 Dickens Bleak Ho ii, In Chancery Between John Jondyce [etc.] Mod Hundreds lay languishing in prison

c In is used with the proper names of continents, seas, countries, regions, provinces, and other divisions, usually also of large cities, esp the capital of a country, and of the city or town in which the speaker lives Cf At prep 2 c c 900 O E Chron. an 894 Þa zesaledredon þa he in North hymbrum bugeað & on East Englum 971 Blickl Hom 121 Wæs he in Italia afeded, in Romane þrowe þy tir. c 1205 Lay 10512 Wes Allec be king in are temple in Tundicone. c 1300 Cursor M 24765 William lasted, þat warr aud in þis land 1393 Langl Piers Pl (C) xxi. 153 Þouh Wales and Irselte in Capernaum. 1686 F Sedger tr Varilla's Ho Medicis 136 The worthiest man in Europe 1841 Emerson Nat Hyperchr Wks (Bohn) I. 18, We wished her at—Bath, or not in London 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng ii I 158 The Presbyterian system was fully established nowhere but in Middlesex and Lancashire

+2 = On (of position) Obs

Partly a reaction from the blending of in with on in OE., but partly also traced in I'm, and partly due to a different notion, as in bed, in chancery, etc.

Beowulf (Z) 1052 Hio syððan wæl-m gum stole gode mære breac a 1000 Boethius xli 98 (Gr) Ne hafa ic in healde liwtle locan on þisse worulde Ibid 123 (Gr) Forðæm ic wrat þa in waze worda ȝeryno c 1250 Meid Maregr (Vio, Ho Sette it fot in is neske 1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 6179 Me a feld abouten an hulle 1340 Ayenb 17 Þe hermite þat þa hadde at ham, in þat montan Ibid 181 b In his heued he haþ be scall a 1300 etc, In a chair [see Chair 2 d] c 1330 Sir Amadace xxiv. 8 E. E. Pl (1862) 99 In þe Rode as it loueð dede ic wole sette þe c 1380 Wyclif Wks (1880) 457 Þe pope sittiþ in his trone. a 1430 Pilgr Lyf Manhode (1869) 121 Put oon bar bat oober in hire nekke c 1440 Promp Parv 11 238 Sette him up an hize in the rend of a long pole Ibid 5 Sette hym vp an hyze in the ende of a long pole Rob Deuyll 28 He kneled downe in the floore a 1550 Christis Kirke Gr xviii, His wyfe hang in his wast. 1607 Topsell Beasts (1658) 741 The Kite must lay the rams in his neck 1664 Marvell Corr Wks 1872–5 II 157 note, Parr from making any favourable impressions in the Isle of Ely 1678 Patrick Enem Conchaled 89 Hadrian's long ago in the Throne of the Roman Church 1701 Stanley's Hist Philos Biog 10 He spent his time in the Solitary Life of a Mountain 1730 A Gordon Maffei's Amphith 42 Hattering Fame is generally in the magni fying side.

+3 = At Obs

1647 Clarendon Hist Reb vi § 85 Then was the General in the head of his Regiment shot in the thigh 1653 Holcroft Procopius 20 The Barbarians came up close, with Gesimer in the head of them 1671 Milton P. R. i. 98 Ere in the head of nations he appear

3 In is now regular with collectives thought of as singular (in an army, a crowd), among with plurals or collectives thought of as plural (among the people), but through Latin influence in was formerly used also with plurals

1 Mes Psalt Psalter lxvi 3 Det we onðnawen in allum þeodum hiora ðin a 900 Cynewulf Crist 1051 in Exeter Bk, Þem strengra is hand in sycle þeah-wihtan þinga 1340 Ayenb 17 Þe wel-ilyke Gosp Luke i 28 zebloned þu in wifum 1390 Gower Conf Wks III 445 Irenis would not here bis publisshe in peyne 1588 — Pr Ivey (Dent) 41 I hue to knowe the wise on erthe, thin heeithe in alle folkis 1535 Coverdale Judith viii 21 Seinge ye are the honorable and elders in the people of Israel

