BARODA (Gujarat)

A new district in the northern division of the Bombay State formed from the integration of the Baroda State with Bombay in May 1949. Baroda, one of the biggest states in India, consisted of five separate territorial blocks. three of these blocks lay in the northern part of Bombay and two in the State of Saurashtra. Baroda has now been reconstituted into three distinct districts in Bombay known as Baroda, Mehsana and Amreli with necessary territorial adjustments with the existing districts of Bombay and the merged areas. For instance the entire district of Navsari in the south has been merged with the Surat district

In the regrouping that followed the integration of the Baroda State with Bombay, the smaller States including Chhota-Udaipur and Bhadarwa and others lying in the tracts known as the Pandu Mewas and Sankheda Mewas were included in the newly formed Baroda district. Also the two talukas, Bhadran and Petlad which formed part of the former Baroda State were taken away and included in the Kaira district

The new Baroda district forms a central compact block in the heart of Gujarat. It lies between North Lat 21° 41′ and 22° 32′; East long 73° and 74° 10′; bounded on the north by the Kaira district beyond the river Mahi and by Panch Mahals on the north-east; on the east the district is bounded by Madhya Bharat; and on the south and west by Broach. It has a total area of 8,176 square miles. Population (1951), 1,194,746. Languages spoken :—Gujarati and Marathi

MAHABLESWAR

A hill station in the Satara (North) district of the Bombay State

PANCHGANI

A well known hill sation in the Satara (North) district of the Bombay State

SATARA (SOUTH)

The new district of Sangli later designated Satara (South), in the Southern division of the Bombay State, came into existence on August 1st, 1949, with the merger of sixteen Deccan States in the Bombay State on 8th March, 1948. The district is comprised of some portions of Sangli, Miraj Senior, Miraj Junior, Kurundwad Senior and Jath States of the Sangli group and the three southern talukas and one mahal of the former Satara District. It is bounded on the east by Bijapur District; on the west by Kolhapur and Ratnagiri Districts; on the south by Kolhapur and Belgaum Districts; and on the north by the Sholapur and Satara (North) Districts. Area and land revenue of the district are 3,265 square miles and Rs. 19,99,247 respectively. Population (1951), 1,000,141

The climate of the district is generally dry and healthy, with an average rainfall ranging from 15 to 25 inches except for parts in the Shirala Mahal, which being on the borders of Konkan has a comparatively damp climate and a heavy rainfall. The Mahal includes a hill tract. Krishna, Verala, Warana and the Agarani are the four important rivers flowing through the district. The soil on the banks of these three rivers is very fertile, yielding rich sugarcane crops. Starting from the river Nandhi in the Khanapur Taluka is a canal called Chickli. The principal crops are jowar, millets, pulses, wheat, ground-nut, turmeric, tobacco, sugarcane, a little cotton, rice and some oil-seeds

MERCHANTS, AGENTS, TRADING FIRMS, ETC.

All firms appearing in this Section are given one entry free in ordinary type under any specified heading in the "Alphabetically Arranged List of Trades and Professions" which will be found between the Transport and Chief Industries Sections.

Extra entries are accepted on payment of a fee of Rs. 2 per entry in Ordinary type. All Bold type entries are charged for at Rs. 5 each.

A discount of 25 per cent. is allowed on 6 or more BOLD TYPE entries ONLY.

New headings in addition to this List may be created, if found necessary, at the discretion of the Publishers.

FOREIGN AGENCIES.

All firms incorporated outside India are classified by us as "Foreign Agencies" and information regarding these is only included in the particulars of firms in our Commercial Section on payment of a fee of Rs. 2 for each agency held. For this fee we classify each agency under Products and Manufactures in a separate section called "Classified List of Products and Manufactures of Foreign Merchants and Traders" which will be found at the extreme end of the book.

The above applies to all Commercial Sections.

FOR PARTICULARS OF ALL INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS AND MANUFACTORIES REFER TO THE COMMERCIAL INDUSTRIES SECTION.

