A-I—Area, Houses and Population

1. Parts of the Table.—This table is divided into three parts. Part (i) relates to the total population; Part (ii) to rural population; and Part (iii) to urban population. Part (i) gives the area in square miles; the number of villages and towns; the number of occupied houses; and the total population with sex break-up. Part (ii) gives the number of villages; the number of occupied houses in villages; and the rural population with sex break-up. Part (iii) gives the number of towns; the number of occupied houses in towns and the urban population with sex break-up.

In the corresponding State Census Tables the total, urban and rural populations are all given in one part following the earlier census practice.

2. Changes in the territory of India since 1941 Census.—Considerable changes have taken place in the territory which constituted India at the 1941 Census. As a result of partition, the former "Provinces" of N.W.F.P., Sind, Baluchistan and parts of Bengal, Punjab and Assam along with the former "Indian States" of Bahawalpur and Khairpur and States and Agencies in Baluchistan and North-West Frontier have been transferred to Pakistan. This was on the 15th August 1947. During the next two years, large numbers of "Indian States" were merged or integrated in a new set-up of States of the Indian Union. Under the Constitution of India there are at present 9 Part 'A' States, 8 Part 'B' States, 10 Part 'C' States and two Part 'D' territories. Appendix I to this table explains the relationship between each of the present States and the 1941 territorial units of "Provinces" and "Indian States".

In 1950, the boundaries of the various States were readjusted in terms of the Provinces and States (Absorption of Enclaves) Order, 1950 and the India and Hyderabad (Exchange of Enclaves) Order, 1950. The result of these changes in terms of population is explained in the Appendix to Table A—II.

Chandernagore became a part of Indian Union after the 1951 Census was taken.

3. Territories to which the figures relate.—Subject to the exceptions specified below, the figures in this table relate to all Part A States, Part B States, Part C States, the Andaman & Nicobar Islands, Chandernagore and Sikkim, within their present boundaries.

Exceptions.—The 1951 Census was not taken in the areas specified below :—

(a) Owing to special conditions prevailing there, the Census was not taken in the Part 'B' State of Jammu and Kashmir ; and

(b) In all previous Censuses the enumeration of what are now known as 'tribal areas' of Assam was limited mainly to the parts thereof which fell within the plains area. At this Census, the count was extended somewhat further into the Naga Tribal area. But the greater part of the remaining Part B Tribal areas of Assam has been left out of the count at this census also.

4. Population of areas in which 1951 Census was not taken.—(i) The population of Jammu & Kashmir was enumerated as 4,021,616 at the 1941 Census. It was estimated at 4.37 millions as on 1.3.1950 under the Constitution (Determination of Population) Order, 1950. With reference to these figures, it is estimated that the population of the State as on 1.3.1951 was 4.41 millions.

(ii) A local estimate (which, at that time, was unverified) indicated that the population of Part 'B' tribal areas of Assam was about 0.56 millions. The figure was mentioned when the provisional census total was published. Enquiries since made have failed to indicate any acceptable basis for the local estimate.

5. Territorial distribution of population.—In former censuses all-India Tables gave figures for 'Provinces', major States and States Agencies for other States, with a total for Provinces, States and Agencies, and all-India. At this Census, considerable number of population totals, both above and below the State level, have been added. The general scheme of all-India Tabulation is now based on the territorial aggregates described as "Zones", "Regions", "Sub-Regions" and "Divisions". A full description of the basis on which these territorial aggregates have been delimited has been furnished in Census of India Paper No. 2 of 1952.

Figures are given in the all-India Tables for States in the zonal order and in each State for the division or divisions in it. The two divisions of Himachal Pradesh and Bilaspur have been combined into one. Separate figures are also given for the six zones, five regions and fifteen Sub-regions. Andaman and Nicobar Islands is treated as a separate division and figures are given separately and it is not included in any zone or region. For Chandernagore also figures are given separately and are included in East India and the Lower Gangetic Plains Sub-region.

6. Area.—Owing to the extensive territorial changes referred to already, area figures for a large number of districts had to be resettled. The latest area figures were worked out and supplied by the Surveyor General of India, and they have been adopted in this table, as well as the corresponding table in all State Census Reports.