4 With numerals, nouns of quantity and the like, expressing ratio or rate

1598 W Phillips Imaholen (1864) 171 Commonly worth nine and twenty or thirty in the hundred profit 1623 Cockeram Dict, Creditour Wks. (1856) 161 He takes vp groats i' th' pound 1703 Moxon Mech Exerc 239 Dearer by about six Shillings in a Thousand 1708 Lodge tr Alberti's Arch I 7 A very good Rise for slopes is half an inch in every three foot 1732 Neal Hist Purit I Pref 7 Not one beneficed clergyman in six was capable of a compotation 1760 Wesley Journ 23 June (1872) III 62 Ninety nine in a hundred were attentive 1892 Law Times XCII 147/1 A debtor offered 6*d.* 8*d.* in the pound

5 Defining the particular part of anything in which it is affected a 1225 Ancr R 122 A lutel thurt i þen eie deriued more þen 1268 a mukel i þe hele a 1300 Cursor M 8811 Þam sal þai dred be brand þat brint him forwit in his hand Ibid 12184 Leui was wrath And gaf him in be heued a dint a 1333 in Hexham Stat Priory 158 Hiun kyst her in the mouth a 1618 Ralph ii Preem Part (1628) 15 He was knock't in the head by Parliament a 1626 Middleton More Dissemblers v. 1, There's many Whom I have nipp'd i' th' ear 1703 Moxon Mech Exerc. 36 You must mend it in that place 1795 Hist in Anec Reg 70 A masked battery took them in flank 1898 Carlyle Fredrk Gt iv ix II 491 King of the Two Sicilies whom Naples, in all ranks of it, willingly homages as such. 1898 Tit Bits 27 Sept. 484/1 The horse is blind in one eye

6 Expressing relation to that which covers, clothes, or envelopes, its material, its colour, etc, —clothed in, wearing, enveloped in, bound in, etc. as a lady in a court dress, in a Gainsbo' ough hat, in muslin, in mourning, in white, in curl-papers, a man in armour, in slippers, in a wig, a parcel in brown paper, etc. (In Arms, and other idiomatic uses see the substantives.) Cf also 13 b a 1000 Cædmon's Exod 440 (Grein) Sæton æfter hleoþrum in blan-m feaþre a 1240 Hali Meidenhad (Cott Hom 277 Poure þu wunden wa ittattes and i clutes c 1300 Havelok 1761 Comes a fiuble in a mape 13 Cursor M 10414 (Gött.) Þo tone men been armyd weel Both in yren and in steel c 1386 Chaucer Knt's T 1261 Som wol ben armed in an habuer geon And in a breslate and in a light gypon c 1430 Pilgr Lyf Manhode (1869) 17 þe compayny of martires clothed alle in purpul 1582 J Bell Haddon's Answ Osor 98 b, The same was gaynsayd by some men in armes 1710 Addison Letter No 221 P 1 A little Boy in a black Coat 1843 Blackw Mag LIV 195 A lovely girl in mourning, in sitting 1843 Tait's Mag XXVIII 324 A lady in black velvet visited 1868 Dickens Uncomm Trav xx, A compactly made hand some man in black 7 The physical sense of location often passes into one more immaterial, e.g. in a book, in an author, come to mean 'in the course of the narrative or subject' of the book, or the writings of the author, in a company, college, association, or party, in the army, the navy, and the like, become – 'belonging to, or in the membership of the company, party, the army', etc. In Company, in League, etc. see the sbs.

c 890 O E Chron an 878 Þara monig he in þam here weorpuste waron. c 1175 Lamb Hom 7 Þo wurðe de daunl in þe sallere 1881 Rev A xxii 2 And on either side of þen Iubin þe Apocalipse 1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 56 We sullick her after in þise boc telle of al þis wo c 1300 Cursor M 1559 Farf' We salle, as in company & frende, ga ware 1460 Towneley Myst xvi 202 Syrs, I pray you inquire in all wrytyng, In wrytyng, in bonere, And all other thyng þat legende 1548 Latimer Thoughtes (1562) All things that are written in Geddes boke 1657 Pr Rose Poems in ix (1824) 90 Let it no more in History be told 1668 Stilling fl. Orig Sacr iii ii § 5 No true is that of Salust in Jugurth when he comes to discourse of the Nature of God 1709 Addison Tatler No 131 P 2 A Friend of mine in the Army 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng ii I 325 The habits of the clergyman in society had been completely changed by the Reformation 1887 Ashy Gillmore in Country Gentl Hobby Horse 13 Rides in the Park in London. Can in the Bible any scarce so black vs this royal phantom in his Escurial 1890 Law Times Rep LXIII 685 2 The plaintiff applied for shares in this company