TUTICORIN

The terminus of the South Indian Railway, 446 miles from Madras and the chief port of the district, affording good shelter to small boats, but owing to the shallowness of the water, steamers of even moderate draught have to anchor some seven miles from the shore. Tuticorin is also a municipal town and of great commercial importance. It lies in the Srivaikuntam tāluk of the Tirunelvcli district and is situated on the west shore of the Gulf of Mannar and between the mouths of the Tambrapani and the Vaippar. There are large cotton mills in the town and extensive salt factories. There is limited accommodation for travellers at the railway station. Languages spoken:—English and Tamil

There is a Traveller's Rest House in the town

The District Headquarters are at Tirunelveli

BHANDARA

A district in the Chhatisgarh division of the State of Madhya Pradesh, lying between North Lat 20° 31′ and 21° 44′; East Long 72° 29′ and 80° 43′; bounded on the north by Balaghat district; on the east by Durg district; on the south by Chanda; and on the west by Nagpur. It is situated on the Wainganga river and is about 38 miles east of Nagpur. Area, 3,580 square miles. Languages spoken :—Marathi, but Hindi is also spoken by a considerable section of the people

The surface of the district is generally open and level, being broken only in a few places by isolated ranges of hills, The Sakoli Tahsil or southern portion of the district consists largely of hill and forest. Elsewhere the country is for the most open and closely cultivated and the expanses of rice and wheat fields thickly studded with fruit bearing trees and broken by low, flat topped hills present a pleasant and prosperous appearance. The climate is cooler than that of Nagpur and the highest temperature in the hot season never touches more than 112°. In winter the nights are cold though it never actually freezes. The annual rainfall averages 55 inches. The principle food crops are rice, jawar, wheat, gram, linseed and pulses. Ginger, oranges and plantains are also grown for export. Teak is found in higher hills and bamboos abound. Mineral deposits include those of manganese, iron and a little gold. The chief industries are weaving, making of brass vessels and stone jars, of soft grass matting for bedding and of bamboo baskets

MANDLA

A district in the Jabalpur division of the State of Madhya Pradesh, lying between North Lat 22° 10′ and 23° 22′; East Long 79° 58′ and 81° 40′; bounded on the north-east by the State of Vindya Pradesh; on the east by Bilaspur; on the south by Balaghat and Durg; on the south-west by Chhindwara; and on the north-west by Jabalpur. Area, 5,117 square miles. The extreme length of the district from east to west is 156 miles. Languages spoken :—Hindi and Gondi

The river Narbada which flows through the district is the centre of the drainage system. The richer portions of Mandla lie south of the Narbada and consists of a succession of hill ranges running down to the river. North of the Narbada the country is more rugged and inaccessible. In the forest areas Sal is the most important tree, but on the lower levels a mixed type of teak and bamboo is found. The most important crop is wheat, but oilseeds like til and jaggery are grown for export. Mineral deposits such as iron ore, manganese and limestone occur but mining does not flourish

NAGPUR

A district in the State of Madhya Pradesh, lying between North Lat 20° 35′ and 21° 43′; East Long 78° 17′ and 79° 40′; bounded on the north by Chhindwara; on the east by Bhandara; on the south-east by Chanda; on the south-west by Wardha; and on the north-west by Amravati. The extreme length of the district from east to west is 84 miles and its extreme breadth from north to south 76 miles. Distance by rail, 759 miles from Calcutta, 812 from Allahabad, 160 from Jabalpur and 244 from Bhusawal Junction. Area, 3,843 square miles. Language spoken :—Marathi

The district for the greater part is undulating plain traversed by low hill ranges. These in some places are extremely picturesque and clothed with forest. The forests are mainly situated on the Satpura hills to the north-east with isolated patches on the hills extending along the south-western border. The forest growth varies with the nature of the soil. Teak is found on good well-drained slopes, salai on steep hill-sides and ranges and satinwood on the sandy level. Mango, tamarind and date-palms are common in the open country

The Annual average rainfall is about 45 inches, but less is received in the west than in the east of the district. Cotton and jawar are the chief produce. The district is also famous for its oranges. In the matter of minerals the district is badly of. There are, however, some manganese mines and limestone quarries. There are five textile mills in Nagpur City, a number of oil mills, a pottery concern, glass works, saw mills, a rubber factory, a large fruit canning industry, and a number of handloom factories

