PREFATORY NOTE

THIS issue of the Statistical Tables relating to Banks in India and Pakistan for the year 1947, is the sixth in the series published since it was taken over by the Reserve Bank of India in 1941. The Reserve Bank of India continued to be the joint monetary authority for India and Pakistan throughout 1947, although the partition had taken place in August that year. As the title indicates, this volume deals with India and Pakistan, and statistics relating to the two Dominions have been shown separately, the location of the registered offices of banks being taken as the basis of classification. Revisions of earlier figures have been made wherever more recent information was available. Except for minor changes, the presentation of statistics has been generally on the same lines as in previous issues.

2. Explanatory Note on the Tables.—The statistical portion has been divided into two parts—Summary and General. While important items of liabilities and assets of the several classes of banks are shown in a consolidated form in the summary tables, details of the liabilities and assets of each individual bank are given in the general tables. For the purpose of these tables, banks have been classified as follows :-

(i) Reserve Bank of India,

(ii) scheduled banks comprising

  (a) Imperial Bank of India,

  (b) exchange banks, i.e., banks whose head offices are located outside India and Pakistan, and

  (c) other scheduled banks,

(iii) non-scheduled banks or joint stock banks other than those included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act, and

(iv) co-operative banks registered under the respective laws of the provinces or states where they are situated.

(i) Reserve Bank of India (Table 1).—Table 1 shows the liabilities and assets of the Reserve Bank of India at the end of each balance sheet year giving separately the affairs of (A) the Issue Department and (B) the Banking Department. From 15th August, 1947, upto 30th June, 1948, the Reserve Bank of India functioned as the central bank for Pakistan also.

(ii) Scheduled Banks (Tables 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10 and 11).—Banks which carry on the business of banking in the Dominions of India and Pakistan, and which (a) have paid-up capital and reserves of an aggregate real or exchangeable value of not less than Rs. 5 lakhs and (b) are companies as defined in clause (2) of Section 2 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, as made applicable in both the Dominions, or corporations or companies incorporated by or under any law in force in any place outside India or Pakistan, are included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act and are known thereafter as scheduled banks. Statistics relating to the affairs of these banks are given in the tables referred to above.

(a) Imperial Bank of India (Tables 2 and 11).—Table 2 shows the more important items of the liabilities and assets of the Imperial Bank of India since its incorporation in 1921. Further details of its liabilities and assets are given in Table 11. The figures of the offices of the Imperial Bank of India before 1944 include Burma offices.

(b) Exchange Banks (Tables 3 and 10).—Table 3 shows in a consolidated form the capital, deposits and cash of the exchange banks. These banks have been divided into two categories: Class A, those banks doing a considerable portion of their business in India and Pakistan, i.e., having 25 per cent. or more of their deposits in India and Pakistan; and Class B, banks which are merely agencies of large banking corporations doing a major portion of their business abroad, i.e., having less than 25 per cent. of their deposits in India and Pakistan. During 1947 the number of banks in the former category increased from 3 to 4. In view of the continuing severe inflation in China and the depreciation in the exchange value of the Chinese dollar, the consolidated figures of the exchange banks, excluding the two Chinese banks, have also been shown separately, as in the previous year, in the footnote to Table 3, in order to facilitate comparison with earlier years. Table 10 shows details regarding the liabilities and assets of the exchange banks.

(c) Other Scheduled Banks (Tables 4 and 11).—Table 4 (Class A1) shows in a consolidated form the more important items of the liabilities and assets of the Indian scheduled banks, excluding the Imperial Bank of India. Details of each bank are given in Table 11.

(iii) Non-Scheduled Banks (Tables 4 and 11).—These banks have been divided into four classes: (A2) banks which have paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 5 lakhs or over, but which have not been included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act, including several banks registered and working in Indian States and having no branches in India and Pakistan and therefore not eligible for inclusion in the Second Schedule, (B) banks having paid-up capital and reserves between Rs. 1 lakh and Rs. 5 lakhs, (C) banks having paid-up capital and reserves between Rs. 50,000 and Rs. 1 lakh, and (D) banks having paid-up capital and reserves of less than Rs. 50,000. Table 4 shows the consolidated position of banks in these classes, and Table 11 the details of the liabilities and assets of these banks, except those which have paid-up capital and reserves below Rs. 50,000.

For the purpose of these tables only the companies working in the Dominions of India and Pakistan which have been classified as banking companies under Section 277F of the Indian Companies Act and which, therefore, submit returns under Section 277L of that Act, and those registered and working in Indian States, have been taken into account. An amendment to the Indian Companies Act in 1942 provides that any company which uses as part of its name the word' bank ', ' banker ' or ' banking ' shall be deemed to be a banking company irrespective of whether the business of accepting deposits of money on current account or otherwise subject to withdrawal by cheque, draft or order is or is not its principal business. As a result several companies in class (D) above have declared themselves as non-banking companies.