8 With non physical realms, regions of thought departments or faculties of the mind, spheres of action, etc, treated as having extension or content

c 888 K Alfred Boeth ii, Se wes in boccræftum & on worulddæum se rihtwisesta a 1000 Cædmon's Exod 73c (Gr.) Soðton þa swiðe in sefan-ze hyldum a 1225 Leg Kath 697 In mine mod mwð c 1300 Havelok 122 Sho is maket in mi bouht 1602 Carew Ariew Cornw 40 b, If he werkes of god myzt be comprehendit in mannys wit or reson c 1470 Henry Wallace i. 2 Hald in mynde, thar nobille wardis in my sowl 1590 Spenser Q. Fairie II. iv. 2, In countrie is it more behovefull then in the life of a Souldier 1645 Fuller Good Th in Bad T (1841) 33, I discover an arrant laziness in my soul 1650 Bp S Parker Free & Impart Exam Comm App v 16 In my opinion a better designe a 1770 Justin Serm (1772) IV xi 114 Faith which dwells in the memory hath no influence on the heart 1880 J Wilson Noct Ambr Wks. 1855 I 240 How canst thou thus in fancy burn with fruitless fires? 1899 Macaulay Hist Eng vi II 39 All the thirty were in politics vehemently opposed to the prisoner

II Of situation, condition, state, occupation action, manner, form, material, and other circumstances and attributes

9 Of situation, i.e. kind or nature of position e.g. in the dust, in the mud, in snow, in clover, in hot water Often idiomatic see the sbs a 900 Cynewulf Crist 561 in Exeter Bk, In cwic sulle xehyrde. & xehæfte c 1175 Lamb Hom 47 Þerenne þe prophete stod in þere muchle pine 12.. Seleg Soules in Wright Voc & Night (Percy Soc.) 75 Ich schal berrien in fur and chiveren in ise 1535 Coverdale Ps xl. 2 He hath drawen me out of the perdurance in dead cole and askis 1681 Caxton Godfrey 22 Þey hadden doimed in ordure and sylthe 1598 Shaks 2 Hen IV, iii. i. 31 Inches is water 1667 Milton P L ii 629 Leaning on the bosom of Jesus his Love 1711 Addison Spect No 56 P 6, I am to be hang'd in chains 1864 Tennyson Enoch Arden 6 Glocken ber II 1 209 Dooing the descent Melchior, Tuckett, and I, who were in the same cord with them, were obliged to stop until they got down some of the more difficult rocks

c Situation as to light, darkness, and atmospheric environment

Receiuofl. Z) 87 So ellenig-est ·sele in bystrum bad a 1225 Sultana 11 As his brunie wes i besitenrisse a 1300 Cur sor M 17811 (Gott) Pe folk in dedeli mirknes stad 1382 Wyclif Isa ix 2 Pou wes in the lijt of the Lord our God 1553 Wilson Rhet (1580) 100 Stopping in the dark 1605 Shaks Mach i i 2 When shall we three meet againe? In thunder, Lightning or in Raine? 1648 Bp Hall Breath Devout Soul xxix 46 An inheritance in light In light incomprehensible, in light inaccessible 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iii 135 His thick Mane dances in the Wind Ibid Aen 471 Where basking in the Sun shine they may lye 1855 Macaulay Hist Eng xxi IV 393 Privateers and smugglers who put to sea in all weathers 1887 Spectator 23 Aug 1148 Planting his pastern in the ruin

d Situation within the range of sensuous observation or the sphere of action of another. In the eyes of see Eye sb 4 c, d

1388 Wyclif Ezek ix 5 He sede to hem in myn heryng 1545 in Red Ant I 330 He is Kood, that all things made, and all things hath in his power 1460 Towneley Myst 115 All is in my sight 1667 Milton P L iii 655 Thou saw'st Spirits that stand In sight of God's high Throne 1780 Cowper Table T 97 There the group is full in view 1800 Trotter Translay P 11 The living of Framley was in the gift of the Lufton family