7. Villages and Towns.—The census definition of 'villages' is the same in all States, as in previous Censuses. It should be borne in mind that the concept of a 'village' is not demographic, but administrative. As a general rule, it represents a parcel of land, the boundaries of which are defined and settled by a Revenue Survey or by a cadastral survey. It may be, but need not always necessarily be, a single house-cluster with a local name marking its distinctiveness as a residential locality. Places and parts of places treated as 'villages' in one census may cease to be such in subsequent censuses, if they are absorbed in towns. The figures exclude uninhabited villages.

A town is normally an inhabited locality with a total population of not less than 5,000 persons. But, places with a somewhat larger population which do not possess definite urban character may not be treated as towns. At the same time, places with a smaller population with definite urban character (including generally all municipalities and cantonments and other places having a local administration of their own) may be treated as separate towns. The decision, in marginal cases, rests with State Governments in some States and State Census Superintendents in others. At this census there were 2,136 villages with population exceeding 5,000 and 611 towns with population less than 5,000. Details by Zones and States will be found in Appendix II.

8. *Houses and household.—In earlier censuses, the definition of a house was not uniform in all States. At this census a uniform definition of house has been adopted and a conceptual distinction established between the 'house' and the 'household'. A 'house' is a structure; while a 'household' is a human group. A house means a "dwelling with a separate main entrance". " A household means all persons who live together in the same house and have a common mess".

The statement in Appendix III shows the number of households, number of occupied houses and the number of households per 1,000 occupied houses for the various zones and the States. (All figures of houses furnishe in this table relate to "occupied" houses only).

9. Population Totals.—The figures relate to all persons who were alive at sunrise on the 1st March 1951 and were present within the territories (including territorial waters) where the 1951 Census was taken with the exception of—

(a) Non-Indian Nationals who are members of the staff of Diplomatic and Consular Missions in India, of foreign and Commonwealth countries, and stationed in Delhi, Bombay, Calcutta and Madras; and members of their families ; and

(b) Non-Indian Nationals on Non-Indian warships lying in Indian Ports.

The total population given in this table is as follows :—

Persons	356,879,394
Males	183,333,874
Females	173,545,520

These totals differ from those given in Census of India Paper No. 1 of 1952 to a small extent as shown below:—

Persons	49,909
Males	28,220
Females	21,689

The difference is due to the fact that the population of Chandernagore was not included in Census of India Paper No. 1.

10. Inmates of Institutions and Houseless Persons.—The figures furnished in this table include, not merely the aggregate population of all households, but also persons living in institutions such as Hospitals, Jails, Asylums, Boarding Houses etc. as well as houseless persons (e.g. members of wandering tribes, tramps, pavement dwellers, etc.). The numbers of such persons are separately shown by Zones and State in Appendix IV.

* Certain local instructions issued in West Bengal had the effect of practically obliterating the distinction made in this census between house and household.

A-II—Variation in Population during Fifty Years

This table gives, for the same units as Table A-I, the 1951 Census population and the population for the previous five censuses. In order to facilitate comparison, necessary additions to and substractions from the figures of the previous censuses have been effected so as to correspond to the changes in territorial limits. The figures furnished in this table correspond to the present territorial limits.

2. The nature of the changes that have taken place during the last decade has already been explained in the introduction to Table A-I. The Appendix to this table shows the calculations by which the 1941 Census figures have been adjusted to correspond to the present territorial limits.

A-IV—Towns (and Town Groups) Classified by Population with Variation since 1901

A-IV—Towns (and Town Groups) Classified by Population with Variation since 1901

1. This table corresponds to Table IV of the former Censuses and gives for each census town as defined in the Introduction to Table A-I, its population at the 1951 Census and five earlier Censuses (where figures are available) with variation for the last five decades and net variation for the period 1901-1951. Sex break-up of the population is given for the 1951 Census and two earlier Censuses.