At the end of 1947, there were in India and Pakistan including the Indian States, as far as particulars are available, 70 non-scheduled banks having paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 5 lakhs and over, 202 between Rs. 1 lakh and Rs. 5 lakhs, 131 between Rs. 50,000 and Rs. 1 lakh and 216 below Rs. 50,000. Consolidated figures of banks in class (D) for which balance sheets for 1947 are available are given in Table 4. Table 6 (ii) shows the demand and time liabilities and cash reserves of all non-scheduled banks working in India and Pakistan and submitting cash reserve returns under Section 277L of the Indian Companies Act as applicable in both the Dominions of India and Pakistan; the figures for 1947, however, relate only to India, data for Pakistan not being available.

(iv) Co-operative Banks (Tables 7 and 12).—The more important items relating to the liabilities and assets of the co-operative banks are given in Table 7 and the details of each bank in Table 12. These statistics relate to Provincial and Central co-operative banks and registered non-agricultural (urban) co-operative credit societies with limited liability, having paid-up capital and reserves of at least Rs. 1 lakh. These banks are sub-divided into two classes, namely, A—those with paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 5 lakhs and over, and B—between Rs. 1 lakh and Rs. 5 lakhs. At the end of the " co-operative " year 1946-47, there were 64 banks in class A and 331 banks in class B. The figures prior to 1937 in Table 7 include co-operative banks in Burma also.

(v) Bank Rates (Table 8).—Table 8 shows the bank rates of the important Commonwealth central banks in addition to the Reserve Bank of India, the Bank of England and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The rates in all these countries remained steady during 1947.

(vi) Provincial Distribution of Banks (Table 9).—The distribution of joint stock banks registered in India and Pakistan and the more important states, as also their paid-up capital, reserves and offices in each province or state are shown in Table 9. The table relates only to those banks whose balance sheets were available.

(vii) List of New Banks (Table 13).—Table 13 gives a list of recently started banks, i.e., those that have not featured in the general tables either because they have not completed one year of working or because their first balance sheet has not yet been drawn up. It gives information about the location of the registered office, date of registration, and paid-up capital of the new banks.

(viii) Bank Liquidations (Table 14).—Table 14 gives, province-wise, the number of joint stock banks which went into liquidation or were wound-up or otherwise ceased to work during 1947, as reported by the Registrars of Joint Stock Companies in each province or state. During 1947 there were 30 such banks with a reported paid-up capital of Rs. 84.53 lakhs as against 27 banks with a paid-up capital of Rs. 25.70 lakhs only in 1946.

(ix) Clearing House Returns (Tables 15 and 15A).—The total amount of cheques cleared through the various clearing houses in India and Pakistan is shown in Table 15, and the number of cheques cleared and their amount during the last four years in Table 15A. During 1947 the value of cheques cleared at the various centres amounted to Rs. 6,459 crores as against Rs. 7,262 crores in 1946, while the number of cheques cleared was higher in 1947 at 246 lakhs as compared with 237 lakhs in 1946. The decline in cheque clearances was apparently the result of the widespread dislocation of trade and banking consequent on the partition of the country.

(x) Appendices.—The names of banks operating in the principal towns of India and Pakistan and the states are given in Appendix I, and statistics in respect of the number of offices of each bank are given under the appropriate columns in Tables 10, 11 and 12. For convenience, the names of towns in the Dominions of India and Pakistan are shown separately. Names of smaller banks with paid-up capital and reserves below Rs. 50,000 have been omitted. Information in respect of the branches of scheduled banks has, as far as possible, been corrected upto 30th September, 1948. Branches that were temporarily closed, mainly on account of the disturbed conditions in the country and those that have been closed after the date of the balance sheet are indicated with asterisks. Appendix II gives, so far as information is available, the names of London agents and correspondents of the scheduled banks working in India and Pakistan, and Appendix III the names of the members and sub-members of the various clearing houses in India and Pakistan. Appendix IV gives the names of non-scheduled banks and indigenous bankers included in the approved list entitled to concessional rates for remittances under the Reserve Bank's scheme of remittance facilities introduced in October, 1940. Finally, the rates for remittances under this scheme are given in Appendix V.