10 Of condition or state, physical, mental, or moral e g in a blaze, in debt, in doubt, in comfort, in health in hope, in life, in love, in pain, in sickness in solitude, in sorrow

1825 Jag Pauper ii 1 Dowsabell dryhtne in eye [I in more] 1475 Lamb Hom 59 He makede mon i mihti wisnesse 1897 R Glouc (Rolls) 328 Him bouhte pe ymage in so fayre bleo ich stoc a 1340 Hampole Psalter 50 Per he him sette; per he is in pais 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in semblant in sekenesse ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

b The condition may be expressed by a concrete sb e g in calf, in kid, in cash, in drink, in liquor, in wine, in tears, etc see the sbs

c 1460 Towneley Myst xii 121 What, art thou in mylt? 1568 in Cavendish Wolsey (1893) 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 a great multitude of artificers and laborers dayly in wages 1593 Nashe Christ T (1613) 45 Soule am I impassioned for the storme thy tranquillity in child with 1596 Shaks 1 Hen IV, ii iv 458, I doe not speake to thee in Drinke. 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iv 19 For him the lofty Laurel stands in Tears 1703 Land can No 3971 4 Calves skins in the Hair 1704 Hist No 4034/4 John Jackson used neat 40 in his own Hair 1756-84 Sheridan Dict I 400 Women in the first child seldom have after pains 1799 J Robertson Agric Perth 196 Where the land has not lain for some time grass 1842 Tennyson Will Prol 142 Sweet girl graduates in their golden hair 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng I 123 Leaving their castles in ruins 1866 Rogers Agric & Prices I xxvi 642 Goats in kid 1881 Sheldon Dairy Farming 8/1 If the cow is in milk

11 Of occupation or engagement chiefly with nouns of action and vbl sbs.

c 1205 I Ay 27767 Per he henen funde i fihte a 1300 Cursor M 49 In riot and in rigolage Of all here lif spend pai pe stage 1340 Hampole Pr Conc 3 He shal dispende his Sonday and pe festes pe remne and me hordom 1902 Priory Pipe Lds of York (1890) 52 A servaunt that cam in message to the Quenes grace 1908 Trevisa Higden (1822) 19 The I vedemeanours are already in labour of the war 1701 Stanley's Hist Philos Bog 10 He spent his time innocently between the Colledge and Vnity of the World 1754 Hume Hist Eng 1812 I 11 163 He hung, in pursuance of his engagements had indeed married Editha 1838 Dickens Mem Grimaldi (1846) I 8 search of pleasure Ibid Wordl June 400/1 Grey have been in' almost every variety of crime, from petty larceny down to downright murder

b In the process of, in the act of, in case of often equivalent in sense to a temporal clause introduced by when, while, if, in the event of

c 1400 Maundev (1839) iii 39 Wee synne dedly, in schauynge oure berdes. Ibid, Wee synne dedly, in etynge of bestes. 1477 Earl Rivers (Caxton) Dictes & Gladdeschue, whiche chereses daily in me in leny nyth wisdom I a 1550 Life Pecke in F Hall (E E T S) 111 p lix, I am not afraid in levinge you this counsell to take upon my owne soul all the damage 1591 Shaks 1 Hen VI, v iii 41 And may ye both be suddainly surpriz'd By bloudy hands, in sleeping on your beds 1595 — Merch V iii ii 320 In paying it, it is impossible I should lose 1607 Stat in Hist Wake field Grim Ass (1892) 58 Leaves word thereof att three howres in theire beinge abrode 1846 McCulloch Acc Brit Empire (1854) II 227 In estimating the chances which any candidate has of succeeding to one ever thinks of inquiring into the politics of the tenants 1864 Holme Lee In Silver Age (1866) 408 Kindness is not a virtue that perishes in the using Mod He was drowned in crossing the river

†c After the verb be, and some other verbs, in was formerly used to express the relation of occupation before a verbal sb where it varied with a V prep (2), and is now omitted, the vbl sb functioning as a present participle active. Obs

