The Royal Air Force Benevolent Fund

★

The Royal Air Force Benevolent Fund was founded in October, 1919, by Lord Trenchard, and its object is the relief of distress amongst past and present members of the Royal Air Force, Royal Auxiliary Air Force, Royal Air Force Reserves, Women's Royal Air Force, and their dependants.

THE FUND ASSISTS:

(a) Those disabled while flying and the dependants of those killed.

(b) Other casualties and their dependants.

(c) Sufferers on account of sickness and general distress.

The Fund exists for a service that trains as well as fights in the air and provides relief for cases arising from casualties in war as well as from flying accidents and ordinary distress in peace. It must, therefore, be prepared to render help indefinitely and not merely to meet temporary emergencies.

Donations and subscriptions will be gratefully received and should be sent to:

PREFACE

Some occurrences notified at a date later than the end of October 1953, when the early pages of this edition had to go to press, could not be recorded in the body of the book; a number of these, of the most general interest, are listed in a supplement preceding the first page of the biographies. This includes also a list of those who, having no entry as yet in the body of the book, received titles gazetted on 1 January 1954. The obituary on pages 34-47 includes deaths reported up to the middle of December 1953.

A proof of each entry is posted to its subject every year for personal revision, but this cannot be sent unless an address is given. It should be pointed out that the numbers given of the children of a marriage are, unless otherwise indicated, those of the sons and daughters now living; also, that it is the practice to print the names of London clubs unaccompanied by the word London.

It cannot be stated too emphatically that inclusion in Who's Who has never at any time been a matter for payment or of obligation to purchase the volume.

Experiments on Animals

What the Doctors say

Those who defend painful scientific experiments on animals assert that all the doctors are on their side.

Actually this is not so. Most medical practitioners are not vivisectors and know very little about the subject. Significantly, it is the small minority who have closely studied the question who are emphatic that vivisection is both abominably cruel and likely to prove misleading and dangerous. Here is just one such pronouncement:

"It is surely high time that medical men took some active steps to check the great onrush of laboratory and animal experimentation which is, in so many respects, threatening the very foundations of practical medicine.

"Diseased conditions in man cannot be correctly imitated in experimental animals, so why persist in making such experiments, which are sometimes of the most cruel, absurd and hopelessly valueless kind?"

James Burnet, M.A., LL.B. (Lond.), M.D., F.R.C.P.E.

Since its foundation in 1827, several thousand orphans of Merchant Seamen have been cared for, educated, and set up in life; and there are now over 300 boys and girls at the school, more than half of whom lost their fathers during the late war The assured income does not meet the expenditure. New subscribers are urgently needed to bridge the gap. VALENTINE HEYWOOD

A readable and comprehensive discussion of the use and abuse of titles in the peerage, knightage, Privy Council, justiciary and the churches, by the Managing Editor of the Sunday Times. "An excellent grammar on the subject. . . . Although I thought that I knew the language almost like a native, I find from Mr. Heywood that there are many errors that I either fail to notice or might even commit myself."

HAROLD NICOLSON in THE SPECTATOR

The last thing we want to suggest is that seamen lose their bearings the moment the sea is out of sight. But it is true that many anxious moments come to them on shore. Nautical knowhow is no great help when urgent welfare problems affecting them or their dependants arise. To help in such situations, there are over 120 welfare and benevolent societies—and behind them, supporting and giving grants to them all, is King George's Fund for Sailors. A gift to this central fund for all sea-services helps sailors and their dependants everywhere.

'SERVANTS OF ALL'...

SUCH was the uncompromising description of The Salvation Army given by its own founder, William Booth. The designation sums up the purpose and inspiration which is basic to the service of Salvationists in all parts of the world.

Battling against sickness, vice, squalor, poverty, overcrowding, loneliness, and despair, their work knows no end.

The Army is dependent on your generous co-operation. Donations and bequests are earnestly sought. For further information write to General Albert Orsborn, 113 Queen Victoria Street, London, E.C.4.

SERVING ALL FORCES

The constant task of the British Legion is the care of all those who served and now suffer. All the year round throughout the land, the Legion carries on indispensable benevolent work among men and women of all ranks and services and their dependants.

The Legion runs Country and Convalescent Homes that it has established in the last 30 years, and maintains Factories and Industries to employ the otherwise unemployable. It gives advice and legal aid in disputed pension cases, and conducts vital "on the spot" work through its 5000 local Service Committees.

And once every year, on Poppy Day, the Nation shares in the Legion's task with unreserved generosity. But, despite the utmost efficiency and economy in administration, the Funds derived from this annual appeal cannot alone meet costs. To maintain British Legion benevolent activities at the necessary level, individual generosity in the form of donations and legacies is at all times urgently needed.