3. Banking Developments.—The disturbances that followed closely on the partition of the country in August, 1947 completely dislocated the banking system in the affected areas. A number of offices in Pakistan were closed permanently; a few were reopened after the return of normal conditions. Both the Dominion Governments took measures to mitigate the severity of the dislocation and to revive confidence by passing emergency ordinances described below under Banking Legislation. Despite this dislocation, commercial banking in India and Pakistan as a whole presented an encouraging picture and even recorded further expansion. A few banks shifted their registered offices from Pakistan to the Indian Dominion. Cash and balances with the Reserve Bank remained high throughout the year. Advances of scheduled banks were at a higher level than during the previous year. In the last quarter of 1947 they rose sharply. The rising trend continued until April 1948, partly in conformity with the usual seasonal trend and partly in consequence of the Government policy of decontrol, which meant that the banks had now to provide finance at a time of rising prices, for produce hitherto procured and distributed directly by the Government. Investments, however, did not vary appreciably from the previous year's level. As in the previous year the flotation of new banks was restricted, and the opening of new branches and change of location of existing branches continued to be regulated by the Banking Companies (Restriction of Branches) Act, 1946.

(a) Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act.—Five new banks were included during the year in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act, and two banks excluded, thus bringing the total number of scheduled banks to 99 at the end of 1947, as against 96 at the end of the previous year. The two banks excluded were the United Sind-Punjab Bank, which was amalgamated with the United Commercial Bank in May 1947 and the Associated Banking Corporation of India, which went into liquidation in August, 1947. The five banks included were :

	Bank.	Date of inclusion in the Second Schedule.
(1)	Bankers' Union	25- 3 1947
(2)	Presidency Industrial Bank	14- 4-1947
(3)	Travancore Forward Bank	6- 8-1947
(4)	Bank of Poona	16- 9-1947
(5)	Hyderabad State Bank	27-10-1947

In terms of Section 12 (7) of the Pakistan (Monetary System and Reserve Bank) Order, 1947, the Pakistan Government declared the Bank of Bhopal as a Pakistan scheduled bank on 4th March, 1948.

(b) New Flotations.—During 1947, 13 new banks were floated.

(c) Control of Capital Issues.—Control of capital issues under the provisions of the Emergency Provisions (Continuance) Ordinance, 1946, later enacted as the Capital Issues (Continuance of Control) Act, 1947, was continued during the year. The number of applications for additional or fresh issue of capital received from existing or proposed banks during 1946 and 1947 are given below :

The cash balances of the non-scheduled banks declined sharply from 26.2 per cent. to 22.0 per cent., and that of the exchange banks remained unchanged at 17.7 per cent.

As regards non-scheduled banks, contrary to the tendency noticed during last year, the amount of investments as well as its ratio to deposits declined. The tendency towards a rapid increase in the branches of Indian joint stock banks noticed in earlier years appeared to have lost its momentum. Information concerning the location of branches of banks is given in Appendix I. The number of offices of the exchange banks increased by two. The number of offices of scheduled banks increased by 61 from 3,480 to 3,541, while those of the non-scheduled banks declined from 2,041 in 1946 to 1,991 in 1947. Taking scheduled and non-scheduled banks together there was only an increase of 11 in the number of offices during 1947. It is to be noted that owing to the disturbed conditions following the partition of the country, many of the offices functioning in the eastern and western parts of the country had to be temporarily closed. The number of offices of the co-operative banks having paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 1 lakh and over increased from 594 to 648.

4. Banking Legislation.—Pending the enactment of the Banking Companies Bill, the Government of India, promulgated on 20th September, 1947, the Reserve Bank of India (Temporary Amendment) Ordinance, 1947, in order to assist banks in emergencies such as that following partition. This Ordinance amended Section 18 (3) of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, and empowered the Reserve Bank to grant emergency advances to scheduled and non-scheduled banks against such forms of securities as it deemed sufficient. The Ordinance lapsed on 20th March, 1948.

Consequent on the partition of the country, a few banks, with registered offices in the East Punjab and Delhi, found that while they had most of their assets in the West Punjab, almost the entire bulk of their deposit liabilities was transferred to their branches in the Indian Dominion. As a result of this position, and particularly because of the difficulties of access to their records and assets in the West Punjab, some of these banks found it difficult to make any immediate arrangements to meet their depositors' demands. To facilitate the smooth working of these banks as well as to alleviate distress to depositors who were mostly refugees, the grant of temporary facilities was thought desirable. Consequently on 27th September, 1947, the Government of India, after consulting the Reserve Bank, promulgated the Banking Companies (East Punjab and Delhi) Ordinance, 1947, which empowered the Central Government to postpone for a period of three months the commencement or continuance of all actions and proceedings against a banking company which applied for this concession and whose registered office was located in the province of the East Punjab or Delhi.