1309 Hawes Past Pleas (Percy Soc) 79 Of many flowres A goodly chaplet she was in making 1535 Stewart Cron Scot I 528 Richt quyetlie in hunting he is gone 1580 Lyly Euphues (Arb) 367 Camilla, whome he founde in gathering of flowers 1675 Brooke Gold Key Wks 1867 V 577 A griping usurer, who was always best when he was most in talking of the world 1737 Whiston Josephus, Antiq v ii § 2 They went on still in taking the cities Ibid IX xii § 3 He went on in worshipping them 1808 Southey in C C Southey Life (1850) III 137 You saw me in London everlastingly at work in packing my books

†d In (varying with A prep 12) was formerly used with a vbl sb expressing the action or process to which a thing or person was subjected (The prep is now usually omitted, and the vbl sb functions as a present participle, passive in meaning e g while the ark was (in or a) building (= in the process of building, being built) Obs or arch

c 1400 Maundev (Roxb) vi 21 When he toure of Babilon was in making 1465 Marc Paston in P Lett No 533 II 230 Whether Mr Legge at Heydenham was in the bettyn down 1535 Stephen Verm Passion Wks (1876) 427 So the grasse is euer in eatyng, and neuer full eaten 1600 Fenter Pack 16 It hauz a new Church in building 1601 Purton Pool Munic Rec (1883) I 320 New streets are built and still in building 1809 Feltham Norm Conq III xi 35 While the ship which was in doing

12 Of manner (way, mode, style, fashion)

1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 1473 In pis manere be brutons bis land wan3 bo 1300 Cursor M 21614 (Gött) Pe maner in mirpe vn mete vn mesure 1340 Hampole Prose Treat 18 Pe manere of pe confessione 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

b The condition may be expressed by a concrete sb e g in calf, in kid, in cash, in drink, in liquor, in wine, in tears, etc see the sbs

c 1460 Towneley Myst xii 121 What, art thou in mylt? 1568 in Cavendish Wolsey (1893) 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 a great multitude of artificers and laborers dayly in wages 1593 Nashe Christ T (1613) 45 Soule am I impassioned for the storme thy tranquillity in child with 1596 Shaks 1 Hen IV, ii iv 458, I doe not speake to thee in Drinke. 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iv 19 For him the lofty Laurel stands in Tears 1703 Land can No 3971 4 Calves skins in the Hair 1704 Hist No 4034/4 John Jackson used neat 40 in his own Hair 1756-84 Sheridan Dict I 400 Women in the first child seldom have after pains 1799 J Robertson Agric Perth 196 Where the land has not lain for some time grass 1842 Tennyson Will Prol 142 Sweet girl graduates in their golden hair 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng I 123 Leaving their castles in ruins 1866 Rogers Agric & Prices I xxvi 642 Goats in kid 1881 Sheldon Dairy Farming 8/1 If the cow is in milk

13 Of occupation or engagement chiefly with nouns of action and vbl sbs.

c 1205 I Ay 27767 Per he henen funde i fihte a 1300 Cursor M 49 In riot and in rigolage Of all here lif spend pai pe stage 1340 Hampole Prose Treat 18 Pe manere of pe confessione 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

14 Of material, constituents, and the like

1663 Gerbier Counsel 94 They paint them also in strong oyle colour thrice over c 1686 tr Charleton's Iron 75 Our Ships Lading consisted in Salt, Fish, Caveare, Oyle, Biscuite 1710 Addison Tatler No 243 P 1 The Statue of an Horse in Brass 1722 De Foe Col Jack (1840) 23 It was in gold, all but 14s 1852 Dickens Bleak Ho vi, Half length portraits, in crayons 1892 Truth 24 Dec 1615 The long coat was also in green velvet, with sleeves and revers in green cloth

15 Of degree, extent, measure

c 1380 Wyclif Sel Wks III 430 Cristene men shulde have discreet most bank of God in degre possible to hem 1601 Shaks Twel N v vi 81 Misprision in the highest degree 1649 Cromwell Lett & Sp I 14 Which I am in a capacity to give 1737 I Clarke Hist Treat (1740) I iv 583 Without being in the least discouraged 1843 Fraser's Mag XXVIII 64 Facts fell in profusion 1845 Stephen Comm Laws Eng (1874) I 79 Any act repealing in whole or in part any former statute 1875 F Hall in Appomatox Mag XVI 250/1 Drift wood was lying about in large quantities