2. Classification of 'Towns' and 'Town Groups'.—According to the practice adopted in previous Censuses, every individual census town is placed in one or other of six classes with reference to its Census population as below :—

Class I	100,000 and over
Class II	50,000 to 100,000
Class III	20,000 to 50,000
Class IV	10,000 to 20,000
Class V	5,000 to 10,000
Class VI	Less than 5,000

In effecting this classification no distinction used to be made between an isolated town; and a group of towns which adjoin one another so closely as to form a single inhabited urban locality for demographic purposes. At this Census an attempt has been made to distinguish the latter (under the name "Town Group") from the former (viz. "Town"). This distinction is limited only to Town Groups with an aggregate population of 100,000 and over. This table furnishes figures for towns, as normally understood, as well as Town Groups as defined above. The next table (A-V) is based entirely on the practice of former Censuses and omits all reference to Town Groups.

3. There are in all 71 distinctive urban localities in Class I, of which 31 are Town-Groups (which comprise within themselves 98 Towns) and the other 40 are isolated Towns. Some of these Town Groups include urban areas which have not been treated as separate Census Towns. These areas (numbering 29 in all) are specified below :—

4. In this table, the Town Groups and Towns in Class I and the Towns in Class II have been shown by order of population for India as a whole. The Towns in Class III have been arranged in alphabetical order for India. Population figures for individual Towns below Class III have not been furnished, but following the 1931 practice the total urban population for each of the Classes IV, V and VI have been given separately. Thus the table gives figures for 31 Town Groups (including 98 Towns and 29 urban areas not classified as Census Towns) in Class I; 93 Towns in Class II; 352 Towns in Class III; 652 Towns in Class IV; 1,175 Towns in Class V; and 608 Towns in Class VI. (See footnote)

NOTE.—Comparison with Census of India Paper No. 1 of 1952.—21 urban localities specified below are identical with the Town Groups of the same nature both in area and population relating to.—

5. The total number of Towns according to the 1941 Census was 2390. At this Census, the total number is 3,018. The difference is due to the exclusion of 122 towns of the 1941 Census, and the inclusion of 749 new towns. Details by Zones and States are shown in the APPENDIX.

6. Comparison with Tables A-I and A-V.—There are small differences between the urban population totals of this table and those of Tables A-I and A-V. These differences, and the reasons therefor, are shown below :—

Table	Urban Population Total	Reasons for the difference
A-I	61,875,123	8,014 persons enumerated in certain urban areas of Andaman & Nicobar Islands are included in Table A-I but not in Table A-IV and A-V.
A-IV	61,867,109
A-V	61,836,394	30,715 persons enumerated in certain urban areas of Uttar Pradesh are included in the figures of Kanpur City, Saharanpur City and Hardwar Town in Table A-IV but have been omitted from Table A-V, as not being classified Census Towns.

A-V — Towns arranged Territorially with Population by Livelihood Classes

A-V—Towns arranged Territorially with Population by Livelihood Classes

This table corresponds to Table V of the earlier Censuses with this important difference. In the earlier Censuses the population of every town was classified by Religion, whereas in the present table the population of every town has been classified by Livelihood Classes.

2. The towns are arranged by States in the Zonal order. In each State figures are given for individual towns for Class I, Class II and Class III towns. The towns in each Class are arranged according to population order. After the name of each town an indication is given in brackets of the local administration of that town. In the case of Class IV, Class V and Class VI towns, separate figures are not given for individual towns but only the total for the Class is given. In each Class, totals have been furnished for towns which have a Municipality, Town Committee or other local body ; and also for towns where there are no such local bodies.

3. In the 1951 Census, the entire population of the country has been divided into two broad livelihood categories, viz. agricultural and non-agricultural. Each category is divided into four classes as below :—

Agricultural Classes—

(i) Cultivators of land wholly or mainly owned and their dependants.

(ii) Cultivators of land wholly or mainly un-owned and their dependants.

(iii) Cultivating labourers and their dependants.

(iv) Non-cultivating owners of land ; agricultural rent receivers and their dependants.

Non-agricultural Classes—

Persons (including dependants) who derive their principal means of livelihood from—

(v) Production other than cultivation

(vi) Commerce

(vii) Transport

(viii) Other services and miscellaneous sources.