During the period of moratorium the banks concerned were to make payments to depositors not exceeding in any particular month 10 per cent. of the total of the current and deposit accounts at each branch in India or Rs. 250, whichever was less. Similar payments were also to be made to depositors who could satisfy the bank regarding their deposits in branches outside India. Beyond such payments and normal running expenses the banks concerned were not allowed to dispose of any of their assets or to accept deposits. To enable the banks to meet these demands, the Reserve Bank was empowered to grant necessary advances. The Government of Pakistan also promulgated the Banking Companies (Pakistan) Ordinance, 1947, on 22nd October, 1947. These Ordinances lapsed on 27th March, 1948 and 22nd April, 1948, respectively.

Some banks experienced considerable difficulty early during the year in dealing with bills drawn on firms and companies situated in the Punjab and other disturbed areas. In order, therefore, to safeguard their interests, the Government of India, on the recommendations of the Reserve Bank, temporarily amended, on 27th December, 1947, the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, and the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, by an Ordinance; a new section, namely, Section 75B, was added to the former Act, giving power to treat bills as dishonoured when presentment was impossible due to the prevalence of riots and other disturbances.

Also, under Section 5A which was inserted in the Indian Limitation Act, the period of limitation was waived where on account of riots or other disturbances a suit could not be instituted in time. The Government of Pakistan issued a similar Ordinance on 13th February, 1948. The Indian Ordinance was allowed to lapse on 27th June, 1948. The Pakistan Ordinance was extended for a further period of three months from 13th May, 1948.

As was mentioned in the Prefatory Note to the Statistical Tables for 1946, Government withdrew the Banking Companies Bill, as reported upon by the Select Committee, on 30th January, 1948. A fresh Bill incorporating all the necessary amendments was introduced on 22nd March, 1948. The Bill was referred to a Select Committee, which was required to report to the Assembly during the budget session scheduled to start on 1st February, 1949.

To provide for the regulation of the banking system during the interval before the Bill becomes law, the Banking Companies (Control) Ordinance, 1948, was promulgated on 18th September, 1948, bringing into immediate effect some of the important provisions of the Banking Companies Bill. The main features of the Ordinance are outlined below:

(i) It authorises the Reserve Bank to grant emergency advances against such forms of securities as it deems sufficient.

(ii) It prohibits the granting of unsecured loans and advances by banking companies to its directors, and to firms and private companies in which the directors are interested, and requires banking companies to submit to the Reserve Bank returns of unsecured loans to companies, other than private companies in, which the directors are interested.

(iii) It provides for the maintenance by banking companies, at the end of each quarter, of assets in India not less than 75 per cent. of their Indian demand and time liabilities.

(iv) It empowers the Reserve Bank to give directions in the public interest to any or all banks in regard to their lending policies in general and any transactions in particular.

(v) It enables the Reserve Bank to apply to a court to be appointed as official liquidator, so that where necessary and possible, the Reserve Bank may arrange for the orderly liquidation of a bank that is being wound up.

(vi) It prohibits amalgamations or schemes of arrangements or compromise without the concurrence of the Reserve Bank, so that schemes which are detrimental to the depositors' interest may not be adopted. It also empowers the Reserve Bank to assist as an intermediary in proposals for amalgamation.

(vii) The Reserve Bank is empowered to call for periodic and ad hoc returns relating to the liabilities and assets of banks, and to publish in any form, if it considers it necessary in the public interest, any information called for under this Ordinance.

On 9th August, 1948, the Reserve Bank (Transfer to Public Ownership) Bill, 1948, was introduced in the Dominion Parliament, in pursuance of the Finance Minister's announcement on 4th February, 1948. The Bill as passed on 3rd September, 1948, provides for the transfer of the share capital of the Reserve Bank of India to public ownership, prescribes the compensation to be paid to shareholders, empowers the Central Government to give such directions to the Bank from time to time as it may, after consultation with the Governor of the Bank, deem necessary in the public interest, and makes consequential amendments in the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (II of 1934).

Great assistance has been received from the Registrars of Joint Stock Companies, the Registrars of Co-operative Societies and the Banks, in compiling this publication, and the Reserve Bank takes this opportunity of thanking them for their co-operation.

* Includes figures for Burma up to 1941.

Note 1.—A.—Banks doing a considerable portion of their business in India, i.e., having 25 per cent. or more of their deposits in India.

B.—Banks which are merely agencies of large banking corporations doing a major portion of their business abroad, i.e., having less than 25 per cent. of their deposits in India.

Note 2.—The wide variations in the summary figures of exchange banks for the years 1945, 1946 and 1947 are due to inflation and consequent depreciation of exchange in China affecting the balance sheets of two Chinese banks included in this table. Figures of the exchange banks excluding the two Chinese banks are given below separately.