16 Expressing object, aim, or purpose with an abstr sb, as in affirmation, annoyance, denial, memory, honour, proof, quest, recompense, reply, return, reward, scorn, search, testimony, token, witness, worship, etc See further under the sbs

It is possible that the object here was orig accusative, and that these expressions came under sense 30

a 1225 Juliana A 30 In hire unbileaue wes he ofder leo oper mo 1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 466 Brut let vair tabernacle in honur of him rere 1325 Shoreham 141 In tokne that pays schulde be 1400 Maundev (1839) iv 32 In the worschipe of hem there is a fair chirche 1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W) 1 b Whan they come to bedes, or to worship of the Trinite 1667 Milton P L iv 719 She then in answer spoke 1723 Addison Cato i ii, I claim in my re ward his virtues 1818 Shelley Rev Islam I cant Dwight's xii, Loudly the Beatrice laughed in scorn 1821 J F Cooper Spy viii, He went in quest of his new applicant Mod A holiday in honour of the event He has written to the newspaper in reply to his assailant

17 Expressing reference or relation to something In reference or regard to; in the case of, in the matter, affair, or province of

Used especially when the science or department in relation or reference to which an attribute or quality is predicated see 32 b, c 33-35

III Of time.

18 Within the limits of a period or space of time

With in the day, in the night cf by day, by night, By prep 19 b

Beowulf (Z.) 87 Se ellengæst sele in bystrum bad a 1225 Juliana 11 As his brunie wes i besitenrisse a 1300 Cursor M 17811 (Gött) Pe folk in dedeli mirknes stad 1382 Wyclif Isa ix 2 Pou wes in the lijt of the Lord our God 1553 Wilson Rhet (1580) 100 Stopping in the dark 1605 Shaks Mach i i 2 When shall we three meet againe? In thunder, Lightning or in Raine? 1648 Bp Hall Breath Devout Soul xxix 46 An inheritance in light In light incomprehensible, in light inaccessible 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iii 135 His thick Mane dances in the Wind Ibid Aen 471 Where basking in the Sun shine they may lye 1855 Macaulay Hist Eng xxi IV 393 Privateers and smugglers who put to sea in all weathers 1887 Spectator 23 Aug 1148 Planting his pastern in the ruin

d Situation within the range of sensuous observation or the sphere of action of another. In the eyes of see Eye sb 4 c, d

1388 Wyclif Ezek ix 5 He sede to hem in myn heryng 1545 in Red Ant I 330 He is Kood, that all things made, and all things hath in his power 1460 Towneley Myst 115 All is in my sight 1667 Milton P L iii 655 Thou saw'st Spirits that stand In sight of God's high Throne 1780 Cowper Table T 97 There the group is full in view 1800 Trotter Translay P 11 The living of Framley was in the gift of the Lufton family

10 Of condition or state, physical, mental, or moral e g in a blaze, in debt, in doubt, in comfort, in health in hope, in life, in love, in pain, in sickness in solitude, in sorrow

1825 Jag Pauper ii 1 Dowsabell dryhtne in eye [I in more] 1475 Lamb Hom 59 He makede mon i mihti wisnesse 1897 R Glouc (Rolls) 328 Him bouhte pe ymage in so fayre bleo ich stoc a 1340 Hampole Psalter 50 Per he him sette; per he is in pais 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

b The condition may be expressed by a concrete sb e g in calf, in kid, in cash, in drink, in liquor, in wine, in tears, etc see the sbs

c 1460 Towneley Myst xii 121 What, art thou in mylt? 1568 in Cavendish Wolsey (1893) 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 a great multitude of artificers and laborers dayly in wages 1593 Nashe Christ T (1613) 45 Soule am I impassioned for the storme thy tranquillity in child with 1596 Shaks 1 Hen IV, ii iv 458, I doe not speake to thee in Drinke. 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iv 19 For him the lofty Laurel stands in Tears 1703 Land can No 3971 4 Calves skins in the Hair 1704 Hist No 4034/4 John Jackson used neat 40 in his own Hair 1756-84 Sheridan Dict I 400 Women in the first child seldom have after pains 1799 J Robertson Agric Perth 196 Where the land has not lain for some time grass 1842 Tennyson Will Prol 142 Sweet girl graduates in their golden hair 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng I 123 Leaving their castles in ruins 1866 Rogers Agric & Prices I xxvi 642 Goats in kid 1881 Sheldon Dairy Farming 8/1 If the cow is in milk