[Note —(a) Land is deemed to be "owned" if it is held on any tenure (by whatever name it is known locally) which carries with it the right of permanent occupancy for purposes of cultivation. Such right should be heritable. It may be (but need not necessarily be) also transferable.

(b) A "cultivator" (Livelihood Class I or II) is distinguished from a "cultivating labourer" (Livelihood Class III) as the person who takes the responsible decisions which constitute the direction of the process of cultivation, All cultivating labourers are employees of cultivators.

(c) The classification of a person employed in any non-agricultural enterprise or establishment is based on the nature of his own work—not on the nature of the enterprise or establishment concerned. Thus, for instance, not all railway employees are classifiable under Livelihood Class VII (Transport). Those employed in Railway Workshops are classifiable under Livelihood Class V and those employed on Constructional Services under Livelihood Class VIII.]

This classification of population is available for every village and town in the country. In this table the figures for livelihood classes I to III have not been given separately but have been clubbed together in view of the small proportion of persons belonging to these classes in urban areas. The order of livelihood classes has also been changed and the Non-agricultural Classes have been given before the Agricultural Classes.

4. The number of towns shown in this table viz, 3,018 is the same as that shown in table A-I. The urban population according to this table is 61,836,394. As in table A-IV the population of scattered urban areas in Andaman & Nicobar islands with a population of 8,014 persons is not included in this table. Further there are certain urban areas in Uttar Pradesh which have not been treated as census towns but have been included as part of Town Groups or Towns in Table A-IV, but have not been included in this table*. The population of these areas is 30,715. The livelihood classification of this population is given in the Appendix.

* See para 3 of the Introduction to Table A-IV.

C-I – Size and Composition of Sample Households

C-I — Size and Composition of Sample Households

Introductory Note

As part of the 1951 Census Operations, a National Register of Citizens has been compiled in separate parts relating to each village and to each ward of every town or city in the Indian Union where the 1951 Census was undertaken. The Register contains the name of every citizen enumerated at the census arranged by households in serial order along with the census data ascertained in reply to the more important census questions. The Register distinguishes between the "household population" and others who may for convenience be referred to as "Institutional and Houseless Population". The latter consists of persons who did not live in their houses during the enumeration period and were enumerated in hospitals, jails, asylums, etc. They also include houseless people such as members of wandering tribes, people who live on pavements in towns and so on. Such people were enumerated separately on the night preceding sun rise on 1st March, 1951.

Note.—At this Census an attempt was made to distinguish clearly between people living in a 'house' and members of a 'household'. A 'house' was defined as 'a dwelling with a separate main entrance'. A 'household' was defined as 'all persons who live together in the same house and have a common mess'. Thus, the people living in a house may form one household, or more than one household according to circumstances.

2. This table has been prepared from entries made in the National Register of Citizens—these entries having been first selected on a random sample basis. For various reasons, it was not found possible to adopt a uniform size of sample. The actual size of the sample selected in each State is given in the Appendix to this table. For purposes of all India consolidation however, a uniform size of approximately one in one thousand households has been adopted by reducing to this size the figures for States, where the actual size happened to be larger or smaller.

3. Separate figures have been furnished for the General Household population, Rural Household population, Urban Household population in India as well as in each of the six zones. General household population figures are also furnished for Regions and Sub-Regions.

4. In Bihar, the tabulated data relate to houses instead of households. In West Bengal, Sikkim and Chandernagore, the definition of houses and households has been altered by local instructions in a manner which renders the data non-comparable. The information about Hyderabad households is incomplete. The figures for these States are, therefore, excluded from the totals for India, Zones, Regions and Sub-Regions. They have, however, been shown separately at the end of the total.

5. The table is divided into two parts. The first gives the size of sample households. For this purpose, households have been divided into four sizes e.g., small (3 members or less), medium (4 to 6 members), large (7 to 9 members) and very large (10 or more members). Columns 10, 12, 14 and 16 give the number of households of different sizes and columns 11, 13, 15 and 17 the total strength of population in such households. Columns 18 to 21 give the proportion of households of different sizes to 1,000 households while columns 22 to 25 give the proportion of persons living in households of different sizes to 1,000 persons in sample households.