BANKI GOVERNMENT ESTATE

P O Banki

The estate is surrounded on all sides by Ex-States, except the south, where it is bordered by the Khurda government estate under Puri district. The Dompara permanently settled estate is included in Banki area. It is an estate district from Banki government estate but both the estates constitute Banki Revenue Thana under the charge of one officer whose hdqrs are at Banki

Banki town, situated on the embankment of the Mahanadi, is connected by pucca roads to Mundmohan, from where the river Kathajori, a branch of the Mahanadi, is crossed by public ferry during the rains to reach Cuttack, the Capital of Orissa. In summer through traffic is opened by the temporary construction of a road on the bed of the Kathajori, but the pucca roads are submerged under water during high floods of the Mahanadi for which traffic and communication by motor vehicles are rendered impracticable. It is also connected by pucca roads with Baranga and Khurda Road stations on the B N Ry. The place is famous for Charchika Thakurani temple and Charchika Hat. At the Headquarters there are a Sub-Registry office, Banki-Dompara Co-operative Union, a seasonal sugar mill, a High English School, a Government Hospital, a Veterinary Dispensary and a Sub-Jail

DEORIA

A district in the Gorakhpur Division of the State of Uttar Pradesh, bounded on the north by Nepal Territory; on the east by the districts of Champaran and Saran of Behar; on the south by the river Gogra; and on the west by the district of Gorakhpur. Area, 2,082 square miles. Population (1951), 2,102,627

This district is of great historical importance. It originally formed part of the 'Magadha' Kingdom in the ancient Hindu period. Then the capital of Magadha was Pataliputtra and the district was the headquarters of the Governor of the south-east portion of the kingdom. The district was in great prominence from 5th century B C to 13th century A D and is noted for the religious favour given to Jainism, Buddhism and Brahmanism
Places of historical importance are as follows :—

Mukutdhar Stupa, Kushinagar 23 miles from Deoria. This place was in the bank of the little Gandak river where the last remains of Lord Buddha were cremated according to Hindu rites (544 or 543 according to Smith).

Mahaparinirvan Stupa 25 miles from Deoria. Here, there is a long statue of Lord Buddha donated by Haribal (4*th century A D*) and constructed by sculpturer Dina of Mathura, surrounded by a large number of monastries. Raja Birla has constructed a Dharamsala to accommodate lots of Buddhist and foreign pilgrims who come here every year. There was an Asokan pillar constructed here in the 3rd century B C.

Kahaon Pillar 25 miles from Deoria. Constructed by Skandagupta (5*th century A D*). The ancient name of Kahaon was Kumudgram.

Sohnag 21 miles from Deoria. Large number of beautiful statues of Vishnu God are found here. There is also an ancient mound here. Every year a Mela is held at this place on the occasion of 'Akhaya Tritiya' (*Baisack Sukla-*3, May-June).

Khukhundoo 10 miles from Deoria. Here a number of ancient mounds are found. Statues of Jain tradition are found here.

Bhagalpur 30 miles from Deoria on the bank of river Sarju. Here is an old Asokan pillar.

Besides this a large number of ancient mounds are found all over the district, which on excavation have revealed a large number of old statues and other materials bearing testimony to the glorious antiquity of the district.

The detailed account of this district is found in the literatures left by the various foreign travellers who visited the area like Fa-hien (399 A D) and Huien Tsang (630 A D).

The district magistrates of Deoria have made valuable contribution in finding out the various relics in this district. A District Educational Museum was established here in the year 1950 where the relics found in the excavations done by officers have been preserved.

The Government has been asked to sanction more money this year for purpose of this excavation. Banaras Hindu University sent a team for excavations in this district in winter 1951-52. Some of the statues in the various temples in the interior of the district are the finest archæological specimen available in India to-day.

The U P Government is now constructing a most modern and up-to-date civil station at a cost of Rs. 80 lacs which is expected to be complete in 5 years.

This district is greatly advanced in the sugar industry and has got 16 sugar mills. It pays the 2nd highest land revenue as also the 2nd highest income-tax in the State of Uttar Pradesh.

Deoria has got a seperate sub-division at Kasia in the charge of a Joint Magistrate. It has also got an aerodrome.