11 Of occupation or engagement chiefly with nouns of action and vbl sbs.

c 1205 I Ay 27767 Per he henen funde i fihte a 1300 Cursor M 49 In riot and in rigolage Of all here lif spend pai pe stage 1340 Hampole Prose Treat 18 Pe manere of pe confessione 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

12 Of manner (way, mode, style, fashion)

1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 1473 In pis manere be brutons bis land wan3 bo 1300 Cursor M 21614 (Gött) Pe maner in mirpe vn mete vn mesure 1340 Hampole Psalter 50 Per he him sette; per he is in pais 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

b Uses in which the senses of in (on) and with (by) are both present e g to cover in or with any envelope

c 900 tr Beda's Hist iv xxiv [xxv] (1850) 346 He eal pa he in geliwwesse zelcormian mealite, mid hine zemyndzade.

†c After the verb be, and some other verbs, in was formerly used to express the relation of occupation before a verbal sb where it varied with a V prep (2), and is now omitted, the vbl sb functioning as a present participle active. Obs

1309 Hawes Past Pleas (Percy Soc) 79 Of many flowres A goodly chaplet she was in making 1535 Stewart Cron Scot I 528 Richt quyetlie in hunting he is gone 1580 Lyly Euphues (Arb) 367 Camilla, whome he founde in gathering of flowers 1675 Brooke Gold Key Wks 1867 V 577 A griping usurer, who was always best when he was most in talking of the world 1737 Whiston Josephus, Antiq v ii § 2 They went on still in taking the cities Ibid IX xii § 3 He went on in worshipping them 1808 Southey in C C Southey Life (1850) III 137 You saw me in London everlastingly at work in packing my books

†d In (varying with A prep 12) was formerly used with a vbl sb expressing the action or process to which a thing or person was subjected (The prep is now usually omitted, and the vbl sb functions as a present participle, passive in meaning e g while the ark was (in or a) building (= in the process of building, being built) Obs or arch

c 1400 Maundev (Roxb) vi 21 When he toure of Babilon was in making 1465 Marc Paston in P Lett No 533 II 230 Whether Mr Legge at Heydenham was in the bettyn down 1535 Stephen Verm Passion Wks (1876) 427 So the grasse is euer in eatyng, and neuer full eaten 1600 Fenter Pack 16 It hauz a new Church in building 1601 Purton Pool Munic Rec (1883) I 320 New streets are built and still in building 1809 Feltham Norm Conq III xi 35 While the ship which was in doing

12 Of manner (way, mode, style, fashion)

1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 1473 In pis manere be brutons bis land wan3 bo 1300 Cursor M 21614 (Gött) Pe maner in mirpe vn mete vn mesure 1340 Hampole Psalter 50 Per he him sette; per he is in pais 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

b The condition may be expressed by a concrete sb e g in calf, in kid, in cash, in drink, in liquor, in wine, in tears, etc see the sbs

c 1460 Towneley Myst xii 121 What, art thou in mylt? 1568 in Cavendish Wolsey (1893) 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 a great multitude of artificers and laborers dayly in wages 1593 Nashe Christ T (1613) 45 Soule am I impassioned for the storme thy tranquillity in child with 1596 Shaks 1 Hen IV, ii iv 458, I doe not speake to thee in Drinke. 1697 Dryden Virg Georg iv 19 For him the lofty Laurel stands in Tears 1703 Land can No 3971 4 Calves skins in the Hair 1704 Hist No 4034/4 John Jackson used neat 40 in his own Hair 1756-84 Sheridan Dict I 400 Women in the first child seldom have after pains 1799 J Robertson Agric Perth 196 Where the land has not lain for some time grass 1842 Tennyson Will Prol 142 Sweet girl graduates in their golden hair 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng I 123 Leaving their castles in ruins 1866 Rogers Agric & Prices I xxvi 642 Goats in kid 1881 Sheldon Dairy Farming 8/1 If the cow is in milk