6. Part (ii) gives the family composition of sample households. Columns 6 to 13 give separately the population belonging to the following categories :—

(a) Heads of households and their wives
(b) Sons
(c) Daughters
(d) Other male relatives
(e) Other female relatives
(f) Unrelated male members
(g) Unrelated female members

Columns 14—16 give the number of persons, males and females respectively in 1,000 households and columns 17 to 24 their distribution in the above categories.

C–III—Age and Civil Condition

Introduction to Table C-III — Age and Civil Condition

1. This table is divided into three parts. Part (i) relates to the general population ; part (ii) to the rural population ; and part (iii) to the urban population.

2. In this table the population is divided into the age-groups given below and the population in each age-group is further divided into unmarried, married and widowed or divorced. Separate figures for divorced in each State are given in Appendix I to this table :—

Age	0
Ages	1—4
,,	5—14
,,	15—24
,,	25—34
,,	35—44
,,	45—54
,,	55—64
,,	65—74
,,	75 & over.

Figures are also given separately for 'Age not stated'.

3. This table is not based on the entire population. A ten-percent sample of the population (excluding displaced persons)*was taken at the preliminary sorting of the enumeration slips for every village and ward of a town, into the eight livelihood classes adopted for the census. The following instructions were issued for drawing the sample on which this table is based :—

> "Break each pad and stack the slips of the pad; and "cut" the stack as in a card game. Place the lower portion above the upper portion and then deal the slips into the pigeon holes. You should deal the slips into pigeon holes in the order of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, S 6, 7, 8 and 9 successively. All the time, you should watch the slips for the answer to question 6. If you come across any slip in which the answer to question 6 is different from 0, deal into the pigeon hole for 'displaced persons' ".

4. A comparison of the sex ratio of the sample population with that ascertained by total count (excluding displaced persons) has shown that males are slightly over represented in the ten percent sample whereas the number of females per 1000 males is 948 in the total count (exclusive displaced persons), the corresponding sample count value is 940. The difference, though small, cannot be regarded as insignificant. The probable cause of the emergence of even such a small difference is under study. The fact is brought to the notice of users of this table, as the reason why totals for 'persons' are not furnished. The sample count data relate to males and females separately.

It is, of course, possible to compute figures for "persons". This should, however, be done—not by a simple addition of figures for males and females—but by raising the figures for males and females separately with reference to the total count figures of males and females (excluding displaced persons) ; and then adding the raised figures for males and females. Figures arrived at by such computation for India and Zones only are furnished in Appendix II to this table. Similar computation can be made for any desired territorial unit.

*The displaced persons were excluded in order to ascertain the age distribution as well as certain other data relating to them separately. Figures showing the age distribution of the displaced persons have been published in Census of India Paper No. 4 of 1954 on Displaced Persons.

D-IV — Migrants

1. This table is the same as the "Birthplace" table of 1931 Census.
2. Figures are given in this table for India and the States in the zonal order.
3. There is a difference of 268,602 persons (163,388 males and 105,214 females) between the total of this table and Table A-I. This difference is limited to Punjab and is due to the loss of enumeration records of these persons in a fire that broke out in Jullundur Tabulation Office.
4. At this census, in many States, information regarding the means of livelihood of persons born outside the state was tabulated. These figures are given in the Subsidiary Table-D-IV (i). Since this information was not tabulated in all the States no all-India consolidation has been made.

D-VI — Non-Indian Nationals

1. This is a new table. This table gives the nationality of foreign nationals in India according to the country of nationality. The arrangement followed in this table is the same as in Table D-IV Migrants.

2. Figures are given in this table for all the Indian territorial units included in Table A-I except in certain cases which are specified in the Appendix to the table by India and States only.

3. It should be noted that "nationality" and "birthplace" are not necessarily identical, though in most cases they are. Hence the differences between the birthplace figures for various countries in Table D-IV and the figures for the Non-Indian Nationals for the same countries in this table.

E — Summary Figures by Districts

E — Summary Figures by Districts

1. This table corresponds to Table XVI—Summary figures of Provinces and States by Districts etc., of the 1941 Census with this main difference that while the 1941 table gave distribution of population of each district by the main communities, this table gives distribution of population of each district according to the eight livelihood classes prescribed for the 1951 Census. The eight livelihood classes have been described in the Introductory Note to Table A-V.

2. There are three parts in the table. The first part relates to the total population, the second to the rural population and the third to the urban population. In earlier censuses the table was not prepared for rural and urban population and was confined only to the total population. Figures are given in each part for India, six zones, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, the States in each zone and divisions and districts in each State.

3. In addition to the total population according to the 1951 Census and its distribution according to the eight livelihood classes, the table gives area in square miles ; the density according to the 1951 Census ; the 1941 Census Population ; and the percentage variation between 1941 and 1951 Censuses as well as between 1931 and 1941 Censuses.

4. Area.—In part (i) of the table, the area furnished by the Surveyor General as the latest determination has been given. This area has been adopted in Table A—I of all States ; but in the case of Table E however, some of the States have adopted the locally available area and some have adopted the area furnished by the Surveyor General. In part (iii) of the table, the areas given by the local authorities—which have been adopted in Table E of States—have been adopted as the Surveyor General has not furnished separate figures for rural and urban territories of districts. In part (ii) of the table, the difference between the total area of the district given in part (i) and the urban area given in part (iii) has been adopted. It should be noted that the figures for urban areas are in many cases tentative local estimates. Even such estimates are unavailable in a few* cases. Hence the separate totals for urban and rural land areas should be treated as only approximate.

5. Percentage Variation.—The table gives the percentage variation in population for the decades 1931—41 and 1941—51. In earlier Censuses, the growth of population was measured as a percentage of the population at the earlier Census. The figure thus determined has always been referred to as the " percentage variation". The ' Final Population Totals', already published as Census of India Paper No. 1 of 1952 contains figures showing the rate of growth of population between two Censuses measured by what has been termed the " mean decennial growth rate ". This represents the population growth as a percentage of the arithmetical mean of the population at both Censuses. For purposes of analysis of census data in the 1951 Census Reports the " mean decennial growth rate" has been generally adopted. In order, however, to facilitate comparison with figures furnished in previous census reports the " percentage variation " has also been computed as in previous censuses and furnished in this table.

The rural and urban population figures for 1941 Census published in this table are based on those given in the State E—Tables. The 1941 urban population given in this table does not tally with that given in A—IV Table as in some of the States the urban population figures have been taken as they were in 1941 Census regardless of changes of rural areas into urban areas and vice versa.

6. Density.—The corresponding State Census Tables give the density for the 1951 and the 1941 Censuses. In this table, however, the density is given only for the 1951 Census. The density for the 1951 Census has been calculated on the area figures given in column 2 of the table.

The area figures for India, East India, Assam and five districts of North East Fontier Agency include 33,597 square miles of Part B Tribal Areas of Assam where no census was taken in 1951. But, in calculating the densities in Table (i) Total Population and Table (ii) Rural Population, no account of uncensused area has been taken.

7. Population.—The total, rural and urban population for all-India according to this table are as shown below :—

	Persons	Males	Females
Total	356,744,298	183,262,639	173,481,659
Rural	294,869,175	149,989,911	144,879,264
Urban	61,875,123	33,272,728	28,602,395

* The figures are unavailable for the towns in all districts of Rajasthan, Sorath district of Saurashtra, Jhabua District of Madhya Bharat and Sikkim State.

According to Table A—I, the population figures are :—

	Persons	Males	Females
Total	356,879,394	183,333,874	173,545,520
Rural	295,004,271	150,061,146	144,943,125
Urban	61,875,123	33,272,728	28,602,395

It will be observed that there is a difference of 135,096 persons in the total and rural population. This difference will be observed in North-West India, in Punjab Plain Division, Himalayan Punjab Division and in the following districts of the division :—

Kangra	Himalayan Punjab Division.
Amritsar and Hoshiarpur . . .	Punjab Plain Division.

It has arisen because the enumeration record relating to 135,096 persons was destroyed by fire which broke out in the Census Tabulation Office at Jullunder after the population total had been checked and before the livelihood classification could be completed. This population has been taken into account while calculating the densities and percentage variations of the affected areas.