11 Of occupation or engagement chiefly with nouns of action and vbl sbs.

c 1205 I Ay 27767 Per he henen funde i fihte a 1300 Cursor M 49 In riot and in rigolage Of all here lif spend pai pe stage 1340 Hampole Prose Treat 18 Pe manere of pe confessione 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

13 Of occupation or engagement chiefly with nouns of action and vbl sbs.

c 1205 I Ay 27767 Per he henen funde i fihte a 1300 Cursor M 49 In riot and in rigolage Of all here lif spend pai pe stage 1340 Hampole Prose Treat 18 Pe manere of pe confessione 1350 Will Palerne 841 He semede in sekeness ful harde c 1450 Merlin 71, I am in certeyn of oon thyng, that ye fortelle well and in trouthe 1535 Coverdale 2 Chron xxi 19 He dyed in cuell diseases 1602 2nd Pt Return fr Parnass iii iii (Arb) 43 [He] throwes the booke away in a chafe 1666 Pepys Diary 6 June, All the Court was in a hubbub 1721 Addison Spect No 15 ? 6 Her Husband has been in Love with her ever since he knew any Mod No 48 ? 1 I am highly pleased with the Coffure now in Fashion 1738 Lindsay Sethos II iv 273 You are absolutely forbidden speaking to him in private 1791 Mem Pecul Rem Kent 1 Lord Egad, Master, you're in the right 1793 Beddoes Calculus 224 Supposing that the carbon is in a very attenuated state in the blood 1846 Mrs Gore Lady Clara I No sooner in print, than out of print The reviews revere him 1849 Macaulay Hist Eng xiv III 482 The sea was in a blaze for many miles

14 Of material, constituents, and the like

1663 Gerbier Counsel 94 They paint them also in strong oyle colour thrice over c 1686 tr Charleton's Iron 75 Our Ships Lading consisted in Salt, Fish, Caveare, Oyle, Biscuite 1710 Addison Tatler No 243 P 1 The Statue of an Horse in Brass 1722 De Foe Col Jack (1840) 23 It was in gold, all but 14s 1852 Dickens Bleak Ho vi, Half length portraits, in crayons 1892 Truth 24 Dec 1615 The long coat was also in green velvet, with sleeves and revers in green cloth

15 Of degree, extent, measure

c 1380 Wyclif Sel Wks III 430 Cristene men shulde have discreet most bank of God in degre possible to hem 1601 Shaks Twel N v vi 81 Misprision in the highest degree 1649 Cromwell Lett & Sp I 14 Which I am in a capacity to give 1737 I Clarke Hist Treat (1740) I iv 583 Without being in the least discouraged 1843 Fraser's Mag XXVIII 64 Facts fell in profusion 1845 Stephen Comm Laws Eng (1874) I 79 Any act repealing in whole or in part any former statute 1875 F Hall in Appomatox Mag XVI 250/1 Drift wood was lying about in large quantities

16 Expressing object, aim, or purpose with an abstr sb, as in affirmation, annoyance, denial, memory, honour, proof, quest, recompense, reply, return, reward, scorn, search, testimony, token, witness, worship, etc See further under the sbs

It is possible that the object here was orig accusative, and that these expressions came under sense 30

a 1225 Juliana A 30 In hire unbileaue wes he ofder leo oper mo 1297 R Glouc (Rolls) 466 Brut let vair tabernacle in honur of him rere 1325 Shoreham 141 In tokne that pays schulde be 1400 Maundev (1839) iv 32 In the worschipe of hem there is a fair chirche 1526 Pilgr Perf (W de W) 1 b Whan they come to bedes, or to worship of the Trinite 1667 Milton P L iv 719 She then in answer spoke 1723 Addison Cato i ii, I claim in my re ward his virtues 1818 Shelley Rev Islam I cant Dwight's xii, Loudly the Beatrice laughed in scorn 1821 J F Cooper Spy viii, He went in quest of his new applicant Mod A holiday in honour of the event He has written to the newspaper in reply to his assailant

17 Expressing reference or relation to something In reference or regard to; in the case of, in the matter, affair, or province of

Used especially when the science or department in relation or reference to which an attribute or quality is predicated see 32 b, c 33-35

III Of time.

18 Within the limits of a period or space of time

With in the day, in the night cf by day, by night, By prep 19 b

